THE APPEAL SUSTAINED

The General Assembly Votes Against Prof. Briggs.

QUESTION OF PUNISHMENT UP

The Long Heresy Trial Ended Last Night—Opinions of the Members as to Why They Voted as They Did—Another Exciting Time During the Debate.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The committee of fifteen of which Dr. Hoyt is chairman to draw up an explanatory minute expressing the sense of the assembly as to the action that should be taken upon the judgment of the Presbytery of New York—whether it shall be reversed or modified—and what penalty shall be imposed against Dr. Briggs, if any, was announced by the Moderator after the opening exercises this morning.

The report of the committee will doubtless provoke some discussion, and with other important matters still on the docket for consideration, promises a continuation of the Assembly's sessions until Friday night.

Rev. H. Milton Shields, of Rio Grande Presbytery, New Mexico, announced that he was the youngest member of the Assembly and the youngest alumnus of Union Seminary, and made a spirited defense of the teachings of Union Theological Seminary. He claimed that, historically, the reason the Church and the Bible were divine sources of authority, and he cited in support of this statement that Adam found God by the exercise of reason alone.

"I am glad we had that argument on reason," said Rev. Joseph J. Gilchrist of Santa Fe, who followed Mr. Shields, "for it proves the source of that teaching from Adam down through Tom Paine to Dr. Briggs. If Adam had not used his reason we should not now be called upon to preach the gospel."

Rev. Henry H. Stebbins, of Rochester, said that keeping steadily in view his purpose to vote for an acquittal of Dr. Briggs, if he could possibly do so, he had reached a conscientious and cordial conclusion that the charges should not be sustained and the verdict should not be disturbed. To any brethren who might be doubtful, he commended the precept of Paul: "If any man doubt he is damned—It he eat." So, fellow judges, he continued, if you doubt you are condemned, if you vote to reverse the judgement of the New York Presbytery.

Rev. L. Mason, of Syracuse, although not an alumnus of Union Seminary, arose to acknowledge the debt of gratitude he owed Dr. Briggs. He pleaded with his brethren not to fasten upon the younger ministry of the Church a condition which they could not accept.

The call of the synod of New York having been completed, Moderator Craig endeavored to induce the Assembly to come to some amicable arrangement, by unanimous consent, to cut off the flood of debate, but was unable to secure the necessary co-operation and the calling of the roll was continued.

Elder Thomas McDougall, of Cincinnati, precipitated a lively row on the floor, unequalled in the course of the trial except when Dr. Briggs challenged the truthfulness of a statement made by Dr. Duffield. Mr. McDougall is an earnest, even radical opponent of Briggs, and speaks with an incisive aggressiveness that easily evokes antagonism. "If it be in order," he began, "in a Presbyterian Assembly, in this high court, I would like to ask if the omniscence, the veracity, the character of God Almighty, of the Lord Jesus Christ may be be questioned? God Almighty has said that Isaiah said thus and so. Dr. Briggs has said to God Almighty that Isaiah did not write half the book that bears his name. The Lord Jesus Christ said in the New Testament that Isaiah wrote the book bearing his name. Dr. Briggs says ——"

Here he was interrupted by Dr. H. M. Stores who called him to order. Rev. H. M. Shields also took part in the colloquy in the midst of great confusion in all parts of the house. But Elder McDougall was allowed to proceed.

He concluded—"Christ said no man can come unto the father but by Me. Dr. Briggs said that Martineau found God through the reason and that Newman found him through the Church. Whom will you believe—Christ or Dr. Briggs?

An adjournment was then taken until 7:45 p. m., when the roll call was resumed. Members who desired to speak were given the floor when their names were called, but only a small percentage took advantage of the privilege, preferring to follow the advice of Rev. George D. Baker, of Philadelphia, in yielding the floor that a vote might be reached.

Fifteen minutes were exhausted in a desultory discussion of the order of procedure, the result of which was that the Assembly ordered (with all evident confusion and lack of understanding of just what they were doing), the roll to be called. The commissioners, as called, were to give the reasons for their votes, speeches to be limited to three minutes.

Under the call of the roll Rev. D. M. Freeland, of the East Florida Presbytery, was the first to respond. He had a deep regard for the honored professor, he said, who was a member of his own parish, but he could not side with him in his claim that the bible was errant.

Revs. William H. Single of Canton, and Gilbert Reid of Shantung, both of the Synod of China, spoke in favor of not sustaining the appeal, Mr. Reid concluding his remarks with the question: "If Dr. Briggs is a heretic, where is Princeton theology?" (laughter). He found no great difference, he said, between the views of Dr. Briggs and other teachers of Presbyterian doctrine.

It was 8:45 o'clock when the Moderator put the question: "Shall the specification of error be sustained?" and Dr. Roberts, the Stated clerk, read the first specification, in substance, that the Presbytery of New York, on objections made by Dr. Briggs, required the Prosecution Committee to amend the amended charges and specifications by striking out charge four.

The question was put by the Moderator: "Shall this specification be sustained?" and upon a viva voce vote he declared it sustained. The vote showed that the attendance was 77 less than the number present when the vote was taken Friday on entertaining the appeal, the vote on which was 405 aye 144 nay.

Specifications second to twelfth inclusive under the first ground of appeal, all relating to irregularities in the proceedings of the New York Presbytery were sustained. The Briggs men showed their greatest strength on specification fourth, which alleged that the action of the Presbytery in giving Dr. Briggs an opportunity to reply to alleged new matter without specifying the new matter, was irregular. The vote resulted 288 to 195 sustaining the specification.

The second ground of appeal alleged the receiving of improper testimony and was based upon three specifications, which were sustained.

The third ground of appeal was that of "Neglecting to receive important testimony" with the specifications, that charges four and seven were stricken out, thereby preventing the proving of the charges. These specifications were sustained without a division.

The fourth ground of appeal alleged "Manifestation of prejudice in the conduct of the case" and of its six specifications the Briggs men carried two and came within two of carrying another. Specifications second, third and fourth, alleging that the Presbytery did not try the case on its merits, attempted to terminate it without attaining the ends of discipline and evaded the issue, were sustained by viva voce votes. Specifications one and five were lost, but the sixth was sustained.

The fifth and last ground of appeal contained "specifications of error" and it charged "mistake or injustice in the decision." The votes on the different specifications were taken without a division, resulting in a declaring that each and every one had been sustained.

This part of the proceedings having been disposed of, it was moved that the roll be called and the Assembly vote upon the main question, "Shall the appeal be sustained?" which was adopted. Before beginning the roll call the Moderator announced that the form of answer would be "sustained" or "not sustained," and that Commissioners might vote "to sustain in part," but that such votes would be counted as part of the total to sustain the appeal.

The roll was then called in the midst of an almost painful stillness, the spectators in the gallery rising to their feet in their anxiety to catch every response. The vote was announced at 10:15 by the stated clerk as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 499; to sustain the appeal, 298; to sustain in part, 85; total to sustain the appeal, 383; not to sustain, 116.

After the result had been announced, Rev. J. T. Smith, of Baltimore, moved the appointment of a committee of 15 commissioners, of which the Rev. Thomas A. Hoyt, D. D., of Philadelphia, shall be chairman, to bring in an explanatory minute. This was carried, and on motion of President Warfield, of Lafayette college, the moderator was authorized to appoint the committee.

The Assembly then after a closing prayer by Rev. George D. Baker, of Philadelphia, chairman of the judicial committee, who pleaded for the blessing of Almighty God upon the decision just reached, and for continued manifestation of favor toward the church, adjourned.

MAY BE A STRIKE

NEW YORK, June 1.—J. Rogers Maxwell, president of the Central railroad of New Jersey, in regard to the demands for increased wages made by the company's employes, is not inclined to outline the course the company will pursue, but stated that an answer will be made to the grievance committee, which represented the men, in about a week.

As far as the demand itself is concerned, Mr. Maxwell said that it was made in the proper forms, and with no evidence of hostility, but the wages paid by the Central are as high as those paid by other roads, he believed, and no valid reasons were advanced by the committee why there should be an increase. The president would not say what his answers to the men would be, but he felt confident there would be no strike in any event.

On the part of the employes it is said that they will strike if their request for shorter hours and increased wages is not granted. But it was found difficult to confirm this, as the men themselves decline to discuss the subject until the results of the visit to Mr. Maxwell is made known.

The Comptroller Must Show Cause.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—In special term here to-day Judge Herrick issued an order requiring the comptroller of New York to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in not complying with the provisions of a writ of peremptory mandamus issued at the last special term requiring him to pay certain back taxes due the state from New York county. The order is returnable before Judge Herrick the last Tuesday in June.

Going to Chicago in a Freight Car.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., June 1.—A large freight car is being fitted up for twelve young men who propose spending two weeks at the Columbian Exposition. The car will contain sleeping bunks, a cooking range and a well-stocked larder. It will be attached to fast freight trains. The estimated cost of the round trip is only ten dollars a head.

Mrs. Shann's Lawyers Want Particulars.

TRENTON, June 1.—The counsel for Mrs. Matty C. Shann, who is under indictment for killing her son with poison, applied for a bill of particulars of the evidence relied upon by the State to convict her, and Justice Abbett has directed Prosecutor Stockton to furnish the information. The date of the trial has been changed to July 10.

A New Steamship Line.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1.—It is understood that cable communications have passed between the government of Canada and those of the different Australian colonies with a view to united action in the matter of a new direct steamship line between Sydney and Vancouver. The steamers have been chartered for the route.

MGR. SATOLLI'S OUTING

Plans for an Extensive Trip Throughout the West.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Mgr. Satolli, the Apostolic Delegate, who left here Tuesday morning to go to Chicago, has laid out a somewhat extended programme for the summer. In Chicago, he will visit the Columbian Exposition in his official capacity as the representative of the Holy Father, but his entire time will not be devoted to sightseeing. The delegate wishes to become acquainted with the Italian population of that city, and while there, he will give missions to congregations of his fellow countrymen.

He will then return east and will visit at Trenton, N. J., June 10, and Overbrook Catholic Seminary, near Philadelphia, on June 13. Then after a rest of a few days in Washington, Mgr. Satolli will begin an extended tour through the West, which will, if the present intention is carried out, be prolonged to a period of months or more. The start will be made on the 19th of June when, in company with the Rev. Thomas O'Gorman and two or three others of the faculty of the Catholic University, he will go directly to St. Paul, Minn. At that place the party will be augmented by Archbishop John Ireland, of St. Paul, and Mr. Hill, of the Great Northern railroad, Mr. Hill having generously tendered to the delegate his own sumptuously furnished car for the remainder of the trip.

Helena, Mont., will be the next objective point, in which city a stop of a few days will be made. From Helena the company will make a leisurely tour of the great Yellowstone park, taking within their observation every object of interest in that picturesque territory. From the Yellowstone Park the tourists will return to Helena and will thence proceed to Spokane Falls, where the next stop will be made. Then they will continue still further westward and will visit Seattle, Tacoma, and Puget Saund, consecutively. It is not definitely determined as yet, whether the party will prolong their journey so as to visit San Francisco, but it is extremely likely that they may do so.

The return journey will bring them back to this city a little beyond the middle of August.

THE ENGLISH DERBY

The Bay Colt Isinglass Won the Race and £5,000.

LONDON, June 1.—The great Derby race at Epsom was won by Mr. McCalmont's bay colt Isinglass. Isinglass is a bay colt by Isonomy, out of Deadlock, and won the two thousand guineas race at Newmarket this month. In the Derby Mr. Rose's colt Ravensbury, by Isonomy, out of Penitent, was second, and the Duke of Portland's bay colt Raeburn, by St. Simon, out of Mowerina, was third. Eleven horses started in the race.

The Derby is a race for 6,000 sovereigns, the winner to receive 5,000 sovereigns, the nominator of the winner 500 sovereigns, the owner of the second 300 sovereigns, and the owner of the third 200 sovereigns out of the race; for 3-year olds. Course, about one mile and a half.

POSTPONED UNTIL MONDAY

Father Dent's Case Against the Order of St. Francis Goes Over.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 1.—The case of Father Dent, of Buffalo, against the Order of St. Francis, for damages for his expulsion from the Order, and to secure reinstatement, was called in the Supreme Court at noon. Father Dent was present, though he has been confined to his bed by illness for some time past.

The attorneys for the defendant, however, asked for a postponement of the case until Monday, in order to secure the presence of Bishop Ryan and his counsellor, and other witnesses. The case was accordingly set down for Monday.

Nearly 7,000 Converts.

ST. PAUL, June 1.—The Mills revival meetings that have ended here have been the greatest revival movement ever held in St. Paul. Nearly 7,000 signatures attached to cards indicating the signers desire to lead a Ghristian life remain as written evidence of the work which has been accomplished. All the churches have been greatly benefitted and have admitted many members. Fifty Protestant churches joined with Rev. B. Fay Mills to make the meetings successful.

Dr. McGlynn Has Gone to Rome.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Father Thomas J. Ducey when asked by a reporter about the report that Dr. McGlynn, instead of having gone to Chicago, as reported on Monday, had really started for Rome to have an interview with the Pope, said: "Yes, Dr. McGlynn is on his way to Rome now. He is not in Chicago."

The Cravens Sail for Europe.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Earl and Countess of Craven sailed on the Teutonic for Europe. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin, the parents of the Countess, and Bradley Martin, jr.

The Break Still Widening.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark., June 1.—The break in front of the Fair Place, thirteen miles above here, is still widening. It is now over 700 feet wide. The outlook is that about all the territory of the Texas district reached by the flood of last year will be flooded. It is already over the Missouri Pacific track.

First Watermelons of the Season.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 1.—B. R. Price, of the Central railroad of Georgia, shipped from Grand Island, Fla., yesterday, the first car load of watermelons of the season of 1893. It is consigned to Cincinnati and is routed via. Albany, Ga., and Cincinnati Southern railroad.

Five Killed in a Cyclone.

MEMPHIS, June 1.—A cyclone struck Rosedale, Miss., 115 miles south of this city, last evening, completely demolishing the town. All wires were prostrated. five people are reported killed.

THE FALL RIVER HORROR

Arrests Likely to Be Made By the Police To-day.

SIMILARITY TO THE BORDEN CASE

No Ground for Holding the Dead Girl's Father, Who Talks Freely of the Matter—Motive for Committing the Crime—The Coming Borden Trial.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 1.—The horrible murder of Bertha Manchester has not yet been solved, despite the best efforts of the local police and the science and skill of the many detectives that were attracted here. There are a few clues that are being assiduously worked on, but, as yet, nothing especial has awarded the efforts of the officers.

For many hours it was given out in police circles that suspicion rested on the girl's father but this morning when a reporter asked assistant marshal John Fleet if the authorities were working on any such theory, he answered emphatically: "No."

Mr. Manchester is an eccentric old man, with outstrong affections. He went about the city yesterday, delivering milk as usual, willing to answer any and all questions put to him regarding Tuesday's killing. He knows nothing further regarding the possible murderer than the police know, but he makes time to consult and talk with them no matter how frequently they ask for information.

The police have been working in the neighborhood of the house again to-day, obtaining all possible information of the neighbors concerning past affairs at the Manchester farm and tracing out the men who have been employed there. They have their attention directed toward a man who might have committed the deed, but they will not officially give out the slightest clue as to where he is or where he has been stopping.

Rumors in police circles say that the man is a foreigner, who worked on the farm less than a week, and left after having quarrelled openly with the daughter and her father. It does not seem possible that any tramp or stranger could go into the house without being savagely attacked by the dogs that are loose about the place.

A prominent police official said last night: "This murder was not done through hatred, in my opinion, but was the result of a fierce struggle, either in passion, or to keep from danger of detection after robbery. We are on the track of two men now, one of whom we hope to get before night. The other we are not sure of. We are satisfied of this—that this murder is in some respects difficult to fathom, but the man who committed it is not a thousand miles away."

The body of the victim was removed to Waring's rooms last evening. The burial is expected to take place to-morrow.

As yet the police have not decidedly strong opinions as to who may have committed the murder. In the Borden case it was argued that none but a woman would have so hacked her victim, yet the appearance of Miss Manchester, due largely to the great flow of blood, was fully as revolting as the appearance of either victim in the Borden tragedy.

While the pounding was repeated with the back of the ax a number of times, at least five blows were struck with the edge. On the other hand, it has been claimed by friends of Miss Borden that a murderer always has a horror of being connected with the crime by means of the instrument used and will take it with him to avoid all risk. This they think is why no hatchet has been found by the police.

Yet, in this fresh tragedy, the bloody ax was left carelessly exposed upon the wood pile near the house. Naturally knowing the disposition of Mr. Manchester and his difficulty in getting and keeping help, the police have sought for information of recent employes.

The girl herself is spoken of by her neighbors and all along the road as a fine woman. She is not known to have had any lover or regular callers. All speak of her as modest, retiring, self-sacrificing. She would seldom take an outing or attend church socials even, except at repeated urging, and then rather to please others than to gratify her own wishes. She possessed a good figure and face, and was attractive and loveable.

If the motive was robbery, the thief gained access to the house by some way as yet unknown. His rifling of her room may have called her from the closet, where she was mixing ginger-bread, and pursuing her to the kitchen, he could have struck her and then secured the ax with which the murder was committed.

It is reported that some bruises were found upon the girl's body. One story is that certain neighbors heard shrieks from the Manchester house about 11 o'clock, but that they were not accustomed to pay much attention to noises at the Manchesters. Medical Examiner Dolan states that in his opinion the girl had been dead six or seven hours when he first saw the body, not far from half-past three.

The authorities in charge of the Borden case were examining the witnesses yesterday preparatory to placing their evidence before the jury at New Bedford. This morning several more witnesses are being heard.

The White Squadron Dispersed.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The white squadron lying at anchor in North river has been officially disbanded and the ships will at once be sent to different stations at home and abroad. The San Francisco will be the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron, and will fly Rear Admiral Benham's flag. The Philadelphia will go to San Francisco. The Chicago is to be the flagship of the new European station. The Yorktown goes to the Pacific.

To Stop Prize Fighting in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—The grand jury has created a sensation in this city by a scathing arraignment of the municipal and police authorities for laxity in the enforcement of the gambling laws. They also recommend the repeal of the law permitting prize-fights, and a strict prohibition put on such exhibitions.

Brooklyn Alderman on Trial.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 1.—The taking of testimony was begun at noon in the trial of Alderman McKee, charged with aiding and abetting in the presentation of a false and fraudulent bill to the city, and also for aiding in causing the same to be allowed by the Common Council.

ANNUAL POLICE RAID

NEW YORK, June 1.—The annual parade of the Metropolitan police force took place yesterday afternoon. The day was well adapted for the parade, the bright May sun being well tempered by a fair breeze from the southeast.

The men formed at the Battery and marched up Broadway to Twenty-third street, thence to Madison avenue, to Forty-first street to Fifth avenue, and down the avenue past the reviewing stand, where the Mayor, city officials and the Infanta Eulalia reviewed them.

The parade began to move shortly after 1 o'clock. Superintendent Byrnes, mounted on a spirited horse, was at the head, followed immediately by the mounted police. The superintendent was loudly cheered all along the line of march, which was packed with people.

The parade was made up of six divisions, or battalions, each including ten companies. An inspector or captain commanded each division, which was headed by a brass band.

There were about 2,500 men in line.

POOL SELLERS RELEASED

Their Offence Proved to Have been Committed Prior to Passage of the Law.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Twelve alleged pool sellers, who were arrested in March last, during the police raid upon pool rooms throughout the city, were brought up for trial in Special Sessions and released. Lawyer Hummel appeared for the accused, and, in cross-examining witnesses, elicited the fact that in each case the accused had exacted a fee of ten cents to pay for telegraphing the bet to the race track.

All of the men were acquitted, as the offence was committed prior to the passage of the law which makes it a felony to receive orders for bets even when a commission is exacted.

MORE JEWS EXPELLED

The Russian Government Now Extending Its Persecution to Poland.

LONDON, June 1.—A monthly publication announces that Russian persecution of the Jews is extending to Poland. It says that 480 families have been expelled from the Ponda-Donzowski district alone. All the heads of families thus expelled were engaged in trade, and possessed more or less real estate, which they were forced to abandon.

Some of the expelled families have already passed through London on their way either to America or to Cape Town, South Africa. Most of these people are educated and are well supplied with money.

Foster to Pay 50 Cents on the Dollar.

CLEVELAND, June 1.—At a largely attended meeting of the creditors of ex-Governor Foster held at Fostoria resolutions of sympathy were adopted, after which it was agreed to accept 50 cents on the dollar in payment of claims, leaving it entirely with Mr. Foster whether he should pay more if he became financially able to do so. A statement from the Governor was read, saying that he could pay 50 per cent of his debts soon, and that he wanted to pay in full.

Journal of Commerce Absorbed.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Journal of Commerce is to be absorbed by the Daily Commercial Bulletin and the interest of the consolidated papers will be looked after by the present management of the Commercial Bulletin. It is said that David M. Stone, under whose direction the Journal of Commerce has been published for years, will have an editorial connection with the new paper.

More Changes in the Reading.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. Francis I. Gowan, chief assistant general solicitor of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, tendered his resignation to President Harris and it was accepted. M. F. Ronzane, assistant to fourth vice-president, has also resigned. It is understood that the practical management of the system will hereafter be in the hands of Vice-President Voorhes.

Another Battleship to be Launched.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—The United States battleship Massachusetts will be launched from Cramps' ship-yard on Saturday June 10. It is probable that a delegation from Massachusetts will attend the ceremonies and that the daughter of a Massachusetts statesman will christen the ship.

Shipwrecked Sailors at New York.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Fifteen of the crew of the Hamburg-American Packet Company's steamship Wandrahm which went ashore on Apple Island in the St. Lawrence river while en route from Ramburg to Montreal on May 15 last have arrived here to-day.

NEWS OF THE DAY

—Dr. Charles E. Washburn, of Ithaca, N. Y., committed suicide by hanging himself with a rope at the College Hill Sanitarium, Cincinnati.

—Signor Gerome Rosi, the Italian archæologist and author of "Archivio Storico Italiano" and other works, has been stricken down with apoplexy.

—It is said on good authority that Archbishop Satolli will postpone the determination of the Burtsell and other important cases that may have come up before him for judicial decision, until the autumn.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Showers To-Night; Rain and Cooler To-Morrow.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—To-morrow will be bargain day at White's.

—The services of the band for Memorial Day observances cost $25.

—Is your new number displayed? If not, look out for that $5 fine!

—The trial of Lawrence Wallace of Scotch Plains, for arson, is set down for June 5.

—Plainfield council, Royal Arcanum, will give an entertainment in the Casino, June 8.

—No court was held at Elizabeth to-day on account of the absence of two of the judges.

—George Watson's spirited gray mare, "Uno", is to be turned out to pasture for the summer.

—The subject for Alfred Mace's Gospel talk in Reform Hall this evening will be Earth, Heaven, and Hell.

—Queen City lodge, 226, I. O. O. F., will initiate seven new members at the next meeting, Monday evening.

—James Frisbie has been lenient with the dogs for a few days past, but he declares war on them again to-morrow.

—Previous to removal, as announced in another column, Musgrave will sell off all his stock of second-hand furniture below cost.

—The paving and curbing of Elm place is rapidly being completed, and at last the long-suffering residents have decent walks. The job is a good one.

—Chas. Schantz, a sociable attendant at Chas. Smith's resort, was presented recently with a handsome clock. It's an 8-day but he winds it every 24 hours.

—Werner Heideloff, jr., of North Plainfield, has an attraction at New Brunswick which his friends say may prove fatal. Her name is spelled with a capital "M" and capital "N".

—That alleged weighing machine on North avenue near Park, does n't work, and has n't for a long time. Many cents have been wasted on it by young people anxious to know their avoirdupois.

—Henry Windham of the Central Hotel has been presented with a gold watch and diamond ring, by one of the firms the proprietors patronize in New York. The gift was made in recognition of services rendered.

—Court Pride, 8024, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, will hold a regular meeting in the Sons of Temperance rooms this evening. Business of importance is to be transacted, and the members are urged to attend.

—Frank Hedden has a good deal of trouble with his feathered flock. Not only have young (and old) chickens mysteriously disappeared, but a night or two ago one of his pet guinea fowls "flew the coop". This morning it was returned.

—Chatham street, North Plainfield, is soon to be macadamized under the direction of the chairman of the street committee, Mr. Neal, and street commissioner Gavin. This street has been neglected for a long time, and it sadly needs attention. Harrison street in "Hop Toad Town" is also being attended to.

—David Hooper was arrested by officer Lynch, on East Front street, Monday night, while David was walking with his best girl. The arrest was because the officer did not know Hooper had paid a ten-dollar fine in the morning, which had been standing over him for a day or two, and for which he had orders to arrest the man on sight. The prisoner's companion said "Pat Lynch thinks he's doing something smart, don't he?"

NOW FOR A TRIP TO CHINA.

Two Plainfield Visitors to Give the People a Rich and Rare Treat.

Society people will be delighted to hear that Howard Martin and Beadon Bryant (who have been spending some days in town as the center of a happy social circle) have succeeded in making arrangements to give one of their charming lectures in Plainfield the first of next week, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Vincent chapel has been chosen as the best place to give this "talk", as a much larger stereopticon picture can be shown there than in any other place in town, and these pictures, which are beautifully colored and carefully selected, form one of the most pleasing features of the affair.

Mr. Martin was for six years secretary of the United States Legation in China, and Mr. Bryant has been in the Chinese civil service for the same period of time. Of course living as these gentlemen have in the very center of diplomatic and social life in China, they are infinitely better equipped in knowledge of the country and its customs than any mere traveler or casual resident could possibly become. John C. Wetmore, editor of the Elizabeth Town Tattle, says, in regard to a lecture given by Messrs. Martin and Bryant and entitled "In Far Cathay", "If this is a fair 'sample brick' then indeed they have a rich store of material that should be a bonanza to them on the platform".

Both the Elizabeth Journal and Herald have extremely complimentary notices of this lecture.

Plainfield's lecture will take place Tuesday evening, June 6, at 8, and will be entitled "Bits of Old China". No one who appreciates a charming talk on an unusual subject should fail to attend.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

A PASTOR IN A MUSS.

MT. OLIVE BAPTISTS MEET BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

The Clergyman Hires a Lawyer to Repel Their Charges—A Woman in the Case—They Call Her "Hattie", and She Works on Franklin Place.

There was another hot meeting in Mt. Olive Baptist church, Monday evening.

It was held behind closed doors, and only the deacons and trustees and a few important witnesses were admitted.

The latter, however, were not called on to speak.

For a long time past it has been known that there was great dissatisfaction with the pastor, Rev. Franklin G. Warnick, and members have constantly been leaving and joining the Emmanuel Baptist church.

Part of the story has already been told, but there are many other interesting developments in the case, and the climax was reached at Monday night's meeting.

So warm was the debate, so one of those present says, that at times quotations were made from the Revised Edition, the word "ile" was frequently given, and threats were made of calling in the police.

The church is said to be in a worse financial condition now than it was when the pastor took charge of the flock.

Some weeks ago pastor Warnick sent in his resignation, and it was accepted, a notice to vacate in three months was served, and the time is fast expiring.

But because of recent developments they want him to go sooner. The charges preferred against the pastor are thought by some to be unfounded; others believe them to be true.

At any rate, they are uncomplimentary, to say the least, and implicate a young woman who attends the church. She is called "Hattie", and works in a prominent household on Franklin place.

When the accused was called before the tribunal, he had little to say, and referred his accusers to a lawyer, who, it said, has been engaged to defend his case.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Ex-borough clerk Harry Brokaw goes to Boston to-day for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Powlison left town to-day for the World's Fair.

Miss Sadie Grant, daughter of captain Grant, has been visiting her parents.

Herman Keller, formerly of this city, has gone in the cigar business in Denver, Col., and his brother Charles is working for him.

D. Joseph Y. Martin, of Three Bridges, Hunterdon county, returned to his home to-day after several days' visit to his brother, G. S. Martin, 157 Duer street, North Plainfield.

Thomas E. Conway of West Third street died yesterday in his thirty-first year. The funeral will be from his father's home, to-morrow morning at 8:30, and from St. Mary's church at 9.

E. F. Miller, of East Fifth street, has gone for a five weeks' trip through the South and West. Mr. Miller goes in the interest of the firm he represents, Roche, Lebon & Dean, silk manufacturers of Lyons and Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Mali have left their Fifth avenue residence in New York, and yesterday took possession of the John Taylor Johnston house on East Front street, for the summer. They brought a full complement of help, and had their horses driven out.

Sunday, June 11, will be "Children's Day" in the M. E. church. Dr. Barnes will preach to the young people in the morning, and administer the ordinance of baptism to children. In the evening there will be exercises by the children and young people.

Elder George L. VanEmburgh of the Trinity Reformed church has been notified by Jay S. Treat, secretary of the Social Union of the Classis of Newark of the Reformed church, that he has been elected a member of the executive committee for the season of 1893 and 1894, to represent the Plainfield churches.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Third street mission have elected a social and flower committee as follows: Miss Mary E Thorn, chairman, Miss Annie Angerbauer, Miss Annie Kyle, Miss Florence Dodge, Miss Jennie Smith, Miss Minnie Young, Mrs. Media Grant, Charles E. Thompson and L. H. Pangborn.

Mrs. Hutchinson, wife of the young pastor of Park church, Elizabeth, is to read a paper on literary work at the league convention in our church, June 8. She is no stranger here, for she was Miss Annie Petrie, and Plainfield was her home before her marriage to Brother Hutchinson, a few years ago.—The Visitor.

The Kansas City papers give glowing reports of a great memorial service conducted in the Grand Avenue M. E. church by pastor Charles B. Mitchell, late of this city, who preached a magnificent sermon to all the G. A. R. posts of the city. Scores of eager people were turned away from the church, unable to gain admittance. Repeatedly during the address Mr. Mitchell was interrupted by vigorous applause of the appreciative people.

DID BILLY LOWE DO IT?

It is claimed that James A. Baker has really been appointed postmaster at Scotch Plains. If so, all right; the town could n't have a better. But how did it happen if he was not the choice of the congressman or any of the "leaders" in the district or county? Possibly "Billy" Lowe, that clever politician, induced Governor Werts to send a personal endorsement of Mr. Baker, to headquarters.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. R. Crandall, P. M., Quonochontaug, R. I.

BULLY BOYS!

THEIR COTTAGE PLACE CIRCUS AN IMMENSE SUCCESS.

One of the Performers Was Only Three Years Old, and the Audience Numbered Thirty—They Had a Real Clown, and a Make-Believe Devil.

Several of Plainfield's bright boys gave a circus, Memorial Day, and it was a very creditable affair.

Early in the day Joe Gable's back yard on Cottage place was bustling with preparation, and eager-eyed children hung over the fence in breathless expectancy.

The boys had a "real live tent" "just like Barnum". The canvas was from the awning stock left behind by John B. Gable when that gentleman sought newer pastures. Beanpoles served to hold it up and make a respectable arena for the show of the day.

The boys worked hard, and got everything ready for the time appointed, when 30 young people, their hearts thumping with the excitement of the moment, surrendered greasy 2-cent tickets from their grimy clutch and scrambled for seats around the ring.

Two of the spectators were lady admirers of the performers, the balance of the cent persuasion.

The star of every one-ring circus is of course the clown, and where was ever a better one than Henry John Angerbauer, the bright and willing "Henny" of the Postal Telegraph staff! He made funny grimaces and turned comical flipflaps like a veteran, and his famous cluck of the tongue, with military salute, sounded so like torpedoes on the track that all the Jersey Central trains stopped running.

Joseph Gable and Tuttle Fleming gave a hilarious representation of "U and I".

John Keefe appeared as Mephistopheles and ate fire and swallowed burning candles and ran swords into his body in a style that would have bewildered Herrmann, until the two fascinated and horrified ladies fainted and had to be fanned with the boys' hats.

Joker Galbraith was down on the bills as "the great and only king of double-jointed acrobats, in his marvelous, stupendous and atrabiliarious gigantiesm, which he will turn hisself inside out, disclosing to the astounded populace many superhuman feats of twisticism". Likewise he done it.

Mike Keefe was the Equine Paradox of the show all by himself, he being the docile hoss ridden by jockey Larry Doyle.

Everyone fell into ecstacies over little Johnny Gable, who, though only three years old, was the parade all by his ontytonty, and in the language of the other performers "which he knocked us all down, just like a padjillist".

"Youse ken say"—said the "double-goint" Joker to the editor—"that everywuns was happy, an' enjoyed it immense, an' the profits was $4, which we desires to thank THE PRESS fur printin' the tickets and not chargin' nuthin'."

The big-hearted boys insisted on paying Mrs. Gable 50 cents for rent, and Henny, Joe, Tut, John, Joker and Larry each had an equal share of the balance. Mike was glad to act as hoss for the sake of gettin' in free, and Johnny "the parade" did n't want nothin'.

HYMENEAL.

Coddington—Robertson.

A pretty home wedding took place last evening at the home of the Rev. David F. Robertson, East Second street, when Miss Jennie Robertson was married to Manning F. Coddington of Mt. Horeb. The bride wore a becoming traveling gown of blue silk. The Rev. Dr. David Ryman, Presiding Elder of the Elizabeth M. E. district, officiated. After the ceremony a bountiful supper was served, and the bridal couple left by train for New York. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. David F. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Clark of New York, the Misses Briggart of Jersey City, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Powelson of Plainfield, Mrs. Sarah Morell of Bergen Point, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Coddington, jr., the Misses Coddington, Miss Addie Winter, the Rev. David Ryman of Elizabeth, and the following from Plainfield: Mrs. D. A. Ryno, Mrs. B. F. Fowler, Mrs. Harriet E. Moore, Mrs. C. Dickinson, Miss Marion Dickinson, Miss Louisa Robertson, Walter Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Coddington.

The Best Mayor the Borough Ever Had.

Mayor William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, sails for Europe, Saturday. The popular mayor has the best wishes of his constituents in his trip abroad. The many improvements inaugurated by the genial and accomplished mayor in the borough the council will endeavor to carry out to the taxpayers' satisfaction. While the mayor is absent, one of the members of the council, (probably Mr. Neal), will act as chairman pro tem. Mr. Saunders expects to return in October. THE PRESS wishes the mayor a pleasant voyage and a safe return.

Richardson Owns His Guilt.

Charles Richardson of Fanwood, who is under indictment for stealing a Plainfield bicycle and for false pretenses, retracted his plea of not guilty in the county court at Elizabeth yesterday, pleaded non vult, and will be sentenced Saturday.

Miss Burke Recovering.

Miss Agnes Burke of Dunellen, who had the black diphtheria, and was reported dead on Sunday, is slowly recovering from the much-dreaded disease.

Prevention Better Than Cure.

Many persons are afflicted with skin eruptions, boils or ulcers. BRANDETH'S PILLS taken freely will in a short time effect a complete cure of all such troubles. Ulcers of long standing have been cured by them. Carbuncles have been checked in their incipiency by them. The worst fever sores, bed sores, and the like have been driven from the skin by them. Only begin in time and a few of BRANDETH'S PILLS will prevent many a sickness.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many I use I have used that afforded me relief.—E. E. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

GOOD LUCK BETIDE!

HERE ALL MAY RIDE WHO HAVE A WHEEL TO PEDAL.

100 Miles May End in Smiles, or Sadness, as You Treadle—For Everyone Who Ends the Run There'll Be a Handsome Medal.

The coming Century Run as conducted by the Metropolitan Association of Cycling clubs is not a race, but a run, and will bring together the crack riders of New Jersey, New York city and Philadelphia.

The start will be made from Newark the morning of June 24 and the finish will also be there. The route passes through Orange, South Orange, Milburn, Springfield, Plainfield, Dunellen, New Brunswick, Franklin Park and Kingston on the way out. The participants will take dinner at the Nassau House, Princeton, and leaving there at noon will go through Blawenburg, Plainville, Belle Meade, Somerville, Bound Brook, Plainfield, Westfield and Elizabeth on the return trip to Newark.

The wheelmen will travel in two divisions known as the slow division and the fast division. The pace set for the former riders is at the rate of eight miles an hour, while the fast men are expected to travel twelve miles an hour. It will be a meeting of the clans indeed when the boys begin to roll into town on the night of June 23, as they are expected to do. No doubt the Continental Hotel, where they are announced to assemble, will be a scene of jollity, tempered with abstinence from anything injurious, as every man must be in good trim for the next day's work.

At 3 in the morning the slow division men will be routed out; breakfast will be served at 3:15, and the start will be made at 4. The fast men can sleep until 6 and then they must turn out also; their breakfast will be served at 6:15, and at 7 sharp the wheels will be set in motion.

The two divisions will not "get together" until they arrive at Elizabeth on the return trip, which will be at 6:15 p. m., according to schedule time. No "scorching" will be allowed, and anyone riding ahead of the pacemaker will be disqualified.

An entrance fee of fifty cents is to be charged which will pay for badges, prizes and expenses of run. This money must accompany the entry and must be sent to Fred Hawley, secretary, at 40 Gold street, New York, before June 16.

Prizes will be given to the two clubs having the largest number of members completing the run, and individual souvenir medals will be given to those completing the distance, for which $1.25 must be paid. In addition to these awards will be a prize of a handsome hall chair and rack, offered by the Newark Daily Advertiser to the New Jersey club with the largest number of finishers.

This is the second year that the Metropolitan Association of Cycling clubs has had it under its wing, and the arrangements which the association has made for a successful meet are of the most complete order, insuring one of the best runs that has yet been held over this route.

The committee in charge consists of: Frederick Keer, 874 Broad street, Newark, of the Hudson County Wheelmen, chairman; Fred Hawley, Kings County Wheelmen; H. S. Saltonstall, Elizabeth A. C. Wheelmen; W. E. Fuller, Brooklyn Bicycle Club; R. G. Betts, Manhattan Bicycle Club.

OFF FOR CANADA.

A Leading Plainfield Merchant Takes a Well-Earned Vacation in a Famous Canada Preserve.

Seely Edsall and Clarence W. Alling of the firm of Baily & Alling, lumber merchants of Newark, with their wives, started to-day for an outing in Canada. Their wives will remain in and about Quebec, while Messrs. Edsall and Alling will procure guides and camping equipments and spend their time in the virgin wilderness, some 200 miles in the interior of the province, among the pine forests, lakes and rivers, fishing for the gamey speckled trout which abound in great numbers and of large size in that section of country. These two sportsmen go at the invitation of the Triton Game and Fishing club of Quebec, which owns and controls a 160,000-acre preserve in that wilderness country. They will be accorded all the privileges of the territory and club, and they anticipate a very enjoyable experience.

Met Two of Them at Once."

Isaac Stelle of Park avenue drove to town last evening to attend the stereopticon lecture in the First Baptist church. In front of the church he met two of the electric cars going in different directions. His horse began to prance, and nearly ran on the sidewalk. Mr. Stelle jumped from his covered wagon just in time to catch the horse by the head and prevent a runaway. As it was, Mr. Stelle nearly lost control of the horse. Constable Rockafellow rushed out and grabbed the reins near the bridle, and at the same time the second car came thundering along.

How Would Wetumpka Do, for a Change?

It may not be Watchung avenue after all, since mayor Gilbert is said to be opposed to the change. Those at the Peace street end object to the mouthful of Indian nomenclature, and say that the good old name that the Quakers gave suits them well enough. The petitioners for Watchung avenue are the upper-end residents of Broadway. One who ought to know says that the mayor won't sign the ordinance.

WHY THE FOX SNARLED.

He Spent the Day Looking for Grub, and Got Left on His Assignment.

The knickerbockered sporting gent of the Courier on Memorial Day regaled himself at the free-lunch places out of town: in the morning down Newark way around the races, in the afternoon at a Locust Grove picnic, where the timid natives were scared into filling him with strawberries and cream. Then he went begging at the News office for the Plainfield base-ball scores, which he had been instructed to get. Charles Greer, a conscientious, faithful reporter, had scored the games for the News, and resented the nerve of the slothful Courier gent in seeking to benefit by what he had worked for, especially since the gent had stated in the Courier's columns that Mr. Greer did n't know a good game of ball when he saw it. So Mr. Greer very properly refused the gent the information asked for, and the Courier had no score to publish. That's why it snapped out that the games were of no interest and not worth scoring. 'Twas the old story of sour grapes over again.

PUT UP THAT NUMBER!

Don't Be Fooled by Irresponsible Parties Into Making Yourself Liable.

An unauthorized person is said to have told Plainfield householders that "they need n't worry; the ordinance compelling them to put up their new house numbers by June 1 would n't be enforced, as he could n't get around to all the houses by that date". THE PRESS again states emphatically that no one has a right to set at naught this ordinance. The city law has fixed a new number for each house, and every property-owner is liable to arrest and fine if he has n't yet displayed the proper figures. Don't let anyone fool you with the belief that he alone has a right to supply you with numbers. The city names the number, you buy it where you please, and have it put up as you like.

Speaks to Plainfield Before His Return.

The Rev. C. A. Nichols, of the Baptist Bassim Mission, Burmah, gave a very interesting illustrated lecture last evening, in the First Baptist church.

The views were taken by himself, and were very good. He gave his hearers a description of the trip to this country, starting from New York, and, upon arrival, of the scenes, incidents, etc., characteristic of this peculiar section.

There was quite a large audience present.

Mr. Nichols had been in Burmah for thirteen years, and will soon return for another long period.

Endeavorers' State Convention.

An important event in the history of the New Jersey Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will take place next October in Trenton, when the State convention will be held. The date is already fixed for the 11th. Nearly 2,000 delegates will attend the convention. The programme is now being arranged by the State committee, made up of county society representatives. The sessions will be held in Taylor Opera-house.

The Seventh-Day Baptist Question Again.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The block of granite which was reported as having damaged my truck and slid down a plank to the ground, did no damage to my truck. I merely left it on the ground because the owner of the Babcock building is a Seventh-Day Baptist and prefers not to have his freight delivered on Saturday and if I left it on the car till Monday there would be demurrage to pay.

WILLIAM HAND.

Till the Cruel War Is Over.

Until the French litigation is ended, and the Somerset street railway is completed to Front street, the cars of the North Plainfield system will probably be operated by the current of the North Plainfield electric light station. Transfer tickets will be issued enabling passengers to connect by walking the short distance from Front street to the bridge.

Plainfield Farmers Catching Up.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD—Farmers are catching up with their work very nicely; warmer weather is needed for vegetation; lowest temperature, 44 degrees; rainfall, 0.22 inch. JOHN NEAGLE.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—It has been a very nice week for planting corn and melons; plenty of sunshine and some warm days; nights rather cool; all work has been pushed along as much as possible; all vegetation looks as well as usual at this time of year; light rain on 26th.

—A special meeting of the borough council will be held to-night, for the reception of a financial report and the appointment of an acting mayor.

—Julia McDonald was fined $3 in judge Coddington's court this morning for being drunk and disorderly. She was found early this morning wandering about the streets in a helpless condition.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 66 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-15-y

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by J. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

THEY' LL ALL BE HERE.

THE TIME DRAWS NEAR FOR ROYAL VISITATION.

Good Methodists Will Join Their Pists in Warm Congratulation—Fair Plainfield Land Theirs to Command, for Joyous Celebration—Good Doctor Schell to All Will Tell His Work Throughout the Nation.

Official announcement is made by the Visitor of the great gathering of which these columns have already spoken. On Thursday, June 8,—says that admirable little newspaper of the local Methodists—our church will be opened for such a gathering as it has never held before. The young people's societies, including the Epworth Leagues, Christian Endeavor societies and others, of the Elizabeth district, will hold their semi-annual mass convention here as the guests of the Methodist young people of Plainfield and North Plainfield. The invitation was given at the October convention held in Trinity church, Staten Island, and was unanimously accepted. Elaborate preparations have been made for the convention, and large and enthusiastic delegations are promised from Westfield, Dunellen, Cranford, Roselle, the three churches in Elizabeth, Rahway, Somerville, Staten Island and other places of the district which includes over fifty charges and several thousand organized young people.

A feature of the convention will be the presence and active work of the Rev. E. A. Schell, the brilliant young national secretary of the Epworth League. His address at the evening session should be heard by a church full of people. Dr. B. B. Doherty of the national board of control will also be heard.

The programme will be substantially as follows, though a few changes may be made:

MORNING SESSION.

VINCENT CHAPEL.

9:00- 9:20—Prayer meeting, led by W. M. McGee, Monroe Avenue chapel.
9:20- 9:50—Welcome. Response.
9:50-10:30—Business.
10:30-11:00—"The League at Work for Temperance". Paper by Walter Winans, Dunellen.
11:30-12:00—"Effective Junior League Work". A Symposium.

LUNCH.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

2:00- 2:20—Prayer and Praise Service, led by the Rev. W. C. Kinsle, Dunellen.
2:20- 3:15—Roll Call of Chapters. Brief oral reports.
3:15- 4:15—The Epworth Wheel. Papers and and Discussions.
1. Spiritual Work, Miss E. P. Brown, Plainfield.
2. Mercy and Help, Miss Ellis Parker, Trinity church, S. I.
3. Literary Work, Mrs. C. X. Hutchinson, Park church, Elizabeth, N. J.
4. Social Work, Miss Fisher, Dunellen.
5. Correspondence.
6. Finance, Mr. Robert Cleveland, St. James church, Elizabeth, N. J.
4:15- 4:45—"The District League", F. J. Lovatt, Newark, Corresponding Secretary New Jersey State League.
4:45- 5:15—"Tools and Things". Discussion opened by R. R. Doherty, Westfield, Third Vice - President National League.
5:15- 6:00—"How the League Might Help Us", The Pastors.

COLLATION.

EVENING SESSION.

IN THE CHURCH.

7:45- 8:15—Prayer and Praise Service, led by the Rev. C. X. Hutchinson, Park church, Elizabeth.
8:15-9:00—Address, the Rev. Edwin A. Scheil, Chicago, General Secretary.
9:00- 9:30—Farewell Consecration Service.

The arrangements for entertaining the delegates are in charge of a large committee of which Mrs. James R. Joy is chairman, assisted by Miss Georgie Beekman and a delegation from the chapel and Mr. Taft and six young ladies from Grace church. Generous provision has been made, not only for food, but for flowers, decorations and badges.

"It is hoped"—urges pastor Barnes—"that the Methodists of our city, old and young, will show much interest in the young people's work by large attendance upon the several sessions of the convention, and it is especially to be desired that the church be filled at the public evening service. The convention, with its throng of earnest young Christian workers from the neighboring churches, ought to be an inspiration to all the young people of this community. If it should rain that day please make a special effort to come out."

—Edward White has placed an arc lamp in front of his store on West Front street, the first of its kind on that thoroughfare. THE PRESS hopes to see more of the same kind of light on that business street.

Enfant Terrible.

Mother-in-Law—I intended to stay here until next Wednesday, and that is four days more.

Little Arthur—If you catch the midday train then you will have exactly ninety-nine and one-half hours more here.

Mother-in-Law—How do you know the number of hours so exactly?

Little Arthur—Oh, my papa told me. —Fliegende Blaetter.

Another Young Man Gone Wrong.

"Are you fond of music?" asked a stranger of the young man at the concert who was applauding vigorously after a pretty girl had sung a song in a very painful way.

"Not particularly," replied the young man frankly, "but I am extremely fond of the musician."—Texas Siftings.

Baby's Mistake.

The Wife—The night you were away, John, the baby cried for nearly seven hours.

The Husband—Why didn't you tell him I wasn't here; he would have stopped then.—Boston Globe.

Judged by Appearances.

Maud—Why do you think she's a strong-minded woman?

Ellen—Her children always look so frightfully unwashed.—Chicago Bee.

THE NEWS FROM HAWAII

People Excited Over Late Developements.

IS LIKELY TO BE TROUBLE SOON

Native Newspaper Men Arrested — How the Instructions from the United States Were Received—Claus Spreckles' Fight Against the Annexation Movement—Present to Ex-Minister Stevens.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The following advices have been received from Honolulu, by the steamship Australia, at Honolulu.

The situation here is at present more interesting than it has been for months, and the whole town is agog with excitement over late developments. First came arrests of Messrs. Bush and Kenyons, editors of native papers, on charges of libelling the Provisional Government and Minister Stevens, then a publication of Secretary Gresham's instructions to Commissioner Blount and a warning by the latter to annexationists that they could not depend upon help from the United States in case the Royalists attempted to reinstate their Queen; then news of Blount's appointment as United States Minister to Hawaii and finally an attempt of the Provisional Government to silence Charles Nordhoff, correspondent of a New York paper, and Minister Blount's interference in his behalf.

All sorts of alarming rumors are sent out, and even Minister Blount, who all along had predicted that there would be no trouble, is not now so confident. On May 15 Commissioner Blout gave out for publication his letter of instructions from Secretary Gresham.

The instructions are quite voluminous. They request Mr. Blount to investigate the condition of affairs in the Hawaiian Islands and say: "Your authority in all matters touching the relations of this Government to existing or other government of the islands and protection of our citizens in paramount and in you alone, acting in co-operation with the commander of the naval forces, is vested full discretion and power to determine when such forces should be landed or withdrawn." Among other things stated by Secretary Gresham are that Minister Stevens will be instructed to furnish Mr. Blount needed assistance and would perform the usual functions of minister, that while the United State claims no right to interfere in internal conflicts, this government will adhere to its consistent and established policy and it will not acquiesce in domestic interference by other powers.

At the end of his instructions Mr. Blount added the following postscript: "While I shall refrain from interference between conflicting forces of whatever nationality for supremacy, I will protect American citizens not participating in such conflict."

These few lines created great excitement as they were regarded by all parties as a plain invitation to the royalists to make trouble. The royalists, however, say they are not now prepared to take advantage of Mr. Blount's notice, but will await the decision of the United States. If the Islands are annexed they and the Queen will submit to the inevitable and become good Americans.

If the Islands are not annexed, as the royalists firmly believe they will not be, then there may be trouble. The Provisional Government, although it does not look for any disturbance, is strengthening its position and claims to be able to hold together for several years until a new administration, if annexation is refused by Mr. Cleveland. On May 17th the news of Mr. Blount's appointment as United States Minister to Hawaii, arrived. Mr. Blount immediately took the oath of office and entered upon his new duties.

Mr. Blount, however, will not accept the position permanently, but will ask to be relieved as soon as practicable. Mr. Blount's appointment is apparently satisfactory to both parties here, as he is regarded as perfectly impartial. His work as special commissioner is completed and a report has been forwarded to Washington.

Claus Spreckles is still vigorously fighting annexation, and is charged by the annexationists with working in the interests of the Sugar Trust, of which he is alleged to be a member. Ex-Minister Stevens sails to-day for the United States. His friends here have raised $1,000 with which to purchase him a silver service as a token of their esteem.

THAT REPORTED RESCRIPT

Thought to Have Come From Enemies of the Pope.

LONDON, June 1.—A special despatch from Rome in regard to the reported rescript of the Pope stated that the enemies of the Pope, and of Monsignor Satolli and of Archbishop Ireland declared that the rescript is prepared. It is evident that the conspiracy in Rome and in the United States is reviving. If the document exists the Pope is keeping it dark, lest it should injure Monsignor Satolli, whom His Holiness continues to approve and encourage.

The Pontiff has recently declared again his wish to continue and confirm the school proposal of Monsignor Satolli.

Typhus in the Workhouse.

NEW YORK, June 1.—John Kelly, 30 years of age, an inmate of the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, was taken ill with typhus fever yesterday. He was removed to Eiverside Hospital. Precautions will be taken to prevent the spread of the disease among inmates of the workhouse.

Satolli at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Archbishop Satolli, the Papal Ablegate arrived in Chicago yesterday for a week's stay. In an interview he said he did not believe a published despatch from Rome interesting that Archbishop Ireland had to some extent fallen into disfavor with the Pope.

Coal Prices Advanced.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Eastern coal sales agents have advanced prices of coal 20 cents a ton on stove and nut and 30 cents on egg, but broken is unchanged for June delivery. The Western agents advanced the prices on all sizes of coal 25 cents a ton.

The Philadelphia in Dry Dock.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The United States flagship Philadelphia left her anchorage in the North river at 9 o'clock yesterday and steamed around the East river to the Brooklyn Navy Yard where she will go into dry dock for cleaning.

Narrow Escape from Fire.

COMBER, Ont., June 1.—Larsch's Hotel here was destroyed by fire at an early morning hour. The flames cut off the means of escape by the stairway and several of the inmates had to leap from the windows. Loss $12,000.

A Bit of Comfort.

Little Johnny—Was I born on a Thanksgiving day?

Mamma—Yes; but if you keep on being such a bad boy, I don't know what I'll have to be thankful for.

A Great Scheme.

Jack—How are you going to spend the summer?

Tom—I'm going to put it in traveling from one summer resort to another until I find a girl worth a million or two who wants to be loved and married for herself alone.—Truth.

Very Approachable.

Tapperton—I am going to ask Mr. Bullion for his daughter's hand to-night, and I am so nervous I can't think.

Billington (who knows Mr. Bullion) —No use being nervous. Mr. Bullion is very approachable.

"Eh? Won't he kick me out?"

"Not a bit of it."

"Won't he get mad?"

"No, indeed."

"I am overjoyed. What do you think he will do?"

"He'll laugh."—N. Y. Weekly.

At His Old Tricks.

Brown—What became of Sickle, the famous robber, who was recently pardoned?

Smyles—They say he has reformed, but I don't believe it.

Browne—Why not?

Smyles—Because he is to run a hotel in the Catskills this summer.—N. Y. Herald.

Nor a Football Player.

Herr Pianewski—Here is a thing I can't understand. This narrative says that Sampson's great strength was in his hair.

Frau Pianewski—Well?

Herr Pianewski—And yet he was never a pianist in his life.—Chicago Record.

SAMMIE FORGOT.

Mother—Now, Sammie, come say your prayers.

Sammie—Now I lay me down—down—down—down came a blackbird and nicked off his nose.—Judge.

TO HONOR HIS MEMORY.

Remarkable Character of the First Chief Executive of the Hoosier State—His Fight Against Slavery—Ruined by Drink.

The late session of the Indiana legislature made an appropriation of $500 for the purpose of erecting a monument at the grave of Jonathan Jennings, the first governor of Indiana, and the citizens of Charlestown and Clark county have swelled the original amount appropriated by private subscription until the monument fund has reached a respectable figure.

Jonathan Jennings was one of the remarkable men of Indiana. He was born in New Jersey in 1784, removed to Pennsylvania, and while young came down the Ohio river in a flatboat and settled at Jeffersonville, where he commenced the practice of law. Soon after he was made clerk of the territorial legislature. He was elected the first territorial delegate to congress in 1809. Although a democrat young Jennings was bitterly opposed to the extension of slavery, and through his efforts more than those of any other man Indiana was admitted to the union as a free state in 1816. At the first constitutional convention held in Corydon in 1816 Jonathan Jennings was elected president of the convention and after the adjournment he announced himself a candidate for governor of the new state. At the August election of 1816 he defeated Thomas Posey, the then territorial governor, receiving 5,211 votes, his Jennings opponent 3,934 votes.

Two years later Gov. Jennings was appointed by President Monroe a commissioner to negotiate a treaty with the Indians, and after a bitter legal contest he held the office of governor as well as commissioner. He was re-elected governor in 1820 and resigned the governorship in 1822, having been elected to congress. He served four terms in the lower house of congress and was defeated for a fifth term by Gen. John Carr. On retiring from congress Mr Jennings removed to his farm near Charlestown. The ex-governor's residence was a large double log-house, situated two and a half miles west of this village, surrounded by several hundred acres of fertile blue grass lands. Here he entertained the leading politicians of Kentucky and Indiana in that hospitable manner for which he was noted. He owned a large still house and mill, situated on his estate, and kept a number of servants, although he was a very plain man, frequently being taken by strangers for one of the ex-governor's servants.

The convivial habits of that period soon claimed him a victim, and it is recorded that his political career was cut short by his uncontrollable desire for drink, his warmest friends voting against him in his last race for congress. He was twice married. His first wife was a Miss Hay, a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families in Charlestown. He was married a few years before his death to Miss Clarissa Barbee, of Lexington, Ky., and James K. Sharp, an old gentleman residing here, who as a boy lived with Jennings during the last year of his life, speaks in glowing terms of the ideal homelife of the ex-governor and his second wife, even the governor's convivial habits causing no ripple on the sea of domestic bliss.

The ex-governor was taken ill in July, 1834, and on the 26th of that month he passed away, surrounded by his family and many devoted friends. The next day the remains were placed in a common farm wagon and taken to the little cemetery, situated on a high hill in the western part of Charlestown, and there interred. The grave will soon be marked by a monument of Vermont granite.

The old house in which Gov. Jennings and Miss Barbee were married and where the governor held his first reception still stands on a corner o fone of Charlestown's pretty streets after having stood the ravages of nearly a century.

Language of the Press.

It may be interesting to note the variety of languages employed in the world's newspaper press. They are as follows: Armenia, Arabic, Assamese, Bengali, Bohemian, Burmese, Bulgarian, Caranese, Cherokee, Chaldian, Croatian, Chinese, Czechish, Danish, Dutch, English, Estnish, French, Flemish, Fiji, Finnish, German, Gujarati, Hebrew, Hindi, Hindustani, Hawaiian, Hungarian, Greek (ancient and modern), Icelandic, Italian, Japanese, Javanese, Kafir, Kalmuck, Latin, Lettish, Magyar, Malay, Malagasi, Maori, Marathi, Moldavian, Norwegian, Persian, Portuguese, Polish, Roumanian, Russian, Ruthenian, Slavonic, Servian, Siamese, Singhalese, Slovenian, Spanish, Swedish, Syriac, Tartar, Tamil, Telugu, Turkish, Urdu and Welsh.

Complicated System of Measures.

It will scarcely be believed that wheat is sold in the United Kingdom under nearly two hundred different systems of weight. There is almost as much diversity in regard to barley and oats. The result is that quotations from the various markets create bewilderment and confusion even in the minds of experts.

Improving Exercise.

Small Son—Oh, that's real improvin' exercise. When I grow up mebby I can get on an' off of street cars without gettin' killed.—Good News.

Heartbreaking.

Henriette—Have you any jolly news? I'm so melancholy.

Violet—Oh, Jack's uncle had just left him a million!

Henriette (who refused Jack because he was poor)—Do you call that jolly? I don't! (Renews her tears.)—Life.

Appreciated His Feelings.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitts were out driving. "I wonder," she said, "just what the poor horse's feelings are. It must be just horrid to be driven and dragged around without any idea as to where one is going, except as some one directs."

"I think I can appreciate his feelings," replied Mr. Fitts. "I imagine that he feels just about as I do when you take me out on a shopping trip."—Indianapolis Journal.

Incontestable Evidence.

His Lordship—I fahncy, now, don't cherknow, that the De Peyster Oldingtons are one of your best American families?

McAllister Snobson—Ah! Ya-as. They spend the summer in England and the winter in the Riviera; one of the girls has married a count with sixteen quarterings; another has run off with the family coachman, and two of the sons have fought duels over other men's wives.—Puck.

A Shrewd Business Man.

Harlem Grocer (to young man who has applied for a position)—Are you a married man?

Applicant—No, sir. I am not married.

Grocer—Then you will not do. I prefer to employ married men. They are not in such an all-fired hurry to knock off work in the evenings. They have got through courting.—Texas Siftings

A Sensible Girl.

He (timidly)—Now that we are engaged, I—I presume I may—may kiss you as much as I please, mayn't I?

She (encouragingly)—Yes, indeed Make the most of your time, dear. There's no telling how long an engagement will last nowadays, you know.—Boston Globe.

Versatile Weather.

The boys wanted to go skating, but the clerk of the weather seemed to object. First, it rained; then it began to blow, then it snowed; then it cleared up, and the sun came out; then it began to snow again.

"I never saw such weather," exclaimed Hal, turning from the window in disgust. "It's horrid! It's—I don't know what to call it!"

Bill also strove for a word to express his feelings.

"Yes, I think so too! It's—it's—the most verastile weather I ever saw!"—Harper's Young People.

Moral Suasion.

"What were you beating him for?" indignantly asked the gentleman of the older boy.

"He has got some cigarettes and he won't divide 'em, and I was just trying to coax some of them out of him!"—Texas Siftings.

THE COURT HAS IT NOW

Sunday Opening Question Gone to the Judges.

FAIR GETTING HARD UP FOR MONEY

A General Call to Be Sent Out for the People to Come On—To Cut Down Expenses and to Issue Fewer Passes—The Electrical Building Opened.

CHICAGO, June 2.—The proceedings in the United States Circuit Court to determine whether or not the World's Fair may be legally opened on Sunday were continued this morning. That the public interest in the matter is unabated is evidenced by the throng that packs the court room and its approaches, many ministers of the gospel being conspicuous by their occupancy of the front benches.

After the judges had taken their places Attorney High finished his speech in the Government's behalf and the case went to the court which will take it under advisement and render a decision probably before Sunday.

The proceedings yesterday were very interesting. Ex-Solicitor General Aldrich finished his long speech on behalf of the United States government. The various acts of Congress, he said, demonstrated that the Fair was not only international, but essentially national; that the government had never viewed it as a local enterprise, or intended to surrender its control to a local corporation as a private venture.

He called attention to the fact that the Exposition had been located at Chicago by act of Congress, and not as the result of any local decision, and insisted that the proposition to localize the Exposition gave a negative to all the acts passed by Congress, and all the financial assistance rendered. As a matter of fact, he held, the local corporation had no authority over the Exposition, not even in the matter of regulating admissions, save the authority that was delegated to it by the government, and within the rules laid down by that government.

After Mr. Aldrich had finished, Attorney Walker replied on behalf of the directory and Attorney High continued the presentation of the Government's law, until court adjourned for the day.

Attorney Millchrist has received the following telegram from the annual synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America in session at Newcastle, Pa.:

"The synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church here in session, earnestly urges you to use all your power to close the World's Fair on Sabbath."

Owing to the unexpectedly small attendance during the first month of the Fair, the treasury of the Fair is pressed for ready money. The banks, which are represented in the local corporation, stand ready, however, to advance it. But money is owing to contractors and employes, and the former find much difficulty in getting quick and full payment of their claims.

Treasurer Seeberger is surrounded in his office at the grounds and in the city every day by contractors or their agents who need the money due them for work done on buildings, etc. He is compelled to resort to all kinds of dignified excuses for putting them off, but some have been waiting two months after their contracts have been completed and their vouchers passed.

There will be a severe policy of retrenchment in all the departments of the Fair beginning next month. The discharge of 2,000 employes is contemplated, the distribution of passes is to be kept within the narrowest limits possible, and even Major Handy, who deals with the press representatives of the world, is now preparing under orders a detailed statement of passes given, with a view to a heavy deduction of the list.

The directors are heavily interested in the financial success of the Exposition, and they can be relied on to do all in their power to reduce expenditures and increase receipts, in spite of public opinion or individual interests. Before the opening the enthusiasts connected with the Fair talked about an average daily attendance of 100,000, but that number has only been reached twice—on the opening day and Memorial Day. Special fete days and single fare excursions from different points will swell the crowds for the next five months, but the European patronage is not being relied on to any great extent in figuring up the prospective receipts.

An official announcement will soon be sent through the country by the commissioners that the Fair is in shape, and that it is a good time to see it at once. It is intended to counteract the charges of incompleteness and extortion.

The document is a long affair, explaining the immense scope of the Exposition and its advantages from an educational standpoint. It will recite that there is enough to busy the mind of a studious man for many months. It advises no one to say away, since the occasion is the grandest of any age in any country. There are no excessive prices for essential things, it declares, and it is time that ridiculous stories should be branded as untrue.

The second excursion party to the Fair from Berlin arrived yesterday. Among those in the party were the Count and Countess Pfeil, Herr Brandt, director of the famous Pilsner Brewery, and M. Hermes, of the Imperial Printing Company.

The Electricity Building will be formally opened to the public to-night. The building has been open to the public since the opening of the Fair, but the exhibitors have been slow in getting their wares in position. At 7:30 o'clock the machinery will be put in motion and the 60,000 are incandescent and search lamps will be lighted.

The feature of the building is the electric shaft at the center of the structure. It is eighty-five feet in height and arranged about it in every conceivable manner are 30,000 incandescent lamps. It is surmounted by a large prismatic globe which will cast a flood of light throughout the entire building.

To Brand American Cheese.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 2.—The Controller of Customs has issued instructions which will ensure in future the careful branding of United States cheese brought into Canada for shipment to Great Britain. A special officer will be detailed at Montreal to see that the American product is branded as such, and he will be in charge of shipments from the time they are branded until they are stowed on shipboard.

Funeral of Rev. Wayland D. Ball.

BALTIMORE, June 2.—The remains of Rev. Wayland D. Ball of the Associate Reformed Church, who died at Worthington, O., on Sunday, were buried in Greenmount cemetery yesterday. Rev. Frank M. Gunsaulus of Chicago, a close friend of the deceased, came on with the body and conducted the funeral services.

A MILWAUKEE BANK FAILS

The Crash the Result of a Furniture Company's Failure.

MILWAUKEE, June 2.—The Plankinton bank which failed yesterday has made an asignment, the court appointing William Plankinton assignee. His bond was fixed at $1,600,000, which was immediately furnished. The sureties are Congressman John Mitchell, David Ferguson, vice president of the Wisconsin Fire and Marine Insurance bank, and Charles Ray, president of the National Exchange bank.

The bank opened as usual at 10 o'clock and did very little business. At five minutes after 10 o'clock William Plankinton, the vice president, appeared on the scene and almost simultaneously the notice of suspension was posted up.

There has been no regular run on the bank of late. Since the scare of two weeks ago, however, the large depositors who did not take part in the run that occurred at that time, had been steadily withdrawing their accounts from the Plankinton and transferring them to other banks.

The suspension is largely due to the failure of F. A. Lappen & Co., and the Lappen Furniture Company two weeks ago, with liabilities that will probably amount to three fourths of a million, when the worst is known. The Plankinton bank was the pet project of the late John Plankinton, the millionaire pork packer and hotel owner who died two years ago. It was organized in 1887 and Mr. Plankinton was its first president. The capital stock was $200,000. On the death of Mr. Plankinton, F. T. Day, who was then vice president became president and a son of the dead millionaire assumed the office of vice president.

At the time of the heavy run on the bank, three weeks ago, it was said that Phil Armour, the Chicago packer, was interested in the Plankinton bank, and with great show a huge safe was sent from Chicago, accompanied by an armed guard, and was escorted to the bank by a dozen policemen carrying drawn revolvers.

It was then said that Mr. Armour had sent $600,000 in gold to the assistance of the bank. Mr. Armour denied the story, but the move restored confidence and ended the run. The heavy depositors, however, were not deceived, and for two weeks they have been guardedly withdrawing their funds.

The condition of the bank at the hour of the suspension cannot be learned. It is believed that the showing will not be a satisfactory one. William Plankinton, vice-president, said he could not tell how the bank stood or what would be done. Among bankers and business men the opinion prevails that Mr. Plankinton will personally see that all claims are paid, in order to clear his father's connection with the failure.

ROESCH LAW DEFINED

Judge Parker Says it Sets Aside the Local Option Law.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 2.—In a decision just handed down in excise cases that had been argued before him Judge Alton B Parker notes the power actually conferred by the Roesch law, finding that it cannot contravene a discretion legally exercised by the excise commissioners, and he also holds that the so-called local option law no longer has an existence.

Two cases were before Judge Parker, one being a proceeding by certiorari to review the action of the excise commissioners of the town of Shandaken in refusing to grant the application of William Martin for a hotel license.

The board refused to grant licenses giving as a reason that a majority of the said board had been elected by the people of said town for the purpose of refusing to grant licenses, it being supposed that such determination was in accordance with some statute providing for local option.

The judge decides that nothing exists in the statutes relating to local option, an act of that character having been repealed by chapter 274 of the laws of 1847.

The two cases are the first decided under the new law giving the right to certiorari in cases where licenses have been refused.

CHAMBERLAIN SLIGHTLY HURT

The Liberal Unionist Leader In a Smashup at Piccadilly.

LONDON, June 2.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the Liberal Unionist leader, was driving in a brougham in Piccadilly last evening when the horse attached to the brougham suddenly fell.

The carriage was overturned and the windows smashed. A cab coming behind them dashed headlong upon the wrecked brougham.

Mr. Chamberlain escaped serious injury, but was badly bruised.

A New Glass Bottle Trust.

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—Another trust has been or is about to be launched upon the business world, although it practically absorbs a smaller one while it tightens the grip on the price of bottles. It is to be known as the American Flint Bottle Company, and will be incorporated under the laws of Wisconsin. The amount of incorporation is said to be $1,000,000. The object of the company is to raise prices by combining.

Tacoma Bank Suspends.

TACOMA, Wash., June 2.—The Merchants National Bank, the oldest banking institution in this city, has suspended payment temporarily. A notice on the door states that the action is taken on account of stringency of the money market and inability to make collections. The bank will probably resume in a few days.

Dr. Ball and Wife Sail.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Dr. William Tillinghast Ball and his wife, formerly Mrs. James G. Blaine, jr., sailed for Europe on the Fuerst Bismarck yesterday. They expect to be away until the latter part of October. Mrs. Ball will seek relief from rheumatism in the waters of Carlsbad.

DR. BRIGGS' SENTENCE

Suspension From the Pulpit Said to be Too Severe.

THE ASSEMBLY FINISHES ITS WORK

The Committee Made the Report and it Was Adopted by the Assembly—Dr. Briggs Refused to Relieve the Tension—Will Stick to His Former Utterances.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Presbyterian General Assembly of 1893 finished its labors last night at 9:50 and was declared by Moderator Craig to be dissolved.

The Moderator stated last week that he expected to get away from the city by Thursday and he was not very far wrong in his calculation. A very few of the members managed to leave the city on late trains last night, but the majority of them waited this morning before gathering their effects together and bidding good-by the brethren with whom they have labored for the past few days. By night there will be scarcely one of the visiting delegates in town.

Although by the decision of the General Assembly Dr. Briggs has been deposed from the ministry there was a general feeling that the sentence was too severe and there was a disposition among many of the members at the closing session last evening to attempt a reconsideration of the vote of the action.

The last day attracted the usual crowds which has all along taken deep interest in the proceedings.

Rev. Dr. Peacock upon invitation of the Moderator offered the opening prayer when the Assembly came together at the call of the Moderator. Dr. Craig then convened the Assembly as a court, to hear the report of the committee appointed to prepare the explanatory minute in the Briggs case.

The Stated clerk announced that Rev. Robert Moore, of Ottawa, had stated that he was present last night and voted to sustain the question of the appeal from the New York Presbytery's decision, but owing to a severe cold, was unable to make himself heard. Mr. Moore's vote was recorded, making the number of votes to sustain an even 500.

Rev. Dr. Hoyt, chairman of the committee, before making the report called upon Dr. Baker, chairman, of a sub-committee sent to interview Prof. Briggs in a spirit of conciliation, to report the result of that interview. Dr. Baker said the committee had hoped that Prof. Briggs would say something which might relieve the tension of the present distressing situation. But this hope had not been realized. Prof. Briggs stated his irrevocable determination to abide by the declaration made in his address before the Assembly in his defence and continue to teach the doctrines there avowed. Whereupon, Dr. Baker said, the committee took the action which Mr. Hoyt would now report to the General Assembly.

The report after reciting the charges in the case, proceeds:

This judicatory finds that said final judgment of the Presbytery of New York is erroneous, and should be and is hereby reversed; and this General Assembly sitting as a judicatory in said case, coming now to enter judgment on said amended charges, finds the appelles. Chas. A. Briggs has uttered, taught and propagated views, doctrines and teachings as set forth in said charges contrary to the essential doctrine of holy scripture and the standards of said Presbyterian Church in the United States of America and in violation of the ordination vow of said appelles, which said erroneous views and doctrines strike at the vitals of religion and have been industriously spread; wherefore, this general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, sitting as a judicatory in this cause on appeal does hereby suspend Charles A. Briggs, the said appelles, from the office of a minister in the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America until such time as shall give satisfactory evidence of repentance to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America of the violation by him of the said ordinary vow as herein and heretofore found."

The report of the committee was adopted, whereupon Rev. Dr. Sprague gave notice that at the proper time a protest would be offered against the finding of the assembly, as being too severe a sentence for the honored scholar named, and as tending to restrict the liberty heretofore enjoyed by bearers in the Presbyterian church.

The committee of which Dr. Hoyt was chairman was made up as follows:

Ministers—H. W. Congdon, of New York; James H. Brookes, Missouri; Calvin W. Stewart, Nebraska; W. W. Harsha, Nebraska; J. J. Lucas, Indiana; George D. Baker, Pennsylvania; E. P. Whallon, Indiana, and Thomas D. Ewing, Iowa.

The committee were given leave to retire for consultation, and the Assembly, as a court, adjourned, to be reconvened at the call of the Moderator.

Wednesday night's vote on the appeal was divided as follows: To sustain, 298; to sustain in part, 85; not to sustain, 116. Total vote, 588 to 116 against Dr. Briggs.

—The New York Central's monster World's Fair engine No. 999 has been sent to the company's West Albany shops for overhauling prior to being placed on exhibition at the big show.

—Thomas H. Carter, chairman of the National Republican committee, has returned to Helena, Mont., from the East and will make his home there and probably resume the practice of law.

—The Elizabeth, N. J., City Council has ordered a new election for chief engineer of the fire department. N. H. Antfolk was elected by a majority of 4, and Joseph Brown, his opponent, contested the election on the ground of fraud.

THE FALL RIVER MURDER

A Negro Under Arrest—Looking After a New Suspect.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 2.—A negro is being held at Eastern Station, on suspicion of being implicated in the Manchester tragedy. Larshall Hillyard will interview him some time to-day.

A new story has come to light. It is in substance as follows:

About 7 o'clock Tuesday evening Albert F. Dow and wife were accosted near Oak Grove cemetery by a dust-begrimmed man who inquired the way to St. Mary's church. He appeared greatly agitated and acted in an excited manner, glancing around him nervously as if fearing pursuit. Dow directed the man as requested, and the latter met Alderman Beattie further down the street and asked for directions to St. Mary's church. Beattie said the man acted very nervously and kept his right hand under his coat as if in his hip pocket.

The police are hunting for Jose Correio, who answers to the description given by Dow and Beattie of the man they directed. He left his boarding house Tuesday, when he started to go to the farm, he said, and his landlord thought he meant the Manchester farm, where he had previously worked.

ANOTHER EXPOSITION

California Comes Forward With a Proposition for a Fair.

CHICAGO, June 2.—California has come forward with a proposition to supplement the great Chicago Columbian Exposition with a commercial World's Fair of its own. The proposition came from Michael H. De Young, of the San Francisco Chronicle, who is also Vice-President of the National Commission of the fair.

This California expositon is to follow the closing of the international enterprise now in Chicago, and will consist of a selection of the best exhibits now on display at Jackson Park. That is, if the adjunct meets with as much success at home as Mr. De Young's proposition has met with here.

The Health of New York State.

ALBANY, June 2.—The bulletin of the State Board of Health for the month of April says that the increase in the mortality, which began in March, and was then estimated at 2,000 above the normal for the month, has continued, with a slightly greater increase in April. The average daily mortality is 395. Of the 11,865 deaths occurring during the month, 9,783 were reported from 149 cities, villages and larger towns, and the aggregate rate of which was 24.86 per 1,000 population.

Heavy Pressure in a Wire Gun.

NEW YORK, June 2.—In the test of the Brown segmental wire gun at Birdsboro, Pa., April 15, a pressure was obtained which was so great that the record could not be read from the gauges. The copers used were sent to the Chief of Ordnance for test. The result of the official test as shown by Lieut. Whistler's report just made public, is that the pressure obtained was approximately 74,000 pounds per square inch, twice the ordinary pressure used in high power guns.

The Ives—Roberts Billiard Match.

LONDON, June 2.—In the international billiard match at Hinley's circus last night Ives did magnificent work. He got the balls jammed and scored 1,040 points in one run. His play throughout the evening, moreover, was neater and steadier than before since the beginning of the match. The score now is: Ives, 4,001; Roberts, 3,484.

Exhibits Sees the Races.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The royal party were the guests of the Morris Park Racing Association during the afternoon. They drove from the hotel up through the broad avenue of Harlem and through Westchester's picturesque roads to Morris Park. The day was a delightful one and the day's outing most enjoyable.

Broke the Record.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 2.—The world's record for the 220 yards distance was broken here yesterday by B. Fulley, a well-known sprinter, who did it in 20 4-5 seconds, running against time.

Another Cordage Failure.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—The Victoria Cordage Company, a member of the Cordage Trust, has assigned to W. J. Billings. Assets, $500,000; liabilities, $400,000.

FIRE NOTES

Cornell's iron works in New York City, covering almost an entire block was burned to the ground last night. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

The large general store and warehouse of T. J. Begges & Co., at Madison, Fla., has been burned to the ground. Total loss on the buildings and stock is $31,000.

The barns and outbuildings on the dairy farm of William Van Pelt, of Hopewell, N. J., with nearly all their contents, including valuable machinery and six head of prize cows, were consumed by fire yesterday.

The question as to how far Egyptian occupation of the Soudan should penetrate for the present has been settled by the British commissioner, Sir Gerald Portal. Sir Gerald will cause the two furthest Toru forts to be abandoned, and will organize garrisons near Egypt.

The River Near Arkansas City threatening Again.

ARKANSAS CITY, June 2.—The river has fallen one-tenth during the past twenty-four hours. The gauge this morning shows 49.15. The backwater is still rising at the rate of four inches in twenty-four hours, and it is now 2.2 feet of the highest point reached by the backwater of 1890, and within five feet of the highest point reached by the backwater of last year.

It is over the Missouri Pacific tracks, just this side of Bayou Macon, and is cutting the dump badly. The probability is that the company will lose several hundred feet of the dump at that point. It is over the track at another place between Trippe and Bayou Macon, but is not cutting the dump. Trains between Trippe and McGhee were abandoned yesterday on account of the high water just south of McGhee junction.

A private telegram from Varner yesterday afternoon reported that the water began running out of the break on the Arkansas river. This is due to the rise that is coming down the Arkansas. The amount of damage that will be done by it will depend altogether on the height to which the Arkansas goes. The rise that came down the Arkansas about four weeks ago came out through the Auburn break and destroyed the dam around Readville, Kearney, Dumas and Walnut Lake.

This water left the country, however, two weeks ago, and the farmers have all replanted, and these replanted farms are now doing well. If the present rain continues and the Arkansas goes to 23 feet at Little Rock, this territory is doomed again.

A fierce wind storm raged here on Tuesday night and again yesterday morning.

CORDAGE TRUST AFFAIRS

An Offer to Settle Refused Point Blank By Certain Creditors.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Interest in Cordage affairs has been revived here by the report that the Cordage people have made an offer of settlement on some of their paper held by banks and other financial institutions on the following basis: 30 cents cash and 70 cents on notes of 7, 8 and 10 months. This offer, it is understood, was refused point blank by the parties to whom it was made.

Another feature of the Cordage wreck is just coming to light in the shape of half a million Cordage paper which was placed by brokers in out of way places, or, in other words, outside the usual circle of business. The holders of this paper are residents of towns outside of New York and are just waking up to the fact that their holdings are of very doubtful value.

Nothing is known about the issuance of the receiver's report on Cordage affairs. At the offices of the company and from those in charge of the report a civil question receives a surly answer, if not an insulting one.

SPERRY SEEN

The Defaulting County Treasurer May be Brought to Trial.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.—A special from Jamestown says: The report is current here that Orin Sperry, the defaulting treasurer, is in this vicinity.

It is said that he came to Lakewood on his way to town of Panama and that his attorney, Hon Walter L. Semons, went there to see him.

Sperry is now over 70 years old. When he suddenly left the county in 1886 he was short $80,000. A compromise was made with his bondsmen and they paid the county $40,000.

There are several indictments against him and should the matter come to trial there will be some startling developments.

Stokes Libel Case.

NEW YORK, June 2.—W. E. D. Stokes and William R. Martin, through their counsel yesterday, pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging them with criminal libel. Edward S. Stokes, of the Hoffman House, is the complainant. They take the privilege of withdrawing the plea within ten days and to make a motion to reargue the demurrer.

Tashkend Cotton Crop Good.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—Advices from Tashkend, in Syr-Darya, Asiatic Russia, show that the cotton crop in the country thereabouts is in splendid condition. Six hundred thousand poods (21,600,000 lbs.) of Tashkend cotton has been bought by factories in Lodz, an extensive manufacturing town in Poland.

Unruly Strikers at Fort Wayne.

FORT WAYNE, June 2.—This morning the entire day and night police force are on duty and thirty deputy sheriffs have been sworn in to assist the regular force in suppressing the riotous demonstrations of the striking street car men.

HOTEL NEW NETHERLAND.

The Latest of New York's Palatial Hostelries Opened Under the Management of P. B. Wright of This City.

General Ferdinand Earle's new hotel at Fifth avenue and Fifth-ninth street, New York, built with a few of the Astor millions, was formally opened to the public yesterday, under the management of Peter B. Wright, of this city. It is called Hotel New Netherland, and is the latest of the great metropolis's palatial hotels of which the Waldorf was, until yesterday, far beyond all.

General Earle's new hotel was, and will be, viewed only by comparison with the latter, because the New Netherland is the Waldorf's only rival. Yet in some things—noticeably the public office and main dining room—the former is unquestionably superior in tone and effect. Especially is one most impressed with a sentiment of gratification by the delightful combination of wrought and polished bronze with onyx, and the dull gray carving into the polished pink numidian marble, both of which novel treatments are lavishly used on the first floor.

The floor above is entirely devoted to two bridal suites and three parlors, in such varied styles as rococo, Moorish, Romaneesque and an enchanting combination of Italian and French renaissance though softer than either. Elaborate furnishing has been indulged in throughout, but it all shows the good judgment and refined tastes of Mrs. Earle. The thought of cost has been banished, in this furnishing. The cafe chairs cost $280 each; and rooms in the fifteenth story are as elaborately fitted as those in the third.

Manager Wright has a staff of three hundred under him, and one of the most extensive hostelries in the world in his care, and he is probably the youngest hotel manager in the country, but he is as equal to the task as any of his elders. All of which General Earle, who has brought him up to the position, knows full well. The New York World in its account of the opening, says: "The opening ceremonies were unique. Little Guyon Earle, down in the hotel office, pressed an electric button which caused a gun to bang and raised the Stars and Stripes on the flagstaff. The wheels of the great engines in the cellar began to revolve, and every bell in the house tinkled.

"Chief clerk Peter B. Wright screwed in his diamond stud and placed a brand-new register on the desk before him. The first guest to register was 'David B. Hill, Albany, N. Y.'"

'MID FLORAL BLOOM

AND SWEET PERFUME THEIR TENDER VOWS WERE SPOKEN,

While in the Hush Fair Roses' Blush Rare Modesty Gave Token—A Courtly Train of Maid and Swain the Blissful Twain Attending, They Enter Life as Man and Wife, in Happiness Unending.

JOY ruled in the hearts of a host of Plainfield people last night over the happy marriage of another of the city's favorite daughters. The Seventh-Day Baptist church was the scene, and the wedding was the most elaborate that has ever taken place within its walls. The edifice was crowded to its utmost extent with those who had come to witness the nuptials of Miss Florence Titsworth, daughter of John D. Titsworth of Madison avenue, and Henry Siebrecht of New Rochelle.

The church was most elaborately decorated with rare flowers from the groom's conservatories. The entire chancel was filled with potted palms, and their dark leaves were relieved by hydrangeas in full bloom. At the steps of the altar was arranged an arch of flowers said to be an exact reproduction of the one used at the wedding of Miss Martin to Lord Craven in Grace church, New York, not long ago. It was a mass of green, filled in with pink roses and lilies of the valley. Roses of other kinds were scattered about in great profusion, and the whole floral display filled up the entire end of the church.

The ceremony was set to take place at 7:30, and long before that time every seat in the church was filled except those that had been reserved for the relatives and very intimate friends. The bridal party was of course a trifle late, as bridal parties are apt to be, but the organist filled in the time by playing the overture to "Zampa" and afterwards the ballet music from "Sylvia". As the first notes of the Lohengrin Wedding March were heard, every eye turned toward the door to watch the bridal party enter the church. First came two ushers, then two of the bridesmaids, one clad in pink crepe de chine trimmed with satin ribbons, and the other in green of the same material. Each carried a large bunch of sweet-pea blossoms. Then came two more ushers, and two more bridesmaids clad in gowns like the first pair and carrying bunches of the same flowers. Two little girls followed these, one in white, the other in green; they carried large bunches of pink roses. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Edith Titsworth, in white. The bride followed on the arm of her father. She wore white corded silk and a tulle veil. Her bouquet, which was of white orchids, was carried by one of the flower girls.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gussie Holmes, Miss Mamie French, Miss Bessie Titsworth and Miss Ella Titsworth.

Miss Edith Titsworth was maid of honor; and Miss Marie Rogers and Miss Belle Siebrecht acted as flower girls.

After the service was over, and the guests succeeded in getting out of the church through the crowd of people on the sidewalk outside, they gathered again at the home of the bride, only a few doors off, where an elaborate collation awaited them. The happy pair received the congratulations of their friends under a canopy of flowers. The gifts, which were on exhibition in one of the rooms upstairs, were very numerous and beautiful. An almost endless number of pieces of silver, clocks, bronzes, pictures, lamps, china and glassware, met the eyes of those who lingered to examine the tokens of friendship and regard. Among the gifts was a deed for a house and lot in New Rochelle, from the father of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Siebrecht did not inform their people of the place in which they intended to spend their honeymoon, but will let them know where they are located in a few days.

Among the guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Siebrecht, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Siebrecht, Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. Van Zalen, New Rochelle; Mr. and Mrs. R. Reed, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. S. Lockwood, Miss Pauline Siebrecht, Mrs. William Malloy, Albert Morgan, Fred. Smythe, Miss Emma Wadley, Chas. See, Arthur Keller, New Rochelle, N. BASE-BALL NOTES.

The Paterson Team to Play Here To-Morrow, and a Series of Games Arranged With Elizabeth.

The Patersons of Paterson have been secured by the Plainfield Amusement company to play on the Crescent Oval to-morrow, instead of the Olympics of Paterson. The reason of the change is that the latter have been placed in Elizabeth under the banner of the Y. M. C. L. A., and will, after being strengthened if needed, represent that city in a series of games now being arranged with Plainfield.

Another reason why the regular Paterson nine has been engaged is because the Plainfield management hear that the Paterson boys can whip the Crescents. If so, that's just what the Plainfield management want. The cranks of this city do n't seem to want a "champion" ball team—they will never be satisfied until the Crescents are defeated.

The Plainfield Amusement company have issued a challenge, offering $75 for a team of any kind, college or professional, that will beat the Crescents.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Plainfield Amusement company, Wednesday evening, progress towards the building of the bicycle track was reported, and director Hegeman was authorized to make the contracts at once.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Cashier F. H. Gardner and family go to Ocean Grove to-day.

M. Powers, of the corner of Somerset street and Park place, is reported as improving in health.

Miss Addie Weaver, of Orchard place, will go to Brooklyn to-day to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cadmus.

A. Attwood, of the Second Church of Christ, Brooklyn, was looking around Plainfield yesterday with a view of buying property.

George F. Brown will probably be the new president of the Christian Endeavor society recently started in the First Baptist church.

Wm. C. Force was initiated into the mysteries of Franklin Council, 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night. Mr. Force will make a valuable addition to the council.

Mrs. Jennie J. Schofield died yesterday in her twenty-fourth year. The funeral will be from the residence of her father, Isaac E. Houston, West Front street, Sunday afternoon at 2.

The Unionist-Gazette, in an article claiming to tell who are the New Jersey aspirants for office under the new administration, says: "J. A. Demarest, of Plainfield, is after the counsulship at Basle, Switzerland."

Robert Randolph, of Elmwood place, who had one of his fingers mangled by a buzz saw in the Pond Tool works, is not able to work yet. His finger is improving slowly.

Albert C. Hendrick has just finished an inspection of the fire department of this city for the National Board of Underwriters. He thinks chief Doane's system unequalled, and he ought to know as he was for twenty-six years chief of the New Haven department. During his stay here he called on C. S. A. Davis of Broadway, "New Haven's Encyclopedia".

HE'LL FIND IT A DANDY.

Ex-chief Hendricks of the New Haven fire department, now inspector of fire departments for the National Board of Underwriters, is in Plainfield to-day and in company with chief Doane is making an inspection of the Plainfield fire department.

DR. LEWIS FLIES TO BERLIN.

After the Siebrecht-Titsworth wedding, last evening, the Rev. Dr. Lewis took the train for Berlin, N. Y., via Albany, to attend the Seventh-Day Baptist Eastern Association, which is in session at that place. The Rev. Mr. Mason of Bound Brook will preach for Dr. Lewis to-morrow morning.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

The musicale given by Prof. W. E. McClymont at his home last night was largely attended and a successful affair. The programme consisted of the following numbers: Piano duet, Mrs. F. A. Pollock and Mr. McClymont; violin solo, Mr. Petrie; piano solo, Miss Elizabeth Hull; selection, Euterpean quartette; piano duet, Misses Hull and Serrell; flute solo, Mr. Pollock; piano solo, Miss Florence Serrell; instrumental trio, Mr. Petrie, Mr. and Mrs. Pollock; piano solo, Mr. MacClymont; violin solo, Mr. Petrie.

A Public Library for Dunellen.

The enterprising Dunellen Call is doing another good work of which it thus modestly speaks:

We would call the attention of our readers to the library soon to be opened to the people of this village under the direction of the CALL. There have been placed on the shelves in the CALL office over three hundred volumes of the best literature of the day, including books from the pens of such writers as Dickens [complete set], Fenimore Cooper, Chas. Reade, George Elliott, W. Gilmore Simms [complete set], Canon Farrar, E. E. Hale, S. W. Baker, Max Muller, C. H. Spurgeon, Elsie Dinsmore [series complete], Jules Verne, Edgar Fawcett, Mrs. Holmes, Judge Tourgee, E. P. Roe, [complete set], and others. A list of the books will shortly appear in the columns of this paper.

Almost Burned to Death.

A. H. Enander, the plumber, and his helper, Frank Carver, were almost burned to death this afternoon, about 3. They were at work in the cellar of butcher Van Syckle's new building on North avenue, when the gasolene blow-furnace that Enander was pumping pressure into, exploded. His hair and eye-brows were badly singed, and his face and right hand burned. Carver was knocked down and fell in the the flames. His leg was terribly scorched. The quantity of gasolene was unusually low or they would have been covered with flames and burned to death.

IT'S MAYOR NEAL, NOW.

THE COUNCILMAN GETS DESERVED PROMOTION.

Unanimous Vote of the Council Electing Him to Fill the Office During Mr. Saunders's Two Months' Absence—The Mayor's Parting Address.

EVERYONE will join heartily in wishing good mayor Saunders, of North Plainfield, god-speed on his voyage to Europe and back, and everyone will congratulate the borough on his leaving so excellent a substitute in office as George H. Neal. That worthy councilman was unanimously promoted to the office of acting mayor, by the borough council last night, to serve till Mr. Saunders returns.

Mr. Saunders, in officially announcing to the council his intention of going abroad, said that when he learned he must leave for Europe on urgent business he felt a great deal of concern, for he did not believe in holding office and not attending to it. He at first had desired to resign; but, finding that the trip would not be as extended as he had anticipated, he would ask for leave of absence for two months, hoping to return in August, or possibly sooner.

He believed the condition of public affairs was excellent, and felt satisfied that they would be well attended to.

The existence of so good a board of health he held to be a matter of congratulation. He had been spoken to on sanitary matters, the condition of cesspools, etc., by various people, but with such things neither he nor the council had anything to do. Such matters were entirely in the province of the public health officials. There was some fear of a visitation of cholera, during the coming summer. But there was no reason to feel apprehensive, for health matters were in competent hands.

Mr. Saunders added that the summer was usually dull, except in street work, and he was satisfied with the creditable record of Mr. Neal's street committee, both last year and this, and that careful and able hands would continue the work in a manner satisfactory to the interests of the taxpayers.

The street railway he reported was about completed, so far as laying tracks was concerned, and all had been done in as thorough and workmanlike a manner as possible. During construction, it had been an obstacle, and complaints had been made that more road was torn up at one time than ought to be. But those familiar with such work knew that it was necessary to open a considerable length in order to get a true track, as the grade was leveled by the eye of an experienced foreman, who needed a certain distance to get proper sight. He (the mayor) had visited the work frequently, and with the valued assistance of Inspector Carney had seen that a good job was done. The mayor had seen president Nevins, secretary Riker, and Dr. Fritts, of the railway company, and had urged them to complete at once the macadamizing of the street. They had assured him that their intention was to proceed as expeditiously as possible. Broken stone and dust were to be used to cover up and smooth over the present roughness, and when all was done the roadway would be in better condition than before, for hollows were to be filled in; and where the rails had been elevated to proper grade above the road surface, there was to be macadamization from curb to curb, making the entire surface even and uniform, and preventing the accumulation of water in ruts and hollows. When all had been done by the company to the satisfaction of the street committee the road was to be accepted, and after that the company would be required to keep in repair the roadway between the rails and eighteen inches each side.

When the mayor had concluded this good-bye message, councilman Needham raised the question whether or not the council had a right to elect an acting mayor. Counselor Reed replied that there was no difficulty about it.

Councilman Howell thereupon offered a resolution that Mr. Neal be made acting mayor to serve during Mr. Saunders's absence. This was unanimously adopted.

The clerk made a complete report of the finances up to May 12, which was accepted as satisfactory to all.

Councilman Neal for the committee on streets stated that various thoroughfares had been scraped, dressed and otherwise repaired; that Greenbrook road, long in need of repair, had been put in excellent condition at a cost of about $200; that Duer street and Somer place at the west end had been widened and improved; that Rock avenue was now in course of repair at the joint expense of borough and township.

A gentleman claiming to be councilman Connolly, but who without his luxuriant whiskers was unrecognized, reported for the fire, water and lamps committee that renovation was almost completed in Warren Engine parlors. Some improvements still remain to be done. He recommended that the chief engineer be authorized to take the usual Fourth of July precautions. Action in the matter was deferred.

It was reported that a special marshal had been on night duty since May 15, and that a night watchman was to take his place under pay by private subscription among the Park residents.

Councilman Edwards stated that the table for reporters had cost $6, and boxes for filing papers $4.20. He submitted prices on safes and exempt firemen's blanks. Mr. Saunders urged that $60 was enough to spend for a safe.

Councilman Hummer and counselor Reed reported that the council had power to enforce the laying of stone sidewalks, and an ordinance to that effect will be drafted.

Councilman Connolly reported a bad condition of affairs in street lighting, and held that deductions should be made from the bills. A marshal had been securing a record of the nights when lamps did not burn and when the circuit was entirely cut off before daylight.

Mayor Saunders said that the system was never worse than now, and hinted that if the company did not give better service the contract might not be renewed. The trouble was, he said, that there was no proper system of inspection. The borough should avail itself of its right to protect itself against bad service.

The light matter will come up for action to-night, at the regular meeting. Last night's meeting was special.

Councilman Needham expressed for the council, to mayor Saunders, wishes for a pleasant trip and safe return.

A ROYAL SEND-OFF.

Mayor Saunders to Be Feted Before Boarding the Ocean Racer.

Everything has been arranged to give mayor William L. Saunders, of the borough, a right royal send-off to-morrow. To-night at Delmonico's he will be given a farewell dinner, and the party will afterwards put up at the Astor House, where twenty rooms have been engaged. To-morrow morning his friends will escort the mayor down the bay. Several of his friends from this city to-day visited the Campania, the steamship he makes the trip on, and which just broke the ocean record. Mr. Saunders will be absent about two months, and all his friends join in wishing him Godspeed and a safe return. He has probably received more letters of introduction to prominent people abroad than fall to the lot of an ordinary mortal. Bon voyage, mayor Saunders!

"A PASTOR IN A MUSS."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—We notice in THE PRESS of June 1 a statement concerning a meeting held in the Mount Olive Baptist church last Monday evening.

The meeting in question was the regular business meeting of the church, and not more private than any business meeting in a Baptist church. Deacons, trustees and church members enjoyed the same privileges.

We are prepared to prove by the church record that the pastor was not on trial, neither have there been charges preferred against him. There have been a few opposers ever since the present pastor settled; but never have they gained a majority. At all events, the character of the pastor's friends will bear inspection. The individual who may have prompted the publication, doubtless, may desire company in misery.

No members recently have left Mt. Olive church to unite with the Emmanuel Baptist church. When a colored youth of our city was arrested, the church excluded him and some of his friends retired from fellowship. Others have been excluded; but so far as some Emmanuel's members are informed none have united with that fold.

In the meeting there was heated debate between some of the sisters but not concerning "Hattie". As a whole the meeting was as pleasant as most of those I have witnessed in Plainfield—nothing uncommonly strange transpired.

A few members had a personal quarrel after meeting when the strong language was used; but aside from this, the brethren went home as pleasant as usual. If your truthful (?) informant thinks to provoke a public statement concerning the internal workings of the church he is vastly mistaken; but we would add, however, that no year (this included) since the present pastorate has the church raised less than $1,000, and the floating debts of the church are rapidly decreasing.

The pastor has not offered his resignation, neither has the church served notice to vacate.

Pastor Warnick is perfectly willing that the world should know his character, not only in Plainfield, but in every parish where he has labored. Should charges be preferred against the pastor the case would be tried before a mutual council, and the public be informed concerning the findings.

In the case of slander concerning "Hattie", suit would have been instituted had not the church advised to the contrary.

HORATIO RANDOLPH,
Church Clerk.

Widening Would Make It Perfect.

George Neal, chairman of the street committee and acting mayor, together with road inspector Carney, secretary Chandler Riker, president Thos. Nevins, and his superintendent of construction, this morning made an inspection of the entire route along Somerset street. The road is to be placed in a good condition at once by rolling and putting on more crushed stone. Now if the authorities would only pass an ordinance and have the street widened everything would be well. A majority of the property-owners along the street desire the improvement.

A Common Sense Remedy.

In the matter of curatives what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience nor interfere with your business. Such a remedy is ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. These plasters are not an experiment; they have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest, the most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for ALLCOCK'S and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

WHEN MAN IS DEAD,

ABOVE HIS HEAD THEY CARVE INSCRIPTIONS CURIOUS,

Enough to Make the Corpse Awake and Rave in Anger Furious—For What Is Worse Than Home-Spun Verse Recounting Virtues Spurious, Or Epitaph that Makes You Laugh Till Tears Run Down Luxurious.

MANY of the queer epitaphs that from time to time appear in the newspapers to be laughed at for their oddity are clever inventions, but Plainfield, it seems, is able to contribute to graveyard literature some curious inscriptions that are authentic.

A student of tombstone folly and wisdom has been making a tour of the local cemeteries, and in the old burying-grounds outside the city has found interesting records.

At Dr. Titsworth's place, New Market, the old graveyard is now a piece of woodland, and the stones, corroded by time and weather, are half-hidden in the grass, while the inscriptions are more or less illegible. This, however, was deciphered, and is presented as a sample of what may be termed good advice from the tomb:

In memory of
LYDIA,
Wife of Daniel Runyon, and daughter of James Lennox, who died Oct. ye 31, 1784, in ye 31st year of her age.
O think of me as you pass by.
As you are now, so once was I.
As I am now, so you must be.
Prepare for death, and follow me.

Many of the tombstones are sensibly devoid of anything but the bare record of names and dates. The story of a saddened household bereft of its baby treasure is told in such as the following:

In memory of Osee, daughter of David and Sarah Coriell, who died Sept. 24, 1794, age 4 months and 21 days.

In memory of David, son of David and Sarah Coriell, who died May 20, 1805, age 5 months and 10 days.

Benjamin, son of Daniel and Lydia Runyon, died April 23, 1777, age 2 months and 13 days.

Anne, daughter of Daniel and Lydia Runyon, died July ye 7, 1781, age 1 month and 21 days.

Long life well spent is briefly mentioned thus:

In memory of Georges Boice, who died Jan. 11, 1817, in the 65th year of her age.

In memory of Rachel Shotwell, wife of Clarkson, who departed this life Sept. 3, 1827, in the 68th year of her age.

Joel, son of Jonathan and Anna Lennox, died Sept. 4, 1823, age 11 years.
"Time how short!"

This man's relatives insisted on giving him a title, even in the tomb:

Micaiah Dunn, Esq., departed this life ye 11th of Sept., 1779, 65 years of age.

Esther, daughter of Ebenezer and Eliza Tingley, died Sept. 4, 1797, age 11 years.
At Jesus' call she yields her breath,
Beloved in life, bemourned at death.

Here's another "Esq.", who gives a mute but powerful appeal to the reader's conscience:

In memory of
GERSHOM DUNN, ESQ.,
Who died Oct. 3, 1805, 40 years of age.
Ye mourners who in silent gloom
Bear your dear kindred to the tomb,
Grudge not when Christians go to rest:
They sleep in Jesus, and are blest.
Mourn your own crimes and wicked ways,
And learn to number all your days.
Gain wisdom from this mournful stone
And make the Christian's lot your own.

This tells the sole purpose of a short life:

ABI,
Amorille, daughter of Jonathan and Anna Lennox, died Sept. 7, 1822, age 12 years, 1 am only born to die.

Others from this grouping are more or less interesting:

The grave of Lewis, son of Ebenezer and Rebekah Tingley, who died Oct. 16, 1819, age 4 years, 11 months, 28 days.

Sacred to the memory of Ebenezer Tingley, who died June 14, 1824, in the 62nd year of his age.

In memory of Eliza, wife of Ebenezer Tingley, who deceased Aug. 10, 1806, in the 42nd year of her age.

Jane, daughter of Jonathan and Anna Lennox, who died Aug. 10, 1822, age 19 years.

Memory of Anna Jonathan Lennox, daughter of Joch and Rachel Dunn, died March 3, 1818, age 40 years.

Joseph, son of Jonathan and Anna Lennox, age 11 days, 1818.

Dunellen's Unlicensed Dens.

(Dunellen Weekly Call.)

For a few weeks past we have said nothing in reference to liquor selling in unlicensed dens, and as a consequence the operations about these places have been bold. Last Sunday some very disgraceful actions were noticed about one of these dens, and those living in the near vicinity are rightfully disgusted with their existence. Evidence can be gotten very easily against the proprietors, if not for liquor selling, for keeping a disorderly house. Some colored people living near one of them were obliged to interfere with some of the participants of a free fight last Sabbath or blood shed would have been the result. We must expect some startling news in the future if our town people do not stop these unlicensed dens from selling liquor.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

LIVE WASHINGTON NEWS

How the Government Aids the Naval Reserves.

NEW POSTMASTERS APPOINTED

The Old Monitor Nantucket Given Over to North Carolina—Michigan to Have a Naval Reserve Organization—Other Items of Interest.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Navy Department is determined to do all in its power for the encouragement of the naval militia in the different States that have showed sufficient interest in this important branch of the defensive service to pass the necessary laws to warrant the extension of Federal aid.

An order was made yesterday transferring the old monitor Nantucket to the naval militia of North Carolina. The monitor is a veteran of the war and was under heavy fire at the bombardment of the Charleston defences. In a few days she will be sent to Wilmington in convoy of some one of the new cruisers southward bound and will be turned over to the North Carolina State authorities.

The Massachusetts naval militia officials have applied to the Navy Department to have extensive repairs made upon the monitor Passaic, which was placed at the disposal of the State for naval militia purposes, but the Department has informed them that it has no fund available for the repairs which can however be made by the Navy Department if the State of Massachusetts will pay the expenses.

A complete equipment of text books, pamphlets and instructions is now being prepared at the Department for shipment to Michigan which State has recently passed a law providing for the organization of a naval militia, to the great gratification of the naval authorities who have long desired a better element of naval protection of the exposed northern frontier of the United States.

POSTMASTERS NAMED

Yesterday's New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The total number of fourth class postmasters appointed was 83, of which 56 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and deaths. Among the appointments were the following:

New Jersey—L. T. Smith, Layton.

New York—A. E. Stage, Crittenden; E. D. Obertrifter, Gardenville; Mortimer Cox, North Huron; Mary J. Hurd, Pontiac; J. W. Stout, Sand Bank; W. H. Price, Shenewater; John North, South Wales; F. C. Humphrey, West Shelby.

Pennsylvania—E. P. Miller, Abbottstown; W. J. Caulfield, Black Lick Station; Martin Kier, Homer City; J. J. Ramsey, Leesburgh; J. J. Gossman, McKean; F. L. Ery, Manor Station; W. W. Atkinson, Mozart; Charles Greenman, Sherman.

The Attorney General's Instructions.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Attorney General Olney states that he has issued special instructions in two instances only for the enforcement of the law against Chinese. These instructions followed in the line of the instructions issued by the Treasury Department and applied to Chinese who were illegally in this country and not to the violation of what is called the Geary law.

General Kelton Better.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Brig.-Gen. John C. Kelton, Governor of the Soldiers' Home and formerly adjutant general of the army, who has been seriously ill of Bright's disease at the governor's residence at the home, is reported as considerably improved.

Justice Field Not to Retire.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Justice Field, of the Supreme Court, denies his intention to retire. The justice says that while he has contemplated retirement, the retirement will not occur so long as he has strength to stand up to the arduous labor imposed upon him.

May Succeed Col. Archie Baxter.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.—It is rumored in political circles here that ex-Superintendent of Police Morgenstern has been selected by the Cleveland wing of the local Democracy to succeed Mr. Archie Baxter of Elmira as United States Marshal for the Northern District of New York, and that there is good reason to believe the appointment will be made.

Blaze at Fort Plain, N. Y.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., June 2.—The Everson block at Nelliston was destroyed by fire yesterday. The postoffice, a grocery store, a meat market and a saloon were located in the building. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is $6,000; insurance on building, $3,500.

Steamer Weimar Released.

NEW YORK, June 2.—One hundred and thirty two steerage passengers of the steamer Weimar were yesterday transferred to Hoffman Island for observation. The steamer was released from quarantine at 10 o'clock this morning.

Compulsory Voting in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, June 2.—The Chamber of Representatives is continuing the work of revising the constitution, and has agreed to a clause making it compulsory on the newly enfranchised electors to record their votes.

Immigrants at Boston.

BOSTON, June 2.—The steamer Yarmouth, at this port from Yarmouth, N. S., brought 183 immigrants, and the steamer Halifax, from Halifax, N. S., 50.

NEWS OF THE DAY

—The trial of the new gun-boat Machias will take place in Long Island Sound next Tuesday.

—The Selectmen of the town of Portland, Conn., have been sued for $50,000 damages by Fred Hall White of Brooklyn, N Y., for loss of nine years.

The "Count's" Turn, Now.

One of the charges against Count Van-Ness was the alleged misappropriation to himself of $5,600 belonging to an estate which he had in charge. He not only showed where the heirs owed him thousands of dollars more than that, but he proved that they had even gotten back every cent of the moneys he was charged with taking. So that case against him Wednesday, was thrown out.

They'll Make Nice Things of Paper.

The Young Ladies' Mission Band will hold a unique affair in the form of a paper sale in the Crescent Avenue chapel, Saturday afternoon and evening.

A large variety of fancy articles made of paper will be displayed, and choice home-made cakes and candies will be on sale. The twenty-five cents' admission fee includes cream and cake.

Mr. Van Winkle's Narrow Escape.

Garret Van Winkle was working in I. L. Miller's house on Broadway yesterday when a chisel dropped from the top of a door where he had left it and struck him a glancing blow on the head. The keen edge severed a blood-vessel, which bled profusely. Going to Dr. Murray's house opposite, he had the wound dressed. It was a narrow escape from serious hurt.

LIFE IN NICARAGUA.

Queer Things to Be Seen in the Central American Republic.

Pictures are everywhere, says a writer in the Century; women bearing burdens on their heads, their draperies blown into action, and their usually strong and beautiful figures accentuated by the gentle trade-winds; bathers and washerwomen on the beach, the sunlight glancing from their wet bronzed bodies and coal-black hair, relieved against the deep blue of the sky, and reflected in the waters of the lake and the white of the incoming waves; the market places; the hammocks full of naked and sleeping babies; the beautiful young girls; the withered and wrinkled crone sucking her cigarette as she crouches over her spark of a charcoal fire, surrounded by her pots and pans; the islands of the lake; the volcanoes; the tropical richness of the cultivated country, with its feathery palms and orchids; or the weird, lonesome, gloomy jungle, with its majestic trees and festooned vines.

Here is a young boy selling pineapples; he wears nothing but a breechcloth. Here comes a girl who is a perfect scheme of color, her bronze face, black hair, yellow-white chemise, red rebozo full of quality, and her brown skirt and sandals covered with dust. You watch her until she turns the corner, and you have half a mind to follow for one more glance; but look in another direction, and behold! something equally fine is before you. Maybe it is a fine young senor, with a mane of black hair about his forehead and sticking out from under his hat-brim, his mustache twisted into saucy curls, a gay sash about his waist, a short sword at his side, and his game-cock under his arm. The soldiers, too, are picturesque. They are always expecting a revolution, when life is eventful; but in times of peace, the arresting of stray pigs, goats, etc., is about all they have to do. They are small men, but look like good material, and I have no doubt fight bravely. They wear hardly any uniform, and remind one of Falstaff's men, but in the larger towns they are on their mettle and are as spruce as can be.

A broad sand-bank borders the lake at Granada, and is the fashionable drive for the inhabitants. There is always a cool breeze coming over the water, making it very comfortable, and there are many things of interest—the picturesque little thatched huts, shaded by large trees and palms that make them look like toy houses; the naked babies playing in the sand or chasing the buzzards, which are as tame as chickens; people washing, bathing, driving.

A Question.

Which is the greater sin? She can sing well
Yet oft' declines, protesting she cannot:
Then yields at last, and holds us in a spell
Where all her false denials are forgot.
Another, soulless, basely we deceive,
Assuring her we're yearning for her din;
She yields politely, daring to believe:
One lies; we lie; which is the greater sin?

You can be Happy.

You know you ought to be bright, cheerful, and happy.

You determine each day that you will be happy yourself, and make others so.

The day is not very old before your brightness is gone, your nerves go "all to pieces," and you are helpless on the couch.

You have falling or displacement of the womb,—causing "bearing down feeling" and backache,—perhaps ovarian troubles, with inflammation of the uterus and leucorrhœa.

THE WOMAN OF FASHION.

Summer Materials More Numerous Than Ever Before.

What the Daintier Fabrics Will Cost You—Linens Are Most Satisfactory—How to Make Them Up—Some Garden Party Costumes.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

The warm waves the country has been sweltering under have suddenly awakened us to the fact that summer is upon us. We have been quietly waiting for genuine spring to arrive before doing anything definite in the way of summer wardrobe. And lo! here is the summer before the spring. Therefore put on your thinking-cap, summer maiden, and make up your mind what you will wear out of all the bewildering fabrics for sunshiny days.

There are more materials to choose from this summer, it seems to me, than ever there were before. First, let us take the sheer and delicate ones. Fine organdie, printed in pale, soft shades and flowery bunches, head the list. It is just the thing for the fashionable skirt, for you may make a skirt of it as full as you please, add all the ruffles and hip trimmings you desire and still preserve the light and airy effect. Lawns are almost equal to organdie in this respect. The dotted lawns and muslins will be very popular; the newest are made in blocks or fine stripes of white and one other shade—lavender, blue, pink or pale green—the shade being so very faint that you have to examine the fabric closely to discover it. It is sufficient, however, to cast a sheen of color over the material, relieving the pure white. These stripes are bordered after the same manner, except that the stripes are a little broader, and the color is a trifle more intense. The tiny white dots cover the whole, of course.

I saw a pretty pink lawn, that was scattered with sprays of lilies-of-the-valley, in their natural shades. The lawn was also covered with a silken thread that was wrought in a square Roman pattern.

But, to come to the more sensible materials, we find Scotch gingham foremost, as ever. The gingham of this season, however, is so transformed by the beautiful silken stripes and threads running over and through it, that it is scarcely recognizable. Gingham is, after all, most satisfying, for it will laundry perfectly, looking just as pretty after the wash as it did in its first freshness. The French zephyrs are simply refined editions of the Scotch ginghams; and you may procure the nicest of either for thirty or thirty-five cents per yard, and a most desirable quality often for as low as twenty or twenty-five cents.

What promise to be particularly popular are the linen fabrics—the glazed linen, very heavy, to be had in gray, ecru and navy blue; the lighter French linen, coming in almost all colors, even pretty pale ones; and, above all, linen duck, coming in white, pale yellow or ecru.

The linen is so delightfully cool that it will be used largely for outing purposes. Of course all the gowns are made to wash easily, since the light suits must be kept spotless. The most popular way to make them up is the full gored skirt trimmed with rows of braid of a contrasting shade, such as dark blue or ecru or else narrow folds of a darker shade of the linen. Guipures are also popular for skirt trimming. The small jacket effects are almost invariably employed for the waist, with sleeveless silk bodices beneath, making the costume bright and attractive. Rows of braid should also be added to the jacket, and a most jaunty effect can be given by turning it back in large revers which fall over the sleeves. The blazer effects so popular last summer are all displaced by the short jackets, and, ergo, we all wonder how we could possibly have worn them so long and so generally as we did.

At a garden party last week, I saw some delightful costumes. A lady who stood out above all the rest of the bright throng was robed in a grenadine of blue and straw color, which hung over a petticoat of pale yellow. The skirt was a Loie Fuller, accordion-plaited, very graceful. It had no trimming. The bodice was merely gathered into a narrow, full belt of blue, and had a small white mouse-like yoke inserted, also gathered. At the joining of the chemisette and the bodice was a blue bow. The oddness of the gown was a scarf that fell over it, fantastically embroidered in many bright colors. It started at the waist line in the back, where it was fastened to the dress, both ends joined in a point. The point gradually widened as it rose, and finally an end fell over each shoulder, down front, even to the feet, where it was edged with long silken fringe. The sleeves were two puffs, reaching but to the elbow, long yellow gloves coming up to meet them. The lady evidently was not satisfied with the amount of coloring exhibited thus far, for she had added a graceful, curving chip of cream-color, trimmed with red buds and cream lace.

In marked contrast to the brilliant figures, stood a harmonious picture in ecru silk rayed with narrow stripes of satin, just dead-leaf shade. The edge of the skirt was prettily trimmed with full fans of lace. The fans fell over a twist of "ursuline" colored or plum velvet, caught every few inches with a big velvet rosette. The waist was all of fine folds of guipure, plaited over white. Narrow plum bretelles went over the shoulders, falling down the front, under the broad belt and over the hips for about twelve inches, terminating in rosettes. There were also rosettes just below the shoulder, at each side of the front. The sleeves were made of a ruffle of lace above and a lace cuff beneath separated by a puff of the silk of the gown. A tiny velvet ruff finished the collar; and a flat black hat surmounted the whole, trimmed with "ursuline" plumes.

A most winsome girl was there, that attracted not so much by the graceful folds of her pale-colored gown, as by the careless coil of her graceful hair. She had thrown off her hat, and the heat of the afternoon had displaced the pretty locks that had before lain neatly back from her brow. They fell over at their own sweet will, at each side of her face, giving a quaint effect that harmonized with her old-fashioned, high-bodiced gown. Her thick locks were simply gathered in a broad coil that lay on the crown of her head, and that had one big puff rising just out of the center.

Many more were there; but I forgot all about them in watching the pretty head.

What Puzzled Him.

"It's the little things that puzzle one, Mr. Soak."

"That's so. Now, last night, for instance, I had no trouble in finding the house I lived in, but blame me if I could find the keyhole."—Jury.

A Narrow Escape.

Boreby (settling himself for a story)—I suppose you have heard the old story about—

Chorus—Yes, we've heard it!—Town Topics.

Improving Exercise.

Small Son—Oh, that's real improvin' exercise. When I grow up mebby I can get on an' off of street cars without gettin' killed.—Good News.

Heartbreaking.

Henriette—Have you any jolly news? I'm so melancholy.

Violet—Oh, Jack's uncle had just left him a million!

Henriette (who refused Jack because he was poor)—Do you call that jolly? I don't! (Renews her tears.)—Life.

FRESH FOREIGN NEWS

Michael Davitt Bankruptcy Proceedings.

STAGE OF THE HOME RULE BILL

Excitement About the Young Czechs in Austria Increasing—The Behring Sea Case—Two Russian Princes' Fatal Duel—Other News of Interest.

DUBLIN, June 3.—Michael Davitt, late M. P., for Northeast Cork, was examined yesterday in the bankruptcy proceedings instituted because he has been unable to pay the costs of the North Meath election contest, which resulted in his being unseated. Mr. Davitt stated that he had objected to the project for a public subscription to help him out of his pecuniary difficulties.

Among his assets is a debt of £400 due to him by the Gaelic Athletic Association, the debt having been paid by Mr. Davitt to save the members of the association from arrest for non-payment of a hotel bill in Philadelphia. The association had promised Patrick Ford that they would repay the bill, but had failed to do so.

Mr. Davitt denied having rushed into bankruptcy in order to hasten his return to Parliament. The court has decided that Land League Cottage, Ballybrack, which was given as a National wedding present when Mr. Davitt was married in in 1887, is, with its contents, the property of Mrs. Davitt, and cannot be touched in the bankruptcy proceedings.

IN THE COMMONS

Still Debating the Home Rule Bill—Irish Members Complain.

LONDON, June 3.—In the debate on an amendment offered by Mr. E. W. Byrne, Conservative Member of Parliament for Southwest Essex, the Irish member showed for the first time, that they thought the government was conceding too much without consulting them. Mr. Byrne's amendment was intended to prevent the Irish legislature from enacting laws in respect to the use of arms by armed associations for drilling purposes.

The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said that to permit such use would be tantamount to permitting the formation of armed forces which might be improperly used. Chief Secretary Morley said that the government would accept an amendment debarring the Irish legislature from permitting the use of arms for military purposes.

Here Mr. Thomas Sexton, Nationalist Member of Parliament for North Kerry, interposed. He spoke in opposition to the proposed amendment, and expressed the opinion that in regard to such an amendment, as also the amendment of the previous evening, forbidding the organization of a national constabulary under Irish authority, representative Irish opinion ought to be allowed to speak before the government replied.

DOUBLY FATAL DUEL

Two Russian Princes Engage in a Quarrel and Fight to the Death.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—A despatch has been received bringing news of a duel with tragic results in the province of Poltava. Prince Bargram and Prince Mustapha, members of the leading families of Daghestan, a government of Russia in the Caucasus, started together for Moscow to solicit the Czar for permission to enter the Imperial Guard. While on their journey, having got as far as Barva, in the government of Poltava, they quarrelled.

The dispute became so bitter that they fought a deadly duel, Prince Bargram being fatally stabbed and Prince Mustapha fatally shot with a revolver. The police authorities at Barva sent the corpses back to Tiflis, to be delivered to the families of the dead.

AUSTRIA AND THE CZECHS

Will Petition the Emperor to Continue the Assembly at Prague.

PRAGUE, June 3.—The young Czechs are deeply agitated over the decision of the Austrian Emperor to close the Assembly at Prague, in consequence of the recent outrageous disorders on the part of the young Czech members of that body, which compelled Prince Lobkowitz, President of the Diet, to bring the session to an end.

One thousand young Czechs have therefore met at Podebad, in Bohemia, and resolved to send a large deputation to Emperor Francis Joseph, to beg him to continue the Assembly at Prague.

The excitement over the antagonism on the part of the Young Czechs toward the Germans continues. The Young Czechs have decided to withdraw from the Diet, and it is reported that if the present excitement and disorder continue a state of siege will be proclaimed by the Austrian authorities. A Czech newspaper has been suppressed on account of its seditious tone.

Still Talking About the Seals.

PARIS, June 3.—Sir Richard Webster, continuing his argument before the Behring Sea Tribunal of Arbitration in behalf of the British case, slyly chaffed Mr. J. C. Carter, of counsel for the United States, on his theories of property and its origin. American law, Sir Richard said, did not claim any property whatever in the seals, and there was not a vestige of authority for treating the seals as domestic animals.

Foot-race Competitors Pelted.

BERLIN, June 3.—The competitors in the foot-race from Berlin to Vienna were frequently pelted and hooted by the populace while passing through Bohemian villages on account of the Czech prejudice against the Germans. A vegetarian named Cids, living in Madgeburg, covered 199 miles in fair condition.

A Race for the Cup Defenders.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The Larchmont Yacht Club is the first of the big clubs to fix a date for races of the cup defenders. It will be sailed over the Larchmont course on Thursday, Aug. 31, and will subsequently come after the New York cruise, the races for the Astor cups and the Corinthian sweepstakes. This race is for a sweepstakes of $300 each, to which the club adds a cup valued at $300.

ANOTHER OCEAN RACE

The Paris and Campania Started for Europe Again To-day.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The twin screw rivals, Paris and Campania, left the North river this morning for another trial at record breaking. The Paris steamed away from her pier, foot of Christopher street, at 8 o'clock, while the Campania backed away from her pier, a few blocks below, at the same hour.

The Paris cleared Sandy Hook Bar first, shortly before 9:30.

She holds the eastward record to Queenstown of 5 days, 17 hours and 27 minutes. To break this she will have to reach Daunts Point Thursday night.

The Paris is bound to Southampton and to break the best record between this port and that held by the Furst Bismarck, the will have to arrive Friday afternoon.

Six other large passenger steamers also left this morning, altogether carrying upwards of 2,500 saloon passengers to Europe. The other six are the Alaska, La Bretagne, Obdam, Ems, Rugia and Circassia.

Some of the better known ones on the Paris are: The Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, United States Ambassadore to London; Mrs. Bayard, Mrs. James G. Blaine, Miss Blaine, Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Carnegie, Walter Damrosch, Mrs. Damrosch and infant, Hon. J. Donald Cameron and Miss Ada Rehan.

It was reported yesterday that there was trouble on board the Paris, which might terminate in a strike among the junior engineers and stokers, and which would prevent the sailing of the steamship. However everything was settled before time of sailing this morning.

The trouble was said to be over the question of wages. The engineers and firemen said that they are not paid the same rate of wages obtained by American engineers and firemen. They said also that they are paid in English money, which brings their pay still lower.

All of the crew on the Paris are Englishmen and live in England. It was said that a number of the men were so dissatisfied that when the Paris arrived at Southampton they left the vessel and refused to work longer on her.

Capt. William Randle of the Paris said he did not expect any more trouble. A number of the crew, he said, had left the Paris on her last trip to Southampton, but that was because their families lived at Liverpool and they did not wish to move to Southampton.

TO RESUME BUSINESS

Wall Streets Firms Have About Overcome Their Difficulties.

NEW YORK, June 3.—It is stated in Wall street to-day that Henry Allen & Co., who were carried down by the collapse of the National Cordage Company, would resume.

"If our creditors will accept our offer of fifty cents on the dollar we shall start up again in a few days," said Mr. Allen. "The moral obligation for the balance will be just as good as the money in due time. We have assets which, when they can be realized on, will enable us to pay in full and leave us rich. In other words, we owe $400,000 and have assets of $800,000. Our creditors have shown every disposition to help us, and there appears to be nothing to interfere with our resumption of business. We now have the money on hand to make the settlement proposed."

S. V. White has arranged his affairs so that he can begin active operations in Wall street again in a few days.

YOUNG SPANIARDS MISSED

NEW YORK, June 3.—The mysterious disappearance of two young Spaniards, wealthy coffee growers of Costa Rica, is reported at police headquarters.

They came to New York fifteen days ago with a number of Central Americans, en route to the World's Fair.

Wednesday night the two missing men, Jose Maria Oreaumo and Jose Quezade, started out to see the sights. They were last seen in a concert hall on Fourteenth street, where they were displaying considerable of their wealth and drinking champagne.

Their companions think the two men have met with foul play.

A Dog's Ghastly Find.

HIGHTSTOWN, N. J., June 3.—Charles Stockton, a farmer in Middlesex county, was horrified by his dog bringing out of a swamp a human head from which all the hair had fallen. Two men, Archie Yates of South River, and Joseph McCormick, who lived near the swamp where the head was found, disappeared mysteriously from their homes during the winter, and it is thought that this head may be that of one of them.

An Ohio Bank Closed.

PAULDING, O., June 3.—Potter's bank, the oldest bank in Paulding county and heretofore considered one of the safest closed its doors yesterday. The bank was established in 1874 and has always done a large banking business. Information as to the cause of the assignment seems hard to get. President H. M'Ayers and Vice President Potter have nothing to say and Cashier Sponsler is not to be found.

Mayor Robinson's Finances.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 3.—Thirty thousand dollars more in securities have been returned to the Elmira National bank. This reduces Colonel Robinson's overdraft from $115,000 to $80,000. Papers in a civil suit for $35,000 have been served on Robinson. It is said the action is brought by the Western National bank of New York city.

They Escaped Just in Time.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., June 3.—The report that four persons lost their lives in a farm house fire at Van Buren Point proves unfounded. The inmates escaped just before the building fell in.

GATES WILL BE OPEN

A Decision Expected To-Day in the Fair Case.

THE SHOW ALL BUT COMPLETE NOW

Orders to Have the Gates Opened Issued—No Provisions Yet for Religious Services on the Grounds—High Price for Isabella Coins—Money Outlook.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 3.—It is thought here this morning that there may be a decision in the Sunday closing case now before the United States Court, some time to-day.

Whichever way the question is decided it will probably not have any effect on the conduct of the Fair for to-morrow. The gates will probably be open anyway, orders to that effect having been issued yesterday. It is not probable that any religious services will be held in Festival Hall to-morrow. Mr. Moody has not yet been asked to preach, nor has any one else, and no one will be until there is a decision in the case now pending in the courts to close the gates on Sundays. The World's Fair officials do not intend to make any extensive Sunday arrangements until they are sure of their ground.

"White City" is now practically completed. The railway tracks which were laid inside the grounds to facilitate the bringing in of exhibits have been taken up, and with very few exceptions the exhibits are all in place, and by the first of next week the Fair will undoubtedly be finished and ready for inspection by the public from one end to the other.

It is now positively known that the far famed Oriental monarch, the Sultan of Johore, is coming to the World's Fair. His majesty cabled the fact of his intended visit to Deputy Commissioner V. W. Lake and directed Mr. Lake to meet him in Carlsbad, Germany, to accompany him to Chicago. Mr. Lake at once left for New York, whence he will sail for Europe and expects to get back to Chicago before the end of the present month. The Sultan is famous for his great wealth and is said to possess the finest collection of diamonds and rubies and pearls in the world. He will bring a retinue of ten servants and two English physicians, whom he carries with him to look after his health.

The first installment of the Isabella Souvenir quarters will be received not later than the first of July, and possibly earlier. The rumor that the prices of the coins had been increased to $5 is incorrect. The quarters are still selling at one dollar each, but they are going so rapidly and the number is so small that there is a strong probability of an early advance in price.

Director Charles H. Schwab, says that the exposition has cleared a quarter of a million dollars on the month of May, and as a result of a general reduction of forces to begin next Monday, a better result is confidently anticipated for the month of June. Mr. Schwab takes a rosy view of the situation, and claims that the financial success of the Fair is already assured. He says the running expenses of the Fair will be but $100,000 a week for the present and this will be cut down when the working forces are reduced as has now been ordered by the officials.

The bureau of admissions estimates the paid attendance for yesteday at 50,000, which was doing well considering the threatening and rainy weather.

Satolli at the Fair.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 3.—The Papal Abiegate, Archbishop Satolli, accompanied by Archbishop Feehan of Chicago, Father Thomas Moreschini, and other Catholic clergymen, visited the World's Fair during the morning.

MAYOR WILLEY IN TROUBLE

Has Been Summoned Before the Supreme Council, Knights of Pythias.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 3.—Stansbury J. Willey has been served by Supreme Representative William Simmons with a summons from the Supreme Lodge of the World, Knights of Pythias, commanding Mr. Willey to appear before the Supreme Council in Chicago on June 10.

The officers of the Supreme Lodge say that in all probability both criminal and civil action will be brought against Mayor Willey in the United States Court between now and October.

Partridge Arrested on a Serious Charge.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Edward Partridge, the prominent Board of Trade grain speculator, has been arrested on a technical charge of abducting a 16-year-old girl, Clara Harzinski, on March 28. He could not be intervied to-day, but his friends enter a sweeping denial, and characterize the proceedings as the result of an unsuccessful attempt to blackmail Partridge for $20,000.

NATIONAL FINANCES

The Statement of the Public Debt for the Month of May.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The public debt statement just issued shows that there was a net decrease of $739,435.99 during the month of May. Of this, $637,175.50 was in the amount of the bonded indebtedness of the government, and $89,250.49 was in the increase of the cash in the Treasury.

The interest bearing debt increased $300,000; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity decreased $37,490, and the debt bearing no interest $619,695.50.

The aggregate interest and non-interest bearing debt May 31, was $961,750,835.62; on April 30, it was $962,407,764.13. The certificates and Treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in Treasury outstanding at the end of the month was $594,631,017, an increase of $1,495,604.

The total cash in the Treasury was $754,122,984.47, the gold reserve $95,048,640, and the net cash balance $26,516,514.30.

In the month there was a decrease of $5,764,749.32 in gold coin and bars, the total at the close being $196,518,609.76. Of silver there was an increase of $5,173,874.48.

Of the surplus there was in national bank depositories $11,649,142.54 against $11,270,696.69 at the end of the previous month.

INSULT FOR AMERICANS

A Report That Our Interests in Honduras are Greatly Jeopardized.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 3.—A letter received in this city from Trujillo, Spanish Honduras, says:

"Americans and American interests are jeopardized by the action of the Liberals, who are now in charge of the country. American vessels are plied at the mercy of a lawless band of Cubans and other foreign adventurers who run things to suit their own sweet will.

"To be an American in Honduras is to be subjected to ridicule, contempt, insult, and to be made the prey of pirates."

RECEIVERS FOR THE DOMESTIC

Judge Andrew Kirkpatrick Appointed by Vice-Chancellor Van Fleet.

NEWARK, N. J., June 3.—Vice-Chancellor Van Fleet has appointed Judge Andrew Kirkpatrick of the Essex County Court receiver of the Domestic Sewing Machine Company.

The largest creditors, the banks of New York, wanted Horace F. Hutchinson, the actuary of the Broadway Savings bank, and David Blake, the vice-president of the insolvent company appointed, but the smaller creditors objected, and the Vice-Chancellor sided with them.

Mr. Palmer, president of the Broadway bank, made a strong appeal for the appointment of Mr. Blake.

Judge Kirkpatrick Accepts.

NEWARK, N. J., June 3.—Judge Kirkpatrick has accepted the appointment as receiver of the Domestic Sewing Machine Company and given bonds for $150,000.

STRIKING QUARRYMEN RIOT

Crazed With Liquor They Attack Other Workmen Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The reign of terror of yesterday along the route of the drainage canal between Lemont and Romeo, threatens to be repeated to-day. Last evening 400 quarrymen struck for an increase of wages and assembling with clubs and revolvers marched from one stone quarry to another, gaining additions to their ranks and stopping at many of the saloons on their way until almost crazed with liquor they left the quarries and rushed upon the nearest camp of contractors on the drainage canal line.

Camp after camp was visited and in each the men were driven from their work and when they had the temerity to resist were assaulted by the strikers. Many men were severely injured and it is thought that one, James Powderly, will die.

Judge Dubose Found Guilty.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 3.—The case of Judge Julius J. Dubose, of Shelby county, has been finally disposed of by the court of impeachment. The house of representatives preferred thirty-six against him and the Senate found him guilty of two of them. Judge Dubose was declared not guilty of thirty-four of the charges. One of those on which he was found guilty was of disregarding a habeas corpus. The other charge is extortion.

Admiral Howard Sails.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Admiral E. C. Howard of the Argentine cruiser Neuve de Julio, was a passenger for England this morning on the Campania. He goes abroad to superintend the construction of a duplicate vessel to the Ninth of July, intended for the Argentine navy.

Hoerner Indicted for Murder.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 3.—Edward K. Hoerner, of Steelton, Pa., in the Kings County Court, was indicted for murder in the first degree for shooting and killing George Phillips, a "green-goods" on the 16th of last May. Joseph, who is said to be a brother of Edward, and who was also arrested at the time of the shooting, is held for some one to come forward and prove his identity.

Eleven Hurt in a Wreck.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 3.—A wreck in which eleven persons were injured occurred on the northwestern division of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis road near Nowson's station yesterday. The rear coach of passenger train No. 54, from Memphis, due here at 7 o'clock, jumped the track and rolled down an embankment between thirty and forty feet high.

—Jane Murphy, 50 years old, of Red Bank, N. J., while grieving over the death of her mistress, Miss Alice Tyson, attempted suicide by taking strychnine. Her recovery is doubtful.

—Twenty-five carpenters employed by George Arnold & Son and Frank Hutchinson, contractors, of Rockville, Conn., struck, yesterday, for a nine-hours' day with ten hours' pay.

—Five prisoners confined in the county jail at Sedalia, Mo., escaped last night by sawing and knocking a hole in the wall, and letting themselves down to the ground by a rope made out of blankets.

—Gov. Flower has signified his intention of being present at the opening of the Adirondack Park, at Saranac Lake, N. Y. He will make an address on that occasion. The date of the opening has not yet been fixed.

—The State Department has been notified of the elevation of the Italian Legation in Washington to the rank of an Embassey and that Baron de Fava, present Minister, would soon present his credentials as Ambassador.

GOOD OLD AGE.

WHEN THE NERVES ACT SMOOTHLY. WHEN THE BLOOD RUNS NATURALLY.

When the Blood Runs Naturally—Paine's Celery Makes People Well—Start Fairly on the Road to Health—It Strengthens, Invigorates and Is Food—Thousands Have Been Benefitted—Formula No Secret to Physicians in Good Standing.

We're all growing old together.

Not to do honor then to old age is to tear down the house in which we are to sleep at night.

All of us want to live forever, but none of us want to grow old; the reason for this is that old age has long been associated with feeble stomach and kidneys, gout and rheumatism.

In the past, weakness and various disorders were supposed to be inevitably connected with old age; little was attempted to relieve senile feebleness.

But in 1893 sickness, whether in youth or age, is considered unnatural.

There is no reason, say the highest medical authorities to-day, why the nerves should not act as smoothly, and the blood run as smoothly, in old age as in middle life—since the discovery of the remedy that makes the sick well.

Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college, earned an enviable reputation by his discovery of Paine's celery compound for the cure of nervous complaints, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility.

According to well-known ethics of reputable physicians, this prescription was freely presented to physicians in good standing, and the formula is gladly given them to-day.

For that reason Paine's celery compound has never been included among patent medicines; coming from so high a source, and so searchingly tried and recommended, physicians have long employed it as unhesitatingly as they have used their official preparations.

It brings buoyancy of spirit in place of lassitude and despondency.

It allows the over-taxed system to start fairly on the road to health.

It procures the sleep so necessary to brain and nerve centres.

It strengthens.

Invigorates.

Gives new tone to the system.

Makes the blood healthy.

Is food for the nerves.

It makes people well!

Thousands have been benefitted, thousands have been cured by Paine's celery compound, when everything else has failed.

Try it.

AFTER THE LACKAWANNA

That Road is Doing a Bigger Fair Business Than the Other Lines.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The trunk line general passenger agents at their meeting to-day are trying to find out how the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad has succeeded in beating all the other roads put together in the sale of World's Fair excursion tickets.

From May 1 to May 29 the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western sold 839 of these tickets, the Pennsylvania 236, New York Central 183, the Erie 143, the Lehigh Valley 90, the Baltimore & Ohio, 75 and the West Shore 70. The general passenger agents of the other lines do not understand how the Lackawanna has managed to get such an overwhelming share of the business without paying commissions, which is contrary to agreement.

These World's Fair tickets are sold at 20 per cent. reduction from regular rates. They are issued by special agreement between the trunk lines, and the payment of commissions on their sale is prohibited. At the meeting of the trunk lines executive committee yesterday the subject was brought up, and insinuations were made that the Lackawanna could not have obtained such a disproportionate share of the business without offering extra inducements to agents.

No satisfactory explanation was obtained from the Lackawanna's representatives, and the matter was turned over to the general passenger agents, who are trying to solve the riddle.

Another Chicago Bank Fails.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Cheverton, Martin & Co., bankers, have closed their doors and made a voluntary assignment in the county court to Abraham Baldwin, assignee. Assets were scheduled at $100,000 and liabilities at $70,000. The failure was due to the unsettled condition of the money market.

Another Naval Officer in Trouble.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Another naval officer has gotten into trouble. This time it is Lieut. V. S. Nelson, attached to the cruiser Charleston, and as the result he is to be tried by court martial next Tuesday at Norfolk, where his dereliction is said to have occurred on a charge of drunkenness on duty.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A song service will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms to-night.

—The election of the Hillside cemetery directors will take place June 13.

—C. Schepflin & Co. commenced to give Saturday half-holiday to theirs employes to-day.

—All the lumber and coal yards commence to-day to give their employes a half-holiday.

—Don't miss the interesting farewell address by Alfred Mace in Reform Hall to-morrow evening at 7:45.

—A musical and dramatic treat will be afforded the public, at Bethel chapel, Thursday evening, June 8, at 8.

—Some of the policeman of the city are expressing varying opinions as to who will be the next captain of police.

—The assessment notices for the widening of Peace street from Front street to Broadway are being served to-day.

—The Alert hose boys, for the first time in their history, will not be on duty July 4. They 'll all go to the ball games.

—A. Clawson, with ticket 183, won the oil painting drawn for for the benefit of the Yose fund. It was ticket 184 that won the lot.

—One of Seguine's coaches had a "hot box" on East Fourth street, yesterday, and grease had to be liberally applied before the vehicle would move.

—John Harkins, of Somerville base-ball fame, is now representing a New Brunswick cigar manufacturer. He was in town yesterday on business.

—Three new members were initiated into Somerset council, 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night, after which one of the newly-elected members was shown the mysteries of the Orient.

—Mrs. Vanderweg, an invalid in the flat over the United States express office on North avenue, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Friday, suffering from inflammatory rheumatism.

—The postal note is to go, and will be replaced by a more convenient issue resembling an express money order, which will please everybody who has occasion to use such conveniences.

—Winfield Scott post, 73, G. A. R., has been invited to visit Garfield post, 4, of Newark, June 7. The members will meet in the post room at 6:30 p. m. Expenses are to be paid by the quartermaster.

—Ex-borough clerk James K. Arnold has notified the North Plainfield electric light company that unless the nuisance of rumbling and jarring is abated suit will be commenced against the company.

—J. T. Vail, who is a judge of such matters, and many others, are just now loud in praise of commissioner Meeker for the fine thoroughfare he has made of Woodland avenue, from Randolph road to Prospect avenue.

—Andrew Bunworth, who lives in the rear of Gus Smith's grocery store, has been a great annoyance lately by throwing stones and breaking glass. On Mr. Smith's complaint, he was arrested yesterday, and sent to jail for 30 days.

—Since you want to have your feet both feel comfortable and look stylish, why not call at Berkaw's shoe store, 119 West Front street, and be fitted with a pair of russets or oxfords? He has a new line of handsome goods, and will suit you to a dot.

—A meeting of the Ancient Order of Foresters of America was held in the Sons of Temperance rooms, Thursday evening, with the chief and ex-chief rangers in the chair. New applications for membership were presented and filed for future action.

—In the afternoon and evening of the 15th of this month a strawberry festival will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the German Reformed church, on Craig place. Great pains will be taken to give a good entertainment.

—It is generally conceded that the hairs of our head are numbered, but there is n't a man of us (barring the front row contingent) that can tell the number. You will have no difficulty, however, in telling the number of your house if you use the elegant nickel or enamel figures to be obtained at Collier's.

—Bonner still continues to play on the Wilkesbarre team in the Eastern League, but seems lately to be all out of shape. He made 7 errors in three games last week, and the Sporting Life says of May 23d's game: "Bonner's short stop work was very weak and cost his team three runs in the eighth inning."

—Farmer Dunn prophecies hot weather to the end of August, with cool waves only as incidents. One prophecy may not make a summer, but there are signs today that this farmer knows something of what he talking about. The city people want to take warning and locate in Plainfield for the summer, where they can have a cool mountain breeze on the warmest days.

Prevention Better Than Cure.

Many persons are afflicted with skin eruptions, boils or ulcers. BRANDRETH'S PILLS taken freely will in a short time effect a complete cure of all such troubles. Ulcers of long standing have been cured by them. Carbuncles have been checked in their incipiency by them. The worst fever sores, bed sores, and the like have been driven from the skin by them. Only begin in time and a few of BRANDRETH'S PILLS will prevent many a sickness.

BUSTED THE BALCONY.

RUTGERS STUDENTS TAKE POSSESSION OF THE TOWN.

Freshmen Try to Steal the Sophomores' Supper—The Police Suppress Disorder—Almost a Serious Accident at Hotel Grenada.

The Class of '96, Rutgers College, had their first annual dinner in Hotel Grenada last night. They came over in stages from New Brunswick, and the Freshmen, with faces blacked, also drove over in an effort to head them off and steal their supper. The two factions came together in town, and a row seemed imminent when the police interfered and threatened arrest.

The boys of '96 went on into the hotel and had a great time, while '97 hung outside. Eleven of the '96 boys were grouped on the lower balcony at the front of the hotel when the frail cast-iron brackets supporting the balcony gave way and the middle of the balcony settled. Fragments of the iron crashed to the pavement, fortunately not striking anyone. The boys saved themselves by jumping back through the windows. The owners of the building should be notified by the building inspector to make the balcony secure. It has been very dangerous, and Miller Bros., who only lease the building, should not be held responsible.

The college boys finally got out of town without trouble. There was great sport over the dinner, as may be judged from the following:

Another Who Does n't Like Mr. Gilman's New Name for Broadway.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I notice in the issue of THE PRESS of Thursday evening that mayor Gilbert is opposed to the new name—"Watchung avenue". I as one of the payers of this beautiful city, would earnestly request that those having it in charge would procure a much nicer name than the one that has been proposed.

Thanks to our mayor for not signing the ordinance to give one of our handsomest streets that ugly name.

Why not let the name remain the same (Broadway) from one end to the other?

ENTERPRISE.

"My Dear Boy" Offers $10 Reward.

One of "my dear boy" Allen's hired men, who has been working for the contractor at Netherwood, left his horses, a new pair of rubber boots and a lot of clothes, the other night, and mysteriously disappeared.

Allen can only account for it with the statement that the man is a jail bird and was frightened away by the police. He offers a reward of $10 for him.

How to Apply for Borough Commencement Tickets.

The number of North Plainfield graduates is now so large, and the accommodation of Borough commencement hall so limited, that it has seemed best to ask all graduates who desire to attend the closing exercises, to apply to the principal for tickets of admission. A postal card or note to him will secure them.

If Anybody Kin, Brooks Kin.

Superintendent Leslie, of the New York Recorder press rooms, visited the works of C. Potter, Jr., & Co., in this city, Wednesday. He had a long talk with superintendent John Brooks. If the Recorder is after an even more wonderful press than their present multi-color one, Mr. Leslie has come to the right man to build it.

They Hung Outside for Straylings.

James Frisbie and James Babbitt made a wager as to who would kill the most birds "outside of bounds" at the shooting match at Benner's road-house. Babbitt got seven, and Frisbie five. The two outside sharpshooters tied on three birds, and they were also even on the five, but the wind was against Frisbie, and Babbitt shot the other two.

ROUTINE COUNCIL BUSINESS.

Acting mayor Neal presided with grace and dignity over the regular meeting of the borough council last night.

Petitions were referred to the street committee as follows: From John H. VanWinkle and others, to macadamize Duer street from Craig place to Emily street. From John F. Wilson and others, to make the Grove street extension passable. From William L. Smalley asking that Somerset street be widened, and offering to pay for his own frontage.

The joint memorial details by communication asked that the borough's contribution be sent to M. C. Dobbins.

Bills amounting to about $800 were paid, including the street lighting bill for May, against which no opposition was made.

The street commissioner reported in favor of granting the petition to macadamize Chatham street from Somerset street to Brook avenue, when the property-owners subscribe at least $250, and a resolution to that effect was adopted.

$150 was appropriated for stationery and supplies, including safe. $50 was appropriated for the usual Fourth of July precautions.

J. W. VanHorn was appointed special marshal.

$75 was authorized to be spent in painting and papering the engine-house parlors, the fire company to pay whatever it costs over that.

Sidewalks were ordered to be laid in front of the following property, at the expense of the property-owners, they having refused to lay walks after 30 days' notice: 29 Linden avenue, 72 Manning avenue, 94-96 Manning avenue, 129 Duer street, 70 Duer street, 33 Emily street, 37 Emily street, 29 Linden avenue, Emily street near Somerset.

Mrs. Elmore D. Moffett, of Orchard place, has gone to Trenton to visit her daughter, Mrs. Wm. H. Tams, for a few days.

Jeremiah Cash, of South avenue, has presented his thirteen-year-old daughter, Mabel, with a piano. It was a birthday gift.

Miss Etta Shurts, of Somerville, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hodge, of Somerset street, North Plainfield, returned home yesterday.

David H. Richards, of Omaha, Neb., reached this city, last evening, and will spend the month with friends. He is a prominent lawyer of that Western city.

The first tea of the Hillside tennis club will occur this afternoon at 4. Miss Carrie Streull will receive, and will be assisted by a number of other young ladies from the committee.

The Dramatic News of New York says: "At a meeting of Plainfield Music Hall association the other evening, a dividend was declared for the first time in the history of the house, and Manager Demarest was complimented upon the prosperity which his handling has brought about."

E. M. Odam received a telegram this morning from Vineland, announcing the death of his wife's sister, Miss Lizzie Pennington. She died this morning at 5. Funeral services will be held from the home of E. M. Odam, 1040 Arlington avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, with interment at Hillside.

The Rev. Lincoln B. Goodrich will preach in the Congregational church tomorrow morning. The Rev. C. L. Goodrich will go to Bound Brook, to administer the sacrament, the pastor-elect not having been ordained. He will return for his Bible class in the afternoon, and preach for the Rev. J. W. Richardson in the evening.

Looking After the Bridges.

By resolution of freeholder Vanderbeek a committee of five has been appointed to examine the bridge over Greenbrook, Westfield, and the bridge at Plainfield at Tenth street, and report to the board at its next meeting the present condition of said bridges.

Ran Over a Two-Year-Old.

A two-year-old son of P. Ryan was run over by a wagon on South Second street, this morning, and badly injured. The little one bled at the mouth and was internally injured.

THE LOVE OF HOME

And the ambition to make it not only comfortable, but musical, are deep rooted sentiments in the American heart. There could be no loftier feeling, and we are proud to cater to it.

But many people have a love for home without the ability to make it musical. That is they think they can't. We'd like to show them how they can. It does not cost near so much as you think. Call and see our stock of Pianos and Organs and we are sure we can please you.

NURSED BY A LEPER.

SINGULAR ADVENTURE OF A DISTINGUISHED PLAINFIELD VISITOR.

It Happened While He Was in That Country to Which He Will Take a Vincent Chapel Audience Next Tuesday Night.

It is to be expected that "Bits of Old China" of which Plainfield is to hear in Vincent chapel, next Tuesday, will be as interesting as instructive. The gentlemen who present the lecture, having lived many years in that far-off country, are not only intimately acquainted with their subject, but have passed through many strange experiences, the recital of some of which cannot fail to add greatly to the evening's enjoyment.

Howard Martin, one of them, once met with extreme instances of both hostility and kindness, from natives, on the same day. It was towards the close of a hot sultry afternoon. He was riding along the sandy plains in the neighborhood of Pekin. Nearing the city walls, their grateful shade was quickly taken advantage of, and slowing his pony to a walk, in fancied security, he prepared for an easy homeward jaunt. The fall of a large stone near-by demanded investigation, but, being quickly followed by a shower of similar missiles, it became evident that some malignant Chinese on the wall, feeling safe from all retaliation, were actively engaged in stoning him. Before he could get beyond their range, Mr. Martin was struck senseless to the ground. Recovering, how long afterwards he does not know, he found an old man bathing his temples in water from the moat, and using every endeavor to restore him to life. Still confused, he scarcely noticed his preserver, but gladly availed himself of his volunteered assistance. After a long and painful walk, the gates were passed, and the United States Legation reached. In rewarding this good Samaritan, his curious appearance was noticed. His scanty rag of clothing, the head unshaved, the strange unnatural whiteness of his skin, and but three fingers on the left hand! Alas, he was afflicted with that scourge of the East, leprosy! With strangely mingled feelings of gratitude and horror, Mr. Martin bade him farewell. When all others passed him by, the poor leper alone had pity, taught in all probability the virtue of compassion through its being denied himself.

Show People Exempt.

The two small Chinese pugs that belong to Messrs. Martin and Bryant caused some excitement in the dog-catching fraternity yesterday. While these diminutive silky animals were making their way up North avenue in the company of their owners, dog-catcher Frisbie fixed his eagle eye on them and prepared to swoop. An acquaintance of Mr. Martin's noticed the gleam in Frisbie's eye, and said to him: "You don't want to take up those dogs. Why, one of them cost $1,500."

"I don't care if it cost $15,000"—replied Frisbie.—"I am after that $3."

When informed that the dogs did not live in town, and that the owners were to lecture in Vincent chapel, he said:

"Why didn't they tell me they was traveling with a show, and I would n't have touched 'em!"

(Somerville Democrat.)

The Plainfield Press, the mouthpiece of the Plainfield Amusement Company limited (to six weeks time) in speaking of the West End game of last week, says that "Somerville is down where she belongs." That may be true, but it is consoling that we know where we belong. Plainfield never can know where she belongs. A few people in the windy city think they ought to be playing ball in the National League. So far the Plainfield Amusement Company limited, have not made money enough to pay their ground rent. Two of the daily papers are making all manner of fun of the teams which the Crescents are playing. The other one, the Press, is lauding base-ball to the skies. And why not? Brother Demarest was made secretary of the limited company so that "Plainfield's only newspaper" (?) would support them. Let us hope that Brother Demarest was presented with some stock for all his trouble and labor. The stock framed in gold would make a valuable addition to the works of art on the walls of his sanctum.

Handsome suits, $12, $15 and $18.

The custom tailoring business in Newark has been dull this spring and many merchant tailors find they have too many goods on hand. Watson & Co. are no exception to the rule, and their stock of choice custom patterns are far in excess of their needs, so they are cutting them up into suits and extra pantaloons, using up their custom trimmings and keeping their best cutters and tailors busy in making them up. They make their prices for these handsome suits, $18 for the Llama satin-trimmed dress suits, $15 for their black and fancy worsted suits, and $12 for all cheviot, serge and cassimere suits, and give you the choice of patterns, although you can find the finest goods from the best looms in the world among them.

Watson & Co. are in a selling humor just now as they believe in a much lower range of prices for clothing in the future and their stock is too heavy for June.

Notice the elegant cut garments they show in all their Broad and Market street windows, which you should certainly see before you buy.—Newark Item.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave, opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

HAPPENINGS IN THE BOROUGH.

A Score of Little Items of Special Interest to North Plainfielders.

Deputy sheriff Oakey, of Somerset county, was in town yesterday.

Mrs. H. N. Spencer and son, Henry Lyman, visited friends in Rahway yesterday.

Watchung Farm, at Sebring's Mills, is now occupied by a family from the Albion.

Street commissioner Gavin has purchased a thoroughbred colt which he intends raising.

Chris. Blume has taken his mother's farm in Washington Valley, and intends working the same.

Two sports of Bull Frog City are arranging a horse race to take place on the Greenbrook road some evening next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Winans, of Washington Valley, have taken up their residence with Mrs. Winans's father, W. F. Spencer.

Part of the gang working on the Somerset street railway leave next week for Boston, where the contractor has a large job in sewering.

Col. John F. Wilson has retired from business, and now spends most of his time looking after his beautiful property on Greenbrook road.

Applicants for the position of conductor or motorman on the Somerset street railway are as thick as the mosquitoes have been the past week.

Peter Wooden, whose ninty-third birthday occurred May 24, was yesterday sturdily planting corn on the lot in the rear of his residence on Somerset street.

Warren Engine Co. No. 1, needs a hydrant spanner, as the one now carried by the company is cracked and liable to break at any time. This should be looked after immediately.

A new telephone company is about to be incorporated in this State which, it is promised, will cover this city and nearby towns. Winfield Thompson, of Westfield, is the promotor of the scheme.

The fence in front of the Somerset street school building is being taken up to-day and ground will be broken on Monday for the new addition. W. C. Smith has the mason work, and Brokaw & Cain are the carpenters.

Over 100 years ago there was a small settlement along the mountain side, just off Somerset street, that very few people know of, which was then known as Brousetown. Uncle Peter Wooden says he remembers the cellars of a few of the buildings. It is singular that no account has been kept regarding this historic deserted and vanished village.

Next week will wind up the work on the Somerset street railway. The company, it is generally understood, are to fill in with crushed stone all places where the grade has been changed, and will put and keep in order the whole route from Johnston's drive to the bridge between the tracks and 18 inches on either side. When this is done and the street widened the professional growler will have to hunt up a new subject to kick about.

Appropriate Songs Before He Sailed.

Thursday evening at the home of W. A. Millard, 412 East Fourth street, a farewell reception was given to George Dean who sails for England on the Alaska today.

Among the many present were especially noticeable the Dresden Trio who had been engaged for the occasion. Their singing was the feature of the evening—especially the solo singing of Mr. Norbury who gave the "Anchor's Weighed", Mr. Lewis, "Many a Night", and Mr. Pope, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep", with great taste and expression. Mr. Dean has the best wishes of his many friends who hope he will have a pleasant journey and safe return.

Dr. Armstrong Fixed Him Up.

Frank Carver, the plumber's helper who was so badly burned by a gasolene explosion yesterday, as told in these columns last evening, spent a restless and feverish night. His injuries are very severe, the flesh of his leg hanging in strips. T. S. Armstrong, manager of Reynolds's pharmacy, deserves credit for the able manner in which he dressed the injury. The sufferer was handled most tenderly, and the best of treatment was accorded.

Mixed in Its Mayors.

(Bound Brook Chronicle.)

North Plainfield's Mayor, the Hon. William L. Saunders, is said to be opposed to calling a new avenue in his borough by the name of Watchung. That's right. Bound Brook has a Watchung drive, laid out through the middle of the old Rockfellow farm, leading to the mountain, and along this drive will be some of the most beautiful homes in Somerset county. So you Plainfield fellows might as well call your new street something else. It will smell as sweet.

30 Days for Begging.

Matthew Thompson, who has been rendering himself a general nuisance by begging from many of the merchants in town, was arrested yesterday afternoon by officer Kiely. Judge Coddington sent him up for 30 days this morning, and he will trouble Plainfield no more for a time.

NIP AND TUCK.

JENNINGS VS. THE BISHOP.

The Fight to Be Fought to a Finish—Counselor Marsh in It to Stay.

The Jennings case against the Bishop and Standing Committee of the Diocese of New Jersey, bids fair to become a cause celibre among the religious legal contests now coming into fashion. Mr. Jennings has succeeded in persuading Craig A. Marsh to resume sole charge of his case, and yesterday that lawyer examined Mr. Jennings, the Rev. Dr. Malcolm, Dr. Taylor and the Rev. Mr. Simpson before Supreme court commissioner Wm. M. Stillman. Counselor Shreve cross-examined the witnesses for the Bishop and the other sixteen defendants. The whole day, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., was devoted to the taking of the testimony, and more yet remains to be taken at Trenton before the case can be printed and got ready for argument before the Supreme court.

Notwithstanding the successes of Mr. Jennings so far, his friends realize that it is a close case and that the Bishop and standing committee will strain every nerve to win in the end. Mr. Jennings himself is confident.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

Charlie Brown's Great Work.

Charles B. Brown, who left Plainfield last December to begin a special work the men of the city of Minneapolis, Minn., has been more successful than ever in his field of labor. In four months of active work he has secured over 500 new members for the Y. M. C. A. of that city, and has also been in active service in all the principal missions of that great western metropolis. In a letter to a friend, Mr. Brown speaks of the busy life he leads and the great need of workers, and although a general secretaryship has been offered him he has felt obliged to decline the same and remain a while longer, after which he may enter either the State work or engage in evangelistic work in Chicago.

Plainfield Wheelmen Save a House.

John Rafferty and C. G. Wood were wheeling through Dunellen, Friday evening, when they noticed fire in a dwelling house occupied by a family named Richardson. They dismounted, got into the house, and extinguished the flames. None of the occupants was at home at the time, and the two young men saved the house from total destruction. The fire started from an exploded lamp

A Suicide Identified.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The body of the suicide found at Coney Island has been identified by his parents as Edwin Harris. He was 30 years old and unmarried, and traveled for the Baltimore house of Murrell & Keizer. Harris started for New York Tuesday. His father says his habits were good, and he can assign no cause for the act.

Spots On the Sun Visable.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Prof. Holden, of Lick Observatory, telegraphs that it may be of general interest to know that a large group of spots is now clearly visible on the sun which can be seen with the naked eye by the use of a smoked glass.

Nine Lives Lost.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 3.—The steamer Tacoma, which arrived from Yokohama, yesterday, brings news that the Russian corvette Nitiax went ashore on the Corean coast May 15, and became a total wreck. Nine lives were lost.

Not to Be Hushed.

Jojo was visiting in the country, where one is dependent upon occasional butchers' carts for the meat. At breakfast he suddenly began: "This beefsteak is so tough I can't chew it wiv my teef!"

His mother, abashed, endeavored to hush him.

"You know," he said, by way of explanation, "if my teefs were sharper, then I could chew it."—Harper's Young People.

Know from Experience.

Husband (on train)—Who is that woman two seats ahead that you are looking at so intently?

Wife—That's my milliner. She has on an awfully expensive hat. It couldn't have cost less than fifty dollars.

Husband—She probably made it herself.—Quips.

Ringing Him In.

Mr. McHarlem—I wouldn't object to young Bondclipper coming here frequently. He would make a good match for our Fanny.

McHarlem, Jr.—I'll fix that. I'll borrow fifty dollars from him, and he'll be coming here twice a day to collect it.—Texas Siftings.

Domestic Diplomacy.

Mrs. Newed (anxiously)—Well, what do you think of my biscuits, dear? Are they good?

Newed—Good! I'm sure if they were to be weighed in the balance not one of them would be found wanting.—Buffalo Courier.

Free from Criticism.

Whipper—I know one man who thanks Heaven daily that he is not like other men.

Snapper—He's a Pharisee!

Get the Genuine.

If you suffer with lame back, especially in morning, ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS are a sure relief.

If you cannot sleep, try an ALLCOCK PLASTER, well up between the shoulder blades—often relieves—sometimes cures. Try this before you resort to opiates.

If any of your muscles are lame—joints stiff—feel as if they wanted oiling—or if you suffer with any local pains or aches, these plasters will cure you.

If you use them once you will realize why so many plasters have been made in imitation of them. Like all good things, they are copied as closely as the law allows. Don't be duped by taking an imitation when it is as easy to get the genuine.

If you always insist upon having ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS and never accept a substitute, you will not be disappointed.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by T. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

STILL IN THE MUDDLE

Rhody's Governor Prorogues the Legislature.

BUT THE DEMOCRATS DO NOT GO

Efforts to Bring About a Grand Committee to Elect State Officers in Rhode Island Fail—Questions to be Submitted to the Supreme Court.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 3.—The discussion in regard to the political situation here to-day is as lively as ever. Groups of politicians and would-be politicians are seen here and there animatedly arguing on the different points that are involved. The Democrats express themselves as much pleased with the result and claim that to have the Governor prorogue the Legislature was just what they wanted, for it places the Republicans in a bad light before the people.

Gov. Brown yesterday prorogued the Legislature, the Senate by a party vote having first refused to concur with the House in the passage of the resolution requesting the Governor to lay the difficulties standing in the way of the two Houses meeting in grand committee before the Superior Court for the decision. The declination was upon the ground that the House had acted fraudulently in unseating legal members, and if they went into grand committee with them they become a party to the fraud, and, further, they had no assurance that the House would abide by the court's decision.

The House laid the communication upon the table, and the Senate did the same by a resolution of the House calling for the circulation through the State of 100,000 copies of the resolution of the House asking for the reference of the question at issue to the court and the Senate's resolution upon the same. Then came the Governor's proclamation announcing that as the Senate and House were unable to agree upon the question of adjournment, he declared the general assembly adjourned until the last Tuesday in January, 1894.

The House, hearing of the proclamation, unofficialy took a recess for an hour just as it reached the speaker's desk. Upon their reassembling it was at once seen that the Republican members had retired from the building, but the Democrats proceeded. They adopted last year's rules with slight alterations, and adopted a resolution requesting the judges of the Supreme Court to render a decision upon the following questions:

"Can the Senate, at the May session, adjourn for longer than two days before joining the House in Grand Committee, for the counting and declaring of the vote case for general officers, the Senate having asked the House to so join it?

"Second—Is the refusal of the House to concur in a joint resolution of adjournment before the meeting of the grand committee, a failure to agree as to adjournment, such as would warrant the Governor in adjourning the General Assembly?

"Third—Can the General Assembly, at its May session be adjourned before going into grand committee for counting and declaring the votes, etc?"

An adjournment was then taken until Monday without even the reading of the Governor's proclamation. Great care was taken in having the audience fully understand that their adjournment was the only legal one—that for two days, and to have the members realize that they need not visit Newport again at present, as the Newport members would meet and, finding no quorum, would adjourn, so continuing until the courts decision is received.

As matters now stand the whole state will suffer inconvenience though a few officials will continue in charge of their present offices.

Cox Ferry Co., of Watermill, Suffolk county; capital $2,500; the Avoca Industrial association of Avoca, Steuben county, to unite labor, capital and patronage to advance the industries of Avoca; capital $46,000.

The Case of Dr. Graves.

DENVER, June 3.—The Araphoe county commissioners will decide this evening whether Dr. Graves shall again be tried for the murder of Mrs. Barnaby or go forth a free man. The matter was up before the commissioners yesterday and the sentiment seemed to be against any appropriation, but on the statement of Attorney Stevens that the expense would not exceed $3,000, the matter was laid over for one day. Indications now are that an appropriation will be made expense not to exceed $3,000.

A Mortgage on $50,000,000.

CLEVELAND, June 3.—The largest mortgage ever filed in this country has been deposited in the office of the county recorder by the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad company, of New York, and Thodore P. Haughey of Indianapolis, trustee, and is to secure the issue of 50,000 $1,000 bonds. The incumbrance is payable June 1, 1993, is sold.

VERDI'S GREAT WORK.

"Falstaff" Is Pronounced the Composer's Masterpiece.

One of the "Grand Old Men" of Europe—In His Seventy-Ninth Year Now, But as Bright and Capable as a Young Giant.

Our century has been kind to the veterans in the various walks of life, and poetry, science, politics, art and music each boast their famous devotees who have passed the septuagenarian line. In the realm of music, the great Italian maestro, Guiseppe Verdi, recently, and in his seventy-ninth year, has given to the world an opera whose brilliancy of conception, masterful force, perfect technique and richness of popular sentiment rise above those of his former creations. It takes a place among the grand productions of time. Hadyn won renown for the production of his "Creation" and the "Seasons" when a little past 60, but since then intellectual vigor at this age has ceased to attract wonder. Wagner gave the world his best conception when 68; at 73 Verdi brought out his first tragic opera, and at 79 produces a comic opera which has won universal plaudits.

The striking character of Verdi's "Falstaff" is the originality of both plan and execution. The aged artist, long since a master of the old school of musical expression, and a consistent teacher of its methods, has broken away from its lines, and with all the trenchant style, poetic fire and concentrated vigor of a man in the zenith of strength and activity leads the way into new paths, and raises higher the standard of musical interpretation. At an age when it is presumed a man ceases to develop mentally or to be capable of the assimilation of new ideas and methods, Verdi has shown himself as alert intellectually and as quick to master new principles and popular sentiments as the most brilliant of the younger school, and he is the acknowledged head of the modern Italian school. "Falstaff" is a comedy in the full significance of the term. There are eleven parts in the opera, that of Sir John Falstaff being played at its initial performance in Milan by

GUISEPPE VERDI.

Victor Maurel. This character is the central figure of the story and is upon the stage most of the time. The change of style in Verdi's works first was noticeable in "Don Carlos," and continued in "Aida," the "Manzoni Requiem," and "Otello," and finds its culmination in his "Falstaff." Much of the change in the latter production is creditable to Sig. Arrigo Boito, the noted librettist, in whom Verdi found a collaborator worthy his accomplishments, and one whose assistance gave inspiration to his efforts. Boito is thoroughly versed in stagecraft, and his libretto, an adaptation from Shakespeare, is rich in poetic sentiment, dramatic incident and lively action. The work throughout is concise and admirably balanced. In "Otello," the tragic opera, the libretto is occasionally made subordinate to the music, but in "Falstaff" the music is made only to embellish the poetry regardless of its own effect. The orchestration is excellent, the charming smoothness and coloring producing a delightful effect.

Musical history gives the first opera heard in Europe as "Daphne," performed in 1594. It was at once pronounced an "unnatural drama," and was the object of much ridicule and criticism from people who maintained it absurd that the actors should sing instead of speaking their lines. At that time it was a bold experiment to attempt to revive in modern Europe the Greek drama, but the "Greeks," as they were called, held their way courageously, and in fifty years the opera was the favorite form of music in all European countries.

Destruction of American Birds.

Mr. John Worth, in the Nineteenth Century, gives some striking facts about the rapid extermination of the birds of North America. The advent of the plow and the frame hut of the settler is gradually driving the feathered tribe from its old haunts, and what nests are spared by the plow are only too often destroyed by prairie fires. The heath hen used to be seen in autumn in packs of from 100 to 200 birds each; now the number in a covy rarely exceeds six or eight. The sharp-tailed grouse and the wild turkey will soon follow the bison and the moose into the animalia of the past. Prof. Roney asserts in the Chicago Field that in some of the vast breeding colonies alone some 1,000,000,000 pigeons were "sacrificed to Mammon" during one nesting season, and, even allowing for exaggeration, the extent of the slaughter is beyond question. The remedy is not easy to seek. Mr. Worth suggests an act of congress to prevent bird destruction throughout the United States.

Two Mammoth Apple Trees.

The two largest apple trees in the state of New York are both near the town of Wilson. The largest was planted in 1815, and thirty-three full barrels of apples were once picked from its branches in a single season. The other is on the farm of J. G. O. Brown, and yielded twenty barrels of "choice" fruit and five barrels of "culls" in the season of 1891.

Young America.

"Well, Charlie," said the nurse the other day to a nine-year-old Boston boy, "you're an uncle now. You've just had a little nephew."

"Is that so?" said Charlie, with a blase air. "Well, I suppose I'll have to give the little beggar a spoon."—N. Y. Tribune.

Breaking the Ice.

She—If you don't stop letting me sit down on the same sofa with you I'll tell papa.

Bashful Youth (much bewildered)—Eh? Wha—what will he do?

She—He'll make you marry me.

Then he proposed.—N. Y. Weekly.

FAMINE IN ALGERIA.

Terrible State of Affairs Existing in the the African Province.

Famine, starvation and despair have invaded Algeria, and the scenes of misery which are so familiar in harsher climates and less fertile countries are here enacted in the midst of fair green fields and beneath a sky pitilessly blue, in mockery, it would seem, of the suffering beneath its dome. In years when rain is sufficient the harvests are sure and plentiful, but for several seasons great droughts have prevailed, and day after day of clear sunshine, week after week of dry and radiant weather have brought in their train starvation to a land of plenty. Relief parties are now doing all in their power to mitigate suffering, but the people are reduced to the lowest possible physical condition, are skeletons, the skin literally adhering to their bones, and in rags, if clad at all. Our illustration, from an official photograph taken at the hospital, represents one of the victims found dying and revived with difficulty, and is but representative of the condition of a people dying by scores and almost savage in their misery.

An Odd Book Truly.

The most curious book in the world was neither written nor printed; the letters in its pages were cut from blue tissue paper, which was afterwards pasted on cardboard.

Very Apt to Do It.

Downey—Oh, yes; when I go to the world's fair I shall stop with some distant relatives in Chicago.

Fleecy—Have you seen any of them lately?

Downey—Oh, about six years ago.

Fleecy—How do you know they won't plead the statute of limitations?—Judge.

Symptoms.

The Wife—There is a prescription that the doctor left for you to-day when he called and found you out.

The Husband—How did he know what to give me?

The Wife—He said that from my appearance and symptoms he knew you were suffering from chronic dyspepsia.

FROM THE OLD WORLD

Wilhelm Gives Up His Projected Trip to Norway.

UNTIL AFTER THE ELECTIONS

The Kaiser's Proxy to the World's Fair—England's Agreement to Protect Russia from Poachers—Astor's Magazine Has Caught on—Other News by Cable.

BERLIN, June 5.—So hot boils the political cauldron here that the Emperor has given up his projected trip to the Norwegian coast. He wants to be within call until the elections are over.

Chancellor von Caprivi has begun the campaign of suppression. He is especially angry at the attitude of the Alsatian Catholics, who counsel the killing of the Army bill in the next Reichstag.

The semi-official press has been stopped in its attempts to create war alarms and its suggestions to inducements to bring about party adhesions to the Army bill.

The Government is quiescent. Its attitude, whether inspired by prudence or by a higher moral principle, is perplexing to the minds of the bureaucrats, who are accustomed to get official inspiration as to how they should work upon the electoral districts. The papers holding a brief for the Government have become low spirited and dull, lacking, as they do, the promptings they have usually received. If the Government issued a manifesto or if Emperor William broke out with some rash address, the leaders of the Opposition groups would be highly gratified, but it is understood that the Government intends to remain reticent, hoping to draw more advantage from party schisms than by taking an active part in the electoral campaign.

Herr Leibknecht was invited to address a Socialist meeting in Metz yesterday. He was warned that the meeting could not be held in any of the public halls in town. So the Socialists proceeded in a body to a grove owned by a brewery in the suburbs.

Police officers were on hand, however, and they broke up the meeting, so that Leibknecht was unable to deliver his speech.

Special arrangements are making in Austria for the reception of Emperor William and the King of Saxony, when they shall be entertained by Emperor Franz Josef at the September manœuvres.

A unique feature of the arrangements will be special quarters for the newspaper correspondents. These quarters will be appointed under the supervision of War Office officials.

The distinction thus to be accorded to representatives of the press has staggered German officials, who rarely omit an opportunity to affect publicly utter indifference to the newspapers and their correspondents.

Countess Herbert Bismarck, nee Hoyos, expects an heir in July.

THE KAISER'S PROXY

Duke Ernst Guenther, of Schleswig-Holstein, to Come to the Fair.

BERLIN, June 5.—Emperor William of Germany has selected to represent him at the Columbian Exposition his brother-in-law, Duke Ernst Guenther, who expects to go to the United States in September.

The official titles of this imperial representative are: Ernest Guenther, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, Heir in Norway (he belongs to the first branch of the first line of the House of Holstein descended from Christian I., King of Denmark, Norway and Sweden in the Fifteenth Century), Count of Stormarn and the Ditmarshes, also of Oldenburg. He is the only brother of the Empress of Germany. Just before he sails for America he will celebrate his thirtieth birthday.

The Duke is Colonel of the Schleswig-Holstein Hussars, and, though too young to have achieved renown in war, he dotes on the military. He is not attracted by politics, and court life has few charms for him. But he is one of the best horsemen of Germany, owns a fine stud, is fond of the turf and frequents the Union Club, the swell jockey club of Central Europe. He was a close friend of the late Archduke Victor Moritz Carl Franz von Ratibar, who was president of the club.

He has large estates, and as the brother-in-law of a powerful monarch ranks high in the nobility of the Empire, yet he puts on no haughty airs. Rather, he is noted for simplicity in manners and for his democratic tastes. He is far from being effeminate, having a robust physique, developed by athletic training at college and army discipline. He seems to enjoy what some would call the hardships of a soldier's life, and loves out-door sports.

TO STOP POACHING IN RUSSIA

Great Britain Agrees to Bring British Trespassers to Speedy Trial.

LONDON, June 5.—The Foreign office has issued a blue book containing the correspondence concerning an agreement between Great Britain and Russia as to the protection of Russia's sealing interests in Behring Sea.

Russia's original contention was that her cruisers should have exclusive right to police the sea and to convey British trespassers to Petropaulovsk, Asiatic Russia, where the cases should be adjudicated. Lord Rosebery declined to agree to this and suggested that British vessels caught trespassing be conveyed to Yokohama, where the cases should be adjudicated by a British Consular court.

Eventually the powers agreed that the trespassers should be delivered to a British cruiser or to the nearest British authorities on land, Great Britain at the same time undertaking to bring them speedily to trial.

Lady Aberdeen in Chicago.

LONDON, June 5.—Countess Aberdeen has returned with wonderful stories from Chicago. She says the Irish village and the Irish lassies simply captured the lurid Western city. Her experience with the lady managers, while personally pleasant, does not seem to have left happy impressions. Lovable and gentle as they were socially, she thought their methods in meetings savored altogether too much of man in politics.

ASTOR'S MAGAZINE

He Has Made a Hit With His New Venture.

LONDON, June 5.—Mr. William Waldorf Astor has settled down as a hard-working magazine writer. He has met with extraordinary success.

It sounds strange to hear people tell you that the multi-millionaire has made a hit with the Pall Mall Gazette. Yet the heir to many of the Astor millions hustles every day with a zeal that perhaps only ambition can produce.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The American master of princely Cliefden has caught the boom of society, from the royal palaces to the pretentious homes of the great and rich in commerce. Had he been a worker for bread and butter, like thousands of others in this city, his fortune would have been made by the notices and the patronage.

But then society would not have taken a struggling man by the hand until, possibly, it had become too weak to feel the grasp. London has certainly taken to Mr. Astor.

Unsuccessful Revolt.

LONDON, June 5.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily News says that a sergeant and a few men at Fort Isabel, near Puente la Reina, Province of Navarre, tried to raise a revolt, but met with no support, and were compelled to flee. They are now being pursued by troops.

Ives' Easy Victory.

LONDON, June 5.—There was little interest in the close of the Ives-Roberts billiard match, as it was a foregone conclusion that Ives would win. Roberts' score was 3,831.

MRS. HARRIS WRITES AGAIN

She Attacks the District Attorney's Office—Carl's Book Ready for Sale.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The mother of Carlyle W. Harris, writing from Northfield, Mass., asks that the following be published:

DEAR SIR: The last possible effort I can put forth for my boy is now finished. I believe that book will clear him more fully than even he has already been cleared, though I realize more and more as letters pouring in upon me—not one to many, friends, I read them all—that thousands mourn my boy's terrible fate and are covered with shame at the blot that Governor Flower has cast upon the State of New York.

Prominent physicians and chemists write me that Helen could not have had beautiful dreams if that had been the first dose of morphine, nor would she have waked and then slept the sleep of death.

I have not exposed all I know as to the workings of the District Attorney's office, because I was not allowed to risk their suing me for libel. But why cannot Choate and Van Mater be charged for perjury. Simply because they are the tools for that office. Why, on the other hand, if people have perjured themselves to try to save my boy are not they tried for perjury? No, there was no perjury on our side and the prosecution knew it, while if Mr. Nichol will indict I will prove him a perjurer.

But Carl is dead and I must live now for his brothers and sister. Let every one who feels I have been treated brutally buy the book. I shall be glad to receive orders myself, as it gives me pleasure to fill them; glad to hear what those who cared for Carl think of the book.

It has been compiled hurriedly, but I hope it does him justice. I could not do justice to Nichol, Wellman, Choate, Smyth and Flower; for which I crave their indulgence. Such justice I leave to an ever ruling Providence. F. M. HARRIS.

PLEASED WITH HIS TRIP

President Cleveland is Much Refreshed and as Brown as a Berry.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—President Cleveland returned to Washington from his short fishing trip at Cape Charles, at 7:40 a.m. and was met at the station by Private Secretary Thurber, with the President's carriage, and the two men were driven to the White House. Very few people were at the Pennsylvania station, as the President's train arrived much earlier than the public expected.

Mr. Cleveland stayed at the White only about half an hour. He was then driven to "Woodley," his summer villa in the suburbs of Washington, where he breakfasted with Mrs. Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland is now as brown as a berry, and the brief respite from business has had the effect of refreshing him both mentally and physically. He has had good sport and is much pleased with his trip.

MANY MEN IN DANGER

Terrors by Fire in a Mexican Coal Mine. Efforts Made to Rescue Them.

EAGLE PASS, TEX. June 5.—A fire was started last night in the Fuente coal mines, situated in Mexico, four miles from here.

Sixty men are in the mines and it is feared all will lose their lives. Efforts are being made to reach them by rescuing parties, but it is feared the imprisoned men cannot be rescued. A call for assistance has been sent to this city.

To Consider the Detroit's Machinery.

Governor Chase Sued.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—Receiver Johnson, of the defunct Greenwood bank, has instituted suit in the Johnson Circuit court against J. M. Starbuck, ex-Governor Chase and all others connected with the management of the bank. The receiver expects to declare a first dividend of 25 per cent. early in July.

NEWS OF THE DAY

—Deputy collector of internal revenue Miller, of New Haven, Conn., died Saturday evening.

—The international billiard match between Frank Ives and John Roberts in London was won by the former. Score—Ives, 5,997; Roberts, 3,831.

—The earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway for the week ending May 31 were $545,000; for the same period last year $581,000: decrease $16,000.

THE PRINCESS HAS GONE

Eulalia Leaves New York to Visit the World's Fair.

SHE HAD HER SUNDAY TO HERSELF

The Spanish Infanta Attended a Low Mass in the Morning, Received Some Children, Accepted a Gift and Took an Unofficial Sail Around the City.

NEW YORK, June 5.—At 12.40 o'clock this afternoon, accompanied by their suite, the Infanta Eulalia and Prince Antonio left New York for Chicago by the Pennsylvania railroad, and are to go through without stop, except to change engines at necessary points. They will arrive in Chicago about 1 o'clock to-morrow.

The Princess passed her Sunday entirely in accordance with her own desires, independent of any official programme. She went to mass in the forenoon, received a committee from the Circulo-Colon Cervantes and went on a private excursion on the Dolphin.

The Infanta entered her carriage at 11 o'clock, and, accompanied by the Prince, the Marchioness, the Duke of Tamames, Commander Davis and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue, the party drove to St. Francis Xavier Church and entered between two lines formed by two companies of the St. Francis Xavier cadets from the preparatory class of the college. A private low mass was said in the chapel of the college. The Very Rev. Thos. J. Campbell, S. J., a provincial of the holy order was celebrant.

After returning to the Hotel Savoy the Princess breakfasted and then, at her request, about twenty children, whom she noticed at the halls of the hotel were presented to her.

The delightful air outside tempted the Princess out of doors for a last look at New York before her departure for Chicago. She chose a outing on the water, of which she is most fond, and, at 2:50 p. m., she started for her carriage, on the arm of Commander Davis, who was in full uniform. She was followed by the Prince, the Duke and the Marchioness.

At the foot of the staircase in the Savoy, the Princess made one of her delightful breaks in the ceremony of the occasion by stopping to kiss a bright-eyed little boy of about four years of age in the lobby of the hotel, saying as she did so: "Oh, my beautiful child. You are just like my own little boy."

SHOT WHILE ASLEEP

NEWARK, N. J., June 5.—The new facts brought out in the case of the killing of Saloon Keeper Lew Brown in this city, tend to dispel the theory of suicide and to show that he was murdered in bed by his mistress, Emma Woods.

An inquest will be held to-day. Patrick Gaynor's testimony will probably be the most important, bearing, as it will, upon the woman's movements before the killing, and it will be supported by that of E. M. Thompson, who keeps a saloon near Brown's.

Edward Garrity, who has since been arrested as a witness, will swear that he was awakened in Brown's saloon at the same time that his brother Daniel, the barkeeper, and Patrick Gaynor were aroused by the crashing of the glass in the saloon window, and that he heard Emma Woods say, "I have shot Lew."

The Prosecutor says that the testimony which will be elicited at the inquest will be most convincing, but he would not outline any of it in advance.

AN EX-REBEL DROPS DEAD

A Resident of Jersey City Who Was on the Alabama.

JERSEY CITY, June 5.—Henry Vedder of this city, while in attendance upon the marriage of his neice last night dropped to the floor dead, from heart disease.

Mr. Vedder was in the Southern navy during the civil war and was on board the Alabama in her encounter with the Kearsarge. He entertained the company with several war melodies and had just finished the song "The Blue and the Gray," when he fell back dead.

Suit Against Greenwood Bank Managers.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—Receiver Johnson of the defunct Greenwood Bank has instituted suit in the Johnson Circuit Court against J. M. Starbuck ex Gov. Chase and all others connected with the management of the bank. He has also advertized the furniture of the bank for sale, and with the proceeds, together with the cash on hand, the receiver expects to declare a first dividend of 25 per cent. early in July.

Another Ocean Race.

ITS ORIGIN A MYSTERY

The Fire in the Hewitt Apartment House, New York—The Dead.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The origin of the fire in the Hewitt apartment house, at 138 East Forty-third street, yesterday morning, in which five persons lost their lives, is still a mystery. The Fire Commissioners are now making an investigation.

It is believed that the fire started at the foot of the dumb waiter shaft, which is about in the middle of the house and runs to the top floor.

The flames were first seen on the third floor, and almost immediately after they appeared at the first floor.

People in the burning apartments, aroused from sleep, had no time to dress or to save anything. They fled to the street in their night clothes, barefooted and bareheaded, and were cared for by the police and neighbors in adjoining houses.

It soon became known that several persons were unable to escape from the burning building as every avenue of escape was cut off from those who were not aroused at the first alarm.

The following persons perished:

Elsie Bente, his sister, twenty years old.

Mrs. Louise Bente, his wife, twenty-five years old.

It was got under control in less than an hour, and then the search for the dead was begun.

It was known to the firemen and to the spectators that several people had perished, and the scantily clad fugitives from the blazing flats were waiting and crying for their missing ones.

The bodies of the persons named above were recovered in the rooms where they had been caught by the smoke and flames.

COLUMBIA LIBERTY BELL

Thirteen Thousand Pounds of Metal Required—To be Cast This Week.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The Columbian Liberty Bell, which is to be cast during the coming week, is to be a fac-simile of the bell which announced America's freedom. Besides the original inscriptions it will contain the words, "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another." Washington is suggested as its permanent home, under the care of the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution.

This bell, with the old Independence Bell, will ring in the sunrises during the World's Fair. When the Exposition is over it will be sent throughout the world, the Columbian Liberty Bell Committee say, as a missionary of freedom. Bunker Hill, Liberty Island and the battlefield of New Orleans are stopping places in its proposed itinerary, which will, perhaps, include Jerusalem on the nineteen hundredth anniversary of the birth of Christ, and the next World's Exposition at Paris in the beginning of the twentieth century.

At the close of the Exposition, and after it has been finally settled where it shall be permanently placed, the bell will be rung on the anniversaries of epoch-making days in the world's progress toward liberty. It will ring at 9 o'clock in the morning. At noon on the birthdays of heroes of liberty it will be rung again, and at 4 o'clock on the anniversaries of their death it will be tolled.

Committees representing every State and Territory in the Union, every American patriotic society and every republic in the world have in charge the collection of the material and the raising of the fund for the bell. Thirteen thousand pounds of metal are required, and the committees invite every one to contribute historic metals or relics in gold, silver, bronze, copper or nickel. It is proposed that the bell shall represent as much historical interest as possible, and all relics will be fused into the metal when the bell is cast.

MAYOR BOODY'S SERVANTS STRIKE

Three of Them Quit Because the Family Will Stay in Town This Summer.

BROOKLYN, June 5.—Mayor Boody, of Brooklyn, ate his breakfast in peace yesterday morning and went to his office. Shortly after breakfast the four servants of the Boody family in a body visited Mrs. Boody in her boudoir and asked for a hearing.

The cook was spokeswoman, and demanded to know whether the family intended to go to the country this summer. When she recovered from her surprise Mrs. Boody replied that the family would stay in town. The cook said she had been very poorly of late and her physician had recommended that she go to the country.

Three of the servants then quit.

Four Killed in a Fight With Thieves.

DENISON, TEX., June 5.—Capt. Charles Eefiore and Deputy United States Marshal James Yarborough have arrived from Indian Territory with meagre news of a fight between Deputy United States Marshal Andy Frier's posse and a gang of horse thieves on the Washita, between Emmett and Red River, in which four men were killed. The report was brought to Emmett last night by a courier, but he had no particulars.

Schaffner Still Missing.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Nothing as yet have been heard of Herman Schaffner, of the firm of Schaffner & Co., private bankers, who mysteriously disappeared after it was learned that the firm had assigned. Schaffner & Co. have been the largest private bankers in this city or in the Northwest, dealing exclusively in commercial paper. The firm was also one of the oldest of its kind in Chicago. It is feared that he has committed suicide.

Gov. Altgeld After the Lynchers.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 5.—Gov. Altgeld proposes to take cognizance of the lynching of the negro Bush for an assault upon two white women in Mount Zion township by citizens of the town of Decatur. He wired States Attorney Mills to forward at once all facts in regard to the lynching of Bush, and also what effort the jailer had made to protect the victim.

Graves to be Tried Again.

DENVER, June 5.—The county commissioners have decided to grant an appropriation to pay the expenses of getting witnesses in the Graves's murder trial from outside the State. District Attorney Steele stated that $3,000 would be all that was necessary in that direction, and it was granted. The supposition is that the next trial will be little more than a farce.

JOSE CARREIRO CAUGHT

He is Probably the Murderer of Miss Manchester.

STRONG EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM

After Surrendering to Clear Himself From Suspicion, the Portuguese Tells Conflicting Stories—He Paid Out Bertha's Money for Shoes—The Funeral Held Yesterday.

FALL RIVER, MASS., June 5.—Jose Carreiro, suspected of the murder of Bertha May Manchester, is under arrest in the Central police station, charged with homicide. That he really committed the murder, there appears to be little room to doubt in view of the developments which have been made in the investigation.

Carreiro gave himself up to the police Sunday night. He preferred to do this to free himself from suspicion rather than be brought in by the police. The police had received information that located him at Bowenville at 9 a. m. on the day of the murder. Farmer Manchester had seen him at Crab Pond Bridge two hours later. Saturday his uncle Jacinto Munis, and Frank Silvis were sent to Taunton, where he had been located and were told to bring him here. They returned with the much wanted man that night and from then until after midnight he was on the rack. At first his story was a good one, but one little break was made; then came a change. Contradiction and falsehood followed and he was ordered under arrest.

When Jacinto Muniz brought back his nephew, Jose Carreiro, that night according to promise, the cloud of suspicion that had hung over the latter since Wednesday seemed about dispelled. It was in this spirit that the officers started, through an interpreter, to question Carreiro, but that idea was quickly changed, and the Portuguese flatly denied certain suspicious circumstances—which were known to be facts. In relation to others, he made false statements. He was questioned very carefully and fairly. After the long hours of waiting and questioning he became entangled; he was locked up. A stenographic report of all that was said on each side was taken. Witnesses were roused from their sleep and taken to the station.

After the investigation closed the mayor and officers of the department who were present decided that the public had a right to the facts in the possession of the police, so far as they could safely be given. As result of this decision the mayor has made a statement.

Before beginning his statement Mayor Coughlin said that names, as a rule, would be suppressed through a desire to avoid future trouble. In explanation of this course, he said that something had happened which had led the authorities to believe that trouble was to be made, if possible, for those who had assisted the government. That the Portuguese in the city would naturally hold together in the matter and exhibit feeling against those of their race who had assisted in throwing suspicion upon Carreiro. After speaking of the decision of the authorities to make the facts in the case known, he said:

"We wanted the facts to be given to the public as they are. Our purpose is to impress upon the minds of the public that we have in our possession certain tangible clues, pointing to the guilty person. The police have taken a very decided stand in looking for Carreiro. They have investigated every clue pointing to him, and have looked for him in every possible locality. They learned that he was in the vicinity of Taunton, but just where is not known to us.

"On the day of the murder he entered a French Canadian shoe dealers store, near the south end of Sagamore Mill, and asked in broken English for a pair of shoes. He pulled out of his pocket a silver trade dollar, bright, and apparently brand new. He also pulled out from his pocket a silver half dollar with a hole in it.

"The shoe dealer said that the trade dollar was worth only between 90 and 95 cents. He also refused to take the half dollar because it had a hole in it. Carreiro then pulled out from his pocket two quarter dollars and offered them in place of the half dollar. There was present a young Portuguese from a farm across the river, who acted as interpreter in the conversation about the trade dollar. Carreiro said, "I'll give you five cents more, if you don't take that you'll have to break a big bill." The shoe dealer took it, wrapped up the old shoes and Carreiro wore the shoes out of the store and had them on when he came to the Central station.

"Capt. Connor and Doherty subsequently learned that Mr. Manchester had given silver trade dollars to Bertha and Jennie (Mrs. Coolidge). Bertha's trade dollar was kept in her bureau drawer, and in the drawer with it, the officers learned, there was also kept a half dollar with a hole in it. The trade dollar was in the best state of preservation and had the appearance of having always been a keepsake. Mrs. Coolidge was questioned regarding the trade dollar and said she thought it was 14 or 15 years ago when her father gave them to her sister and herself. The trade dollar bore the stamp of 1878.

"The shoe dealer said that Carreiro had what appeared to be a lady's pocket book, with a clasp on it, and that he took the money from it. Carreiro denies that he had a pocket-book. None was found in his possession. Her pocket-book was taken from Bertha's room.

"The trade dollar has been shown to Mrs. Coolidge and she is almost positive, from its fine state of preservation, that it is the same coin her father gave Bertha."

Two farmers, whom the marshal has had before him, state that they saw a Portuguese, their description of whom exactly corresponds to that of Carreiro, running west on Wilson road as hard as he could go.

Carreiro had been in the city only six or eight months. In that time he had worked in several places and had acquired the reputation of being a shiftless, worthless sort of fellow. He is 21 or 22 years of age, and has a moustache and goatee.

The funeral services were held over the remains of the dead girl yesterday.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary society of the First Baptist church will hold an important meeting Thursday afternoon, at 1.

—J. U. Kip has come to town for his health, and opened a first-class bakery and ice-cream and confectionery store at 41 Somerset street.

—Pat Dooley, formerly of this city, was sentenced at Elizabeth, Saturday, under the name of Mack, to five years in State prison for burglary.

—The knickerbockered sporting gent's assistant on the Courier, attended the Rev. Mr. Herring's church, last evening, and took his bicycle inside with him.

—The court at Elizabeth to-day affirmed judgment of $200 in the appeal of Elvira Maitland vs. Abner S. Coriell, from justice Nash's court. W. B. Codington represented the successful litigant.

—The pastor and congregation of the Trinity Reformed church were gratified at an increase of five persons, three by letter and two by confession of faith, at yesterday morning's communion services.

—The local fishermen had great excitement this morning chasing a German carp that they said must weigh 40 pounds, in Green brook above Tier's lake. They are still hunting for the giant this afternoon.

—Dan Connors and Sam Allen got into a row over a disputed bill, and Connors had Allen arrested for assault. Constable VanHorn made the arrest, and magistrate Crosley held the accused in bail for a hearing.

—THE PRESS would arise in its might and call blessed the name of B.T. Barnes, for his boss ice-cream to-day refreshed and invigorated its staff just when the heat was most oppressive. There's nothing like it, in hot weather.

—The First Baptist Sunday-school excursion committee are looking out for your comfort on July 21. They propose to give you a day at the seashore. Try and fix the date, and go with them. They did have a delightful time last year.

—The Young People's society of All Saints' church, Fanwood, will give a strawberry festival, in Excelsior hall Thursday, June 15, from 4 to 10 p. m. The object of the entertainment is the raising of a fund for cushioning the pews of the church.

—If you intend papering or painting your home or office, Woolston & Buckle, the North avenue decorators, are reliable men to do the work, and they have a very large and carefully selected stock of wall paper to select from. David R. Weaver is their efficient manager, and a courteous salesman.

AN UNFORTUNATE CONFLICT.

Salvation Army Methods Interfering with Established Preaching.

The annoyance of having two houses of worship so near together as Trinity Reformed church and the Salvation Army barracks was again forcibly illustrated last night, when pastor Schenck was forced to stop in his sermon unable to proceed connectedly, on account of the singing of the Army. He stated that he would continue to the best of his ability, but he doubted whether the people would be able to follow him under the distraction. The singing of the Army during Mr. Schenck's sermons is spoken of by the church people as a great annoyance to both preacher and congregation. Mr. Schenck prepares his sermons carefully during the week, and the singing confuses his ideas and distracts the people's attention. It is unfortunate that there is this conflict, for during the summer, when the windows are open, the confusion becomes very great. It is hoped when the Army's lease runs out the friends of the Army will secure other quarters for them, as the church considers it has a prior right to this location and should not be interfered with.

Who Will Go from Plainfield.

The East New Jersey Baptist association will meet with the First Baptist church, Elizabeth, this week Tuesday and Wednesday. As official representatives of the First Baptist church of this place, the following members have been duly appointed messengers: Deacons Randolph, White, Serrell, Case, Needham, Probasco and Bonny, and their wives; brethren A. Vanderbeek, F. E. Marsh, M. Clark Dobbins, L. Warren Randolph, L. H. Dubois and wife; pastor Yerkes and wife; and church clerk O. B. Leonard and wife. The association begins its opening session at 10:30 Tuesday morning.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Stelle Randolph has gone to Newark to work.

Mr. Cochran of Virginia spent yesterday with friends in town.

Miss Thorn, of Elizabeth, has been visiting relatives in the borough.

Miss Rachel Cooper, of Mt. Bethel, is visiting her relatives, the Bartells.

Mrs. Jacob Kline, who has been so seriously ill, is reported as a little better.

Mrs. Hyde, of Brooklyn, with her son, Wm. Hyde, is visiting Mrs. H. G. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Siebrecht are spending their honeymoon in Washington.

Mrs. S. A. Davis, of East Second street, has gone to Ocean Grove for the Summer.

Andrew Jackson Stewart, of 431 West Fifth street, is still ill. He has been sick all winter.

Israel W. Stout is entertaining his brother who has been away from Plainfield for 22 years.

It is rumored that the marriage of Miss Luella Northrup and Albert W. Demarest will take place this week.

Miss Nettie, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Mattison, of Somerset street, North Plainfield, is very ill.

Mrs. Harry Edgar of Atlanta, Ga., and her sister are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Potter, Mt. Pleasant.

Andrew G. Carpenter was the efficient organist at a union service of the Bound Brook churches in the Rev. Mr. Goodrich's church last evening.

John P. Munn, Orville G. Waring, Irving West and Howard Huntington will be the ushers at the commencement reception in the Seminary to-morrow evening.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Harriet Elsie Griswold, daughter of William N. Griswold, formerly of Netherwood, to George H. Miller, at West Orange, June 1.

Walter Stewart, of West Seventh street, who is just finishing his junior year at Yale, has been honored by being elected a member of the "Skull and Bones", the leading senior society of that university.

The alumni of the Seminary have presented to Miss Kenyon a handsome silver tea set, suitably inscribed, and former students not graduates have given her a Raymond tour ticket to the World's fair and return.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, with Mr. Howard's sister, Miss Annie, have been visiting among their friends and neighbors. Mr. Howard went several years ago to Rahway, where he is engaged in the grocery business.

Mrs. Grace, one of Dunellen's oldest residents, died Saturday in her 86th year, at the home of her son-in-law, John Cooper. Funeral services were held at St. John's R. C. church, at 9 this morning, with interment in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Doul Miller have rented the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Patton, of East Ninth street, for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have until recently been living in Halifax, and their many friends will welcome them back to Plainfield.

A few friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, 338 East Front street, Saturday evening, to celebrate the fourteenth anniversary of their marriage. Refreshments were served, and a good time in general was had by all present.

Mrs. R. A. Meeker, president of the Jr. Y. P. S. C. E of Trinity Reformed church, will take all the young people of that flourishing society on an outing Saturday morning. The day will be spent at Chimney Rock. Stages will leave from in front of the church at 8.

The Rev. Marcus W. Smalley and wife arrived in Plainfield Saturday, and are visiting A. S. Runyon, Lafayette place. Mr. and Mrs. Smalley were married Sept. 15, 1892. He took charge of the Second Baptist church of Houston, Texas, but his health failed, and he is now seeking recuperating.

At the burial service held over the remains of Jennie J. Schofield, daughter of I. E. Houston, West Front street, the Dresden Trio, ably assisted by W. R. Cock and E. E. Runyon, sang the hymns "When Our Heads Are Bowed With Woe", "In the Hour of Trial", and "Nearer My God to Thee", with beautiful effect.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Swalm, of West Front street, were glad to welcome them again as worshipers at the communion services yesterday morning in the Trinity Reformed church. Mr. Swalm is nearing his 85th birthday. He and his life partner were very ill nearly all the past winter.

THE CRESCENTS DEFEATED.

Sneden Pitching for His Release, and No One Able to Hit Countryman Henderson.

All those kranks who have been grumbling because the Crescents were winning every game, ought to be satisfied with the stinging defeat administered Saturday by the Patersons.

The Plainfield players had been longing for the opportunity to "do up" their old pitcher, Meakin, but such was not to be their privilege, for Meakin did n't show up. While the Paterson manager was casting about for a pitcher, a raw-boned countryman named Henderson, who said he had never before pitched a game, begged for a trial, and was put in the box with great success. He put the ball over the plate as big as a balloon, and the stalwart Crescent batsmen would whack at it saying "Is n't it pie!" But it was n't, for they could n't hit the ball safe for a little bit. Instead, it would pop up in the air in the most irritating way, and get nabbed by the nimble fielders.

It was an off day all around, for the Crescents. Sneden did n't pitch worth a cent, and the reason was easily found. Sneden has for some time been dickering with Wilkesbarre, and is anxious to go there. It looked as though he was pitching for his release.

Had there been any hope of winning the game, a change pitcher would have been substituted, but the team could n't bat out any runs to save themselves, and the Paterson's lead was hopeless.

To add to the overwhelmingness of the defeat, some of the Crescents' best players had to get tangled up in fielding. Three chances for double plays were wasted, even Leo Smith distinguishing himself by distressing fumbles.

The game went to show that heavy batting is what wins games this year, and that when a team does n't hit it has no hope to win. Even the big league teams are playing big and "lopsided" scores, which seem to be a feature of the season. For instance, all in one day these scores were made: New York, 13; Cleveland, 8. Boston, 15; Louisville, 4. Washington, 18; Cincinnati, 6. Philadelphia, 16; Chicago, 1. Portland, 15; Lowell, 0. Fall River, 20; Brockton, 1. Boston College, 11; Belmont, 4.

There are many who say that judge Charles K. Moore lost the game. He was present for the first time this season, sat on the players' bench and hoodooed the whole crowd. Even Tommy Timbo's horseshoe could n't overcome that.

The score:

NOTES.

Paterson returns June 17.

Little Billy Keeler of the New Yorks is laid up with a broken ankle.

St. Louis beat the Patersons yesterday 5 to 0. Meakin pitched for the Patersons.

The Ridgewoods of Brooklyn are putting a strong team in the field this season. They beat Staten Island Decoration Day, and yesterday took the Olympics of Paterson into camp.

The extra five feet that the pitcher has to throw the ball, makes great difference in the batting, and the close scores of former days are gone by. At Buffalo, yesterday, the home team beat Albany 30 to 11.

Hudson was over kind to the Patersons, Saturday, and presented them with at least 5 runs. His decision at first robbed Keenan of a brilliant double play, and in the ninth inning he decided a man safe at second that Leo Smith had touched out by a yard.

Clever little Keenan, the new find of Manager Keller, is not disappointing the management. His every action is that of a ball player, and after a season's playing with the Crescents he, like others, will no doubt be numbered with those who have gone from Plainfield to the bigger leagues.

That the ability of the Crescents' team of ball players is appreciated away from home is evidenced by the request of out-of town managers requesting dates. Cape May, Camden, Wilmington, Del., and Middletown, N. Y., have written for games on their grounds.

Abating a Gas Nuisance.

When complained to concerning it, street commissioner Meeker at once set out to find the cause for the smell of escaping gas at the sewer openings, Third and Peace streets and Peace and Second. He traced it to the sewer basin under the Washington street bridge, and found that the Gas company had been pumping refuse into it. They promised to abate the nuisance at once.

NO "CHINESE RETALIATION."

One of President Cleveland's Former Diplomats Tells a PRESS Reporter That the Lower Classes Know Nothing of "Foreign Policy", and the Higher Are Glad to Have Emigration Stopped.

Howard Martin, who was secretary of the United States Legation in China, during the first administration of President Cleveland, is now in this city where he lectures on the Chinese to-morrow evening, at Vincent chapel.

Being approached by a PRESS reporter on the topic of the Exclusion Act, he said: "I do not think the exclusion policy of our States against China is felt or much considered by the mass of the Chinese people. The lower classes take so little interest in and hear so little about the foreign policy of the Empire, one may say that the stand taken by the United States has practically no influence. The higher and necessarily official classes naturally take it to heart inasmuch as it touches their national pride. As a matter of fact, they are bitterly opposed to the emigration of their coolie class, and it is an open secret that private appeals have been made to other rulers to assist their home government in discouraging it. The more enlighted and informed have looked upon the passage of our legislation all along as a bid for the vote of the Pacific coast and have never believed that the measures enacted would be enforced; certainly the diplomatic delay now at Washington, in driving out the Mongol, would justify such optimistic confidences.

"The Chinese too are shrewd, very shrewd, and grasping, as a commercial race. Money is an all absorbing topic, both in itself and in its capacities. The struggle of cutting off by any retaliatory act the twenty-four millions of taels, ($1.15 gold) annual trade each way between the two nations, is one they could never bring themselves to face, and with this omnipotent influence, and a hope, Micawber like, that "something may turn up", any drastic measures are to my mind most improbable.

"The antagonism of the Chinese to foreigners, so often reported, has absolutely no regard to nationality. All foreigners are distasteful. Americans are in no sense singled out. The government is officially most careful of the legation with its staff and extremely courteous in every sense. Profuse apologies are forthcoming for any insult from an ignorant and cant populace, and I am sure sincere regret is felt by the representative men of 'Far Cathay' at any incident or accident that may tend to strain international sympathy.

"Something as to the cause of the riots of 1890-91? Well, disabuse your mind at once of any impression that the measures of one nation had any more effect in producing them than those of another. Be assured also that in no sense were the missionaries to blame, though an attempt was made to saddle them with it. Their intense zeal in their good work and increasing influence among the natives are worthy of the highest praise.

"The 'Literati', that is, not the literary class as might be implied, but the powerful officers of the nation whose promotion has been secured through the peculiar classical examinations prevalent there, still retain many feudal methods of oppression, and of extracting their incomes from the peasantry, opposed to the enlightenment and Christian principles as taught by the missionaries. The natural consequence is a determination to rid themselves of the element so detrimental to their interests. With this object they stir up feelings of hatred against foreigners by scattering broadcast slanderous publications and obscene pamphlets, accusing them of heinous crimes and immoralities and urging on the populace in surreptitious ways. They are told their children are received in the various schools or hospitals to sicken and die that their eyes and hearts may be sent westward for medicines, and such twaddle. These falsehoods are frequently published on fans and given by hundreds of thousands to the people.

"No, I cannot give you my impressions of Oriental life in so short a space. A lingering dream of the 'Dolce far niente', of the betrowsered women and much bepetticoated men, and of 'ten thousand and ten' contrarieties cannot be elaborated here."

Union County Politics.

(From The Summit Record.)

Already plans are making for the approaching campaign in Union county, and the indications are that before the autumn leaves begin to turn the contest will have assumed its old-time vigor.

James E. Martine, of Plainfield, has of late loomed into prominence as a Senatorial candidate, and it is said that many of those who opposed his nomination for Congress last year will support his Senatorial candidacy.

With her usual modesty, Elizabeth comes to the fore with three candidates for the nomination for sheriff and the likelihood that a number of others will appear between the present writing and the convention. Freeholder Charles Moore is being warmly supported, and his candidacy is assuming imposing proportions. Director John Sauer is also said to be in training for this nomination and will undoubtedly make a strong showing if he remains in the field, and George Squires is the third Elizabethan who covets the distinction of drawing the juries of this county. Freeholder Noah Woodruff, of Union township, is also conducting a quiet canvass for the nomination, and the probabilities are that the limit for delegates will be vigorous enough to suit the most exacting tide walter.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-15-7

AN EXPENSIVE PAIL OF BEER.

It Cost Them $30, and They Did Not Drink It, Either.

There was a row down on the Boulevard, Sunday morning, when John McDonald with great forethought procured a pail of beer before the hour for the closing of the saloons, and started home with it. On the way he met William Roes and William Hickey, who wished they had obtained some beer but had n't. They accordingly asked McDonald to share his beverage with them, which he refused to do. Then the two marauders tried the persuasion of blows, and McDonald and his persecutors had a monkey-and-parrot time for a few minutes, until policemen Flanagan and Vanderweg, attracted by the noise, came upon the scene and arrested all three.

Judge Coddington this morning gave them their choice of a $10 fine or 30 days imprisonment each. They paid and were dismissed.

Those who go through this part of town after dark would do well not to carry any beer or other desirable article with them if they wish to go unmolested.

FIRST OF THE HILLSIDE TEAS.

The Croquet Courts Opened, and Refreshments Served Out of Doors.

The first tea of the Hillside Tennis club was given Saturday afternoon on the grounds of the club. Miss Carrie Streuli received, and was assisted by Mrs. J. Clifton Wharton, Miss Minnie Wood and Miss Marion Dumont.

Refreshments were served under the trees, and the tables were tastefully decorated with fleurs de lis and daisies. Some interesting games were given on the courts, and those who distinguished themselves in last week's tournament were among the players.

The croquet ground was opened for play for the first time, and many of the ladies took advantage of this to indulge in this game, which seems to combine excitement with the minimum of exertion. These teas are an extremely pleasant feature of the season, and will be held on the first and third Saturdays of each month until the first of October.

BAPTIZED IN A CASCADE.

John Crow, an employe in the New York post-office, was immersed according to the rites of baptism as observed by the Plymouth Brethren, Sunday afternoon. The immersion took place at one of the beautiful cascades along the stream that rises in the Watchung mountains, as it tumbles over rocks on its way down through the gorge, following in the track of huge glaciers that ground their way through the hills during the glacial period. The banks are lined with huge boulders left by the glaciers.

No more beautiful spot could be found for the purpose. Into a natural basin in the rocks, Mr. Loizeaux and Mr. Crow waded waist deep, and while the members of the little flock sang a hymn, the candidate was immersed. The ceremony was both beautiful and impressive, the members afterwards giving Mr. Crow the right hand of fellowship.

Chopped His Knee.

Louis Bergmiller, jr., of Berkley Heights, while chopping some firewood, accidentally let the axe slip and cut a deep gash in his knee, which will if not properly cared for result seriously. All that can be done for him at present is being done by willing hands. Louis has the sympathy of the entire community, who wish him a speedy recovery.

$88,939,217 NET GOLD

Lowest Amount in Treasury Since Specie Payments Were Resumed.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—At no period since specie payments were resumed on January 1, 1879, has the net gold in the Treasury of the United States been so low as it is to-day. The amount is $88,939,217. On January 1st, 1891, it was $114,193,539,42.

While no uneasiness is felt at the Treasury Department because of the continued loss of gold from the Treasury still Secretary Carlisle is not unmindful of the fact that a limit may be reached where the confidence reposed in the Treasury by the people may be shaken.

How to replenish the Treasury with gold has been a problem seriously considered by the administration for some time. The issue of bonds is the usual remedy suggested, but it is known that the President is not in favor of this alternative except as the last resource, and even if they are issued Treasury officials are not by any means confident that the Treasury gold reduced in this way will long continue so.

It is this doubt, perhaps, more than any other, that prevents the administration from seriously considering at this time a bond issue, and it is certain that every other available means will be resorted to before this latter means is adopted.

Suggestion has been made that the Secretary of the Treasury has the power to coin greenbacks in exchange of gold, thereby increasing the amount of gold and increasing the volume of greenbacks outstanding to the extent of the gold thus exchanged.

Section 3700 of the Revised Statutes provides that the Secretary of the Treasury may exchange any class of money for coin, and out of this provision of law it is presumed that the story started that the secretary of the treasury had discovered a statute which permitted him to issue greenbacks in exchange for gold.

This statute gives him the power, which as never been questioned, to exchange among other things United States Treasury notes, United States notes, silver certificates, gold certificates, silver coin, silver bullion, and gold bullion for gold coin or gold bullion at his discretion, but there is a decided difference between the "exchange" of one class of money for gold and the issue of a class of money to exchange for gold.

END OF THE FINDLAY BOOM

All of the Glass Factories to be Moved from the Town.

FINDLAY, O., June 5.—The final throes of a dying boom based upon gas are being felt here now. The statement that there are 600 empty dwellings here is said to have been verified by actual count. Further, the statement is confirmed that all the glass manufacturers have signed an agreement to move their plants from the town not later than July 1.

It is estimated that this exodus will take 4,000 people from the place. Some of the manufacturers are going to different locations in Pennsylvania, but the greater number will locate in the Indiana gas fields.

AT SWORD'S POINTS.

Lady Managers Blame Mrs. Logan for Sundry Slights.

Only Committee Women Stay in Chicago, the Others Are Indignant at Their Dismissal and Charge That Mrs. Logan Has Carried Tales About Them.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

"Mrs. John A. Logan was the cause of all the trouble in the board of lady managers."

That is what all agree in saying.

"I will tell you just what the rumpus was about," said the lady manager of one of the New England states, "but I do not want you to give my name because it would put me in the position of being jealous of Mrs. Logan. And the Lord knows I am not jealous of that woman! But you may give the details of the trouble as I tell them to you. And they will be God's truth. And I will not try to shield anyone, or to blame anyone upon whom blame does not rest.

"When the duchess of Veragua was expected to arrive in Chicago I was appointed one of the committee to receive her. I went down to the train with the rest of the reception committee and together we waited in the station until the train rolled in. When the whistle blew and the train steamed into the yard, Mrs. Logan rushed out with Mayor Harrison and the city reception committee and gushingly welcomed the duchess. 'I tender you the hearts of the whole American people,' said she and then she hurried the duchess away to the carriages that were awaiting, while we stood in the depot yard, cooling our heels and waiting to be presented.

"It was pouring pitchforks, as the down east boys say, and before we could find cabs to take us to the fair grounds we were drenched to the skin.

"When we got to the fair grounds on the opening day in the cabs which we had hired at our own expense, we were told that carriages were not allowed in the grounds. So we got out and walked. We took our places in the space allotted to the reception committee and again we waited. By and by the grand procession arrived. The royal guests were in carriages and so was Mrs. Logan. They had fine seats where they could view the opening exercises from beginning to end. And so had Mrs. Logan. But we could hardly see anything.

"When it came luncheon time, President Cleveland and his party with the duke and duchess of Veragua and their suite, repaired to the dining-hall in the Administration building and had a magnificent luncheon, the menu of which was telegraphed all over the United States by the Associated press. Mrs. Logan was with them. The papers said that she occupied a seat opposite the duke's son.

"The rest of the reception committee went without anything to eat, although we greatly enjoyed hearing that Mrs. Logan had a fine lunch and that she wore a bunch of orchids from Horticultural hall.

"We had neither lunch nor orchids, and at five o'clock we gathered up the skirts of our best gowns which we had donned for the benefit of the duchess to whom we had not been presented and waded back to town in the mud and rain.

"Of course we were mad. If we had been men we would have sworn, but being women we cried. We were so mad that, as Phœbe Couzins said, we could have killed.

"The next day but three we adjourned sine die. It had been passed at one of our meetings that the lady managers could all go home, except certain committees that were to remain throughout the fair to attend to certain pieces of work.

"Of course we all wanted to remain. The fair is very attractive now, and, having done all the hard work, we wanted to stay and enjoy the fine exhibits. But Chicago life is very expensive, and, deprived of our salary as lady managers, we would have to go home except a few who are wealthy enough to pay board out of their own funds.

"All of Mrs. Palmer's personal friends, and all of what we call 'the Chicago clique,' are on the committees and are to stay as long as they please with expenses paid and enough left to go home with a snug little sum of money in their inside pockets.

"Mrs. Palmer says that the money that is left from our appropriation will be returned to congress. We have now a surplus of $193,000. With this money we could all stay all summer and leave something over. It cost only about $15,000 a month to keep us all in Chicago.

"But no! That did not suit her ladyship, our madame president. So she read us a curtain lecture on our foolishness in even commenting on the fact that some were to be sent home while others were to stay. And then she dismissed us and we went away like whipped spaniels, esteeming it a privilege to lick the hand that had chastised us.

"I tell you it makes me sick, and I am glad that I cannot afford to stay and pay my own board in Chicago, because I should be sick in bed from seeing such things go on."

All the lady managers, except Phœbe Couzins, agree that Mrs. Potter Palmer is the most charming woman on the face of the earth. She is a beauty. She is a gracious lady. And she is as fair-minded as any person on this sphere can be.

As the venerable Isabella Beecher Hooker puts it: "She is my queen and I salute her as such."

But Miss Phœbe Couzins doesn't believe in queens and she is not going to do any saluting, until she thinks it is time to salute.

Miss Phœbe is the finest old war horse in the west. She hails from St. Louis, where she has ridden every hobby from the woman's suffrage question to managing a home for deaf mutes. She leads all the hobby riders of St. Louis, and to be left out of all committee work goes hard with her. It is like striking her a blow in the face and following it up with a kick. At first Phœbe could not understand it. She could not realize it. Her sympathizers and followers, and there are many of them on the board of lady managers, implored her to keep quiet. They told her that Mrs. Palmer would never forgive an aggressive movement on the part of anyone.

But what did Phœbe care for Mrs. Palmer's forgiveness? She had been slighted, and in slighting her, Mrs. Palmer had, slighted St. Louis and the whole of Missouri. And Miss Couzins swore a mighty oath that all the world should hear of it, even Duke Colon de Veragua and the president.

And they have.

It has occasioned much surprise among the women that Isabella

ISABELLA BEECHER HOOKER.

Beecher Hooker was not appointed upon any of the committees that are to remain. Her enemies say that she was slighted because she indorsed Phœbe Couzins. But her friends say that she has reproved Phœbe and has tried to make her see the errors of her way.

Anyway Mrs. Hooker goes home. She will stop at Evanston, Ill., to visit some relatives of Frances Willard and then will go east to see her sister, Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Before Mrs. Hooker goes home she will unveil a bust of Mrs. Stowe and will present it to Mrs. Potter Palmer for the library of the Woman's building.

The bust is the work of Miss Anne Whitney, of Boston, who charged one thousand dollars for doing it. The money was raised by contributions of ten cents each from the school children of Connecticut, and after the fair the bust is to be put in the public library of Hartford, where Mrs. Stowe lives. No one who has not "read Uncle Tom's Cabin with pleasure" has been allowed to contribute toward the Stowe bust. Unfortunately, Mrs. Stowe is too feeble in mind to understand what is being done. But Mrs. Hooker is far from feeble. And she will present the Stowe bust with a vigorous speech and her voice is as powerful as a trumpet although she is nearly eighty years old.

Mrs. Hooker feels very keenly the fact that she is not on any of the permanent committees, so her friends say. And they intimate that her non-appointment is a slight put by Mrs. Potter Palmer upon the woman's suffrage movement.

Frances Willard, one of the leading suffragists, is sick in Europe at the home of Lady Henry Somerset. Mary Seymour Howell is detained in the east until fall. Mary Seymour, of the Business Woman's Journal, a most devout and earnest worker for the woman's suffrage movement, died early in the spring, lamented by all. May Wright Sewall is head-over-heels in work with her National Council of Women.

SHE WANTS A SEPARATION

The Cause is That Her Husband Declines to Live With His Mother-in-law.

KINGSTON, June 5.—George W. Jopson, a veteran engineer on the Wallkill Valley railroad, and about 60 years of age, became a widower two years ago, and in January last married Ada Low, of Montgomery, a niece of ex-Judge Low of Orange county. The bride was about 35 years old.

Mrs. Jopson has begun a suit for separation from his bed and board, and that he pay such sums as may reasonably be decided upon for her support during her life, together with counsel fees.

The plaintiff alleges as the cause for asking divorce that the leading consideration in giving her consent to the marriage was that she should continue to live with her mother at Montgomery, who is infirm.

To this the aged groom consented. In March last Mr. Jopson informed her that she must come to Kingston to live. She has not seen him since.

The defendant, in the answer which has just been put in, alleges that he is now and always has been, willing to support his wife, but that his employment compels him to spend his nights here, where he desires his wife shall make her home. His means will not permit him to maintain two establishments.

A hearing on a motion for alimony pending the divorce proceedings was had before Judge Brown, who held that it did not make any difference what the man or woman agreed to before their marriage, it is the duty of the wife to live with the husband in whatever place he may select as his home, and that he is not compelled by law to maintain her wherever she chooses to reside.

He refused to grant alimony, but allowed counsel fees. An effort will be made to bring the suit to a speedy trial

LONG BEFORE EDISON.

Henry Goebel Said to Be the Inventor of the Incandescent Lamp.

Henry Goebel, of New York, whose chances of being judicially decided to be the first inventor of the incandescent electric lamp have been greatly advanced by Judge Hallett's recent decision in the case of the Edison company versus the Columbia Incandescent company of St. Louis, is a fine type of the well-preserved German, who has reached a green old age with physical vigor and intellect but little impaired by accumulating years.

Mr. Goebel came to this country about 1850, and a few years later began to make electric lamps in his shop in Monroe street out of old bottles, in which he used a filament cut from bamboo fishpole and carbonized in a cookstove. As the years passed his constant experimenting resulted in the manufacture of some really excellent lamps, according to the testimony of many witnesses. Some of these lamps were used to attract customers for a big telescope which he took about the city on wheels. Others he used occasionally to work by, and another gave the light for his daughter's sewing machine. The lamp was not commercially introduced for the same reason that electric motors were not generally introduced at that time, namely, there was no cheap source of electricity. As appears by Judge Hallett's decision, he believes Goebel to have been twenty-five years ahead of Edison in this invention.

THE DEADLY SCORPION.

The scorpions have become so numerous in the city of Durango, Mexico, that the municipal authorities have offered a valuable prize, to be given the person capturing the largest number. Two thousand of the deadly pests were killed at the hospital there recently in one day. For these scorpions the city pays 60 cents a hundred, and three times a week those collected are counted and killed at the hospital, and 80,000 were thus destroyed last year. Persons who get permits to hunt the pests have the right to enter and search private houses for them.

We give a cut of the little Buthus carolinianus, or, as it is now called by systematists, Centrurus vittatus This is the commonest scorpion of the United States, and is found as far north as Tennessee and North Carolina. Of the larger species of the southwest we have no figure. This, however, will do fairly well for a representative of the family.

Sense of Smell in Dogs.

It has often been proven that dogs are able to track their masters through crowded streets, where it would be impossible to attribute their accuracy to anything except the sense of smell alone. Mr. Romanes, the naturalist, once made some interesting experiments as to this wonderful power, as exhibited in his own dog. In these tests, the naturalist found that his dumb friend could easily follow in the tracks of his master, though he was far out of sight, and that too, after no less than eleven persons had followed, stepping exactly in the tracks made by Mr. Romanes, it being the deliberate intention to confuse the senses of the poor dog if possible. Further experiments proved that the animal tracked the boots instead of the man, for when Mr. Romanes put on new footgear the dog failed entirely.

A Petrified Standing Forest.

There are several places in the west—in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah in particular—where large petrified, agatized, silicified or jasperized trees are found. These are lying down. Not so with the petrified forest of Custer county, Idaho. This forest of stone, according to the discoverer, Mr. F. B. Schermerhorn, seems to have all been standing at a time when the whole section was overflowed with a stream of plastic clay. This clay settled around the trunks of the forest giants, converting them into stone, leaving the tops sticking out. In the course of time the fumes from the plastic mass, which is of volcanic origin, transformed the limbs to stone also, and now the whole is a standing forest of solid rock.

THE QUARANTINE LAW.

Dr. Walter Wyman, the supervising surgeon general of the Marine hospital service, is the man who is charged with perfecting the details of the national quarantine law with respect to its execution. Rules and regulations have been adopted and transmitted to the various quarantine stations and ports of entry, as well as to foreign ports. Dr. Wyman, in response to an invitation from a Boston Herald correspondent, gives the following interesting summary of his plans and the scope of the Marine hospital service as a bureau:

"The law of February 15, 1893, establishes a new departure in the matter of quarantine," said Dr. Wyman, "by providing quarantine detention of vessels, immigrants, personal effects or cargo at infected foreign ports. Of course, there is no direct United States statute which can be enforced in a foreign port, but the government may say to vessels on the other side that unless certain precautions are taken they cannot enter at a United States port. That they shall be fined five thousand dollars if they do not have a bill of health signed by the consul or by the medical officer specially detailed by the president for that purpose, before sailing for America.

WALTER WYMAN.
Supervising Surgeon General United States Marine Hospital Service.

"Medical officers are detailed for this purpose only at ports which are considered dangerous. The quarantine regulations for foreign ports provide first for inspection. This inspection is preliminary to the signing of the bill of health. An inspection is required also of all vessels carrying passengers sailing from European, Asiatic, African, South American, Central American, Mexican and West Indian ports. Freight vessels, unless from infected ports, will not require inspection, though the consul or officer must be satisfied that everything is in a sanitary condition. On the North American coast and inland waters vessels are exempt from inspection so long as a port is free from contagious infection. An infected port, to be within the meaning of the law, is a port where a contagious or infectious disease has been communicated to one or more persons through the medium of an infected person, infected baggage or otherwise. A port is not infected where one or a small number of cases has been imported, but where the disease has not been communicated to others.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL

The Celebrated Murder Case Now on at New Bedford.

A JURY OBTAINED IN A SINGLE DAY

Intense Interest Shown in the Proceedings—The Lawyers Who Are Conducting the Case—The Trial Began With a Prayer—The Accused Woman Before the Bar.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 6.—At 9 o'clock this morning the twelve good men and true who compose the jury that is to decide Lizzie Borden's fate filed into the jury-box and answered to their names as the clerk called the roll. Soon the judges appeared and the second day of the long delayed trial of Lizzie Andrew Borden for the murder of her father and mother began.

Nearly every one is surprised at the quickness with which the jury was secured. Yesterday when it was stated that this part of the trial might consume not more than two days the person who made the statement was laughed at. None were more surprised than the counsel themselves who were not prepared to go on with the case last evening and that part of the proceedings had to be left for this morning.

LIZZIE BORDEN.

The talesmen began to file into their places at 10 o'clock, and at 11 all were there, and were checked off, given numbers by the clerk, and awaited the coming ordeal with becoming fortitude.

At precisely 10.58 Miss Lizzie A. Borden, the prisoner, came slowly into the room, preceded by Deputy Sheriff Kirby, and was shown to her seat in the dock. She was attired in a very becoming costume of black brocaded stuff and wore a pretty shade hat relieved by a touch here and there of blue. As she passed the bar enclosure, Mr. Melvin O. Adams, of counsel for the defense, stepped to the rail and bowed to her, but Lizzie, while acknowledging with a slight inclination of the head the salutation, never raised her eyes to his and passed on slowly beyond the dock.

At 11:05 the court house bell sounded, but there was no movement on the part of the court except to call Mr. Moody into the room of the justices, where with the district attorney a short consultation was held. Meanwhile Messrs. Adams and Jennings sat at their table nervously toying with their moustaches, anxious for a beginning.

If lawyers in Massachusetts were allowed the license in hair-splitting questions as to the exact state of the jurors' minds which is permitted in New York, it would be September before a jury could be obtained. But the mode of procedure here is somewhat different. The statutory questions are asked by the chief justice himself, to begin with. Then the lawyers have the privilege of asking questions, but they must be submitted to the court in writing. If the court approves them the chief justice will put them to the candidate for the jury.

Chief Justice Mason, who with Judges Blodgett and Dewey, will sit at the trial, says that he thinks it possible under these conditions to complete the jury within two or three days at most. He thinks that the entire trial will not last more than two weeks.

Miss Borden is still far from strong. Two weeks ago she had a severe attack of the grip, and was threatened with pneumonia. She practically got up from a sick bed to come and stand trial for her life.

Mr. Jennings, the senior counsel for Lizzie, is a young man, as is also Mr. Adams. It was Mr. Jennings who had charge of Lizzie's interests at the preliminary hearing. He was a conspicuous debater and athlete in Brown University. He has been a school teacher, a member of the Legislature, and a State Senator. In the legal profession he ranks well as a corporation lawyer.

By all odds the most striking figure among the lawyers for the defense is ex-Gov. George D. Robinson. He has for five years been conspicuous in Massachusetts politics and at the State Bar.

The court came in precisely at 11:27, Chief Justice Mason taking the centre seat with Rev. M. C. Julien, of New Bedford, who had been selected to make the regulation opening prayer, on his extreme left.

As soon as they were seated Deputy Sheriff Thomas W. Butman was instructed by Clerk Borden to make the usual proclamation to the talesmen, after which the clerk called them in alphabetical order. Seven minutes were thus taken up, after which a brief prayer was offered, Miss Borden standing.

Then the District Attorney conveyed officially to the court what has been well-known for a week or so, that the Attorney General will not be here to attend to his duty and that Mr. Wm. H. Moody, District Attorney of Essex county, would act. He gave to the court the additional information in a very formal manner that Lizzie Andre Borden had been indicted for the murder of her father and step-mother, and that he had the honor to move for the impanelling of a jury for the trial of the cause.

Chief Justice Mason then addressed the talesmen as a body, stating that he should be obliged to put certain questions to them as they came before the court, relative to forming opinions, their bias or prejudice, etc.

Miss Borden was asked to stand up and told of her right to challenge. The first juror was Ansel G. Baker, of New Bedford, who said he did not think any evidence which could be produced would induce him to change his mind, and he was told to step aside. George Winslow, of Mansfield, followed. He had no bias or prejudice, but was not acceptable to the defense. Miss Borden calling her challenge under direction of Mr. Jennings, in a clear voice.

George Potter, of Westport, had formed an opinion, but did not think it was sufficient to prevent being changed. There was no challenge, and he was duly sworn and placed in the box.

Mortimer Searles, New Bedford, said he had formed and expressed opinions and his judgment was so well set it would be hard work to change it.

When court opened in the afternoon the room was again packed. The whole afternoon was taken in getting the seven other jurors. About sixty-five of the panel were examined and most of them were excused for different reasons. Several of them were challenged by Miss Borden, and a few by the prosecution. Most of them were indifferent.

The sixth and seventh jurors were secured easily, but it was some time before another was secured.

Finally Augutus Swift, New Bedford, was indifferent, and was accepted and sworn in as the eighth juror, and Frank E. Cole, Attleboro, was indifferent, and was acceptable, being sworn in as the ninth juror. John C. Pina, Taunton, was accepted as the tenth juror.

Charles I. Richards, North Attleboro, stood indifferent and was accepted and sworn in as the eleventh juror.

Oliver E. Gifford, New Bedford, said he was related to the prisoner at the bar and was excused. As he passed Lizzie she looked at him in astonishment, and he smiled a cheerful "keep your courage up" to her.

Then there was a long interval before the twelfth man was found, twenty-one other men having been excused for one reason or another. The last man chosen was Allen H. Wardell of Dartmouth.

LEW BROWN'S DEATH

The Coroner's Inquest Begun in a Crowded Court Room.

JERSEY CITY, June 6.—The formal legal inquiry into the manner of the death of "Lew" Brown, who was shot dead in his bedroom, at 317 Warren street, early Friday morning, was begun yesterday afternoon at the court house. It was conducted by Coroner Schwartz. The court-room was crowded, as it would be on the occasions of a sensational trial.

Senator Barrett was present in the interest of the woman, Emma Woods, who is accused of the man's murder. The accused was not present, although she had a legal right to be.

Roundsman John Brown, a brother of the deceased, was the first witness. His brother was married, he declared, some time ago, but whether he was at the time of his death the witness did not know. His brother, he swore, lived at 317 Warren street and kept a saloon at 321.

At the suggestion of Prosecutor Crane, who took an active part in the inquest, County Physician Elliott was called next. He was notified of the death of Lew Brown about 4.50 o'clock on Friday morning. He found the body on the floor of the bedroom, clad in underclothes and stockings. He found that death resulted from a pistol shot through the heart.

The jury brought in the following verdict:

"We find that 'Lew' Brown came to his death by a pistol-shot fired by one Emma Woods, at 317 Warren street, Newark, between the hours of 12 and 2:20 o'clock on the morning of June 2."

THE YALE CREW'S WORK

Bob Cook's Presence Needed Badly to Get the Collegians In Shape.

NEW HAVEN, June 6.—Captain "Bob" Cook, the Yale crew coach, did not arrive yesterday to take charge of the crew and much disappointment was felt by the Yale naval directors at his non-appearance. It is felt that the crew is rowing in bad shape and every effort is being made to get the veteran to New Haven. It is thought this morning that he will surely be here to-day.

The crew is being made to row twice a day at present to eradicate some vital faults of the oarsmen. Galludet, the stroke, is a trifle overtrained, and will be given a rest for a few days, Howland taking his place.

The crew goes to its quarters at New London this week.

A NEW STEAMBOAT LINE

Backed by Big Railway Companies From Toronto to Rochester.

MONTREAL, June 6.—The prospectus of the International Navigation company, which proposes to run a line of steamers between Toronto, Rochester and Montreal in opposition to the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company has been issued. The capital stock is one million dollars. Charles S. Upton of Rochester is president and among the directors are E. B. Parsons and Cornelius Van Cott of New York.

The line will be run in connection with the New York Central; Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg; Rochester and Pittsburg; Erie; Delaware Lackawanna & Western and other strong railroad corporation s.

The Kaiser Wilhelm's Passengers.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The statement is given out that the cabin passengers which were booked by the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. from Genoa for New York, will be transferred to the Spree, sailing from Southampton on the seventh. They have no information about the sinking of the steamer, but state that there is only thirty feet of water in the harbor of Genoa, and she draws twenty-seven feet, so that the sinking could not have been a very serious affair.

Columbia Accepts Pulitzer's Gift.

NEW YORK, June 6.—At the regular meeting of the trustees of Columbia College it was voted to accept the Pulitzer gift of $100,000, and a resolution of thanks was adopted. It was also voted to accept with thanks the $10,000 gift from the Alumni Association of School of Mines. Other gifts were also accepted. It was voted to authorize the conferring of the degree of master of laws.

An Areonaut's Terrible Death at Trenton.

FELL THREE THOUSAND FEET

Turned Over and Over and Landed in Water—May Have Been Drowned—Horror of the Onlookers—Had He a New Kind of Machine?

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—The body of Charles Richmond, the aeronaut, who made a three thousand-foot ascension here yesterday and lost his life, is lying at an undertaker's establishment in this city this morning, and is being viewed by many curious people, some of whom saw him fall. The body will be shipped to to his former home in Springfield, Ill.

The affair took place at Cochran Park, a picnic ground on the Delaware near Trenton. Richmond was an employe of the Jewell Brothers and was billed as "Professor Jewell." He made an ascension at the same park on Decoration Day and another last Saturday. On the latter occasion he went up into the air 5,000 feet and came down safely in the streets of Trenton. This time he went up only 3,000 feet.

It was 5 o'clock and 4,000 spectators were gathered to witness the feat. The parachute lay open on the ground before the ascent and it was claimed that it had wings or flaps. Richmond rose gracefully into space, sailing with the wind in a southeasterly direction. When he cut loose from the baloon, it was noticed by the spectators that the parachute failed to work properly, and they were horrified to see Richmond descend with lightning-rapidity, making revolutions in the air as he came down.

Several women fainted and everybody in the great throng was thrilled or sickened by the spectacle. Richmond's descent began about a mile from the starting point. He landed in a muddy little stream called "Sturgeon Pond" and if he were alive when he touched its surface, he was drowned. Prof. Harry Jewell is of the opinion that this was the case. He said this morning that Richmond could not swim.

Richmond hails from Springfield, Ill., and was 33 years of age and unmarried. He had made about 500 ascensions altogether and never before experienced any mishap.

Prof. Jewell declares that the parachute was the regulation pattern and that the descent was all right too, but he admits that he did not see Richmond after he had started upward as he, Jewell, immediately left the grounds. He intended to catch a train for Philadelphia and hearing of the accident to Richmond before he reached the depot returned to Cochran Park.

Richmond's body was recovered at ten o'clock last night.

Domestic Works Shut Down.

NEWARK, N. J., June 6.—Judge Andrew Kirkpatrick, the receiver of the Domestic Sewing Machine company has shut down the Company's work's in this city. By this act 700 employes are thrown out of work. The shut-down was necessitated by the fact that there was no money to pay the employes, but it was expected that it will be of only short duration and will be started again when an inventory is made.

Tallon Gets Five Years.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Michael Tallon, a former park policeman convicted of perjury, was sentenced by Justice Ingraham at noon to five years imprisonment. On a former trial the jury disagreed.

Buchanan's Sentence Again Postponed.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The pronouncing of sentence of death upon Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, convicted a month or more ago of murdering his wife by means of morphine, was again postponed until Wednesday morning.

MUST NOT STOP THE RACE

The President of the Humane Society Hears from a Cowboy.

BOSTON, June 6.—President Angell, of the American Humane Education Society and of the Massachusetts Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, publishes the following:

"I received on Saturday a letter from a man, whose name I do not feel at liberty to give, saying that my offer, in behalf of our humane societies, of $100 to the man or woman who should do the most to stop the cowboy race at Chicago, was not enough, but that if I would offer $250 he could insure the stopping.

"I wrote him that if he could succeed in preventing the race and prove that he had done it, I would undertake in behalf of our Humane Societies to pay him the $250.

"Since then I have received another letter from a life member of our American Humane Education Society, authorizing me to offer to the committee of the race an additional sum of $200 as prizes, provided that the prizes should only be given to horses that reached Chicago in good condition and showing no signs of abuse.

"I have received another letter, from which I give the following extract:

"'I see that you make public the race of the cowboys out West. I want to tell you to shut that fly-trap of yours, or I will shut it for you, that you will never open it again. It is none of your business what we do, and if we are prevented or stopped on the road it will be with bloodshed, and you will have the head cut off your d—d neck. Don't let me hear or see any more that.

(Signed) YOUR WILL BE SLAYER,
"'The last member of the Dalton gang.'"

TROUBLE IN PERU

Reported That There is Danger of a Revolution There.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Semi-official reports from Peru indicate a threatened revolution in that country. A private letter from Lima represents a critical political situation and there is danger of a revolution before the presidential election.

The unpopularity of the candidate for the Presidency and the old controversy about the nitrate beds, of which Chili assumed control at the close of the war with Peru, is the cause of the unrest.

Nothing can be learned at the State Department on the subject, but both the State and Navy Departments are manifesting intense interest in the departure for the Pacific coast of the United States steamships Charleston and Philadelphia. It is probable that the Philadelphia will sail from New York on the 15th inst. for Callao.

20 TONS OF PURE COPPER

Found in Michigan in a Lump and Now on Its Way to the Smelter.

ONTONAGON, Mich., June 6.—The twenty ton mass of solid copper which was discovered at the beginning of the year in the bottom of the old National mine is now on its way to the smelters. It is in hundreds of small chunks. A large mass of copper must be cut before it can be hoisted from the mine.

It required four months or more from the time this mass was first seen to mine away the surrounding rock and chisel the copper into pieces not too large to be hoisted to the surface.

NEWSPAPER BLOWN UP

Liquor Men Revenge Themselves on a Local Option Organ.

CATTLESBURG, Ky., June 6.—The greatest excitement exists in Brenthitt county over the blowing up of the Hustler office by unknown parties Sunday night. The Hustler is a weekly paper edited by the Rev. J. J. Dickey. Dynamite was placed under the door of the building and wrecked the entire structure. To the work of the Hustler is due the local option law recently passed in that county.

Report on Brooklyn's Fire Department.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 6.—The Committee of Citizens appointed by the mayor some time ago to investigate charges of inefficiency brought against the Fire Department of this city by the Board of Underwriters, has reported. The report exonerates the Fire Department as a body, but asserts that Chief Engineer Nevins, although a very competent man, has neglected his duty by continual absence; and further declares that Fire Commissioner Ennis is not competent to fill his position.

An Immense Flow of Gas.

FINDLAY, O., June 6.—The city has drilled in a 20,000,000-foot gasser on the Creighton farm, five miles east of this city. When the gas was struck the flow was so strong that the tools were blown out of the well. An effort to shut the well in failed and tubing was blown higher than the derrick. This well outrivals the famous Karg, and the roar of the escaping gas can be heard for five miles. There is great excitement.

The Young Girl Identified.

NEWARK, N. J., June 6.—The young girl who was drowned in the Passaic river Sunday night has been identified as Bridget Reilly, aged 23, a cousin of the young man, Peter McGovern, who was drowned with her. The identification was made by her sister, with whom she lived at No. 80 Seventh avenue. The young man had been visiting his cousins, and had taken Bridget out for a row.

Big Woolen Mill Failure.

TROY, N. Y., June 6.—The failure of the Fort Ann Woolen Company, of Fort Ann, Washington county, has been announced. The property of the company was attached, and the mills shut down by the Sheriff. Inability to realize on goods in New York and the general stringency in the money market are given as the cause of the failure. It is thought work will be resumed.

Precautions Against Cholera.

NEW YORK, June 6.—A policeman from every precinct was called to police headquarters this morning to receive from Superintendent Byrnes for distribution a package of printed instructions of the action to be taken in treating and reporting cases of illness supposed to be of choleraic origin.

—The War Department has decided to send the entire corps of cadets from West Point to Chicago, so that the regular army will have a creditable though small representation at the World's Fair.

—Handy & Harman shipped 100,000 ounces of silver, and 35,000 Mexican dollars; and J. W. Seligman & Co., 110,000 ounces of silver on the steamship Havel, which sailed from New York for Europe to-day.

—At the Players' Club, in New York, at 11:45 o'clock last night, Dr. St. Smith said: "While there has been no very marked change in Mr. Booth's condition, it must be admitted that he is slowly failing."

HE HAD KIDNEY DISEASE.

ONLY RELIEF FOUND WAS IN PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

James Harris, an Octogenarian, Found a Cure Long Sought—The Brilliant Saying of T. G. Appleton, Boston's Great Wit.

Not everybody knows that the brilliant saying, "Is life worth living? That depends on the liver," originated with the late Thomas G. Appleton of Boston.

The liver, indeed, makes one see things through rose-colored glasses, or through the smoky glass of disease.

In the weakness of shutting one's eyes to the beginning of liver troubles because they are small ones, misfortune really lies.

The man who neglects plain signs of coming illness, or who does not know what to do when sickness overtakes him—such a man is culpably ignorant.

As he gives a double benefit who gives quickly, so a man on the verge of falling into dyspepsia, nervous prostration or kidney trouble does himself a double benefit who quickly attends to disagreeable sensations in stomach, liver or head; it may be nothing; it may be serious; the risk is large; Paine's celery compound is now so easily obtainable—every druggist of any standing has it—and Paine's celery compound so quickly and permanently relieves sufferers from their ills, that there is no excuse for a man or woman saying "It is too late."

James Harris, of Towanda, Pa., is 81 years old; he has been court crier for 38 years, and is in this way known in every part of his county; he is a man very much respected by all who know him; he has been in poor health for a long time, and his improved condition is the subject of general remark.

JAMES HARRIS.

Clarence T. Kirby is a druggist in Towanda, and he says that when Harris went to him for two bottles of Paine's celery compound last May, before he started for a visit to his daughter in Orwell, he was in a very bad shape, and he would not have been surprised if Mr. Harris had not come back to court again; let Mr. Harris tell his story:

He says: "I have been troubled for years with what the doctors call Bright's disease, and my eight kidney has bothered me terribly; my knees pained me so that I could hardly bend over at all; I had dizziness in my head, although I never was much troubled with headache; I have been so dizzy as to fall off my chair and had to be helped up by others; in these dizzy spells I would apparently see specks flying in the air, and I was troubled very frequently in this manner, both on the street and in the house; I had cramps at night so terribly that I could not get to sleep until 3 o'clock in the morning; I first read of Paine's celery compound about a year ago; having tried nearly all the medicines and consulted several physicians without getting relief I had little confidence in anything, but I spoke to druggist Clarence T. Kirby about it, and I concluded to try it; I purchased two bottles and took it to Orwell with me and used it according to directions; I began to feel better at once; when two bottles were gone I could get no more at Orwell and discontinued its use until I came back to Towanda; but I certainly had less pain in my kidneys, had no cramps, and could sleep and rest nearly all night; when I went into the court house on my return, Judge Peck and all the court officers congratulated me on my improved appearance and told me I was getting young again; and I certainly feel younger now; I am taking my third bottle of Paine's celery compound, and shall continue its use. It has done me more good than all the other medicine I ever took, and to it I owe my present improved condition of health."

American Interests Safe in Corea.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Sec. Gresham states that he has had no information of threatened trouble in Corea which would jeopardize American interests and he believes that there is no cause for apprehension. This leaves a very apparent diversity of opinion between the State and Navy Departments on the matter.

The Alert Sent to Chemulpo.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Navy Department has ordered the United States steamship Alert from Shanghai back to Chemulpo. It appears that there is still need of a United States war ship in Korean waters and the Alert will probably be kept at Chemulpo for some time yet.

Re-appointed by Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Captain J. F. Hassler, of South Dakota, who was the appointment clerk of the Interior Department under Mr. Cleveland's former administration has been re-appointed chief clerk of the Interior Department, vice E. M. Dawson, resigned.

A New York Bank in Trouble.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The Shoe and Leather National Bank has given notice that it will not clear for the Canal Street bank after to-day. This will make it necessary for the Canal Street bank to go into liquidation. Its deposits are about $450,000.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochontaug, R. I.

THE CITY FATHERS.

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF A HOT NIGHT'S SESSION.

The Watchung Avenue Ordinance Goes Through—Madison Avenue Widening—Mr. Frazee Fights for the Workingmen—Mr. VanName Refused a Ladies' Entrance.

The Plainfield common council did n't over-exert itself last night, for the weather was too hot. Most of the business was of the usual monthly routine.

To the fire and building committee was given power to act on the following petitions: From F. A. Pope, to erect a temporary one-story frame shed at 116 West Sixth street. From Charles Suhr, to remove his shop from Peace and Second streets 50 feet down the street. From Hand & Runyon, to remove to the rear of the lot their building at Sixth and Sycamore streets.

The committee on streets was authorized to grant to J. W. VanSickle the privilege of erecting poles to support meat racks in front of his new store.

The committee on fire and buildings was authorized to place fire hydrants on South Second street near the Pond Tool Works, as soon as the water pipes were extended that way.

The pay of assessor Friable for enumerating dogs was raised from 5 to 10 cents a head, and all dogs without ownership were ordered killed and buried out of sight.

Petitions were referred to the committee on streets from citizens asking that North avenue be macadamized from Richmond street to Berckman, and Seventh street from Plainfield avenue to Grant, the petitioners agreeing to contribute a share of the expense.

The matter of taxation on lots 48 and 50 Hillside avenue was referred to the corporation counsel.

No one appeared to oppose the widening of Madison avenue, and the ordinance to widen was adopted on final passage.

An ordinance was adopted on second reading and ordered engrossed and advertised extending the flagged sidewalk and curbing limit on Central avenue to Randolph road.

Councilman Frazee censured the street committee for having made no report on the petition of street laborers that nine hours constitute a day's work. He made an eloquent appeal for the workingmen, and did his best to pass a resolution fixing the 9-hour limit. Mr. Weber alone voted with him, and the matter was referred to the street committee.

Mr. Frost reported progress in the matter of signing the sewerage petition, and called for volunteer effort on the part of citizens to aid in securing signatures.

Mr. Weber presented a petition from oyster dealer VanName urging the granting of permission to erect a frame "ladies' entrance, 9 feet wide and 32 feet deep, adjoining his shop on Front street." Under the ordinance permission for so large a frame structure could not be granted, and the petition was ordered returned to Mr. VanName.

To the committee on streets was referred Charles Dyer's request to erect a swinging sign and post at 231 West Front street.

The committee on streets was authorized to superintend the erection of an automatic fountain for man and beast in front of John J. Goff's saloon, Third and Liberty streets.

Mr. See started to jump on Mr. Frazee of the printing committee for the inexcusable delay in getting out the annual reports. Mr. Frazee put all the blame on city clerk Runyon, who got red in the face and made a stammering excuse. Mr. Frazee said Mr. Runyon had promised 'em "for sure" before this, and Mr. Runyon said he'd have them finished this week. They should have been done long ago, had the work been given to a competent house.

The ordinance to establish a grade on Central avenue was adopted on final passage, as was that to change the name of Broadway and Peace street to Watchung avenue.

The bill of Muhlenberg hospital for the care of Charles Williams was reported by Mr. Bird as not due from the city, and was referred back to the hospital.

They Give Good Clothes to the Needy.

The sewing school of the Third Street mission has closed a successful season. The school was opened Feb. 11, 1893, by Mrs. L. W. Randolph and Miss Annie Angerbauer, assisted by Miss E. Case. It began with thirteen members, and has had in all 19, all being faithful helpers. The school was opened for the purpose of teaching the children of the neighborhood to sew, and that garments might be given to the needy of the mission. The first garments that were made were given to a family who was in great need, and some were made which were put in the closet to meet further necessity. Later some of these were given to pupils of the Sunday-school. It is the earnest desire to help all in need, in the mission, and the school is thankful to those who assisted in the undertaking. The school hopes to begin the work again in the fall, trusting that their little helpers will all be with them.

Hymn—"I am so glad."
Prayer—"Fold our hands".....By the children
Report.....By Miss Angerbauer
71st Psalm.....Recited by eleven little girls
Hymn—"Scatter seeds of kindness."
Piano duet..Netty Chandler and Florence Rugg
Wand drill....Miss Taynor, Beulah Watters, Anna Bell Newman, Fannie Angerbauer and Florence Rugg
May pole exercise—Edna Kelly, queen, crowned by Fannie Angerbauer.
Song—"Oh, Beulah Land."
Refreshments.
The Lord's Prayer.

A WARNING TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

Be Careful Which Real Estate Dealer You Get In the Hands Of.

Suit was brought in justice Nash's court this morning by a man by the name of Mulford, who sells Columbian excursion tickets and does a small business in real estate on North avenue, against J. A. Demarest for $15 which Mulford claims as commission on the house the defendant formerly occupied.

All the real estate dealers in Plainfield had the house on their books, and it was also widely advertised in the papers. J. T. Vail proved himself to be the only live man in the business, by renting it. The man who took it hired it of Vail, signed the leases Vail drew up, and paid Vail the first month's rent in advance. Out of the money Vail, as is the custom, kept the commission.

Now Mulford comes forward with the claim that at one time he tried to rent to this same man this same house. So he brings a suit thinking the one he sues will submit to be buncoed.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

THEY 'RE AT IT AGAIN.

THE SCHOOL BOARD AND ITS SECRET SESSIONS.

At a Star Chamber Meeting Held Nearly a Month Ago Dr. Hurlbut Resigned from Membership and Dr. Richards Was Elected in His Place—What Was Done Last Night —Commencement Preparations — Dr. Probasco Opposes Dancing.

THE PRESS again feels called upon, in the name of the people, to censure the Plainfield board of education for its star chamber methods. The board happened to hold a meeting on the regular monthly date last night, at which reporters were for some reason permitted to be present, and it was learned that another secret session was held May 11, at which an important transaction took place, since on that date the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut resigned from membership and the Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards was elected in his place.

The following resolutions of regret at parting were adopted by the board:

WHEREAS, It has become necessary for Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., to present his resignation to the Board of Education before the close of his term, owing to his anticipated removal from the city, therefore be it

Resolved, By the Board of Education that in severing these ties of membership we express our sincere regret in parting with a member whose interest in our public schools, and devotion to their welfare, cannot be expressed by words, and will long be remembered by both teachers and pupils.

Resolved, That the Board fully recognizes the loss sustained by the withdrawal of so valuable and earnest a worker who for the past ten years has given his time and counsel for the highest advancement of our schools and education.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded upon the minutes of the Board of Education and that a copy duly engrossed and signed by each member of the Board be presented to Dr. Hurlbut.

The resolutions are to be put in elegant shape by one of the world's greatest penartists, Will Smith.

At last night's meeting the following committees on commencement prizes were appointed:

Penmanship—John Ridley, Charles Schipper, W. R. Codington.

Mathematics—W. E. Stillman.

It was reported that the money from the State was more than $800 less than last year, owing to false census returns.

Dr. Probasco reported that he had engaged music for Commencement. He further announced that the board walk at Washington school was dangerous and should be replaced with flagging. The cost would be about $229. He was given power to have the improvement made.

It was suggested that both the Irving and Franklin schools needed painting. The building committee was empowered to paint the one needing it the most.

The committee on buildings was given power to put a new boiler in the Franklin school during vacation.

Two new teachers' desks were ordered purchased for the Stillman school.

Diplomas were ordered for the graduates, at 50 cents apiece.

The matter of tickets was left with principal Maxson.

A communication from the graduates' association was read, asking that the Franklin instead of the Stillman school might be used for the commencement reception, as the Stillman was not considered safe for dancing, in which the graduates wish to indulge.

Mr. Finch could see no harm in having dancing at the reception, but Dr. Probasco spoke very warmly against that recreation, stating that he was greatly opposed to it. The matter was left to be decided at a special meeting later in the month.

The barn of the costly Wadsworth property was rented for select school purposes at the magnificent rental of $5 a month.

A letter of acceptance from W. R. Richards was received and ordered filed.

Sept. 5, was fixed as the date for the opening of the next school term.

The date of the special meeting to be held later, was withheld from the reporters, but to-day clerk Clark kindly informed THE PRESS that it would be next Monday night.

They Are Coming in Night.

Sneden claimed to be out of form, Saturday, and the game he pitched bears out his statement. It is hoped he will be in good trim next Saturday, as the Trentons are the pick of the Pottery league, and it is doubtful if the Crescents have met as strong a team this season.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-7

MR. PATTON'S ACTUAL ASSETS.

One Claim Against Him of $307,000 Worth $960.

The schedules of W. L. Patton and H. L. Saltonstall of this city, bankers and brokers at 96 Broadway, New York, show liabilities $688,037; nominal assets, $853,925; actual assets, $227,500. Of the actual assets $216,382 are pledged with the Manhattan company and Holland Trust company for four loans, in which there is no equity. The total amount lent by the Manhattan company was $347,500, and by the Holland Trust company $35,000. Among the other secured creditors are Cook & Lester, of Norwich, Conn., $15,655; James P. Howard, of Hartford, Conn., $15,191. There is a claim against W. L. Patton for $307,012, which is placed as actually worth $960, and a claim against H. L. Saltonstall for $77,176, the actual value being placed at $700.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

Here's a Chance for Any of You to Be a Post-Office Clerk or Carrier.

In pursuance of the Presidential order of Jan. 5, 1893, extending the Civil Service Law to all free-delivery post-offices, the Civil Service Commission at Washington has ordered that an examination be held in this city on Saturday, June 17, 1893, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m., for the grades of clerk and carrier in the city post-office. Only citizens of the United States can be examined. The age limitations are as follows: For clerk, not under 18 years; for carrier, not under 21 nor over 40; for messenger, stamper, etc., not under 16 nor over 45. No application will be accepted for this examination unless filed with the undersigned, on the proper blank, before 12 o'clock, noon, on June 16, 1893.

The Civil Service Commission takes this opportunity of stating that the examinations are open to all reputable citizens who may desire to enter the postal service, without regard to their political affiliations. All such citizens, whether Democrats or Republicans, or neither, are invited to apply. They shall be examined, graded, and certified with entire impartiality, and wholly without regard to their political views, or to any consideration save their efficiency, as shown by the grades they obtain in the examination. For application blanks, full instructions, and information relative to the duties and salaries of the different positions, apply at the post-office to

G. C. GODOWN,
Sec'y Board of Examiners.

Glad to Come Back.

Theodore Gray, who sold out at a sacrifice most of his real estate and almost all of his household effects and went to Portland, Oregon, some six weeks ago, has returned to Plainfield and seems perfectly happy to get back home. The climate was not at all congenial, and furthermore it was detrimental to Mr. Gray's health. The entire family were in Denver for a week or two, but even there the climate did not agree with them, so Mr. Gray decided to bring his family back to Plainfield.

This Is for Blood.

On the 15th of this month there will be an interesting contest at live pigeons between two well-known crack shots of Elizabeth and Plainfield. On that day there will be a match between Mr. Woodruff, of Elizabeth, and Harry Campbell, at the Campbell's Club House, South Plainfield, at fifteen live birds each for $100 a side. Hurlingham rules to govern. Harry will win of course. There will also be sweepstake shooting the same day at live and inanimate targets.

A Forty Tons Casting at Pond's.

Forty ton of molten iron was "run" in the foundry at Pond's, Saturday afternoon. Both stacks were running, and one pouring alone took nineteen tons. It was a planer table. There is now in course of construction a double lathe-bed, similar to some of the government work recently shipped to the U. S. Arsenal at West Troy. This will require at least nineteen tons of iron at a single pouring.

Effusive Editors.

[Remarked by The Bound Brook Chronicle.]

It is not frequent that the Elizabeth Journal breaks out into poetry, nor do we often have so perfect a day for decorating the graves of our heroes as that given us this year. The latter was an ample excuse for the former, which appeared as follows in Wednesday evening's issue:

Oh, pretty May, delightful May, to give us such a beautiful day as that you gave us yesterday. We cannot say, capricious May, that we expected such a day. For since the very first, oh, May, you've given every kind of day except the lovely, lovely day you kindly gave us yesterday.

Since the above was put in type we find that the poetic storm center is moving westward and struck the Plainfield Press office last evening. It broke out in "scare" headlines [which are quoted in full as the Chronicle's tribute to genius].

The June number of Lauter's Musical and Home Journal is at hand and contains the words and music of the following choice selections: "Last Night", by Halfdon Kjeruff; "How Fair Art Thou", by H. Weidt, Op. 36; "The Old Guard", by Paul Rodney; "Angel's Dream", by G. Ludovic, Op. 44; "La Seduisante", by G. Lange, Op. 155. It can be obtained free upon application at the piano and organ warerooms of S. D. Lauter Co., 657 and 659 Broad street.

What Their Home Paper Says.

(Paterson Daily Call.)

William Henderson, the well-known athlete of this city, went to Plainfield on Saturday with the Paterson team and pitched a great game, the Crescents only getting six hits from his delivery. The game resulted in an easy victory for the Patersons.

OH WHAT FAKERS!

GREAT YARNS THEY TELL OF THEIR PRANKS.

The Rutgers College students who made Plainfield lively last Friday night stuffed a New Brunswick Home News reporter full of nonsense about their trip, as witness the following:

The Freshman Class at Rutgers College, as mentioned in yesterday's issue, held their supper last night at Plainfield. The announcement in our paper awakened the Sophs, who had been unable to ascertain where the supper would be held. Every Freshman was watched all the day and towards evening, as they made preparations to leave town, the Sophs became even more scrutinizing and suspicious of every move of the Freshmen.

The jubilant Freshmen left just before seven o'clock in a stage and large wagonette from McDede's, starting from the top of the hill over the river. They were about 40 strong, and the neighborhood was fully aware of their presence and departure by the loud and long continued yelling and blowing of fish horns, in which the forty engaged. But they were indiscreet in so doing, for it only aroused the ire of the Sophs, who determined that the Freshmen would not eat their supper in peace. About fifteen Sophs got a wagonette and hastened after their fleeting rivals to the scene of festivities.

The Freshmen arrived first and went to the Hotel Grenada, where the supper was held. They were shown to a waiting room, and as some one gave the word that the Sophs were going by, about twenty climbed out through a window on to a balcony to assure the Sophs of their most distinguished consideration. Their intentions were all right, but the balcony objected to rough usage and began to weaken. It cracked and cracked, and the Freshmen, in utter disrespect of the Sophs, and feeling only for their own good, tumbled back through the window as expeditiously as circumstances would allow. They all got back safely, and the balcony all this time was at an angle of 45 degrees, and within a few feet of the ground. The Sophs had the laugh.

Supper was now ready and after giving word to the drivers to watch the Sophs, the Freshmen at once proceeded to accomplish the purpose of their visit. They soon got outside of an elaborate menu and then under the direction of John E. Jennings, president of the class, the following toasts were given: "Class of '96", E. T. Meeker; "The Faculty", J. A. Johnston; "The Ladies", A. F. Kilmer; "The Dear Departed", G. M. Ridgeway; "Class of '95", G. S. Hobart; "Our Athletes", C. S. Pool; "Class of '97", H. D. W. Tremper; "Old Rutgers", W. A. Sherwood.

The Sophs meanwhile had not been idle. They hoodwinked the drivers of the Freshmen stage, and succeeded in taking the nuts off a front and back wheel. Their action was not known to the Freshmen until the latter were just ready to start for home. They then heard the derisive shouts of the Sophs, and were sorely troubled. But they made friends with a policeman, who broke in an old shed for them and they wrenched the nuts from an old coal cart. This served the purpose, and the Freshmen at 3:30 o'clock started for home.

The New "American" and Its Prodigal Daughter.

The new American theater, which opened a short time in New York with a new play entitled "The Prodigal Daughter", has already been extremely successful.

The theater, which is on the corner of Eighth avenue and Forty-first street, is one of the largest and best equipped in the city. The auditorium is arranged according to the most approved plans, and is lighted by hidden electric lamps so placed that the house is flooded with brilliancy in a way that seems almost magical. It is furnished in luxurious style. The seating capacity is about nineteen hundred.

The stage is extremely large, the dimensions being 78 by 56 feet. It is as nearly fireproof as it can be made.

"The Prodigal Daughter", the play now running, is an English sporting drama by Henry Pettitt and Sir Augustus Harris, which was first brought out at the Drury Lane theater, London. Although this play is described as a sporting drama, and although one of the most sensational scenes is a steeplechase at the celebrated Aintree course, the scene is really only an incident, and the main plot of the piece centers around an interesting love story that has been cleverly worked in.

The cast is most excellent, and everything that can add to the beauty of the production has been done by manager French. The stage setting is magnificent, and those who enjoy an interesting play with perfect accessories, should be sure to see "The Prodigal Daughter".

The Hon. Mr. Martine Is Not a Candidate.

For the information of the Democratic slate-makers of Elizabeth in particular, and the leading politicians of Union county in general, THE PRESS would state, with authority, that James E. Martine of Plainfield is in no sense a candidate for State Senator, nor can he be.

Prevention Better Than Cure.

Many persons are afflicted with skin eruptions, boils or ulcers. BRANDRETH'S PILLS taken freely will in a short time effect a complete cure of all such troubles. Ulcers of long standing have been cured by them. Carbuncles have been checked in their incipiency by them. The worst fever sores, bed sores, and the like have been driven from the skin by them. Only begin in time and a few of BRANDRETH'S PILLS will prevent many a sickness. BRANDRETH'S PILLS are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless and safe to take at any time.

AN EXTRA SESSION SURE

The President Says it Will Be About September 1.

A NEW CHINESE ORDER ENFORCED

Practical Advice Given By President Cleveland in Regard to Financial Affairs—One Way in Which Chinamen Sneaked in this Country to Be Stopped.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The announcement of the President that he had determined to call an extra session of Congress not earlier than the 1st nor later than the 15th of September, unless unexpected contingencies should necessitate an earlier meeting, is causing much comment in this city to-day. Some are of the opinion that the President is holding the time off too long, while others say, and have said all along, that no extra session is necessary. It is the general opinion, however, that the course of the administration is the proper one.

In his statement the President further said: "While there has been no mystery nor secrecy in regard to my intention in this matter, I think it not amiss that our people should be informed authoritatively that the time is at hand when their representatives in Congress will be called upon to deal with a financial condition which is the only menace to the country's welfare and prosperity.

"It is well for the people to take up the subject for themselves and arrive at their own conclusions as to the merits of a financial policy which obliges us to purchase idle silver bullion with gold taken from our reserve. One does not need the eye of a financier to see that this gold thus subtracted from the government's stock is eagerly seized by other nations for the purpose of strengthening their credit at our expense.

"It does not need the art of statesmanship to detect the danger that awaits upon the continuance of this operation. Already the timidity of capital is painfully apparent, and none of us can fail to see that fear and apprehension in monetary circles will ultimately bring suffering to every humble home in our land.

"I think that between now and the meeting of Congress much depends upon the action of those engaged in financial operations and business enterprises. Our vast national resources and credit are abundantly sufficient to justify them in the utmost faith and confidence. If instead of being frightened, they are conservative, and instead of gloomily anticipating immediate disaster they contribute their share of hope and steadiness they will perform a patriotic duty and at the same time protect their own interests. The things just now needed are coolness and calmness in financial circles and study and reflection among our people."

TO STOP A CHINAMANS TRICK

Custom Officers Will Sign No More Certificates of Residence.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Treasury Department for some time has believed that Chinese were using affidavits of authentication for illegitimate purposes. Some taken out here were sent abroad and sold to Chinamen; in other cases the Chinamen would dispose of them after reaching China and in both cases the law was violated. Under the law Chinese merchants who desire to leave this country to visit China have heretofore been furnished with these papers, which, when endorsed by the United States consul at the port of debarkation, entitles him to reenter the United States.

Acting Secretary Hamlin thinks the abuse should be stopped and has addressed to the collector at Boston the following letter on the subject:

"Under date of April 19th last the States Consul at Hong Kong transmitted to the Department of State affidavits submitted to him for authentication, and which appeared to have been issued at your port September 2, 1892, and February 4, 1893, over the signature of Deputy Collector J. L. Swift, to Lee Sing and Yee Mon Yip, respectively, alleged to be Chinese persons residing in Boston, who left the United States with the intention of returning thereto.

"The Consul declined to endorse said documents for the reason that it was evident that the persons presenting the same had never been in the United States, as was shown by their inability to answer any questions relating to this country, notwithstanding the fact that the affidavits stated that they had resided her for a number of years. It is evident from the statements made that the persons presenting the affidavits to the Consul are not those to whom they were issued at Boston.

"In view of the misuse of papers thus prepared in the United States the Department is of the opinion that it is not advisable for collectors of customs or their deputies to certify the same, and you are requested to give the necessary instructions to discontinue the practice at your port."

Railroad Accident in Hungary.

BUDAPESTH, June 6.—A calamitous railway accident has happened near the town of Kecskemet, Hungary, about fifty miles southeast of this city. The Budapesth express train ran off the track and the train became a total wreck. Eight carriages were smashed, and twenty-two of the passengers injured, some of them mortally.

Three New Typhus Cases.

NEW YORK, June 6.—There were three new cases of typhus fever reported this morning—Michael Rogan, Gelrich Raubreeat and Kate Connelly. All were removed from Belleyue to North Brother Island.

His No Hot-house Creed.

The Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards in the midst of his sermon last Sunday caused some sensation by referring emphatically to the Briggs trouble.

Dr. Richards said he wanted a religion that thrived in the open air. He wanted no hot-house religion that like a tree had to stop growing or smash the house. He should have more to say on the Briggs matter in a couple of weeks, if he lived that long.

GERMANY IS RESOLUTE

Bound to Suppress All Hints Even at Giving Up Alsace.

METZ, June 6.—At a meeting in this city a scene occurred which showed the resolution of the German government to suppress any agitation in favor of the severance of Alsace-Lorraine from Germany. A Socialist named Schleicher was presiding at a meeting of Socialists. He began to read a letter from Herr Liebnecht, the well-known Social Democratic leader, on the restoration of the freedom of the Reichsland.

The police authorities interfered and forbade Schleicher to proceed with the letter. The audience at one protested, and the meeting became disorderly. The police thereupon dispersed the assemblage, and arrested several persons who were most strenuous in their objections to police interference.

CHOLERA PANIC IN ASIA

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 6.—Reports from several cities of Asiatic Turkey say that the cholera has appeared in many districts and is spreading rapidly. Along the lower Tigris and the Shat-el-Arab river people are dying by the thousands. Whole villages have been deserted by those fleeing from the pest.

The panic has become so great that few families wait to bury their dead, or even to nurse the sick, but flee to the next towns to escape the infection. The fugitives from stricken towns are spreading the epidemic with appaling rapidity.

The Machias Ready for the Test.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 6.—The United States gunboat Machias is anchored here. She came from Bath yesterday. On the trip the engines worked well and the boat made 12 knots easily, the engines making 150 revolutions. The official trial will probably take place Thursday, and there seems little doubt that she will exceed the required speed of 13 knots.

Schaffner Drowned Himself.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Yesterday's developments in the search for Herman Schaffner, head of the suspended banking firm of Herman Schaffner & Co., who has been missing since Friday afternoon, tend to prove that he is the man who drowned himself in the lake off Diversey street. The police are dragging for his body.

NOTICE.

I Katie Cannon, of the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, of full age, do in the presence of Wm. A. Coddington, of my own free will and accord, deny that I ever said to any person or persons that Miss Katie O'Rourke was intoxicated, or that she was drunk or that she had been drinking whiskey; but I did say that I have smelt whiskey, but I don't know where it came from. I have known Miss O'Rourke for over one year, and cannot say anything detrimental to either her character or reputation. If any one has said that I said things contrary to the above, they are herein denied by me as being false and untrue.

Signed in the presence of Wm. A. Coddington, this 29th day of May, 1893.

NOT SHOWN AT THE FAIR.

Howard Fielding Calls Attention to a Neglected Industry.

An American Horse Trader in Full Operation Would Please the Foreigner, and Would Help Him to Understand Our Business Principles.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

I have been grieved to learn by the report of an old acquaintance, who has been to Chicago and escaped with his life, that one of the most venerable of American industries, perhaps better fitted than any other to exhibit the true character of our people, has no place at the fair.

Virgil P. Perkins, of Hancock county, Me., was my informant. He comes of the hard old stock that thrives in a soil which furnishes but scanty support to juniper bushes. Virgil is fifty years old; looks twenty years older, and will doubtless continue to do so for half a century at least.

Virgil looks like his father; and I knew that he was coming up to my office some minutes before he appeared, because on glancing out of my window I saw most of the green goods and confidence men with whom I am acquainted standing on the sidewalk. I went down and told them that the old man had been to Chicago, and they turned away, muttering: "Too late; too late."

After a few introductory words concerning the amount necessary to get him back home he called my attention to the omission in the plans of the fair. There were all sorts of trades and occupations, he said, except the good old business that he had been brought up in.

"What's that?" I asked.

"Hoss tradin'," said he. "I was a good deal disappointed not to see it. I'd read in the paper about the way they got the fair, an' I'd said: 'Them fellers is hoss traders, born an' bred, an' they'll give the finest hoss tradin' exhibition ever seen.' But there wa'n't a sign of it."

I was surprised.

"Tain't for lack of ability, nuther," he continued, "for I met fellers out there that could start with the echo of jackass' bray an' trade it up to a stock-farm. The man that keep boarders—place where I put up—was as good a man as I want to see in that line; yes, an' better 'n I ever want to see agin. Now if they'd a-had that feller operatin' in the fair grounds with a couple o' them car hosses to begin on every mornin', they'd a-had a show worth goin' miles to see."

"This is indeed an oversight," said I, "but perhaps it is not too late to rectify it. How would you like to be put in charge of such an exhibit?"

The old man got upon his feet so hastily that I could hear his vertebræ clash together as he straightened his back.

"How would I like it!" he exclaimed. "Howard, if you can fix that thing up, there's a fortin' in it for you an' me."

"We should have to keep the fair managers from playing up against the game," said I, thoughtfully.

"Suppos'in' they did," Virgil rejoined, "we should lose somethin' to them, of course, but with all them foreigners there we could get it all back an' more. Say, I've got an old mule down on my place that I could take out there an' sell for the original animal that Columbus rode away from the Spanish court on. That wouldn't be nothin' alongside of some of the relics that are exhibited out there."

"It's a good idea," said I. "We will see what can be done to get the job for you."

"You can write to the authorities that I'm well up in the business," said he. "Tell 'em the story about that kickin' hoss I sold your uncle Bill back in '75."

"Yes," said I. "Certainly I should remember that. I got a thousand dollars out of the estate."

"It wa'n't no fault o' mine that anything happened to him," Virgil protested. "I never sold a kickin' hoss in my life without mentionin' that he had bad habits. I remember well how it happened. Bill came to my place to look the hoss over. I led him out on the barn floor."

"'He's called a kicker,' says I, 'but he ain't never kicked me.'

"Bill was standin' at the door as I said it, and he just happened to be lookin' out. I was passin' round behind the hoss an' just as I uttered them words he sent out both his hind feet. On of 'em hit me in the chest; an' when the doctor looked me over arterwards he found my red flannel chest protector stickin' to the inside of a porous plaster I'd been wearin' between my shoulders. How it got there I don't pretend to say.

"The other foot hit me on the left arm an' broke it just below the shoulder. But I never let on to Bill that anything had happened. I jest leaned up agin the side of the barn an' kind o' got my breath, an' then I went on harnessing the horse. Of course I couldn't use my left arm, an' I tell you it was hard work to keep Bill from noticin' that I was doin' it with one hand.

"Bill liked the looks of the hoss, an' he paid me pretty nigh the figure I asked. I didn't [illegible] about a few dollars, bein' nat'[illegible] something done for my arm as soon as possible. When Bill drove away I called in Dr. Haskins an' he set the arm. Bill had Haskins twice arter that, I remember, and the minister once."

"How about that laughing horse?" I asked. "I've heard something about such a beast."

"You mean the big sorrel I bought up back o' Bangor. He was a queer critter an' no mistake. I got him of an Oldtown Injun for a gallon o' rum worth forty cents an' a pistol that wouldn't go off. He looked pretty well, too, considerin' that he wasn't exactly in the springtime o' life, bein' on the shady side o' twenty, I should judge, an' so thin that you could pretty nigh see through him with a strong light on the other side.

"Arter payin' the expenses of gettin' him home to Goose Falls he stood me about four dollars in money. I fed him on filin' stuff for a few days, an' when he had swelled up considerable I offered him to a travelin' man who happened to lose his hoss in Clam Cove, which is next to the Falls. Who got the drummer's hoss, I dunno. The feller came over to my house about six o'clock one evenin', hearin' that I had a hoss to sell. The time was favorable for a trade. The shadders of evening were fallin' an' as they fell my chances o' sellin' a hoss like that would nat'rally improve.

"'He's ten years old this spring,' says I, as we walked up to the stall. Jes' as I said them words the hoss stuck his head out of his stall an' laughed. He did, for a fact. I'd hearn tell of a hoss laugh, but this was my first personal acquaintance with one. It sorter jarred on my nerves, bein', so to speak, a reflection on my veracity.

"But I made the best on't, an' led the horse out on the barn floor. I began to make a few general remarks on the good points of the beast. There was a curry-comb lyin' on a beam an' all of a sudden the hoss grabbed the handle of it with his teeth an' held it out toward me. I stood paralyzed. Then the hoss brushed my hat off, and began to comb my hair.

"'That's a touchin' appeal,' says the drummer. 'He knows what he wants.'

"I was gettin' mighty nervous, never havin' seen a dumb beast act that way before. I judged it was better to get him back into his stall as soon as possible.

"'Come, Beauty,' says I, grabbin' the halter, 'it's time you had your oats.'

"Well, sir, at the sound o' the word oats that hoss fell dead in his tracks. He rolled over on his back an' stuck all four legs up in the air as stiff as table legs. I tried to get him up but it was no use.

"'You ought to have broken it to him gently,' said the drummer. 'He died o' joy.'

"And then he laughed. At this the dead hoss opened one eye an' his mouth, an' began to laugh, too. I began to think I was goin' out of my head. For over an hour I worked on that critter tryin' to get him on his legs, an' I couldn't do it. Then the drummer gave it up an' went away. Jes' as soon as the man was out o' sight, the hoss got on his feet agin as well as ever.

"I didn't call the drummer back, but I sat down an' ruminated. I come pretty nigh figurin' the thing out as it was. Ducello's circus had been up Bangor way a week or two before, an' I'd heard about a trick hoss bein' with the show. He was a sort o' clown hoss, an' from a description I'd got o' him I came to the conclusion that this was the identical animile. I learned afterwards that the hoss had got sick, the circus people had sold him, and the Injun had stole him.

"Now, what was I goin' to do with him? I don't believe in harborin' stolen property an' if the man who bought the hoss of Ducello had come to me with proper legal authority I'd have returned him. But while waitin' for him to come, it seemed best to turn an honest penny. Well, sir, to make a long story short, I sold that hoss to nineteen different men. Jes' as soon as a man had bought him, I got the feller to hitch up, an' as he was about to drive away, I dropped a remark about oats.

"'He's used to havin' plenty of oats,' I'd say, an' down would go the hoss in his tracks. That was a trick he'd learned. Nothin' could make him get up while the other feller was in sight; an' so I'd jes' nat'rally buy the body for a couple o' dollars, an' be anywhere from forty to fifty dollars ahead o' the trade. But the nineteenth time I got stuck. I lost the two dollars. When the stranger moved slowly away, bein' poorer an' wiser to the amount o' fifteen dollars an' a bag o' corn, Beauty didn't get up. He had done his trick for the last time. Yes, sir, I'd been swindled right in my own dooryard. I'd paid two dollars for a dead horse."

However, I do not think that this small error on the part of Mr. Perkins should stand in the way of his selection for the post of official horse-trader at the fair. I have forwarded a statement of his qualifications to Chicago, where, if anywhere, they should be appreciated.

NOT SHOWN AT THE FAIR.

An American Horse Trader in Full Operation Would Please the Foreigner, and Would Help Him to Understand Our Business Principles.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

I have been grieved to learn by the report of an old acquaintance, who has been to Chicago and escaped with his life, that one of the most venerable of American industries, perhaps better fitted than any other to exhibit the true character of our people, has no place at the fair.

Virgil P. Perkins, of Hancock county, Me., was my informant. He comes of the hard old stock that thrives in a soil which furnishes but scanty support to juniper bushes. Virgil is fifty years old; looks twenty years older, and will doubtless continue to do so for half a century at least.

Virgil looks like his father; and I knew that he was coming up to my office some minutes before he appeared, because on glancing out of my window I saw most of the green goods and confidence men with whom I am acquainted standing on the sidewalk. I went down and told them that the old man had been to Chicago, and they turned away, muttering: "Too late; too late."

After a few introductory words concerning the amount necessary to get him back home he called my attention to the omission in the plans of the fair. There were all sorts of trades and occupations, he said, except the good old business that he had been brought up in.

"What's that?" I asked.

"Hoss tradin'," said he. "I was a good deal disappointed not to see it. I'd read in the paper about the way they got the fair, an' I'd said: 'Them fellers is hoss traders, born an' bred, an' they'll give the finest hoss tradin' exhibition ever seen.' But there wa'n't a sign of it."

I was surprised.

"Tain't for lack of ability, nuther," he continued, "for I met fellers out there that could start with the echo of jackass' bray an' trade it up to a stock-farm. The man that kep' boarders—place where I put up—was as good a man as I want to see in that line; yes, an' better 'n I ever want to see agin. Now if they'd a-had that feller operatin' in the fair grounds with a couple o' them car hosses to begin on every mornin', they'd a-had a show worth goin' miles to see."

"This is indeed an oversight," said I, "but perhaps it is not too late to rectify it. How would you like to be put in charge of such an exhibit?"

The old man got upon his feet so hastily that I could hear his vertebræ clash together as he straightened his back.

"How would I like it!" he exclaimed. "Howard, if you can fix that thing up, there's a fortin' in it for you an' me."

"We should have to keep the fair managers from playing up against the game," said I, thoughtfully.

"Supposin' they did," Virgil rejoined, "we should lose somethin' to them, of course, but with all them foreigners there we could get it all back an' more. Say, I've got an old mule down on my place that I could take out there an' sell for the original animal that Columbus rode away from the Spanish court on. That wouldn't be nothin' alongside of some of the relics that are exhibited out there."

"It's a good idea," said I. "We will see what can be done to get the job for you."

"You can write to the authorities that I'm well up in the business," said he. "Tell 'em the story about that kickin' hoss I sold your uncle Bill back in '75."

"Yes," said I. "Certainly I should remember that. I got a thousand dollars out of the estate."

"It wa'n't no fault o' mine that anything happened to him," Virgil protested. "I never sold a kickin' hoss in my life without mentionin' that he had bad habits. I remember well how it happened. Bill came to my place to look the hoss over. I led him out on the barn floor."

"'He's called a kicker,' says I, 'but he ain't never kicked me.'

"Bill was standin' at the door as I said it, and he just happened to be lookin' out. I was passin' round behind the hoss an' just as I uttered them words he sent out both his hind feet. On of 'em hit me in the chest; an' when the doctor locked me over arterwards he found my red flannel chest protector stickin' to the inside of a porous plaster I'd been wearin' between my shoulders. How it got there I don't pretend to say.

"The other foot hit me on the left arm an' broke it just below the shoulder. But I never let on to Bill that anything had happened. I jest leaned up agin the side of the barn an' kind o' got my breath, an' then I went on harnessing the horse. Of course I couldn't use my left arm, an' I tell you it was hard work to keep Bill from noticin' that I was doin' it with one hand.

"Bill liked the looks of the hoss, an' he paid me pretty nigh the figure I asked. I didn't have to say much about a few dollars, bein' nat'rally short o' hoss, but I did say that I'd have to have something done for my arm as soon as possible. When Bill drove away I called in Dr. Haskins an' he set the arm. Bill had Haskins twice arter that, I remember, and the minister once."

"How about that laughing horse?" I asked. "I've heard something about such a beast."

"You mean the big sorrel I bought up back o' Bangor. He was a queer critter an' no mistake. I got him of an Oldtown Injun for a gallon o' rum worth forty cents an' a pistol that wouldn't go off. He looked pretty well, too, considerin' that he wasn't exactly in the springtime o' life, bein' on the shady side o' twenty. I should judge, an' so thin that you could pretty nigh see through a hoss with a strong light on the other side.

"Arter payin' the expenses of gettin' him home to Goose Falls he stood me about four dollars in money. I fed him on fillin' stuff for a few days, an' when he had swelled up considerable I offered him to a travelin' man who happened to lose his hoss in Clam Cove, which is next to the Falls. Who got the drummer's hoss, I dunno. The feller came over to my house about six o'clock one evenin', hearin' that I had a hoss to sell. The time was favorable for a trade. The shadders of evening were fallin' an' as they fell my chances o' sellin' a hoss like that would nat'rally improve.

"'He's ten years old this spring,' says I, as we walked up to the stall. Jes' as I said them words the hoss stuck his head out of his stall an' laughed. He did, for a fact. I'd hearn tell of a hoss laugh, but this was my first personal acquaintance with one. It sorter jarred on my nerves, bein', so to speak, a reflection on my veracity.

"But I made the best on't, an' led the horse out on the barn floor. I began to make a few general remarks on the good points of the beast. There was a curry-comb lyin' on a beam an' all of a sudden the hoss grabbed the handle of it with his teeth an' held it out toward me. I stood paralyzed. Then the hoss brushed my hat off, and began to comb my hair.

"'That's a touchin' appeal,' says the drummer. 'He knows what he wants.'

"I was gettin' mighty nervous, never havin' seen a dumb beast act that way before. I judged it was better to get him back into his stall as soon as possible.

"'Come, Beauty,' says I, grabbin' the halter, 'it's time you had your oats.'

"Well, sir, at the sound o' the word oats that hoss fell dead in his tracks. He rolled over on his back an' stuck all four legs up in the air as stiff as table legs. I tried to get him up but it was no use.

"'You ought to have broken it to him gently,' said the drummer. 'He died o' joy.'

"And then he laughed. At this the dead hoss opened one eye an' his mouth, an' began to laugh, too. I began to think I was goin' out o' my head. For over an hour I worked on that critter tryin' to get him on his legs, an' I couldn't do it. Then the drummer gave it up an' went away. Jes' as soon as the man was out o' sight, the hoss got on his feet agin as well as ever.

"I didn't call the drummer back, but I sat down an' ruminated. I come pretty nigh figurin' the thing out as it was. Ducello's circus had been up Bangor way a week or two before, an' I'd heard about a trick hoss bein' with the show. He was a sort o' clown hoss, an' from a description I'd got o' him I came to the conclusion that this was the identical animile. I learned afterwards that the hoss had got sick, the circus people had sold him, and the Injun had stole him.

"Now, what was I goin' to do with him? I don't believe in harborin' stolen property an' if the man who bought the hoss of Ducello had come to me with proper legal authority I'd have returned him. But while waitin' for him to come, it seemed best to turn an honest penny. Well, sir, to make a long story short, I sold that hoss to nineteen different men. Jes' as soon as a man had bought him, I got the feller to hitch up, an' as he was about to drive away, I dropped a remark about oats.

"'He's used to havin' plenty of oats,' I'd say, an' down would go the hoss in his tracks. That was a trick he'd learned. Nothin' could make him get up while the other feller was in sight; an' so I'd jes' nat'rally buy the body for a couple o' dollars, an' be anywhere from forty to fifty dollars ahead o' the trade. But the nineteenth time I got stuck. I lost the two dollars. When the stranger moved slowly away, bein' poorer an' wiser to the amount o' fifteen dollars an' a bag o' corn, Beauty didn't get up. He had done his trick for the last time. Yes, sir, I'd been swindled right in my own dooryard. I'd paid two dollars for a dead horse."

However, I do not think that this small error on the part of Mr. Perkins should stand in the way of his selection for the post of official horse-trader at the fair. I have forwarded a statement of his qualifications to Chicago, where, if anywhere, they should be appreciated. HOWARD FIELDING.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL

Examining the First Witness For the Prosecution.

THOMAS KIERNAN ON THE STAND

The Jurors Returned from Fall River Early Last Evening—Mr. Moody's Opening Address for the Prosecution—Miss Borden Faints at Its Conclusion.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 7.—The court house was again packed this morning when court opened. Miss Borden and her attorneys were in their places promptly at 9 o'clock, and shortly after that time, Thomas Kiernan, the first witness for the prosecution, began to give his testimony.

When court convened yesterday the jury heard the indictments against Miss Borden read as soon as Court was formally opened, and were charged as "good men and true, stand together and hearken to your evidence."

Mr. Moody then stepped to the railing and opened the government's case. He said that on the fourth day of August last an old man and an old woman, without a known enemy in the world, were stricken down by an unknown assassin. In the prisoner's dock was a young woman, a daughter of the murdered people, a young woman of good social standing, charged with the crime of murdering these people. It was his purpose to put the story of the crime in the easiest manner possible.

Mr. Moody got down to the early morning of the day upon which the tragedy was enacted. He told at what hours the different members of the household had arisen and what had passed between them immediately after that.

The speaker called attention to the discrepancies that existed in the stories told by the prisoner. In brief, they were that she told one story, in which she said that while in the barn she had heard a noise in the house, something in the nature of an alarm.

She rushed into the house and discovered the body of her father. The other story was that she had been in the loft of the barn and had discovered the body of her father when she entered the house to get her hat.

She had told, too, that she had gone to the barn for the purpose of getting some lead from which to make sinkers. Another story was that she had gone there for a piece of iron with which to repair a screen.

Mr. Moody unrolled a bundle and disclosed the clothing Miss Borden had worn on the morning her father and mother were killed. He held them up for inspection by the jury. There was no trace of blood on any of the garments on except the front of the skirt, where there was a minute particle of blood.

Two axes and three hatchets were shown to the jury.

"There was no evidence of a struggle anywhere in the house," Mr. Moody went on, "not an article anywhere in the house had been disturbed. The one who committed the murder was familiar with the premises.

From the middle until the end of the opening address Miss Borden leaned back in her chair and never moved a muscle. She put the fan up over her face, and holding her head forward, pressed it close against her forehead and held it there.

Her eyes were closed and she appeared as if asleep. Not by any motion did she betray that she was conscious of what was going on about her.

Just as Mr. Moody had ceased to speak and taken one step toward his seat, there was a noise where Miss Borden was sitting. She had fainted.

The Rev. Mr. Jubb hurried over to her and placed a bottle of smelling salts to her nostrils. Deputy Sheriff Kirby and another officer hurried after some cracked ice.

The woman's face grew white. The officers returned with ice in a moment, and a couple of minutes later Miss Borden began to recover.

The jury was allowed a recess of about five minutes, and when it had returned to the box she had recovered her usual manner and bearing.

When the jury returned the case was opened by the Government putting on its first witness in the person of Thomas Kiernan.

Mr. Knowlton then asked the court to allow the jury to take a view of the Borden premises. Gov. Robinson, who consulted Miss Borden in regard to accompanying the jury to Fall River, announced that his client waived her rights in the matter and would not go with them.

Messrs. Hodges, Brown, Nickerson and Arnold of the Deputy Sheriffs were designated by the Sheriff to look after the jury, and Messrs. Moody, for the commonwealth, and Mr. Jennings, for the defense, were designated as representing counsel.

AT FALL RIVER

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 7.—Early last evening, the jury in the Borden case, having viewed the place where Borden was murdered, returned to New Bedford.

The jurors arrived shortly after noon. About 1.30 o'clock the jury walked to the Borden house and were admitted with the four men who had charge of them. Also accompanying them into the house were District Attorneys Knowlton and Moody, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Jennings.

Assistant Marshall Fleet and Lieut. Edson controlled a posse of men who had been about the house governing the crowds of curiosity seekers. When the jurors had locked over the house and the immediate surroundings they inspected the building and premises outside, and walked to the places where Mr. Borden was known to have been preceding his death.

THE THUNDER STORM

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 7.—The most serious result of yesterday's storm was a fire which was caused by lightning striking one of the buildings of the New York Warehousing company, on the water front. The structure is of brick, five stories in height with a frontage of 500 feet and a depth of 250 feet, and divided into four parts designated A, B, C and D. In the buildings was stored $1,200,000 worth of cotton.

The lightning struck the roof of building D and an instant later a sheet of flame shot up into the air followed by a dense volume of smoke. A second and third alarm were sent out which brought the nine engines and the three trucks of the district, and also the fire boats. The firemen confined the fire to building D as the four compartments are divided by fire proof walls.

The loss, it is estimated, will reach $100,000 which is fully covered by insurance.

Lightning struck in several other places in this city and in New York, doing some damage.

The Duke Will Visit the President.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The programme of the movements of the Duke of Veragua in the near future as telegraphed from Chicago, is said at the Spanish Legation in this city to be incomplete. Before the Duke sails from New York they expect him to come to Washington and make his adieu to President and Mrs. Cleveland. The Duke will remain in Washington at that time only long enough to enable him to properly perform that function.

Married at Yonkers.

YONKERS, N. Y., June 7.—Marion Scribner, daughter of ex-Secretary of State G. Hilton Scribner, of Yonkers, was married yesterday at St. Paul's Church to Rev. Ernest De Fomery Miel, assistant rector of St. George's Church, New York. Rev. Charles Miel, of Philadelphia, father of the groom, officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Atcheson, of Middletown, N. Y., and Rev. Benjamin Davis, of Easton, Pa.

Appoints a Republican Judge.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 7.—Gov. Morris sent to the House the name of Milton A. Shumway, Republican, of Killingly, to be a judge of the Superior Court for eight years from January 14, 1894, to succeed Judge Hamersley. The statute requiring drunkards to tell where they bought their liquor was repealed.

New Corporations.

ALBANY, June 7.—These new companies have been incorporated: F. M. Mills Company of Elmira, to manufacture furniture and specialties in wood and metals, capital $25,000; East End Telephone Company, to construct and maintain a telephone line between neighboring villages in Suffolk county, capital $500.

Harvard Crew to Start Saturday.

BOSTON, June 7.—The Harvard crew will go to New London on Saturday of this week, and not on Wednesday, as has been reported. Just who will be taken as substitutes, and whether or not Harry Keyes will coach the men, has not yet been decided.

A Tall Chimney Falls Over.

PASSAIC, N. J., June 7.—A 150 foot brick chimney in the yard of Dundee Chemical Works fell carrying away one corner of the mill and smashing several freight cars which stood on a railroad track. It will cost $6,000 to rebuild.

Opposed to an Italian Band.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 7.—Founder James A. Bradley, who still owns and controls all the beach front at this place, has gone on record as being opposed to having an Italian band give concerts on the beach.

A Peddler's Corpse Found.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 7.—The corpse of William F. Smith, an aged peddler of essences, who disappeared May 5 after threatening to make way with himself, was found in the outlet yesterday.

THE NEWS FROM HAWAII

What Has Been Going on in Our-to-Be New State.

SPRECKLES STILL VERY ACTIVE

Political Affairs Quiet for the Present—Provisional Government Embarrassed for Money—New Propositions Talked Of—A Prince Coming to the Fair.

HONOLULU, May 30, via San Francisco, June 7.—Affairs political have quieted considerable during the past five days. The Nordhoff affair has been dropped by the Provisional government. Claus Spreckles created a mild sensation on May 29th by demanding immediate payment of $95,000, owed to him by the government, but without waiting a reply left the same day to inspect a plantation at Hawaii. Spreckles seem to be the most powerful antagonist the Provisional government has at present. He is making a vigorous campaign against annexation.

It is generally admitted that the resignation of Minister of Finance Porter was due to the influence of Spreckles in the hope that the government would be embarrassed.

Minister Damon stated that the government would have no trouble in paying Spreckels the debt, although at this time of the year the government's finances are low, as taxes do not begin to come until fall. On this account the government is embarrassed to a certain extent.

For some days the officers of the Provisional government have had under consideration instructions to be sent to Minister Thurston about a treaty of annexation. It has decided to instruct Mr. Thurston to ask, among other things, that the control of government lands be left to the Hawaiian government to be disposed of under laws similar to the United States homestead laws. Also that the United States take up $000,000 Hawaiian silver coinage and coin it into American money.

The labor question is also under discussion and the policy of asking that the labor laws of the United States be suspended for a period of four years as regards their application to Hawaii is talked of. When the news came that Minister Blount would receive instructions to negotiate a treaty here, it had been intended to send Minister Thurston instructions by the steamer of June 1, but the government yesterday decided to defer action.

Minister Blount regards the situation as peaceful and thinks that whatever the solution of the political problem, there will be no fighting or bloodshed. The announcement is made that on Monday night, May 29, a mass meeting of royalists will be held. It is reported that the Provisional government would not permit the meeting and Monday night is looked forward to with interest by many people. Monday afternoon, however, a notice was sent out that a meeting would not be held as the news from Washington made it unnecessary.

To-day being Decoration Day the G. A. R. post here most of the members of which are annexationists will hold an elaborate celebration.

Among the passengers who arrived from Honolulu on the steamer Gaelic was His Highness, the Nawab of Rampur, who, accompanied by a large suite is making a tour around the world. The prince is 17 years of age and is having his education finished by the British government, after which he returns to govern Rampur in Hindoostan. He is to visit the World's Fair.

LINEMEN'S STRIKE ENDED

The Men to Have Their Pay Increased Within a Week.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The strike of the linemen, climbers and inspectors of the New Jersey Division of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has been settled. Upon the recommendation of the Board of Arbitration, all the men in the State, save a few in Jersey City have returned to work at the old pay, with the understanding that their demand for $3 per day will be granted within a week.

It is said the company are trying to get rid of some of its Jersey City men, who have been leaders in the strike just ended.

The linemen, however, declare that they will go out again unless all of the old men are reinstated.

A Mind Reader Lost in a Cave.

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., June 7.—Paul Johnstone, the mind reader, who went with a party of five into the Big Wind Cave to find a pin that had been secreted by one of the committee, is still in the cave. It is 48 hours since the party went in and there are the gravest fears for their safety as they only expected to be gone 12 or 13 hours and did not have a very large supply of food. A search party has been organized to go after them.

The food richest in phosphates and bone-forming material is

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

DEATH OF EDWIN BOOTH

The Great Tragedian Passes Away This Morning.

HIS DAUGHTER AT HIS BEDSIDE

NEW YORK, June 7.—Edwin Booth died in his rooms at the Players' Club at 1:17 o'clock this morning. Dr. St. Clair Smith gave the signal to the watchers below by waving a white handkerchief from a window of Mr. Booth's room.

Booth's illness dated back more than two years, when he suffered his first attack of paralysis. He was in Rochester at the time. He never fully recovered. He was brought to this city, and later went to Lakewood, where he had a second attack, not nearly so severe, however, as the first.

He was again brought to New York, and so far recovered that he could go about by himself. The attack which has ended in his death came on the night of April 19. He was in his room in the Players' Club at the time. It was thought for several days that he could not possibly survive it even a week, but he did, and then there were hopes entertained that he would recover.

But he gradually sank into a state of coma, from which it was possible to arouse him only at times. Twice since April 19 his life was despaired of but each time he rallied.

There were with him at the time of his death Dr. Frank St. Clair Smith, Mrs. Edwina Booth Grossman, his daughter, Mr. Ignatius Grossman, her husband, Mr. William Bispham and Mr. Magonigle, superintendent of the Players' Club, and Mr. Carryl, the librarian of the club.

The severe thunder shower of yesterday afternoon kept many persons away from the Players' Club, but all who passed stopped to look up at the easterly window, on the third floor, the room in which the great tragedian lay dying.

Many were the expressions of sympathy heard and none were there but had some kind word to say of the brilliant and kind-hearted man in his noble but ineffectual fight against the disease that was slowly carrying him away.

Edwin Thomas Booth, the last actor of his race and the foremost tragedian of the American stage, was born on the 13th of November, 1833, at "The Farm," the country seat of his father, Junius Brutus Booth, in Hartford county, Md., 25 miles from Baltimore, and made his debut as an actor on Sept. 10, 1849, at the Boston Museum, in the character of Tressel, in "Richard III."

SILAS LEAVES MNASON

The Angel Dancers Engage in a Fight Over a Dish of Oatmeal.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 7.—But for the interference of "Big Mike" Connors, a tramp prisoner in the Hackensack jail, Evangelist Mnason, the boss angel dancer, would have received rough treatment at the hands of George D. Raines, alias Silas, one of Mnason's band. The two men quarrelled and came to blows over the possession of a bowl of oatmeal, prepared especially by Phoebe and Mary, two of the female angel dancers, who occasionally assist Sheriff Bogert's cook. Big Mike interfered just as Mnason was getting the worst of the fight.

Silas now declares that he is not a member of Mnason's gang, and never really did believe in Mnason's peculiar religious ceremonies. Silas says that the other angel dancers believe that Mnason is the representive of Jesus Christ on earth, and that he has a surprisingly strong influence over them.

Mrs. Storms and her son, Garry, recently released from jail, are together on the farm of Capt. Miller at Woodcliff.

Hon. Moody Merrill Missing.

BOSTON, June 7.—Hon Moody Merrill, who for 34 years has been connected with the business interests of the city as a lawyer, street railway president, legislator and agitator for public improvements, and reforms, is absent from the city, and his relatives and closest associates know nothing of his whereabouts. It is stated that he left his business affairs in a very bad condition.

A Woman Found Dead.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Annie Devault Palmer, 31 years old, was found dead in her room in the United States Hotel, corner of Fulton and Pearl streets, yesterday afternoon. The proprietor of the hotel reported that there was no foul play, but as she had a black eye, he wanted the case investigated by the Coroner.

Machias Trial Postponed.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 7.—The trial trip of gunboat Machias has been postponed till Saturday, if the day is fair. To day the Machias was run over the course to enable the engineers to adjust their instruments and satisfy the builders that her machinery is in good order.

Failure in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 7.—Samuel F. Prince, the owner of steam marble works in this city and who is also interested in marble quarries at Rutland, Vt., has failed, with liabilities of $100,000 and nominal assets of $250,000. Stringency of the money market is the cause.

He Murdered a Pennsylvanian.

PRAGUE, June 7.—A Pole named Smetana, who is in prison in this city on a charge of robbery, has confessed that he murdered a Pole named Bolkonski in Pennsylvania, United States of America, about three years ago, and robbed the murdered man of $210.

THE BLIND BARD.

WILL CARLETON ADMIRES HER WRITINGS.

Shut Out for Twenty Years From Nature's Beauties—For Years a Helpless Wreck—Now She Is Well—Had to be Carried About in Stronger Arms—She Writes of Her Miraculous Restoration.

For nearly 20 years Ida Glenwood, "the blind bard of Michigan," to use her own language, has been shut out from "all the bright beauties with which nature gladdens the soul and invigorates the mind."

Of her last fascinating story, which was instantly popular with young and old, Will Carleton says: "I have admired it much and can only wonder that one deprived of sight could paint such vivid pictures."

Ida Glenwood's real name is, as every one knows, Mrs. C. M. B. Gordon; the story of the last few years of her life is almost miraculous.

"For several years," she writes, "I have been for the greater part of the time, a helpless wreck, caused by nervous prostration and dyspepsia of the stomach and bowels."

She owes her health to-day, as do thousands of others, to the glorious remedy first prescribed by Dartmouth's great professor, Dr. Phelps.

"I was so low at the time of commencing its use," she continues, "that I was able to walk but a few steps, having to be carried about in stronger arms like a child; my friends had no hope of my recovering so as to be about again; but two bottles of Paine's celery compound did the work of placing me on my feet again; I have been better for the last year than for many previous years.

"I have a wish that every one in a like condition would try Paine's celery compound; I cannot fail to preach its merits, as it has not failed one of the hundreds who have tried it with whom I am personally acquainted; if you wish to use my name in recommendation of the priceless compound you are at liberty to do so; I have been glad to speak of its merits through the 'Open Window,' the organ of the 'shut in' band, believing that a large number could be reached with its benefits.

"I have divided part of my celery compound with my aged husband who was run down and feeble, three bottles relieving him to such a degree that he has been active and busy ever since; this spring I have taken one bottle of the compound and it has apparently driven back another attack of my old trouble.

"My wishes to the afflicted are that they may be persuaded to use Paine's celery compound, which will not fail in giving strength and vitality when these necessities fall them."

Grand Lodge F. and A. M.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The 119th annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New York, was opened at the Masonic Temple, Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street, during the afternoon. Twelve hundred masters of lodges assembled in the grand lodge room at 2 o'clock. Most Worshipful James Teneyck, of Albany, grand master of the State read his annual address.

Supt. Allen to be Promoted.

BOSTON, June 7.—It is understood that on July 1 E. G. Allen, superintendent of the central division of the Old Colony system, is to become general manager, and A. L. Ackley, now agent at Fall River, is to become superintendent of the central division. Mr. J. E. Kendrick will continue as first vice-president.

Harvard Will Not be Represented.

BOSTON, June 7.—Contrary to published reports, it is very improbable that Harvard will be represented in any way at the coming baseball tournament in Chicago. Offers were made to Harvard to attend, but the expense proved to be greater than were at first supposed, and now nothing is being done in the matter.

To Reorganize the Atkinson Company.

PORTLAND, Me., June 7.—It is proposed to reorganize the Atkinson House Furnishing Company, and a meeting will be held this week when the new company will take immediate possession of the business. The capital stock will be $2,000,000. Mr. Atkinson's name is not mentioned in the new deal.

Departure of Secretary Lamont.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Daniel S. Lamont, Secretary of War, with Mrs. Lamont and their children, left their home, No. 238 West Seventy-third street, during the morning for Chicago. They went over the Pennsylvania road. They will remain in Chicago a week.

ITALIAN BANK SCANDAL.

Signor Cucinielle Indicted for Embezzling 2,450,000 Lire.

ROME, June 7.—In deference to the clamor of public opinion and the rising demand among the deputies that justice shall be done to the persons guilty of extensive plunder of Italian banks, the authorities have begun to prosecute. Signor Cucinielle and others have been indicted in this city for the alleged embezzlement of 2,450,000 lire from the Bank of Naples.

Cucinielle, who was manager of the Bank of Naples, and who was disguised as a priest when arrested by the police in the latter part of January on the charge on which he has just been indicted, has confessed that he abstracted the entire sum which he is accused of embezzling in January last. In his confession Signor Cucinielle exculpated the cashier. He said that he had given 370,000 lire to the cashier to pay a debt due to the Banca Romana.

The remainder of the amount embezzled, he, Cucinielle, had handed to a person he did not wish to name, and who undertook to return the amount within four days.

Failure in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 7.—Samuel F. Prince, the owner of steam marble works in this city and who is also interested in marble quarries at Rutland, Vt., has failed, with liabilities of $100,000 and nominal assets of $250,000. Stringency of the money market is the cause.

PRAGUE, June 7.—A Pole named Smetana, who is in prison in this city on a charge of robbery, has confessed that he murdered a Pole named Bolkonski in Pennsylvania, United States of America, about three years ago, and robbed the murdered man of $210.

No Chief of Police.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 7.—The Supreme Court has handed down a decision which leaves this city without a chief of police. It gives the Common Council the right to abolish the office.

Socialist Papers Seized.

BERLIN, June 7.—The police have seized and confiscated yesterday's edition of the periodical called the "Socialist," for some reason that has not been made known.

THE COMMITTEE.

Broadway and Peace Street No More.

If mayor Gilbert really was opposed to the name Watchung avenue, it's too late for him to do anything now, for in his absence acting mayor Ginna signed the ordinance immediately after its passage.

STOPPED TILL OCTOBER.

THAT IS, UNLESS THE COMPANY SETTLES,

Mr. French Won't Allow the Railway This Summer Past His Door on Somerset Street From Front to the City Line.

Yesterday in the Supreme court at Trenton, while the Plainfield Street Railway company's attorney was napping, the case of P. M. French restraining the company from finishing its connecting road between this city and North Plainfield, was, on motion of counselor McClure for Mr. French, laid over until the next term, October, when testimony was ordered taken.

As the case now stands unless the company settles at Mr. French's valuation, or at such figure as may be decided on as a compromise between that and what the company has offered in settlement, there will be no railway service between this city and the borough before late in the fall or next winter.

It is hardly probable the little piece of road in North Plainfield will be run unless the borough authorities compel the company to, according to its contract. There is n't enough of it to pay. Then, too, where could the power come from? The street railway company is under bonds to take power only from the Electric Light company for a term of years, and how could that power be taken over to North Plainfield with Mr. French in the way?

PARTICULAR MENTION.

J. W. Gavett and family have gone to their summer home in the Watchung mountains.

W. P. Smith is building attractive stone arches over the driveways leading to his Belvidere avenue residence.

Mrs. Edward Richards and children, of Orchard place, who have been visiting in Flemington, are expected home to-day.

Councilman Marsh and family have taken a house in Chicago for a month, and their summer outing will be spent at the World's Fair.

Mrs. F. W. Armstrong, of Camden, mother of manager T. S. Armstrong, of Reynolds's pharmacy, is visiting him and his family on Duer street, North Plainfield.

Joe McKinny, who went South from here on a sailing vessel, over a year ago, has returned and was in town on Monday making arrangements for his marriage on Sunday next to an East Third street girl.

Col. William Irving Steele died to-day at the home of his sister, Mrs. James H. Quif, 1058 Arlington avenue. He was about 62 years of age, and had been on Gen. Duryea's staff. He was unmarried.

Fred Hughes, son of Mrs. Richard A. Boyce of North Plainfield, stands among the highest in St. Mary's Parochial school graduating class that will have its commencement exercises in Music Hall, the evening of the 29th inst.

Mrs. Thomas Costello, of West Front street, Dunellen, last Monday night gave birth to triplets, all girls. Two of the children are alive and doing well, as is also the mother. At this rate of population in West Front street, the borough commissioners should do something to remedy the bad condition of the road and sidewalks of that locality.

BITS OF OLD CHINA.

A Plainfield Audience Hears a Lecture of Absorbing Interest.

Those who visited Vincent chapel last night to hear the lecture on "Bits of Old China" by Howard Martin assisted by Beadon Bryant, passed a most delightful evening, being conducted through various parts of the Celestial Empire, whose scenery and people were brought vividly before the audience by 100 beautiful colored pictures thrown on a huge screen. Mr. Martin enlivened his discourse by numerous anecdotes and personal reminiscences. One of the most interesting parts of the lecture was the account of one of the only two audiences ever accorded foreigners by the Chinese Emperor. Mr. Martin was at one time Secretary of Legation, and was presented in company with the other diplomats. His account of the condition of women in China, their inferior position to that of the men, and the terrible deformity of their feet, made everyone feel thankful that Celestial customs do not obtain here. The accounts of the courts of justice and methods of execution, sliding, strangulation, and beheading, with a hint of tortures too terrible to describe, give a glimpse of the true barbaric condition of the country. Great credit was given to the Christian missionaries for their courageous actions in going into the most dangerous parts of the country and gradually implanting higher ideas and a spirit that cannot but raise the whole standard of the country and gradually eradicate some of the brutal and abhorrent customs that are common throughout the empire.

Messrs. Bryant and Martin should certainly be very successful, as these lectures are not only extremely interesting but are put in such a pleasing way that one could listen indefinitely without tiring.

It is hoped that Plainfield may be given a course of lectures next winter by these gentlemen that will cover some of the many countries in which they have wandered.

SEMINARY RECEPTION.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY OF THE "CHESTNUTS".

Miss Kenyon Receives Graduates and Friends At the 25th Commencement Celebration — A Large Gathering, And a Delightful Event.

The silver anniversary of the "Chestnuts" was fittingly celebrated in the Seminary last night. A large number of graduates and friends attended. The main school room was tastefully decorated in yellow, and at one end was a large screen of evergreens bearing the dates in silver 1868-1893. Miss Kenyon received in the large parlor, assisted by Mrs. S. St.J. McCutchen, Miss Elvira Kenyon and Miss Nella Whiton. The ushers were John P. Munn, O. G. Waring, Howard Huntington and Irving West. Good music was furnished, and dancing was kept up till 1 a. m. Excellent refreshments were provided, and in every way the event was a most charming one. Among the guests were:

FRISBIE AGAIN.

Julian Scott Is After Him for Cruelty to Canine Captives.

Just at present Julian Scott and he are at loggerheads. Col. Scott is a member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and he objects to Frisbie's method of lugging dogs around with strings choking them around their necks. He says that Frisbie should have collars for his canine captives, and Frisbie refuses to change his present mode of retaining them. Each threatens the arrest of the other—one for interference and persecution, and the other for violating the principles of the anti-cruelty society.

At present they are simply glaring at each other and growling, and it is doubtful if their enmity will have any serious results. It, however, it has the effect of adding any comfort to the unfortunate dogs that are doomed to die it would certainly be an excellent thing.

BOROUGH BREEZES.

BITS OF SPICY GOSSIP FROM OVER THE BROOK.

Important Church Event Next Sunday—The Borough After the Plainfield Post-office—Mountain Avenue's Need—Closing the Bar Rooms—Widening Somerset Street—Pleasant Personalities.

The borough will soon have a citizen lawyer with an office in the borough limits.

S. B. Josephs, the new school trustee, takes a lively interest in the school's affairs.

More license money has been collected this year than in any other in the history of the borough.

Dan. Sutphin, the colored Hercules of Westervelt avenue, will visit the World's Fair in August.

The work on the new addition to the school-house is being rapidly pushed by the contractors.

Several boroughites are making arrangements for an early departure to the mountains and seashore.

Wonder if the borough stands any chance of catching the appointment of postmaster of Plainfield?

The water wagon wastes much time going after water, nowadays. Why not tap a friendly nearby hydrant?

The borough must have another hose company, and some one should begin the organization of the same at once.

A clam-bake in the rough, "with beer side dishes", will be served in a near-by woods in a few days. Where will it be at?

The stone house on the westerly side of the mountain is being renovated by its new owner, who will soon occupy the same.

The "Two Ikies", whose names are famous in the borough, pass away some of their spare time by marking "Ikie" on passing wagons.

Harvey Henderson and Will Wright, the two persons who were injured while putting up "licorice light" poles, think they should receive pensions.

At McLaughlin's Somerset street lawn-tennis court there may be seen every afternoon a bevy of charming young ladies indulging in the fashionable pastime.

We boroughites wonder why the Plainfield street commissioner does not grade up at the center of the road on Front street and Somerset where the old fire well is situated.

Israel Colthar, the bridge builder, has just completed a line bridge for Morris and Somerset counties. The span is a 90-foot one, and crosses the Passaic river near Union Village.

"The man with the iron face", who has been trying to place a sign for his business on some one of his neighbor's fote, has at last succeeded in erecting it on a widow's place on Somerset street.

James Lynch, formerly of Warrenville, Warren township, will soon open the unused blacksmithy at Coddington's mills. He is an expert, and will bring much of his former patronage to his new shop.

"Paddy" Lyons, the driver of the Somerset street roller, passes his spare moments in making love and playing a banjo. If he makes as good success with both as he has with the rolling, "He'll be right in it".

Another Frenchman has joined the already large contingent of fruit growers on the second mountain. He comes from Woodhaven, L. I., his name is Alfred Prudhomme, and he occupies the Fred. Coriell farm.

It is whispered in a "don't-tell-anyone-on-your-life sort of a way" that a very prominent man about town was recently married by a friendly parson over in Middlesex county, to a very pretty maiden whose face is well known in this city and is frequently admired on our streets. Now guess!

Boroughites think that the managers of the Plainfield Amusement company would do well to give exhibitions of bicycle riding on their track. A new owner of a bicycle who lives opposite the grounds is anxious to give an exhibition there as soon as he is a little further advanced. His wife holds him on the wheel, now.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

D. J. Carney has a few desirable bargains in borough real estate.

Michael Koller, of Emily street, is having a substantial stone walk laid in front of his properties.

Freeholder Bullman, (and the township never had a better one), intends auctioning off a lot of bridge plank soon.

At Wilson's stone quarry they are using an Ingersoll-Sergeant drill furnished them by the company that mayor Saunders is head and brains of.

$11,122 out of $12,000 was collected for the year 1892 in the borough—not a bad showing. That was up to the last report in May, and considerable has been paid in since.

Somerset street is being put in a better condition than before the tracks were laid. If you don't believe it, just go up as far as Jacob Miles's place, and you 'll be convinced.

Special marshal Job Coddington has taken his bride and gone to till a farm on the banks of the Raritan near South Somerville. Job, poor old patient Job, how the boys will miss you!

One liquor dealer persists in keeping his place of business open later than 11 Saturday nights, in spite of the mayor's request. Laws may therefore be enacted curtailing some of the business carried on in his place.

What's the matter with macadamizing Mountain avenue from Somerset street to Raymond avenue, the borough line? That's the only direct route the borough has to reach Newark, and it's greatly traveled. Macadamize!

There is a comical German citizen in the borough who has often met John Moore, the Chatham street blind man, on Somerset street, during the evening, strolling leisurely along with his cane, and who has been heard to remark: "Oh! dot man is not blind; I see him out nights!"

The Children of Mary, a sodality belonging to St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, will receive communion in a body at the 8:30 mass next Sunday morning, at which time an office will be read by Miss Agnes FitzGerald and Miss Nellie McCaan. The young ladies, numbering about 40, will be dressed in white, and each one will wear a long white veil.

Everybody is desirous of having Somerset street widened, and a very large portion of the property owners are willing that the same should be done. However, there is no head to the scheme, and until some property-owner passes around a paper for signatures there is not much prospect that the street will be widened, as it should be. Won't someone start the project?

A resident of the borough last Saturday asked four different workingmen to patch up a sidewalk in front of his home, and every mother's son gave an excuse of urgent business to attend to, although as a matter of fact neither one had any work. One wanted to go fishing, another had to sit up with his mother-in-law that night, and the other two had to attend the base-ball game.

A new industry in this section, and one found to be very profitable to people owning farms on the mountain, is the wholesale raising of berries. Only a few years ago scarcely any were cultivated in Warren township. Driving through that Democratic stronghold now you can see all kinds of berries in a high state of cultivation; in fact, the most marketable ones sold about this city are raised up in Warren.

A PLAINFIELD TRIBUTE.

W. C. BAMBURGH WRITES OF HIS DEPARTED FRIEND.

From an Intimate Acquaintance, He Tells How Booth Was Brave Under Calamity—Staunch in His Aim for an Artistic Ideal and a Holy Life.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—When a man who has won and retained during his life, the respect of a very much larger audience than poet or author ever hopes to win, dies almost in the fullness of his fame, his loss is such an one that grief cannot represent it. So, when an actor dies, who seemed to have received the secret oracles of his art from Shakespeare himself, he leaves no memorials of his oneness with the friends he has made, but in the memory of those, who, like him must die, carrying their vivid annals with them. Edwin Booth is dead. Who that has seen him, heard his classic utterances, but will feel a personal loss, as of a teacher of noble life and the sacredness of the mind's powers. Who that has known him as friend will forget the beauty of his dignified and honorable character. That character has taught, and should long teach not only those who are members of his profession, but all feeling and aspiring hearts, that nobility of purpose makes every deed noble. How well could his fellow-players say to one another, as the crew of Ulysses spoke:

"How wonderfully is our chief revered and loved by all men, wander where we will into what realm soever!"

Edwin Booth was such, frequently harassed by such calamities as few men could be brave under, yet always brave and stanch in his aim for an artistic ideal and an holy life.

It seems strange to say that a player aimed for an holy life; yet when goodness and unswerving honor guide the highest instincts of the nature of man, the mind must become cleansed of foulness, and what is cleanliness of mind but holiness of character? Whatever may be the personal beauty of the man, I hold it truth that he who fulfils, by assuming passions of every diverse sort, the imagination of one so definitely masterful as Shakespeare, shares and must long be entitled to share the fame of him who made possible the fulfilment of those imaginings by the masterful player.

That kinship of fame almost becomes a kinship of genius, and fairly makes Edwin Booth as classic in his attainments as Shakespeare was in his divine art. It is needless to define or describe Mr. Booth's art, how his whole nature seemed to be embodied in Iago or Hamlet or Macbeth; how his purity of utterance endowed every word of the English language with the charm of melody; or how his impersonations will long remain the rarest expositions of cultured and rarely intellectual temperament. His fame is enshrined in the records of his genius which will be sorrowfully laid as laurel upon his tomb; yet to the living the mention of the soothing name of Booth will call forth a "Hush!" as when a spirit of the Unseen returns to pass among men to recall its mission of aspiration.

Denies the Court Record.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Please to oblidge John McDonald in contradicting the statement which I saw published in one of your columns of Monday night's EVENING PRESS, that I procured a pail of beer from where I would not tell. I want you please to understand I had not such a thing in my posession, as I was coming to my home when I was insulted for no reason whatever.

JOHN MCDONALD.

They Mourn Their Loss.

At a regular meeting of Gazelle Engine Company, No. 1, held in their parlors Monday evening, May 8, 1893, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an all-wise Providence to take from our midst our brother fireman, John E. Yose; and

WHEREAS, We have always found in him a worthy fireman, ever ready at the call of his company and ever ready at his post of duty, it is hereby

Resolved, That in the dispensation of Providence while we recognise His divine will yet we mourn the loss of our deceased brother.

Resolved, That we respectfully tender our heartfelt sympathies to his family and friends in this their bereavement.

Resolved, That our engine-house be draped in mourning for thirty days and a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased and spread on the minutes of the company and published in the Plainfield Courier and DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield Not a Promising Field for Partizan Zeal.

The Hon. Thomas Lane, leader of the Democratic party in the last legislature, says in his Summit Record: "It is said that James A. Demarest is an applicant for a Swiss consulate. Mr. Demarest has shown marked ability as editor of the PLAINFIELD PRESS, and has been a party leader of acknowledged force and aggressiveness in that section of Union county, and the only argument that could operate against his appointment is that his absence would be a serious loss to the Democrats of Plainfield where the field for partizan zeal is none to promising."

Ran Away with the Street Roller.

George Conover's horse drawing the roller on Somerset street had a bad attack of blind staggers this morning, smashed into a telephone pole and walked all over F. M. French's yard, and wrecked the fence and lattice work. The horse was caught and tied with a rope till its attack was over.

That's No Way to Do.

Some people think the street railway cars want the earth, and cite this instance: Tuesday morning, about 7 o'clock, one of French's water wagons was making its rounds on East Front street, when a car half-filled with passengers came along to the east terminus. The watering cart happened to be in the way, and the motorman was angry. He jumped off the car, so eye-witnesses say, and upbraided the driver for several minutes for blocking the track, and jawed long enough to make some of the passengers lose their morning train to New York. A fight was expected by those who saw the occurrence.

Capt. Martin Did n't Know the Date.

F. L. C. Martin was subpœnaed by county attorney McClure to appear before the court at Elizabeth to show cause why he should not be taxed for his local insurance business. He did n't appear on the date set, and is under penalty of $500 for contempt of court. When he explains that he did n't understand the date, he will probably be exculpated. He being a broker and not an agent, claims he is not liable to taxation on his local business, which he places through agents who already pay taxes on the business.

They Say He's a Swindler.

A. M. Ernest "from the West" has been in town two or three weeks hanging up a board bill at the City Hotel and borrowing money of A. M. Seguine on the strength of a big auction of horses he promised to hold. Yesterday he got $40 of Mr. Seguine to pay the freight on a cargo of horses expected to arrive last night. The horses did n't show up, and Ernest vanished. His gripsack left behind proved to be valueless. Walter Hetfield is being counseled with as to the best means to catch Ernest.

Sam Pays the Freight.

Daniel O'Connor's case against Sam Allen, of "the farm", for assault, was settled in justice Crosley's borough court last night by Sam paying costs, which amounted to about $2.75.

—A regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3:30.

Two Spokane Banks Closed.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 7.—The Washington National Bank and its adjunct, the Washington Savings Bank, have closed their doors. They were crippled by the quiet run of Monday. Both show strong assets, much in increase of the liabilities but could not get money in time for the sudden whirl. The other banks are being subjected to a severe run but seem to be standing the strain well.

New York Receiver for the Domestic.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Justice Ingraham, of the Supreme Court, has appointed Andrew Kirkpatrick ancillary receiver for this State of the property of the Domestic Sewing Machine Company. Mr. Kirkpatrick was appointed some time ago receiver in New Jersey.

Report on the Bank of Deposit.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Mr. Kimball, bank examiner, in charge of the National Bank of Deposit, has forwarded his report to the comptroller. It is thought probable that a receiver will be appointed for the bank in a few days.

Bank Failure at Two Rivers, Wis.

TWO RIVERS, Wis., June 7.—The bank of Two Rivers closed its doors yesterday. It was capitalized at $10,000. Its resources according to the last statement were $7,522, and amount due depositors $59,314.32.

THE ALASKAN SEALS.

Their Habits Described by an American Lawyer.

Why Canadian Poachers Must Be Prevented from Carrying on Their Customary Depredations—The Two Seal Groups.

In his argument before the arbitrators in the Behring sea case Mr. Coudert, of counsel for the United States, gave an interesting account of the habits of the Alaskan seal, over the proprietorship of which the whole contest is being waged. The peculiar thing about these seals is that, although in their journey from the south to their stamping grounds in the Behring they pass islands innumerable, they invariably select two groups, and only two, as their summer home. One of these is on the coast of Asia and is known as Commanderoff. The other is the Pribyloff islands, two in number—St. Paul and St. George—off the Alaskan shore. These islands are but specks in the surrounding waters. St. Paul contains but thirty-two square miles and St. George twenty-seven square miles. Why these two groups should be selected is what no naturalists has as yet been able satisfactorily to explain. Nevertheless the fact remains that it is to them and to them alone that the seals annually resort while in northern waters.

About this season of the year the Pacific ocean north of the fortieth degree of north latitude is liberally sprinkled with seals on their way from southern waters to their northern summer resort. The males appear to be more rapid swimmers than the females. At all events they arrive at the islands a week or two ahead of the females. On reaching them they immediately proceed to select quarters on them for their summer abode, and these quarters are always at some point near the sea, from which it is easily accessible. When they arrive they are rolling in fat and weigh somewhere in the neighborhood of five hundred pounds each.

About the beginning of June the females begin to arrive and a few hours after reaching the shore they give birth to their young. The males then begin choosing their mates, the number of their wives being limited only by their capacity of offense and defense. Fierce conflicts frequently occur over these selections and the stronger always come out on the top. While on the islands the male seals eat next to nothing.

They appear to live on the superfluous fat they have accumulated during the winter season, and when they start out again on their southern trip they are living skeletons. The southern trip is begun early in August and as a rule the islands are clear of seals by the end of that month. A few stragglers may remain till November, after which none are seen till the following May. The male seal is six years of age before he begins to mate and it is from the school of bachelors that the lessees of the islands select the one hundred thousand they are allowed to kill each season. These are taken from those between three and four years of age, the skins being most valuable at that time. Of course it is impossible to discriminate as to age or sex when the seals are in the open sea, and therefore the necessity of preventing the Canadian poachers from carrying on their depredations. They kill all they meet without respect to age or sex.

A Queer Ceylonese Grass.

Lemon grass, known to botanists as Andropogen Schaenanthus, and which is unknown outside of Ceylon, and there only in the Kandian district, is in several respects a most remarkable vegetable production. It grows to a height of six or seven feet and has the wonderful properties of spontaneous ignition. On the slopes of Mount Ambulawe, during the wet season, the grand spectacle of these spontaneous conflagrations is frequently seen. At first a single curl of smoke or bright tongue of flame will be noticed. Soon, however, as the water runs down the stalks and mingles with the oil and acids contained in the pith of this curious herb, fierce fires burst into view here, there and every place, soon covering the whole mountain in a sheet of flame. The botanists and chemists have not as yet explained why this paradoxical grass ignites when water falls upon its stalks.

Blucher in England.

The recent celebration in Germany of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Prince Bluecher naturally revives many old stories of the famous field marshal. When, after Waterloo, he went to England with the king of Prussia and the czar he had the title of LL. D. conferred on him by Oxford and Cambridge universities. He was everywhere welcomed with the highest honor and enthusiasm, and on one occasion was carried to his lodgings by the crowd, who kissed his hands and knees. In answer to some ladies who begged him for a lock of his hair he said, with a smile, pointing to his bald pate: "I regret that I am so poor in that respect." But he could not content them till he had divided his cloak among them.

Her Way of Looking at It.

A poor old woman who had just seen the ocean for the first time was asked by her son:

"What do you think of the sea?"

"Think?" replied the old dame after a long pause. "I can't think, Jim. I can only thank Providence for having shown me something in my life of which there seems to be enough and to spare."—Buffalo Snips.

QUEEN & CO.,

OCULISTS AND OPTICIANS,

OF 1010 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA,

Announce that one of their

DISTANT NEAR — DISTANT NEAR — EYE SPECIALISTS

— IS IN —

PLAINFIELD EVERY THURSDAY,

FROM 8.30 A. M. TO 5.30 P. M.

No charge is made to determine if your eyesight may be improved or headache relieved, by wearing properly adjusted glasses. Bear in mind the address, and do not fail to consult our specialist if your eyes trouble you.

MESSRS. QUEEN & CO, are well known throughout the United States as Opticians of the highest experience and skill. Their glasses are worn by tens of thousands in all parts of the world, and their work is acknowledged to be the standard of excellence everywhere. The staff of oculists and opticians engaged at their main store, 1-10 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, is composed of men whose skill and ability to give relief to defective eyes is of the highest order.

Recognizing the fact that in many populous centres there is no person who understands the measurement of the sight and adjustment of glasses in all the details, they have arranged that one of their Eye Specialists shall come periodically to your city, at the address given above.

Heretofore, in order to obtain anything like reliable care, it has been necessary to obtain a prescription at one office, and then purchase the glasses according to that prescription at some store.

Queen's specialists are men of large experience gained by daily and constant practice, which enables them to correct the most defective vision without the use of drops of any kind in the eye.

Messrs. Queen & Co. make no boasts of wonderful remedies, nor do they claim any special healing power in the glasses they furnish, as is so often done by ignorant persons who merely deal in glasses. Queen & Co. guarantee every pair of glasses ordered to be satisfactory, and expect to win your approval by the skillful and accurate manner in which they give you improve and comfortable vision.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is a positive cure for all those painful

Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors.

Bearing-down Feeling

causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, dizziness, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or

Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 80 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL

Dr. Bowen is Occupying the Stand For the State.

THE TESTIMONY ALREADY TAKEN

Fewer Women in Attendance To-day—Miss Borden Shows Only Casual Interest in the Proceedings—Morse's Contradiction—The Servant's Story.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 8.—The fourth day of the Borden trial began this morning soon after 9 o'clock, with Dr. Bowen on the stand. The court room had a different aspect to-day in the fact that there were not so many women in attendance as yesterday.

Yesterday Miss Borden entered looking as unconcerned and fresh as any one could under such circumstances. After she took her seat, Mr. Jennings had a five-minutes' conversation with her, and she appeared very much interested and animated, a smile breaking out occasionally as the talk proceeded.

Thomas Kiernan, the civil engineer, who was called Tuesday just before adjournment, was recalled for cross-examination.

He pointed out the line between the Borden and Kelly houses, and said the line struck twelve inches from the hinge or east side of the door. The point of contact of that line with the east side of Second street as to being the point where there is the best observation, was a question which came up for discussion between counsel and court.

He was called upon to testify as to the accuracy of the photographs taken by him to be used in the trial. The views of the premises were taken on Saturday last. He took other photographs just after the tragedy. Pictures of the bodies of both Mr. and Mrs. Borden were taken at the same time.

The name of John V. Morse was next called, and a big, raw-boned man, bronzed and wearing a gray beard, stepped forward and leaned up against the door, as he would upon a fence rail. He is an uncle of the prisoner, and brother of the first Mrs. Borden.

The first Mrs. Borden died in 1861, the witness told Mr. Moody. Mr. Borden married the second time about three years later.

Morse said he visited the Bordon house on Aug. 3. He had seen Miss Lizzie prior to that for about four months. Miss Borden was not there when he called on the 3d, as least he did not see her while there.

He left the house about 3 or 4 o'clock and returned in the evening at about 8:30. He entered by the front door. Mrs. Borden let him in. The door was shut after he stepped into the hall. He could not say if it was locked. Mrs. Borden went to bed first that night. Before that he heard some one enter the house and go into Lizzie's room. He slept that night in the guest chamber, the room in which Mrs. Borden was subsequently found dead. As he entered the guest chamber he noticed that the door of Miss Lizzie's room was closed.

It was the same when he went down stairs the next morning.

When he entered the sitting room on Thursday morning the door between the sitting room and the kitchen was closed. He breakfasted with Mr. and Mrs. Borden at about 7 o'clock.

Mr. Borden was in the sitting room most of the time that Morse was there after breakfast. Mrs. Borden was dusting the sitting room then. Morse left the house that morning at about 7.58. Mr. Borden went out with him. They left by the screen door. He saw Bridget Sullivan there. The screen door was fastened on the inside with the ordinary hook and screw eye.

When he returned to the house the dead bodies had been discovered. He saw the body of Mrs. Borden first.

Ex-Gov. Robinson commenced cross-examining Morse at 10:45. As bearing on the possibility of an outsider being in the house, he brought out the fact that during the evening before the murder, there was no light in the sitting room, and that unless the front door was shut hard, the spring-lock would not catch and turning the knob outside would open the door.

Morse, on cross-examination, swore that on reaching the Borden house after the murder he saw no officers in the yard, that the barn door was closed and he heard no one inside. This contradicts the government's claims that officers by immediate examination of the barn ascertained that the prisoner could not have been there at the time of the murder. The cross-examination lasted fifteen minutes.

Witnesses called after five minutes recess fixed the time when Mr. Borden was last seen. Cross-examination developed nothing but slight confusion and uncertainty as to the exact time.

Miss Borden yawned, and looked on listlessly. A buzz of excitement went around the room at 12:30 when Mr. Moody called "Bridget Sullivan." She leaned to the left side against the rail, looked straight at Moody, and spoke so low that he could not hear.

All the judges watched Bridget Sullivan very carefully while she testified to bolting the cellar door on the inside two days before the murder, to hooking the screen door, to sickness of the Bordens Wednesday and to her own conduct, and locked condition of the doors on Wednesday night and Thursday morning before the murder.

When she had described Mr. Borden's conduct Thursday morning, the court took a recess from 1 to 2.15. The only important witnesses examined were Mr. Morse and Bridget Sullivan.

The first witness called in the afternoon was Mrs. Caroline Kelley, who stepped in while Bridget rested. She is the wife of Dr. Kelley, and lives in the next house south of the Borden house. She was at home on August 4. She was about attending to her ordinary duties. She had an engagement to go to the dentist's that morning, and consulted the kitchen clock and then went direct out into Second street; the clock showed twenty minutes of eleven; the clock was an old-fashioned one and could not be depended upon.

Witness said she passed by the West side, or the front door, into the street and turned north down the hill; in going down the hill she passed the Borden house. Saw Mr. Borden in his yard coming around from the back of the house to the front door, passing inside of the fence; he stooped down to put the key in the door; in his hand was a white parcel. "I do not think he saw me," witness said. "Then I went to the dentist's."

In cross-examination witness said she was near his front gate when she saw Mr. Borden; he was walking at his usual gait, with his eyes cast down; witness was so close to him that she could have touched him had she tried; she knew of no reason why Mr. Borden did not speak except that he did not see her. She said in relation to the clock that she did not know whether it was her grandfather's clock, or how long it had run. She did not remember of any carriage or team passing her at that place although it might have been so. The street is a narrow one. She did not notice any moving thing on the street but Andrew J. Borden. She knew Mrs. Churchill quite well, but saw nobody on those steps; she was an hour late and hurried; this may account, she said, for her not seeing anybody.

When she saw Mr. Borden at the barn she saw him bringing in a basket of pairs. She remained in the kitchen, and when he came in the screen door she did not know what he did with it. Then he washed and took his breakfast. Up to that time witness had seen no one but Mr. and Mrs. Borden, but when they sat down Mr. Morse sat down also. They had mutton, mutton broth and johnny-cakes; did not remember whether there was any fruit on the table or not. After breakfast all of them must have gone into the sitting room; they had left the dining room when witness came to answer the bell, which told her breakfast had been completed.

"Then I ate my breakfast and cleared away the dishes and began to wash them. While I was doing this Mr. Borden and Mr. Morse went out the side door; Mr. Borden came back but I don't know how he left the door. He then went to the sink, filled a bowl and went to his room. I kept right on in my work. After Mr. Borden went upstairs, Lizzie came down stairs and went into the kitchen; asked her what she would have for her breakfast and she said she did not want much of anything, but she would take some coffee and cookies; soon after she came in and I went out in the back yard, as I was sick, and left Lizzie in the kitchen; when I came back I hooked the screen door; there was no one in the kitchen. I did not see Mr. Borden after he went upstairs with the water until I let him in at the front door after on. Mrs. Borden came down and asked me if I had anything to do and I said nothing particular. She then said she wanted me to wash the windows, outside and in, she was dusting with a feather duster; she had nothing on her head.

"I think this was about 9 o'clock, as near as I can remember. After I received the instructions I went into the kitchen then into the dining and sitting rooms and shut the windows so the inside shutters were open; I never touched them; didn't see Lizzie then; I went down cellar, got a wooden pail, came up stairs, got my water and as I went out Lizzie asked me what I was going to do, wash windows? and I said yes; that she needn't lock the door as I wanted to come in for water; then I told her she could if she wanted to and I could get the water in the barn. She went in and did not lock the door. I went to the barn and got a handle for the mop; then I washed the sitting room windows, then the parlor windows. I saw no one in the sitting room when I was washing windows there; I had to open the parlor blinds to get at the windows.

"I heard a person at the front door and unlocked it; I don't remember hearing any bell rung. When I opened it I was bothered with so many locks I said, 'Oh, pshaw;' and Lizzie, who was either at the head of the stairs or in her room, laughed at me. I cannot tell anything about how the door was kept. I don't know anything about that door; when I let Mr. Borden in he did not speak to me; he had a parcel in his hand; when he went into the dining room he sat in a chair at the head of the lounge and I went on washing my windows; Miss Lizzie came down stairs about five minutes after and went into the dining room; I heard her ask her father if he had any mail, and she told him that Mrs. Borden had received a note and had gone out. Then Mr. Borden took the key of the bedroom door and went up the back stairs. When he came down soon after he took a rocking chair in the sitting room and I went on washing my windows; this time in the dining room. While I was doing this Lizzie came into the room, took an ironing board from the kitchen and placed it in position.

"She asked me if I was going out this afternoon and I said I did not think I was. She says, 'Well, if you do, be sure and lock the doors, for Mrs. Borden has gone out on a sick call and I may go out myself.' She was ironing handkerchiefs afterwards and she told me that there was a cheap sale of goods at 8 cents a yard and I said I would have a dress. Then I went up to my room, and laid down. The first notice I took of any time was when I heard the City Hall clock strike 11. I think I had been there three or four minutes; don't think I went to sleep; heard no noise; am able to hear the opening and closing of the screen door if it is done by a careless person. The next thing I heard was when Lizzie called me to come down as her father was dead; that was at least fifteen minutes after."

In the cross-examination she said she never heard a cross word between Lizzie and Mrs. Borden. Gov. Robinson got her to admit that she did not know whether she hooked the screen door on the morning of the murder or not.

At the close of her cross-examination the court adjourned.

EDWIN BOOTH'S FUNERAL

To Be Held To-morrow Morning—Interment in Mount Auburn, Boston.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Edwin Booth will be buried to-morrow evening in the Mount Auburn cemetery, near Boston. The funeral services will be held in this city on that day at 9:30 a. m., at the Little Church Around the Corner, Bishop Potter officiating.

The pall-bearers will be Joseph Jefferson, A. M. Palmer, ex-Judge Charles P. Daly, Parke Goodwin, Eastman Johnson, Horace Howard Furness and William Bispham.

No one will be admitted to the church without a card. The chief mourners will be Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Grossman, their two children, Mr. and Mrs. Bispham, Mr. Grossman's brother and sister and Mr. John Henry Magonigle and wife.

Immediately after the services the funeral cortege will move to the Grand Central depot and the remains of the great actor will be taken to Boston on the 11 a. m. train.

The body has been embalmed at the Players' Club. A cast of the dead man's face was taken by John A. Walthausen. He said that Mr. Booth's face was life-like in expression and looked just as natural as when he had last seen the tragedian on the stage.

The body will be buried in a massive, plain oak casket. No flowers will be taken to the church, nor placed upon the casket, except a wreath of laurel from Mrs. Grossman. It is expected that a large number of the dead actor's friends will accompany the body to Boston.

Sorrow in England.

LONDON, June 8.—All the newspapers of London this morning contain long obituary articles upon the late Edwin Booth. His death has also caused deep regret in Berlin, where his Shakspearean renderings have always been regarded with keen admiration.

ANOTHER STRIKE PROBABLE

More Trouble Among the N. Y. & N. J. Telephone Company's Linemen.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Trouble has broken out afresh among the strikers of the New York & New Jersey Telephone company employed on the New Jersey division.

Presi dent Cutler directed the strikers to go to work, promising to consider their demand for increased pay. About two-thirds of the strikers returned to work Tuesday, but the others were informed that their services were no longer required.

During the strike the company engaged non-union linemen, and made yearly contracts with them. These men now fill the places of the strikers, and the company has no work for the strikers who were the ringleaders. The company refuses to discharge the men engaged during the strike, and also to replace some of the strikers.

The linemen who returned to work Tuesday would not work yesterday unless the company would agree to reinstate all the old men.

Another general strike will probably be ordered.

CONNECTICUT LEGISLATION

The Anti-Pool Bill Amended—Appointments by the Governor.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 8.—In the House the Military Committee reported the bill creating a battalion of naval reserves, or naval militia, identical with similar organizations in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York. The bill permitting Sunday evening concerts was rejected, also the bill requiring evening schools in towns of 10,000. In the Senate the bill permitting women to vote in school meetings was passed.

A bill was passed which amends the anti-Pool bill by permitting races, trials of speed and endurance, for purses, and allowing gate-money to be charged. It does not, however, allow pool selling in any way.

Gov. Morris sent to the Senate the names of Miss Rebecca Bacon, of New Haven; Mrs. Mary I. Eggleston, Hartford, and Dr. Andrew W. Tracy, of Meriden, to be members of the State Board of Charities for four years from July 1, 1893.

THE BREWERS CONVENTION

Interesting Reports by Vigilance Committees on the Prohibitory Laws.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The thirty-third annual convention of the United States Brewers Association is being held in this city to-day. Delegates are present from all over the country.

The report of the Finance Committee showed that the assets of the association were $7,268. The vigilance committees report that in the State of Iowa the Prohibition law is regularly evaded and that the dealers pay many fines for violating. But in Kansas, the report says, Gov. Lewelling, though he expressed a friendly spirit prior to election, is sustaining the Prohibition law with great stringency.

It is asserted that the same condition of things in Iowa now prevails in Maine.

Officers N. E. Associated Press.

Crushed to Death.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 8.—George Greenwood, aged 40 years, a saloon keeper, was run over at midnight by a shifting engine at the Elizabethport coal docks. Both of his legs were crushed and the engine had to be raised before he could be extricated. He died soon after reaching the hospital.

The Fort Lee Pool Rooms.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 8.—The Fort Lee pool-rooms are largely attended every day, and betting is very brisk. The Fort Lee Law and Order Society says that they will not take any action in the matter until after the race track bill is contested in Trenton next Tuesday.

A BIG DAY AT THE FAIR

Everything is on Dress Parade for Eulalia.

SHE ATTENDS IN A TALLY-HO COACH

Many Days in Preparing the Grounds for the Nation's Guest—Breakfast in the Grounds—Condition of Some of the Backward Exhibits.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 8.—For the last three days an army of laborers has been at work day and night putting the White City in shape for the reception of the Princess Eulalia, and everything is now practically ready for the royal guest and her entourage to-day.

Flags and banners and streamers of every nation are floating from the ten thousand pinnacles of the beautiful white palaces, the electric launches are decorated and the gondoliers are in their most gorgeous attire.

All the exhibits in the great buildings are freshly trimmed. Bands of music have been provided to play in the numerous pavilions and on floats in the lagoons.

At the appointed time this morning the Infanta entered the tally-ho coach, which was drawn by four prancing steeds, and, escorted by the cavalry, proceeded to the Fair grounds. The procession went in at the Midway Plaisance entrance and proceeded south after entering the main grounds, passing the Woman's, Horticultural and Transportation buildings. She was then escorted to the Administration building and was breakfasted by President Palmer and other officials. Buffalo Bill, his Indians, Cossacks, Mexican Cowboys and military organizations, who take part in the opening of the Nebraska State building passed in review before the royal guest. This afternoon the Infanta is attending a concert at Festival Hall, and will be escorted through some of the buildings. To-night the White City will be illuminated, every arc, search and incandescent lamp on the grounds will be put in use, and it is expected that the Fair will be illuminated more extensively than ever before. In addition to this there will be a grand pyrotechnic display at the Grand basin.

Bright skies and milder temperature brought into the fair yesterday, swarms of visitors. There was a constant clicking of the turnstiles. The total for the day was nearly 100,000.

The Lapland village was thrown open to the World's Fair visitors yesterday. An interesting collection of curios brought from Lapland has been arranged in the village and a herd of reindeer completes the show.

A magnificent silver statue of Columbus was unveiled yesterday in the Gorham Manufacturing Company's pavilion in Manufacturer's Hall. The statue stands six feet six inches, and is by Bartholdi. Thirty thousand ounces of silver were used in its construction and elaborate unveiling ceremonies were held upon its completion at Providence about ten days ago. The statue is believed to be the largest silver piece in existence.

The musical features of the Fair prove to be a great drawing card, and crowds surround the band stands all day.

Most of the buildings are in fine order, all displays having been arranged, although there are some sections of manufactures, agriculture, electricity and mining yet to be put in position. Brazil's exhibit in mines and mining is being rapidly put in order, but it will be two weeks before it can be opened to the public. Commissioner Barrieto, was de ayed early in April by his inexperience of the ways of American carpenters and by the non arrival of his goods.

Pennsylvania's display in the same building is about complete and will be opened to the public without ceremony Saturday. The 50-foot architectural model with the name "Pennsylvania" on its base, which stands in the centre of the building, was finished three weeks ago and is one of the sights of the Department of Mines and Mining.

The great pile of boxes that has occupied the pavilion bearing the word "Greece" over its door, was distributed during the morning and a force of men opened the boxes under the eyes of two or three customs officers. Greece's display is the furtherest behind of any in the Mines' building, but as their exhibit will not consume much time in placing, they will be ready to open by the 20th.

HENRIQUES BADLY HURT

Said That He Cannot Recover—His Assailant Under Arrest.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A servant at the residence of Mr. Henriques, who was assaulted by Ellison, Monday evening, said to-day that the members of his household feared he was dying as he had several severe fainting spells in the morning, after which he became delirious and seemed to be growing weaker.

Dr. G. H. Wynkoff, who is attending Mr. Henriques, said, however, that he did not anticipate a fatal result of his patient's injuries.

"It will take a long time for him to recover," said the doctor, "and I fear he will suffer from the effects of the beating for the rest of his life. At present he is suffering from slight concussion of the brain, heart weakness and general shock."

It is said the man's face is terribly disfigured where he was kicked by Ellison. Ellison is under arrest.

Chicago Lumber Dealers Assign.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Joseph H. Rathbone & Co., lumber dealers, have made a voluntary assignment. Assets are scheduled at $500,000, and liabilities at $250,000. Robert F. Slanskin, the assignee, is now in possession of the company's property.

Senator Walker's Condition.

CORNING, N. Y., June 8.—The condition of State Senator Charles E. Walker, has not improved any to-day. He has taken scarcely any nourishment and still lies in an insensible condition. His family have but little hope of his recovery.

Henry A. Bond's Liabilities.

BOSTON, June 8.—The liabilities of Henry A. Bond & Co., dealers in hides and leather, who are financially embarrassed, are about $125,000. The firm was on the paper of Richardson & Dennis, who lately assigned.

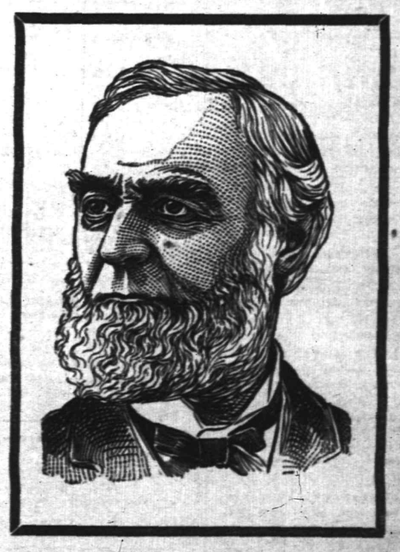
TIME TO GET WELL.

Don't Let Sickness Follow You Through the Summer.



If one could be patient he could avoid many troubles.

But it is worse than folly to be patient with an attack of neuralgia or rheumatism, or any complaint that arises from disorders of the nervous system; such patience is not a virtue; it is ignorance of the great danger that lies in delay when one is first attacked with a nervous disease.

No troubles flatter the patient with such hopes of recovery as do diseases of this nature, and diseases of this nature comprise two-thirds the ills that flesh is heir to; attend to your nervous system!

Have you had the grip? Do its effects still linger? Then go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of the remedy that makes people well.

Mr. F. J. Lee of Howell, Mich., whose portrait is given above, was left in low health and weak from the effects of the grip. Paine's celery compound benefited him at once, as it has benefited and cured thousands who were sick.

For goodness sake don't let sickness follow you through the summer. Take Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound makes people well. In early summer it is the best of tonics for the weak and weary.

The proprietors regret the circumstance, and while awaiting the result of the affair can only say that they and THE PRESS have no other feeling against Mr. Mulford than that of kindness.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Fair; Easterly Winds To-Morrow.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—All of the trees on Third street between Church and Washington were cut down to-day.

—A merry stageload of Plainfield young people drove to Orange last night and had supper there.

—A strawberry festival will be held in Hope chapel this evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society.

—Thomas Brown still holds the highest record at the Hope chapel bowling alley. His score of 234 has n't been reached yet.

—Michael Harrington broke ground this morning, for a new house, on Richmond street between Third street and North avenue.

—Peaches come high this time of the year, but Leggett, the druggist, is selling delicious peach crush just the same, at his famous soda fountain.

—The courts of the Hillside Tennis club, which should be perfectly level, are low in places, and after a rain water stands in the hollows some time.

—An afternoon's sport at blue rocks and live birds will be given at Dan Terry's Monday afternoon, beginning at 2, and a meeting will be held to organize a gun club.

—There is a possibility of the Crescents playing at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 14 and 15. Manager Darrow of that city has written to secure them for these dates.

—The cesspools and closets back of the Schwed building should be cleaned and flushed. A terrible stench arises from them at night, and the health board should look into the matter.

—Joe Miller of Elkwood notoriety had his face slapped in a local hotel last night for appropriating soft-shell crabs which one of the boarders had brought home as a delicacy for his sick wife.

—The Union County Roadsters have a handicap bicycle race from Rahway to Westfield and back, every Saturday afternoon at 4, for prizes. The limit of start over the scratch man is four minutes.

—The colored men of this city are arranging for a bicycle race over the Milburn course, to take place about July 1. James Babbitt, the colored politician, will offer a medal, and provide clam-chowder at the wind-up.

—Next Sunday at 3 p. m., Salvation Army will be entertained in Elkwood hall by James R. Johnston, superintendent of the Florence Crittenden Mission of Philadelphia, Wm. Howard Hoople of Brooklyn, and J. G. Fithian.

—Special attention is called to the address to be delivered at the Epworth league convention this evening, by the Rev. Edwin A. Schell, of Chicago, National secretary. Both old and young are earnestly requested to be present.

—Considerable excitement was caused last evening on Somerset street. When two dump cart drivers had finished work, they started for the mountains to see which could get there first. Their carts over the rough roads made a noise that could be heard blocks away, and people thought 'twas an earthquake.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss C. E. Clarke and Miss O. L. Runyon have gone to Cornwall, Litchfield county, Conn., for three months.

A little daughter came Tuesday afternoon to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Long, of Summit avenue.

Miss Annie Galloway, of Hoboken, is spending a few days in this city at the home of her sister on West Third street.

F. E. Marsh made a most dignified and able moderator over the sessions of the East New Jersey Baptist, association in Elizabeth.

Wallace's Case Adjourned.

All of the Union county petit jurors were discharged yesterday afternoon by Judge McCormick, except one panel of 12 that was drawn to try a case on the 16th. Calvin Neighbor is one of the 12. The case of Larry Wallace of Scotch Plains, for alleged incendiarism, was adjourned over to the October term. He was released on $1,000 bail, his mother going security.

A New Gas Tank in Town.

The Gas Light company is building a new gas holder forty feet in diameter, and the old one is being cut apart and sold for old iron. The stench in the neighborhood is great, but Jones & Co. will pump out the water and oil to-day, and then the nuisance will be abated. The discarded tank is one of the oldest belonging to the company, and was rusted out.

The Oriental Degree, and Grub.

A regular meeting of Franklin council, 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held in K. of P. hall, West Second street, this evening. After the regular business, the oriental degree will be worked on four members. A number of visiting Juniors are expected from out of town. After the oriental degree supper will be served by the good and welfare committee.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many I have used that affords me relief.—E. R. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

KILLED HIS TROTTER.

EXPENSIVE MISHAP TO SALMON C. BAKER.

He and His Wife Collided with Bicycler Brokaw, and All Three Were Severely Hurt, While the Horse's Back Was Broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Salmon C. Baker, of West Fifth street, were out driving last night with their $500 trotter, when, on the county road near Fanwood, the horse collided with Elmer Brokaw on a bicycle.

Brokaw's bicycle was caught between shaft and wheel, and Brokaw was hurled to the ground.

The horse bolted and fell, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Baker out, and breaking its own back so that it had to be knocked in the head.

Brokaw was badly shaken up and covered with cuts and bruises. Mr. Baker had his scalp torn and his face injured. Mrs. Baker suffered severely from injury to a leg. Dr. D. C. Adams cared for the sufferers.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS IN TOWN.

40 Societies Represented, With a Total Membership of 1,600.

The Elizabeth District Epworth League convention opened this morning in Vincent chapel at 9, with a "Look Up" service, led by the Rev. C. X. Hutchinson, Park church, Elizabeth. This was followed by "Greetings" from the Rev. H. F. Randolph, Grace chruch, North Plainfield, and the Rev. H. B. Munson, Monroe Avenue chapel.

From 9:40 to 10:30 business pertaining to the league was transacted, Dr. Ryman presiding, and the Rev. Mr. Trumbower acting as secretary.

A committee of five was appointed to nominate officers, which were: J. R. Joy, W. H. Thompson, W. W. Winans, the Rev. Mr. Hutchinson and Miss Rosa Ham.

Lebanon was chosen as the next place of meeting for the convention, and it was recommended that the annual meeting of the league be held the first of January.

It was moved and carried that a temperance pledge be prepared and circulated among the chapters of the league. W. W. Winans and L. Campbell were appointed as the committee.

The following committees were appointed:

Resolutions—James R. Joy, H. B. Munson, Miss Kate Kennedy.

Credentials—L. G. Ayers, W. C. Kinsie, H. B. Conway.

Auditing—James R. Joy, E. E. Roberson, Mrs. F. H. Simmons.

Walter W. Winans, of Dunellen, read a paper on "How can the league aid in the temperance reform?"

The Rev. D. B. F. Randolph, of Trinity church, Staten Island, opened a discussion on "The league and the Sunday night preaching service".

The Rev. C. R. Barnes, of Plainfield, opened a discussion on "Methods of Junior League work".

This closed the morning session, and lunch was provided for the delegates.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION

opened with a devotional service led by the Rev. W. C. Kinsie, of Dunellen, after which the unfinished business was taken up. At this time R. M. Moore, of Newark, sang a pleasing solo.

The following officers were elected:

President—W. W. Winans, Dunellen.

First Vice-President—J. R. Joy, Plainfield.

Second Vice-President, Mrs. C. X. Hutchinson, Elizabeth.

Third Vice-President—L. G. Ayers, Somerville.

Recording-Secretary—Mrs. F. S. Simmons, Raritan.

Corresponding-Secretary—The Rev. W. C. Kinsie, Dunellen.

Treasurer—Miss M. H. Ham, Cranford.

Plainfield Land Better and Cheaper.

W. W. Coriell, of West Front street, went to Asbury Park on a prospecting tour, Monday. He offered the owner of some land on a side street $1,000 for a plot 25x60 feet in dimensions. Mr. Coriell wants to build a cottage there, but when told $3,000 would hardly buy it he took a train for home.

Ran Into a Load of Women.

One amateur bicyclist of East Front street had the misfortune to have three "fall-offs", Sunday. The most disastrous was in front of the First Presbyterian church just at the time church was "letting out". He tried to turn in the street, and fell headlong into a carriage-load of females. One of the latter jumped from the wagon to assist the unfortunate rider, but he was not badly injured, and was able to proceed on his way.

Force Them to Use the Middle.

Since the top dressing of crushed stone has been put on Belvidere avenue, some of the property-owners have distributed cord wood along in the gutters in front of their residences, so that drivers are obliged to "keep in the middle of the road", and not cut up the sides of the avenue.

The City Deceived Him.

On account of a change in the grade, one East Front street property-owner recently set his curb stones and sidewalk four inches lower than the established grade. He claims that at the time he set them he was acting under instructions of the authorities.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochaug, R. I.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

A CONSULTATION SUGGESTED.

Something Should Be Done to Suppress This Invalid's Violent Outbreaks.

The editor of the Courier presented himself to the contemplation of his limited circulation, last evening, in the same old role again of an envious vizen.

He has been engaged for the past month or so in endeavoring to bring into ridicule his successful competitor, the senior proprietor of this paper, by means of spiteful slurs illy concealed within a cloak of silly humor. Failing by such means to attract attention to his little self, or call forth an answer that might imply he even existed, he now attacks personally and by name others connected with THE PRESS and maligns their character and credit, without a scintilla of cause, excuse or provocation.

The state of his health for some time past has been such that to many the method and manner of his last performance will imply that it is but the beginning of the end. We sincerely trust not! The editor of the Courier has been a gentleman, and none, without exception, stand higher than his people in this community. However, his physical condition is such that his acts merely incite sympathy from the public and can only impel pity from us.

This is what called forth the Courier editor's spleen: A real estate dealer by the name of Vail, rented to Garret Dunham a house belonging to William H. Brower. Vail made out the leases, Dunham signed them and Brower accepted them. Dunham paid Vail the first month's rent out of which the latter retained his commission. Now a real estate dealer by the name of Mulford, who did n't even know the house was rented, sues one Demarest, who was formerly a tenant of the house, for $15 which he claims is due him as commission for the transaction between Vail and Dunham.

Thereupon, the editor of the Courier proceeds to spitefully slander by name the proprietors and managing editor of THE PRESS.

We compassionately consign him to the care of his friends, simply suggesting the necessity in his case of a consultation at once of the most eminent paresis experts and highest authorities upon the diseases of old women.

EX-MAYOR RANDOLPH SPOKE.

He Urges His Grand Army Comrades Not to Forsake Their Patriotism.

Winfield Scott Post, 73, G. A. R., and Women's Relief corps, 10, accompanied by a cornet band, paid a fraternal visit to James A. Garfield post, 4, Newark, last evening. Upon their arrival they were met by the Newark post and drum corps, and escorted to Calanthe Armory hall, where a delightful supper had been prepared by the Women's Relief corps of that place.

Commander Morris, of Newark, presided, and after the inner man had been filled, he made a short speech, in which he welcomed the visitors. He then called on commander Dobbins of the visiting post, who made a few remarks which were well-chosen and to the point.

Comrade L. V. F. Randolph was then called on for a speech. He gave a most stirring one, speaking of habits, what some of them were, and how to get rid of them. Continuing, the speaker said: "There is one habit we must never lose, and that is the habit of patriotism, and loyalty to our country, for it is the hope of the world, and the blessing of God."

Miss Etta Raybert, of this city, rendered two excellent selections, and was loudly applauded. Mr. Bennett, of Newark, gave selections with the harmonica and guitar, playing both instruments at once. Following this, James Atwood, of Trenton, made a few appropriate remarks; past commander Smith was called on for a song, and gave with much effect "Army Beans" and "Marching Through Georgia". A recitation by comrade Mattox was a pleasing feature.

This closed the evening's entertainment, and the visitors were escorted to the station, where they boarded the 11:25 train. All join in praise for the most excellent treatment by their sister post.

An Encyclical on the School Question.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Rome correspondent of the Catholic News has cabled that the Pope mailed an important Pontifical document on June 5, to the bishops of the United States. This document deals with the school question, and upholds the opinion of the majority of the Episcopate of the United States.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The schooner Henry Clay was struck by lightning off Black Rock, Tuesday night. The topmast was splintered and the captain was partially stunned by the bolt.

Captain Julius C. Schaller, of the gun detachment, was elected junior major of the Second battalion, Third regiment, National Guard, at Elizabeth, N. J., last night.

The employes of the Adams Express Company, at Hartford, Conn., were in a flurry yesterday over the escape of an alligator nearly three feet long from his box. He was captured with considerable difficulty.

President Hiram L. Camp of the New Haven Clock company, a well known temperance worker and philanthropist, is very ill at his home in New Haven, and his physicians offer no hope of his recovery. He is 84 years of age.

Have No Equal.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS have attained a world-wide reputation solely upon their superlative merits. They have many would-be rivals, but have never been equalled or even approached in curative properties and rapidity and safety of action. Their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by unimpeachable testimonials from those who have used them, and they are recommended as the best external remedy for weak back, rheumatism, sciatica, colds, coughs, sore throat, chest and stomach affections, kidney difficulties, weak muscles, strains, stitches and aches and pains of every description.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for ALLCOCK'S and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

THEY CARVED LIVE CAT.

BUT WHAT OF THAT, SINCE PUSSY DID N'T MIND IT.

These Cruel Youth Sought Science Truth, and Persevered to Find It—The Fiddle Strings and Inside Things Their Sharp Knives Excavated, to Prove that They Would Work Away, Though Widely Separated.

When a medical student has finished his winter work in the dissecting room, which ends about the first of May, he is generally willing to forego the pleasures of practical research for a little while; but long before the fall term comes in, the desire to do some work grows too great to be withstood, and cats, birds and frogs or any other subjects that come to hand are operated on in lieu of the human subjects that are left at college. Vivisection forms a most attractive form of experimenting, to the scientific mind, and is not by any means the cruel operation that it is popularly supposed to be; in fact, in all the more simple manipulations the animal is despatched before it recovers from the influence of the anaesthetic employed.

A most interesting and instructive operation is one that was performed in Plainfield a few days ago, the object being to show the heart and lungs performing their functions in the natural manner. The subject, a large tomcat, was etherized and placed upon the operating table.

This table is especially prepared for the subject, and consists of a flat board about three feet square, with pegs at the corners to secure the strings that hold the cat.

Ether was administered to the animal in a wash boiler, and it was removed quite limp and of course absolutely insensible to pain.

Strings were rapidly fastened to the extremities of the animal, it was laid on its back on the operating board, and the strings were tied securely to the pegs so that it held the cat with limbs extended.

A piece of cloth saturated with ether and held by an assistant near the nostrils of the subject served to keep it under the influence of the anesthetic. The ribs were plainly visible through the fur, and the operator quickly and skillfully removed the left side of the chest from the fourth to the fifth rib, inclusive. The ribs themselves were easily severed and removed, and, after cutting away the thin tissue under these bones, the heart and lungs were plainly seen acting as in normal life. A square piece of glass which had been provided for the purpose was next inserted in the hole, and through this window the whole external mechanism of the circulation and respiration could be watched at leisure.

Do not for a moment imagine that the foregoing was a bloody or repulsive process. Everything was done so quickly and carefully that the whole did not take more than ten minutes at most, and the cat, entirely oblivious to the radical changes being made in its internal economy, slept peacefully until an excess of ether was applied, when it passed quietly away.

While the observer looked through the window in the cat's chest, the peculiar squeezing and rolling motion of the heart could plainly be seen, and the lungs expanded and forced the air out again as regularly as if pussy had been taking an afternoon nap in the sun.

In another experiment the heart of the cat was removed, of course instantly killing the subject, and placed in a bowl of salt and water, where it kept up its beating for nearly 30 minutes after removal from the body of its owner, illustrating the automatic action of the heart muscles. The heart of a cold-blooded animal, such as a frog, will keep up its action for a much longer time than that of the cat, and it is interesting to watch its regular action hour after hour.

One of the chief uses of vivisection is in determining the functions of various organs and parts of organs in the body, and most experiments have been so successful that by their aid the various motor centers of the brain have been accurately located, so that often in cases of local paralysis the very part of the brain that governs the affected members or portion thereof can be found and the trouble removed.

An experiment also performed in Plainfield is that of removing the suprarenal glands, whose function has never been discovered. These are two small glands situated over the kidneys where the renal veins emerge from those organs.

It has been found that these little glands, which in a cat are the size of a very small pea, may be removed and the animal get quite well and not seem to miss them in any way.

For this operation the subject was placed on the table as before and an incision was made in the center of the abdomen, lengthwise, about four inches long. This cut through the muscles of the abdomen and the peritoneum, and left the intestines and stomach in full view. The intestines were carefully lifted out of the cavity and placed on a warm towel at the side of the subject, their removal showing the kidneys with the suprarenal glands in full sight. These little organs lie so close to the renal veins that it is very difficult to remove them without causing a large flow of blood. A practised hand, however, does not find it so hard, and in the present case they were taken out with a little curved knife. As great care must be taken that no foreign matter gets into a cut of this kind, all the instruments were kept in a solution of bichloride of mercury, which is a germ-killer or antiseptic.

After the suprarenals had been removed, the intestines were replaced or rather squeezed back into place, and the muscles drawn over them and the whole wound was sewn up carefully, having previously been covered with iodiform, which keeps it clean and fresh. Bandages are applied, and the subject allowed to regain consciousness. A wound heals rapidly in an animal of this sort, and the subject is well in a very short time. In the present case the cat recovered completely.

Had anything gone wrong with the operation, the cat would speedily have been put out of this world by excessive ether or the application of a sharp instrument into the spinal cord at the base of the skull, which kills instantly and painlessly.

It cannot be conceived what a tremendous help such experiments are to the student until one tries for himself, and many important facts in surgery have been brought to light since popular prejudice has been overruled and experiments in vivisection are permitted to be carried on openly.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

Something About Saturday's Game and Crescent Graduates.

Geo. Leidy, formerly center-fielder for the Plainfield Crescents, is doing good work for the Scranton team of the Pennsylvania State league, and has made himself popular with the patrons of the game in that city.

The Trentons, who are to play here Saturday, are said to be one of the best teams ever organized in that city. The players are the pick of last season's Pottery league, and they will be no cinch for the Crescents.

In reference to the Wilkes-Barre team of the Eastern league, a letter from that city states that Bonner is not playing a very good fielding game; "he gets rattled very easy, but is hitting the ball hard". The Plainfield management were trying to arrange a game with this team, but they have no open dates.

They Want a New Chapel.

Gen. Schwenk's lawn will be gay next Tuesday evening with the festival provided by the Marconnier Sunday-school ladies, for the benefit of the chapel fund. The Sunday-school of 57 scholars and five teachers, has outgrown its present quarters (the home of Mrs. Schwenk), and is most anxious to build a chapel, but lacks the necessary funds. All are invited to join in the merriment and help the cause.

Jersey Berries Coming In.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—Cool nights and easterly winds have retarded grass which will be a short crop. All growth needs rain. Strawberries beginning to ripen; picked 12 quarts on the 2d, the first of the season. Rain badly needed. P. C. JOHNSON.

PLAINFIELD—All crops are looking well. A good rain at this time would help, if followed by plenty of sunshine. Insects are attacking fruit trees. Lowest temperature, 41 degrees; rainfall, on the 28th, 0.05 inch.
JOHN NEAGLE.

A Plainfielder's Handicap.

The Elizabeth Journal says: "Bert Hart, a Plainfield enthusiast, is arranging for a twenty-five mile handicap road race over the Scotch Plains-Fanwood course, to be run on July 27. Entries will close July 20. Open to all riders in New Jersey. Medals will be given as time prizes."

IN CUPID'S BOND

June's Fairest Face Bestows Its Grace and Tunes the Marriage Psalter—Gay Sunbeams Dance Round Mrs. Hance—Miss Lillie Weds Her Waiter.

MAGUE—YOUNG.

In Hope chapel, last evening, Miss Lillie Young and Walter Mague, both of this city, were made one by the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell.

The wedding party arrived at the chapel at 8. The bridal march was played by Miss Poole of New York. The bride was attired in cream cashmere with lace trimmings. The bride looked very beautiful as she entered the chapel. Miss Bessie Mague, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid. She was attired in a dress of pale blue. William Leland acted as best man. The groom is a well-to-do machinist in the Pond Tool Works. After the marriage ceremony the happy party proceeded amid showers of rice, to the home of the groom on Prescott place, where a reception was given to the relatives and intimate friends, numbering about forty. The bride and groom will spend a two-weeks' honeymoon at Worcester, Mass. After their return they will go to housekeeping on Prescott place, where the groom has provided a newly-furnished home for his bride.

HANCE—IRVING.

Plainfield is the gainer, because of the attentions for some time past, paid to Miss Minnie Irving of Liberty Corner by the esteemed and rising young lawyer, Hiram O. Hance, Esq. This culminated to-day at noon, when amid a profusion of wild flowers, in the quaint old Presbyterian church at the home of the bride, the two were joined in wedlock by the Rev. J. A. Wells, in the presence of a large company of friends who had come from near and far to attend the nuptials. All nature seemed to smile for the occasion, having dressed herself in springtime colors.

The bride was bewitchingly lovely, dressed in a very handsome white China silk and satin robe. She wore the time-honored bridal veil and had diamonds for ornament. In her hand she carried a magnificent bunch of bride roses. The groom looked his best, and promptly at the hour the bridal party, preceded by the ushers, while from the organ there pealed forth the bridal march from Lohengrin, took their places at the altar. The bride had for lady of honor Miss Ruth Layton, who wore pink and carried roses of the same hue.

The groom was ably supported by Joseph Sattels, of this city, who stood by his friend manfully during the trying ordeal.

The ceremony being finished, the bridal party, accompanied by the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, left the church and repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a bountiful collation was served. After a short time, receiving congratulations and best wishes of their friends, the newly-wedded pair, amid a shower of rice and old shoes, left the bride's home and departed on an extended wedding trip.

Many very pleasant features were connected with the wedding and two of them are deserving of special mention. The girl friends of the bride, in selecting wild flowers for the church decorations, certainly chose well and exhibited great taste in the arrangements. The organ was presided over by W. H. Miner of Holy Cross church. The ushers were A. Q. TenEyck, H. A. Acken, Ayers Leeson and Walter S. Terrell, all of Liberty Corner.

The new couple were the recipients of many useful and ornamental gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Hance will in the future reside on Grandview avenue, where a well furnished house awaits their return.

E. L. ADAMS,
Librarian.

Surprised on Her Birthday.

A birthday surprise party was given to Miss Etta VanBuskirk at her home, West Second street, last evening. About twenty young people engaged in the festivities. The time rolled past in singing, dancing, and the playing of games. The presents were many and costly. Refreshments were served. The happy party broke up about 2, and all departed for their separate homes, having spent an enjoyable evening and wishing the happy young hostess many returns of the day.

MR. MARTINE OF PLAINFIELD.

He's a Much-Talked-of Man, Nowadays, and Won't Accept a Senatorship.

"Mr. James E. Martine of Plainfield"—says the Elizabeth Journal—"has already been mentioned in several papers as a probable candidate for Senator on the Democratic ticket in this county. It is possible that Mr. Martine may want this office, but until he says so we will not believe it. Mr. Martine's desire is to go to Congress. He was the most formidable candidate for nomination against Hon. John T. Dunn. His chances of election to Congress in this district would be far better than his chances of being elected as Senator. Moreover Mr. Martine might, as State Senator, utterly destroy all his chances of being elected to Congress, either by some political accident or by proving himself to be a man whom the party leaders could not manage, and therefore would not want. Doubtless there are a number of prominent Democratic leaders who would be glad to sidetrack Mr. Martine with a Senatorial nomination, but unless he is less shrewd than his friends assume him to be, he will not let such small game draw his powder when there is a possibility of big game a little further on."

Had the Journal read its Monday PRESS thoroughly, it would have known that Mr. Martine positively declined the Senatorial nomination.

A PRIEST AND A PLAINFIELDER ACCUSED.

Thomas O'Brien Names Father Leonard and Joseph Sullivan as Co-Respondents.

A divorce suit in which a Plainfielder and a Catholic priest are named as co-respondents came before vice-chancellor Green in Jersey City yesterday. The action is brought by Thomas O'Brien, a wealthy liquor merchant of Passaic. Rum was the beginning of the wife's downward career, according to the husband's allegation. Margaret, the defendant, denies the charges of infidelity and accuses her husband.

In his petition O'Brien says they were married in St. Anthony's church, New York, June 1, 1879, by the Rev. Father Leonard. They lived there for two years, and then the wife began to be too fond of strong drink. He moved to Passaic, hoping by getting her away from her associates to cure her of her appetite; but he was forced to leave her in 1890. After the separation she fell into evil company, he says, and he names Oakley Wood, of Passaic; the Rev. Father Michael J. Rickey, who is said to have left this part of the country, and Joseph Sullivan, of this city, as co-respondents.

Annie Matthews, a young woman, niece of the plaintiff, who lived as a servant with Mrs. O'Brien, swore Wood had a latchkey and called almost every night upon Mrs. O'Brien and her companion, Mary Ryan. She had seen the Rev. Father Rickey and Mrs. O'Brien in the latter's bedroom. Both were intoxicated. Joseph Sullivan was also one of the visitors entertained by Mrs. O'Brien.

William B. Simons said that on August 20, 1892, he went to Delaware Water Gap with Wood, Mrs. O'Brien and Mary Ryan. Wood and the defendant, he said, were registered as "J. Gregory and wife" at the Mountain House, where they all stayed.

Edward Hauser, the hotel proprietor, corroborated Simons and identified the defendant.

The case was adjourned until June 27.

The Trenton Ball Team.

The batting order of the Trenton baseball team that will play here against the Crescents, Saturday, is:

Don't Like Police Espionage.

Members of the Plainfield Athletic club sought legal advice Monday evening, with reference to their rights and privileges. They claim that an officer has been sent there especially to watch the place and that there is no occasion for it.

Arbitration of the Strike Begun.

PITTSBURG, KAS., June 8.—The arbitration of the miner's strike has been begun. President Walters, of the Miners Union at the head of a delegation from the executive committee met a committee from the mine operators yesterday. Pending the outcome of the meeting the men at Osage City have gone back to work and action looking to a strike of the Missouri miners has been deferred. The men are still out.

Russians Returned to New York.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The two Russian war ships Dimitri Donskoi and Rynda which have been visiting this port, have sailed for New York. During their stay here, the officers have been the recipients of much official and social attention, and they express themselves as being more than pleased with the treatment accorded them by the citizens of Philadelphia.

Sending Currency to the West.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Over $1,000,000 in currency has been shipped by New York banks to Chicago. Demands from banks in Cincinnati, Cleveland, and other parts of the West, brought the total shipments up to $1,500,000. Application was made at the Sub-Treasury for a telegraphic transfer of $700,000 to San Francisco.

Moody Merrill's Transactions.

BOSTON, June 8.—It is stated by Mr. Jacob Pfaff, the acting president of the Franklin Land and Improvement Company, that Moody Merrill, the missing financier, and business man, as president of the company had issued $40,000 in stock, hypothecated it with brokers and made no return of the transaction or the money received.

THE AMERICAN NAVY.

It Is Not as Powerful as We Have Been Told.

An Interesting Chat with Rear Admiral James E. Jouett—Our Cruisers Stand Too High Out of the Water—The Puritan.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"It is very true that our navy is deficient in battleships," says Rear Admiral James E. Jouett, retired. "The British naval officer who recently said in New York that our ships stand too high out of the water and that in a fight 'they would make good targets for the enemy to fire at,' merely uttered a truth with which the officers of the American navy are perfectly familiar. The New York editor who printed that remark and wrote an editorial upon the subject has been severely criticised throughout the press of the country, so I have observed; but the original statement and the comment made upon it are worthy of the consideration of our people."

"Do you mean, admiral, that we are not provided with battleships with which we might cope with the navies of foreign nations?"

"I certainly do. Of course you know I am regarded as an old fogy, and consequently I do not have anything to say about these matters. My own opinion, however, is that we have been building our cruisers upon models which might be greatly improved. It is true that they attain great speed and that they are great improvements over vessels of the old navy, but they stand so high out of the water that their resistance to wind and wave prevents them from attaining that degree of speed which cruisers ought to have. I cannot say that I admire the white squadron, excepting those ships which were built upon the Roach models."

"But we will have some battleships, will we not, admiral?"

"O, yes, we will have some battleships one of these days, and they will be good ones, too. When the Puritan is completed I would be willing to take that vessel and enter into an engagement with all the vessels from foreign countries which have recently been visiting our shores. The Puritan is to be an iron, low, free-board coast defense monitor with two steel barbette turrets. She was commenced by John Roach at Chester, Pa., in 1875, and is now in course of completion at the United States navy yard in New York. I understand that this battleship is very nearly completed now and is only awaiting her armor. Her length is to be 289½ feet and her breadth 60 feet. Her main draft is to be 18 feet and her displacement 6,060 tons. It was originally intended that her maximum indicated horse power should be 7,800. This magnificent battleship will stand only about thirty inches out of the water, and she will be able to steam at the rate of fourteen knots an hour at sea. The difference between this battleship and the cruisers of which we are so reasonably proud, so far as fighting purposes are concerned, will be very great indeed. The Philadelphia, Chicago or Atlantic might be struck by the gunners of the foreign vessels at a distance of three miles or more; but it would be almost impossible for the best gunners in any navy even at a distance of one mile to strike such a vessel as the Puritan shooting at an object so near the water line with the great guns of the modern navy would be almost equivalent to shooting across the street with a revolver at the thin edge of a sheet of tissue paper. It would almost be impossible to strike her.

"The Miantonomah is a very good battleship of her class, and in a few years more we will have some very formidable battleships. But at present the criticism made by the British naval officer and commented upon by the New York papers is just in every way. You must remember that the recent naval display at Hampton Roads and New York was in no sense a display of strength of the navies of the world. The foreign nations which participated in the naval review in honor of the discovery of America sent vessels which were merely of the same class as our own. They did not make any effort to display their strongest vessels for our humiliation upon our own shores."

These statements of Admiral Jouett are worthy of serious consideration. He is one of the bravest officers the people of this country have ever sent to sea. The deeds of bravery and heroism done by this old sea dog would easily fill a volume; and the half would not then have been told. What he says is not in an unfriendly or unkind spirit, because he is very proud of the American navy and its history, and he believes that our navy to-day is composed of splendid officers and brave American seamen. He merely states the facts as they appear to him, in an off-hand, bluff and hearty manner, which makes his opinions all the more valuable.

Under date of December 30, 1892, Hon William E. Chandler, secretary of the navy, addressed a letter to Hon J Warren Keifer, speaker of the house of representatives, concerning the importance of completing the iron-clad monitors Puritan, Amphitrite, Monadnunk and others. In that letter Mr Chandler said: "If the nation is to gain its position as a maritime and naval power, reasonable provision should be made, not only for offensive cruising vessels, but also for harbor defense, by means of iron-clads. Such defense can be accomplished more effectively and economically by double-turreted monitors than by any other form of armored vessels."

In writing that letter to the speaker of the house of representatives, the secretary of the navy transmitted a report from the naval advisory board in which scientific reasons and arguments were given to sustain the recommendation of the secretary of the navy. From this letter and the accompanying reports which I have found upon the files of the house of representatives, it appears that over ten years ago the secretary of the navy and the leading engineer officers were fully in accord with the views which are expressed above by Admiral Jouett. While we have considerable reason to be proud of the improvement which has occurred in our navy in recent years, it must be a source of sincere regret that congress, by a mistake in the idea of economy, has thus long delayed the completion of our line of battleships. But year after year the secretaries of the navy have requested liberal appropriations for this work, only to be answered with specious pleas for economy, while the statesmen have proceeded to vote money away in the river and harbor bill, for the improvement of out-of-the-way creeks and almost unheard of streams.

When the Puritan was commenced by John Roach, the only contract which the secretary of the navy was permitted by law to make contained the following shameful clause: "It is expressly understood, however, that the government is not to be involved in liability, and that the contractors are to do their work, if they do it, waiting for and accepting for their pay such appropriations as may be made by congress therefor." In other words, any American shipbuilder who might be rich enough and patriotic enough to build warships for the country might do so, and depend upon the generosity of congress for his reimbursement. It is disgraceful to our nation that such legislation should ever have been enacted. But it was the law, and John Roach undertook to prepare a navy for the republic. The above proviso in ship-building contracts will be conceded by every business mind to have been an outrage upon the national honor. No nation can ever hope to build a navy in such a hap-hazard manner; and it was Secretary Whitney whose administration made it possible for the government to make honest contracts, and there by develop the nucleus of a navy. That is all we have to-day; a nucleus.

In an official report to the secretary of the navy concerning the Terror, Puritan, Amphitrite and Monadnunk, Commodore Shufeldt said: "In thickness of turret, deck and bow armor, the Puritan is superior to the other ships;" so that it will appear that the president of the naval advisory board officially agreed with Admiral Jouett in his estimate of the new monitor. This marine monster is to have two electric search lights of 20,000 candle power each, so mounted as to have clear sweep of the horizon of at least two hundred and fifty degrees, and both lights are to command all approaches to the ship, each light being provided with its own engine and dynamo.

In the two turrets of the Puritan will be mounted four 10½-inch, steel, breech-loading rifled guns; each of them possessing the strength and dimensions necessary to utilize a charge of 275 pounds of powder, with a projectile of 550 pounds weight. These immense death-dealers are to be loaded, elevated and run out of their port holes by hydraulic power. The armor on the turrets will be 14 inches thick, except in front of the guns, where it will be 16 inches, with a wooden backing of white oak, 11 inches thick. Even if this ship were struck squarely upon the turret with the heaviest projectile of modern times, it could not be penetrated. But the chances are as one in a million that the vessel would ever be struck squarely in the center of a revolving turret. Any missile which might strike the moving surface of the turret, save in the exact center, would glance harmlessly away into the water. This is a very brief description of the battleship to which the admiral directed my attention; but, it is sufficient to show her power.

SMITH D. FRY.

The Duke and the Inventor.

The reported invention of a bullet-proof "plastron" recalls the anecdote connected with the duke of Wellington and a somewhat similar invention. The inventor, having obtained an interview with the duke at the Horse guards, was requested to put on the armor, which was stated to be of some light material worn beneath the clothing. The duke having expressed his approval of its appearance, the inventor, highly pleased, dilated on its perfect qualities warmly, until the commander-in-chief quietly asked one of his staff to order the attendance of a file of the guards with a few rounds of ball cartridge. Needless to add, the inventor made a hurried exit, and nothing more was heard of this invulnerable armor.—Broad Arrow.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL

Another Interesting Day in the Famous Case.

DR. BOWEN GAVE LIZZIE MORPHINE

Important Witnesses Heard Yesterday—Bridget Sullivan's Contradiction—The Burning of the Dress on the Sunday—Reporter Who Found the Cellar Door Fastened.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS., June 9.—The fifth day of the Borden trial opened this morning under the same exciting circumstances that have attended it thus far.

Long before the time of opening crowds surged before the doors of the court house, each person trying to get and hold a place of advantage in the line.

The proceedings of the day give promise of being as interesting as those of yesterday.

Yesterday the first witness called for was Mrs. Churchill, the previous call for Dr. Bowen having been rescinded, but she not being present, Dr. Bowen was put on.

Dr. Bowen stated nothing new in the direct examination, except to deny that he had ever said Mrs. Borden died of fright or in a faint. Cross-examinat on by Adams brought out the fact that the witness had prescribed morphine for the prisoner to allay nervous excitement, first in ordinary doses, afterwards in double doses continued to the time of her arrest, and afterwards when in the station house and before the examination at the inquest and that morphine so prescribed had a tendency to affect the memory and produce hallucination. The examination lasted a little over an hour.

On re-crose-examination, Bridget Sullivan denied that she saw Lizzie in tears when she called her down stairs just after the murder, and denied she had ever stated so, as shown by her testimony in the preliminary hearing. Mrs. Churchill was called at 10:30.

Nothing new developed in Mrs. Churchill's direct examination, but in cross-examination she told Robinson, Lizzie was so pale and excited after the murder that her appearance attracted witness's attention from the house. Rigid inquiry about the dresses failed to change her direct testimony.

Mrs. Churchill's examination was finished at 11:20. A five-minute recess was taken during which the prisoner talked with Charles J. Holmes, of Fall River.

Alice Russell was called at 11:30.

At noon, in direct examination, Miss Russell described Lizzie's burning the dress Sunday after the murder. First saw Lizzie in the kitchen with the dress, and Lizzie said: "I am going to burn up this old thing, covered with paint." Witness went out and came in again, and saw Lizzie standing near the cupboard door, and tearing or ripping small portions of dress. Skirt was lying on the shelf.

Witness said, "I would not let anybody see you do that," to which Lizzie said nothing, but moved back one step toward the cupboard door. Afterwards witness said: "I am afraid the worst thing you could have done was to burn that dress," to which Lillie replied: "Oh, why did you let me do it? Why did you not tell me?"

Gov. Robinson began cross-examination at 12:10.

His cross-examination failed to shake Miss Russell's direct testimony. On redirect she testified, against objection by defense, that Bedford is a cheap dress material, and that the cupboard in which witness saw a part of the dress at the time of the burning was used only for kitchen utensils.

At 12:50 John Cunningham testified about the murder. Court then took a recess from 1 to 2:15.

The afternoon session opened promptly at 2:15, the court room by this time being crowded. The testimony of the morning is considered very important, and Assistant Marshal Fleet, in conversation with a reporter, said he was at a loss to understand where that dress which Lizzie is alleged to have burned was when they went through the house; certainly they saw nothing of it.

John Cunningham took the stand to finish up his testimony. He detailed seeing Dr. Bowen, Miss Russell and Miss Sullivan passing up Second street and remembered seeing Officer Allen going towards the Borden house. He went up afterwards with Walter P. Stevens, of the Fall River News, and John Manning, of the Globe, and examined the grass in the Borden yard for footprints. They tried the cellar door and found it was locked. This is considered important for the prosecution, as showing that there was no way to get into the house by the cellar.

Witness said that when he and the reporters went to the house they jumped over the fence, and then peered about for footprints, they saw none, not even by the pear trees, in all the yard.

Officer George W. Allen, of the Fall River police force, said he was sent to the Borden house at 11:15 on the morning of the 4th. He described the manner in which he went, and about enlisting Mr. Sawyer for an outside guard. He saw Lizzie at the table in the kitchen, and he also saw the body of Mr. Borden. He saw that the front door was locked with a night-lock and a bolt.

Witness saw a clothes-press in the kitchen and looked into it. When he went to the station and reported to the marshal, he had not heard of Mrs. Borden's death. He detailed his coming again and his searches through the house and his finding the cellar door locked on the inside, or bolted. Witness said that when he saw the body of Mrs. Borden there was a small stand upon which were two books and a small oil lamp, about three feet away, but there was no marks of blood on the books or the stand. He noticed a bloody handkerchief on the guest chamber floor, lying about midway between the body and the wall.

Cross-examination failed to bring out anything of importance.

Francis H. Wixon, deputy sheriff of Bristol county, said he was at the Central police station, arriving there about 11:01. He heard the city bell ringing when he was eighty feet away from the police station. When he had been there ten or fifteen minutes the city marshal was called to the telephone; then he went by witness and gave some orders to somebody. Then Officer Allen came in and told the marshal something. After learning what the trouble witness went to the Borden house and thought he got there about 11:45. He looked at Mr. Borden and saw wounds on his face; they were many, and the blood was bright colored and fresh. He saw Mrs. Borden and said the blood was dark and coagulated. Witness said he had no opinion as to which of the two had been killed first. He was not an expert.

IMPORTANT DECISION

Alien Cabin as Well as Steerage Passengers are Immigrants.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Commissioner of Immigration Senner has received notification from Washington in response to special inquiries which he made to the Treasury Department, that all immigrants, whether in the steerage or in the first cabin of steamships, would come under the new regulations governing immigration, and would be required to answer the series of nineteen questions before they should be allowed to land.

By immigrant is meant any alien who comes to this country with the intention of settling here.

The steamship agents here protest against the law, and it was because of their protest that Commissioner Senner made special inquiries at Washington.

A YOUTHFUL BURGLAR

Eleven-year old Arthur Mann Begins House Breaking Early.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 9.—Arthur Mann, 11 years old, of New Milford, has been arrested charged with breaking into a house and carrying away a revolver and other things; also of going to a poultry house and killing all the chickens.

The youthful burglar is in the Hackensack jail and will be sent to the reform school at Jamestown.

A year ago Arthur and his sister were arrested for robbing four depots on the New Jersey and New York railroad. Sarah is now in the reform school.

Robbed Their Host.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., June 9.—Two men who claimed that they were looking for a business location asked Aaron Lasher to show them about this section of the country. When the three men were near St. Johnsville the two strangers attacked Mr. Lasher, robbed him of $100 and threw him from the carriage in which they were riding. The two men then drove back to Fort Plain and left the rig at a livery stable. Mr. Lasher was found by some of his friends last night and taken home.

Modus Vivendi Bill Issued.

LONDON, June 9.—The bill prepared by Lord Roseberry, Secretary of State for Foreign Agairs, embodying the modus vivendi between Great Britain and Russia has been issued. It contains five clauses, and is similar to the bill embodying the modus vivendi between Great Britain and the United States in regard to Behring Sea.

AFFAIRS IN HONOLULU

A Plot to Blow Up the Barrack Frustrated.

THEY THINK IT IS ANNEXATION

Provisional Government Talking of Retaliating on Spreckels—His Loan Paid By Subscription—Organizing a Citizens' Guard—Affairs in Samoa.

HONOLULU, June 1, via SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—No one knows how or why, but the fact remains that the annexation party of Hawaii have settled in their own minds that the United States is going to establish a protectorate over the islands. Annexation, except as something in the future, is now discussed; the cry "annexation," or nothing, no is longer heard. It is reported that Minister Blount has dropped a hint that a protectorate is the thing to look for. If the constant protestations of the royalists are to be believed, they have no intention of making a move until after the decision of the United States is known.

So far, Claus Spreckels has not gained much by his efforts to embarrass the government financially. Minister of Finance Damon betrays no concern about the matter. Retaliation is now being discussed. There is talk of stopping the subsidy of $1,000 per month paid to Spreckels' Oceanic steamship line. There was a time when the Oceanic line was of great value to Hawaii, but now the new Canadian Pacific line, the Pacific Mail and the Occidental and Oriental steamship companies make Honolulu a port of call, and the annexationists do not deem the Oceanic line essential to their prosperity.

Honolulu had a genuine dynamite scare last night. During a concert at the Hawaiian hotel at which most of the people of the town were assembled police officers saw three men acting in a suspicious manner near the ex-Queen's residence on Washington Place. When ordered to halt two of the men drove off in a hack and the third ran away in the darkness. Near where the man on foot was seen the officers discovered three dynamite bombs and a small bottle of fulminate of mercury. Company B. of the Volunteers was called out immediately and guarded the palace and barracks all night.

It is thought by officers of the Provisional government that the bombs were to have been used to blow up the barracks in which the Provisional army was sleeping. President Dole when seen stated that he thought that the finding of the bombs was proof of the reported conspiracy to restore the Queen, as did Attorney General Smith. The Royalists are indignant at the assertion.

A citizens' guard of probably six companies has been in progress of organization very quietly during the past few days. About 300 have already joined. Several hundred Springfield rifles for their use arrived on the Monowai.

The $95,000 loan to the government by Claus Spreckels, the immediate payment of which was demanded May 29, was all subscribed among business houses on the 1st inst. in about 20 minutes.

Spreckels had an interview with the ex-Queen on May 31, when, it is believed, he proposed to reinstate her on the condition of her giving him 30-year leases at low rates on large tracts of crown lands adjacent to his sugar estates and elsewhere. He expects that annexation will put those lands out of his reach by cutting them up for white settlers. His proposition was not accepted.

Although no official news has yet been made public it is stated that the government has received private letters from Washington assuring them that a protectorate will be declared by the United States.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani is preparing a lengthy statement to be given to Minister Blount. In it she recites the history of her short reign, the causes leading to her downfall, and gives her views as to unjustness of her treatment by the Provisional government.

Among the passengers on the steamer Alameda, which brought this despatch was Rev. Thomas Spurgeon, who, after a stay of two days in this city, will go to Chicago, where he will hold a two weeks' revival with Mr. Moody. Mr. Spurgeon then leaves for London, where he will assume charge of the Tabenacle formerly occupied by his father.

Capt. Fisher, of the German gunboat Sperber, came up from Samoa. He says that the affairs there are in a very unsettled state, and that another outbreak is liable to occur at any time.

HAS BLOUNT RESIGNED?

If He Has, the Fact is Unknown at the State Department.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—If Minister Blount has resigned his office as Minister to Hawaii, as stated in a San Francisco dispatch, the fact is not known at the State Department.

It is said to be improbable that such a communication would be sent by telegraph, and the Hawaiian mail which arrived at San Francisco on the steamer Australia yesterday will not reach the State Department before next week.

A telegram from Minister Blount was received a few days ago simply stating that he had received his credentials, and had taken the oath of office, so that if Mr. Blount has resigned, the action will surprise the department.

Contractors Give In.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., June 9.—The local contractors have united in agreeing to the demand of the carpenters for a nine-hour day with ten hours' pay. The carpenters returned to work after a strike of eight days.

BRIEF CABLEGRAMS

Two fresh cases of cholera were reported yesterday in Toulon. A woman who was stricken at 10 o'clock in the morning died at noon.

PATIENCE EXHAUSTED

The Premier Says That Great Britain's Interests Must Be Considered.

LONDON, June 8.—The prolonged delay in dealing with the Home Rule bill, caused by the numerous amendments offered by the opposition, has apparently exhausted the patience of the Irish members and of a number of the Liberals. In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Sexton, Nationalist, M. P., for North Kerry, asked whether the majority had not a right to take adequate measures to pass the Home Rule bill at this session.

Prime Minister Gladstone—The majority ought to be guided by consideration for the fulfilment of their pledges to the people.

Mr. R. L. Everett Liberal M. P. for Woodbridge, Suffolk, asked whether the Premier would take steps to quicken the passage of the bill.

Mr. Gladstone—The pressure of the Irish question has not absorbed the government from attention to the great questions affecting Great Britain.

This utterance of the Premier was received with cheers, and J. E. Redmond, the Parnellite leader, suggested that the House ought to hold all-night sittings until the Irish Home Rule bill had been disposed of.

Mr. Gladstone replied that if the government should propose that, considering the pressure already bearing upon the members, it would be necessary to provide a supply of undertakers. (Laughter.)

PENSION REFORMS

The Boards of Surgeons Examiners Now to Be Investigated.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The question of re-organizing the Board of Pension examining Surgeons throughout the country is just now under consideration by Secretary Hoke Smith, Commissioner Lochran, and Deputy Commissioner Murphy. There are 1,260 of these boards, each containing three members and their work is a very important factor in the administration of the pension laws and in the adjudication of claims.

Officials of the department state that careful examinations have revealed incompetence and gross carelessness in the work of some of these boards, and in some instances the evidence indicates that improper influences have been successfully applied to secure reports in pension claims favorable to the applicants. In view of these facts it has been decided to give this branch of the service a general overhauling.

TRIED TO WRECK A TRAIN

Masked Robbers Tore Up a Rail Near a Bridge One Hundred Feet High.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., June 9.—An unsuccessful attempt was made by five masked men to wreck the South Shore passenger train which leaves this city at 4.15 p. m. The train was flagged by a switchman at a high bridge on the route, about fifty miles east of this city. The would-be wreckers had torn up a rail near the bridge, which is 100 feet high, with rocky and steep banks.

While the man who discovered the displaced rail was endeavoring to flag the train he was set upon by the masked men and very roughly handled.

The bandits were frightened by the approaching train and took to the woods. They have not yet been captured.

Advocates Bismark's Recall.

MUNICH, June 9.—Count Preysing, the Centrist leader, speaking in this city, advocated the recall of Prince Bismarck to power. Prince Bismarck, the count said, had created a policy, friendly to the farmers, and would have the support of the Agrarians. The count added that both he and the late Herr Windthorst had deplored the dismissal of Prince Bismarck. Under Prince Bismarck, the count declared, everybody knew where he stood, whether as friend or foe.

Trouble on the Colville Reservation.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 9.—A special from Kettle Falls says that Government Surveyor A. McDonald and party arrived there yesterday, having been forceably driven off the Colville reservation by Indians. The Indians say, as a reason for their action, that the division line was not being properly located as agreed upon by a treaty with the Government.

New Corporations.

ALBANY, June 9.—The following new companies have been incorporated: The Jay Manufacturing company, of New York city, to manufacture wood trimmings and fittings, capital $10 000; the Franklin Realty company, of New York city, capital $10,000; the Washingtonville Water company, of Stamford, capital $20,000.

Blaze in North Adams, Mass.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., June 9.—Two wooden buildings at the corner of Eagle and Center streets, owned by the Cady heirs, were burned early yesterday. They were occupied by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, O'Brien's tailoring establishment, Calman's cigar store and Simonds' meat market. The loss is about $25,000.

West Point a "Dude Factory."

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Representative Cockrell, of Texas, who is a brother of the Missouri Senator of that name, has failed to appoint any candidate for admission to West Point from his district, and his people are displeased. Mr. Cockrell is charged with the belief that West Point is a "dude factory" that should be closed down.

A Royal Betrothal.

BERLIN, June 9.—The Berliner Tageblatt has a despatch from Darmstadt stating that the betrothal of the Czarewitch of Russia to the Princess Alice Victoria Helen Louise Beatrix, youngest sister of the reigning Grand Duke of Hesse Darmstadt, and granddaughter of Queen Victoria, will shortly be proclaimed.

The Report Without Foundation.

TUCKERTON, N. J., June 9.—The report that Collector Bartlett, of this Port, had just received special orders from the Secretary of the Treasury to keep a sharp lookout for filibustering expeditions who were trying to ship arms to Cuba, is without foundation.

An express train in Roumania ran into the flood near Suczawa and the force of the current threw the locomotive and 20 carriages from the half-ruined track. Many passengers were injured.

The sums of money given to the Pope during his episcopal jubilee by bands of pilgrims, by Catholic orders and by individuals, amount to 9,060,000 francs. The American pilgrims gave 600,000 francs.

James Gilbert, the Irish dynamiter, who was released from Portland prison on May 30, because he was supposed to be dying, has recovered his health sufficiently to leave the hospital. He will sail shortly for New York.

THREE JUDGES DIFFER

Two Say the Fair Gates Must Be Closed on Sunday.

AN INJUNCTION MUST BE ISSUED

None of Them Agree on All Points of the Question, But a Majority Decides on the One Important Point—Individual Expressions of Opinion.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9.—The judges of the Federal Court failed to agree upon the proper policy to be pursued in the Sunday closing question and yesterday a great crowd of lawyers and others were surprised by a procedure unparalleled in the history of the Federal Court of the Northern District of Illinois.

When Justices Woods, Jenkins and Grosscup took their seats on the bench the former announced that the Court would pass upon the motion for an injunction made by the United States against the World's Fair Exposition.

Judge Woods said that he and his associates entertained different views on certain important points and that each of the jurists would formulate his ideas in an individual opinion.

Judge Woods then, in a lengthy opinion, gave his views of the case and decided that the prayer for an injunction was well grounded and that the Columbian Fair could be enjoined from opening its gates on Sunday.

Judge Jenkins agreed in the main with Judge Woods, differing with the latter only on minor points of the law. He decides that the injunction must issue and the Fair close on Sunday.

Judge Grosscup holds that the Fair may be kept open.

This decides the question, as Judge Grosscup is in a minority. The court declares with the government for the latter's right to insist on the contract made by the acceptance of the souvenir coins, and that the gates of the Fair remain closed on Sunday.

The decisions of the judges were rendered verbally. Judge Woods held that Jackson Park had been legally turned over to the United States, and that the government has undisputed sway over the grounds.

The fact that the people of the State of Illinois voted in favor of an amendment to the constitution enabling the city of Chicago to increase its bonded indebtedness, in order to assist the Fair, is evidence that they acquiesced in the delivery of the park to the Fair authorities with regard to the appropriation of souvenir coins.

Judge Woods held this was a donation, and that the government was not a party to a contract, for the simple reason that there was no contract.

Congress had power at any time to decree Sunday closing of the Fair, and it was merely a coincidence, he said, that such a decree was made at the same time the appropriation was made.

He held that the Sunday closing rule which was made by the directory in order to receive the appropriation and which was ratified by the National Commission has never been repealed.

The United States has as much right to close the Fair on Sundays and to exercise jurisdiction over the grounds as it has over the government building.

The judge overruled the claims of the defendants in every case and placed himself upon record as favoring the granting of the injunction closing on the Sabbath.

In concluding his opinion Judge Woods said that the government was not a party to the contract and therefore had violated no contract by withholding a part of the souvenir coins.

District Attorney Milchrist said that he would ask that the order of injunction prayed for by the government be issued.

SHE DID NOT ELOPE

Alice Came Home and Married the Man of Her Choice.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., June 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Carman are receiving the congratulations of friends to-day on their marriage, which terminates a family disturbance and ends a supposed scandal.

Alice Towns, a pretty girl, was reported to have eloped with George Blake, a sixty-year-old admirer. The elopement is said to have been done for spite, as the girl's parents refused her permission to marry Henry Carman, the man of her choice.

Alice came home yesterday, having been stopping with her aunt in Elmer. She went a short distance on the train with Blake and then left him. Her father was so glad of her return that he sent for Carman and the young couple were married.

Young Train Wreckers.

PATERSON, N. J., June 9.—The detectives employed by the Erie Railway company, to hunt down the parties who derailed a train at Clifton on the night of May 25th, have caused the arrest of Star DeYoung and Louis Deiffler, two boys hardly ten years old, whom they claim are the guilty parties. The boys, it is alleged, placed an iron bar between a switch and the main track thereby derailing the locomotive and tender.

The Canal Street Bank's Affairs.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Superintendent of Banks Preston has made public the statement of affairs of the Canal Street Bank. It shows the bank's condition to be more favorable than anxious depositors anticipated and has restored confidence among them.

Immigrants at Boston.

BOSTON, June 9.—The steamer Halifax at this port from Halifax, brought 69 immigrants, and the steamer Yarmouth, from Yarmouth, N. S., 145.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Baltimore & Ohio road is preparing to cut down its working force.

Four of the five New York city Rapid Transit Commissioners have handed in their resignations to the Mayor.

The Central Traffic Association lines have decided to run Fair excursion trains from common points in Central Traffic territory for one fare for the round trip.

The Ontario & Western is going to put on a vestibule train for the accomodation of summer traffic to the mountain resorts along its line, and will test it to-morrow.

The West Shore's passenger department has secured the contract for the transportation of two thousand Brooklynites to the World's Fair on the occasion of Brooklyn's day.

It is said the Pennsylvania has abandoned the idea of building a short line across the Passaic river from a point near its coal shute on the meadows in order to shorten the time between this city and Philadelphia.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Sallie Smith, of Phillipsburg, is visiting her uncle, J. T. Case, 11 Vine street, borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lyman and family have taken possession of their model new Colonial home, Mercer and Washington avenues.

Miss Phoebe Hall, of New York city, sister of Charles Hall, one of the obliging clerks in Reynolds's pharmacy, spent yesterday with her brother, and enjoyed a carriage drive around the streets of Plainfield.

Wm. M. Kissam, of Lafayette place, and Miss May K. Platt, of Long Island, are to be married June 28. Mr. Kissam has built a pretty little house on Lafayette place and the happy couple will begin housekeeping there after a short wedding trip.

MAYOR NEAL BECOMES A LAWYER.

Acting mayor George H. Neal, of the borough, passed the examination at Trenton yesterday admitting him to the bar. He has not settled his plans, but he may locate in the borough. He 'll make a good one!

At Its Old Tricks.

Watch the Courier claim credit for causing the removal of railway supplies on Somerset street between Front street and the city line. The facts of the case are these: Yesterday morning our alert street commissioner, after reading THE PRESS of Wednesday regarding the proceedings at Trenton the day before, went to superintendent Passmore and told him that inasmuch as he had read in THE PRESS of the delay in deciding the case, the obstructions must be removed; and superintendent Passmore at once agreed with street commissioner Meeker and promised to have them removed at once. Now watch the Courier claim credit for causing their removal, in spite of the fact that the Courier announced that the case in court was to proceed, instead of being adjourned as this paper stated.

Jr. Order Converts.

After the regular meeting of Franklin council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held in the K. of P. hall, last evening, Messrs. W. C. Force, B. McVoy, and D. Krymer, of Franklin council, and T. Voorhees, of William G. Holton council, Dunellen, were shown into the mysteries of the Oriental court, a side degree of the order. A large number of princes were present from other councils in the vicinity and took part in the initiation. Refreshments were served, and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Do Not Be Deceived.

Persons with weak lungs—those who are constantly catching cold—should wear an ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER over the chest and another between the shoulder blades during cold weather. Remember they always strengthen and never weaken the part to which they are applied. Do not be deceived by imagining any other plaster like them—they are not—may look it, but looks deceive. Insist always on having ALLCOCK'S, the only reliable plaster ever produced.

DISASTER IN WASHINGTON.

COLLAPSE OF THE OLD FORD'S OPERA-HOUSE.

Possibly 100 Lives Lost—400 Government Clerks in the Building—Few Escapes Without Injury—All the Hospitals of the City in Use.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Ford's old Opera-house on Tenth street, in which President Lincoln was assassinated, fell in at 9:50 this morning. About 400 Government clerks were in the building at the time, and great loss of life resulted. It is feared that 100 persons were killed.

The first floor collapsed through weakness, caused by excavating a cellar, and its fall carried down the other three floors, and with them many clerks.

Firemen and police at once began removing the dead and wounded. All the ambulances in the city were summoned, and the rescued were taken to the hospitals.

The scenes were terrible. Some persons jumped from the third floor. The walls of the building remained standing, but every floor went down and every window was blown out. The building had been condemned as unsafe.

JAMES G. BENNETT INJURED.

Perhaps Fatally Hurt by a Fall from a Coach.

PARIS, June 9.—James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, was dangerously injured on Wednesday. Mr. Bennett fell from a coach on which he was riding, and was so severely hurt that medical attention was at once required. His condition grew worse, and Drs. Robin and Ledentu peformed an operation yesterday with a view of relieving him.

The doctors declare that Mr. Bennett's condition is now critical.

NEW YORK, June 9—G. G. Howland, General Manager of the Herald, denied to-day the correctness of the report that Mr. Bennett had been seriously injured. "Mr. Bennett was not seriously hurt", continued Mr. Howland; "his condition is satisfactory, and he expects to go out in a few days".

WATCH THE PROFESSOR.

The Royal Arcanum Entertains Its Friends in the Casino.

The entertainment given by the Royal Arcanum in the Casino last evening was a very largely attended and enjoyable affair.

Preceding the first number on the programme, Fred Green made a few remarks in behalf of the order. He spoke of the great increase in membership since its foundation, and its steady healthful growth.

Henry B. Ely then made his appearance as an Irish philosopher from Dublin, and entertained the audience in a very amusing manner.

Mr. Korff was next on the programme, and gave as a solo Raff's Cavatina.

Elmer P. Ransom then proceeded to execute several very clever tricks in magic, and received much applause.

A violin and piano duet by Korff and MacClymont was played with good effect, after which Mr. Ely again caused much merriment by his character stories. He good-naturedly responded to several well-earned encores.

Mr. MacClymont's solo, "Old Black Joe", was very well executed, and called forth much applause.

The "hit" of the evening was made by "the Great Pendleton" in his act entitled "Watch the Professor". This act, which was clever sleight-of-hand magic very funnily exposed, brought the entertainment to a close amid much laughter and applause, and sent the audience home satisfied with the most pleasant evening that had been spent with their friends of the Arcanum, to whom is due much praise for the very successful manner in which which everything passed off.

THE CENTURY RUN.

500 Will Take Part, and They'll All Breakfast in Plainfield.

The sixth annual great century run from Newark to Philadelphia, to-morrow, will arrive in Plainfield at 6:30. The route will be: Front street to Richmond, to Third, to Broadway, to Fourth, to the Wheelmen's headquarters for breakfast, thence at 7 oclock by Park avenue, to Seventh street, to Grant avenue, to Front street.

It is estimated that over 500 wheelmen will take part.

F. L. C. Martin has charge of the run from Scotch Plains to Trenton. A number will go to Newark to-night to be in at the start.

ANOTHER JUNE BRIDE.

Miss Milligan Wedded to Francis E. Bodin.

The marriage of Miss Hattie A. Milligan, of Washington Valley, to Francis E. Bodin, took place in the First Reformed church, Seventh avenue and Carroll street, Brooklyn, last night. The church was filled with the friends of the bride and groom. Youth and beauty in its happiest vein came to see the two joined in marriage and listen to the story "so old but ever new".

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her father, E. W. Milligan. She was preceded by the bridesmaids, maid of honor and ushers. As the bridal party entered, the organist played the beautiful wedding march of Mendelssohn.

A ripple of excitement passed over the feminine portion of the audience, as the word passed "Here she comes!" The ladies in the gallery crowded to the balcony rail, while those in the auditorium rose to their feet to catch a glimpse of the bride, who was more beautiful if possible than ever. The procession marched to the front of the pulpit, where they were met by the groom and his best man. They took their places before the Rev. J. M. Farvar, who in the usual form of the Presbyterian church made them husband and wife.

The father of the bride gave her away, and the bride and groom answered the usual questions in clear, firm voices. After the ceremony, the guests took coaches to Wilson's the caterer, where a collation was served and a reception held, after which all proceeded to the ball room, where, to the merry strains of sweet music, they danced the short hours away. The bride received many costly presents, useful as well as beautiful.

After the host of friends had congratulated the bride and groom, the happy couple went on a short wedding tour of two weeks through New York State.

Maid of honor—Miss Elizabeth Milligan.
Bridesmaids—Miss Hannah Ryan and Miss Hattie Klienfelder.
Best man—Charles A. Bodin.
Ushers—E. F. Glore, H. Wortmann, James W. Milligan, C. F. Church.

CLOSE OF THE CONVENTION.

Epworth Leaguers Conclude Their Business and Go Home.

After the election of officers yesterday afternoon, at the Epworth league convention, the resolutions given below were adopted:

A resolution thanking the retiring officers for their efficient work.

The most interesting part of the session was the treatment and discussion of the subject "All around the wheel", which included "spiritual, mercy and help, literary and social work, correspondence and finance".

Those reporting from these different branches gave much useful information.

The rest of the afternoon was given to two papers, by F. J. Lovatt, of the State league, and E. B. Moore of Elizabeth; and an address by R. R. Doherty, of Westfield. Adjournment was then made, after which the ladies of the church served supper to the delegates.

The evening session was held in the church proper, and was opened at 7:45 with a prayer and praise service conducted by Miss Marsh of Westfield, who was a most graceful and satisfactory conductor. Walter M. McGee had charge of the music.

The most important number on the programme was the address by the Rev. Edwin A. Schell, of Chicago. It was brimful of thoughts and suggestions which will be especially helpful to Epworth leaguers. In fact, it was the crowning point of the convention.

Following this, the consecration and farewell service was held, which was a most interesting and impressive feature. Everyone felt that the day had been most profitably spent, and departed for home determined to do more for their Master than ever before.

Everyone Was Treated Right.

The strawberry and ice-cream festival given in Hope chapel last evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society was an elaborate affair and a glowing success. The chapel was beautifully decorated, making a lovely appearance. The attendance was good, and everyone was well pleased. The following ladies did a lively business at the various booths:

Fruit and candy—Mrs. Ralston and Mrs. Higgins.
Cake—Mrs. Stephenson.
Strawberries—Mrs. Firstbrook.
Flowers—Mrs. Smith.
Ice-cream—Mrs. Bushby.
Lemonade—Mrs. Ball.

Ill-Mannered Somervillians.

Wednesday evening, while the five-year-old daughter of Henry VanVliet was walking on Grove street, Somerville, she was run into and knocked down by a bicyclist. The little girl was badly injured. An oath was the only apology made by the rider.

Wheelmen are monopolizing the sidewalks in the town, and in all probability an ordinance prohibiting the practice will be passed by the board of commissioners next Monday night.

PLAINFIELD GETS A MASTERPIECE.

"CHRIST IN THE TEMPLE" ADORNS EX-MAYOR RANDOLPH'S HOME.

It Is a Great Composition by Seitz, and Was the Original for a Famous Fresco in a Hungary Church—The Last of the Christian Artists.

A few days ago ex-mayor L. V. F. Randolph hung upon the wall of his drawing-room a work of art which is certainly one of the most important and interesting of the masterpieces known to Plainfield. It is a drawing in crayon by Seitz, in dimensions about five by four feet, and represents the Christ in the act of expelling from the Temple the sacreligious merchants and money changers.

This drawing is unique. Its only approximate counterpart is a fresco in a church in Hungary, for which this crayon was the original design. But this crayon was not treated as cartoon designs usually are: that is, thrown up boldly, and then left in the rough. It was, on the contrary, finished in the most conscientious and artistic manner in every figure and in every line. It is a completed work, and satisfying alike to the eye of the ordinary student and observer, and to that of the critic capable of appreciating all the excellencies of a chef d'oevre in art.

This great composition contains about a score of figures, each of them drawn with consummate skill, and every figure alive with the stir and fearfulness of that grand occasion when the zeal for the integrity of His Father's house, and especially for a religion enfreed alike from the shackles of ceremonial sacrifices and from avarice, consumed the loving but indignant Son of Man. He occupies the central position, and the flagellations of his "scourge of small cords" fall mercilessly on the cattle and dove vendors, and on the money changers whose overturned tables and scattered coins give further testimony to the just anger of the outraged Master. He stands before them, and now also before the reverent student of this great representative work, in the light and character of a terrible accusing conscience; the habitual attitude of love and compassion giving place to the burning accusation and reproof which dart from his eyes and fall from his stinging lash. It is a grand historical and religious theme, and the treatment is as grand as the theme demands.

A. M. Seitz, the artist, was the last of the society, or coterie, of "Christian artists", who studied and wrought at Rome under the leadership of Johann Friedrich Overbeck—chiefly during the first half of the present century. Overbeck was born in 1789 and Seitz a few years later. In 1806 Overbeck was a student in the pseudo-classical school of David and Fuger; but, though there gaining knowledge and practice in drawing, he was too spiritual-minded to love the hard materialism and vulgarity of mind which surrounded him. With a little band of followers and companions, he came to Rome, and there he studied and toiled for almost sixty years. With him were Cornelius and Schadow and Veit and Seitz. They were religious enthusiasts, and their art work was largely done in religious themes. They were sometimes called "Nazarites", and sometimes "Church-Romanticists". They were simple-minded, saintly men, caring not for gain or fame; but God-fearing and art-loving and humble. They have all passed away, and their places may not be filled again. When William H. Osborn was persuading the venerable Seitz to sell him this great cartoon, and some other drawings which the artist had resolutely kept to himself in his modest studio in Rome, the old man spoke with choked and reverent voice of his friend and associate Overbeck. "I carried him to his grave on these shoulders of mine", said the old Christian artist.

The works of this school of artists are not numerous. On the ceiling of the Quirinal Palace, in the great Hospital at Hamburg, in the Raczynski gallery at Berlin, in the great Cathedral at Cologne, and among the churches of Hungary, may be found oil paintings and frescoes, chiefly illustrating religious truth, and evincing the tender thought and conscientious carefulness of this German-Roman fraternity. William H. Osborn, an art connoisseur of New York, now owns some of the finest examples of this school. The great and good Bishop, Joseph George Strossmayer, employed Seitz to fresco in Hungary the church of which the Bishop was the munificent patron. And thus it came about that Seitz produced the noble cartoon which has now come in all its original perfection to one of our Plainfield homes. But, though the same conception lights up in strong and brilliant colors, as well as in finely rounded drawing, a sanctuary in the pious and patriotic prelate's fatherland, the original design—long kept and hoarded in the studio of the artist—has come to us, and will abide amongst us. Such masterpieces are great and immortal teachers. Their value is beyond all price. Of Seitz's pictures Daniel Huntington, president of the National Academy, recently wrote: "They are masterly works of art; full of solemn feeling, as well as of knowledge and skill in composition and expression."

A PRESS reporter was last night accorded the privilege of a private view of the great cartoon, and feels that Mr. Randolph's friends have a great treat in store in this marvelous inspiration of the old Christian artist. The figures are full of life and power. Every detail has been conscientiously perfected. So that as a work of art alone it stands a peer, while as a vast idea, matchlessly perpetuated, it impresses and elevates the human mind more and more, the closer it is studied. Mr. Randolph is to be congratulated on securing so valued a work, and to be complimented on his excellent taste in choosing for his collection not only this but the other gems of art which aid in beautifying his hospitable home.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Hon. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochaontaug, R. I.

MR. SCOTT'S INVENTION.

He Makes Another Great Stride in the Art of Printing.

PRESS readers are aware of the numerous inventions in printing machinery made by their townsman, Walter Scott. Recently he has been especially successful in perfecting and introducing color printing such as now used by the Inter-Ocean of Chicago, the Journal of Kansas City, the World of New York, and others. These machines print papers in four or five colors at a speed of from 15,000 to 24,000 copies an hour. Another machine of this kind is being constructed to print 40,000 per hour.

He has now brought out a multi-color lithographic machine, which prints several colors at one operation. The PRESS has examined samples of work from this machine which are equal in quality to work done on the single color machine. The execution is excellent. Thus another problem which was thought to be impossible has been solved.

TO PAY FOR THE PIANO.

The Women's Relief Corps Give a Pleasant Festival.

The Woman's Relief corps gave a very successful strawberry and ice-cream festival last evening. The proceeds are to be used to pay for the piano which they have just secured. A short programme was given, consisting of piano, violin and cornet music. Miss May Graves played several choice selections, as did also Mrs. Buckley, George Fuller and Christopher Sorenson.

A good sum will be realized from the event.

Following are the committees:

Committee of Arrangements—Mrs. Ann E. Dobbins, Mrs. E. K. Cox, Mrs. Jennie D. Smith.

Cake—Mrs. McVoy, Mrs. Angleman, Mrs. Woodruff.

Lemonade—Mrs. Mattox, Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Radan.

Ice-cream—Mrs. Westphal, Mrs. McGan.

Social—Mrs. Brokaw, Mrs. Coriell, Mrs. Brewster.

Flowers—Misses Sadie Smith, Maggie Summers, Lena Smalley, Laura Radan, May Shultz, Jennie Hargreaves.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

At Wilkes-Barre, June 7, the home team played the Springfields. The Philadelphia Press, speaking of the game, says: "Shortstop Bonner made three home runs, and a triple."

The Sun says: "Third baseman John Mayer of the Olympics of Paterson has signed with Scranton. Manager Van-Valkenberg has secured Heckman of Plainfield to play third."

Pitcher Bowers of the Yale Law School has promised to play with the New York A. C. after college closes. He will pitch his first game for the Mercury-foot nine on July 1 against the Crescents at Plainfield.

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR 10 YEARS.

The graduating class of the High school held the last meeting of the year, at the home of Miss Gertrude Rushmore, last evening.

Heretofore it has been the custom of holding the meetings in the Stillman building.

Officers were elected to serve for the next ten years. They were:

President—Arthur Serrell.
Vice-president—Stephen Rushmore.
Secretary—Newton Goddard.
Treasurer—Miss Mattie Barrett.
Orator—Charles Fernald.
Poet—Miss Helen French.
Prophetess—Miss Mary Wells.

After the election a social good time was indulged in, and refreshments were served.

BAPTISTS MAKE PROTESTS.

World's Fair Sunday Opening and Track Legislation Denounced.

Previous to their adjournment at Elizabeth on Wednesday night the delegates to the East New Jersey Baptist association, F. E. Marsh of Plainfield presiding, adopted the following resolutions in addition to others, condemning the liquor traffic and upholding the idea of the inspiration of the Bible:

Resolved, That while we cannot too often reaffirm how much we deplore the prevalence of the desecration of the Christian Sabbath, we are now deeply oppressed with shame brought upon our whole nation by the recent opening on that day of the World's Fair at Chicago. We trust that the courts, which now have the case before them, may find means for legally wiping off from our national escutcheon so foul a blot.

Resolved, That, in view of the corrupt and scandalous race-track legislation at the last session of our State Legislature, we enjoin upon all our people to carefully scan in the future the character of every man who offers himself as a candidate for the State Senate or House of Representatives, and to cast their votes for no man whose position on this question is the least doubtful.

He's a Counselor Now.

The examination for membership of the bar of the State of New Jersey was held at Trenton Wednesday and Thursday of this week. One of the successful candidates for the degree of counselor at law was attorney John Ridley of this city.

The number of applicants for a license as attorney at law was unusually large and the entire class passed successfully. A notable feature of this class was the fact that one of the number was a colored man, who has the distinction of being the first of his race to be admitted to the bar of New Jersey.

Particular Who Arrested Him.

Gilbert Franklin, a colored policeman, attempted to arrest a tramp at Somerville last night, and used him very roughly when he resisted. The tramp threw himself on the sidewalk, and said he would die rather than be run in by a negro.

Franklin was about to club him into submission when chief of police Stewart Hoffman pushed his way through the crowd and told the tramp to come with him. The tramp got up and went quietly to the lock-up with the chief.

BROUGHT DOWN THE CURTAIN.

SINGULAR EFFECT OF THE BETHEL CHAPEL SHOW.

Colored Society Gives a Faithful Production of Music and Drama—The Performance Began Late, But It Made Up in Quality.

Those who attended Bethel chapel, last evening, to enjoy the excellent programme prepared for the occasion, were not disappointed. It was a most unique affair, and the best of the kind ever given by the colored people.

It was generally understood that 8 was the opening hour, and at that time every space was filled. Several, however, who took part, were delayed in reaching the chapel, as they had long distances to travel, and much to do before leaving home, and in consequence the performance did not begin until 8:35.

The impatient auditors stamped their feet and clapped their hands, till then, but to no avail.

When the curtains were finally drawn back, Miss Alice Maynard appeared and rendered in exquisite taste and style a selection said to be from Chopin.

The numbers on the programme were not followed in order, as the performers arrived at different hours.

Mr. Nichon, of Fanwood, who has a very imposing figure, and is a favorite among the ladies, came forth and sang "I ain't as young as I used to be". He made a decided hit.

Miss Bailey gave a recitation, "Papa's Letter". It was a very sympathetic selection, and many were seen with great gobs of tears in their eyes.

A vocal solo by Miss Dixon, entitled "Moonlight", was delightful. She was perfectly at ease, and would walk around the piano to see if the right notes were being played. One uncharitable person remarked that she was singing "just as if someone was squeezing her". Her dress was of a light sky-blue, with a sufficient number of other colors to give it a rainbow effect. She was applauded so loudly that in response she sang "Sing Sweet Birdie", most affectionately.

The programme was interspersed with parts of the play of "Cinderella". The characters were well taken.

After the first part of "Cinderella" someone pulled the string, and the curtain fell down, and those on the stage were in a quandary as to what to do. It was, however, repaired in time to give Miss Henderson the opportunity to sing "Oh, What Joy". The piece is very affecting, and gives a minute description of the heart in love's different stages. Her emotions excited the sympathy of the audience. A basket of flowers was handed to her by an usher. She was recalled, and sang again, for which she received more flowers.

Miss Doyle recited the "Maniac", a most exciting piece. In her dress were displayed, with good effect, all the colors known to art, which gave enchantment to the scene. Especially notable were her fire-like eyes, which gleamed with the fury of her part.

The second part of Cinderella was then given. A most interesting conversation was carried on by the Prince and one of the ladies, while the rest of the performers went to sleep.

Following this was a piano solo by Miss Douglass, which was very soft and soothing, but exceedingly rapid. One young man in the audience hastened to the platform to turn the music for her, and in doing so fell all over the stage, but eventually resumed his composure, and things went on as before.

Very handsomely dressed was Miss Jones, who gave a recitation entitled "Rhyme of the year".

A charming duet, "Little darlin', dream of me", was given by the Misses Henderson and Oliver. They were dressed in pure white, and large bunches of flowers were used in decoration. As an encore "Roses underneath the snow" was given in such a realistic manner that several said they could see the roses.

Probably the star of the evening was Miss Carpenter, who appeared in full evening dress. Long white mitts, reaching nearly to the shoulders, were a feature of her costume. She recited "Mrs. Bunker's city shopping". The fact that her tone and inflection were the same all the way through, made it very easy to understand what she was saying. As an encore she repeated the same piece. A friend of Miss Carpenter, in the rear of the room, tried to reach her with a basket of flowers, before she left the stage, but fell over everybody in the crowd, and finally gave up the chase.

Here part third of Cinderella was continued, which became very much disconnected. The Prince got madly in love, and had to be quieted with a glass of lemonade.

A solo, "Irish Molleau", by Mrs. Walker, was an excellent rendition of the broken dialect. As an encore she sang, "I loved him for his mother's sake".

In part four of Cinderella, the fateful slipper was found, over which a general tussle ensued, but finally ended in love.

Next came Mr. Nichon with a fence rail over his shoulder, and rendered the popular song "The hat me father wore".

The last recitation was given by Mrs. Randolph, which had a very pleasing effect, for the audience went wild with delight.

In conclusion, a beautiful tableau representing the "Marriage of Cinderella" was given, the arrangement being a fac-simile of wax works.

Altogether, the entertainment was a great success. A reception was given to the performers afterwards.

To Illustrate Jersey City's Vice.

John L. Scudder and the Jersey City Tabernacle with its "Peoples' Palace" are a power for righteousness in ungodly lower Jersey City. They have struck strong blows for purity of ballot and against race-track legislation, as well as conducting effective mission work in the community about them. There is no place where there is more need for mission work to be done.

In the Plainfield Congregational church, Sunday evening, the Rev. J. Lester Welles, assistant pastor of the Tabernacle, will show by fine photographs thrown upon a screen with a powerful light how people live there, what need there is of work, and what the People's Palace is doing. An offering for the work will be taken.

Deserved His Punishment.

James Matthews, through his counsel, the Hon. John T. Dunn, pleaded guilty before justice Nash this afternoon and paid a fine of $25 and costs for outrageously beating and stoning his horse. The Plainfield S. P. C. A. was prosecutar, through judge W. A. Coddington. The society will reorganize within a few days, for effective work. It can do great good, and should have the hearty financial support of all liberal citizens.

No Case Against Uncle Dan.

A case which was to have been tried yesterday before justice Nodyne was that of Albert Palmer of New York against Daniel S. Roberts of this city, for alleged breach of contract in an advertising scheme. Mr. Roberts appeared yesterday at the appointed time, and found that the case was withdrawn, the plaintiff not having sufficient grounds for suit.

Let the Stream Get Low.

The machinery in the Potter press works had to be stopped last evening about 5. The regular engineer had gone away, and the new man who was put on in his place permitted the steam to run down and was unable to get up enough at that hour to continue. Everything was all right this morning.

They Have the Best, at These Stables.

H. E. Rider, who has been employed with A. D. Thompson for several years, has bought out George Conover's interest in the Metropolitan stables, and they will be conducted as usual, by the present efficient manager, Frank Day, who has just received a number of Canadian driving and saddle horses to be hired and for sale.

Seventh-Day Baptists' Children's Day

Children's Day will be observed in the Seventh-Day Baptist church to-morrow. There will be special music in the morning, and a special Children's Day service in the afternoon. In the morning the pastor's theme will be: "The Young People of 1893: Their Inheritance and Duties."

A BIRD'S WAY.

"O robins on the apple-boughs! Come down—come down to tea."
Cried Dolly by the garden walk: "there's quite enough for three
Of sugar lumps and macaroons,
But as for cups and silver spoons
Only enough for me.

"Come down upon the garden wall, dear robins, do!" she plead,
"And take a sip of cambric tea." But, ere the words were said,
Those robins vanished—every one—
And, on a tree top in the sun,
They took a worm instead.
—Mary A. Lathbury, in Wide Awake.

AFRICAN MEERKATS.

They Make Interesting Family Pets When Well Trained.

The meerkat of South Africa resembles in its habits and characteristics the prairie dog of America, but it is much more cunning and intelligent and makes a charming pet, being easily tamed. In the south African karroo the meerkat lives in little colonies like the prairie dog, and travelers driving through the veldt will come across families of them sitting upright in the sun and maintaining their positions until they are approached quite closely, when they scatter like mice and run into their holes. They are very pretty, bright-eyed, nimble little creatures, soft and furry, easily tamed and very fond of their captors. They are so quaintly made and marked that one entertains the idea that they have been sewed into their skins by hand, and the curious seam which extends their entire length, and the neat way in which their dainty claws and small feet and ears are finished off, adds to this process of the imagination. They are very fond of dogs, of whom even of the largest they are not afraid, and the tame meerkat invariably chooses for a soft pillow the outstretched form of the skye or coolie in the family, and burrows in the warm coat with great satisfaction. They love the sun and may be seen early in the morning, turned towards it, sitting up in their

The meerkat follows its owner when adopted, much as a faithful dog does, and is a more picturesque object. It is full of tricks, steals boldly anything it wants, and is brimful of mischief. Then, when it is scolded for its naughtiness, it sits up and begs forgiveness in such a funny attitude of mock humility that the rogue is at once taken into favor and caressed like a naughty child.

These little creatures have a natural faculty of changing into different shapes and postures with lightning-like rapidity. At one moment the meerkat is quite a formidable animal, sitting up and regarding you with large, serious eyes. Then it is as soft and limber as a bag of feathers, stretched out on the ground, and it can curl itself into a ball and roll into a corner, where its bits of ears and clusters of feet resemble the ornaments on some decorative object. Indeed, to look pretty and beguile its owners with its mimic ways seems to be its sole object in life.

Occasionally a docile and apparently happy tame meerkat will suddenly go back to its wild life, which it can never again be induced to leave, not even by its chosen playmates, the dogs, with which it has been happily associated.

Many of these little animals are taken to Europe by travelers, and domiciled among other household pets, where they are regarded as objects of curiosity and made much of in consequence, for no matter how many larger or older pets may be in the family, the lordly meerkat at once assumes and keeps the egotistical attitude of a spoiled child.—Detroit Free Press.

"Grandmother's Cat."

Here is an amusing game—one which will in no way harm poor pussy. Its object is to see how many adjectives one can call to mind. Each player is to apply to "Grandmother's Cat" some adjective commencing with the letter A. One may say he is an ancient cat, another that he is an able cat, and so on. None can use an adjective that has been already given by a previous player. When one can think of no new adjective suitable to apply, he must retire from the game. The game is continued until all the adjectives beginning with A have been thought of, and all the members have retired. Then a turn is taken with the adjectives beginning with B. And so on until the party weary of the game.—Harper's Young People.

CAPTURED A THIEF.

Story of a Bear Who Was a Successful Detective.

Not a bear that went around with a policeman's hat upon his head and a club stuck in a belt at his waist; but he captured a thief as easily as though he did. His name was Bruin, and he belonged to an Italian who traveled from town to town, making Bruin dance for a living for them both.

Late one afternoon he stopped at a farmhouse and begged to stay all night. He ordered Bruin to dance for the children and then shut him up in the barn for safekeeping. During the night the family were aroused by a great noise coming from the barn, some one crying: "Help! Help!"

The farmer ran to the spot, followed by Bruin's master. They found the bear with his arms around a man's neck, hugging him tightly. The bear was muzzled so he could do the man no great harm, although he was terribly frightened.

He proved to be a dishonest neighbor who had come to the barn to steal a fine calf. In the darkness he had stumbled over the bear, who had seized him and held him fast.

His master, learning how matters stood, called out: "Hug him, Bruin!" The bear continued to hug him until the farmer, thinking he had been punished enough, told the Italian to make the bear release him. Bruin was given a great piece of honey-comb as a reward, and no doubt he wished that he could catch a thief every day.—Louise Thrush Brooks, in Our Little Ones.

PETER, THE MINT BIRD.

An Eagle Who Was a Ward of the American Government.

If you have a silver dollar of 1836, 1838 or 1839, or one of the first nickel cents coined in 1856, you will find upon it the true portrait of an American eagle that was for many years a familiar sight in the streets of Philadelphia. "Peter," one of the finest eagles ever captured alive, was the pet of the Philadelphia mint, and was generally known as the "mint bird." Not only did he have free access to every part of the mint, going without hindrance into the treasure vaults where even the treasurer of the United States would not go alone, but he used his own pleasure in going about the city, flying over houses, sometimes perching upon lamp-posts in the streets. Everybody knew him and admired him and even the street boys treated him with respect. The government provided his daily fare, and he was as much a part of the mint establishment as the superintendent or the chief coiner. He was so kindly treated that he had no fear of anybody or anything, and he might be in the mint yet if he had not sat down to rest upon one of the great fly-wheels. The wheel started without warning, and Peter was caught in the machinery. One of his wings was broken, and he died a few days later. The superintendent had his body beautifully mounted, with the wings spread to their fullest extent; and to this day Peter stands in a glass case in the mint's cabinet, where you may see him whenever you go there. An exact portrait of him as he stands in the case was put upon the coins named.

Pigmies in Spain.

Since the explorations of recent travelers have completely verified the older accounts of a race of dwarfs or pigmy men in Africa, renewed interest has been aroused in the tradition that a race of human dwarfs also lives in Spain. Mr. R. G. Haliburton, who has specially interested himself in the investigation of the truth of this tradition, seems convinced that it is true. According to the information he has collected, these Spanish pigmies vary in height from about three and a quarter to four feet, and are precisely similar to the dwarfs of Africa. They possess the tufts of wool which are characteristic of all dwarf races. Some of these little people are said to live in the valley of Ribas on the slopes of the Pyrenees, and to be employed as shepherds. The British consul at Barcelona is convinced of their existence, and as the distance to their country from Barcelona, or from southern France, is not great, additional information about them should soon be forthcoming.

Muff's Poem.

Miss M. Betham-Edwards, the scholar and novelist, has one faithful and cherished companion, who always accompanies her in her walks, and sits quietly beside her when she writes.

This is a white Pomeranian dog, who certainly ought never to be lost while he wears his present collar, which bears the following inscription:

My name is Muff,
That's short enough;
My home's Villa Julia,
That's slightly peculiar;
On the east side you'll find it.
With Fairlight behind it;
My mission is a poet,
By this you should know it.

Not Strong Enough.

The Detroit Tribune relates an inspiring example of family pride:

"My son isn't strong enough to go through college."

"But he looks well."

"Yes; he might possibly do for halfback, but I want my boy in the rush-line or nowhere."

A Cow Tree.

The sap of the cow tree, as its name implies, resembles milk both in look and taste, and is very wholesome and nourishing; the tree grows in Venezuela and frequently attains a height of 100 to 125 feet.

GOOD THING TO KNOW.

How to Get Earth Worms Without Digging for Them.

Walter Sawyer, a professional fisherman, says: Nobody need work at digging worms for bait unless he is fond of the exercise, for they can be procured in almost any quantity with very little labor whenever they are needed. The process is simple. Take a strong stick four or five feet long and sharp at one end, and go to some locality, such as the back of a barn, where the worms are sure to be plentiful. Drive the stick four or five inches into the ground with a hammer or stone, and then begin to twist it with a rotary motion. Every few minutes hit the top a rap to drive the point further into the ground and keep on twisting. In five minutes the worms will begin crawling out of their holes, and all you have to do is to pick them up and put them in your can. They hear the grinding and think it is a mole after them, and know that only on the surface are they safe. So they come out, those nearest to the sound making their appearance first with every evidence of haste and trepidation. Sometimes they come up from a distance of ten or fifteen feet from the twirling stick, and in places where they are plentiful as many as a hundred can be literally scared out of the ground in this manner. Some people think a worm has no sense, and they may be right in general, but a worm knows that a mole is its deadliest enemy, and will come squirming to the top of the ground any time it hears a mole coming in its direction.

The Page and the Prince.

Another good story of Tennyson has come to light in relation to his well-known aversion to visitors. It was thirty years ago, when the prince of Wales was a young man, that he one day sailed to the Isle of Wight in his yacht, and he thought to make a friendly call on the poet. He was alone, and when he sounded the knocker a page came to the door. "Whom shall I say?" he asked, after eying the visitor sharply. "The prince of Wales," was the smiling reply. The page was struck with surprise for a moment and then became very mirthful. "Ha! yes!" he observed, with a derisive gesture. "The prince of Wales, of course! We know a trick worth two of that!" And he slammed the door in the face of his royal highness, who thereupon went away just like any other man.

GLOOM AT THE CAPITOL

HEARTRENDING SIGHTS AT THE SCENE OF THE DISASTER.

Workmen Are Still Digging in the Ruins, But No More Bodies are Expected to be Found—The Old Building Where Lincoln Was Shot Long Ago Condemned as Unsafe—A Corrected List of the Dead—Stories Told by Eye Witnesses.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The terrible accident of yesterday morning in Ford's old theatre, in which more than a score of clerks lost their lives, has completely overshadowed everything else at the capital, and the one expression heard is the government's responsibility in crowding 475 mortals into a condemned building, and then allowing workmen to undermine the structure so that it collapses over the heads of the clerks.

This accident has revived the question of the safety of the government printing office, and the thousands of clerks employed therein to-day are trembling for fear of some accident to the building.

The authorities have condemned this building and have ordered the men out of it, but the government does not seem to mind this warning.

The following corrected list of dead with the names of the States from which they were appointed, contains 22 names, including one unknown and one probable duplication, only 21 bodies having been taken from the ruins. The list of dead follows:

Unknown man, taken from the ruins last night, evidently a clerk.
GEORGE I. ALLEN, Pennsylvania.
GEORGE ARNOLD, colored, Virginia.
L. W. BOODY, New York.
SAMUEL P. BATES, Pennsylvania.
JOHN BUSSIUS, District of Columbia.
ARTHUR L. DIETRICH, Kentucky.
JEREMIAH DALEY, Pennsylvania.
J. R. FAGAN, Kansas.
J. B. GAGE, Michigan.
DAVID C. JORDAN, Missouri.
M. M. JARVIS, Michigan.
J. BOYD JONES, Wisconsin.
F. B. LOFTUS, New York.
F. W. MAEDER, no State.
B. F. MILLER, New York.
HOWARD S. MILLER, Ohio.
J. H. MCFALL, Wisconsin.
E. G. SHULL, Kansas.
WILLIAM SCHREIVER, Maryland.
H. S. WOOD, no State.
F. M. WILLIAMS, Wisconsin.
DR. NELSON, no State.

C. H. Miller is reported killed but it is probable that the name is meant for C. R. Miller, who was supposed to have been killed, but will recover. The names of Jordan and Pauly have also been attached to the unofficial death list as having been taken out dead, but their bodies have not been located. Jordan is probably a duplication of the name of David C. Jordan, of Missouri, who was killed, and Pauly may have been confused with McFall, also killed. One man taken from the ruins dead was identified by a bystander as "Old Man" McCauley, who lives in Virginia, but this identification was not verified as the death list does not contain his name.

There were 475 persons, mostly government clerks, employed in the building, and nearly all of these were at work when the building fell. An excavation for an electric light plant was being made in the cellar of the structure—a three-story affair—and, according to the best information obtainable, the workmen had dug beneath the foundation supports in the front of the buildings, weakening them to such an extent that the walls gave way before they could be jacked.

This explanation of the cause for the accident is the only one advanced, but it seems somewhat strange in view of the fact that the top floor gave way first.

Men who were in the building say the crash came without warning. These on the top floor were suddenly precipitated to the floor below, and the weight of falling timbers and furniture carried the second and first floors with it.

Fortunately only the forward half of the floors gave way. The outer edges of the floors and the rear part of the structure remained intact. The walls did not fall.

The news that the building had fallen spread with lightning-like rapidity, and soon Tenth street and adjacent thoroughfares were crowded with people. Within an hour the news was known all over Washington, and hundreds of anxious relatives and friends swarmed to the vicinity of the old theatre.

Women appealed anxiously to every bystander for information about some particular person, while men came with tears in their eyes and imploringly sought the policemen to let them through the police lines that they might obtain some knowledge of their friends and relatives.

A general fire alarm was turned in a few minutes after the crash and then all the ambulances in the city were summoned. As quickly as possible the police and firemen formed a reserve brigade and ready hands assisted them to take out the killed and wounded.

In less than an hour about 25 people had been taken out and every few minutes thereafter some still form would be born on a stretcher from the building.

Police and army ambulances, cabs, carriages and vehicles of every description were pressed into service for carrying away the dead and injured. All the hospitals in the city were utilized in caring for the injured and scores of physicians volunteered their services for this work.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia took possession of the building and vicinity, in person, and helped direct the police and the reserves.

Col. Corbin, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army was sent by Major General Schofield to represent the War Department and decide if it were necessary to call out troops.

Owing to excellent police regulations the rescuers were not hindered in their work by the anxious crowds and it was not long before the debris had been cleared away to such an extent that the work of rescue could be carried on without hindrance. Both the military and naval authorities took prompt action.

General Schofield ordered two troops of cavalry from Fort Meyer, just across the river, and two companies of infantry from the arsenal to the scene of the disaster.

The Secretary of the Navy ordered out all the naval medical officers stationed here, and also opened the naval hospital to receive the injured. The commandant at the navy yard was ordered to render all assistance in his power.

Every hospital in the city was called into requisition, and ambulances, carriages and other vehicles filled with the wounded, were quickly traversing the city in every direction.

Those who were early on the scene found the body of a colored man in the alley in the rear of the building where John Wilkes Booth had his horse tethered the night he killed Lincoln. This was George M. Arnold, a well-known colored clerk. He had been seen at a third story window.

He was warned not to jump, but, despite the protestations of numbers of people, he climbed out, and lowering himself from the sill, let go. He fell upon a covering at a lower door and slid off into the cobble-stoned alley, striking on his head, instantly killing him. His head was mashed to a jelly, and the cobbles for a distance of several yards were bespattered with blood.

One of the bravest and most daring incidents connected with the calamity was performed by a colored boy, 19 or 20 years of age, named Basil Lockwood. As soon as the floors collapsed and the dust cleared away, realizing the danger of those at the rear windows, who were wildly climbing out, and calling for aid, he climbed up a large telegraph pole as high as the third story and la-hed a ladder to the pole putting the other end in the window. By this means ten or fifteen were assisted down the ladder in safety.

None of those who escaped injury could tell which of the floors first gave way. To the occupants of each floor there was but one crash heard, and instantly the whole building was filled with blinding lime dust.

Running directly through all the floors and in the middle of the building was a light wall, ten feet or more long and nearly as many wide. The fatal area was in front of this, leaving a space of six or seven feet in width undisturbed on either side. The entire back part of the building, containing more than half of the floor, space remained intact.

There were many very narrow escapes from death. A number of clerks whose desks rested directly upon the line where the floors broke away, saved themselves, while the desks at which they sat were precipitated down the awful chasm. Others who were walking across the room heard an ominous sound and stopped just at the very threshold of death.

When the crash came those who survived heard a mighty scream of anguish from their comrades as they sank out of sight, and then groping in the darkness they found their way to safety, trembling in every joint with the pallor of the dead in their faces.

No women were employed in the building, but in a few minutes after the crash came, the wives, mothers and daughters of the victims began to arrive. Within a very few moments a hundred or more men stripped for hot work jumped into the building and began throwing out the wreckage in front and under the floors which remained standing on the rear.

At first the endeavors to rescue were somewhat inefficient, but, in a little while system prevailed and the work went ahead with the utmost rapidity. Weary rescuers gave place every few minutes to fresh and willing successors who worked with terrific energy in their endeavor to save the buried ones.

Such a scene has never before been seen in this region, and no catastrophe in the city's century of existence ever promised so much of all that is horrible, as the one which has stopped all business in this part of the city; and which now crowds every thoroughfare in the neighborhood of the old theatre.

One of the most exciting accounts of the disaster is given by Mr. J. T. Exnicois, who was on the second floor and stood at the very edge of the horrible crater that so suddenly opened in the center of the building.

He heard a noise, he said, as if something heavy had fallen on the floor above. He glanced up and was almost petrified to see the entire floor coming down, slow and wavering at first and then more swift in its progress, bearing to death its load of humanity.

The floor started from the front wall and was at an angle as it went down. When he first saw it the angle was not sharp enough to disturb the desks, and the startled occupants in some cases sat on their chairs, not knowing what had happened.

As the floor came on in its awful progress he saw it bend and waver, and then it crashed down on the occupants on the floor beneath.

He called to the clerks about him to run to the rear, and many were saved by their promptness.

The last two hours of digging have disclosed no further bodies in the ruins. There still remains a central pile of debris under which there cannot possibly be any life. But there may be some bodies entombed therein. The efforts of the workmen are being at present confined to localities where there is some hope of life.

The twenty workmen employed in excavating in the cellar have not been accounted for, but it is supposed they escaped and went directly to their homes.

TRIED TO WRECK A TRAIN

Act of a German Who Had a Grievance Against the Railroad.

CROTON FALLS, N. Y., June 10.—A dastardly attempt was made yesterday to wreck the Chatham local passenger express bound for New York. This train leaves Croton Falls at 3:45 o'clock. There were fully 200 passengers on the train when it left Croton Falls.

When the train was midway between Croton Falls and Purdy's Station it suddenly ran into an obstruction on the track. Engineer Dutcher did not see the obstruction, and the first he knew of it was when his engine plowed into it. The force of the collision nearly knocked him out of the cab, and badly frightened the passengers, many of whom were thrown to the floor and received slight bruises.

The forward truck of the engine was broken and the tender smashed, but no further damage was done. Investigation shows that some iron bars had been piled on top of the fish plates on the track. It was a deliberate attempt to wreck the train.

A man was discovered standing near by and he was immediately arrested by Constable Casey. He gave his name as William Grozier, aged 32 years. He said he was a German. He confessed the crime, but would give no definite reason for his act. Grozier fancies that he has a grievance against the railroad company. He was locked up to await a hearing.

CORDAGE REORGANIZATION

The Plan to be Used in Putting the Trust on Its Feet Again.

NEW YORK, June 10.—It is believed that the plan to be reported for the reorganization of the Cordage Company is substantially as follows:

There are to be $6,000,000 bonds authorized, of which $1,000,000 are to be reserved. The $5,000,000 are to be issued at 85, and will be underwritten by creditors at 80. The preferred stock will be asked to contribute 20 per cent., and the common stock 10 per cent. in cash, receiving therefore new preferred stock.

The stockholders are to have the option of surrendering 50 per cent. for their stock in lieu of the cash contribution. The bond issue will more than provide for the outstanding obligations, while the $3,000,000 desired from the assessments will provide an ample working capital.

This plan, it is said, will not in any way disturb the mortgages of the Security Corporation. The lease of the Security Corporation, however, is to be pledged as part of the security for the issue of cordage bonds. The plan does not contemplate a consolidation with the John Good Interests. It is believed that some sort of a running agreement, though, will be made with the Plymouth, of Boston, Fitler, of Philadelphia, and Tubbs, of San Francisco.

WILL RESTORE THE QUEEN

That Is What the Next News From Hawaii is Expected to be.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—"The next steamer from Honolulu will bring news of great interest unless my correspondent there is greatly mistaken," said J. H. Sprockels in an interview to-day. "Advices received from Honolulu are to the effect that within a few days Minister Blount will announce the wishes of the U. S. Government, and the next steamer will bring us news that the Queen has been restored to power.

"There will be no trouble resulting from it, but the United States will restore to the Queen the rights it aided in taking from her. A new constitution will be adopted and a new ministry selected.

"When this is done, business will again resume activity and new capital will pour in for investment. This condition of affairs may not come about, but it is my opinion it will, and very soon."

MRS. M'ENTEE FOUND

She Has Been at a New York Hospital Since Sunday.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Mrs. Maggie McEntee, of Lehighton, Pa., who came here last week with her husband, Peter, to go to Ireland, but got separated from him on the elevated railroad at South Ferry, on Sunday night, has been found.

She was picked up on the street on Tuesday last by a policeman of the East Sixty-seventh street station and taken to the Presbyterian hospital, where she now is.

Mrs. McEntee is slightly demented. Her husband said she had $1,500 in her possession when she went astray, but when brought to the hospital only $300 of this was in her pockets. The police are trying to find out what became of the rest of the money.

New Corporations.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 10.—These new companies have been incorporated: the Columbia Furnace company of Buffalo; capital $15,000; the R. K. Warren Brewing company of Rochester, capital $25,000; the Choco-Lactine Manufacturing Co., to manufacture chocolate and confectionery in New York city, capital $10,000; the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, of New York city, capital $700,000; the Glens Falls Paper Mill company filed a certificate of an increase of capital stock from $350,000 to $2,7.0,000.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL

Testimony Decidedly in Favor of the Accused.

MORE NEW WITNESSES EXAMINED

Officer Fleet Makes Several Contradictions in His Cross-Examination—Harrington's Description of a Dress Causes Merriment.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 10.—When the doors of the Court House opened this morning for the sixth day of the Borden trial, a great crowd of women shoved their way into the building and occupied the seats which they have held for the past two days.

Miss Borden was in her seat at 8:55, and her counsel were on hand about the same time. She conversed with Gov. Robinson until court opened, and appeared very much in earnest about something.

The first witness called yesterday was assistant Marshal Fleet and his cross-examination by Governor Robinson was resumed.

Mr. Robinson made a skilful and long examination of officer Fleet and disclosed the fact that other hatchets than the handleless hatchet were found in the box by the chimney and that there were piles of ashes in the room. The handleless hatchet was found on the witness' second visit to the cellar, on the day of the murder. Witness also admitted that the search in the house that day wasn't very thorough.

Mr. Robinson led Fleet into a contradiction of Thursday's testimony that the broken part of the hatchet handle was covered with ashes like the blade. He also said he put the handleless hatchet where he found it, that it was not produced at the preliminary hearing, and that he didn't testify about it at that time because he didn't think it was used for the murder. He said he reached the Borden house at 11:45 on the day of the murder. His cross-examination was concluded at 10:40.

Officer Harrington was called at 10:45. During his testimony as to the condition of the bodies, the prisoner looked down, and nervously fingered her black fan. He testified that the prisoner said she left her father reading a paper, and after twenty minutes found him dead; and that she said the motive was not robbery, as everything was right about the house.

Officer Harrington testified that the prisoner was not in tears during the interview on the day of the murder and that she was very positive as to the exact time she was in the barn. He described very fully the prisoner's dress at that time, causing laughter among the ladies, who constituted fully half the spectators. Recess taken for ten minutes at 11:15.

On cross-examination, Harrington contradicted his former testimony as to an inquiry of Lizzie, but afterward admitted that the former testimony was correct. He repeated a detailed description of the prisoner's dress, which caused amusement, and the prisoner twice leaned her head on her hand and laughed heartily for the first time in the trial. Robinson also involved witness in a contradiction of former testimony as to the condition of the barn door and window.

The only matter of importance brought out at the opening of the afternoon session was the fact that the broken part of the handle of the small hatchet which was missing was seen by officer Mullaly, and the government professed ignorance of the piece. Mullaly said Fleet found it and put it back with the hatchet. During Fleet's testimony he never referred to the matter, and considerable surprise was felt and expressed. Fleet was recalled and examined, although the government objected. He said he never saw anything there in the nature of a piece of handle with a fresh break in it. (Sensation.)

Other witnesses called were Charles H. Wilson, a police officer, who described the search of the house, Annie M. White, the stenographer who told what took place at the inquest and George A. Pettee, who told what he saw about the Borden premises on the morning of the tragedy. Then after Mrs. Churchill had been recalled and questioned more about the burned up dress, court adjourned because the government had no more witnesses at hand.

Hon. Moody Merrill's Affairs.

PLYMOUTH, N. H., June 10.—Moody Merrill's property, on his brother Edgar's farm, consisting of horses for the most part, has been attached by local creditors. A Boston lawyer says to-day that he intends to file a petition in insolvency against Merrill, immediately. It is stated that an examination of the contents of the safe in Merrill's office has been made and that it has been found that many of the securities and notes which have been the subject of much discussion are in the safe.

The Wyckoff Murder Case.

HUDSON, N. Y., June 10.—The hearing in the case of Fannie Wyckoff, supposed to have been murdered a few miles south of this city, is being continued to-day before Coroner Cochran. The appearance in the case of a mysterious personage driven into Hudson and left here by Mrs. Woolschlager, the wife of the man who discovered the body, on the morning of the 21st, has deepened the mystery surrounding the case. There still remains some thirty witnesses to be examined.

The Campania Arrives.

QUEENSTOWN, June 10.—The Cunard Line steamship Campania, which sailed from New York last Saturday at 10:21 a. m., passed Browhead at 8:40 a. m., having made the passage from the Hook to Browhead in five days, seventeen hours and nineteen minutes. Nothing has been as yet reported in regard to the American Line steamer Paris.

A Woman Caused His Downfall.

BOSTON, June 10.—Ambrose Millikin, formerly a trusted employe of R. H. White & Co., is held for the grand jury charged with having stolen $1,000 worth of goods. ASKS FOR A RECEIVER Alleged That the Antisell Piano Company is Insolvent.

NEWARK, N. J., June 10.—George P. Armstrong of Plainfield, has filed an order with Chancellor McGill, asking that a receiver be appointed for the Antisell Piano Company of Mattawan, N. J., whose offices are at No. 135 West Twenty-third street, New York.

Mr. Armstrong, who was formally president of the company, states that the company was incorporated on March 28, 1892, with a capital of $1,200,000, but that now the company is insolvent and that there is constant fear that attachments will be served.

The answer to the bill denies the allegation that the company is bordering on bankruptcy.

The Chancellor has granted the order and a receiver will probably be appointed on Monday next, in this city.

Canal Street Bank Receivership.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Deputy Attorney General Hogan made application at 10 o'clock before Judge McAdam in the Superior Court, for the appointment of a receiver for the Canal Street Bank. Mr. Antonio Rasines, president of the bank, was then appointed receiver, to give bonds in $100,000 and to deposit all funds with the Union National Bank. An injunction was also granted enjoining all creditors from bringing action against the bank.

Remsen Settled the Case.

FREEHOLD, N. J., June 10.—The suit of Abraham Morten, of Bailey's Corner, against Howard Remsen, the son of the late Judge Remsen of the Monmouth county courts, for $15,000 damages for the loss of his daughter's services, was compromised after the plaintiff had presented his case to the court. Remsen, who is a peace officer, was charged with assaulting Morten's 15-year-old daughter.

Deprived of His Seat.

LONDON, June 10.—Harold James Reckitt, Liberal, who was elected M. P. for Pontefract on February 18 by 1,226 votes to 1,186 for John Shaw, Conservative, has been deprived of his seat by the decision of the court upon proof of charges that his agents used bribery to secure his election. The seat had previously been held by the Hon. Rowland Winn, Conservative, who was promoted to the peerage.

An Austrian Fauper Baroness.

VIENNA, June 10.—Baroness Helene Reden, widow of a millionaire and mother of the Privy Councillor, Baron Reden, of this city, has been arrested as a vagabond. She said that she was penniless and homeless and that neither her son nor her daughter would support her. After ascertaining the truth of her statement the authorities sent her to the poorhouse. She is 79 year old.

Yale's Crew Goes to New London.

NEW HAVEN, June 10.—The Yale crew leaves to-day for its quarters at New London. Its shells were shipped last night. The launch started for New London this morning. The oarsmen have made arrangements with the Faculty to take their final examinations at quarters at Gales' Ferry, thus enabling them to practice on the Thames till the day of the race with Harvard.

Steamer Illinois Not Leaking.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—The statement that the steamship Illinois is leaking as a result of the collision with the schooner Mabel Jordan, is not correct. The Illinois met with a slight accident to her machinery just outside the Breakwater, and has returned for repairs, which will be made promptly, and her detention will be very slight.

Desertion of Austrian Naval Cadets.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The United States Marshal has been notified by the Austrian Consul of the desertion of a number of the cadets from the Austrian navy's school ship now in port. The Consul asks for their arrest and offers a reward of $10 for their capture.

The Trip Postponed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—The Pacific Coast trip which the Senate Committee on Immigration and Naturalization expected to take in furtherance of the investigation recently begun by it in New York has been postponed until the first week in August.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Morris Cohn, an Addison, N. Y., merchant, who was recently badly injured in a wreck on the Erie road at Lackawaxen, has sued the company for $25,000 damages.

Ex-assemblyman Albert Badeau is dead at his home, in New Rochelle, N. Y., in his 88th year. He leaves an estate estimated at $1,000,000. One son and three daughters survive him.

Lewis Gildersleeve, convicted of manslaughter in the first degree for killing Abraham Frazier, colored, at Huntington, L. I., on Oct. 1 last, has been sentenced to Sing Sing for ten years and eight months.

The owner of the sunken schooner Mabel Jordan, has filed a libel in the United States District court at Philadelphia, to recover $63,000 damages from the owners of the steamship Illinois. Negligence is charged on the part of the Illinois' officers.

Sergeant Kiely was routed out early this morning to arrest a man who was raising a row on Front street. Before he could get there the man had been taken in a wagon.

Julia Lee, arrested by policeman Frederickson for intoxication, offered to take the gallant officer to Coney Island if he would let her off. This morning judge Coddington fined her $8. She paid another fine of $3 only a week ago.

Pat Muldoon's little spree of last night cost him $6 in the city court this morning.

Michael Sweeney accused Minnie Barry of throwing stones against his house. She was acquitted.

Mrs. Hickey charged Mary McDonald with calling her bad names. Judge Coddington found them both guilty of quarreling, and fined them $3 apiece.

A Plainfielder Wants a Receiver.

George P. Armstrong of this city, ex-president of the Antiseli Piano company of Matawan, has asked Chancellor McGill to appoint a receiver, the company being insolvent in spite of its $1,200,000 capital.

DR. LEWIS WRITES ON SOCIAL PURITY.

AND EDITOR POWELL DISCUSSES THE DELICATE THEME.

Their Testimony Heard With Interest and Applause by the World's Congress—How Woman Discriminates Against All Feminine Offenders and Marries the Equally Guilty Man to Her Daughter.

Aaron M. Powell of this city presided over the World's Congress on Social Purity, in Chicago, and made a speech in which he referred to the license system which for a time prevailed in St. Louis by legislative enactment. He pronounced it a hideous failure. Omaha, which has a species of license system, was the next subject of the speaker's consideration. "Women in Omaha who are recognized as licentious are required to come up to the municipal office and pay a certain tax", he continued. "There the social evil is recognized as a business part of the municipality. The tax wrung from these victims amounts to about $24,000 per annum, and to ease the conscience of the municipal fathers it is devoted to the school fund of the city. That is their excuse. The tax in other cities is levied by bribing the police to permit it to go undisturbed. I can say this of New York. I do not know how it is in Chicago."

Mr. Powell then paid his attention to the age of consent as existing in the several States of the Union, the average of which is ten years. "That is the age fixed by law when a girl may part with her virtue but not her inheritance and the thief go unpunished", he said. He concluded with an appeal for woman's suffrage as one of the several elements vital to the emancipation of woman and the destruction of the social evil problem.

Speaking of the results likely to follow the congress, President Powell said:

We expect first, just what we have done, to bring together a large body of people, delegates from our own and other lands that we may better understand the relations of this question, especially in its governmental aspect. We want to make known in America what is being done in Europe in regard to the system of licensing vice, and to guard against its introduction here.

In regard to legislation we aim at raising the age of consent to 18 years in every State in the Union. In six States the age of consent is now 10 years. In this work we have made a good beginning. In 1885 when Mr. Stead awakened England with his articles on modern Babylon the age of consent in New York State was 10 years. An agitation was set on foot by our own society, the W. C. T. U. and the Y. M. C. A., with the result that the age was raised to 16 years. In Tennessee the other day the age of consent was raised from 10 years to 16 years and 1 day. In the States where the age is still low we are going to wage a vigorous campaign for the 18-year limit as the result of this congress.

Among the papers presented at the Congress was one that had been sent in by senator Tam, of Stockholm, Sweden, ably reviewing the social evil question as it presents itself in that country. It was read by Professor Edwin Lewis, who also read a paper prepared by his father, the Rev. A. H. Lewis, D.D., of this city, on age of consent legislation. Dr. Lewis favored stringent legislation with respect to various phases of the social evil. Age of consent laws and the double standard idea—he said—were a direct heritage from the ancient sex worship. Dr. Lewis asserted that seduction, rape, and procuration should be adjudged felonies, and punished as such. Also that prostitution should belong to the same category of crime, and that men who visited places of prostitution, or kept mistresses, should be legally adjudged prostitutes and punished as such. He said in closing he hoped to see the regulation system wiped off the statute books of the world before the century closes.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore said:

Every mother must set up in her household one standard of morality for sons and daughters. There is no sex in guilt. If it is bad for a woman to get drunk it is bad for a man. It is as bad for a man to be immoral as for a woman. We say young men must be young men. They must sow wild oats. But we speak as if the wild oats would never bring a harvest. As God lives, whatever a man sows that shall he reap.

Society will never be right until women get the ballot, and they sit in legislative halls and help to make laws in conformity with God's laws. [Applause.] It is the hand of woman that opens or locks the doors of society to men. With her white hand she sometimes keeps out her fallen sister, while with the same hand she admits the debauched man, welcomes him to her household, and if his bank account is large enough he may marry her brightest and most gifted daughter. [Applause.]

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave., opposite railroad station. 5-15-y

JERRY CASH WAS VERY RASH.

He Terrified the Reinhart Household, and Will Lose His Badge.

Johnson, the butler of the Reinhart household, was complained of by special policeman Jeremiah Cash for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk.

Last evening Cash took the warrant and went to the Reinhart home to serve it.

After making love to the cook, and asking how much coal the family burned, he went to the front of the house, rang for the butler, arrested him, and acted so disgracefully that Mrs. Reinhart screamed and called up sergeant Kiely by telephone. Captain Grant went to the scene and found that Cash was intoxicated. He will have Cash's authority taken away.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Runkle gave a delightful dinner party last night.

Mrs. Willet Marsh of Fifth street presented her husband with a fine daughter, on Thursday.

Mrs. E. D. Moffett has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Wm. H. Tams, Trenton.

Pastor Richardson and wife are home again. He is refreshed by his rest, and will preach to-morrow.

The closing exercises of Miss Maude Bowers's class in Delsarte and elocution will be held in Assembly hall Saturday evening.

There is great rejoicing at the home of elder Joseph Schultise of the First Church of Christ over the advent this morning of a bright and bouncing boy.

Major J. H. Ackerman of New Providence was in Plainfield yesterday to secure an orator for the annual Fourth of July celebration in his village. The Hon. John T. Dunn has agreed to deliver the oration, which it is unnecessary to say will be a good one, and satisfactory to the patriotic citizens of New Providence.

President, George F. Brown.

A Christian society was organized in the First Baptist church, last evening.

The committee on constitution reported through chairman Harold Serrell, and the constitution recommended was adopted.

The nominating committee presented the following list of officers, who were elected:

President—George F. Brown.
Vice-President—George H. Batchelor.
Recording-Secretary—John McLaughlin.
Corresponding-Secretary—Miss Emily Coriell
Treasurer—Robert Love.

Copies of the constitution, topic cards and membership cards, were ordered purchased for the society, which starts with a membership of fifteen.

Lack of Stone Stopped the Work.

The reason for stopping work on the new engine house has been because of the lack of stone. There is now enough on hand to resume work Monday.

Off for a Merry Day.

It required an extra stage to convey the Jr. Y. P. S. C. E. of Trinity Reformed church on their outing to Chimney Rock, this morning. Out of a roll of 60 members over fifty went, accompanied by their superintendent, Mrs. R. A. Meeker, and her assistant, Miss Berg.

To Reorganize Next Fall.

The Crescent League last night decided to sell off its $3,900 worth of property, pay its $1,300 debt, and reorganize in the fall on a more modest and a stronger basis.

Inferior Goods.

The only safe way for purchasers is to insist on having the genuine article, and not allow themselves to be swindled by having plasters sold to be "just as good," or "containing superior ingredients," imposed upon them. These are only tricks to sell inferior goods that no more compare with ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS than copper does with gold. One trial of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS will convince the most skeptical of their merits.

The eminent Henry A. Mott, Jr., Ph. D., F. C. S., late Government Chemist, certifies:

"My investigation of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,
And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves has 's but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1 20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

Politics in our county is now a leading subject among certain persons, and you can hear of candidates for senator by friends of the different aspirants almost every day. Names prominently mentioned are James J. Bergen, Alvah A. Clark and Judge John D. Bartine. Any one of them is good enough to deserve the persimmon, but some other may get it.

Talking of memory, how's this! Over thirty years ago Uncle Peter Wooden loaned "Ran" Smalley a spud, an article to peal bark from trees with. It was never returned. Last Friday Uncle Peter had "Ran" help him, among others, in planting corn. When it came time to pay the men off, Uncle Peter quietly informed "Ran" that nothing was due him, as his day's work would settle up the old score of the spud. "Ran" had forgotten all about the incident, but gave way to the old gentleman, and says he does not want to work out any more ancient claims. So he guesses he'll retire for good from all kinds of toil.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. H. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochontaug, R. I.

A CHANCE FOR LOCAL TALENT

Elegant Prizes that Plainfield Riders Should Get.

The Union County Roadsters will give their sixth race meet on their new quarter-mile track at Rahway July 4. The track is 20 feet wide, with banked corners, and is very fast. Rahway is easy to get to, on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the roads leading to Rahway are macadamized, and make a delightful ride to the grounds. The list of prizes and events is as follows:

One Mile Novice, Safety—
First prize, gold medal.
Second prize, silver medal.
Third prize, saddle.

One-quarter Mile Handicap, Safety—
First prize, Crayon portrait of winner, (size 22x27).
Second prize, gold watch.
Third prize, sweater.

One-half Mile Handicap, Safety—
First prize, diamond ring.
Second prize, silver-toned banjo
Third prize, gold scarf pin.

One Mile 3-minute Class Safety.
First prize, gold watch.
Second prize, stop watch.
Third prize, gold sleeve buttons.
Fourth prize, bicycle stand.

One Mile Handicap—
First prize, $175 full nickeled safety 22 lb. riding wheel.
Second prize, diamond ring.
Third prize, gold watch.

Don't forget, entries close June 29. The entrance fee is 50 cents for each event. For entry blanks address A. H. Chamberlain, Ch'n of Race, lock box, 55, Rahway, N. J.

The Century Flyers.

438 wheelmen left Plainfield in continuation of the Century run to Philadelphia, after eating breakfast here, this morning. They made such good time from Newark that they reached Plainfield 45 minutes ahead of schedule. 106 of the wheelmen were members of the Philadelphia Century club. Only one woman rode. The youngest cycler was 12 years old. One rider had his 2-year-old with him. Capt. Martin's establishment fixed up a punctured tire for one of the unfortunates. Capt. Martin himself led the calvacade from Plainfield on, J. Allen Sangston riding beside. The roads ahead of Plainfield are very dusty. Capt. Martin was presented with a large bouquet just before the start was made.

An Experienced Builder Furnished the Figures.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS—I noticed your schedule in Wednesday evening's edition of your publication, of new buildings now being erected in this city; and if the valuation you have placed on the others is no nearer correct than that placed upon the house I am building on Park avenue, you should cut down your figures fully 50 per cent., or else take down your sign "If it's so, it's in THE PRESS". FRANK O. HERRING.

Architect and Builder at Odds.

The councilmanic committee on fire and buildings last night heard the complaint of architect B. Fosgate that the brick being used in the engine-house was so bad that he had condemned it. Mason W. C. Smith proved by expert testimony that the brick was first quality. Now Mr. Smith talks of making trouble for Mr. Fosgate because the architect openly threatened to make the building cost him twice as much as he had expected.

Good Officers Re-Elected.

At an annual meeting of the A. O. H., No. 4, held in their rooms, Park avenue and Front street, Thursday evening, the following members were re-elected:

President—J. F. Sheehan.
Vice-president—P. Reagan.
Recording Secretary—E. Ryan.
Financial Secretary—M. Nugent.
Treasurer—P. Casey.

P. Casey is county delegate of the order in Union county.

A Graceful Recognition.

(Westfield Leader.)

J. A. Demarest, managing editor of Press, is said to be a candidate for the consulship at Basle, Switzerland. Inasmuch as he was the first to nominate Cleveland for a second term, and has been loyal from Alpha down, the appointment would be a graceful recognition.

VanSickle Settles with Littell.

The case of Littell vs. VanSickle has been settled satisfactorily to both parties; and Clark Hammel and Henry Ruppert will on Monday begin fitting up the store formerly occupied by Mr. VanSickle, which they will occupy as a butcher shop.

Have No Equal.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS have attained a world-wide reputation solely upon their superiative merits. They have many would-be rivals, but have never been equalled or even approached in curative properties and rapidity and safety of action. Their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by unimpeachable testimonials from those who have used them, and they are recommended as the best external remedy for weak back, rheumatism, sciatica, colds, coughs, sore throat, chest and stomach affections, kidney difficulties, weak muscles, strains, stitches and aches and pains of every description.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for ALLCOCK'S and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

LONGFELLOW FROGS WERE THEIR CHORUS.

BUT THEIR BRIGHT AND SHINING STAR WAS A PLAINFIELD BELLE.

Miss Caroline Randolph Was Queen of the Fairies, and Her Beauty and Grace Captivated the Cultured Boston Audience.

One of Plainfield's fair daughters was a leading participant in a unique and beautiful festival on the college campus at Wellesley, a few nights ago, when the annual open meeting of the Shakespeare society was held.

"The big college campus at Wellesley was the scene last night of a most unique and beautiful festival. The occasion was the annual open meeting of the Shakespeare society of Wellesley College, when one of the great master's plays was presented for the benefit of the public pleasure.

"The play selected for this year was 'A Midsummer Night's Dream', and surely never did Queen Titania hold her court in a lovelier spot. For the 'Shakespeare Society', with admirable taste, decided to let nature herself furnish the stage and setting for the delightful dream play. Nature, apparently, like the rest of her sex, appreciates a compliment, and did her best for the society.

"The velvety sod of the great campus, where all day the merry maiden athletes riot at tennis, seemed made for the twinkling of fairy feet. Where indeed could one find a more exquisite bower for a fairy queen than under the shadows of the great Wellesley oaks, and where could lie the direct route from fairy land if not across the silvery waters of gentle Lake Waban glimmering among the trees?

"The play began in the twilight, but as the darkness grew a calcium light threw its beams over the scene in the forest where the dainty fairies and bewitched lovers roamed. To add a crowning charm to the whole, the moon herself arose a little after 8, and proved a welcome guest at the fairy revels.

"In fact, no realistic detail was wanting. For the birds singing their good-night songs from their nests in the grand old oaks served the players for orchestra, and the frogs of Longfellow Pond were their chorus.

"The audience reclined on picturesque rugs and cushions in Oriental attitudes. The ground slope at the head of Longfellow fountain furnishes a capital audience room, resembling the ancient amphitheater. The actors walked on the stage in answer to their cues without curtain or call-bell, and disappeared among the trees behind certain leafy screens carelessly erected here and there. At 7 p. m. the audience were in their places, and waited, not for the curtain to rise, but for the dream to begin.

"The play was scarcely cut at all, and proceeded much in the order and style in which Shakespeare intended to have it.

"Among those who figured in the scene at the court of Theseus, Helena was especially well taken. This part was played with much feeling and tact by Miss Caroline Randolph, of Plainfield, N. J., a young lady of much beauty and grace. Miss Randolph is a very popular member of the Senior class, and has been elected one of the Senior Day officers. She made a most charming picture in her pale-green robes."

Versatile Weather.

The boys wanted to go skating, but the clerk of the weather seemed to object. First, it rained; then it began to blow, then it snowed; then it cleared up, and the sun came out; then it began to snow again.

"I never saw such weather," exclaimed Hal, turning from the window in disgust. "It's horrid! It's—I don't know what to call it!"

Bill also strove for a word to express his feelings.

"Yes, I think so too! It's—it's—the most versatile weather I ever saw!"—Harper's Young People.

Moral Suasion.

"What were you beating him for?" indignantly asked the gentleman of the older boy.

"He has got some cigarettes and he won't divide 'em, and I was just trying to coax some of them out of him!"—Texas Siftings.

Willing to Condense.

"I—I must not listen to you, Mr. Capphead," protested the blushing girl, with eyes downcast. "You are only trifling, and—and, besides it is getting late."

"Please hear me out, Miss Helen!" pleaded the infatuated young reporter. "I'll cut it down to two hundred and fifty words!"—Chicago Tribune.

Honors Even.

Mr. Van—You look charming to-night, my love.

Mrs. Van—Indeed? Thanks! I'm surprised you should say so even if you thought it.

Mr. Van—Yes; I'm surprised that you should look so, even if I had said it!—Town Topics.

A Bit of Comfort.

Little Johnny—Was I born on a Thanksgiving day?

Mamma—Yes; but if you keep on being such a bad boy, I don't know what I'll have to be thankful for.

A Great Scheme.

Jack—How are you going to spend the summer?

Tom—I'm going to put it in traveling from one summer resort to another until I find a girl worth a million or two who wants to be loved and married for herself alone.—Truth.

Home, Sweet Home.

She—So she married that bald-headed old chap! Why, I heard he had been blackballed at every club in town.

He—That's why he married; for a home.—Life.

The Darlings.

Clara—I am afraid this silk waist of mine won't wear.

Maude—Why not? I didn't suppose there was a chance of any of you waists wearing out—

Necessity of Proper Food for Babies.

To prevent the great infant mortality in June, July and August has been the aim of all sorts of philanthropy. Its principal cause is improper feeding, say medical men, and with lactated food they are now able to lessen the awful mortality of the summer months. As a preventive of cholera infantum lactated food is worth more than all the medicines in the world. It is a food that is easy to procure and to prepare, and is liked by the little ones themselves.

Five Months for the Bicycle Thief.

THE MILITIA CALLED OUT

The Strike at Romeo, Ill., Has Grown Serious.

SIX KILLED IN YESTERDAY'S FIGHT

About 25 Others Were Seriously Injured and Some Will Die—Two Different Stories of the Trouble—Strikers Claim to Be Blameless.

CHICAGO, June 10.—The pitched battle which took place between the strikers and employes of the contractors on the drainage canal yesterday, has decided the sheriffs of the three counties of Cook, Dupage and Will, to call on Governor Altgeld for aid, and it is probable that 1,500 militia will be encamped on the grounds before night.

The fight took place at Romeo, some of the strikers coming down from Lemont and others coming from the north, they being divided into two mobs. They at once began firing on the contractors and their men.

Those coming from the north drove off the men on section 10. The men retired fighting, but they had only gone a short distance when they were set upon by another division of the strikers and six men were killed. The names of the men who were fatally hurt are not known. There were about 25 wounded, all of them strikers. Some of them were frightfully wounded, and it is probable that many of them will die.

The workmen, after the battle which took place and in which the strikers were worsted, captured about 30 of their assailants.

According to the stories told by the strikers, they were in no wise responsible for the carnage. Those from Lemont and those from the camps north of Romeo were to hold a meeting at Romeo to discuss the situation. They claim that they were unarmed and were attacked without provocation.

Of the men employed on the drainage canal about 100 negroes in the employ of contractors Edward Locker, Smith and Jackson, King Brothers and John McCormack refused to join the strikers. This morning they were armed with shot guns, Winchesters and revolvers and told to protect themselves. Lookouts with powerful field glasses were stationed in towers to give the warning of the approach of the strikers.

When the party from the north came in sight about noon they say they were more than surprised to be met with a fusilade from the men at work. They deny having fired a shot or making any hostile demonstration. At the first fire they started to run. The negroes gave pursuit and 17 of the strikers were captured and imprisoned in a car, in which they were afterward conveyed to Joliet. When the party from Lemont approached the camp from the south, an hour later, the lookouts gave notice to the negroes, who were placed by the men in charge at various points of vantage on the summits of the huge piles of rock which surround the camp.

The strikers approached unconscious of the reception in store for them. When about 500 feet from the camp a whistle was sounded. This was the signal for the negroes to fire and instantly 100 rifles belched forth their death-dealing missiles into the ranks of the strikers. Many fell at the first fire while those uninjured started to flee. They were almost surrounded however, and as the firing continued they became thoroughly bewildered.

At last an avenue of escape was discovered and then began the mad race for life. The negroes gave pursuit firing as they ran, bringing down a hapless striker every few rods. For a mile and a half the chase was kept up and marking the road for this distance with a trail of blood. Two of the wounded strikers were seen to fall into the canal. The others who were killed outright died where they fell in the roadway.

While the battle was in progress Ludwig Kruger, a section man employed on the Santa Fe railroad was mistaken for a striker and shot through the abdomen.

HIGGINBOTHAM ACQUIESCES

He Will Close the Fair To-morrow Without Appeal.

BOSTON, June 10.—Secretary Baer, of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, has received a despatch from Chicago stating that President Higginbotham has decided to close the Fair Sundays without appeal.

Mr. Baer says that he is pleased with the decision of the Federal Court and if the Directory considers the decision final and withdraws their attorney's appeal to a higher court, and immediately decides to close the gates on Sundays, he means to down everything in his power to stimulate the attendance, believing the exposition closed on Sundays merits the united, hearty and enthusiastic support of every one in the land.

Still Sending Currency Westward.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The shipment of currency by banks in New York to banks in Chicago and at other interior points in the West yesterday, aggregated $600,000. A transfer was made by telegraph of $400,000 from the Sub-Treasury to San Francisco. For this money gold certificates were received, and they will add so much to the surplus gold in the Treasury.

Reading Storage Sheds Burned.

BUFFALO, June 10.—The immense coal trestles and iron storage sheds of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad said to be the largest plant of its kind, was almost entirely destroyed by fire last night. The iron shed contained about 30,000 tons of anthracite coal which continues to burn fiercely this morning. Nearly 100 coal cars in or near the building were destroyed. Loss is $500,000.

German Anarchists Sentenced.

LEIPSIC, June 10.—The trial of the anarchists charged with inciting to the use of dynamite and with other treasonable conduct, has been concluded. Grosser, whose crime was inciting to the use of dynamite, was sentenced to imprisonment for five years, Schonberger was sentenced to imprisonment for eight years, and five other anarchists were sentenced for periods ranging from one year to 18 months. Grosser and Schonberger will both lose their civil rights for ten years.

Silver Exports of Europe.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Handy & Harman will ship to-day 50,000 ounces of silver; Zimmermann & Forshay, 30,000 ounces of silver and 25,000 Mexican dollars, and Neeslags, Colgate & Co., 25,000 ounces of silver. This makes a total of 205,000 ounces of silver and 25,000 Mexican dollars for Europe on steamship Umbria, sailing to-day.

The Dernier Ressort.

"Yes," said the marchioness of Begadzir, as she furtively dried a tear, "my son, Lord Da Masy, has run through his entire fortune; in fact, there is left to him only one loophole of escape from absolute ruin, and of that he must at once avail himself."

"What is it?" asked Lord Zavus, to whom she was detailing her woes.

TROUT BROOK SECRETS.

The Tiny Case Worm and Its Astonishing Transformation.

Come over the pasture bars and down by the brook. I have a small pet to show you. No, it is not the fish you know so well from tip to tail. But you are a beauty, Mr. Trout, and how easily you float! That is because of the silvery gas bag fastened beneath your spinal column. We also know about the luck stones floating in your bony ears, and that you are able to keep your mouth open so long without drowning because the water passes through the mouth and over that pile of blood-red brushes or gills inside, by means of which you breathe. So no wonder you gasp and die as soon as you are taken out of the water. But you need not eye so hungrily that poor little thing down on the bottom, just thrusting his head out of his front door. If you try to gobble him up you will have your labor for your pains, for, like a fish, his head will disappear, dart after him as quickly as you may.

This little creature at the bottom is well worth our attention. Can it be that the tiny mite built the wonderful stone mansion himself? He must have a glue-manufacturing establishment ir his body instead of an air bladder. See the little house, a two-inch cylinder, a quarter of an inch in diameter, fashioned from gravel stones and sticks, just big enough to hold its occupant. He is quite modest, for, you see, he has put his brown-stone front in the rear.

Now take the little builder up, house and all, and hold him in your hand. Try to pull him out of his case, aid you will find that he has hooked himself in by his hind feet. If he feels lively he will try to get away from you by biting hold of the skin of your hand with his strong jaws, and pulling himself and his house along so rapidly that he sometimes turns somersaults in the effort. And now comes the pathetic part of his history. After this lowly creature has spent the most of his life in the water, he suddenly closes up his front and back doors, shutting himself in for two weeks, during which he is perfectly quiet. At the expiration of that time he emerges, an entirely different creature, looking like a small moth. But his strong jaws have disappeared and he is provided instead with a weak sucking tube, so he flutters around for a few days and then dies. The female lives long enough to lay her eggs on a stem in the water, so that the young may hatch out in their native element. Before this transformation my pet's name is "case-worm;" afterwards "caddis fly." She has relations to be found at the bottom of almost any small stream. Some of them live in log cabins made of tiny sticks; others in houses of moss; and still others in green houses, made of leaves chewed up and fastened together, forming a case with a small opening through the center for its builder. Some forms of these interesting houses are shown in the illustrations.—E. H. Lowe, in America.

CASE OF LIZZIE BORDEN

LEGAL LUMINARIES WRANGLING

Arguments in Regard to the Admissibility of the Report of Miss Borden's Testimony at the Inquest—No Abatement of Interest in the Proceedings—Review of the Case—Is There a Conspiracy?

NEW BEDFORD, June 12.—Promptly at 9 o'clock this morning the judges, the opposing counsel and the prisoner were in their places, and the seventh day of the Borden trial commenced. The court room was packed as usual, a large proportion of the spectators being women.

Argument at once began with regard to the admissibility of the report of the prisoner's testimony at the inquest.

It is becoming more evident every day that the Commonwealth is gradually knocking the underpinning from the structure it began to erect, be it prison or gibbet, with such skill and celerity in the trial of Lizzie Borden, and, what is more astonishing still, this work of demolition is being accomplished by the very mechanics who helped lay the foundation.

The conflicting testimony regarding the handle of the hatchet with which it is said the murders were committed; the quality and quantity of the dust with which the handle was covered; the color and style of the dress Miss Borden wore on the morning of the murder; the alternately proven and denied identity of the dress with one she is said to have burned or the one now in possession of the State—all this is becoming more of a muddle as the case progresses.

If Miss Borden, or some one for her, can satisfactorily explain the alleged burning of the waist, it is difficult to see, unless it has some much better cards in reserve than a ny so far played, how the prosecution can convince the jury or the community that this young woman is guilty of the atrocious crime with which she is charged. In fact, the prosecution is gradually and materially giving tangibility to the belief which has existed in many minds that the prisoner is the victim, incredible as this may seem, of a conspiracy on the part of the Fall River police, who, it is hinted, being baffled at every turn, felt that they had to distort facts in order to make a case and, it is further intimated, earn the promotion with which, as was disclosed, they have since been rewarded.

A review of the case, viewed from the standpoint of the prosecution, then from that of the defense, may be of interest.

The Government's case, as it stands, is that Miss Lizzie Borden is guilty because of the following facts: She lived a dull routine in an uncongenial household where life was monotonous, the fare was wretched, her father was a parsimonious man, and she hated her stepmother. So odious to right-minded persons was the manner of living that the old people kept their bedroom door locked, and bolted the doors that led from the end of the house to that occupied by the daughters.

On the day before the murder she tried to buy prussic acid, and on that night she went to visit her closest friend, Miss Russell, and talked to her of her strange feeling that something dreadful was going to happen. She talked of poison, saying that all her people had been sick, and she feared that the food was poisoned. She feared for her father because of his quarrelsomeness; in fact, she said she expected nothing less than her home would be burned over her head. She said she had been oppressed by this feeling for some days, and while her sister and the servant were merry, she was depressed. She chose for a time for the murder a period when her sister was off on a visit, and the only person at home besides her victims was the servant. She meant at first to poison her people with prussic acid but could not. While the servant was out of doors at work at the lower windows and her mother was upstairs at the chamber work he murdered her. An hour or two afterward her father came in and she induced him to lie down and sleep on a sofa where his head would be near a doorway, in which she stood while she chopped his head, the wall protecting her from the flying blood. During all the bloody forenoon she saw to it that the house was locked on all sides against intrusion. How she protected herself from blood stains while murdering her mother is not yet outlined. She might have been naked, though. As she burned one of her dresses afterward, it is possible that that was what she wore. It will be admitted that during the second killing she need not have got any blood upon her. When all was over she called the servant down. She did not scream or shriek, nor did she weep at any time that anyone can testify to. She invented a lie to the effect that Mrs. Borden had got a note and gone out, and to this she adhered all day, until at the last she said, "She thought she heard her come in," well knowing that the only door at which the old lady could have come in was that of the kitchen, and yet to do so she must have passed the neighbors who were then around her. That lie was told to keep the people from looking for the old lady and discovering her body.

No note was discovered, as it would be likely to be on the woman's body or about the house. She lied with still less system about her own movements. To no two persons did she describe them alike. To every one she said she was in the yard or barn, but beyond that no two of her stories agreed. Upon the very discovery of the murders, when a police officer happened to ask a question about her mother, she turned upon him sharply and said: "She's not my mother; my mother died when I was a child." At the same time she showed by a remark she made that she had picked out the undertaker she meant to employ. On the day of the funeral this Yankee girl, brought up in a house where every penny was squeezed till it was dented, committed the astonishing act of burning up a dress because it had a little paint on it—a good dress made new that spring. As for the motive that prompted the arsenic, it seems many-sided. The stepmother had led the father to give property to her relatives. The murderer hated her, and said so. She wanted money, ease and luxury. Had she killed her father first, the estate would have benefited his wife's people.

Therefore, the mother was killed first and the father afterward. The Commonwealth argues that only an inmate of the house, familiar with the habits of the others, could have committed the murders.

Miss Borden's defenders assert that the angry state of affairs in the Borden house is exaggerated that they will prove that in two years and nine months in that house Bridget Sullivan never heard a quarrel or a cross word there, that her talk about forebodings to Miss Russell was such as women often indulge in, that it is a mere coincidence that the murders happened next day. They assert that mistaken identity leads to the testimony about prussic acid. They say that the dress she burned was not worn by her or seen upon her by any one on the day of the murder, that she burned it almost publicly in the presence of her sister and friend, and before a wire door on the other side of which the police were moving around. They assert that the Government itself proves that Miss Lizzie was about her work ironing handkerchiefs at the very time her father was murdered, she having gone out for a few minutes, leaving unlocked that back door by which the murderer escaped. On Tuesday night, two days before the murder, she heard her father and stepmother moving in their room in the night, and in her good will she got up and asked them if they were ill and if she could be of any assistance to them. On the very morning of the crime she was heard to speak with her stepmother as any person might speak to another without unkindness. To prove her gentleness, they bring out the fact that, when the murders were discovered, she asked Dr. Bowen to telegraph for her sister, but to word the message guardedly, as there was an old person living whose name, then, she knew. Finally, the defense declares that, according to the Government's witness, Bridget Sullivan, the prisoner had but eight, or, at the outside, thirteen minutes in which to murder her father and hide all traces of her part in the crime. The theory of the defense is that some one who was concealed in the house did the deeds.

WILLIE WAS TOO FRISKY

Why Mrs. Leslie-Wilde Obtained a Divorce from the Englishman.

NEW YORK, June 12.—In speaking of her divorce from William Wilde, Mrs. Frank Leslie said: "While I regret exceedingly that the necessity for a divorce ever arose, I am gratified that it is all at an end now. I have been asked why I married a commoner of little fortune when princely titles and fortunes had been laid at my feet. My answer was and is now, that a man promising the rare mental qualities that Mr. Wilde did, is worthy of the love of any woman and ranks with any prince. But those qualities should be coupled with industry, which Mr. Wilde did not possess. I thought when I consented to become his wife that he would become my partner in business, but he proved a failure in that respect."

At the beginning the proceedings were delayed by the fact of the defendant, William C. Kingsbury Wilde, being a resident of London. It was finally arranged that all testimony there be taken by the United States Consul, and this be added to that taken here before Referee Grant B. Taylor.

The referee, after a lengthy hearing, decided that Mrs. Leslie was entitled to her decree, and so reported to the court. From the decision it is apparent that the summons was served on "Willie" Wilde on November 23, 1892, and that he failed to appear. The referee's report is dated June 6, 1893, and finds that "the defendant has been addicted to habits of gross vulgar intemperance, and to violent and profane abuse of and cruel conduct to the plaintiff, and has been guilty of one of the several acts of adultery charged in the complaint."

The decree accordingly is that the marrige between Frank Leslie and William C. K. Wilde is dissolved, "that the plaintiff may marry again during the lifetime of the defendant, but he shall not marry again until death of the plaintiff, and that the remarriage of these parties is not prohibited. It also is decreed that "the defendant shall not have any interest in any property of the plaintiff before or after her death."

BIG CANADIAN GRAIN SHIPMENTS

Forwarding Companies Have All the Business They Can Attend To.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 12.—The forwarding companies were never kept so busy handling grain as they are now. Grain is cheap and there is a big demand for it in Europe. Since April the Kingston & Montreal Forwarding company has received 1,672,000 bushels, and handled at Ogdensburg 500,000 additional.

As much grain has been received up to the present time as was handled in whole seasons before. Dealers in England have orders ahead for all the grain they can get.

A Big Suit.

RICHMOND, June 12.—A suit has been instituted in the Chancery Court by Baroness Carolin Von Roques, through counsel against David W. Armstrong and John A. Blair of New York, and Harrison T. Groom of Lexington, Ky.; J. Taylor Ellyson, W. H. Mann, W. J. Johnson, H. A. McCurdy and W. R. McKinney, the last five trustees of certain West Virginia lands. The bill has not yet been filed, but it is understood the result involves a title to some 2,000,000 acres of land in Virginia and West Virginia and other large interests.

Anomias Boats Not Required Speed.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 12.—Gunboat Machias on her trial trip beat the required speed of 19 knots by 2 full knots, and probably more, but the exact speed cannot be given until the necessary allowances are made by the official board.

Holcomb's Body Recovered.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 12.—The body of Harry Holcomb, a nephew of Ex-Mayor Holcomb, who together with Albert Holt, was drowned while out sailing three weeks ago has been recovered. Holt's body was recovered a week ago.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

INVESTIGATION BEGUN

The Coroner Inquiring into the Theatre Disaster.

YESTERDAY WAS FUNERAL DAY

Many of the Bodies Shipped to Distant Places—Two More Likely to Die—The Popular Resentment Growing—A Witness' Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The coroner's jury impanelled to inquire into the horror at Ford's theatre, in which twenty-four persons lost their lives, began work at 10 o'clock this morning.

The following statement was made by Chief Ainsworth of the Bureau of Records and Pensions in reference to the work being done on the building: The column in the rear of the building was simply to be extended through to the front and there was very little excavating to be done—only about 12 feet in width by 20 feet. No walls were being taken down; no arches were disturbed.

The object was to secure light and air underneath the building and to put in an electric light plant for the benefit of the clerks. The work has been going on for about six weeks or more. Bids were advertised for, and ten or twelve contractors submitted proposals for doing the work, each guaranteeing to do it without disturbing the building in any way.

The contract was awarded to George W. Dant, of this city, who is one of the oldest and best known builders in the District, and who has long made a specialty of this class of work. During the excavation there was no sign of weakness; the building had never been condemned to my knowledge, and so far as I know it was considered perfectly safe.

For many years it had carried the enormous weight of the Army Medical Museum on the third floor and the great library of the Surgeon-General's office on the second floor, the largest medical library in the world. Both the library and the museums, the iron cases, the heavy records and every thing of weight were removed in 1887, and since then there have been no records stored in the building, and the floors have carried no weight save that of the clerks and the desks at which they worked.

All of the bidders who examined the building before the contract was awarded with a view of doing the work pronounced the building perfectly safe. As the work progressed there was no sign of weakness; there was not the slightest hint or intimation that there was any danger. I have no theory to account for the collapse; I am not a builder or engineer. The contract was let to the lowest responsible bidder, one of the most responsible men in the District of Columbia, and only an official investigation can determine where the fault lay.

The remains of the dead victims have nearly all been disposed of. Washington was a city of funerals yesterday, and all day long mourners went about the streets. Everyone knew what the sad procession meant, and the sympathy of all was extended, albeit unexpressed in many cases, to the sorrow-stricken ones.

Inquiry confirms the statement that none of the victims were men of property. Most of them lived on their salaries, which furnished means of livlihood, but left none for a day like this. Most of them were married, and some had large families, who are now left, if not entirely dependent upon friends and relatives, at least lacking in funds for immediate use.

The most of the bodies were taken out of the District for interment. Many of the men had been members of civic or military organizations, and their comrades in each case attended the funerals and escorted the remains to the railroad stations.

Much of the talk is now of relief measures and the circulators of subscription papers in the departments and the Washington newspapers in their efforts to gather funds for the relief of the victims and their families are meeting with success to a degree that does credit to the benevolence of the citizens. The government clerks as a class are not well-to-do, and the expenses of living here absorb most of their salaries, but few indeed were too poor to contribute a sum that appeared to be generous in view of their means, for the relief of the widows and orphans.

One notable fact is the growth of the feeling of resentment on the part of the public against the persons responsible for the wreck. In advance of the verdict of the coroner's jury and of the findings of the court of inquiry ordered by the War Department, there is no general agreement upon this point, and the public is rather indiscriminately condemning everybody who had anything to do with the control of the wrecked building, from Congress down to the very laborers who were digging in the cellar when the crash came.

The injured now in the hospitals are, with the exception of two, in a fair way to recover.

The serious cases are those of J. P. McCormack, of Wisconsin, and Frank Metcalf of Massachusetts. The former received a depressed fracture of the ribs, and has been in a critical condition. Death is likely to occur at any moment.

Mr. Metcalf has a dislotated hip and was doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances until pneumonia developed and the physicians are not now able to predict the result in his case.

Lewis Gildersleeve, convicted of manslaughter in the first degree for killing Abraham Frazier, colored, at Huntington, L. I., on Oct. 1 last, has been sentenced to Sing Sing for ten years and eight months.

The owner of the sunken schooner Mabel Jordan, has filed a libel in the United States District court at Philadelphia, to recover $63,000 damages from the owners of the steamship Illinois. Negligence is charged on the part of the Illinois' officers.

JUDGE BEERS' SUIT

The Hamburg Company's Defense—Evidence All Finished.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The taking of testimony in the case of Judge Beers of Connecticut, who is suing the Hamburg-American Packet Company for $10,000 damages for detention on board the steamship Normannia last summer, is finished. The last two witnesses were Wilhelm Finck, the cabin clerk of the company in Hamburg, and Richard Berting, managing clerk of the Cockspur street office of the London agents.

An effort was made by the witnesses to show that the assurances given to Mr. Beers and others who had engaged passage on the Normannia, that the ship would not carry steerage passengers, were the result of the misunderstanding of a cable sent from Hamburg to the London agents. The cable was as follows:

"Steamship Normannia, rooms vacant . . . second class full; refund cannot take place. Measure to secure sanitary safety vigorously taken. Instruct no steerages forwarded by our line. Fast steamers plying Southampton and New York only."

This cable, it was testified, was sent shortly after the Normannia sailed from Hamburg. The latter part referred to instructions that had just been issued forbidding the future booking of steerage passengers. The London agents interpreted it to mean that the Normannia carried no steerage passengers.

The lawyers in the case will submit their briefs to Judge Brown of the United States District Court before next Saturday.

THE CLEVELANDS' PLANS

They are Likely to Go to Buzzard's Bay Soon for Baby Ruth's Sake.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Mrs. Cleveland may decide to open the summer home at Buzzard's Bay within the next fortnight. Upon moving into the Woodley Road villa the Pres dent and Mrs. Cleveland had concluded to spend the entire summer there with the possible exception of August, when the cool breezes of the seaside home would hold greater attraction and afford the desired change before the resumption of the winter's social duties.

These plans, it is understood, have undergone a change, as Mrs. Cleveland is desirous of taking her little daughter to Buzzard's Bay before the advent of the intense heat in Washington. The days at the country place on Woodley Road are spent in enjoyable quiet by President and Mrs. Cleveland, who receive numerous visits from friends who drive out during fine afternoons.

OSMOND ELECTROCUTED

The Wife Murderer Died This Morning in Sing Sing Prison.

SING SING, N. Y., June 12.—John L. Osmond, convicted of the murder of his wife, died in the electric chair this morning. Everything worked smoothly and death was instantaneous. He took his seat unconcernedly as though he were sitdown for for a quiet chat.

Osmond passed a quiet Sunday. He read his Bible much of the time and was visted in the afternoon by his two brothers, who came up from New York to bid him farewell. He was perfectly calm and resigned to his fate. He showed no anxiety regarding his future nor concern for the present. The prison officials say that he displayed more nerve on the eve of electhan any man who has yet died at Sing Sing.

Their Awful Revenge.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 12.—At Absola, in the State of Guerrero, a band of brigands led by Leando Sanchez, a notorious outlaw, assaulted the residence of Saltarine Prudente and killed the owner. The bandits then killed the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Prudente and placing a rope around her dead body dragged it through the street for a considerable distance. Prudente had a short time ago made complaint against the bandits.

The Malden Contractor Returns Home.

MALDEN, Mass., June 12.—Wallace S. Johnston, the contractor who caused a sensation by his sudden disappearance October 17, 1891, has returned to his former home. Mr. Johnston's disappearance caused one failure and many financial difficulties. He says he will do his best to make a settlement with his creditors, and after this has been accomplished he will resume building operations as before he went away.

To Set Aside Field's Assignment.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 12.—Robert E. Dietz, a New York city financier, has brought an action before Judge Dykeman to set aside the assignment of Edward M. Field to Charles Gould, on the ground of fraud. Dietz is a credit r of Field's to the amount of $11,000 and alleges that Field, who is now in a Buffalo lunatic asylum, was insolvent when the debt was incurred. Friday next was set down for the trial of the case.

Reduction in the Acreage of Wheat.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The report of June 1st, based on returns to the Department of Agriculture, makes the acreage of winter wheat as compared with that of last year 87.8 per cent being a reduction of 12.2 points. The States in which the principal decrease has occurred are Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and California.

Butch Bradley Receives a Life Sentence.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 12.—Butch Bradley, the notorious burglar and crook, has been sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary for the murder of his pal, John Rogers, alias Kelly. Bradley was educated for the priesthood in Philadelphia, but has already done time in several State prisons.

Gen. Gordon Will Lecture.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Gen. John B. Gordon, United States Senator from Georgia, has, at the solication of many prominent men in this city, consented to deliver a lecture founded on the "Closing days of the confederacy, and his personal estimate of the two great Captains-Grant and Lee."

Claim Privileges of Birth.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The Spanistraz family consisting of mother and two sons, who were confined at Ellis Island on account of the two young men suffering from favus, a loathsome contagious disease, have proven that two of them were born in this country and were entitled to privileges of their birth.

Forty-first Convention of the I. T. U.

CHICAGO, June 12.—The forty-first annual convention of the International Typographical Union will be, in point of numbers, the largest in the history of the organization. The exposition is drawing to Chicago representatives from every subordinate union.

THE GATES WERE OPEN

But Those Who Attended the Fair Were Chicagoans.

NO MORE EXHIBITS CAN ENTER NOW

The Latest Order of the Director General Means that the Show is All Ready. Evangelist Moody's Meetings—Dancers from Brazil On Their Way.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, June 12.—Director General Davis' order that no exhibits or instructive material will hereafter be allowed to enter the grounds under any circumstances if intended for display is posted this morning. This order does not apply to special exhibits at stated periods under the rules in the department of Agriculture, Horticulture and Live Stock.

The Director General says that all permanent exhibits are now in place in all buildings, with one or two exceptions, and that people from all over can now come on with the assurance that they will see the whole show.

The uncertainty regarding the Sunday opening of the Fair kept yesterday's early attendance down to a low mark. Chief Justice Fuller's action in granting the "supersedeas" was not made known far enough away from Chicago in time to bring in a crowd of countrymen and as a result the day's sightseers were mostly Chicagoans.

The moring was damp and cold; a heavy fog blew in from the lake, hiding the towers and minarets of the great buildings and making heavy overcoats almost a necessity.

As 1 o'clock the sun came out warm, however, dispersing the mists and rendering the afternoon bright and pleasant. The crowds began to come about 8 o'clock, and from that hour until after dark every mode of transportation was tested to its fullest capacity. The attendance for the day was good, considerably exceeding that of last Sunday.

Considerable work was done in Manufacture's building behind the drawn curtains of some of the exhibits. The doors to Japan's pavilion in the north end of the building were barred and two guards stood on watch outside. Everything in the English section was shut up, while her neighbor France, across the wide aisle had thrown her big gates wide open as usual. Everything in the German section was in its every-day appearance, but half of Austria's display was concealed by long white curtains.

Behind all the curtained departments, however, men were busy engaged in dressing windows and arranging displays to render them if possible more attractive. A large force of men had possession of the Spanish section in the big hall, and they were working hard under the supervision of the assistant commissioner. It is the intention of the Spaniards to have their display in readiness in two or three days and then give a reception to the Infanta. The only buildings on the grounds that were crowded were the Convent of Larabida and the Krupp gun exhibit. These structures are small, but they were jammed all day by neverending crowds of people who walked almost to the extreme southern portion of the grounds to see the treasures they contained. The free band concerts began at 3 o'clock. The programmes of sacred and popular selections were liberally applauded.

Religious services were held down town in the morning by Mr. Moody at Tattersalls and at Forepaugh's Circus in the afternoon. Many of the circus attendants visited the Fair during the afternoon and evening.

It is said that Princess Eulalia feels much displeasure at the excessive formality with which she has been surrounded since she came to Chicago. She wants to be a democrat in a democratic country, and see the Fair in as democratic way. But the Chicago people won't let her.

Commander Davis is said to have delivered himself of the following:

"This thing of constant receptions must cease. There must be no more formal receptions tendered the Princess. She has been bored ever since her arrival in Chicago, except on Thursday morning when she visited the Fair incognito. Unless she is permitted to see the Fair without being fatigued by tiresome formal receptions she will return to Spain.

"She will not be presented to any one else while in Chicago. She will only meet one Chicagoan, Hobart C. Chatfield, Taylor, who will be recognized, not as a member of Chicago society, but as an official, being Spanish Consul in this city.

Brazilian Dancers for the Fair.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The steamer Maranhense, which has arrived here from North Brazilian ports, has on board as passengers 14 Brazilian Nautch dancers enroute for the World's Fair.

RIOTS IN SPAIN

The People of Coruna Rise Against New Taxation.

MADRID, June 12.—Riots have broken out in Corunna, capital of the province of that name, owing to the indignation of the people against the new taxation arising from military reform.

The Provincial Defense Association is circulating pamphlets in favor of a British protectorate, and the authorities have ordered troops to concentrate promptly to suppress the disorder.

In Memory of Lovejoy's Work.

ALTON, Ill., June 12.—Yesterday was Lovejoy Day, and the usual observances were held. Lovejoy was the first martyr to the anti-elavery cause, and was murdered here on November 7th, 1837. The custom of decorating his grave has grown in the last few years. The unpretentious tomb was literally covered with flowers.

Wants the Merrill Estate Distributed.

BOSTON, June 12.—Counsel for Mrs. Sarah H. Cohen has filed a petition in the Registry of Insolvency asking that the estate of Moody Merrill be seized and distributed according to law for the benefit of the creditors. The claim upon which it is based is a note of agreement to invest $13,000 for Mrs. Sarah Cohen.

The Pepperill Mill Strike.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 12.—The strike which originated in the Pepperill mill has extended to the Laconia mills, a number of boys employed by that corporation having quit work. In the Pepperill mills the situation remains about the same.

Canadian Pacific Earnings.

MONTREAL, June 12.—The earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending June 7 were $405,000; for the same period last year, $394,000; decrease, $11,000.

Tuesday afternoon the rig was found near New Market, with the horse tied to a post and rail fence, the dashboard kicked in, and the driver asleep under the wagon. The two other men went away from New Brunswick on a train.

GIFTS FOR THE INFANTS.

Pleasing Novelty in the Grace M. E. Church Children's Celebration.

The interior of Grace M. E. church, formerly Park place chapel, was indeed a beautiful sight, yesterday. Hundreds of potted plants and any amount of wild flowers and roses were tastefully arranged, and delightful to behold.

Presiding Elder E. S. Ryman, D. D., officiated at the morning service, and, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. H. F. Randolph, and H. K. Carroll, LL.D., administered the Lord's supper for the first time in the church. Miss Alice Carroll in her usual pleasing manner presided at the organ.

In the afternoon, under the directions of superintendent John Valiant, and his valued corps of assistants, special children's service was held, and the following programme was given:

Hymn—Growing up for Jesus.....School
Roll Call.
Hymn—'Tis Summer Time.....School
Scripture reading by superintendent.
Prayer by the Rev. H. F. Randolph.

The hymn "We are Volunteers" was finally rendered, which was very pretty, as during singing the children of the infant department marched up and each one received a potted plant. Grace church is rapidly growing in membership, and ere long the boroughites will see a large and handsome Methodist church adorning the corner of Park place and Somerset street.

Landed on His Feet.

Jacob Naylor, formerly a resident of this city, and another man by the name of Sprague, while engaged working on a frame building at Cranford, a day or two ago, narrowly escaped a severe accident. The two men were standing on the scaffold busily working when one of the brackets gave way, and Naylor fell the distance of twenty feet but luckily he landed on his feet, and after taking some "medicine" he was able to go to his home in Elizabeth. The other workman clung to the scaffold until a ladder was brought, and he came down in safety.

Driving Away Newcomers.

Plainfield is still being maligned at home and abroad by the Courier. On Thursday night that paper falsely and maliciously stated that the mosquitoes were so thick here that the stores had to be closed on account of the pests. The lie is being used as a minstrel gag in New York city, to the great detriment of the place among those who would become summer visitors and perhaps permanent residents.

A Thriving Church Welcomes Home Its Pastor.

Seventeen new communicants were received into the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday. The people gladly welcomed back their beloved pastor, the Rev. J. W. Richardson, who was well browned with his vacation, and who preached in his usual masterly and vigorous style. Next Sunday will be Children's Day in this church.

Fell from the Roof.

Little Willie Dalrymple, of Newark, was a guest of Lewis Mulford, yesterday, on Park avenue. During the day the lad got out of the window onto the roof of Miss Lincoln's building adjoining and was playing with a wagon when he backed over the edge and fell 15 feet to the ground. Though badly shaken up, no bones were broken, and the plucky little fellow did not complain.

Sued for the Collision.

M Weber, the East Third street butcher, who collided with a young bicyclist near the Friends' meeting-house, Tuesday evening, has been summoned by W. R. Codington in relation to a suit for damages. Mr. Weber claims that his horse was unmanageable at the time, and that the boy attempted to cross the street directly in front of him.

He Must Be in Love.

A shoe clerk in a West Front street store was so absent-minded a few nights ago that when exhibiting a pair of gaiters to a feminine customer he inadvertently tried to put on the new left shoe before he had taken off the old one.

A Church for Richmond Street.

The Emmanuel Baptist congregation has secured a lot on Richmond street, 120 feet east of Third street, 40x90 feet in size, and will build a church there as soon as the lot is paid for.

Both Legs Fractured.

Joseph Hill, of Dunellen, while painting a building in Newark, Friday, fell and fractured both legs. He was brought to this city, and his injuries were attended to by Dr. Long.

Tracey's Tax Is Paid.

James B. Tracey was released from the jail at Elizabeth yesterday, after spending five weeks for non-payment of taxes. Relatives paid the full amount.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs Charles Greer is ill at her home in the borough.

Oscar Terry of the North avenue seafood market has taken in John V. Beekman as a partner.

Mrs. Williams is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, at her home, East Second street.

Mrs. John Allen, of West Fourth street, presented an eleven-pound son to her doting husband a few days ago.

Mrs. L. B. Boice and daughter, Carrie C., of Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, left for Chicago to-day. They will visit the World's fair, and remain a week or two.

Thomas M. Reid, of South Second street, started to-day on a four weeks' vacation, visiting friends in Massachusetts, at North Grafton, Whitinsville, Worcester and Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Adams of Sixth street East, are home from Old Point Comfort. Their return trip was made by way of Norfolk, Richmond, Washington and Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. John VanMiddlesworth, of Somerville, and Miss Stella VanMiddlesworth, of Elizabeth, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth, 111 Elmwood place, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wooley, of Newark, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark and family, at their beautiful home in Washington Valley. Mrs. Wooley is a sister of Mrs. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lindell and daughter of Miesahick, Penn., spent Sunday with the Rev. Cornelius Schenck and family. Mr. Lindell was an officer in Mr. Schenck's church at Boxborough, during his pastorate there, before the clergyman came to Plainfield.

Mr and Mrs. VanAngle, who were well known to Plainfield society people at the Albion last season, will not spend this summer here. They are at Roselle, and yesterday Mr. VanAngle drove his handsome chestnut bay horse to Plainfield, returning early in the evening.

Architects and contractors have been engaged for the remodelling of "Oakwood", the former country seat of the late ex-mayor Evans, on Plainfield avenue. The work is being done for Mrs. Frank A. Barnaby (formerly Mrs. Evans), who will again occupy the place.

Miss Belle Barcalow, of Somerville, a sister of Mrs. Edward White, of this city, died at her home, Saturday. Miss Barcalow had been in Plainfield nursing her sick sister for some time past, and went home only a few days ago. Her death was sudden and a great shock to her many friends.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

The Rev. C. E. Herring made one of his delightful addresses yesterday afternoon before the Sunday-school of the Westfield Presbyterian church, where the Rev. Mr. Cadwell is pastor.

HER OWN GRANDCHILD THE FIRST.

A beautiful baptismal font of Mexican onyx has been presented by Mrs. Charles Hyde to the First Presbyterian church, and was used yesterday for the first time. It bears the inscription I. H. R. (I have risen). Six little children were baptized yesterday by the Rev. C. E. Herring. The first was Mrs. Hyde's own grandchild, William, son of Dorsey, and the next two were grandchildren of the church's first pastor, the Rev. Lewis Bond.

HER DIGNITY BECAME THE PART.

The New York Sunday Press says, speaking of the sight presented at the Collingwood Opera-house, Poughkeepsie, when young women of the classes of '93-'96 of Vassar College were playing "Antigone", the most exquisite dramatic product of that most exquisite of Greek poets and playwrights, Sophocles: "The house was packed with beautiful women and their escorts. * * * The Teireslas of Grace Webster Cooley of North Plainfield offered much of the solemn dignity and the lofty speech and bearing of the seer."

A Child's Life Saved.

Dr. Endicott has performed very successfully the operation of tracheotomy on little Miss Fox, age 6, niece of Henry Lutz, coachman for J. Evarts Tracy.

The Fox girl was at death's door from diphtheria, her throat being entirely choked up.

As soon as the silver tube was inserted she began to breathe freely, and revived wonderfully.

Her recovery now is certain, as is also that of another little patient in the same family.

Now Is the Time to Act.

Water from Bock's saloon on East Second street, still stands in the gutter along Park avenue between Front and Second streets, and stagnates there, despite the emphatic statement of health president Rockfellow that he 'd stop the nuisance. The water comes from Mr. Bock's water motor, used in running fans. Mr. Rockfellow said he 'd stop its being emptied into the street if he had to dig up the waste pipe.

Widening Peace Street.

The work of widening Peace street was begun this morning. The trolley wires through the thoroughfare were taken down at daybreak, and until the poles are set back to the new curb line the cars will run no farther east than MacDonald's grocery store.

—Mrs. Stephen A. Davis, of this city, has taken a most pleasant cottage at 7 Olin street, Ocean Grove, where she will receive a select few summer boarders at reasonable rates. Her post office address is Box 750, Ocean Grove.

—Another big planer bed was moulded at the Pond Tool works, Tuesday evening, and was a perfect success. The pouring required 20 tons of iron, and under the able and efficient management of foreman Andrew McCardall everything was conducted successfully.

—The annual strawberry festival of the Monroe Avenue chapel will take place tomorrow evening. As this chapel is doing a good work, it is hoped that there will be a large attendance to partake of the ice-cream and strawberries. The electric cars pass the doors.

REYNOLDS'S FRUIT CRUSHES.

If you don't want to buy a Piano for ten years, we would like to talk to you about it, and tell you some things we know about Pianos and how they are made. When you buy you can then buy intelligently; you needn't take any one's word for it. The more people know about Pianos the easier it is to sell them a GABLER; we have handled this make of Piano for thirty years. They practically never wear out.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,
And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves has to but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.
Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America. 4-13 tf

OH, WHAT A GAME!

There Never Was a Better Played Anywhere.

Those who saw the base-ball game on the Crescent Oval Saturday went wild with delight over the matchless fielding of both teams. The strong Trentons were defeated by the Crescents in one of the cleanest and best games ever seen on any diamond. At the end of each inning the kranks would say: "Did you ever see a prettier!" Such a game may be seen again Saturday, when the Crescents meet the Patersons for blood, and the afternoon of July 4, when the Trentons will be here again.

The score:

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

Sneden played center field for the Olympics, yesterday, and made three hits at the bat.

Keenan pitched for the Emeralds yesterday against the Xaviers, and held them down to 6 hits.

The Cincinnati league team yesterday defeated the Patersons, (who are to come to Plainfield Saturday), in a well-played game.

John Burke, formerly of this city, is playing good ball for the Pottstown, Pa., team. He played one or two games for the Crescents last year.

Off for New Scalping-Ground.

The Crescents' base-ball team will go to Poughkeepsie to play Wednesday and Thursday, June 28 and 29.

SOUR AND SAUCY SOMERVILLE.

He Gives It to the Courier Sporting Gent Where the Chicken Got the Axe.

(From The Harlowville Democrat.)

The management of the Plainfield Amusement company (limited) had the magnificent nerve two weeks ago to offer $50 to the team in New Jersey that would beat them. Last Saturday the Crescents were done up by the Patersons to the tune of 15 to 3, and the pretty part of it all was that four old West Enders, Farrell, Ryman, Carlin and Hannigan, helped in the slaughter. And did the Patersons get the promised seventy-five bones? If so, who put up? Surely, the Plainfield Amusement company (limited) did not have that amount. The joy in Plainfield last Saturday night reminded one of the song about Casey. Will the Press permit us to ask, was the seventy-five dollars paid; if so, who by? And again, would it be possible for anyone in Somerville to secure some of the stock of the Plainfield Amusement company (limited) at its par value?

The Courier seems to take great delight in the defeat of the Crescents last Saturday. The Courier's sporting reporter says that the Crescents got it where the chicken got the axe. Let us beg of the Courier man to cease this time-worn boulevard expression. In every base-ball story written by the Courier sporting reporter this year has appeared something about the chicken and the axe. Mr. Bunyon, say what you please about the Amusement company (limited), or about Hop Toad Hofford's colts, but do, for the suffering public's sake, choke off that reporter when he begins about that chicken.

Twenty-Four Years Old, and Still Growing.

The Holy Cross church celebrated its twenty-fourth anniversary, and the sixth anniversary of the choir, yesterday afternoon at 4:30. Special music was arranged for the occasion under the direction of W. H. Miner, organist. Besides the regular order of service, the following selections were exceedingly well rendered:

"The Lord is Exalted".
"I Am Alpha and Omega".
"Magnificat".....Morley
"Nunc DeMittis".....Calkin

Ran Smack Into the Fence.

Insurance agent Jones went cycling on a Columbia safety, yesterday. On Plainfield avenue the wheel got the best of him, and he coasted directly into a fence. The wheel was not as badly damaged as the rider. To-day Mr. Jones has his right hand and wrist bandaged, while he suffers from bruises on the head and body.

This Is a Fine Bill.

An entertainment will be given at the Boys' club to-night at 7:45. The Rev. Dr. Barnes will address the boys, and others taking part will be Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Vegiard, Miss Barnes, the only John Carney and Masters Ford and Keefe.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely. It is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. E. W. Spotts, Hartford, Conn.

BRIGHT BOROUGH GOSSIP.

Newsy Little Paragraphs from Over the Brook.

At Spencer's bean patch a frolic will soon be given.

A private clam-bake will be held at the Arlington Hotel some time this week.

John Vetterlein, the new borough clerk, is going up to Pocono in search of ye trout.

D. J. Carney, the real estate dealer, has his office in his hat, and offers fine bargains at that.

W. E. Marsh, jr., formerly of the borough, manages the Hotel Brewster, 292 Dearborn street, Chicago.

Peter E. See, the retired grocer, is at a loss how to spend his time. Mr. See has been in business many years, and has always led an active life.

At Smith & Co.'s Washington Valley quarry, where the stone for the First Baptist church was quarried, modern machinery is being introduced.

Strange it is, but nevertheless it is a fact, that a large southern colored population is settling hereabouts. Some come and go, but many remain. Only last week several located in the borough. They are strictly southern, as can be easily noticed by anyone who ever met colored individuals below the Mason and Dixie line.

THE STROLLER.

The Plumbers Are Mad.

The local plumbers (excepting the Griffins) are angry because the Water Supply company has given contract to the Griffins for laying all pipes. The objectors claim that this is most unjust, and that the contract should not be allowed to stand, since it has already been broken. They give vent to their indignation thus:

Hon. Frank Borgen, President Plainfield Water Supply Company:

We, the undersigned, residents of the city of Plainfield and North Plainfield, and who are engaged in the plumbing business, do hereby protest against the action of the Plainfield Water Supply company, in making contract with one of our competitors, for the putting in of the water service pipes to the curb line, thereby giving him an advantage over others engaged in the same business.

And we most respectfully recommend the following for your earliest consideration: That each person or firm engaged in the plumbing business, and who have their bond on file with the water company, be permitted to open the street, with the consent of the street commission, and put in the entire water service pipe for their respective customers, thereby giving each equal competition, the water supply company reserving the right to tap the mains.

Summer Excursion Routes and Rates via the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The 1893 edition of the Pennsylvania Railroad company's annual book of summer excursion routes has just been issued. It is tastefully gotten up and presents in a most practical and comprehensive manner about four hundred popular summer resorts, from which excellent selections may be made for either limited trips or extended sojourns during the summer and early fall months.

The great variety of routes suggested, the complete schedule of rates, the graphic and exhaustive descriptions of the different places, the explanatory maps and the illustrations, make this volume a most valuable guide.

Copies of the book may be obtained at any ticket office of the Pennsylvania railroad on payment of ten cents; or upon application to the general passenger agent, Pennsylvania railroad, Philadelphia, it will be forwarded upon the receipt of twenty cents.

To Shoot for $100 a Side.

A shooting match for $100 a side between Harry Campbell, of this city, and Aaron Woodruff, of Elizabeth, will take place at Campbell's club-house, Park avenue, Thursday, June 15, at 10 a. m. There will be plenty of live birds and blue rocks for sweepstakes, during the day.

Going Away to Rest.

Mrs. James Frisbie, and her four-months-old son, John Henry, are going to Lamington, Somerset county, this week, for the benefit of their health. They will be away all summer.

HANGED FOR CRITICISING MILLS MEETINGS.

But Saved by His Brother Who Drove the White Caps Away.

E. B. Ford, a newspaper correspondent living at Dundas, three miles south of Northfield, Minn., narrowly escaped lynching Saturday night. He is the correspondent for several newspapers, in which he has criticised the Mills revival meetings going on at that place.

Ford received a letter on Wednesday warning him to leave the country before the end of the week if he wished to escape trouble. He laughed at the threat, however, and Saturday night ten men, clothed in white gowns and masks, went to his home and pulled him out of bed. They had him already hanging upon a tree when his brother appeared with a rifle and shot at the crowd. Another shot was fired and the White Caps dispersed, one at least being wounded.

Ford had fainted, but is recovering. He claims to know some of the men who attempted to lynch him and will swear out warrants for them.

They Make a Beautiful Gathering.

An interesting meeting of the sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary was held in St. Joseph's church yesterday afternoon at 4. Among the members of the sodality present were the following:

A Terrible Time.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Saturday morning at 8, outside the City Hotel, two youths of the age of about 15 and 13, were fighting to the delight of 12 to 15 men, among which was a fireman who seemed tickled to death to see the fun of the bigger boy thrashing the younger, when an elderly man of fatherly and gentlemanly appearance approached and boxed the bigger boy's ears with the intention of a fatherly rebuke, stopping the pugilistic proceeding, which offended the fireman so much that he felt it necessary to approach the gentleman threatening a fist encounter, which he, not being used to, offered one succession of apologies, but the tough lad of 15, finding himself seconded by the gallant Plainfield fireman, he threatened and put himself also into a pugilistic attitude menacingly to the would-be preserver of the peace and officer Giese then approached, when the fireman told him this man smacked that boy's face. Officer Giese, with his usual intelligent manner of settling marauders, started the two boys off on their way.

Train Dispatcher Collins Now.

Peter J. Collins, of this city, has received from general manager Nichols, of the Brooklyn Union Elevated railroad, an appointment as train-despatcher at the office of the road at the foot of Broadway. Mr. Collins has been identified with the Brooklyn Union roads since the first train was run over the structure. During the nine years of his connection with the road he has been entrusted with many responsible duties, all of which he has discharged to the complete satisfaction of the management. His appointment as train-despatcher is therefore but a fitting recognition of services well and faithfully rendered. Mr. Collins was one of the crew of the first train that ran over the original structure of the road. He also had charge of the trains that opened up the Myrtle avenue, Fifth avenue, Broadway and Ridgewood sections of the Brooklyn Union system. His appointment to his present position, which is a thoroughly responsible one, has been contemplated for some time by manager Nichols. His numerous friends in this and other cities will be pleased to learn of his advancement.

They'll Tell of Their Saving.

The annual experience gathering of the W. C. T. U. will be held Sept. 11 at 10 a. m., at 347 Watchung avenue. At that time each member will state her method of earning or saving a dollar for the cause. Each member is expected to provide lunch for herself and such friends as she brings.

A VISION OF RARE LOVELINESS.

Superb and Matchless Decoration of the First Presbyterian Church.

Never was a Plainfield church more artistically decorated than the First Presbyterian church yesterday. Along the entire platform, from the edge to the floor, hung a drapery of more than 30 yards of white corded silk, edged with gold, over which were festooned ropes of daisies, caught up with white satin ribbon. The communion table had a covering of white silk, and was literally covered with daisies. Grouped about the platform were immense vases of syringas, tied with green ribbon; baskets of daisies the handles of which were wound and tied with ribbon; beautiful white and gold pedestals, purposely made for this occasion, and on which were costly jardinieres containing the always-beautiful palms. There were also roses in profusion. Altogether, the whole effect of white and gold was exquisite, and something long to be remembered.

All this beautiful result was accomplished under the personal supervision and expense of Mrs. Charles Hyde, assisted in the arrangement by ladies of the church.

The decorations were to be photographed to-day.

"SEIZE THE DAY!"

Pastor Schenck Urges the Use of Every Opportunity.

In Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor, preached a sermon of sweetness and power on "Carpe diem—Seize the day, and make the most of every opportunity". His text was "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth".

The evening service was as published in THE PRESS last week, with a stirring address by pastor Schenck.

The pulpit and platform were beautified by blooming plants, and vases and jardinieres of roses, tastefully arranged by a committee of Christian Endeavor young ladies of the church: Misses Mamie and Minnie Berg, Miss Etta Krymer, Misses Lizzie and Ella Dunn, and Miss Mabel Wilson, assisted by Mrs. J. M. Tier and Mrs. Krymer.

Marshal Pangborn's Captures.

John Kennedy, for fighting on Somerset street May 28, was fined $2 by justice Crosley Saturday evening.

Robert Wallace, arrested for trying to clean out the photograph gallery on Somerset street yesterday afternoon, will have a hearing at 7:30 this evening.

A little boy 2½ years old was found by the marshal wandering on Somerset street near Voehl's bakery, and returned to his home on Grandview avenue, near Westervelt.

Grist of the City Court.

Mrs. Dushay, a city charge at the poorhouse, got drunk Saturday night and was sent to jail for 30 days this morning.

Joseph Doyle, drunk and disorderly at Netherwood, paid $5 fine rather than go to jail for 30 days.

A milkman who left his horse untied on Somerset street (a dangerous practice the court is determined to break up) was fined $2.

Mr. Crowley Grabbed the Horses.

A party of young people came to grief on West Front street, near Washington avenue, last evening. They were driving along when one of the wheels caught in the car track and collapsed. No one was injured beyond a severe shaking up. Dan Crowley, of the Central Hotel, rushed out from the walk, caught the horses by the head, and averted a runaway.

It Was a Pretty Service.

Infant baptism was celebrated in the Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning, and three little ones were baptised by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck unto the Lord. They were: Helen Louisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. E. Smith; Arthur Vroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Adams, and Benjamin Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Coddington.

A Cow Stops a Train.

A cow wandered on the railroad tracks near Netherwood, Thursday afternoon, and started on a run in advance of a local passenger train to New York. The cow ran at least two hundred yards, to a point near the pumping station, when Nick Myers and Joe Moncton ran out and drove it from the track. The engineer had by this time reversed his engine, and brought the train almost to a stop.

Woodman, Spare that Tree!

The Children's Day sermon of the Rev. C. E. Herring yesterday was eloquent and earnest. The text was John IV: 14. During his discourse he exclaimed "Woodman, spare that tree!" and emphatically condemned the cutting down of fine old shade trees going on in Plainfield. He referred to this two or three times in his sermon.

Spare This Giant Tree.

The deplorable feature of the widening of Watchung avenue is that the fine shade trees have to be sacrificed. There is one at the corner of Second street, however, that can and should be spared. The street committee should save it from the ruthless axe. It will be just at the curb line if left standing.

Bad Monday Morning Start.

A commuter named Lawrence, on the way to his train this morning, turned suddenly across Park avenue and fell. He narrowly escaped being run over by a bicycle, and in his fall his clothes were torn and covered with mud.

The Watchung Avenue Cars.

The trolley cars on Watchung avenue will probably not resume running before Friday. The work of taking down the trolley wires was begun directly after the cars stopped running last night.

ON THE EVE OF BATTLE

Germany's Voters to Cast Their Ballots on Thursday.

BERLIN, June 12.—At the general elections for members of the Reichstag, to be held on Thursday next, and at the by-elections that are sure to be required, 397 members of the House, the full complement, will be returned. The past week closed with 1,150 candidates in the field. Not only new aspirants for seats but new political factions appear daily, and as election day draws nearer the confusion grows worse. Little can be done in the few days that will elapse before the polling to disentangle the intricate web that has been woven by the many factions.

Instead of the eight recognized parties in the late Reichstag holding the electoral field in the present campaign, there are about twenty factions, each fighting for its own programme. The programmes often agree on some one common point, but on other points they cross and re-cross in such confusion demands that it would be a difficult, if not impossible, task to say what any single faction really wants.

It seems impossible now that the result of Thursday's balloting will decide how the Reichstag will be constituted. Judging from the present outlook it is thought that the vote in most of the constituencies will be so split up that re-ballots will be necessary in two-thirds of them.

Among the latest developments is the breakup among the Anti-Semites. The Jew-baiters now consist of three distinct factions with party hostile programmes, besides two opposing Particularist sections. There are Agrarians, a variety of Free Traders, Ahlwardists, Poles, Alsatians and Guelphs, mixed up with candidates of the great old groups—Free Conservatives, Old Conservatives and National Liberals-Lieber Centrists, Von Schoriemer-Alst Moderates, Extremists, Freisinnige, Volkspartei and Socialists. The final results must depend on political combinations on the re-ballots.

Everything promises that the new Reichstag will be the most motley Parliament known in history. The Conservative groups, according to the party organs, mean to organize a movement against universal suffrage.

The National Liberals evince a less marked tendency in the same direction, and the Conservatives aim to substitute a graded system of class representation for every Diet of the Federal States, with each Diet electing delegates to the Reichstag. They seriously discuss this proposal as the only salvation from the democratic deluge which now threatens to sweep the country.

THE MANCHESTER MURDER

The Police Refuse to State Whether Correiro Has Confessed.

FALL RIVER, MASS., June 12.—The police refuse to deny or confirm the report that Correiro has confessed the murder of Bertha Manchester. Marshal Hilliard is in New Bedford and Assistant Marshal Fleet has nothing to say upon the subject. Mayor Coughlin also refuses to talk.

The refusal of the authorities to affirm or deny is deemed by many to be sufficient proof that either the report is true or the prisoner has made certain admissions which equal a confession.

The police are still actively at work upon the case, which would indicate that a full confession had not been made.

Fatal Accident Near Knoxville.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., June 12.—Captain Isaac White, of this county, living about nine miles up the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia road, formerly a Knoxville resident, together with his wife, aged 40, and and daughter 11 years old, in crossing Love's Crossing, east of this city, was struck by a train and all three were instantly killed. The horse was also killed and the buggy demolished.

Fargo Waking Up Again.

FARGO, N. D., June 12.—Everything is settling down to business in Fargo. The ruins are still smoking, but at least 400 men are to-day employed in clearing off the ruins to commence rebuilding at once. Every building will be solid brick and constructed as near fire proof as possible. The fire has awakened all the old time energy in the wide awake men of this city.

Cholera in Many Places.

PARIS, June 12.—Cholera has shown itself at Narbonne, in the Department of Aude, on the railway from Bordeaux to Cette, and having communications with the Mediterranean through the canal of Narbonne, which traverses the town.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Cornelius Vanderbilt has contributed $100 towards the funds of the Columbian Chess Congress. The treasurer reports $3,000 on hand.

Sacramento, who shot and killed his sweetheart, Maria Das Candeis, has been committed to await the action of the Grand Jury next October.

Thomas E. McCracken, of Nebraska, a clerk in the Dead Letter Office, 63 years of age, has been arrested by Postoffice Inspectors for stealing money from dead letters.

The shipment of currency by banks in New York to banks in Chicago and elsewhere in the West Saturday aggregated $1,000,000. Of this amount $650,000 was obtained at the Sub-Treasury.

James Gordon Bennett is recovering rapidly from the injuries he received in falling from a coach several days ago in Paris. His physicians say that he is well out of danger.

Fifty hands employed by George W. Gilbert & Co., dealers in cut soles and tops, have struck, because the firm will not grant a Saturday half holiday without deduction of pay.

Wheelman Roe on His Way.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Tom Roe, who began his race to San Francisco on a bicycle against time, yesterday morning, started from the Barrett House promptly at 11 o'clock. Frank Wall is to accompany Roe as a pace maker as far as Chicago. Roe's schedule time is 65 days, 20 days better than the record held by Nelson A. Bradt. The men may also beat the record to Chicago. This record is held by Charles Neilson and is 14 days.

Mgr. Satolli at Trenton.

TRENTON, N. J., June 12.—Mgr. Satolli celebrated pontifical high mass at the Sacred Heart yesterday and a reception was tendered him at the Catholic Club in the evening. He arrived at Trenton Saturday evening and a parade was given in his honor. Special exercises were also given at St. Mary's Cathedral which was followed by a dinner given by Bishop O'Farrell.

West Pointers Graduated.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 12.—The graduation exercises of the Military Academy began this morning at 11 o'clock in a large tent erected for the purpose in front of the library. Col. John M. Wilson, superintendent of public buildings and grounds at Washington, delivered the diplomas.

HOUSE NUMBERING.

A postal card to me in that relation will insure your receiving your correct street number.

If a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. Do not, therefore, use the rust-inviting tin and sheet-iron indicators, but try the bright, enduring, attractive nickel numbers, varieties of which, at 10, 15 and 20c. per number, I offer for your selection. Also white enameled letters for glass doors and windows. Orders respectfully solicited.

LIZZIE MORE CHEERFUL

Proceedings Seem to Be More in the Prisoner's Favor.

HER INQUEST EVIDENCE EXCLUDED

Dr. Dolan Being Cross-Examined This Morning—Miss Borden Visibly Affected By the Decision of the Judge—She Paid Very Little Attention to the Testimony.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 13.—As on yesterday, the court room was filled long before the opening of the trial this morning, and again the majority of the spectators were women.

Lizzie Borden looked much more cheerful when she came into the court-room. Evidently, the way things had turned in her favor during yesterday's proceedings had so affected her that she had spent a better night than she had for some time. The case was taken up where it was stopped last evening, with Dr. Dolan enduring cross-examination.

Shortly before court opened yesterday counsel on both sides were summoned into the private room of the presiding justices for consultation. Miss Borden came into court at 8:50, and took her seat within the bar, looking somewhat draggled, and in answer to an inquiry from Gov. Robinson as to her rest last night, her words and manner indicated that she did not pass a pleasant night. The consultation lasted twenty minutes.

After the court was opened and the jury polled, the officers were directed by the court to retire the jury until they were sent for, pending the arguments to follow.

The question of the admissibility of the defendant's declarations at the inquest when under suspicion before her arrest was then argued. Mr. Moody for the Commonwealth spent three-quarters of an hour maintaining the admissibility on authority, principle and practice, claiming the rule to be that testimony is admissible if voluntary, and arguing that the defendant's conduct and declarations showing consciousness of guilt would be admissible, even if the defense should claim that a confession would not be.

During the argument the prisoner was affected with a sudden indisposition and led from the room by the sheriff.

Robinson, for the defense, argued eloquently that the facts showed that the defendant's declarations were not voluntary, and then discussed the authorities, which he claimed admitted the testimony only when facts were different from those here.

Governor Robinson spoke for one hour, and closed his argument by stating the doctrine that the prisoner cannot be compelled to testify against herself.

Mr. Moody at 11 o'clock replied for the State, claiming that facts showed the testimony voluntary, and corresponded with those in cases where similar testimony was admitted.

Mr. Moody concluded his reply at 11:15, and the justices then withdrew for consultation. The prisoner was then brought back to the court room and talked earnestly with Gov. Robinson while awaiting the justices' return, appearing more animated than before during the trial. The court returned at 12:36 and delivered a decision excluding the testimony.

The prisoner was visibly affected by the court's decision excluding her testimony at the inquest, and remained some minutes with her face covered with her fan. The jury returned, and at 12.42, Dr. Albert C. Cedrick was called. He testified to an examination of the bodies on the afternoon of the murder. In his opinion Mrs. Borden died first.

Patrolman Joseph Hyde was called at 12:48 and described seeing the prisoner with Miss Russell go down cellar with a pail to the water-closet and sink at 8:45 on the night after the murder. The prisoner made a second visit to the cellar alone a few minutes later. On cross-examination he said they had a light, but Miss Russell looked nervous.

The court took a recess at 1 o'clock to 2:15.

The cross-examination of Officer Hyde developed nothing. The Fall River city records were then read to show the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Borden and the age of the prisoner. Medical Examiner Dolan was called at 2:35 and examined by District Attorney Knowlton as to his examination at the Borden house on the day of the murder and the conversation with the prisoner.

Doctor Dolan identified the carpet taken from the floor under Mr. Borden's head, described the condition of the blood found with each body, that of Mr. Borden being warm and dripping and that of Mrs. Borden coagulated. Witness examined milk used by the Bordens, August 3 and 4, and identified the hatchets shown him on the day of the murder. He described the position of both bodies when found and the condition of the rooms where found. Photographs were admitted. The prisoner sat with closed eyes fanning herself part of the time.

Witness said he did not recall having said at the first hearing that the claw-headed hatchet would fit any of the wounds, and he now desired to change the expression; still he thought the hatchet could have made the wounds on the heads. He said he remembered marking on a china doll-head the dimensions of a crushing blow, which were slightly different now, because he did not have the skulls then; he changed his opinion on this by saying that he could not remember whether the skulls were read or not, but he would say positively that he had not examined them at that time. Then he had not measured the hatchet and it was merely an opinion, said witness.

When he removed the heads he never gave notice to the daughters of the fact. When he made the second autopsy he discovered the cuts on the back of Mrs. Borden. When the blow was given the assailant was standing at the rear. He discovered no other injury than that he did not discover at the house; there were but 19 altogether, counting the one in the back.

When he got the hatchets he never said there was blood on them, but said there was something which looked like blood. He knew now that the hairs were not human hairs which he found on the hatchets.

HER TRIAL POSTPONED

The Case of Mrs. Mattie Shann Goes Over Until July 10.

TRENTON, N. J., June 13.—The Shann case has gone over until July 10. On that day Mrs. Mattie Shann, of Princeton, a kindly looking woman of 50 years of age, will be put on trial for her life. She is accused of murdering her son, John Shann, on April 18 last at Princeton to get the insurance which she had placed on his life.

The further charge is that when she heard that an autopsy was to be performed she either disembowelled the body herself or hired somebody to do so. When the Coroner made an autopsy he found but a small piece of kidney left, but in the kidney he found traces of marcurial poison. The State expects to prove that she administered mercury to the boy every day, killing him slowly. The trial was to have gone on at 10 a. m., and a number of persons from the neighboring towns came here to be present.

In front of the court house a great sign reading "No court to-day" confronted them, and then explanations were in order. It seems that since the day that Mr. Horatious Barton of Barton & Dawes, who are the counsel for the defendant, got up in court and told Justice Abbett that the case would not go on June 12, the learned counsel have come around to a different view of the matter.

On that occasion, when Mr. Barton declared it would not go on, the court said that it would. Mr. Barton said he could not prepare the case in that time. The court said he'd have to or get out of it. Then the court ordered the trial to be proceeded with on this day.

But after thinking the matter over, Mr. Barton decided that it was a great deal easier to gain his point by soft words than by violent methods, so he went to the court the other day and asked the judge to have the matter postponed a little while. This was done.

ANOTHER BRIGGS CASE

A Montreal Presbyterian Minister on Trial for Schismatic Utterances.

MONTREAL, June 13.—Another Briggs case in the Presbyterian Church has loomed up in Montreal.

Rev. Dr. Campbell, professor of church history in the Montreal Presbyterian College, is on trial before the local Presbytery on a charge of heresy, based on an address delivered by him last February in Queens College Kingston. In that address Dr. Campbell declared that he could not believe in the typical old testament God. He said:

"The infallible teaching of Christ reveals the fallibility of preceding teachers. Christ did not come to destroy the law or the prophets, but to fulfill them by raising their moral enactments to the higher, all embracing law of love, by emphasizing sin and its reward and by giving a grander view of God than all they had attained. The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus. Why did God allow men, holy men, to err in describing the Divine character and imputing to him what was not his word and deed? The solution of the question is human freedom; the greatest thing in man. Those who believe in irresistible grace overcoming the will of the elect will believe in the inspiration that made speaking automata of prophets."

The meeting is being held with closed doors. Dr. Campbell is at present away on a vacation.

FIVE MEN KILLED

Terrible Result of a Boiler Explosion at Barnet, Vt.

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., June 13.—A boiler in a steam mill owned by Lang & Hooker, situated in Barnet, about five miles from this place, exploded with terrible effect.

William Fisher, the engineer, was blown 100 feet striking on the end of a log. His leg and shoulder were found 80 feet from the trunk. Albert Green, a marker, and Lewis John, who was hauling in logs, were also both killed, the bodies being badly mutilated. Gordon Armstrong, who was at work in the mill, was badly scalded, and Austin Fisher was slightly hurt. Two others were killed.

The cause of the explosion is supposed to have been low water in the boiler. The main portion of the boiler was blown 425 feet. The boiler was inspected three months ago.

NEW POSTMASTERS

Yesterday Mr. Maxwell Appointed Sixty-one—Some of the Elect.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed was 61, of which 35 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

Connecticut—Brooklyn, N. F. Atwood.
New York—Highland, A. W. Williams; Jerusalem, N. H. Stotts.
New Jersey—Chester, William Dee.
Pennsylvania—Austinville, I. S. Aspinwall; Cuthe Station, C. Miller; Marion Centre, A. H. Allison; Metal, Alice Swank; Slocum, William Arnold; Soradville, J. A. Wray; Valier, A. J. Means.

Speed of the Machine.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 13.—The gunboat Machias has gone to Bath, Me., where she will have the necessary work completed previous to being turned over to the naval authorities. Just before the vessel sailed General Hyde was notified by the secretary of the Naval Board that the members thereof have completed their computations. The speed of the vessel is officially reported to be 15.464 knots per hour. Boiled down, it is a little more than fifteen and a quarter knots, and the bonus will amount to $45,000.

Poisoned by Eating Cheese.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 13.—The members of the family of John Davis, seven in number, residing on Jackson street, Allegheny City, are suffering from some kind of poisoning, believed to have been contained in some cheese purchased at a grocery store. All are in a fair way to recover except Lizzie, aged 20 and Edward, aged 7, who are seriously ill.

Mrs. Buffum Sues for $10,000.

PITTSBURG, June 13.—Mrs. Eva Buffum, wife of Dr. Frank Buffum, having won the first round before the grand jury in the litigation between herself and her husband and father-in-law, has followed up her victory by entering suit to recover $10,000 from her father-in-law, J. C. Buffum, for false arrest and imprisonment.

Murderer Pinkney Recaptured.

MARLBORO, Md., June 13.—William Pinkney, the colored murderer who escaped from jail more than three weeks ago, was recaptured near here last night. He is under sentence along with Barber, also colored, to hang June 30th for the murder of Francis H. Bowie. A reward of $750 was offered for Pinkney's capture.

Curious Freak of Nature.

QUEBEC, Can., June 13.—A curious freak of nature has just come to light in Leeds, Megantic county, where Mrs. Vanblacker recently gave birth to four children, two boys and two girls. One of the boys has three hands, two of them being attached to the same wrist.

Attempted to Drown Herself.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 13.—Lizzie O'Shea, a pretty and attractive girl, who was a governess in the family of Mr. E. R. Cornelius, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, attempted to drown herself in St. Mary's lake. No cause has been assigned for the act.

Northern Pacific Meeting Postponed.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The meeting of the Northern Pacific Board of Directors, which was to have taken place yesterday, has been postponed until Thursday, and consequently Henry Villard's resignation will not be acted upon until that time.

IN THE FOREIGN WORLD

THE CHOLERA SPREADING RAPIDLY

Lord Salisbury Makes a Rousing Speech—John Redmond Saw the Imprisoned Dynamiters—A Riot at Elbing—Madrid Shaken Again—Italian Warships to Visit America.

LONDON, June 13.—The first in the series of meetings designed by the Unionists to rouse all against Home Rule, was held in the Royal Surrey theatre last night. The Marquess of Salisbury was the most notable speaker. He illustrated his opinion of Mr. Gladstone's action towards Ireland with an elaborate metaphor based on the account of the recent disaster in Washington.

The Premier, he said, was digging a cellar under the ancient fabric of the empire. He was working carelessly as did the men under the old theatre in Washington. If he should be allowed to continue his task, all three floors of the Imperial building—Throne, Church and Parliament—would come crashing down around the heads of the destructive Liberal party. At present everything tended to favor the courageous fight that the Unionists were making against the dismemberment of the empire. Several Liberal members of Parliament had already refused to follow their ministers. The Irish leaders were busy quarrelling among themselves. There were signs on every side that the dark night of apprehension was almost spent and the dawn was breaking. The political conditions under which alone Home Rule would be possible were vanishing slowly but certainly.

Redmond's Visit to Portland.

John Redmond, leader of the Parnellites, has returned from Portland prison, where he visited the Irish political prisoners. He says that John Daly's health has improved since the beginning of warm weather. Wilson, who was sentenced to penal servitude for life on account of his participation in the Fenian conspiracies, has rallied slightly, although still weak and emaciated. Mr. Redmond is reticent as to the conditions of his visit at Portland and his conversation with the prisoners.

THE CHOLERA SITUATION

A Few More Cases in France and Many More in Russia.

PARIS, June 13.—The sanitary condition of Alais has been found to be much worse than was supposed and the Paris Board of Health has sent a physician to report on the situation and suggest means of improving it.

A man from Alais died suddenly of cholera at Besseges yesterday. The plague has broken out in Frontigan, Department of Heranlt. In Cette there were three fresh cases and one death yesterday. One suspicious case is reported from Lyons.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says that the authorities of the government of Saratoff have sent out an appeal for 60 doctors and 200 assistants and nurses. The cholera is spreading so rapidly, the authorities say, that the local physicians are utterly unable to cope with it.

Political Riot in Germany.

BERLIN, June 13.—A mob of 200 social Democrats broke into a hall near Elbing last night and attacked the Conservatives who were meeting there. The Conservatives made little resistance. Upon advice of Herr von Puttkamer, who was conducting the meeting, they withdrew as quickly as possible leaving the socialists to smash up the seats and tables. The police, after desperate resistance, succeeded in dispersing the mob. Many rioters were injured.

Arrested as a Spy.

NICE, June 13.—Arthur Cipriani, relative of the notorious Socialist of that name, has been arrested as a spy in this city. He had been surveying the roads on the Italian frontier and his work was almost completed when he was taken into custody. In his baggage were found plans of several French forts on the Italian frontier. These acknowledged were intended for the use of the Italian government.

Mr. Bennett Much Improved.

PARIS, June 13.—The condition of Mr. James Gordon Bennett, the proprietor of the New York Herald, who was injured on Wednesday last by falling from a coach in this city, is greatly improved. He now takes light nourishment, and his entire recovery from his injuries is merely a question of time and tranquility.

Another Explosion in Madrid.

MADRID, June 13.—A large petard was exploded on the Plaza Orientai, which is directly in front of the left wing of the palace. All the buildings in the neighborhood were shaken by the shock. The explosion was heard throughout the city and at many points in the suburbs.

Not in Sympathy With the Archbishop.

LONDON, June 13.—A dispatch from Rome says that the Pope, in his allocution to the Consistory, has referred to the American School question in a manner that shows he is not in sympathy with Archbishop Ireland.

More Italian Ships Coming.

ROME, June 13.—Three Italian warships will sail for New York on June 22 to make a friendly demonstration. The new battleship, Re Umberto, will also sail for New York in July.

Five Hundred Quit Work.

BOSTON, June 13.—Five hundred men employed by the Sturtevant Blower works quit work yesterday, a demand for a nine-hour day having been refused by the management.

NEWS OF THE DAY

P. S. Sutley, a well-known Democratic politician and ex-member of the State Committee, is dead at Castile, N. Y.

James Ambridge was sentenced by a Fort Hunter, N. Y., Justice to pay fine of $50 and to serve 50 days in the penitentiary for killing fish in the Mohawk river with dynamite.

Tom Roe, the bicyclists who met with an accident while coasting a hill 17 miles south of Hudson, reached Albany at 9:30, in a somewhat dazed and weakened condition, 40 miles ahead of schedule time.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen paid $50,000 for death claims last month, making $1,962,905 since their benefit fund was established. The Brotherhood has now 523 local branches with 53 Ladies Auxiliary Lodges.

WATCHED BY DETECTIVES

Custom House Employes Don't Like to Have Their Steps Dogged.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The Custom House Investigation Commission met again this morning, but the public session was again postponed pending the thorough scrutiny of invoice schedules prepared by Mr. Corbett.

The employes of the Appraiser's Stores are very much worked up over the fact that the various divisions of the Stores swarm with detectives, who watch them, follow them to their dinner, to their homes, and dog their movements in the evening.

The employes finally sent word to the two detectives who stand watch at the door of the Appraiser's Stores, that if they did not clear out a stream of scalding water from the engine would be turned upon them. The detectives left, taking up a position a block away. Appraiser Cooper, it is said, is followed whenever he leaves the building.

There is considerable inquiry as to the authority given these detectives. It is claimed that they are in the Investigating Commission and are trying to obtain evidence against lax employes. One of the witnesses before the commission a few days ago testified that many of the employes of the Stores did not begin to work their full time.

AT PRINCETON

Beginning of the Graduating Exercises—Planting the Class Ivy.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13.—The graduation exercises of the class of '93 began yesterday morning at 10.30 in the first Presbyterian church.

Philip King, Captain of the base ball and the foot ball team the past year is acting as master of ceremonies and delivered the class salutatory.

The class oration was delivered by Alexander M. Thompson of Pennsylvania and the class poem by C. B. Newton also of Pennsylvania.

The programme was interspersed with music.

At noon the class assembled by the side of Old North College for the planting of the class ivy. The ivy oration was delivered by A. P. Andrew of Indiana.

The class day committee was: James Beveridge, James D. Black; Charles Carpenter, Samuel Cochran, Robert Driscoll, Wilson Ferguson, George Fraser, H. L. Henderson, F. H. Lester, D. S. Morris, J. S. Rogers, R. T. Shelton, R. H. Warren, D. B. Woodcock.

THE DAM GAVE WAY

Navigation in the Champlain Canal Will be Suspended for Some Time.

TROY, N. Y., June 13.—About sixty feet of the State dam across the Hudson river at this city gave way about 3 o'clock a. m. and the timbers were carried a hundred yards down stream. The water has fallen from two to three feet above the dam and is still receding.

The effect of the break will be to suspend all navigation on the Champlain canal, as no boats can pass through the sloop lock in the dam, and the West Troy entrance to the canal is not being used.

The loss is estimated at about $10,000, and an expert states that it will be about ten days before the break can be repaired.

The dam broke at a point where the State fishway, built a few years ago, was located.

Dr. Grave's Case Continued.

DENVER, June 13.—The case of Dr. Graves came up in Judge Burns' court on the motion for a continuance to September. District Attorney Steele filed an affidavit to the fact that $3,000 was ample and sufficient sum of money to cover the expense of securing the attendance of the witnesses in the case who live beyond the borders of the State. On this showing the motion for continuance was granted Dr. Graves to remain out on bail until that time.

The Lock-out Nearly Ended.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., June 13.—The lock-out of the lumber shovers here is nearing an end. The men have conceded the demand of the employers that they withdraw from the national union and will retain only their local organization. Some of the employes oppose this and insist that the men shall disband and apply for re-instatement as individuals but the majority are satisfied and it is probable the locked out men will resume work in a few days.

Alexander Visits Ellerslie.

RHINECLIFFE, N. Y., June 13.—The Grand Duke Alexander, nephew of the Czar of Russia, and Mr. Shutless, an official of the Russian fleet, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor at Fernclift. The distinguished party arrived on the steamer Albany. A call was made yesterday on ex-Vice President and Mrs. Morton at Ellerslie. The Duke will be the guest of Mr. Astor for two or three days more.

$1,000 Reward Offered.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 13.—Dr. J. W. Mitchell, of Freedom, and Adna J. Mitchell, of Augusta, father and brother of the missing Secretary J. W. Mitchell, of the People's Prohibitory Enforcement League of Maine, have offered a reward of $1,000 for the recovery and identification of his body. A general belief in his death by drowning still exists, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Big Seizure of Opium.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 13.—United States customs officials made a big seizure of 200 pounds of smuggled opium at the Erie depot at noon yesterday. The opium was in two trunks. They were opened at the custom house and the contraband drug discovered. It came from Toronto and was brought in by way of Youngstown. It was then brought to Tonawanda by wagon and checked to Chicago by way of Buffalo.

Awaiting the Caravels.

QUEBEC, June 13.—The Spanish caravels are expected here to-morrow morning. The local newspapers are making an earnest appeal to the citizens to decorate their houses with Spanish flags in honor of the distinguished strangers. Their arrival will be welcomed by a salute from the citadel, and their stay here will be marked by a round of festivities.

John Sontag Mortally Wounded.

VISALIA, Cal., June 13.—John Sontag, one of the notorious train bandits, was brought to this city at 10:30 yesterday. He is mortally wounded. It was he and not Chris Evans, his companion, who was wounded in Sunday's battle. Evans made his escape into the mountains.

Immigrants at Boston.

BOSTON, June 13.—The steamer Pavonia, at this port from Liverpool, brought 638 immigrants; the steamer Yarmouth, from Yarmouth, N. S., 126, and the steamer Worcester, from Halifax, etc., 61.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: To-Morrow: Cloudy, With Light Showers; Stationary Temperature; Northeasterly Winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Gold and crystal vases are displayed in matchless beauty at Gavett's.

—According to the News, the Mt. Olive Baptist church has moved to Washingtonville, which of course is n't so.

—The correct style of headgear, in faultless finish and perfect fit, may be obtained of Hallock & Davis.

—Commencement exercises of Miss Fawcett's kindergarten school will be held to-night in the Park club-house.

—A strawberry and ice-cream festival will be given, at Union Village, Wednesday evening, June 21, in a tent adjoining the M. E. church.

—The profit of the festival given by the Women's Relief corps, last week, was $42.44. This money will go towards paying for the new piano recently purchased.

—S. P. Cressinger, who styles himself "The California Golden Tongue", will sing in the Congregational church Friday evening to those who have a quarter to spare.

—One 70-acre farm, near four railroad stations, in a high state of cultivation, is offered for sale by D. J. Carney, at reasonable terms. He also has dwelling houses from $1,600 upwards.

—The trial of policeman Giese's suit against his neighbor Miss Stoll, for $50 damage said to be caused by her chickens in his garden, was adjourned by justice Nodyne till next week.

—Work was begun yesterday on the new bicycle track on the Crescent oval. The ground is being staked out, and a diagram is in preparation from which estimates and bids may be submitted.

—The smell of gas on East Fifth street is at times almost intolerable to residents in the neighborhood of the gas-house. Yesterday afternoon the people could hardly sit on their porches on account of the foul odor.

—Rogers makes it easy for you to buy a wheel. For a Victor, you pay only $28 down and 36 cents a day; for a Credenda, $18 down and 29 cents a day. Call at Central avenue and Fifth street and arrange a bargain.

—Reynolds's fruit crushes are very luscious. Mr. Reynolds was the originator of fruit crushes in Plainfield, and they have become the most popular of all methods of making soda-water thoroughly delicious and healthful.

—The board of education will hold its last meeting before commencement next Monday evening. The meeting will be principally to audit the teachers' and janitors' bills and to make final arrangements for the closing exercises.

The Gallant Major Will Make the Fourth Glorious.

Major Ackerman, of New Providence, has engaged the Plainfield Cornet band of this city to furnish music for the 4th of July celebration in that village. The exercises are to be of a grand character, the Summit fire department joining in the parade. Major Ackerman, who will act as marshal of the day, is one of New Providence's most honored citizens, and with the aid of the ladies of the Methodist church will undoubtedly make this year's celebration of the glorious Fourth, one long to be remembered.

The Woman Was to Blame.

Henry Nolan's wife got him in trouble yesterday afternoon by getting intoxicated, smashing the window panes of their house on Evan Jones's farm and trying to jump out. Henry seized her, and a struggle and yelling time ensued. Evan Jones, the employer of the couple, supposed the man was drunk, and had him arrested. This morning judge Coddington heard the evidence and dismissed the case.

Buried by the City.

Mrs. Fannie Louise Richardson died yesterday afternoon at Muhlenberg Hospital, of erysipelas, aged between 60 and 65. She had no known friends or relatives, but had been here for two or three years, as nurse and servant, coming from New York. She will be buried in the city plot, Methodist cemetery, to-morrow afternoon, by undertaker Casey, at the expense of the city.

Monkeyed with the Buzz-Saw.

A young man named Coon, of Stiger's alley, and employed in Dr. Edward Bushmore's planing mill on East Fourth street, nearly lost his right thumb yesterday. He was monkeying around the circular saw, when his hand came in contact with the sharp teeth, and the thumb was nearly severed from the hand. Dr. Fritts dressed the wound.

He'll Smash No More Galleries.

Robert Wallace had a hearing before magistrate Crosley last night for insulting women in the tintype gallery on Somerset street, and assaulting the proprietor with his fists and fence pickets for ordering him out. Judge Crosley held him for the grand jury, and in default of $50 bail marshal Pangborn took him to jail at Somerville to-day.

They Got No Evidence.

Five detectives in citizens' dress were paid two dollars each to watch as many places where liquor was disposed of at Dunellen on Sunday. As usual no complaints were made and consequently there were no arrests.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

SUED BY HIS MILLINER.

PRETTY MISS SMITH WANTS $10,000 FROM ISAAC LEDERER.

She Says He Damaged Her That Much by Slander, and Will Bring Another Suit for Violation of Contract.

Elizabeth C. Smith, an attractive young woman who until Saturday night had charge of the millinery department at Isaac Lederer's store on West Front street, to-day began suit against her late employer for $10,000 damages for alleged slander.

Miss Smith was formerly in the Johnsons' establishment in New York city. In March she came to Plainfield under contract with Mr. Lederer. She claims that an agreement was made that she should stay through the season and until July 2, at $16 a week; that the understanding was that she was to have three nights off each week, and shorter days than she had been having in the city; that she gave up a $20 position because she expected the one in Plainfield would be easier. Instead, however, she alleges that the new place was harder; that he wanted her to work every night until 10, and Saturdays till 11, and exacted other conditions of her not down in the contract.

Last Saturday night he enclosed within her pay envelope a note announcing her discharge from his employ. She told him that she had done nothing to violate their contract, and that she should hold him for its fulfillment until July 2, if she had to invoke the law.

Seeking the advice of city judge William A. Coddington, she was told that Mr. Lederer could be required to pay her the full amount of her wages to July 2. Yesterday morning she reported for duty at the store, and asked if he had any work for her. He said he did not want her, and summoned policeman Kiely to arrest her. She told the officer that she was acting under the instructions of counsel and would go without being arrested. In the presence of all the people in the store Mr. Lederer denounced her as a thief, stating that she had stolen the trimmings for her hat and that she had stolen from the Johnsons before she came to Plainfield. He gave that as his reason for discharging her.

Mr. Kiely said that was a harsh statement to make and if untrue might make trouble for him, whereupon he reiterated it.

Miss Smith reported to her counsel, and Mr. Kiely made affidavit. With their statements as a basis, Mr. Coddington today brought suit for $10,000, for slander, against Mr. Lederer, in the Union County Circuit court.

After July 2 Mr. Coddington, acting for Miss Smith, will also bring suit for the balance of wages from date to then.

Miss Smith has been a boarder at the City Hotel, where she has been much esteemed for her personal qualities.

Her trouble with Mr. Lederer is said to date back to a week ago Sunday night, when he found his son chatting with her on Park avenue. He then accused her of being too familiar, and said that he supposed the next thing she'd be eloping with the boy, who seemed much fascinated with the pretty woman.

Mr. Lederer has retained counselor McClure to defend him.

Deputy sheriff Amos Moffett served the writ in the suit on Mr. Lederer at 2:30 this afternoon.

THE CRUIKSHANKS' NARROW ESCAPE.

One of Their Horses Badly Injured by Collision with a Tree.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cruikshank, of Belvidere avenue, met with an accident on East Front street, about 9 last evening, which may result in the loss of one of their team of bay horses. They were driving from Scotch Plains to Plainfield, and near Terrill road a buggy containing two men, evidently drunk, approached recklessly from the rear. The Cruikshank horses were wheeled off to the right, to let the other rig pass, when one of them pranced and struck a tree, knocking the horse down. The animal lay in the roadway when Dr. Pocock arrived, and it was some hours before it could be revived and taken to A. D. Shepard's stables. Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshank were taken home in a carriage. The names of the two men in the buggy, who are considered responsible for the accident, could not be ascertained.

THE HEALTH BOARD MUST STOP IT.

Water Standing in Gutters is an Eyesore and a Detriment to the Town.

The quantity of water in the gutter along Second street and Park avenue increases rather than diminishes. Water also stands continually in the gutter on Front street near Park avenue, and on Park avenue from North avenue towards Second street. It is a disgrace and a menace to have water stagnating along Plainfield's principal streets, and the health authorities should keep their pledge and do their duty without delay and wipe out the offensive nuisance. Last night there was so much water accumulated at the City Hotel corner that a woman could not cross without getting her shoes and skirts wet and bedraggled.

—One grocer of this city, last Saturday, sold 1,024 boxes (about 32 bushels) of strawberries.

Have No Equal.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS have attained a world-wide reputation solely upon their superlative merits. They have many would-be rivals, but have never been equalled or even approached in curative properties and rapidity and safety of action. Their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by unimpeachable testimonials from those who have used them, and they are recommended as the best external remedy for weak back, rheumatism, sciatica, colds, coughs, sore throat, chest and stomach affections, kidney difficulties, weak muscles, strains, stitches and aches and pains of every description.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for ALLCOCK'S and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

NOT FIT TO DRIVE.

This Youth Should Be Sent to an Equine Kindergarten and Taught Human Kindness.

An overgrown brute in the garb of a man, driving a team attached to one of the big blue wagons of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage company, made a spectacle of himself along East Front street, at 6:20 last evening.

At Sandford avenue one of the horses stumbled. Thereupon the coarse fellow got red in the face with anger and brought the cruel lash of his whip heavily down in a stinging blow across the horse's flank. This startled both horses, and very naturally they broke into a gallop.

Furious at this result of his own folly and rage, and muttering fierce and wicked oaths, the inhuman driver lashed and slashed and beat both horses all the way to Washington street, when his arm grew tired and the poor quivering animals subsided into a state of nervous exhaustion.

People along the street glared at the red-faced monster in honest indignation and amazement, many rushing out from their houses alarmed at the racket.

Had the inhuman driver heard what the people said of him he must have been smothered in humiliation, unless he is utterly devoid of the sense of shame. One gentle-faced woman, stirred to righteous wrath and human pity, said: "Oh, how I'd like to trounce him the same way!" Another exclaimed: "He ought to be thrown out and have some sense knocked into him!"

The driver had a male companion on the seat beside him, who would have done a creditable thing in expostulating with the fellow, but to his dishonor be it said he uttered never a word.

The company should provide the youth with a copy of "Black Beauty" to teach him what he does n't know about horses, and give him a month's vacation without pay, to read it in. He has demonstrated that at present he is not fit to drive a hobby horse let alone one of flesh and blood and sensibility.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Suydam, of Brooklyn, is the guest of the Misses Currie, of Arlington avenue.

H. E. Lavell and family are again residents of Plainfield at 1121 Putnam avenue.

Mrs. A. D. Mellick, jr., of LaGrande avenue, started to-day for Norwalk, Conn.

George Schuck, of 131 West Sixth street, is a happy father since 7:45 last evening. The little one is a boy.

Tickets for the High School Alumni reception may be obtained of Miss Edith L. Gilbert, Crescent avenue and Second place, before June 19.

Mrs. Fannie A. Sawyer, of Elizabeth, has returned to her home, after spending two weeks with Mrs. David Angerbauer, of West Third street.

George T. Rogers, of Washington Park, sailed to-day by Old Dominion steamship on the coal trade excursion to Old Point Comfort and other Virginia resorts.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wein, on Plainfield avenue, was made happy this morning by the arrival of a bright little daughter weighing ten pounds.

Ray Huntsman left town yesterday to spend the summer sketching in Providence and vicinity. He will return to Plainfield early in October to resume his studies in the Art Students' League.

The Rev. Father P. E. Smyth of this city attended Bishop Wigger in celebration of a month's mind grand solemn high requiem in honor of the Rev. Leo Thebaud, in St. Mary's church, Elizabeth, yesterday morning at 10.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray have issued invitations to prominent citizens to visit their home Tuesday evening, June 20, at 8, to inspect the plans of the Y. M. C. A. building and devise means for raising the additional funds necessary for the completion of the project.

Assemblyman George Hall Cramer, of Somerset county, was in town to-day. He is the youngest member of the New Jersey legislature but one of its brightest, and stood right on every question in the last session. He will undoubtedly be re-elected by an increased majority.

The Rev. Dr. True, who recently accepted the call to All Saints' church, Fanwood, held the first Sunday evening service last Sunday. Dr. True says he purposes holding similar services on the evenings of the second Sunday of each month during the summer, and expresses himself as much pleased with the large congregation last Sunday evening.

Prosecutor and Mrs. Charles H. Winfield, and Mrs. Hallon, mother of Mrs. Winfield, all of Greenville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schermerhorn. They took a drive through the city and surrounding places, and Mr. Winfield remarked that he had traveled considerably but that he had never seen a place that equaled Plainfield in beauty.

James Vandeventer, a widely-known fruit grower, died on Saturday at his home in Princeton. He is the grandfather of William T. Kaufman of this city. He was born in Somerville ninety-four years ago; was a student in Rutgers College and studied medicine in New Brunswick. When he was nineteen years old he opened Princeton's first regular drug store. He was a member of the State legislature in 1857 and built the first public building in Princeton. The arrangements for the funeral are not made.

First Cherries of the Season.

THE PRESS was delighted yesterday to feast on delicious ripe and juicy cherries from counselor W. W. Pearson's orchard.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves lasts but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1 20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America. 4-13 tf

THE CLIMAX GUN CLUB.

A New Organization in Union County that Has Lots of Sportsmen Behind It.

After the great yearly shoot of the Buckwheat Club, at Dan Terry's grounds, yesterday, the irrepressible Tom Keller, otherwise known as "Tee Kay", commuted at great length among the numerous shooters present and declared that in his opinion a good live gun club ought to exist in Union county, and made suggestions that were taken up heartily by the half hundred sportsmen present.

The following thereupon signified their intention of joining the proposed new organization, and later paid in their initiation fee, which was afterwards turned over to the treasurer: Thomas Brantingham, Reuna B. Manning, Thos. H. Keller, Nief Apgar, Charles Smith, Daniel Terry, William Terry, Scott Terry, W. L. Force, August Trust, John Darby, Fred Quimby, Harry Campbell, Dr. Inglis, Geo. Ritchie, J. E. Goodman.

After preliminary organization, the following were named as directors of the Climax Gun Club of Union county, which was the title chosen: Reuna B. Manning, August Trust, Daniel Terry, John Darby and W. L. Force.

Later on the board of directors met and selected from their number, according to State law, the following officers:

President—Daniel Terry.
Vice-president—R. B. Manning.
Secretary—W. L. Force.
Treasurer—August Trust.

The president then appointed the following committee on shooting: Charles Smith, T. Brantingham, Wm. Terry. This committee's powers are to select shooting grounds and dates of meetings, and the making of handicaps of members.

It is the intention of the new club to require an initiation fee of $2 from each member. No dues are to be exacted. The initiation fund is to go toward furnishing prizes to be shot for during the year. Mr. Keller was appointed a committee of one to file papers of organization at once with the Secretary of State according to the laws of New Jersey. After a pleasant meeting, the board adjourned to meet at Charles Smith's, Thursday evening, June 15. The new club starts out with grand chances of ultimate success.

DOUBLING THE RAILROAD FARE.

Wrathful Somerset County Farmers Hold an Indignation Meeting.

Millstone and the other towns on the Millstone branch of the Pennsylvania railroad are much excited over a new schedule of rates adopted by the road. The Millstone branch, which leaves the main line at Millstone Junction, about one and a quarter miles from New Brunswick, is a part of the leased system of the Pennsylvania road, and was built along with the Camden and Amboy railroad in 1837. By the charter granted then to the road the limit of fare to be charged was placed at six cents per mile. For the past fifteen years the rate has been three cents per mile, with the usual reduction for return trip tickets. Last Thursday a new schedule was adopted placing the fare up to the limit. The round trip from New Brunswick to East Millstone, eight miles distance, cost ninety-two cents. That is as much as the fare from New York to New Brunswick, 31 miles. The country people, who make New Brunswick a center for all business, are much excited. Already a stage line from New Brunswick to all the towns on the Millstone branch has been started. An indignation meeting of the citizens of Millstone, East Millstone, Voorhees, Clyde and Middlebush has been called, and it is understood that steps will be taken to secure concessions from the Pennsylvania company. The Pennsylvania branch is the only railroad to the towns mentioned, yet the company claim that the branch has lost money every year of its operation.

THE BUCKWHEATS!

They Have Another Pleasant Outing at Dan Terry's.

The yearly shoot at inanimate target and live birds by the Buckwheat club, of Fanwood township, took place yesterday on the grounds of Dan Terry, near Alton, on the Rahway road from Plainfield.

At least sixty persons were present from Plainfield, Elizabeth and the surrounding country.

The shoot was held in an open field near the ancient house of Mr. Terry, and all the arrangements were in first-class shape.

There are no more hospitable people in that section of the country than the Terrys, and right royally did the old gentleman and his stalwart sons, Dan, Will and Scott, entertain their guests.

A large contingent of shooters attended from Elizabeth, some being crack shots and others amateurs, who heartily enjoyed the occasion.

Two teams were pitted against one another, of sixteen men each, to shoot at fifteen blue rocks a man; and at the finish it was decided a tie by the referee.

The German barber of Somerset street, was present and made the occasion a hilarious one by his humorous sayings and efforts to hit the targets with black powder and no shot in his cartridges.

The scores of the teams are too lengthy and "numerous" to mention. Suffice it to say, that all had a good time, and thank the family on whose grounds the shoot was held, for their kindness and hospitality.

Inferior Goods.

The only safe way for purchasers is to insist on having the genuine article, and not allow themselves to be swindled by having plasters said to be "just as good," or "containing superior ingredients," imposed upon them. These are only tricks to sell inferior goods that no more compare with ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS than copper does withgold. One trial of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS will convince the most skeptical of their merits.

The eminent Henry A. Mott, Jr., Ph. D., F. C. S., late Government Chemist, certifies:

"My investigation of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

HELEN FRENCH, VALEDICTORIAN.

"TO THE FRONT" WILL BE HER GRADUATING ESSAY.

14 Young Men and 14 Young Ladies to Receive High School Diplomas Next Week — Stephen Rushmore Salutatorian—No Other Essays.

The programme that has been decided on by the board of education for the commencement exercises of the High school at Music Hall, June 22, has been made much shorter this year than ever before.

The class petitioned the board through superintendent Maxson to restrict the speakers from the students so that the only ones who will be heard this year are Miss Helen T. French, valedictorian, and Stephen Rushmore, salutatorian.

Miss French will also read an essay entitled "To the Front", and Mr. Rushmore will give his views on various manly sports in a paper entitled "Athletics".

The Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards will deliver an address, and the music that will be scattered throughout the programme is to be furnished by the Seventh Regiment band from New York.

The entire programme, including the presentation of diplomas and prizes, is not expected to take over two hours.

Places will be reserved in the front rows for graduates and their particular friends, while other admittances will be by tickets.

There will be 28 graduates, 14 of each sex.

DESERVED DEFEAT.

Jersey Central Trainmen Have No Grievances.

After half a dozen conferences with president J. R. Maxwell, the general grievance committee of the Jersey Central trainmen and operators have left. They demanded better pay, shorter hours, free uniforms and a great many privileges that rather astonished the management.

President Maxwell at first refused everything, but they put on a bold front and called again and again. They camped out in a New York downtown hotel and held meetings that were attended by numerous other trainmen besides the committee.

It soon became known that it was a preconcerted move on the part of both the Jersey Central and Philadelphia and Reading men to make demands at the same time. The efforts of the Jersey Central committee, however, did not pan out. The committee allowed no increase of wages and all that the men got was a few trifling favors in the shape of better hours where there seemed to be reasonable ground for complaint.

A trainman let the cat out of the bag when he admitted that they really did n't expect any concessions. On the contrary, they have been afraid all along that the company would retrench expenses and discharge a lot of men. They thought that by making demands for more they would at least prevent wages from being reduced, and possibly save some of the men from being discharged.

HYMENEAL.

Bodin—Milligan.

(From the Brooklyn Eagle.)

In the beautiful First Reformed church, Seventh avenue and Carroll street, Brooklyn, Harriet Amelia Milligan and Francis Edmund Bodin were united in marriage before a large assemblage, Wednesday evening of last week, by the Rev. James M. Farrar. The bride is a daughter of Colonel Edward W. Milligan whose country place is in the valley back of North Plainfield. Mr. Milligan is also well known in masonic and commercial circles of New York and Brooklyn. The groom is very well known in New York business circles. Promptly at 8:30, to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the church, meeting at the altar her future husband. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Lizzie Milligan, while the groom's best man was his brother, Charles E. Bodin. The bridesmaids were Miss Hattie Kleinfetter and Miss Hannah Ryan. The ushers were E. F. Glaze, Herman Wortmauer, J. W. Milligan and Charles P. Church. The bride was dressed in white bengaline silk, her veil of orange blossoms, and wearing chain and ornaments, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids were attired in white silk, with diamond ornaments. Mrs. Milligan, the mother of the bride, was dressed in black satin, with diamond ornaments. The mother and sister of the groom, his father being unavoidably detained in England on a business engagement, were present. After the ceremony at the church there was a reception at which the newly married couple received congratulations. A wedding supper was served. Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Bodin left on a wedding tour, which will embrace the leading Southern cities. When they return they will make their home in Pelhamville, Westchester county. Among the many who attended the reception were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Spofford, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Major Charles B. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. David Doctor, Miss Doctor, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor, Miss Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanley, Daniel Duval, William W. Fairchild, Henry M. Russell, W. Pierrepont Williams, Ebenezer Johnson, William Fair, Mr. and Mrs. DeGarno, Miss DeGarno, William Kenzel, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bilyou, Theodore Bartel, Miss Rosie Bartel, Henry Rogers, of Washingtonville; Frederick Hortsman, Ephraim Compton, Colonel H. C. Spofford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milliken, Mrs. and Miss Ousterman, the Misses Harriet and Amelia Longstreet, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, Miss Andrews, Miss Martha Gelbs.

—Higgins's stage line will cease running in the borough next week. It does n't pay during the summer season, as most of the patrons are then away.

ENTRIES SOUGHT IN PLAINFIELD.

The Queen City's Crack Wheelmen Invited to Join in the Largest Bicycle Tournament Ever Held in New Jersey.

On the afternoon of Saturday, June 24, the Orange Athletic Club cyclers will hold a bicycle tournament on the newly constructed bicycle track at the Orange oval, Grove street, East Orange. This track has been pronounced one of the fastest in the country, and there is a seating capacity of 2,000 in connection with it. The tournament will be held under the rules of the League of American wheelmen, and will be the greatest event of the kind ever given in this vicinity.

The entry list already includes most of the crack riders of the country, who have been attracted by the unusually fine prize list, valued at $1,000. To give an idea of what the club offers, it may be mentioned that the highest grade racing bicycles, diamond rings, gold watches, etc., go the winners; and second and third men fare correspondingly well.

The club has secured as an attractive feature the quarter-mile safety championship of the New Jersey Division, League of American wheelmen. The other events are: One-mile scratch; half, one and two-mile handicap; one-mile 2:40 class, and one-mile novice.

Among the crack men who have signified their intention of riding are W. W. Windle, one-mile champion; John S. Johnson, of Minneapolis, who rode the mile in 1:56; Harry Wheeler, of East Orange, a coming champion; Hayland Smith, the road racer; C. M. Murphy, holder of the record of the twenty-five-mile Irvington-Millburn course; W. W. Taxis, of Philadelphia; I. R. Hazleton, of Rooksaway; W. F. Murphy; A. B. Rich; George C. Smith; W. S. Campbell, of New York, and Howard Tuttle, of Chicago. There are only a few of the racing men who will not compete, as no other event, under the sanction of the League of American wheelmen, will be held on this day, in this section of the country.

Arthur Varian, an old Plainfielder, is chairman of the athletic committee in charge of the event.

Saved Herself from Violent Hurt.

In answer to many inquiries concerning the injuries reported of Miss Alice Coard consequent upon her being unhorsed last Friday, it is only just to give credit for her escape from hurt, to her first lesson from Mrs. Ohl at the riding academy. The horse she rode, from a public stable, was a most vicious one, bucking repeatedly, and resisting all attempts at restraint, although his owner "supposed him all right". Mrs. Ohl's instructions in this case had been wholly confined to the necessity and means of self-preservation in just such an emergency, and Miss Coard proved herself an apt pupil by availing herself of the knowledge and escaping serious injury by her agility.

Camera Views of Plainfield in Music Hall.

The Plainfield Camera club have received their set of one hundred lantern slides views made mostly in and about Plainfield. This set has been highly praised by the press of the different cities in which they have been shown. The pictures will be thrown on a large screen in Music Hall and a descriptive lecture will be given by the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis. The intermissions will be filled with musical and literary selections. The date is Tuesday, June 20, and the place Music Hall.

Keys the Favorite.

A North Plainfield correspondent of THE PRESS mentions the names of three of Somerville's prominent personages in connection with the coming Democratic nominee for State senator from Somerset county. He forgets to mention, however, the name of the honorable gentleman now holding the senatorial position, William J. Keys, who should be re-nominated for the efficient manner in which he represented the Democracy during his term of office. Does Somerville want the earth in the way of political offices in Somerset county?

The Blessing of the Storm Came Here.

The violent thunder storm that came up from the South Sunday night and took the unusual course of crossing the mountains, gave Plainfield only distant glimpses of its power and glory, much to the relief of the timid ones who viewed with alarm its approach. The storm did much damage in and around Morristown. A number of buildings were shattered and burned by lightning. A pleasant effect was that Plainfield and vicinity were left comfortably cool after two days of very trying heat.

There Are 30 Fine Prizes.

Everything points to a big list of entries for the Town Tattle handicap race to be run on the Elizabeth-Cranford course next Saturday afternoon. All the champions, scorchers and would-be cracks of the county will be in the chase. The E. A. C. and E. W. will contribute some ten men each, and a large representation from the U. C. C., E. F. C. and Plainfield Bicycle club respectively is assured.

Fanwood Defeated But Happy.

The Fanwood club whist players were handsomely entertained last night at the Park club. Whist was played according to the Kalamazoo method—20 hands, and duplicate. The Park club won by 10 points. Refreshments and a royal good time followed. The two clubs parted with much mutual good-feeling. The Fanwood boys showed themselves fine fellows even under defeat.

DEATH AT A FIRE.

NEW YORK, June 13.—In a fire panic in one of the east side "sweater" tailor shops this morning a dozen men and women threw themselves from the crowded fire-escapes and three of them were killed and a number were more or less seriously hurt, two fatally, it is believed.

The scene of the disaster was a six-story brick building at 10 to 12 Montgomery street in which about 200 men and women were employed in the "tailor shops" that occupied its various stories. They had just settled down to work for the day, soon after 8, when the cry of fire alarmed them, and before the danger was realized flames and smoke were among them on every floor, a dumb-waiter shaft having served to spread the fire through the building from the lower part with extraordinary quick rapidity. Many were cut off from the stairways and others ran, unnecessarily, in terror, to the fire-escapes, with which the building was fairly well provided, and before they could be warned jumped to the pavement. In this way two men and a woman were crushed to death.

INVOKES "PRESS" READERS.

A New York Charity Asks for Flowers and Plants to Brighten Darkest New York Homes.

THE UNIVERSITY SETTLEMENT,
26 DELANCEY STREET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Cannot some of your readers help us to brighten the homes in the Tenth Ward? This district is the poorest in New York, and the most densely populated of any city in America or Europe (335,104 to a square mile). There are no parks here, and thousands of these people seldom see any flowers, yet they have a passionate love for them. We believe a plant or flower in every household is an elevating and refining influence—the strongest argument for cleanliness and purity.

Will not the readers of your paper help us to bring a little brightness and happiness into the homes of the poor and unfortunate—to put flowers and plants into every tenement house in the Tenth Ward?

We have a system of sanitary inspection that reaches into nearly every tenement house in this district and forms an admirable distributing agency. We appeal to every reader of THE PRESS to send us plants or flowers—wild or cultivated—as many and as often as possible. Boxes of plants or flowers expressed to the New York Fruit and Flower Mission, 104 East Twentieth street—and marked "for the University Settlement", will be received by us without expense to the sender, on Mondays and Thursdays only. If sent on other days or if sent directly the sender will have to provide carriage. There is no limit to the number of flowers or plants we can distribute, and we hope everyone will co-operate to carry on this good work.

Address New York Fruit and Flower Mission "For University Settlement", 104 East Twentieth street.

Seeing the Sights in Plainfield.

Robert Manning, for a long time a resident of this city, but now enjoying the distinction and honor of driving the chief of the New York fire department, with a friend named Morris, was in town last evening, and for a time the two painted the town a gentle crimson. Both were good-natured and happy, and took an early train for home this morning.

How the Merchants Object.

The merchants on Park avenue, between Front and Second streets, are exceedingly wroth in regard to the water which is left standing in the gutters. They claim that it injures their business and that customers on bicycles or in carriages will not stop at mussy curbs in front of their stores. The water is allowed to stand until it becomes foul, and the smell is very disagreeable.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. S. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by T. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

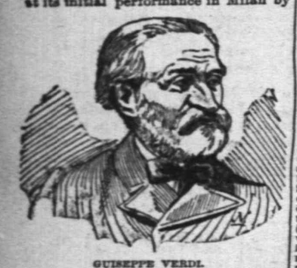
VERDI'S GREAT WORK.

"Falstaff" Is Pronounced the Composer's Masterpiece.

One of the "Grand Old Men" of Europe—In His Seventy-Ninth Year Now, But as Bright and Capable as a Young Giant.

Our century has been kind to the veterans in the various walks of life, and poetry, science, politics, art and music each boast their famous devotees who have passed the septuagenarian line. In the realm of music, the great Italian maestro, Guiseppe Verdi, recently, and in his seventy-ninth year, has given to the world an opera whose brilliancy of conception, masterful force, perfect technique and richness of popular sentiment rise above those of his former creations. It takes a place among the grand productions of time. Hadyn won renown for the production of his "Creation" and the "Seasons" when a little past 60, but since then intellectual vigor at this age has ceased to attract wonder. Wagner gave to the world his new conception when 66, at 73 Verdi brought out his first tragic opera, and at 79 produces a comic opera which has won universal plaudits.

The striking character of Verdi's "Falstaff" is the originality of both plan and execution. The aged artist, long since a master of the old school of musical expression, and a consistent teacher of its methods, has broken away from its lines, and with all the trenchant style, poetic fire and concentrated vigor of a man in the zenith of strength and activity leads the way into new paths, and raises higher the standard of musical interpretation. At an age when it is presumed a man ceases to develop mentally or to be capable of the assimilation of new ideas and methods, Verdi has shown himself as alert intellectually and as quick to master new principles and popular sentiments as the most brilliant of the younger school, and he is the acknowledged head of the modern Italian school. "Falstaff" is a comedy in the full significance of the term. There are eleven parts in the opera, that of Sir John Falstaff being played at its initial performance in Milan by



GUISEPPE VERDI.

Victor Maurel. This character is the central figure of the story and is upon the stage most of the time. The change of style in Verdi's works first was noticeable in "Don Carlos," and continued in "Aida," the "Manzoni Requiem," and "Otello," and finds its culmination in his "Falstaff." Much of the change in the latter production is creditable to Sig. Arrigo Boito, the noted librettist, in whom Verdi found a collaborator worthy his accomplishments, and one whose assistance gave inspiration to his efforts. Boito is thoroughly versed in stagecraft, and his libretto, an adaptation from Shakespeare, is rich in poetic sentiment, dramatic incident and lively action. The work throughout is concise and admirably balanced. In "Otello," the tragic opera, the libretto is occasionally made subordinate to the music, but in "Falstaff" the music is made only to embellish the poetry regardless of its own effect. The orchestration is excellent, the charming smoothness and coloring producing a delightful effect.

Musical history gives the first opera heard in Europe as "Daphne," performed in 1594. It was at once pronounced an "unnatural drama," and was the object of much ridicule and criticism from people who maintained it absurd that the actors should sing instead of speaking their lines. At that time it was a bold experiment to attempt to revive in modern Europe the Greek drama, but the "Greeks," as they were called, held their way courageously, and in fifty years the opera was the favorite form of music in all European countries.

Destruction of American Birds.

Mr. John Worth, in the Nineteenth Century, gives some striking facts about the rapid extermination of the birds of North America. The advent of the plow and the frame hut of the settler is gradually driving the feathered tribe from its old haunts, and what nests are spared by the plow are only too often destroyed by prairie fires. The heath hen used to be seen in autumn in packs of from 100 to 200 birds each; now the number in a covy rarely exceeds six or eight. The sharp-tailed grouse and the wild turkey will soon follow the bison and the moose into the animalia of the past. Prof. Roney asserts in the Chicago Field that in some of the vast breeding colonies alone some 1,000,000,000 pigeons were "sacrificed to Mammon" during one nesting season, and, even allowing for exaggeration, the extent of the slaughter is beyond question. The remedy is not easy to seek. Mr. Worth suggests an act of congress to prevent bird destruction throughout the United States.

The Power of Taffy.

Judge Duffy—How did you come to steal this lady's pocketbook?

Prisoner—I did it to get even with her. She stole my heart the moment she looked at me with those lovely eyes.

Lady refuses to press the charge and the case is dismissed.—N. Y. Recorder.

Bon Voyage.

Jim Hickey—I feel terribly rocky this morning. I went to see a friend off for Europe last night.

Ed Stokes—Did he get off?

Jim Hickey—I guess so; I know I did!—Brooklyn Life.

Baby's Mistake.

The Wife—The night you were away, John, the baby cried for nearly seven hours.

The Husband—Why didn't you tell him I wasn't here; he would have stopped then.—Boston Globe.

MISS BORDEN AFFECTED

She Would Not Listen to Dr. Draper's Testimony.

SKULLS PRODUCED IN COURT

Evidence to Show That the Instrument Which Made the Wounds Was Three and One-Half Inches Long, the Exact Length of the Handleless Hatchet.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS., June 14.—Long before the appointed time the court room was crowded. Lizzie Borden came in a few minutes before 9 o'clock, and shortly after that time the proceedings of the ninth day began.

When court opened yesterday Dr. Dolan took the stand again, and Mr. Adams continued his cross-examination. A manikin's head was set up on a chair beside the jury box and the doctor described how the blows fell upon the head of Mr. Borden when he was murdered.

He described the position of the b dies and the blood spots and said the blows came from left to right and were of moderate force. The prisoner sat with closed eyes and a fan over her face.

Continuing, Dr. Dolan said that the blows were made by a sharp instrument, and some of them on Mrs. Borden by an assailant astride of the body. A juryman was taken sick and a recess of five minutes was taken. The prisoner was affected, and was led from the room.

When the session was resumed, Dr. Dolan admitted testifying in preliminary hearing that Mrs. Borden's death was an hour to an hour and a half before his examination of her, but now thought it was an hour to an hour and a half before Mr. Borden's death. He could not safely judge priority within an hour from blood coagulation alone or from digestion alone, if they had been sick.

On re-cross examination Dr. Dolan said the length of the wound would not determine the length of the edge of the instrument.

Dr. E. S. Wood, of Harvard Medical College, was then called and described the examination of the stomachs.

Prof. Wood found nothing to indicate disease or irritation in either stomach, and their contents showed a difference of an hour and a half in the time of death. There was no evidence of poison in the stomachs or in the milk used by the family on Aug. 3 and 4. Examination showed no blood on the claw-hammered hatchet or axe or on the blue dress. The hair found on this hatchet was not human.

Prof. Wood said the blood spot on the white skirt probably came from outside and was human blood. The shoes and stockings and dining-room door casing had no blood spots. The handleless hatchet had no blood. The break in its handle contained no dust.

The handleless hatchet had dust like ashes on the blade tightly adhering. Under defendant's objection and exception, Prof. Wood testified that the handleless hatchet might have been cleansed of blood before the handle was broken off.

Dr. Draper then took the stand and described the wounds in the skull of Mr. Borden.

Cross-examined by Mr. Adams—Witness said the heaviest blow given Mr. Borden was the one which cut his eye, and then he was obliged to give a detailed statement of the character of the eye and its position and surroundings in the head. He thought the blood spots on the wall near the sofa were caused by spattering rather than from arteries. The assailant of Mr. Borden, provided a short-handled hatchet was used, would necessarily stand close to his head, and would receive some spatters on the clothes, if the right hand was used then the upper right part of the body would be spattered; if the left hand was used then the spatters would be on the upper left hand side.

(Here counsel produced a new hatchet which he asked Dr. Draper to see if it would fit the wounds; this was attempted, but would not fit because it had not been sharpened and was blunt, it was 3 3-8 inches wide on the cutting edge.)

On Mrs. Borden's body the witness found 22 wounds, 18 of the cuts in the head, 1 in the back, and 3 contusions on the face. The wound in the back may have been caused while she was standing, or it may have been caused when she was lying on the floor. It proceeded from below upward. He saw nothing about the cutting of the hair on Mrs. Borden's head to indicate that a sharp instrument like a razor had been used.

On Mrs. Borden's head there appeared to be blows which were beveled in both ways; taking the injuries on Mrs. Borden's head altogether, he thought they had all been given in one direction, from right to left. The assailant of Mrs. Borden must have been more or less spattered with blood in front, although some of the blood might have gone in the air and come down behind, and that the face and hair might reasonably have received some blood spatters.

On conclusion of Dr. Draper's testimony the court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

If the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which the center of the court here calls upon the Almighty to save at the opening and closing of the session each day, does not present any stronger evidence as to why Lizzie Borden should be convicted of having hastened her stepmother and father to death, she will never be convicted of the awful crime of which she stands charged in the indictment. That fact has become so apparent that some of the lawyers (one of them came all the way from Georgia to attend the trial) who have been present from the first have gone home, thoroughly convinced that the jury will acquit the young woman now on trial for her life.

What the prosecution can have in reserve with which to convince the jury of the guilt of Miss Borden, if it has anything at all, is a subject of speculation. The evidence taken at the inquest, which furnished the prosecution with wedges which could have been used to advantage when she went on the stand, having been excluded, the prosecution will have to get along with it as best it may.

For Town Health Officers.

HARTFORD, CONN., June 14.—A bill has been reported in the House providing for the appointment of County and Town Health Officers throughout the state. It is to be the duty of the new officials to enforce the public health laws. They are to have a power of Grand jurors in prosecuting cases. The Senate is at Providence, on the invitation of Senator Milner, and there was no quorum present.

AT WORK AGAIN

Pension Office Clerks in Another Building—Ainsworth Not Suspended.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The injured of Friday's accident at the hospitals are reported to be doing well to-day. The cool weather has caused a noticeable improvement in their condition. All of the 496 clerks who were in the building on the day of the disaster have been accounted for.

Col. Ainsworth is attending to his official duties to-day as usual. It was rumored that he had been suspended, but inquiry proved the report to be untrue. The President only has the authority to suspend or remove Col. Ainsworth, and it is learned, from excellent authority, that he will take no action in the case until it be shown that Col. Ainsworth was in some way responsible for Friday's catastrophe. It is not customary to suspend an official upon the presumption that charges may be made against him.

The clerks who were employed in Ford's Theatre went to work this morning in the Union building, which was secured yesterday for that purpose.

THE CASE AGAINST PECK

If He Does Not Return by Fall His Bondsman Will be Proceeded Against.

ALBANY, June 14.—It is reported here that Charles F. Peck, ex-Commissioner of Bureau of Labor Statistics, who is to stand trial on the charge of destroying public documents last fall, in the shape of tariff circulars, will not return from Europe until next February. Mr. Peck goes to Europe as the representative of a syndicate of American journalists.

He will visit all the European countries and furnish four letters a month to each paper, in which he will contrast the conditions of the laboring classes of those countries with the same class in America with reference to a high or low tariff.

District-Attorney Eaton said this morning he might postpone Mr. Peck's trial until fall if he thought Mr. Peck would return by that time. Otherwise, he would proceed against his bondsmen.

WILL ADMIT AMERICAN BEER

The Mexican Government Will Probably Grant This Valuable Privilege.

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 14.—A letter has been received here from ex-Governor Crittenden, the newly appointed Consul-General to Mexico, stating that the Mexican government will probably withdraw or modify the order recently proclaimed forbidding the importation of beef except on the hoof.

Minister Gray and Consul Crittenden recently held a conference with President Diaz and his Cabinet on the subject and received assurances that the matter would be carefully considered.

The Shaan Murder Case.

TRENTON, N. J., June 14.—In the Morner County Court yesterday, Counsellor Barton made application on behalf of Mrs. Matsie Shann for an amended bill of particulars. He wanted the prosecution to state at more length the general line of evidence on which the attempt would be made to convict Mrs. Shann of the poisoning of her son, John Shann, at Princeton. Judge Abbett refused to grant the application and the trial will begin on July 10th.

Police Officer Badly Hurt.

CONCORD, N. H., June 14.—Late yesterday afternoon Augustus B. Farmer, a well known citizen and police officer of Bow, while attempting to arrest James Jameson, was struck on the head with a heavy billet of wood by Jameson's brother, Albert, since which time Mr. Farmer has been unconscious, and it is feared that he will die. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of both Jamesons. Albert has disappeared.

Important Changes Discussed.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—All the members of the Cabinet were present at the meeting except Secretary Hoke Smith. The session lasted until nearly 1 o'clock. Many important changes in the official personnel of the executive service, which will occur at the beginning of the next fiscal year, it is understood, were discussed.

Weavers Quit Work.

FALL RIVER, MASS., June 14.—Fifty weavers of the Richard Borden Manufacturing Company quit work and left the mill during the morning. The cause of the strike is an alleged cut down in wages from 21 to 17 cents per cut. The case has been placed with the Weavers Protective Association.

Saratoga Baptist Convention.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., June 14.—The 89th anniversary meeting of the Saratoga Baptist Association is in session here. There are about 200 delegates present from Saratoga, Montgomery, Fulton and Hamilton counties. The session will end to-night.

THE OFFICERS STOLE

A Shortage Found in a New York Bank's Account.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WILL ACT

An Amount Aggregating $70,800 Taken During the Last Ten Years—Three Officers Were Implicated and They Were Compelled Resign.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Defalcations aggregating $70,800 have been discovered in the Irving Savings Institution, 96 Warren street, this city. The shortage was discovered by the State bank examiners, who are still at work on the books and will not finish scrutinizing the bank's accounts for some time, as there are 17,000 individual accounts, besides the regular bank books.

The officers implicated by the statement of the examiners are Clarence D. Heaton, of Brooklyn, who was president of the institution and had overdrawn his account to the extent of $27,100; ex-Secretary William H. Buxton of this city, and Paying Teller D. D. Tompkins. After the defalcations were discovered the resignations of the three officers named were received and accepted and the State bank superintendent, Charles M. Preston, reported the facts in the case to the District Attorney.

Messrs Stern and Rushmore counsel for the Irving Savings Institution, this morning gave out the following statement:

"On the 23th of April last Charles M. Preston, Superintendent of Banks of the State of New York, commenced an examination of the Irving Savings Institution, 96 Warren street, city, which is not yet terminated.

"On making the investigation the superintendent discovered a deficiency of $70,800, caused partly by the overdrafts of Clarence D. Heaton and William H. Buxton, officers of the institution, and the abstraction of funds by D. D. Tompkins, the paying teller. $25,000 of overdrafts made by W. H. Buxton, the secretary, were at once made good by him by the payment of that much cash, and he also gave first class security for the payment of any further sum which might at any time be found to be due by him to the institution. About $1,200 was paid over to the institution by Clarence D. Heaton, the president.

"The president and secretary presented their resignations, which were accepted. Under the circumstances there will be no loss of money whatever to the institution; even if it had made a loss of $45,000 (being about the balance of the deficiency), it could not in anywise effect the institution or its depositors, as the bank has now a clean surplus of $675,000.

"Superintendent Preston has placed the facts in his possession before the District Attorney, and further developments as to the guilty parties will probably follow."

Lawyer Stern said that he could place his hands on the ex-president, secretary and paying teller whenever required to do so, but that the case was one for the District Attorney to act upon.

Tompkins is 60 years of age, and has been with the bank more than 20 years. Heaton and Buxton had each been connected with the bank for about 30 years. Superintendent Preston says that the defalcations had been going on for ten years.

Tompkins states that he used what he abstracted for living expenses; and Heaton says that he has lost $15,000 by going on the bond of Lawyer Cohen who was associated with the Cassie Brooks case.

KANSAS BANK CLOSED

The Whereabouts of One of the Proprietors of the Institution Unknown.

MANKATO, KAN., June 14.—The Bank of Burr Oak, Jewell county, closed its doors yesterday morning. The bank was owned by Hulbert Brothers, and the liabilities are $35,000. The assets are practically nothing. C. D. Hulbert, of the institution, has fled and his whereabouts are unknown.

The depositors are greatly incensed, and if he should return, either of his own accord or to answer a criminal charge, there being some inclination among the depositors of preferring such a charge, he would be roughly dealt with.

A Michigan Bank Suspends.

LANSING, MICH., June 14.—Advices have been received by Bank Commissioner Sherwood from Crystal Falls, Upper Michigan, that the State Bank of Crystal Falls has suspended payment. The bank was organized about a year ago with a capital of $25,000. It had deposits of $80,000. The cause of the failure is the suspension of the Plankinton Bank of Milwaukee.

Can't Find the Trunks' Owner.

BUFFALO, N. Y. June 14.—No trace has yet been discovered of the owners of the trunks seized here and found to contain over $2,000 worth of smuggled opium. The police think that William Muldoon, the notorious Canadian smuggler had a hand in the affair. The teamster who brought the trunks from Youngstown has been ordered arrested. It is believed that he can unravel the mystery.

Thomas F. Bayard, American Ambassador to Great Britain, who arrived in England on Saturday last, has had an interview with the Earl of Rosebery, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The Norwegian government has yielded to the demands made upon it by the Storthing and has agreed to transfer its money transactions from the Norwegian Bank and to stop the militia and line troops' field drill.

More riots are reported from Fuenfkirchen. The cause of the trouble is that military and police are driving strikers and their families from the houses on which the men have paid rent from the colliery owners.

FOUR WERE KILLED

New York "Sweaters" Flee from a Burning Building—Many Hurt.

NEW YORK, June 14.—In the fire which broke out at Nos. 10 and 12 Montgomery street yesterday morning at least four lives were lost and a number of persons were injured by jumping from the fire escapes.

The building was occupied by "sweater" tailor shops, and between one hundred and fifty and two hundred men, women and girls were employed there. The flames spread so rapidly through the building that many were hemmed in and had to take to the fire escapes.

The fire started on the first floor of the building, it is supposed from a stove used for heating irons. The stove was near the stairway, and in a few seconds the flames shot up as far as the second and third floors, cutting off the escape of the unfortunate inmates of the building.

When the alarm of fire was sounded in the building there was a wild rush of the men, women and children who worked in the different "sweater shops."

One woman jumped from the first story window and fractured her legs, and a man received a severe scalp wound by jumping.

Many people suffered slight injuries in scrambling down the fire-escapes.

A dozen or more jumped from the balconies to the street. Two men and a woman were killed by jumping.

Those killed are:

SIMON GORKOFF, 53, of No. 82 Clinton street.

MORRIS NETLESON, No. 82 Pitt street, died in the Madison Street Police Station.

Thomas Matteston, 55 years old, Russian tailor; Alice Matteston, 15 years old, his daughter, are both at Gouveneur Hospital, where it is said they will die.

About fifteen other people were more or less injured.

BURKE MUST STAND TRIAL

Indicted for Certifying to Ex-Mayor Gleason's Election.

LONG ISLAND CITY, June 14.—Ex-City Clerk Thomas P. Burke, who was indicted for conspiracy by the grand jury for giving a certificate of election to ex-Mayor Gleason last fall, has been notified to be ready for trial in the court of Oyer and Terminer in session here.

After issuing the certificate Burke disappeared and then came the great fight by Mayor Sanford for the possession of the mayor's office. Burke returned home about the middle of March, saying he had been away for his health.

Phillip J. Coffey, ex-Mayor Gleason's private secretary, who was jointly indicted with Burke has also been notified to be ready for trial.

Arguing Over the Race Track Laws.

TRENTON, N. J., June 14.—Judges Depue, Abbett, and Lippincott of the Supreme Court are hearing argument to-day in the race track cases, which came before the court in certiorari to set aside the licenses granted to Monmouth Park, Linden, Guttenburg and Gloucester race tracks. The chief point made by the anti-race track counsel was the unconstitutionality of the race track legislation last winter, while the race track people contended that no new rights were conferred by the legislation, which sought to limit and regulate the race tracks.

Died from an Umbrella Stab.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Dominic Shea, 19 years old, who was wounded with an umbrella in Washington city Sunday night by a man named Wood, in an altercation over a woman, is dead. The case is a peculiar one. The ferrule of the umbrella was thrust through his left eye, piercing the brain, and the young man was almost insane with pain until his death. Wood is held on a charge of murder.

Financial Situation Better.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The financial condition of the country, as viewed from a Treasury standpoint, shows general improvement. Bank and commercial failures are fewer; Europe is buying our grain in greater quantities; gold shipments have ceased, at least for the present; confidence is being restored and money is not so tight. There is a general feeling that the worst is passed.

Their Estimates Requested.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Secretary Carlisle, in view of the extra session of Congress, which will be called to convene not later than Sept. 15, has sent a circular letter to each member of the Cabinet requesting him to send in his estimates at as early a day as possible, and not later than Sept. 15.

All Quiet at Lemont.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Gov. Altgeld has issued an order for the withdrawal of the Second Regiment from Lemont and the camps north. The various companies of the Third I. N. G., stationed at Romeo and Lockport, will remain for the present. No more trouble is anticipated.

NEWS OF THE DAY

GREAT RACE TO CHICAGO

Humane Society's Agents to Watch Along the Way.

MANY RIDERS REFUSED TO START

The Most Interesting Among Them. Miss Hutchinson, Stays Behind—Those Who Are in the Race—Rule to Prevent Jockeying While En Route.

CHADRON, Neb., June 14.—Of the 25 or 30 cowboys entered in the race to Chicago, only a third started. The numerous withdrawals were due to the efforts of the Humane Society.

At the Citizens meeting held to hear the protest of the Humane Society against the carrying out of the cow-boy race, Paul Fontaine spoke for over an hour advancing every possible argument against the race and assuring the committee that it was next to impossible for the riders to pass the legal cordon drawn about Chicago, in

MISS HUTCHINSON.

Iowa, and in Illinois by the members of the society and the authorities. His remarks had a depressing effect and it looked for a time as if the remaining riders might be scared out of starting.

A peaceable and satisfactory solution was arrived at on the suggestion of Jack Hale, of the Pleasant Valley stock farm, who urged that the two agents of the society accompany the registering agent of the local committee, they to be made judges of any inhumanity.

This disarmed the society's agent and Messrs. Fontaine and Tatrow, who had been told that their lives were endangered here will accompany the riders by rail and see that no cruelty or inhumanity is practiced. There is now little doubt but that the race will be fully run and that none of the cruelty which disgraced the great German military race will be tolerated.

Among those who started were: "Doc" Middleton and John Fagg of Northern Nebraska; "Snake Creek Tom of Snake Creek, Wyo.; "Rattlesnake Pete," Creede, Col.; "Cock-Eyed Bill" of Manville, Wyo.; Sam Bell, of Deadwood; Jim Murray of Eagle Pass, Tex.; Nick Jones, a half-breed of Pine Ridge Agency, S. D.; He Dog and Spotted Wolf, Sioux, from the Rosebud Agency.

Miss Hutchinson, a well-know rider of Denver, who, at the solicitation of those who have seen her wonders in riding, entered the race, withdrew at the last moment.

Miss Hutchinson is known in every State and Territory west of the Mississippi. By her feats in horsemanship she has gained a national reputation. She went to Montana when a mere girl, and for ten years has ridden the Western range. Among the Sioux she has a great reputation, and the Indians revere her, calling her the "Lightning Squaw."

The route to Chicago will be through Sioux City, where the Missouri will be crossed and Dubuque, the Mississippi crossing.

The committee having charge of the cowboy race have offered $1,000 to be divided up into prizes for the winners, and Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill) has added $500 to this sum. The Colt Arms Company has offered one of their "cowboy companions," and an Omaha firm contributes a saddle to the list of prizes.

That there may be no jockeying enroute, and that everything may be conducted "on the square" each horse is branded with the racing association's mark and each night the riders will be required to register at stations placed along the way. A rider also cannot have his horse drop dead at the goal and gain a prize; for each must see to it that his horse is in fairly good condition on arrival at the grounds if he would gain a premium.

Verdict for New York City.

NEW YORK, June 14.—After a trial which lasted nearly a week before Justice Barrett and a jury in the Supreme Court, the suit brought by the New York & Brooklyn Ferry Company against the Mayor, resulted in a verdict in favor of the city. This action has been pending in the courts for some years, and involved about $100,000. It was in regard to a piece of land leased by the ferry company, and taken in 1871 for the use of the New York tower of the Brooklyn Bridge.

No Longer the Nation's Guest.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Duke and Duchess of Veragua and the members of the ducal party left the Hotel Brunswick after lunch, and returned to their old quarters in the Hotel Waldorf. The Duke's private secretary to-day said that up to last night the Duke had been the guest of the nation, but that Commander Dickins had taken leave of the party and returned to Washington.

S. Mitchell Was Accidentally Drowned.

AUGUSTA, ME., June 14.—The body of J. W. Mitchell, the missing Secretary of the Prohibitory Enforcement League, was found in the river during the morning. The reward of $1,000 offered by the relatives goes to a Hallowell stone cutter who sighted the body while loading granite on a vessel at the wharf. The coroner decided that death resulted from accidental drowning.

Passenger Committee Adjourns.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The meeting of the Passenger Committee of the Trunk Line Association which was to have taken place yesterday, has been postponed until next Tuesday, on account of the absence from this city of Chairman Farmer.

Western Union's Quarterly Dividend.

13 Graduates in This Year's North Plainfield Class.

The North Plainfield public school graduates will be Laura L. Emmons, Mertie Gaskill, Martha A. Humble, Sara J. Loizeaux, Kate W. Overton, Bertha S. Thorn, Frank J. Blatz, Edward O. Clark, Henry B. Drake, George A. Horne, Thomas MacDonald, George B. Sneliker and Dyckman Winckler. Their motto is "Rowing, Not Drifting!"

Many Plainfield Pictures to Be Shown.

Next Tuesday night at Music Hall the Plainfield Camera club will show the lantern slides which have just arrived home from their long journey after going the rounds of interchange clubs. A great many of these slides are views in and about Plainfield, a few having been made on the beautiful grounds of the John Taylor Johnston estate, many in Washington Valley, and others along Green brook.

Local pictures of interest will be shown, such as the Crescent League ball team, Leal's cadets, the Jersey Central railroad station; also western views, shooting oil wells, and life in the gold fields. Tickets may be had of members of the club.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—It was with surprise that we first learned by your paper of last evening of the cruelty of one of our drivers to his team, and we hereby thank you for thus publicly exposing such inhuman conduct. The abuse of a team in any manner or under any circumstances is not permitted and anybody reporting an instance of this kind will receive the thanks of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage company.

She Doesn't Associate With Her.

Mary A. Cook has been greatly annoyed by Mary Richter, and had her arrested and fined $3 for profane and indecent language. Out of revenge, Mrs. Richter had Mrs. Cook arrested yesterday, but the court exonerated her and gave her an honorable discharge. Mrs. Cook says that Mrs. Richter was wholly to blame, that she (Mrs. Richter) jumped up and down in her yard like a mule, and that she does not associate with her.

Bert Littell Injured.

Bert Littell, son of Daniel Littell the North avenue plumber, was hurt this morning while working in a house that is being built by Alfred Cocks of Woodland avenue, opposite Netherwood hotel. Two sections of sewer pipe—that had been placed in position in the second story came loose from the temporary fastenings and fell, striking Littell on the wrist and terribly bruising the flesh. Dr. D. C. Adams dressed the wound, and pronounced it not serious. Still Littell will be laid up for some time.

Inconsistent.

The Courier of last night in one column denied that it ever said the mosquito pest was so terrible in Plainfield, and in another column announced that bicycle riders were in mortal terror for fear the vast swarms of mosquitos that in the Courier's mind have possession of the town would puncture the pneumatic tires with their bills.

Trap Shooters' League.

The fifth contest of the New Jersey Trap Shooters' League will be held on the grounds of the Passaic City Gun club, at Passaic, on Saturday, June 17. An all day's tournament will be held in connection with the league shoot.

BUILDING FOR THE CENTURIES.

PLAINFIELD'S NEWEST CHURCH A MASSIVE AND ELEGANT STRUCTURE.

The Seventh-Day Baptists' Home Nearing Completion—A PRESS Reporter Enjoys First View of the Artistic and Commodious Interior—The Dedication Postponed Until October.

People have long been familiar with the external appearance of the new Seventh-Day Baptist church, but it was not until yesterday afternoon, when the scaffolding was removed from the large audience room, the main part of the church, that anyone has seen the effect of the beautiful ceiling or obtained any accurate idea of what the church will look like inside when finished.

The building is now very nearly done, the remainder of the work being the completion of some of the interior decorations, the putting together of pews, and final touches which will all take time.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, pastor of the church, very courteously showed a PRESS reporter, yesterday afternoon, what had already been done, and told for what the various apartments were to be used when completed.

The main audience room is nearly circular in form, with a domed ceiling supported by twelve arches, which in turn are held up by an equal number of pillars whose basis form a circle concentric with the outline of the room. The dome and arches are of stereo-relief in an intricate but graceful design, and tinted in a shade of rose, with the figures in white. The pillars are of oak, and of the form known as cluster pillars. Against the wall of the room are arches made to correspond with those that support the dome, and between the six arches opposite the platform and reading desk are five windows of elaborate stained glass. The predominant color in these windows is amber of various shades, and the pattern in the main sash is the fleur-de-lis. The upper panes are of blue.

The organ loft is to be lighted from above by daylight, which will be admitted through a stained glass ceiling representing the sky with white clouds floating across its calm surface. The realism might be enhanced by having the loft lighted at night by the stars only, but that might not suit the organist.

A fine Midmer organ (such as the First Presbyterian and First Baptist churches have) has been ordered, and will soon be built in the church.

The lighting of the audience room will be from the dome and arches. A group of twenty-five electric lamps will shine from the center of the dome, while ninety other lamps will shed light from the rosettes on the arches.

The pulpit, which is of the column form used in cathedrals, is so placed that it commands both the main audience room and the large and commodious Sunday-school room, which is separated from the former by a moveable partition that fits between the columns. The entire woodwork of the audience room is in oak. The other rooms in the building are in white pine.

Besides the two main rooms there are the pastor's study, the church parlors, the robing room and the ladies' room directly above the parlors. The are all good sized, comfortable apartments, with fireplaces and a plenty of windows.

The church will not be opened until October, at the earliest, as nearly all of the parishioners are away during the summer, and Dr. Lewis himself will be in Chicago during the month of September attending the World's parliament.

The contractors have one and all been behindhand in keeping to their contracts, but, says Dr. Lewis, everything has been done so well and is so satisfactory that all are pleased and willing to overlook the delays.

FRAZEE HAD FUN.

His Great-Grandfather's Gun Scared the Peace Street Despoilers.

When the work of tearing to pieces that section of Watchung avenue formerly known as Peace street was begun, Monday, Dan Vermeule and A. B. Summers vowed that the despoilers should not remove their fences. To keep their word they had to remove them themselves at night.

Augustus Frazee got out an old Revolutionary shotgun that had been his father's grandfather's, stuck into it an arrow that was picked up 50 years ago on the old Frazee farm, and had lots of fun scaring the workmen away from his place. The gun had n't been loaded in 50 years, and after Frazee got tired of teasing the men he showed them how worthless it was.

Choosing New Officers.

Local Union 155, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, met in Firemen's Hall, last evening. Besides the regular routine business, officers were nominated for the ensuing term. They will be elected at the next meeting, June 27. The local union has now 80 members in good standing. It was organized here in 1886, and its benefits are good.

Col. Tyler Will Address Them.

The State Library association will meet in the Plainfield public library at 2:30 this afternoon. Col. Tyler will make the address, and after the meeting a stage ride will be enjoyed by all the members by invitation of A. C. Baldwin.

Bailey Drops His Baled Hay.

Jim Bailey the truckman was hauling a big load of bales of hay through Park avenue this morning when half the load tumbled off.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. H. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. E. Crandall, P. M., Quonochawtang, R. I.

MR. LEDERER DENIES IT ALL.

He Says He Never Called Miss Smith a Thief and that She Didn't Flirt with His Son.

Isaac Lederer, defending himself from Miss Smith's suit for $10,000 for slander, through his counsel W. K. McClure, and through his own son, makes general denial to THE PRESS of Miss Smith's statements quoted by THE PRESS yesterday.

Specifically, in spite of the affidavit of policeman Kiely and others, his representatives say that the following assertions are absolutely untrue:

"In the presence of all the people in the store Mr. Lederer denounced her as a thief, stating that she had stolen the trimmings for her hat and that she had stolen from the Johnsons before she came to Plainfield. He gave that as his reason for discharging her."

"Her trouble with Mr. Lederer is said to date back to a week ago Sunday night, when he found his son chatting with her on Park avenue. He then accused her of being too familiar, and said that he supposed the next thing she'd be eloping with the boy, who seemed much fascinated with the pretty woman."

It is further stated by Mr. Lederer's representatives that until Miss Smith brought suit she always expressed herself as very well pleased with the place, that her hours were not as hard as those she had been accustomed to, that 8:30 p. m. was her usual hour for stopping work for the day, and that Mr. Lederer treats his clerks better than other employers in town treat theirs.

ROBBED OF A GOLD WATCH.

A Thief Took Advantage of the Burning of a House.

Hetfield's Row on Arlington avenue, near Fourth street, was afire again this morning from 10:30 to 11:30. The row was occupied by 8 families. The fire started in a rubbish heap in the attic over Tom Gerrity's apartment. The fire spread under the tin roof, which made it an ugly one to fight. The building was flooded with water, and the goods inside were pretty well soaked. The heaviest losers are Irenæus P. Allen, Thomas Gerrity and Mrs. S. A. Dunn. Mrs. Dunn is a laundress, and some of her customers' goods were ruined. Mrs. Gerrity says that during the fire a jewelry box containing a gold watch was stolen from her bureau. The fire revealed the fact that the fire department hose is mouldy and rotten. The way it kept bursting was disgraceful.

500 OF EACH SEX.

That's the Exact Number of School Children in the Borough.

One of the most thorough and careful canvass of the school children in North Plainfield ever made has just been completed by Dr. W. E. Mattison. A noticeable increase in the number of children is shown, and some features and facts not generally given to the public are given by his report. For the first time the number reaches 1,000, that being the exact number. There are 123 attending private schools; 240 attending no school, and 110 still unvaccinated. Of the number 500 are males, and 500 female. The greatest number of one age is between 13 and 14, there being 89 such. The smallest number of one age is between 10 and 11, there being 60. The largest number of males of one age is at 9 years, there being 117; the smallest number of females of one age is at 11, there being 27. It is remarkable how exactly the sexes are divided.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Many, of 675 West Seventh street, is very ill with pneumonia.

The engagement of Miss Jennie Tabor, of Dover, N. Y., and W. H. Sebring, of this city, is announced.

John T. Baker, of "The Chestnuts", has gone to "Ingleside Cottage", Southampton, L. I., for the summer.

George Squires of Elizabeth is looming up as a possible nominee on the Democratic ticket for sheriff of the county.

George Cheshire, of Duer street, North Plainfield, is happy over the advent of a son weighing ten pounds, who arrived Saturday evening.

Dr. Charles B. Thiers went to-day to Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, to attend the commencement exercises of the military academy of which his son is a cadet.

Mrs. Catharine B. Sebring, and her daughter Mrs. Nelson, of West Front street, start this evening for the west, to be gone about two months. They will visit the World's Fair.

Miss Sadie Hayes, of East Front street, gave a 5 o'clock tea yesterday to Mrs. Louis Hyde, of Titusville, at which Mrs. Hyde was introduced to Miss Hayes's friends. Saturday she is to meet Mrs. Charles Hyde's friends at the garden fete.

H. E. Cramer, the handsome and accomplished Mayor of Elizabeth, Pa., has been in town the past two days looking after the interest of his wife's mother, Mrs. Rachel Tarbuck, one of the heirs in the Job Male estate, for whom he has power of attorney. He says that the estate is nearing a settlement, and that the Chancellor has now only to approve the apportionment of the property among the heirs. Mayor Cramer is a ready and interesting conversationalist, a well-informed gentleman, and a most pleasing acquaintance.

Her Sufferings Ended.

Little Mary Fox, of Spooner avenue, to whom the operation of tracheotomy gave such relief in diphtheria, died yesterday. She was insured in the Metropolitan company, and the claim was promptly paid.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves lasts but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

A MARRIAGE FOR MONEY.

THAT'S WHAT MRS. ALEXANDER WILEY SAYS IT WAS, ON HER HUSBAND'S PART.

Her Father Gave Little Money and Wiley Changed—She Was the Daughter of a Man Supposed to Be a Millionaire, but Who Was Not.

A divorce granted to Mrs. Agnes Wiley, wife of Alexander Wiley of this city, in Pueblo, Col., the other day, recalls a fashionable wedding which took place in Brooklyn on April 27, 1884. Miss Agnes Bethune, the daughter of the millionaire furniture dealer, at that time was married to Wiley, then and now a railroad broker, doing business at 37 Nassau street, New York. Wiley was considered a very fortunate man at the time, as his father-in-law, it was expected, would treat him handsomely.

After the wedding the couple left for Pueblo, Col., where Mr. Wiley made investments and entered the real estate business. During last February, while Mrs. Wiley was visiting relatives at 306 West Twenty-first street, New York, she received a marked copy of the Pueblo Chieftain, in which was a lengthy article headed "A Little Love Affair", which recounted the doings of her husband with a certain Mrs. George Foster. The article referred to Mr. Wiley as a gay Lothario.

Mrs. Wiley immediately sought the advice of her brother-in-law, Mr. Beaton. He engaged the services of lawyer Thorne and sent his sister to Pueblo.

Mrs. Wiley on arriving in Pueblo secured a room one block from her husband's home, and without his knowing that she was in the city watched his movements. She saw him riding with the woman referred to and secured ample evidence and had no trouble whatever in securing the divorce and alimony, but could not get a statement of her grievances before her friends. Her husband has circulated all sorts of rumors concerning her character, even going so far as to make the statement that he had never married her.

"My father died a year ago and did not leave much property," she said to a reporter. "When Wiley married me my father was very wealthy, and he supposed that he would receive money with me. When Wiley found out that no money went with me he began, from one week after we were married, a systematic course of abuse. He frequently chased me out of our home with a knife, and would not take me into society. During January of this year he frequently beat me, and on one occasion I only escaped from him by leaving the house during the night. When my father died and left no property, my husband's cruelty increased. He married me for my money and connections in this city, and when force of circumstances went against my father I believe he tried to get rid of me."

At the time of her marriage she lived on Jefferson avenue, near Reid avenue, Brooklyn, and her father's house was the center of a select social circle. He manufactured furniture and had a factory in New York and two in Brooklyn. Mrs. Wiley, when she left Brooklyn a happy bride, was a petite blonde, a splendid musician and a cultured singer. When she returned from Pueblo two weeks ago, she looked aged, so careworn was she.

All she has taken from her home in Pueblo was some jewelry, personal effects and a pet setter dog.

OSTLER JO'S JOKE.

He Gave a Flippant York State Man a Taste of Scotch Plains Wit.

"Westchester at the post—Fanwood wins!" Such was the verdict of all who witnessed the following incident at Illsley's Hotel, Scotch Plains, the other evening:

Three gentlemen, one of whom hailed from Westchester county, N. Y., while riding their wheels across country, stopped at Illsley's for a little refreshment. As the Westchester man alighted from his wheel, he flippantly ordered the hostler to blanket his horse and give him a pail of water. With a laugh the party entered the hotel.

On emerging a few minutes later, what was their surprise to fine the three wheels neatly blanketed and surcingled and a bucket of water in front of that belonging to the man from Westchester.

The laugh was thus neatly turned; and the Westchester man, remembering he was in New Jersey, generously tipped the hostler, remarking that hereafter he would only joke with New York State hayseeds and not try again against Fanwood wit.

It is reported from Fanwood that Sunday evening Dr. C. Henry Doepel, of Westchester county, N. Y., escorted by Dr. Frank Herbert of this city and Alfred Zimmerman of Newark, passed through on their way to the latter city.

Imported Werzburger.

Increasing business has compelled Charles Smith to make extensive improvements in his sample and lunch rooms on West Front street, among other things a new and commodious ice box to keep cool his excellent beers furnished from five taps, and to please his customers he has placed on tap the celebrated imported Werzburger beer. This is the only place in the city where this beer and the Bartholomay beers, such as Rochester pale and dark, and St. Louis can be had on draught.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atominer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by F. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

OLD JOHN SEABRING ON A TRAMP.

He Says His Relatives Were Trying to Cheat Him Out of His Inheritance and He Decided to Leave Them, Especially When His Brother Gave Him More Whitewashing to Do.

The most curious specimen of humanity the third precinct has seen for many a long day was brought in early yesterday morning by officer Farrell—says the Newark Advertiser. He had been found asleep on the meadows, and as he sat in the officers' room finishing his interrupted nap he looked exactly like Rip Van Winkle or some backwoodsman of long ago brought suddenly back to life again.

Long gray beard, worn, ill-fitting clothes, shoes which he afterwards said had served in the Southern army, and a long natural wood stick made up his accoutrement.

Amusing as he was while asleep, he was even funnier when he replied to the questioning of Captain Daly. John I. Seabring is his name and he comes from Millstone. He ran away, intending to join old comrades at Bound Brook, but got lost and wandered on to Newark.

"Pa, he left $50,000," the old man said, "to us seven children, and now the rest is a trying to cheat me outer my share. Tim, he gave me an ole hemlock board to whitewash the other day, but I thought I'd had whitewash enough, and so left, but I suppose the folks will look like a barrel of vinegar when I get back."

Then the old man told of his life and habits and observations of the world, which were infinitely amusing. He had once had a sweetheart named Delia Ann, but she died twenty years ago. He knew still, he said, "some charming Jane Louisas, and it wa'n't nothing to be ashamed of either".

His personal habits were above reproach, apparently, for although he confessed to a fondness for tobacco, he denied entirely any partiality for applejack, and said he should never cease to regret his debauch on two and a half glasses of sweet cider.

But the thing that seemed to grieve the old man's heart more than anything else was the bigotry of political partisanship in Millstone. "Why", he exclaimed, excitedly, "St VanFleet said the other day he'd sooner his daughter married a nigger than a Democrat, and I argued with him most all night, but it wa'n't no use. They's good Democrats—some—and they's very good Republicans; but I says if they's goin' to be so strenuous about politics they'd better let the whole thing drop".

In this way the old man rambled on for over an hour, amusing his audience by his cleverness no less than by his quaint expression of it. He finally settled himself to write to his brother "Ike", and as this was a very difficult and careful task, he was left to his own devices.

SORRY ABOUT THE CRESCENTS.

Elizabeth, More Generous Than Somerville, Is Grieved.

(Elizabeth Journal.)—

From all reports which are emanating from Plainfield newspapers and private sources, the Crescent League is about to disband. This same assertion was made last winter and the Crescents pulled themselves together and reorganized on a solid basis. Now the club after having dropped its "deadhead" members is still unable to meet its expenses. Members neglect the house on account of its location near so many saloons, and on this account new members refuse to join. Many say that should the club give up its present quarters and seek new ones the influx of members would make it self-supporting. But no action has yet been taken.

The Crescents have a reputation through the county and were considered one of the foremost athletic clubs in this vicinity, and it is not pleasant to hear of their embarrassment, and while the old club may go down it is believed that among its members are men who will form a new club, which will stand upon a firm foundation and become a success as well as a factor in Union county sports.

THAT $75.

Paterson Didn't Ask for or Expect It.

The Elizabeth Journal says: "It is reported on excellent authority that when, after the Patersons defeated the Plainfield Crescent team a few weeks ago, Captain Moorehead, of the victorious nine, demanded the $75 which the Plainfield Amusement company offered to any club which should defeat the Crescents, he was none too politely told he could whistle for it. And now the Courier says that the Patersons will try again on Saturday afternoon to win that seventy-five."

There seems to have been a misunderstanding about this $75 offer. The money was posted as an open challenge for a definite date, and was never accepted. The game of June 3 with Paterson was scheduled before the $75 offer was made, and both that and the game of June 17 are for the regular guarantee.

No Red Raspberries.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD—The shower of the 8th helped a little, but more rain is needed; unless it comes very soon a short crop of hay will be the result. Lowest temperature, 48 deg., rainfall, 0.45 inch. JOHN NEAGLE.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—The past week has given about an average temperature: two very warm days and some cool night. The pear crop is not as promising as was expected. The rain on the 6th saved the berry crop, which is coming on nicely. One large grower reports "no red raspberry crop". F. C. JOHNSON.

BRUTAL OUTRAGE.

AN ITALIAN'S ASSAULT ON A DUNELLEN WOMAN.

Mrs. McFadden Nearly Killed for Defending Her Property—Her Head Crushed With a Brick.

Mrs. McFadden of Dunellen found an Italian stealing clothes from her line this forenoon.

She attempted to stop him, and he cruelly beat her, finally striking her over the head with a brick.

Her condition is serious.

Police captain Grant of Plainfield was notified, and with sergeant Kiely started in pursuit of the fellow, who escaped with a horse and wagon.

They chased him nearly to Elizabeth, but his horse was better, and he got safely away.

The Italian is a ragpicker, age about 25. He had two companions in his wagon. All were Italians.

The police are on their track.

HARDLY ROOM FOR THE CROWD.

The First Baptist Church Concert an Immense Success.

The seating capacity of the First Baptist church was not large enough to accommodate those who attended the free concert last night.

Everything went off with unusual smoothness, and the several numbers brought forth hearty applause.

The soprano solo "Il Canarino" by Miss May Grant was delightfully rendered. She has a very pleasing voice.

A chorus of eight voices gave three selections from the "Holy City", "Thine is the Kingdom", "A New Heaven and a New Earth", and "List the Cherubic Host". It was probably the best work of the evening. Walter A. Hudson, sang the solo part in "A New Heaven and a New Earth", the chorus assisting. His rich bass voice was at its best, and was fully appreciated. In the selection "List the Cherubic Host", Miss Augusta Holmes and L. S. Bond had solo parts, which were rendered in a most pleasing manner.

A novel part of the programme was an organ duet by W. H. Miner and W. E. MacClymont. It was well received and much enjoyed.

The instrumental work of Messrs. Petrie, Pollock, Ferrer and MacClymont, was exceedingly well done, especially in their accompaniment of the chorus.

The 'cello solo by Mr. Ferrer was played with good taste and skill.

The grand duo (violin and piano), by Messrs. Conde and MacClymont, was very well played.

The programme was concluded with variations of "The Star-Spangled Banner", by W. E. MacClymont, who played at intervals during the evening.

It can be said that this concert was better than any previously given in the church, and the participants deserve much credit for the excellent work done.

The concerts will be resumed in the fall.

William Wright Saved Them.

Robert Mattox's horse nearly upset a wagon load of women and children on East Front street, last night. The horse was frightened at a street car, and would have run away, had not William Wright rushed out and caught the animal by the head.

EMULATING NATURE.

Bright Kindergarten Tots Show How a Sinuous Worm Bursts Into a Gorgeous Butterfly.

The pretty parlor of the Park club was crowded last night with the parents and friends of the little ones forming the kindergarten school of Miss Mary Fawcett, which celebrated its annual commencement.

The room was tastefully decorated with palms, and the audience was placed in the form of a horseshoe, leaving a good-sized place in the center for the gambols of the little tots, who recited, acted, danced, and marched, for over an hour, to the delight of those present.

The programme opened with an address of welcome by Willie Currie, which was very well done and very funny, and was followed by a Psalm and prayer and a song by the school. Donald McGee next favored the audience with a recitation entitled "After All". Herbert Cathcart, Clarence Roome, Roland Horne and George Evans were then heard in a dialogue, "It's a poor rule that won't work both ways". The boys of the school gave a wand and dumb-bell exercise, and the little girls followed with a recitation called "Roses". The roses were Genie Hanigan, Edna Smith, Florence White, Minnie Carroll, Annie Jennings and Helen Adams. Kindergarten games followed, and the children showed how they could play, representing in turn frogs, woodpeckers, pigeons, scissors grinders, shoemakers, and last a worm, which wound in sinuous curves over the floor and finally burst forth into a gorgeous butterfly. The applause that greeted this last effort was loud and long. A French recitation followed this last evolutionary movement, and was participated in by Miss Annie Jennings and Willie Roome, George Dupee, Clarence Roome and Walter McNaughton. A march and "Bear Dance" came next, and then Howard Roome and Vaughn McGee recited an amusing dialogue (with a moral), called "The Wasp and the Bee". Leslie Hallock told the people how to speak a piece in a recitation called "How to do it". More kindergarten games followed, some elaborate marching was done, and the exercises closed with a song by the school. In the last march little Helen Adams, daughter of Dr. D. C. Adams, suddenly decided that she did not care to continue the exercises, and in spite of the firm hold that her diminutive escort kept of her hand she broke away and ran to her mother, and from the vantage ground of the maternal lap she viewed the rest of the proceedings. Her bashful obstinacy made a very cunning effect, and tickled the audience immensely.

The entire programme was gone through with a readiness and cheerfulness that spoke much in praise of Miss Fawcett's methods of teaching these little ones. This preliminary training certainly does much to simplify the studies of later school life. Miss Fawcett has 28 pupils in her school, of whom 23 took part last night. She is assisted in her work by Miss Bertie Fawcett, and by Miss Clara Helwig, who teaches French.

Miss Lilian A. Force presided at the piano last night, and furnished the music for the songs and marches.

After the exercises were over, those interested inspected the specimens of penmanship and free-hand drawing, needle work and paper work that were on exhibition in an ante-room.

A Mother's Letter:—

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Last winter I did not think my little ones would have a mother long. I suffered terribly with female troubles.

"I could keep nothing on my stomach, and got so 'poor' my friends hardly knew me. I suffered with severe headaches, dizziness, faintness, backache, and 'the blues.'

"Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am now as fat as ever, and have no female troubles.

"If you use my letter I hope it may be the means of saving some other poor mother's life as it did mine."—Mrs. Ella Van Buren, Brazil, Ind.

FANWOOD'S SUNDAY TRAMPS.

WHILE GOOD PEOPLE ARE AT CHURCH THEY RIFLE HOUSES.

But Judge Moore, Who Doesn't Attend Morning Worship, Proves Such a Terror to Evil-Doers that They Flee Their Camp in Terror.

Owing to petty depredations committed by tramps in Fanwood, particularly Sunday mornings during church hour, that town has been greatly waked up. But a Daniel has at last come to judgment, and in the person of judge Moore is putting an end to the reign of terror.

The good judge was out bright and early Sunday morning and intercepted one of the gentry soliciting from house to house. The tramp admitted that he could read, that he had seen the tramp notices posted about, and that a number of his pals were encamped in the woods near Benner's road-house.

The knight of the road was informed that unless they all left town forthwith, summary justice would be administered. The tramp was further told that the justice would visit the camp later and expected to find it vacated. The vagrant promised everything, and was permitted to depart. About two hours later, the judge, accompanied by constables Clark and Day, paid a visit to the rendezvous, and found the tramp camps, three in number, being dismantled, and the gentry quietly though sorrowfully departing. At 12:30, just as the people were returning from church, judge Moore received reports that the last tramp had left the township. And they probably won't come back—at least not if they know what's good for them.

NEW POSTMASTERS

Sixty-three of the Fourth-class Order Appointed Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The total number of fourth class postmasters appointed was 63, of which 35 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

New Jersey—Lafayette, Samuel E. Ingersoll.

Connecticut—Warren, Buel E. Sedgwick.

Pennsylvania—Beavertown, Jacob G. Snyder; Bethayres, Garrett McDowell; Elk Grove, Mrs. Eliza J. Hess; Fogelsville, Richard J. Klotz; Hampton, Charles S. Diller; Madison, Henry Wallace; Manoppa, John L. Bitting; Osborn, Elson H. Spears; Sawyer City, Frank A. Moldrum.

Postmasters Appointed by the President.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The President has appointed the following named postmasters:

Jeremiah C. Byrns, at Ware, Mass., vice A. J. Davis, resigned.

Japhia Vandyke, at Long Branch, N. J., vice L. R. Williams, commission expired.

Robert E. Connelly, at Phelps, N. Y., vice F. R. Hoag, commission expired.

TEN YEARS IN PRISON

That is the Sentence Given the Convicted Bank of Naples Manager.

ROME, June 14.—The prosecution instituted by the Government against Cucinielio, the manager in Rome of the branch of the Bank of Naples, who was charged with the embezzlement of 2,000,000 lire of the banks funds, resulted in the conviction of the accused, and his sentence to ten years imprisonment.

Alesandro, the cashier of the bank of Naples, who was indicted for complicity in the frauds perpetrated on the bank, was also found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment for six years and eight months.

Arrested for Stealing Jewelry.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 14.—Frederick Fleischman, a painter, 21 years old, was arrested at midnight, on complaint of Godwin Munn, of Bogota a member of the New York Cotton Exchange, who charges that the young man while painting the interior of his house, stole jewelry valued at $100. Justice Heath committed Fleischman to jail. The young man acknowledges his guilt.

The Brazilian Ships Leave.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Brazilian war ships Aquidaban and Tiradentes sailed from this port to-day for Rio de Janeiro. They will go to Barbadoes, where coal will be taken on board. The voyage will then continue to Bahia and then to Rio. They will probably reach Rio de Janeiro about July 15.

"Railroad Jack" Dead.

ALBANY, June 14.—The well-known dog, "Railroad Jack," is no more. He has been around the Union depot for the past few weeks, and has gradually grown weak. He died yesterday in the baggage room of the depot. The body will be shipped to a taxidermist. Jack was 13 years old, and was famous for his travels.

Not Credited at Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The officials at the Catholic University do not believe the report telegraphed from London that the Pope in his allocution to the consistory referred to the American school question, showing that he was not in sympathy with Archbishop Ireland's views.

Ontario Crop Report.

TORONTO, Ont., June 14.—The Ontario crop report is just issued. With respect to fall wheat, the returns may be summarized thus: Acreage reduced by at least one quarter; growth backward; general condition variable; prospects on June 1 not quite up to the average.

Referee's Sale Confirmed.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 14.—Judge Herrick has confirmed the referee's sale of the printing establishment of Weed, Parsons & Co., of this city, to James H. Manning, for $100,000, and of the Albany Law Journal, to Banks Brothers, of this city, for $5,000.

Evans Also a Prisoner.

Bore a Trade Mark.

"What is the name of the butter dealer's pretty daughter behind the desk?"

"Oleomargaret."—Judge.

TRUTH ABOUT THE BICYCLE.

It will give you health and strength, make your food digest easily, enlarge your views of men and things and add to life a zest it has never known. Perhaps you think it is hard to ride. It is not. A few weeks' practice will make you proficient; disabuse your mind also of the notion that it is dangerous. Bicycle accidents are rare, and happen from carelessness. A daily spin on one of our Lyndhurst wheels will accomplish wonders.

QUEEN & CO.,
OCULISTS AND OPTICIANS,
OF 1010 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA,
Announce that one of their
DISTANT NEAR DISTANT NEAR EYE SPECIALISTS
— IS IN —
PLAINFIELD EVERY THURSDAY,
Dunham's Real Estate Office, 7 East Front St.,
FROM 8.30 A. M. TO 5.30 P. M.

No charge is made to determine if your eyesight may be improved or headache relieved, by wearing properly adjusted glasses. Bear in mind the address, and do not fail to consult our specialist if your eyes trouble you.

MESSRS. QUEEN & CO, are well known throughout the United States as Opticians of the highest experience and skill. Their glasses are worn by tens of thousands in all parts of the world, and their work is acknowledged to be the standard of excellence everywhere. The staff of oculists and opticians engaged at their main store, 1010 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, is composed of men whose skill and ability to give relief to defective eyes is of the highest order.

Recognizing the fact that in many populous centers there is no person who understands the measurement of the sight and adjustment of glasses in all the details, they have arranged that one of their Eye Specialists shall come periodically to your city, at the address given above.

Heretofore, in order to obtain anything like reliable care, it has been necessary to obtain a prescription at one office, and then purchase the glasses according to that prescription at some store.

Queen's specialists are men of large experience gained by daily and constant practice, which enables them to correct the most defective vision without the use of drops of any kind in the eye.

Messrs. Queen & Co. make no boasts of wonderful remedies, nor do they claim any special healing power in the glasses they furnish, as is so often done by ignorant persons who merely deal in glasses. Queen & Co. guarantee every pair of glasses ordered to be satisfactory, and expect to win your approval by the skillful and accurate manner in which they give you improve and comfortable vision.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL

The Judges Admit the Prussic Acid Evidence.

MARSHAL HILLIARD ON THE STAND

The Government Had Some Advantage in the Struggle of Yesterday—Mrs. Reagan's Testimony of the Talk Between the Two Sisters in the Police Station.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 15.—Lizzie Borden came into the court room this morning shortly before 9 o'clock looking a little more worn than she has for some time. She, however, tried to appear as unconcerned as usual and spoke quite animatedly with Counsel Robinson.

After a short preliminary tilt between the opposing lawyers Marshall Hilliard again took the stand.

"On the 4th of August, last year, my attention was called to the trouble at the Borden house by John Cunningham, newsdealer; I sent officer George W. Allen at once to the house. I did not notice the time accurately; I first went to the house about 3 o'clock; first I sent Allen, then Doherty, Mullaly, Modley, Gillon, Wilson and Fleet. When I got there I looked around the yard and searched the barn; the side door of the barn was open, the door on the left was closed, but I am not positive whether the window in the west end was closed or not; I think the east window was closed. It was extremely warm in the barn; I only looked at one or two of the rooms in the house that day.

The next time I went in the house was on Saturday afternoon, after the funeral; I looked into the room of Mr. and Mrs. Borden, then into Miss Lizzie's room and then into Miss Emma's room; there were other officers there who were looking for anything they could find; I made no examination of the dresses; I went again that afternoon, and in a general way searched the house; there were other officers there; I spent my time in examining closets and the dressing cases. I took a dress away; I asked Mr. Jennings for the dress she (Miss Borden) wore that day; I was then in Mrs. Borden's room, and he went out, returning with this dress, which had been shown; I saw Miss Borden afterwards in Emma's room; when the dress was handed to me I passed it to Dr. Dolan; I had no talk with Miss Borden while I had the dress (dress shown and identified). The dress and a white skirt which Mr. Jennings gave me about the same time were rolled up (skirt identified) with what I called a lounge cover (cover identified) in a paper, and given to Mr. Jennings, who afterwards gave them to me, and I passed them over to Dr. Dolan; I have not had possession of them since; the lounge cover I got from the dining room, but I do not know where it really belonged.

I was there 3 1-2 hours Saturday afternoon. I went there again about 7:45 in company with Dr. Coughlin; there was a large crowd of people present; perhaps two or three hundred people; I sent for officers and had the crowd removed to the street; then I went into the house where I saw the prisoner, her sister and Mr. Morse; there was a conversation but Dr. Coughlin and the others did the talking; after we entered the parlor Dr. Coughlin asked that the family remain in the house for a few days; that there was much excitement and he thought it would be better they should remain there and not go on the street; I think he told them that if they were annoyed by the people to send word to city marshal or himself and they should be protected; Mr. Morse asked about the mail and he was told they had better send for it. Then Miss Lizzie asked: "What, is there anybody in this house suspected?" but the mayor said, "perhaps Mr. Morse could answer that from what occurred last night." Lizzie then said: "I want to know the truth," and the mayor (Coughlin) said he was sorry to say it, that she was suspected; then Emma spoke up and said: "We have tried to keep it from you as long as we could."

Then the mayor asked Lizzie where she was when the affair happened and she said in the barn for twenty minutes looking for lead sinkers. Lizzie said, after Emma spoke, "well, I am ready to go any time."

Cross-examined by Governor Robinson, who attempted to show that the witness was not obstructed in his search of the premises.

He swore that the search of the Borden house was thorough, and that the defendant gave him all articles he asked for, and spoke earnestly and frankly in conversation about suspicion of her.

Mayor John W. Coughlin, Fall River, was then called. He described his visit to the Borden house with Marshal Hilliard and corroborated the marshal's testimony as to the conversation with the defendant. The court excluded the evidence as to demonstration against Mr. Morse, offered by government to show that the police had surrounded the house in good faith for protection, not for surveillance.

Mrs. Hannah H. Gifford, the dressmaker who has made wearing apparel for the Bordens for six or seven years past, in describing her occupation, said she made outside ladies' garments.

"Miss Borden came to see me about a suit one day," she said.

"While she was there I told her I was making a dress for Mrs. Borden, and when I spoke of Mrs. Borden I called her mother.

"'Don't say that, because she's a mean, good-for-nothing thing,' Lizzie said to me. 'I don't have much to do with her,' Lizzie told me. 'At home,' she said, 'I stay in my room.' I asked her if she did not eat with them. She said they ate at the same table, but that they never took their meals together if they could help it."

That was all there was of that, and when it had been told, Anna H. Borden, a cousin of the prisoner, was called.

A tall, gray-haired woman stepped into the court room and removed her veil. She went to Europe with Lizzie when the latter went to Europe.

What the prosecution wanted to show by that witness was that on the way home to this country Lizzie remarked the nice time they had just passed, and said she was sorry she was going home, because her home was so unpleasant for her.

The defence objected, and the court decided not to allow the matter to be testified to at the present time.

Lucy Collet testified that she sat on Dr. Chagnon's piazza in view of the Borden fence from 10.45 to 11.45 on the morning of the murder and saw no one. Thos. Bolles, a hostler, testified that he washed carriages in Mrs. Churchill's yard on the morning of the murder, and saw no one.

Patrick McGowan testified that he was in the Crowe yard on the morning of the murder and saw no one in the Borden yard.

The cross-examination of the last few witnesses tended to show a man might have gone out of the Borden yard without being seen.

Mrs. Reagan, matron of the Fall River police station, testified to an excited conversation in the station on August 4 between the prisoner and Emma, in which the prisoner said: "You have given me away, Emma, and I will let you see I won't give in one inch." Emma said: "No, Lizzie, I didn't give you away." They then sat two hours without speaking, and parted without speaking.

Mrs. Reagan denied that she told any reporters that she would sign a paper saying that the "You gave me away" story was a lie.

After conclusion of Mrs. Reagan's testimony the government offered evidence that the prisoner attempted to procure prussic acid on the day before the murder. The defence objected, as not connected with the present crime. The jury retired and Mr. Moody argued that the evidence offered is competent as bearing on the prisoner's state of mind, showing deliberation and premeditation.

Gov. Robinson once again reviewed the case and repeated that the evidence should not be allowed unless it went to prove the crime with which defendant had been charged.

At the conclusion of the arguments the justices withdrew for consultation.

The court remained in consultation nearly half an hour and then came in and announced that the evidence was competent and would be admitted. Court then adjourned at 4.45.

WHO WILL GET THE NEW YORK?

All the Officers Are Anxious to Command the Crack Cruiser.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Secretary Herbert has gone to Alabama on a vacation, and has left undecided the question as to the disposition of the new cruiser New York. For some time a fierce contest has been going on between the North Atlantic and European squadrons for the new war vessel for a flagship.

It will be a week or ten days before the matter is decided, but it is the general opinion among the naval officers that the Secretary will give the New York to Admiral Erben for the flagship of his European squadron.

The Admiral, it is understood, has made a formal application for her, and there are officials in the Navy Department who think it would be a good thing for our new navy to send the New York abroad, so foreign governments can see our latest naval wonder.

It is said at the Navy Department that the New York will probably be ordered in commission on July 1, but it will take about sixty days thereafter before she is ready for service.

BASSETT REINSTATED

He Has Been Commissioned to Transcribe the Custom House Evidence.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Stephen Bassett, the General Appraiser's stenographer, who accused his former superior, Marville W. Cooper, with asking him to commit perjury, has been reassigned to duty. Mr. Cooper declined to give Mr. Bassett work, even when Secretary Carlisle ordered him to do so.

Mr. Bassett has now been commissioned to take shorthand notes and transcribe the evidence the committee investigating the Custom House will collect.

Mr. Cooper was not at the Appraiser's store when the commission arrived there to continue the investigation.

In his absence Siras Stevens, the chief deputy, is acting appraiser, and will continue as such until Mr. Cooper's successor is appointed.

It is now definitely settled that Collector Hendricks, who has sent in his resignation, Naval Officer Willis and Surveyor Lyon, whose terms have expired, will not testify before the commission.

TWO BISHOPS CONSECRATED

Impressive Ceremonies at St. Thomas' Church, New York.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Rev. Dr. John McKim, D. D., and Rev. Dr. Frederick Rogers Graves, D. D., were yesterday consecrated as Protestant Episcopal Bishops of China and Japan at St. Thomas' Church, corner Fifty-third street and Fifth avenue. This was the first occasion in the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church that two foreign missionary bishops have been consecrated at the same time and place.

Eight bishops acted as consecrators, and there were present a large number of clergymen from all over the country. The clergymen were all attired in their vestments, and were seated in the front pews of the church. The body of the church was comfortably filled. The consecration ceremonies were very elaborate and impressive.

Co-Operative Convention.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The sixth annual convention of the New York State League of Co-operative Savings and Building Loan Associations was opened yesterday at Lyric Hall. About fifty building and loan associations in this State are represented by delegates. Two sessions were held yesterday, and were devoted to speech making and routine business.

Dr. Chase Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Dr. Sarah B. Chase, who was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, in causing the death of Maggie Manzoni, upon whom she performed a criminal operation, was sentenced at noon to nine years and eight months imprisonment.

DEAD CLERKS' PAY STOPPED

The Injured in the Disaster Will Get Ninety Days Sick Leave.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—In reply to a question as to whether or not the salaries of the clerks who were killed in Friday's disaster would be continued, Mr. William S. Yeatman, disbursing clerk of the War Department, stated that, in accordance with the regulations of the government, the salaries would necessarily stop on the day the clerk died.

"No money," said he, "can be disbursed to anyone by United States officers unless some specific service has been rendered, or else by special enactment of Congress. The wounded will, of course, be payed in full, as they are considered to be on sick leave."

"Isn't there a limit to this sick leave?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes. Thirty days is the usual limit, but in meritorious cases the chiefs of division are empowered to extend this leave to sixty or ninety days, not exceeding ninety days, however. I do not anticipate that any of the injured clerks will be absent over ninety days, but in case of such event their salaries will stop after that date, unless they again report for duty, when they will of course be reinstated."

"Could not this ninety-day rule also be applied to the dead?" asked the reporter.

"No, sir; the moment a man's death is reported at the department his position is considered vacant, and his name is at once stricken from the roll."

"There is another rule in regard to the payment of the salaries after the death of a clerk which may prove interesting," said Mr. Yeatman. "Before a deceased government employe's back salary can be paid to his heirs their claims for the same have to be approved by the treasury officials, thus requiring considerable handling, and what appears to be an unnecessarily long delay. In this instance, however, this delay has been overcome.

"Several days ago I sent a communication to the First Comptroller of the Treasury asking for instructions in the matter of paying the salaries of deceased clerks to their heirs, and received a prompt reply to pay all of them at once and send the vouchers for the same to the Treasury Department afterward for approval."

COL. ROPES SHOT

He is the President of the Corpus Christi and South America Railroad.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 15.—Private advices from Corpus Christi, Tex., are to the effect that Col. Elihu H. Ropes, president of the Corpus Christi and South America railway company, was shot and severely wounded in that city on Saturday by Matt Dunn, a notorious character.

The attempted assassination took place in Col. Ropes' office. His life was saved by a warning given by his stenographer. Mr. Ropes was unarmed and received a wound while struggling with his assailant.

Mrs. Ropes, who is in this city, received a telegram informing her of the shooting of her husband, but assuring her that he was not fatally hurt.

Mr. Ropes was formerly superintendent of the printing and literary department of the Singer Manufacturing Company at No. 36 Union Square, New York.

He is president of the Corpus Christi Harbor Improvement Company and was the projector of Ropes's Pass through Mustang Island.

NEW POSTMASTERS

Yesterday's Record of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed was 84, of which 46 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

New Jersey—Jacob L. Agans, Pittstown; John Reynolds, Pleasant Mills.

New York—George B. Conkling, Amalgansett; Willis W. Holcomb, Bristo Springs; Henry Willard Adsett, Lorna; Delplain B. Monroe, Nanticoke.

Pennsylvania—Willis F. Lafferty, Camptown; William Russell, Chulaski; A. C. Henderson, Henderson; Charles Miller, Lorasville; Banks C. McAllister, McAllisterville; Samuel H. Stroub, Penns Creek; Henry Peneyl, Stonington; Israel Tennis, Thompsontown.

RACING AT ASCOT HEATH

Royal Hunt Cup Won by Baron de Rothschild's Amandier.

LONDON, June 14.—Yesterday was the second day of the Ascot Heath race meeting. There were seven events on the programme, the most important of which was the race for the Royal Hunt Cup, value 500 sovereigns, added to a handicap sweepstakes of 20 sovereigns each; one mile, seven furlongs and 166 yards.

The cup was won by Baron de Rothschild's five-year-old black horse Amandier. C. J. F. Fawcett's three-year-old chestnut colt Pitcher was second, and Daniel Cooper's four-year-old chestnut colt Juvenal third.

Bismarck Favors More Artillery.

BERLIN, June 15.—Prince Bismarck has in an interview come out in favor of an increase in the defensive strength of the Empire, but not on the lines laid down by the Government in the Army bill. Conversing with Prof. Kahl, who was visiting the ex-Chancellor at Friedrichsruhe, Prince Bismarck declared that an increase of the army was necessary. He did not approve of adding to the infantry or cavalry strength of the army, but maintained that the increase should be made to the artillery forces, which, he declared, would decide the battles of the future.

To Advance Rates on Coal Oil.

BALTIMORE, June 15. — All Southern railroads included in the Southern Railway Association will make a sharp advance in freight rates on coal oil shipped in less than carload lots. The reason given for it is the damage which is said to result to other classes of goods shipped in the same car with coal oil.

GERMANS CROWDING IN

This is Their Great Day in the White City.

ARGUING ON SUNDAY OPENING

Counsel for the Fair People Just Escaped a Sure Defeat By Judge Grosscup's Decision—Another Blaze in the Grounds—Prospects Growing Brighter.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 15.—The month of June has brought many people to the Exposition and with the prospects of several excursions beginning today, German Day, the already good attendance will be greatly increased.

A tremendous crowd of Germans is gathering in the grounds to-day, and by the way the people have been pouring in at all the gates during the morning the attendance will no doubt eclipse that of last Thursday, "Princess Day", when the paid admissions were about 123,000.

Besides the German celebration, the Indiana and Arkansas buildings will be dedicated to-day, and the Orchard Lake, Mich., Military Academy, which has been in camp for a week on the Plaisance held their graduation exercises this morning.

The daily average of paid admissions is rapidly nearing the 100,000 mark, and if the increase keeps up that figure will be established in less than ten days. The officials are elated at the bright prospects and see a chance to liquidate some of their debts and probably make the Fair pay its expenses beginning July 1.

The pay roll for May amounted to nearly $900,000, but this, it is claimed, will be reduced one half for the month of June. Director of Works Burnham will cut his pay roll in two this week, and a number of young men who have been identified with the Exposition will be relieved from duty.

The construction department will be all but abolished in a short time, and this will further reduce the expenses. This step will be taken, it is quite likly, when the counsel of administration concludes to make Col. Davis director general de facto, with Mr. Burnham as his assistant.

The Midway Plaisance people are figuring on keeping their places open from 8 in the morning until midnight, if necessary, regardless of the Fair or decision of the court in the Sunday opening matter, and in this the exposition directors see a further increase in their income.

The attorneys for the World's Columbian Exposition company gained an important point yesterday. Before Judge Grosscup, in the United States District Court, they asked permission to amend their answer, which is being argued before the United States Court of Appeals this morning, by striking out the words "and repugnant to the constitution of the United States."

Counsel for the government opposed the motion on the ground that the case in point had been appealed several days ago and any modification of the plea set up affecting the constitutionality of the issue involved could hardly obtain at this time. The court, however, granted the motion and authorized the amendment.

On this identical point, it was the intention of District Attorney Milchrist and his colleagues to move a dismissal of the case when it came up for a hearing. The clause, it would have been contended, made the case one for the United States Supreme Court and not the United States Court of Appeals to decide. On this construction the Exposition management, after the latter court had passed on the case, would still have recourse to the former tribunal.

Argument was begun on the case at 10 a. m. this morning before Chief Justice Fuller and Judges Bunn and Allen.

What might have been a disastrous fire was extinguished by prompt work of the firemen in Transportation building last evening. A guard in the Transportation building annex saw the fire climbing up a draped post in the exhibit of the Transatlantic French mail line steamers in the gallery and turned in an alarm, at the same time trying to extinguish the blaze. When the firemen arrived the blaze had reached the overhanging streamers and was rapidly approaching the adjoining sections, which are separated only by wooden partions.

The fire was extinguished however in a few minutes, but it necessitated the throwing of water which did considerable damage. The exhibit contained many handsome paintings of steamship scenes worth $75,000 and some books. The display was opened but a few days ago and the fire in it is thought has ruined two of the big pictures. It is impossible to estimate the damage yet, as the paintings will have to dry to show the extent to which they were harmed. The firemen threw tarpaulins over the display on the main floor under the French display or the damage would have been quite serious.

For a General Strike of Waiters.

NEW YORK, June 15.—John Mee, the general organizer of the Waiters' Alliance, has left for Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other large cities, to prevent a number of threatened strikes, which he believes to be premature. His mission is said to be the arranging of a concerted strike in 23 cities unless the demands, which formed the basis of the recent waiters' strikes here are conceded by employers.

Dr. McGlynn Sees the Pope.

ROME, June 15.—The Pope has given a long audience to Dr. McGlynn. It was very cordial. Cardinal Rampolla, the Papal Secretary of State, and Cardinal Ledochowski, the Prefect of the Propogada, were extremely courteous to the Doctor. Dr. McGlynn was enchanted with his reception and his complete reconciliation to the Pope, and left after a five-days sojourn in the Eternal City.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The condition of William H. Henriques the New York broker, still remains serious.

Rev. J. P. Bearle, of Somerville, N. J., has been elected Professor of Theology in Rutgers College.

The board of trustees of Centre College, Ky., has conferred the degree of LL. D. upon Vice-President Stevenson.

The 116 anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the flag of the United States, was celebrated generally in Baltimore yesterday.

George W. Helme, the well-known tobacco merchant, died suddenly last night of apoplexy at his country seat, at Helmett, N. J. He was 71 years old.

The iron steamboat Cepheus, struck a rock in Flushing Bay near College Point yesterday, and stove four holes in her bottom. Soon after her passengers were landed she settled on the bottom.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

MOUNT VERNON, O., June 15.—The Chicago Brown Stone Co., engaged in extensive quarrying in Knox county, has been placed in the hands of a receiver on application of Peter Herdien, of Chicago. Lewis F. Day, of Brinkhaven, has been appointed receiver. Claims against the concern amount to $30,000.

Run on Omaha Banks Over.

OMAHA, Neb., June 15.—The runs on the Omaha Savings banks have subsided. Early in the morning there were a few depositors at the Omaha Savings bank demanding their money, but as soon as it became apparent that the rush was over anxious ones left without taking their cash.

California Bank Suspends.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 15.—The doors of the Riverside Banking Company failed to open at the usual hour yesterday. The following sign was displayed on the door: "This bank is closed under instructions. Depositors will be paid."

IF YOU WORK IN JUNE.

If You Are Tired and Worn-out, Use Paine's Celery Compound.

Paine's celery compound has been more talked of, discussed, prescribed, inquired into, than any other remedy of this century.

No medicine ever had such testimonials.

It has made thousands of tired and worn-out men and women well.

Paine's celery compound builds up the shaken nerves.

The nerves regulate the blood supply through the body. Upon their action depends health and happiness.

It is the nerves, then, that are to be attended to.

Nerves out of repair result in loss of sleep, irritability, lassitude—which are the beginning of a host of ills.

Paine's celery compound rolls the nerve centres of irritability and by supplying abundant nutrition to the nerve tissue secures healthy action. Paine's celery compound makes life easier in the summer. When one has to work through the hot days and finds sleep hard to get at night, when the used up brain gets no time for repair, nothing refreshes and reanimates like Paine's celery compound. It is food for the brain and nerve.

For all diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system it is a true specific, and is generally prescribed by physicians. It is not a patent medicine.

It is the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

ALL BLUE AND GRAY.

An Afternoon Charmingly Spent by Plainfield's Charming Wheelwomen.

The Plainfield Lady Cyclists had a run at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at 5 were most charmingly entertained by one of the club members, Mrs. Jas. A. Taylor, on her beautiful lawn on West Seventh street.

Dainty refreshments were served at small tables under the trees. All decorations were in blue and gray, the club colors, and the favors were gray fans tied with blue ribbon.

Among those present were: Mrs. Struthers, Mrs. Lowry, Mrs. O. Arens, Mrs. J. M. Crane, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Pond, Miss Utter, Miss Kirkner, the Misses Fritts, Miss Hull, Miss Green, Miss Butler, Miss Rushmore, Miss Brown, Miss Morrison, Miss Maltby, Miss Potter, the Misses French, Miss Holmes, Mrs. Jas. Scott and Miss Yates.

The club now numbers 36 members, and is in a most flourishing condition, owing to the energetic efforts of its president, Mrs. David W. Pond.

A Bluecoat Joins the Benedicts.

"Billy" Decker, one of Elizabeth's "finest", committed matrimony yesterday in Elizabeth, and he and his charming bride showed their good sense by stopping at the City Hotel on their proposed extended wedding trip through the South, the groom being a personal friend of Mr. Beerbower and the genial bar clerk, Steve Davis. The bride is a Southern lady by birth, her former residence being Washington. The many friends of "Billy" wish him and his bride long life and prosperity.

A Hay Wagon Stops the Car.

A nut was lost from a wheel on Wm. Baldwin's hay wagon on Front street this noon, and when the wheel struck the car track in front of White's the wheel came off and the load of hay was upset, completely blocking traffic on the railway. The hay had to be unloaded and reloaded again.

JANITOR CLARKSON SUED

HIS CARELESS SHOOTING LIKELY TO BE COSTLY.

Mrs. Henry, Who Was Struck by His Bullet, Wants $5,000 Damages.

Papers were issued to-day in a suit for $5,000 damages caused by the accidental shooting of a woman. Thomas Clarkson discharged a rifle or revolver at a mark in his back yard. Mrs. Henry, whose house is in the rear of the Clarkson residence, received the bullet in the back of her neck. It was one of those remarkable hairbreadth escapes which seem providential. She lost a great deal of flesh and sustained a severe nervous shock from which she says she never expects to wholly recover, but the hole through her neck has closed up and apparently is entirely healed. The suit was brought through Craig A. Marsh and will be defended by Jackson & Coddington.

THE LEAGUE WHEELMEN LIVE.

They Desert the Crescent Title, and Will Move to North Avenue.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Crescent League Wheelmen was held last night to consider the further plans of the bicyclists. The organization has decided to continue its existence, but to change the name. Up to yesterday the membership was 30, and 5 new members were elected at the meeting last night. Club rooms have been leased on North avenue, in the old United States express office, and stalls for the wheels will be built as soon as possible.

The membership will be divided into two classes; those who belong purely for the social part of the club, who will be known as associate members; and those who ride a wheel, to be known as active members. Whatever may be the fate of the Crescent league, the wheelmen from that club will continue to thrive. A club run will be arranged as soon as other matters of more importance have been considered.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Roger McGinley, of Fanwood, a '91 graduate of Seton Hall College, had the degree A. M. conferred on him at the commencement yesterday.

The Lend-a-hand club of all Souls' church is holding a strawberry festival in the church this afternoon and evening, with the usual accessories.

W. W. Coriell, of West Front street, will close his house to-day, and he and his wife will spend the summer in a cottage on Summerfield avenue, Asbury Park.

Wm. A. Low, assistant city engineer of Bayonne, and who was connected with Charles K. Moore in the Plainfield waterworks project, is a welcome guest in Fanwood.

Watson J. Tunison, the hustling flour and feed merchant of Watchung avenue, starts to-day on the 3:45 train for Buffalo, Detroit and other western points, on a business trip.

The Hippocratic Oath was administered to Albert Pittis, of this city, at the Columbia College commencement, to-day, and the degree of Doctor of Medicine was conferred on him.

McCready Sykes, formerly of THE PRESS staff, was one of the highest honor men at the Princeton College commencement. He won the Maclean prize of $100 for the best written oration and the Bernard White architecture prize of $50.

Officers of a new lodge of Knights of Honor, called "Bound Brook Lodge, of the Knights of Honor", will be installed this evening in the Junior Order of American Mechanics' rooms, Bound Brook, under direction of C. J. Feytel, Grand Dictator.

A Safe Falls Down Stairs.

While a large crowd was watching the progress of a heavy safe on the stairs leading to A. V. D. Honeyman's offices on North avenue, yesterday afternoon, the tackle that held the safe broke, and the huge mass of iron came down the stairs with a rush, breaking the door frame and gouging great pieces out of the wall. The frame to the door was knocked from the brick wall, and the whole entrance presented a decidedly dilapidated appearance. The way the crowd scattered when the tackle broke would argue well for the speed of the average Plainfielder.

There'll Be Good Music Besides.

During the intermission of the descriptive lecture by Dr. Lewis, at the Camera club show, Tuesday night, vocal selections will be rendered by George H. Simonds, baritone, of Newark, and a quartette consisting of George Stevens, first tenor, L. S. Bond, second tenor, George Holmes, first bass, and B. T. Barnes, second bass. Literary selections also will be given by Miss Anna Teale, of Plainfield, and Miss Nelly Suydam, of Brooklyn.

Foolishly Jumped from a Moving Train.

John Johnson, of Plainfield avenue, formerly a clerk in MacDonald's grocery, but now a commuter to New York, slept past his station (North avenue), last night, and when the conductor refused to stop the train at Grant avenue he jumped. He fell, and the wheels of a passing coal train ran over his toes, crushing three of them. He is confined to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Inferior Goods.

The only safe way for purchasers is to insist on having the genuine article, and not allow themselves to be swindled by having plasters said to be "just as good," or "containing superior ingredients," imposed upon them. These are only tricks to sell inferior goods that no more compare with ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS than copper does withgold. One trial of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS will convince the most skeptical of their merits.

The eminent Henry A. Mott, Jr., Ph. D., F. C. S., late Government Chemist, certifies:

"My investigation of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

The Patersons have strengthened their team considerably since their former appearance here.

The kranks will be glad to know that Heckman will be in his regular position on third, Saturday.

Smith, who will probably pitch Saturday for Paterson, is said to be one of the strongest pitchers in the State.

Mooney, who plays third base for Paterson, has been playing in Albany, and is a strong man for the position.

Every lover of the national game should be present Saturday on the Crescent Oval, and see the great contest and encourage the home players.

The following is the batting order of the Patersons, who play on the Crescent Oval, Saturday: Moorehead, 2b; Mooney, 3b; Murray, ss; Murphy, lf; Tierney, cf; Toohey, 1b; Rafferty, c; Meakin, rf; Smith or Henderson, p.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRY.

The Lactose Company Now Busy Making Milk Sugar Out of Whey.

The extensive additions, alterations and repairs that have been in progress for some time at the South Plainfield Mill property have been nearly completed. The machinery was set in motion and work was begun, Monday, May 29, and the process of converting whey syrup into the purest kind of milk sugar is now in full operation. The equipment for utilizing the waste products and converting them into food for poultry, dog biscuits, and lactose vinegar are not completed.

The opening of this new industry is quite an advent in South Plainfield, and is bringing into life and utility a valuable property which has long been neglected.

The American Lactose company was incorporated in December, 1892, and owns valuable cheese factories in Western New York.

The company will be pleased to have the residents of Plainfield and vicinity inspect the refinery Saturdays after 1 p. m. Every courtesy will be shown by superintendent Charles Fertsch, or by resident director Albert S. Manning.

Make You Shiver in Warm Weather.

All the pictures to be shown at the Camera club entertainment Tuesday night in Music Hall, 100 in number, are made by the members from their own negatives. This set was selected from three hundred slides. All were run through the lantern several times while the members weeded out all except the very best. Thus the Plainfield club won the name of having the best set in the whole interchange.

Among those receiving special notice by the newspapers of the several cities in which they were shown, are some beautiful snow scenes, made by George H. Babcock.

Snow scenes are hard to handle, but these pictures are models of perfection and when thrown on the screen even on a warm night almost make one shiver.

The Misses Will Dance the Hornpipe.

A large attendance greeted the strawberry and ice-cream festival in Gesang and Turn Verein hall, last evening, under the auspices of St. Joseph's church. The hall was beautifully decorated with choice flowers, which sent a sweet perfume through the place.

The affair was in the hands of the Rev. Father Miller, who was kept busy seeing that all enjoyed themselves, as no doubt they did.

The ice-cream was in great demand, and was most tastefully served. Dancing was kept up till about 12. The festival will be in progress again this evening, when some fancy dancing will be indulged in. The Misses Boyce and Lanning will please the audience with their Spanish dance and hornpipe, and it is hoped a large patronage will be accorded.

Canker in Trouble Again.

A well-known gent about town named Canker Keeney was found at an early hour this morning, with his bed, in front of a house in Pruden's alley, from which he had been ejected on account of his boisterous behavior. "Mag" Bunworth, who keeps the house, requested him to take up his bed and walk, which he did, but only as far as the sidewalk, where he was cursing his fate and everybody who came within his line of vision besides. Judge Coddington concluded that 30 days vacation in the county jail would be sufficient time for him to get over his cantankerous feelings.

Plainfield Honors Peddie Institute.

At the commencement exercises of Peddie Institute at Hightstown, yesterday, Miss Mabel Coard, of East Ninth street, delivered with excellent effect her graduation essay on "Greek and Roman Models". In a class of twenty-one, her production ranked among the best of the programme, in the estimation of THE PRESS's special reporter.

Matthews After Gentle Willie.

James Matthews, who was fined $25 for cruelly beating his horse the other day, is endeavoring to get warrants for the arrest of William Ross and Gentle Willie Murphy on the grounds that these two have called him names injurious to his karacter.

To Lay the Corner-Stone.

The erection of the new Y. M. C. A. building has progressed so far that arrangements have been made to lay the corner-stone next Tuesday afternoon at 5:30. The address will be delivered by Mayor Gilbert.

A Cherry Tree Victim.

Little Frankie Houseman of Westervelt avenue fractured a wrist by falling from a cherry tree yesterday.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my business. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

Ernest Gabler & Co.
Began to make Pianos; skill and honesty and good material went into every instrument. It has been so ever since.
Experience and experiments have made the tone resonant, the touch smooth and sympathetic and the action perfect.
The large demand for the GABLER Pianos by the musicians of Newark and vicinity is in itself a guarantee of their quality. They are one of the few Pianos that NEVER WEAR OUT, and sell themselves. They have only to be seen to be appreciated.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,
And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves last but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.
Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America.

LIFE IN THE BOROUGH.

WHAT THE STROLLER FINDS TO TALK ABOUT.

Landslide at Smalley's—A Stony Brook Lake Advocated—Job Coddington's Weed Party—Lots of Strawberries, and the Price is Coming Down—Washington Valley Delights—Fishing by Search Light.

Widen Somerset street!

The work on the new school building goes merrily along.

A speak-easy is run Sundays up at Washington Rock.

The Warren Mission chapel is to be lighted by electricity.

Patrick Egan, of Mountain avenue, is assisting on road work.

Clarence Brokaw, the electric light inspector, is doing good duty.

The borough needs a bank. How many shares of stock do you want?

James Lynch is doing a brisk business at his new blacksmithy near Coddington's mills.

J. W. A. Bauersachs, the letter carrier, has purchased a neat cottage on Manning avenue.

Jacob Snyder, of Salvation Army fame, is peddling poke greens about the streets every day.

Merry-go-round on the hillside, with a harmonica chorus, is one of the latest attractions.

A debate on the Sherman silver bill is being agitated between Casper Ebener and Sine Coon.

"Darkest North Plainfield" is in Rape street. It is becoming overrun with colored people.

About 400 tons of stone of its own accord slid down in Smalley Bros' quarry the other day.

Special marshal James Stewart fell from a ladder the other day and nearly broke his neck.

Harrison street, Bull Frog City, is being put in fine condition by street commissioner Gavin.

Somerset street needs more rolling, and a light dressing of crushed stone. And it needs it at once!

Power for the Dunellen electric lights is furnished from the North Plainfield station on Race street.

Eight members of the Cracker Barrel club say they are going to the World's Fair early in September.

William L. Smalley, of Craig place, will reach his 75th birthday the 12th of next October. He is in good health.

The North Plainfield Elektric Light company's "hurry-up" wagon has lettering on its sides big enough to be read four miles away.

In a few more days, unless Somerset street is dressed with fine stone, it will have to be raked again and the loose big stones carted away.

A large number of farmers of Warren township are rushing in their strawberries these days. Prices will be lower, as there is a big crop.

Bill Giddis says the best way to tell where the best apples are in an orchard is to look around until you see plenty of stones and sticks underneath and up in the tree.

"Wally" Heidelolf's histrionic ambitions are about to be realized. He has joined an anvil chorus, and will play cymbal solos on a patent medicine wagon in the fall.

Abel Stewart, whose seventy-sixth birthday takes place next Christmas eve, has just finished putting a substantial walk and curbing about his neat little cottage, corner Park place and Vine street.

Why don't the authorities open up Duer street at the upper end? There is only a short distance to open, the land is owned by one individual, and the extension would meet the part already opened beyond that point up to Fritz avenue.

A feasible scheme, and one that would be of eternal benefit to the borough, is to lower the bed of Stony brook from the Sanitarium on down through John F. Wilson's land some eight or ten feet and use the gravel and stone taken therefrom to put the Grove street extension in good order.

The street railway people promised mayor Saunders before his departure for Europe that they would clean Somerset street thoroughly, but they have failed to do so. Instead, the borough authorities have raked all the stone off of the street, and carted it away. The company should be made to pay for this work.

An invigorating drive just now, for an evening, is up through the beautiful Washington Valley. The many well-kept farms seated in the lap of the two mountains are indeed a sight to behold. Fragrant natural perfumes fill the air, and the brass-band buzz of the mosquito is missed. A drive through this section is a sure cure for dyspepsia and the blues. Everybody likes nature, and up there she reigns supreme.

Jack Haberle and Firm Godown went spearing for fish last night in Stony brook. Jack carried an arc, and Firm toted a calcium light. They not only frightened all the fish in the brook but they scared old John Stine nearly to death. Lights and shadows flickered all about Green brook for hours, and had anyone blown a horn the inhabitants would surely have thought the judgment night had arrived. As fishermen and pretended lovers of the finny tribe the twain are urged to desist in using search lights when in pursuit of the innocent wee little pan fish.

A progressive euchre party is an event soon to take place in the Park.

Wm. Messersmith, of Jackson avenue, is raising strawberries as large as horse-chestnuts.

Rutgers V. Cadmus, of Greenbrook road, wants the electric railway to pass his property.

This town is being overrun with cheap life insurance solicitors. Where do they come from?

A new hose company composed of active young men would be an acquisition to the borough.

Park real estate is in demand. Lots are continually going up in price, and no houses go unrented there.

A squeaky, panicky melodeon is being pounded to death by its owner, and its demise is anxiously awaited by its nearby neighbors.

Edwin T. Phillips (Edwin Varrey) is at his well-stocked farm in Washington Valley after a busy theatrical season with Joseph Jefferson.

Den Sutphin intends giving an open-air concert in his barn at an early date. The prices for stalls, soap-boxes, etc., are suspended for the present.

A. J. Winckler, the builder, is erecting two cottages on Steiner place. This makes ten houses owned by Mr. Winckler, and they run up as high as $10,000 in price.

A few members of the Cracker Barrel club have made arrangements for the use of a fishing smack for a few weeks. They will start from Sewaren, and will be absent five days.

John C. Berry, of Craig place, who has great-grandchildren, is in his 87th year, and is still hale and hearty. He has been married sixty-three years, and his wife is still a very active woman.

An ex-official has often promised to give the village statesmen an outing. What 'e the matter with taking them up to Basking ridge? Charley Moore would take care of them after they were landed there.

Benjamin Arrowsmith Hegeman, jr., of the Park, will be the next candidate for mayor by the Republican party, if shoestrings lace up all right. Mr. Hegeman is a gentleman, a scholar, and a righteous good citizen.

I met Job Coddington the other day, and he informed me that he had been so busy fishing in the Raritan that the weeds had the best of everything that he had planted. But good-natured Job has a scheme, and he hopes it will work. It is to invite one or two friends up to visit him and then set them to work at the weeds. He says that is the way he used to be treated when he was invited to spend a few days on a farm in the good old long ago.

THE STROLLER.

How Plainfield Women May Ride Bicycles.

The Boston Transcript saw, a few days ago, a pretty girl, dressed in a pretty suit, riding a bicycle. There was nothing unusual about this fact, except that the girl wore Turkish trousers and black gaiters to the knees, instead of the flapping skirts which wheelwomen commonly deem it necessary to put on, and which always make their wheeling ridiculous. This lady's suit consisted of a white blouse waist, over which was an Eton jacket of cadet blue; full Turkish trousers, also of cadet blue; shoes with black gaiters to the knee, and a cap of cadet blue with a white band. Her movements were graceful, and if people looked at her a bit more than they ought it was to admire and commend. There was certainly nothing about the young lady's appearance or demeanor which was not modest and seemly. Why not replace skirts altogether in the riding, walking and other active out-of-door exercises which women, with the full approval and unanimous applause of their brethren, are engaging in more and more. There is no valid reason why it should not, except stupid prejudice.

Neaf Wins With Hands Down.

By a telegraphic despatch received by T. A. McCarthy, from Norfolk, Va., this morning, THE PRESS learns with pleasure that Plainfield's favorite sportsman, Neaf Apgar, yesterday won a match with an "Unknown" at 100 live birds each for $1,000 a side, as he expresses it with "hands down". The match was shot at Norfolk, Va., under Hurlingham rules, and was made by Wm. Ives, the celebrated Southern sportsman, who made it because he was so well pleased with Neaf's shooting quail in the South last fall as to warrant him beating the person who said he would shoot against any man in the country at live pigeons.

Can Sing and Eat as Well as Lay Brick.

Randolph Marsh, Deputy of Bricklayers' & Masons' Union No. 14, of Plainfield, was present at a meeting of the Somerville union, Tuesday night, and installed the newly-elected officers. There were 16 of the Plainfield members present at the meeting, and after the business was over they were the guests of the local union at a collation at Kenner's West End House. A grand time was had by all, and the members showed they were equally as much at home at speaking, singing and eating as they are at laying brick. The Somerville union was organized a little over a year ago with 11 members, and now numbers 36.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West front street. Price $1.00.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

PANAMA SENTENCES QUASHED.

PARIS, June 15.—The Court of Cessation has quashed the sentences in the Panama cases.

Eiffel has been liberated.

Charles DeLesseps has been told he is free.

He is too sick to leave the hospital.

The ground for the quashing was that that the statute of limitation covered the offenses.

MONMOUTH DISABLED.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The twin screw steamboat Monmouth of the Sandy Hook line was towed into the Central Railroad basin at Communipaw this morning.

She was disabled and her hull was badly battered. She had been in collision with another steamboat down the bay.

CAPT. MARTIN WILL APPEAL.

He Winked at the Jury and They Resented It.

The case of F. L. C. Martin vs. Annie Miller came up in justice Nash's court yesterday afternoon. Counselor Craig A. Marsh appeared for the plaintiff, and judge Coddington for the defendant. The facts in the case are that Mr. Martin rents a store at the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, of Miss Miller, and the contract in the lease called for the proper heating of the same, which the plaintiff claims was not fulfilled, and that from the 18th of April to the 4th of May his business was severely injured thereby. In fact, he claims that his loss would average $25 a day, and that there were times when he was obliged to close his store.

When plaintiff was on the stand, he evidently felt uncomfortable, for in answering questions, he continually winked at the jurors or those in the audience. On being asked his reason for doing so, he replied "for pleasure". That he did not help his case by such actions, the result shows, for after a trial of some length, the jurors retired and in a short time brought in a verdict of "no cause for action". Mr. Marsh will appeal.

Mr. Marsh took the verdict as a matter of course, and remarked that justice's court verdicts do n't settle anything. The whole thing has to be tried over again on appeal before another court and another jury at the county seat. Justice Nash's charge, he said, was perfectly fair to both sides.

TWO LIKELY TO DIE

Hungarian Strikers Worsted in a Fight With the Reading Police.

READING, PA., June 15.—About thirty Hungarian laborers, who struck at the Henry Clay furnace in this city, engaged in a riot and took forcible possession of the stack, where they stationed themselves on the top platform.

The city officials were notified and a sergeant with a force of men were sent to the scene of the disturbance. A desperate battle ensued, in which two of the foreigners received crushed skulls and are liked to die. The rioting continued for nearly an hour. Fourteen Hungarians were arrested and sent to jail and warrants have been issued for eight more, who are supposed to be hiding in the hills.

Several patrolmen were considerably bruised by flying stones.

FOUR WERE HURT

Section of a Wall That Was Being Demolished in Pittsburg Falls.

PITTSBURG, June 15.—A section of the west wall of the old postoffice building now in course of demolition fell about 10:30 o'clock a. m., carrying with it a scaffold on which were four men.

They were buried in the debris of brick and stone and were extricated with great difficulty.

Three were seriously injured, but it is thought all will recover.

Their names were James Garrow, Antonio Mugel and T. E. Owens. The building and site was recently sold to private parties.

Oh, What a Cough!

AN INTELLIGENT DOG.

Carries Electric Wires Through a Culvert with Great Skill.

The method adopted by the Crompton Electric Lighting company of London, England, in laying their connections consists in copper strips (technichally known as the "strip") conducted along the whole of their system in culverts underground. It is necessary to carry these strips through the culverts in lengths of about one hundred yards each, and they are laid four abreast. These strips are supported on transverse bars at intervals of ten yards. The difficulty and expense of laying these strips was a serious consideration for the company until it occurred to the foreman of the works that a terrier might be trained to carry a guide rope along the culverts, to the end of which the strip could be attached, and then easily drawn through. He had in his possession a broken-haired fox-terrier bitch about nine months old, which he immediately began to train for the business. To induce a terrier to travel one hundred yards underground is not such a very difficult task, but it must be remembered that at every ten yards came the transverse supports, and it was necessary for her to jump over these every time until she could be depended upon to jump over every support without fail, else she was useless for the work in hand, and herein lay the great difficulty in her education. However, by patience and perseverance on the part of her master, aided by the naturally honorable disposition of Strip, perfection was reached and she never makes a single mistake now. Working in the dark culverts, she can be implicitly trusted to assist the company in her department, and has laid many miles of wires both in London and Brighton.

STRIP IN THE BOX AT THE END OF THE CULVERT.

And the company, recognizing the value of a good servant, pays her good wages, which she receives every Saturday morning along with the other employes of the company. Strip is purely a scientific dog and will not condescend, on any terms, to the frivolities usually affected by her species. Rats are treated with scorn, cats are unnoticed and larks generally are tabooed. She is creating quite a stir in the electrical world at the present time.

CAN A HORSE THINK?

Before Answering the Question Read This Little Story.

A few days ago, while walking through Arch street, Boston, just at the hour when empty trucks are standing there, when the horses are struggling to get their oats out of these detestable nose-bags—while the drivers are off eating their dinner—I noticed a truck horse uneasily turning and twisting his head from side to side as if in search of somebody or something. I watched him for a moment or two, and concluding that the nose-bag had become disarranged was about to cross the street to see if I could readjust it. As I stepped forward the horse seemed to have been struck with a new idea. He lifted his head and for a moment looked steadily up the street in front of him. Suddenly his whole aspect changed. He shook himself, gave a snort of satisfaction as if he had discovered what he had been looking for, and with his head high in the air and his ears pricked up he moved briskly forward. Much interested I followed him. Arrived at the corner of Franklin street he deliberately halted at the tail of an empty truck standing there, and resting his nose-bag upon it, contentedly finished his oats. — Alice Cowan, in Wide Awake.

Some Mixed Metaphors.

In a recent lecture in London, Sir John Lubbock gave some interesting reminiscences of mixed metaphors perpetrated by speakers in the house of commons, by which he showed that Scotchmen at times are able to compete in funny blunders with Irishmen. He recalled one speech by a solemn Highlander, in which he gravely informed the house that a certain appropriation for the Afghan war was a "mere flea-bite in the ocean," while another Scotch member remarked that "you may depend on it, sir, the pale face of the British soldier is the backbone of the Indian army."

Gen. Custer's Prescription.

Gen. Custer, who died like the gallant soldier he was, had a great belief in the power of music. He thought it lightened labor and refreshed the body after a day's toil. One day Gen. Custer's band reported itself too tired to play for the evening concert which the general always gave his troops. "Then send them out to repair the road!" he ordered. "If the musicians are too tired to play, a change of work will rest them." When the musicians heard the order, they suddenly decided that they were not too tired to play for the regiment, and, after that, Gen. Custer always had music without complaint.

Set Him Right.

Geo. Augustus Sala, the well-known English writer, on his last Australian trip wrote as follows to The London Daily Telegraph:

"I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medico indeed, who tended me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the Tropics, and, in particular, a couple of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS clapped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

INQUEST STARTS AGAIN

The Washington Coroner Himself Conducts It.

ALL DIFFICULTIES ARE OVERCOME

The Decision of the Court that the Deputy Coroner's Work Was Illegal Caused a Little Trouble—The District Attorney to Assist the Disabled Doctor.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The decision of Chief Justice Bingham on the petition of Col. Ainsworth seemed to have brought matters down to the very simple basis of requiring Dr. Patterson, the Coroner of the District of Columbia, to proceed with the inquest over the Ford theatre victims in place of Dr. Schaeffer, whose assumption of powers as deputy coroner had been declared illegal by the District Supreme Court.

Two very serious impediments to a speedy inquest were thought to have been interposed, the simpler of which is the viewing of the body of one of the victims by the coroner's jury. As all that Dr. Schaeffer has done is robbed of legal effect by the Chief Justice's decision, a new jury must be summoned and the body of a victim viewed. Hugh T. Taggart, assistant District Attorney, who represented the Government at the illegal inquest, said that the legal requirement with regard to the presence of the body at the inquest was indisputable, and that he thought a body of one of the victims would have to be exhumed and viewed by the new jury.

The most serious impediment in the way of speedy disposition of the matter by a coroner's jury rested for settlement partly with Coroner Patterson. After the accident on Friday Dr. Patterson asked Dr. Shaeffer to act for him at the inquest. Dr. Patterson said he was physically unable to conduct the inquest. His health was poor, he said, and his hearing imperfect.

Dr. Patterson is very deaf and has reached old age, and for some time past Dr. Shaeffer has acted for him in important cases. In at least seven cases persons have been committed for manslaughter or murder on the warrant of Dr. Shaeffer assuming to act as deputy coroner. All these commitments are now, of course, pronounced illegal, and the beginning only is seen of the entanglements that will result therefrom.

According to the decision of Chief Justice Bingham, the coroner alone can act at inquests, and it followed that if Dr. Patterson was unable through disability to conduct the inquest over the old theatre victims and refused to resign his office, a very embarassing state of affairs would ensue.

The authorities and reporters, however, were piling up difficulties unnecessarily for the Commissioners of the District decided to hold a new inquest, and thus directed Mr. Thomas, the attorney for the District, to assist Coroner Patterson in conducting it. In view of Dr. Patterson's disability the Commissioners thought seriously of appointing a new coroner, but on Dr. Patterson's statement that he could conduct the inquest if Mr. Thomas were allowed to assist him, the inquest was ordered. It was also ascertained, moreover, that the bodies of Messrs. Lothrop and Gilbert, the victims, were still in the vault at Glenwood Cemetery, and the officers of the cemetery were directed not to inter them without permission of the coroner.

Dr. Patterson decided to re-summon the old jury, Messrs. Warner, Harvey, Ayre, Kellogg, Schneider and Sibley. One of the bodies at Glenwood was viewed by the jury this morning and will begin anew this afternoon.

FLED FROM THE TOWN

Postmaster Woolley Leaves Behind Him a Shortage of $2,000.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 15.— ostmaster Charles B. Woolley, who was appointed three years ago to the postmastership of Long Branch City, has disappeared.

Assistant Inspector Pawham, of New York, has been examining Woolley's accounts during the past week and has discovered a shortage of $2,080 in the money order department. Woolley's bondsmen are W. H. Woolley, W. R. Joline, William R. Mapk, A. P. Cubberley, James Newbold and Charles Valentine, who qualified for $10,000.

Bondsman Joline is now in charge of the office. The wife of the missing postmaster offered her real estate to protect the bondsmen.

Cadets Failed to Pass.

WEST POINT, June 15.—As the result of last week's examination relative to the respective qualifications of the cadets, three in the third and eight in the old fourth classes were found deficient and discharged, and eight were turned back to join the new fourth class. No official information has as yet been received at headquarters from the War Department relative to the corps of cadets going to the World's Fair.

A Worthless Bank Manager.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 15.—State Bank Commissioner Breidenthal, who has recently made an examination into the affairs of the Bank of Burr Oak, which failed last Saturday, declares that Manager Hurlburt, of the bank, conducted its affairs in such a manner as to send him to the penitentiary. Hurlburt disappeared the day after the failure, leaving a wife and two children behind and cannot be found.

Plainfield, N. J., March 9, 1893.

AN ORDINANCE

to divide into two Election Districts both the First and Second wards of the city of Plainfield.

Whereas on December fifth, eighteen hundred and ninety-two the common council received official notice that at the last general election held in the city of Plainfield more than six hundred votes were cast in each of said wards. Now therefore pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided;

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield by their common council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the First ward of the city of Plainfield is hereby divided into two election districts to be known hereafter respectively as: The First Election District of the First ward, and the Second Election District of the First ward.

Section 2. That the First Election District of the First ward shall include all the territory and inhabitants thereof contained in that portion of the First ward situate on the southwestern side of the centre lines of Richmond street and Norwood avenue.

Section 3. That the Second Election District of the First ward shall include all the territory and inhabitants thereof contained in that portion of the First ward situate on the northeasterly side of the centre lines of Richmond street and Norwood avenue.

Section 4. That the Second ward of the city of Plainfield is hereby divided into two election districts to be known hereafter respectively as: The First Election District of the Second ward and the Second Election District of the Second ward.

Section 5. That the First Election District of the Second ward shall include all the territory and inhabitants thereof contained in that portion of the Second ward, situate on the southwesterly side of a line beginning at the intersection of the centre line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey; thence along said centre line of Woodland avenue and the centre line of Rahway road to the city line.

Section 6. That the Second Election District of the Second ward shall include all the territory and inhabitants thereof contained in that portion of Second ward, situate on the northeasterly side of a line beginning at the intersection of the centre line of Berckman street with the centre line of the Central railroad of New Jersey; thence along said centre line of Berckman street and the continuation thereof to the centre line of Woodland avenue; thence along said centre line of Woodland avenue and the centre line of Rahway road to the city line.

Section 7. That the Second Election District of the Second ward shall include all the territory and inhabitants thereof contained in that portion of Second ward, situate on the northeasterly side of a line beginning at the intersection of the centre line of Berckman street with the centre line of the Central railroad of New Jersey; thence along said centre line of Berckman street and the continuation thereof to the centre line of Woodland avenue; thence along said centre line of Woodland avenue and the centre line of Rahway road to the city line.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May 22, 1893.

AN ORDINANCE

To widen Madison avenue from the Southeasterly side line of West Front street to the Northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

WHEREAS, The common council judge that it is the public good requires the widening of Madison avenue between the points named in the title to the ordinance; therefore,

Section 1. That Madison avenue in the city of Plainfield from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey be widened and laid out so that Madison avenue shall be of the uniform width of seventy-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which said centre line is described as follows: Beginning at a point in the centre line of said Madison avenue, where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of West Front street as now laid out and opened, said point being distant thirty-two and fifty-four one-hundredths (32.54) feet in a magnetic course of south forty-two degrees and twenty-four minutes east (s. 42 degrees 24 minutes e.) from an iron monument at the intersection of the centre lines of said Madison avenue and West Front street, running from said first mentioned point south forty-two degrees and twenty-four minutes east (s. 42 degrees 24 minutes e.) distance of five hundred and seventy-five and forty-nine one-hundredths (575.49) feet to a point in said centre line, in the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

The land to be taken for the widening of Madison avenue on the northeasterly side of the same from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to said line of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey includes all that part of the property of Samuel Dreier, Henry Fiker, Charles E. Austin, Theodore J. Gillies, Julia A. Rogers and the Plainfield Electric Light Company which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said avenue as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said avenue and distant therefrom twenty-five feet (25 ft.) in a northeasterly direction.

TRUTH ABOUT THE BICYCLE.

It will give you health and strength, make your food digest easily, enlarge your views of men and things and add to life a zest it has never known. Perhaps you think it is hard to ride. It is not. THE GERMAN ELECTIONS

Reports So Far Indicate Government Losses.

BIG INCREASE OF SOCIALIST VOTE

In Berlin They Have Gained Over 20,000—Great Interest Shown By the Laboring Men in the Result—Results Announced in Crowded Beer Gardens.

BERLIN, June 16.—This morning, returns of the election from 70 districts indicate that 36 have been carried by parties opposed to the Army bill, and 19 are in doubt between the government and the opposition parties, with the chances in the majority of them strongly in favor of the government.

The government parties have lost three of their former seats, two to the Richterists, or Social Democrats, as the second ballots shall decide, and one to a South German Democrat. The government has won one seat from the opposition. The Social Democrats have won two seats besides having secured many chances for new victories in the second ballot.

A curious feature of their two accomplished victories in new fields is that they won at the expense of the Richter Radicals, also enemies of the Army bill, and not, as was expected, at the expense of the National Liberals, the friends of the bill. Although the Social Democratic gains are undoubtedly enormous, they will not prove so large probably as the reports so far have indicated.

The returns from the cities come in first and it is in the cities that the Social Democratic candidate always run best. The Socialist vote in Berlin foots up 20,000 over the vote of 1890. They have been equally successful in Hamburg and Altona.

At this time it is figured that at least 45 districts will have to re-ballot.

Very few voters went to the polls before noon. At that hour, when the workmen left the factories and other places where they were employed, they walked in groups to the voting stations and deposited their ballots. Groups of the men surrounded the election posters searching for information as to where the stations at which they were to vote were located.

There are 628 stations in the city, 500 of them being in taverns and restaurants, while the remaining 128 are in school buildings and vestry halls.

Chancellor von Caprivi and Dr. von Boetticher, Secretary of the Imperial Home Office, both voted at the Kaiserhof station.

They apparently believed in depositing their ballots as soon as possible, for they were among the earliest voters at the polls.

All the officials attached to the postoffice received five hours' leave of absence in order that they might vote. Arrangements were made by which the firemen also and the men employed on the tramway and omnibus lines might go to the polls in relays. Each relay was allowed two hours for voting purposes.

A number of men and women gathered at 8 o'clock in the morning at the Bock brewery, the headquarters of the Socialists in the second district, where Fischer ran. They devoted themselves to receiving orders for electoral tickets, while others scattered leaflets in behalf of the party broadcast.

The Socialists displayed more activity than any of the other political groups. Women were as deeply interested in the success of the Social Democratic candidates as the men of the party, and they labored in every way to aid the candidates.

At the headquarters of the Executive Committee telegram after telegram brought news of Social Democratic gains. An enormous vote evidently was being polled for Socialist candidates in the Rhine provinces, Saxony, Hamburg, Frankfort-on-the-Main and other industrial centers. Paul Singer, Socialist candidate in the Sixth district, were reported as sure of being returned by heavy majorities.

The Socialists were also confident that they would capture the Third Berlin district on the first poll, as at the last election they lacked only a few votes of electing their candidate. In this district Herr Vogtherr ran in the Socialist interest. Fischer, Socialist, in the Second district, and Liebknecht, Socialist, in the Fifth district, were regarded as likely to be elected on a reballot.

In Hamburg the balloting promises to result in the return of three Socialists Konigsburg city was doubtful, but the Socialists there said probably Herr Schulize, their candidate would be elected on a re-ballot. Herr Krupp, National Liberal, running in Essen against Editor Stoecker, a member of the Lieber wing of the Centre party, was said not to be getting the support he expected. Dr. Stoecker, anti-Semite at Siegen, Baron Hammerstein, Conservative at Siegen-Herford, and Eugene Richter, at Hagen, are reported as sure of their seats.

The Agrarians were highly elated when they learned that Count Herbert Bismarck had run so unexpectedly well in the Jerichow district that a re-ballot would probably be necessary. The general expectation was that Count Herbert would be beaten easily by his free trade antagonist. Reports bring equally surprising news from the First Berlin district, where Col. von Egidy, anti-Semite, was said to be polling a very heavy vote among the wealthiest and best educated voters. His candidacy was ridiculed during the campaign by all the Liberal newspapers. The fight was supposed to lie between his Socialist and Richterist opponents. Not a small part of Col. von Egidy's anti-Semitic support is due to the efforts which Berlin society women have made in his interest. Curiously enough many Jews from the Bourse also supported him.

Between 4 and 6 o'clock the heat increased almost beyond endurance in the street. The beer halls and cafes became crowded with men anxious to get the first news from the polls, and enormous quantities of beer and wine were drunk. All the workingmen left the shops shortly after 4 o'clock. As first they thronged the streets near the polling stations, then, as evening came on, they joined the endless procession to the beer houses. They preserved everywhere perfect order.

Ex-Minister Phelps' Prediction.

NEW YORK, June 16.—William Walter Phelps, the retiring Minister from the United States to Germany, who arrived in this country yesterday on the Spree, gave out the following: "I think the election in Germany will go against the Kaiser and that means the defeat of the Army bill. If this be done the Kaiser will doubtless dissolve the Reichstag and order another election."

JOSE CORREIRO'S GUILT

He Has Virtually Confessed the Manchester Murder.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 16.—It has been authoritatively stated by the police officials that there is no reason to doubt the guilt of Jose Correiro, who stands accused of murdering Bertha M. Manchester, on Memorial Day. This statement is made, not for the purpose of creating a sensation, but to allay the excitement in the community.

The watch stolen by Correiro has been found and is now in the hands of the authorities. It was found within three fourths of a mile of the scene of the murder, in a spot where it had been hidden by the prisoner, who directed the authorities to its hiding place.

The only evidence of guilt found on the prisoner was a blood spot on his shirt, hardly an eighth of an inch in diameter, but among those whose positions make their statements reliable, it is said that Correiro has virtually made a confession. He does not acknowledge, of course, that the brutal murder was in any way premeditated, but it resulted from the strong, passionate fight made by the victim.

WHISKEY TRUST'S TROUBLES

Attorney-General of Illinois Proposes to Attack the Individual Companies.

PEORIA, Ill., June 16.—The Attorney-General proposes to strike the Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company a blow through the individual companies forming the trust. President Greenhut confirms the report that steps have been taken to bring suit against each distilling company in Illinois that sold out to the trust.

The charters have never been annulled, and through their forfeit it is hoped to dissolve the company itself. Mr. John S. Stephens does not consider the prosecution will be effective. Had proceedings been instituted at a time when the companies were doing business as a trust, their charters must have been forfeited, but three years ago they sold out to the distilling company. The withdrawing distillers now think they have a sure thing on the return of their property.

The additional proceedings, together with Judge McConnell's trust decision, they think, will do the work. Considerable significance is attached to the bonds for the mortgage covering them is a first lien on the property.

NO NEWS OF WOOLEY

The Defaulting Postmaster's Friends Say He Has Suicided.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 16.—No tidings have been received from Charles B. Wooley, the postmaster at Long Branch City, who disappeared last Monday evening when Postoffice Inspector Parkham discovered a shortage of $2,000 in his accounts. It is believed that the man committed suicide.

Several of Wooley's bondsmen say that they will not make good the shortage, as they claim that it is due to the negligence of the Department in not compelling the postmaster to make his reports every two weeks as required.

Several of Wooley's friends here offer to make good the deficiency if he will return. They have so advertised in the New York papers.

THE VIKING SHIP

She is Now High and Dry at Newport—To be Newly Rigged.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 16.—The viking ship is to-day high and dry on the bar at the lower end of the torpedo station, and the sailors there, together with the vessel's own crew, are scraping the entire vessel inside and out, all the stores and fixtures having been removed.

It was intended to take her out upon the ways at the torpedo station, but the boat is of too great beam to be accommodated there. She has been entirely stripped of her sea rigging and when she is floated her crew will begin rigging in true Viking style.

The work of rigging will be proceeded with while on the trip down to New York.

YOUNG PRIEST DROWNED

Father McKenna Attempted to Rescue His Cousin.

SHE BORE HIM UNDER WITH HER

They Had Been Out Boating in the Hudson River and Had Returned to the Shore—No Help Was at Hand to Help the Struggling Pair.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Rev. Father Charles B. McKenna, 26 years old, a young priest attached to St. Ann's church, was drowned in the North river last evening while trying to make a landing with a row boat at the foot of West 101st street. His cousin, Mrs. Margaret Burchall, 22 years old, formerly Miss Margaret Curley, of Homestead, Pa., who had accompanied him, was also drowned. The search for the bodies is being continued this morning.

Father McKenna and his cousin left the landing at the foot of 101st street at about two o'clock in the afternoon. They returned at five o'clock.

Mrs. Burchall got out of the boat and then stepped back again probably for a satchel she had left behind. In doing so she was thrown into the water. She could not swim and the young priest, casting off a long linen duster which he wore, dived in after her. He caught hold of her hair and endeavored to swim to the float with her, but she threw her arms around his neck and made his efforts powerless.

A strong tide carried them out into the river and they finally sank out of sight. An employe of a boat club near by saw the fatal accident. He could not swim and before he could row in a boat to their assistance the priest and the woman had disappeared.

Father McKenna was born in this city and was educated at the Manhattan College and at the Catholic Seminary in Troy, N. Y. He was much beloved by his friends and was very popular in his parish.

On Jan. 4, 1891, young McKenna, then but 18 years old distinguished himself by saving his sister and two little brothers from being burned to death in a fire which occurred in his parents' house. In recognition of this brave act the fire department awarded him a gold medal.

NEW POSTMASTERS

The Fourth-class Mill Ground Out 126 Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed was 126 of which 53 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death.

Among the appointments were the following:

Connecticut—D. Smith Scholes, Ridgefield.

Massachusetts—Arthur W. Gibbs, Huntington.

New York—Roswell K. Palmerton, Cannonsville; Wm. C. Schoolcraft, Meadowdale; John R. Sullivan, Oswego Falls.

Pennsylvania—Jacob Fisher, Advance; John L. Harper, Dormantown; James M. Tracy, East Smithport; Mrs. Lucy Davis, Kunice; Mrs. Rose S. Murray, Kinzua; H. J. Austin, Thodoughton; George Varner, Vinco; William Fisher, Woodlyn; C. E. Chapel, Youngsville.

COUNTING THE MONEY

The Reserve Fund Notes Were All Found—Now for the Specie.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The committee which is counting the cash in the Treasury completed the counting of the reserve and found it to be correct. They were engaged in this work 14 days, and during that time counted notes aggregating $14,000,000.

This morning the committee is counting the silver in the vaults, which the statement shows amounts to $349,000,000. The silver is in bags and each is weighed. If any are short of weight each piece of silver is counted.

New York Health Report.

NEW YORK, June 16. — The Health Board has made public its report for the quarter ended March 31. The number of deaths during that time was 11,344, which exceeded that of any corresponding quarter during the last four years, being larger even by 372 than during the first quarter of 1890, when the influenza was epidemic. The three principal infectious diseases—diphtheria, measels and scarlet fever—show considerable disease. Whooping cough and typhus have increased. There were 349 less births and 96 more marriages than during the same quarter last year.

Naval Reserve Bill Reconsidered.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 16.—The House reconsidered its action in passing the bill creating the battalion of naval reserve, and it was indefinitely postponed. The Good Roads bill, which provides for a highway commissioner and the building of five miles of good macadam road in each county at an estimated cost of over $200,000, was killed. In the Senate, after a long discussion, the bills providing for a constitutional convention were postponed until next Tuesday.

RESCUED BY YALE

Columbia's Boat Upset and the Men in Danger of Drowning.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 16.—While the Columbia crew were on the Thames yesterday engaged in practicing and coming down the river at a lively pace, the canvas in the bow of the boat burst. The boat's head went under the water immediately and the shell swamped.

All the crew were in the water in a moment, and several of them not being able to swim were in danger of drowning.

Luckily, Yale's launch came along, and in a few moments had rescued the nine men, most of whom were pretty well used up. They were landed at the Thames Naval station.

The crew has already sent to New York for a new boat.

THE DE LESSEPS FREE

Court of Cassation Quashes the Sentences in the Panama Cases.

PARIS, June 16.—Considerable excitement has been caused by the decision of the Court of Cassation on the appeal of Charles de Lesseps and the other defendants convicted of fraud in connection with the Panama Canal Company.

The court handed down its decision quashing the sentences on the ground that the statute of limitations covered the offences charged, and that the indictment on which the prisoners were tried was irregular.

In consequence of this decision M. Eiffel was at once liberated from prison. M. Charles de Lesseps, who is in the St. Louis hospital suffering with an acute attack of dyspepsia, was informed that he was at liberty, but he was too ill to leave the hospital.

South Atlantic Fisheries.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The report on the fisheries of the South Atlantic States shows that in 1890 the number of persons engaged in the fisheries in this section was 16,001, the amount of capital invested was $1,698,336 and the value of the products $1,578,704. The shad is by far the most important single object of capture, after which come oysters, alewives and mullet. The value of these four items is $1,036,285, a sum twice as large as that accruing from the sale of all the other products combined.

The Supreme Treasurer Missing.

BOSTON, June 16.—Receiver Trask of the Order of Unity has discovered a defalcation in the treasury accounts of the order amounting to between $18,000 and $20,000. He also reports the destruction or concealment of important books and vouchers. Charles A. Kimpton, Supreme Treasurer of the order, through whose hands all the money passed, has been missing from his residence in Somerville for nearly a fortnight and cannot be found.

The Archbishop Does Not Believe It.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 16.—Archbishop Ireland was shown the despatch from Rome which said that the Pope had issued an order that in the diocese of St. Paul, the clergy must instruct Catholic and Protestant children alike without exacting from the Protestants a promise to become Catholics. Archbishop Ireland said that such an order would be absurd, and that no such order had been or would be issued.

Held for the Grand Jury.

BUFFALO, N. Y. June 16.—Mrs. Mina Brose, the keeper of the "fence" raided by the police last week in which $12,000 worth of stolen goods were found, and Andrew J. Morse, the alleged attorney who has passed as her husband, were arraigned in police court yesterday on the charges of grand larceny and receiving stolen goods. They waived examination, and were held for the grand jury.

The Caravels at Quebec.

L'ISLET STATION, Que., June 16.—The Spanish caravels reached here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The village was splendidly decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the event, and as the vessels came into port they were saluted by volleys of musketry and cannon.

Their Demurrers Overruled.

BOSTON, June 16.—In the United States Circuit Court, Judge Putnam overruled the demurrer filed by ex-director Jonas H. French and ex-cashier Work, of the Maverick bank, to the indictment found against them by the grand jury, and they will be arraigned June 29 in this court.

Money Stringency Effects Mining.

BELLAIRE, O., June 16.—Several coal mines have been closed down, throwing 1,000 men out of employment. The reason for the cessation of work is said to be due to the inability of the operators to make collections, some accounts as far back as January being still unsettled.

The President Indisposed.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The President is indisposed—not seriously, so it is said—but still sufficiently under the weather to make it desirable that he should remain at his country residence at Wooley instead of encountering the heat and turmoil of the city and the office-seekers.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The steamer Falcon has sailed from St. Johns, N. F., for Philadelphia, to take the Peary expedition to Greenland. She is fully equipped.

The shipments of currency to the West from New York yesterday amounted to only $400,000, of which $400,000 was obtained at the Sub-Treasury in exchanges.

Patrick S. Sagurton, a farmer, 25 years old, after several unsuccessful attempts, committed suicide by hanging at his home at Tinton Falls, a village near Red Bank, N. J.

The Pennsylvania is preparing to equip its big depot in Jersey City with an elaborate fire hydrant system that will do away with to a great extent the tedious labors of the fire brigade.

General Passenger Agent Roberts, of the Erie, who has returned from Chicago, declares that he voices the sentiments of many of his brother passenger agents in saying that a one-way rate for round trip to the Fair is desirable.

MISS BORDEN'S TRIAL

The Defence Proceeding Rapidly With Its Case.

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR PRISONER

Dr. Handy Testified That He Saw a Mentally Disturbed Man Near the House on the Morning of the Murder—Mr. Jennings' Opening Speech to the Jury—The Accused Woman Wept.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Junes 16.—The court room was again packed at the opening of the eleventh day of the Borden case. The prisoner was early in her place, and appeared cheerful. More than half the spectators were women.

The first witness called yesterday was Charles H. Sawton, a New Bedford druggist.

The defence vigorously contested every point of the government's testimony of the prisoner's attempt to purchase prussic acid. Mr. Lawton testified that he knew of no other than medicinal purposes for which prussic acid is used.

Henry H. Tillson, of New Bedford, in the hat, cap and fur business, testified: He cared for the furs of others as well as his own; he devoted some of his time also to preserving furs. He was asked if prussic acid was ever used in the care of furs, but his answer was objected to by the defence and ordered stricken out. He had no knowledge of the effect of the acid on furs.

Nathaniel Hathaway, analytical chemist, New Bedford, was next called. He was acquainted with prussic acid in both forms; it is usually sold in two per cent solution. He was asked about the suitability of the drug in connection with furs, and the question was objected to. The court considered the question a very broad one, and the matter was ruled out.

After consultation the Justices excluded the evidence of attempted purchases of prussic acid. After introduction of exhibits the Commonwealth rested its case and recess for fifteen minutes was taken.

During the recess the prisoner talked earnestly with Mrs. Fessenden, of Boston, the first lady who has spoken to her in the court room.

The prisoner sat with her face buried in her handkerchief during counsel's plea. After distinguishing circumstantial from direct evidence and illustrating the dangerous character of circumstantial evidence, he said every link in the government's chain of evidence must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, including motive, weapon, exclusive opportunity and intent. The defence would show the relation between the father and daughter which excluded motive for killing him, and the motive to kill the mother alone would not be enough, for the government claimed that the same person killed both. He claimed that the weapon had not been connected with the defendant. Exclusive opportunity would be negatived by showing that other people were around at the time of the murder; that others entered the barn before the officer who testified that its floor was covered with dust and that the burned dress was covered with paint, and was not worn on the day of the murder.

Martha Chagnon was the first witness called for the defence. She testified that at 11 o'clock on the night before the murder she heard noise like the pounding on wood in the direction of the Borden fence; continued for five minutes.

Cross-examined by Mr. Knowiton: noise seemed to come from that direction but the windows were closed and witness made no investigation.

Mrs. Chagnon confirmed her stepdaughter's testimony about the noise; cross-examined, first thought it sounded like a dog.

John W. Gronard testified that he painted the Borden house in May, 1892, and he thought that the prisoner was in the vicinity of the paint tubs.

In the afternoon Dr. Benjamin Handy testified that he passed the Borden house between 10:20 and 10:40 on the morning of the murder and saw medium-sized man of pale complexion with eyes fixed on the sidewalk. He was in the street between the Borden and Kelly house, and attracted witness' attention by his strange actions. On cross-examination: The man was walking slowly away from the Borden house; seemed mentally agitated.

Jerome T. Borden testified that he entered the Borden front door without difficulty the day after the murder.

Walker P. Stevens, reporter of the Fall River News, testified that he went into the Borden barn immediately after the murder and heard three people talking in the loft. Cross-examined—Made a search of the yard with no result; tried the cellar door and found it fastened before he went to the barn.

FALL RIVER, June 16.—A boy of the name of Potter, son of C. C. Potter, clerk in the Fall River Water Works office, while looking for a ball, found a hatchet on the top of John Crowe's barn, which is located just in the rear of the Borden property.

Mr. Potter reported his find to the police. He still has the hatchet in his possession, and describes it as an ordinary implement, with hammer head. The handle was weather-beaten, and the blade covered with rust.

Some of the particles of rust being removed, a slight coloring of gilt was disclosed, which would either indicate that the hatchet was at one time used as an ornament or was quite new when lost or discarded.

There have been no electric linemen upon the roof of the barn where the hatchet was found since Aug 1.

Indiana Bank Assigns.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 16.—The Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank at Fairmount, Grant county, just north of here closed its doors yesterday and assigned to Phillip Matthew, of Marion, Ind. Quite a crowd of farmers rushed for the bank and threatened to use dynamite under it. Alpheus Henley, J. E. Winslow and Levi Scott are the officers of the bank. It had a paid-up capital of $50,000 with a surplus of $5,000 at last report.

More Trouble in Samoa.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Advices received by Secretary Gresham from Samoa are to the effect that affairs there have reached a crisis and it may be that the United States will again be obliged to intervene between the parties.

Death of an Old Preacher.

TROY, N. Y., June 16.—The death of Rev. Cyrus Meeker, the oldest preacher in the Troy Methodist Conference, occurred yesterday at his home in Buskirks. He was in his 94th year. He joined the New York Conference in 1826.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Rain; Increasing Northeast Winds To-Morrow.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Reserve July 11 for the M. E. excursion to Asbury Park.

—Perseverance Lodge, 74, K. of P., will meet for the purpose of electing officers this evening.

—The hardware stores will close at 7 every evening, beginning next Monday, till the middle of September.

—The Street Railway company are to-day stretching new guard wires from their newly-set poles on Watchung avenue.

—Two more bicyclists were caught riding without lights, last night, on Liberty street. One paid his $1 fine, and the other has not yet come up before the judge.

—Madam Isa Lezem has arranged the dances for the St. Mary's school commencement, to be held June 29, in Music Hall. They will be original, and well worth the admission.

—Manager Keller says: "If Sneden does n't pitch good ball on Saturday we 're licked". He furthermore says the Patersons are as strong a team as the Crescents can get to battle with this season.

—William Kelly, of Florida orange fame, is about to remove his house on North Front street to a site on Elm place near the brook, so as to clear the way for the Westervelt avenue improvement.

—The members of Franklin council, 41, will attend the anniversary of Somerset council, 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., of North Plainfield, this evening. The members of Franklin will wear their fatigue caps.

—The Plainfield Bi. Club base-ball team will play with the Dunellen nine on the Lincoln school-house grounds to-morrow. The Dunellens beat the Jr. O. U. A. M. team last week by the score of 26 to 10.

—The two nights' festival for the benefit of the Mt. Pleasant chapel closed last evening. It was held on the lawn adjoining Mr. Forrest's residence, and was largely attended. The net proceeds will foot up to something like $50.

—Elizabeth city is to have a grand Fourth of July celebration. Plainfield is dead to the world on such a patriotic subject. Her representatives are too busy tearing up streets and cutting down trees that for a century have been an ornament.

—Messrs. Hammeal & Ruppert will open to-morrow morning a first-class meat market at 114 North avenue. The store has been thoroughly renovated and refitted and only the best of meat will be kept on hand. All orders will be promptly delivered.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The family of Gen. Negley have returned to their West Seventh street residence.

Mrs. Chester B. Dennis and little daughter, of LaGrande avenue, are visiting Mr. Dennis's parents at Bloomsbury, for two weeks.

A very pretty lawn party was held at the residence of Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth, Eighth street, yesterday afternoon. The lawn was neatly decorated, and the attendance was large.

Each Programme Bore a Rose.

Their last social of the season was give in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church last evening, a very large audience being present. A pleasant feature of the event was the informal and happy method in which everything was conducted.

Small cards containing the programme, with a rose attached, were distributed as favors.

The Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor, was master of ceremonies, and announced the various numbers, as follows:

Duet—"Etoile de Lyn",
Miss Herring and Miss Remsen
Recitation—Selected.....Miss Staats
Piano Solo—"Brier Rose"....Miss M. Vermeule
Vocal Solo—"Marry". "The Pigs Went to Market".....Miss Weaver
Recitation—Selected.....Miss Staats
Solo and Chorus—"Lovely Roses",
The Misses Beadle Blair, Vermeule, Petrie, Herring, Blair, and Messrs. Tom Blair, Charles Hazeltine, Frank Fiannery.
Miss Bessie Blair sang the solo part.

After this pleasing entertainment, the ladies served ice-cream and cake, and all participated in a general good time.

Leo Smith Not to Leave the Crescents.

An item in this morning's New York Sun stated that Leo Smith, the Crescents' shortstop, was to go to Buffalo. A PRESS reporter investigated, and learned that Smith had received two telegrams from Chapman of the Buffalos, one from Burham of Providence, and another from "Pat" Powers, of Jersey City. Powers wanted Smith to meet him at Taylor's hotel, last night, but he did not go. Smith says he wants $1,000 to play in the Eastern league for the balance of the season, and $995 of it in advance. He will stay in Plainfield.

A Sprightly Octogenarian.

FARMER WAGENER'S WILD VISIONS.

HE WON'T TOUCH A SCHEME UNLESS A MILLION'S IN IT.

Just Now He Wants $4,000,000,000 to Repair What a D. L. and W. Railroad Brakeman Has Impaired.

Farmer Jephtha A. Wagener, from over the mountain, is almost a daily visitor at THE PRESS office, with some scheme to ventilate. He recently sued the Delaware Lackawanna and Western railroad company for $8,000,000 damages for being put off a train in motion at Stirling Station, N. J., and got a verdict of $100 from a farmer jury, and now he is in a fresh peck of trouble. He declares that the lawyer who engineered the case for him kept the $100 as payment. Mr. Wagener's accident happened in this way: The brakeman pushed him off just as the train started, fearing that he would be killed if he wasn't put off. Wagener had caught hold of the railing of the rear car and attempted to board it. This was in October last.

Farmer Wagener visited the Exchange place offices of the company yesterday with a view of getting an official answer to this letter, in which, it will be seen, he has raised his original estimate of injuries just 500 fold:

I wrote you last week to learn if your company would make me any proposition for a settlement for bodily injuries Oct. 28th, 1892, 7½ o'clock, at Stirling station of which I did sue for and obtain $100, by a jury in which your company owned with my lawyer this 100 will not pay my injuries nor all the money your road cost for money cannot repair my injuries that you have impaired I prefer to settle these injuries without any further litigation or 30 days delays asked for by Superintendent Reasoner who your Co. have referred me to to continue to browbeat me out of my legal claims. It is for your roads interest to settle for my injuries without delay or any further litigation I rest for an answer on receipt of this if you will settle for my injuries.

JEPTHA A. WAGENER.

$4,000,000,000 will not repair what your road has impaired. I have council who will prosecute when you refuse settlement.

Mr. Wagener has a suit for $500,000 damages against the company which has been pending for five years, for the alleged loss of a lawn mower that he says never reached its destination. He has offered to compromise if the company will invest in his patent fertilizer, which he says will make the sterile Hackensack meadows a blooming garden spot. Superintendent Reasoner did not give Farmer Wagener an answer. Wagener made the reasonable request that settlements of any future suits of his for damages should be made with him direct and not with his "council". The old gentleman was very chipper. He is satisfied that a sense of the fitness of things will force President Sloan to award him some part of the $4,000,000,000. He is working on his fertilizing scheme anew.

POTTER WORKS INCORPORATED.

The Management the Same, But New Life Instilled Into the Business.

The business of C. Potter, Jr. & Co., has just been incorporated under the title of the Potter Printing Press company. The officers are:

President—Charles Potter.
Vice-president—H. W. Fish.
Secretary—D. E. Titsworth.
Treasurer—J. M. Titsworth.

The company's announcement says:

"The management of the business will be in charge of the same persons as under the former regime, and the only difference will be an added zeal and determination to maintain the high standing of the Potter Press, and to lead in the production of the best printing machinery.

"We build web printing and folding machines, flat-bed perfecting presses, stop cylinder, two-revolution, drum cylinder and lithographic presses. We also furnish the only successful cold type stereotyping process and the machinery for the same.

"There are distinctive features in our presses which place them beyond the reach of competition and which are worth the fullest investigation."

HYMENEAL.

Hall—Henderson.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Westervelt avenue, corner of Orange street, yesterday, when George Russell Hall, who has recently purchased a house on that street, was married to Miss Emma Henderson of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. E. Herring. The bride was attired in a becoming traveling gown. Only intimate friends and relatives were present, as the family of the bride are in mourning. After the ceremony, a collation was served. The bride and groom started on their wedding tour and will spend the honeymoon at Watkins Glen and at Niagara Falls, whence they return to Plainfield, where they intend to settle. Among those present were: From New York—Mrs. James Henderson, William Henderson, Edward Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Corregan, Mr. and Mrs. McClintock, Mrs. Briggs, Miss Briggs and Mrs. Dr. Goodrich and family. From Philadelphia—Mrs. Frank Corlies. From Boston—Miss Silloway. From Poughkeepsie—Miss Halstead and Frank Halstead. From Connecticut—Miss Hawley. From Plainfield—Mrs. Sterling, the Misses Sterling, Miss James, Dr. and Mrs. Justus H. Cooley, the Misses Cooley, and Mrs. DeCou.

Tennis Tourney for the Fourth.

The Hillside Tennis club will hold a "Nahant" tournament for men's doubles, July 4, open to residents of Plainfield and North Plainfield. Play will begin promptly at 9 a. m. The entrance fee is $1 per team. Entries will close June 28, and may be sent to H. D. West, secretary of the tournament committee, 718 Central avenue.

Climax Gun Club.

At a meeting of the board of directors held yesterday, the handicap committee announced that they had arranged for a shooting tournament to be held on Bener's shooting grounds, near Fanwood, Wednesday, June 21, commencing at 1 p. m., sharp. Live birds and inanimate targets will be furnished in abundance.

WESTFIELD BLUE-BLOODS WED.

Dr. Ripley Gave the Lovely Bride a Bank Check.

Charles Clark and Miss Lucy Drew, both of Westfield, were married Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. N. W. Cadwell. The ceremony took place at the Presbyterian Manse. The wedding was a quiet one, only a few intimate friends being present. Among those were: Dr. Chauncey B. Ripley; Miss Lillie Browning, of Woodbridge, a cousin of the bride; Miss May Clark, the Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Cadwell, and C. B. Pearsall. After the ceremony Dr. Ripley presented the bride with a handsome bridal bouquet and also something in an envelope which THE PRESS has good reason to believe was a draft on the Cook Bros'. First National bank of Westfield. The bride received also a valuable gift from Mrs. Lewis Browning of Woodbridge. Mr. and Mrs. Clark left on the 5:58 train for New York, and on Thursday morning started for Washington, D. C.

The Rev Mr. Cadwell said that he believed the match to be a love match from the beginning, the kind he approves of. Miss Lucy Drew had for several years been a member of Dr. Ripley's family, where she was a great favorite; she was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was in favor with the young ladies of her acquaintance, which is the best evidence of her real loveliness and merit. When a young lady's friends of her own sex speak well of her she is pretty sure to be amiable and worthy; for they are less generous among themselves, it is said, than are men.

Charley Clark, the bridegroom, is regarded as a great catch. He is bred in the purple blood of Westfield, being Charles III in the paternal line; while on the mother's side he is of the Simeon Lambert stock, than which there is none better. A host of friends wish Charley and Lucy much joy, long years and the height of good luck. From the way they responded to the practical interrogations of the Rev. Mr. Cadwell when the knot was tied, it was evident they both meant business and fidelity during their joint lives. Lucy has started in to make a model wife and Charley to make a model husband. Let it be so!

MATTHEWS IS VERY "COOMIC".

The Trouble Seems to Be that He Can't Control His Mouth.

James Matthews, who has been giving the court and the police a great deal of unnecessary trouble lately, was particularly active yesterday. As stated in THE PRESS, Matthews threatened to have Gentle Willie Murphy and William Roes arrested for calling names. Last evening he proceeded to carry his threats into execution, and the two were brought before the court and were acquitted. After Matthews had caused the arrest of Murphy and Roes, he was himself pulled in and reprimanded on complaint of John Blackford, for applying egregious and ornamental epithets.

Matthews's passion for having people arrested has not been confined to those who call names. A few nights ago, while he was walking by the electric light station, Andy Nolan, the engineer of the works, threw a burned-out lamp on the sidewalk, and it happened to strike near Matthews, where it exploded. Matthews, who was considerably scared by the report, immediately had Nolan arrested, but the judge did not see why he should keep him, so he was released.

Matthews frequently comes into THE PRESS office to complain of his woes. He thinks the jokes are meant for him, and says: "You write me up in the coomic coolumn for the coomic paple, and it spiles me karackter and me karackter is better nor yourn."

HARRY WINS THE MATCH.

And Another for $100 a Side Is Immediately Scheduled.

There was a goodly attendance of sports from Elizabeth and Plainfield at Campbell's club-house, yesterday, to witness the shooting contest at live pigeons between Harry Campbell of this city and Aaron Woodruff of Elizabeth.

The match was for $50 a side, at 15 live birds each, single trap, each man to handle and trap for one another. Campbell shot a 12-gauge hammerless at 28 yards, and Woodruff a 10-gauge at 30 yards. Campbell won the match easily, killing 13 out of 14 to his opponent's 9 out of 15. The winner really killed all his birds, as his second one fell dead about one foot inside the back boundary line. The following is the score:

Woodruff..... 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 0
Campbell..... 1 0 1 F 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 *

William M. Parker, of Elizabeth, and Chas. Smith, acted as judges; and Frank Lamott and Dan Terry as handlers. After the match there were interesting sweepstake matches at live birds and inanimate targets.

Another match was immediately arranged between Messrs. Campbell and Woodruff, to be shot at Tremley Point, near Rahway, July 13. The match is for $100 a side, at 25 live birds each.

After the shooting was over, there were interesting games at quoits and an exciting foot race between two prominent citizens, the distance being 30 yards. "Edd" won in both heats, dispite his age. He won in all contests he entered into.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

Fifty Years Ago
Ernest Gabler & Co.

Began to make Pianos; skill and honesty and good material went into every instrument. It has been so ever since.

Experience and experiments have made the tone resonant, the touch smooth and sympathetic and the action perfect,

The large demand for the GABLER Pianos by the musicians of Newark and vicinity is in itself a guarantee of their quality. They are one of the few Pianos that NEVER WEAR OUT, and sell themselves. They have only to be seen to be appreciated.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves lasts but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

'MID PLAINFIELD HILLS

SUCH RAPTURE THRILLS AS LEAVES THE SOUL ENCHANTED.

Balm-Breezes Blow, and Glories Glow, Till Heaven Seems Quite Transplanted. While Nestling Arms of Glenside's Charms Woo You the World to Sever, Nature Distills Ecstatic Rills: Drink, and You Live Forever.

JUST a short drive from Plainfield city is a most delightful nook where once stood the "Deserted Village" of Feltville. You all know it—you who love Nature in her choicest moods—as one of the daintiest morsels she has wrought for man to feast his senses on. Driving past the stately homes of East Front street, and through the ancient village of Scotch Plains, you find, a short distance beyond the comfortable country-seat of Warren Ackerman, the millionaire lime-king, a smoothly macadamized road that curves gracefully over the range known as First mountain. The manifold glories spread out at your feet from the summit would alone repay you for the climb, but there is more beyond.

Shooting down the abrupt descent, you find yourself in a narrow valley whose beauties are like a cluster of brilliants shut in amid divers precious gems. The emerald of the hills, the azure of the sky, the silver of the winding streamlet, the balm of the atmosphere, the repose of the seclusion, bring peace to the troubled soul, and tranquillity to the disquieted heart. There is a yawning chasm in the First mountain, a rough and rockbound gorge whose depths give forth a cool and gushing spring. Here you may drink a nectar fit for the gods, and the glen you may explore at leisure, somewhat to your profit, and considerably to your pleasure. There is juicy and refreshing grass for your horses, till you are ready to start on again, and then you may gain an eminence on the Second range, above the rooftops of the industrious mill along the stream, and there feast your eyes on the modern model park of Glenside.

THE CLUB-HOUSE AND COTTAGES.

The cottagers here have a most divine spot of rest and recreation. Pleasant and inviting depths are at their feet, attractive and boundless heights are above them. From their very doors slope the broad meadows of the mountain side, up toward the summit, and beyond is the everlasting blue.

How the horses and the wagon bowl along over the smooth hard driveway past the cottages! You have all been over the road many a time, and laughed at the antics of the young people's playmates, the bright and funny little donkeys; you have envied the Glensiders their happiness in this gardenspot so well removed from the busy world. And now a clever newspaper artist has written and pictured faithfully this bit of fairyland, and through the kind courtesy of the enterprising and progressive Newark Advertiser these columns are to-day enabled to reproduce the story and the pictures:

Special Correspondence of Newark Daily Advertiser.

GLENSIDE PARK, June 12.—Something like half a century ago David Felt established a hat factory here, three miles to the west of Summit. He erected a large frame factory near the banks of a rippling spring, and upon the high country overhanging it built a dozen or so small houses for his factory hands. Little by little the business fell away until thirty-five years ago it was given up, and a Dr. Townsend, of New York, bought the property for the purpose of manufacturing paper. But after a score of years he turned over the land and buildings to Warren Ackerman, of Plainfield, and from that time until 1886 the place was known as the "Deserted Village". Not a soul lived there.

The houses, fallen into disuse, became rusty and rustier. The roadways were overgrown with weeds. The little bridge over the stream rotted.

One day while Mr. Ackerman was inspecting this property he wondered why it could n't be turned into a summer resort for a dozen congenial families. The houses were small and old-fashioned, but they could be renovated. Magnificent old trees shielded nearly every piazza from the sun's rays; grass and clover and wild-flowers grew luxuriantly; across the stream was a great gorge, extending far up the side of the mountain, where some giant force of nature had ripped the hills apart. This gorge was sentineled on either side by tall pines, maples, oaks; over and under and between the rocks that formed its bed, a mountain stream riotously leaped and sang and laughed and roared. Cooling breezes swept up and down the charming valley that extended far to the westward towards Plainfield.

Mr. Ackerman said to himself that it might be made a delightful park. Then he began the transformation.

From the nearest railroad station, Murray Hill, Glenside Park is not more than a mile distant. You can get a carriage at the station if you ask the ticket agent, who seems willing to do anything in his power. He is a valuable man to residents of Glenside. He procured a nice vehicle for us, to-day, and a driver whom he did n't introduce, but whom the artist decided was a Methodist, he was so solemn. Quarter of a mile from the station the grounds begin of Carl H. Schultz, a New Yorker, who made himself a millionaire by selling mineral water.

THE CLUB-HOUSE AND COTTAGES.

"That there man has eleven children", said the driver, "an' I should think he 'd find hard work to keep track of them all. He owns about 800 acres of land hereabouts, and don't want to sell a foot. For why? 'Cause he don't have to. That 's a good reason. This here 's his own house—he stays there all winter now—and the new one going up back there is the eldest son's. Beyond across the road is the house he built for his eldest girl. You kin luk through the trees here most anywheres and your eyes 'll light on a house he put up for one or the other of the children."

"Whose is this fine house!"

"That 's where Mr. Schultze keeps some of his servants. The building cost $20,000. A lot of the other help sleep in the laundry building yonder."

On we drove for another mile when we went down a steep hill and found ourselves before an open rustic gate which bears this sign:

PLEASE SHUT THESE GATES.

But we did n't; we went right on past the lodge.

The roadway was hard and smooth and free from dust. A short distance beyond the lodge, on the left side, stands a building of two stories, upon one corner of which is a cupola.

"That there used to be the church", said the driver, pulling up his horse; "they pray downstairs now and serve the devil upstairs on the second floor."

"In what way?"

"By holding social hops there and dancing", he gravely rep'lied.

That remark made the artist think him either a Methodist or a New England Puritan.

We had left the church far behind now, and were still bowling over the fine road. A sweep in it brought to view the collection of eleven houses which Mr. Ackerman rents for the summer season, and the pretty, new building in the center of the group which is used for dining-rooms, kitchen and servants' quarters. A view of the last-named building is herewith given, showing also parts of three cottages, the first of which is occupied by Judge Depue's family, and the third by that of W. H. Peck.

As may be imagined, these and the other cottages are by no means in the condition in which Mr. Ackerman found them. They have been almost transformed in appearance, inside and out. New furniture, rugs and paint have done wonders to make them agreeable to the eye, as well as comfortable. The turf is closely cropped, flower beds, bright with blossoms, are scattered about, rustic railings guard the roadways and paths, below which are deep ravines. Here and there are summer houses and rustic seats, and shrubbery is abundant. Glenside Park is a summer resort not to be lightly mentioned.

The cottagers other than those mentioned are Gen. Plume, J. C. Downing, Uzal H. McCarter, A. B. Ayres, Ernest Munn, Mrs. John Miller, and Sydney N. Ogden, all of Newark. Mr. McCarter's summer home is sketched herewith, and a corner of Gen. Plume's piazza.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD,
June 16, 1893.

SPECIAL TO THE PRESS:—The Hotel Netherwood opened on the 10th inst., for the season of '93. A large number of guests registered on the "opening day". The booking is largely in excess of former years; therefore it is safe to predict a brilliant and prosperous season. I note in the list of engagements many prominent families from New York, Brooklyn and other points.

The Netherwood has been thoroughly renovated throughout. The sanitary conditions of the hotel are beyond question, the plumbing having been entirely renewed. Frank E. Miller, manager and proprietor of The Netherwood, is at the fore, as usual, and the guests may rest assured that nothing will be left undone on his part to ensure their comfort.

I subjoin a list of guests:

From New York city, Mr. and Mrs. L. Benton, Miss Eva Philips, H. J. Weber, C. A. Smith and wife, Miss Lula Smith, H. W. Williams and wife, Master Weston Williams and maid, Mrs. E. W. Stocking, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Haney, Miss Jennie C. Haney and maid, J. Aug. Hinchman, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Stout, Miss Gladys Stout, William J. Eaton and wife, William L. Godley and wife, Master Fred. Godley and maid, A. L. Boulard, Mrs. W. T. Wardwell and family, Dr. A. L. Ranney and wife, A. Elliott Ranney, W. G. Brady and family, J. A. Smith, George H. Thompson, Mrs. E. Sugden, Miss Sugden, Dr. J. Dyson Aspenwall, Miss Yale, Mr. and Mrs. Friend Fitts; from Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Shepard, Miss Mary N. Shepard, Miss Olive B. THE PEACH CROP IMMENSE.

Does n't Your Mouth Water for This Most Delicious Fruit?

A correspondent of the Unionist-Gazette, writing from Hopewell and Ewing townships, Mercer county, says:

"Your correspondent is now near the boundary line of Hopewell and Ewing, twain (if not twin) townships of Mercer county. On either side of the line luxuriance abounds. Wheat fields are waving in silent majesty, while fragrant clover fields add their splendor. Seldom, if ever, has there been a prospect of a heavier yield. One would suppose the farmers' hearts are bounding with delight in view of prospective revenues. And yet it is not so. Only 70 cents a bushel, when it should be $1.50. Yes, many would be glad, and thankful, too, if they could get the paltry sum of $1 for this sine qua non article of food. In this section of our glorious little commonwealth wheat fields are the rule. In a ride of 12 miles, a day or two ago, scarcely a field of rye was seen. But when found the spires are stately, towering up to a height of 6 and 7 feet.

"I write this afternoon—Oh how balmy is the air, and how resplendent the sky—in what may be termed the metropolis of the peach district. From my window can be discerned 30,000 trees or more, a veritable forest. One farmer alone is the happy possessor of 12,000. And the universal testimony is that the forthcoming crop will be simply immense, and of course the prices will be within the reach of all. Good news, certainly, for the struggling sons and daughters of noble toil."

You May Hitch Up a Carriage Horse, But You Can't Make Him Plough.

"Scratch" writes from Bernardsville to the Somerset Messenger that an Italian bought a farm back of North Plainfield and hired three of his fellow-countrymen as help. Before setting out for New York city one day he gave them particular instructions as to the ploughing of a certain field, preparatory to planting corn. There was but one horse, a high-priced spirited animal, with which to do the ploughing. After spending the greater part of the forenoon in exercising their ingenuity to make that erratic animal do the work, they finally gave up in disgust, started for the barn, got a spade each, and had the field spaded up by the time the owner got home.

Plainfielders to Pray and Orate.

In arranging for Bound Brook's Fourth of July celebration, the Rev. L. B. Goodrich was chosen to offer the opening prayer, Robert Rives LaMonte to read the Declaration of Independence, the Rev. T. E. Davis to give the historical address, and the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis to deliver the oration.

A TREAT AT GRACE.

EACH SMILING FACE WAS TOKEN OF ENJOYMENT.

At Fern-Roofed Bowers June's Choicest Flowers Gave Fairest Hands Employment. Rebecca's Throne, a Well of Stone, Yielded Refreshment Grateful. Berries and Cream Flowed Like a Streamy Sweet Smiles Came with Each Plateful.

A most delightful scene greeted the large crowd that gathered in Grace M. E. church last evening, the occasion being the first strawberry and ice-cream festival held in the building this season, and it proved a decided success.

The handsome candy booth occupied the center floor space; it was very neatly arranged, and there the choicest of sweetmeats were dispensed by Mrs. William H. Lunger, Mrs. E. Winckler, Miss Bella Lunger, Miss Grace Carroll and Miss Alice Carroll.

On the left was the cake table, loaded down with all kinds of fancy cake, in charge of Mrs. John Valiant, Mrs. A. Lutkins, Mrs. Stein and Mrs. Van Horn.

At the fancy table any number of useful and fancy articles could be purchased, of Mrs. H. K. Carroll, Mrs. Ezra Loomis, Mrs. L. A. Hummer and Mrs. Charles Hummer.

A trio of little maids made a pretty picture under a large umbrella drooped with honeysuckle vines; here Miss Nellie Valiant, Miss Addie Carney and Miss Tina Voehl dispensed popcorn.

Ice-cream tables stood under the balcony, and very inviting they were, especially since here presided Mrs. J. S. Lunger, Mrs. E. P. Stevens and Mrs. G. Randolph and the following able assistants: Miss May Conroy, Miss Lizzie Hoagland, Miss Nellie Creigher, Miss Sarah Smith, Miss Bertha Stevens, Miss Ida Randolph, Miss Maggie Bowne, Miss Stella Stein, Miss Hattie Polhemus, Miss Mabel Polhemus, Miss Bertha Philpit, Miss Emma Stevens and Miss Jenny Bowne.

Rebecca at the well was indeed a realistic scene. The natural stone work, arranged and designed by Mrs. W. H. Griffin, was most beautiful, and from the depths was served the most delicious lemonade, the cup-bearers being Mrs. Wm. H. Griffin, Mrs. E. A. Vermeule and Miss Emma Smalley.

The great soul-stirring American emblem, the Stars and Stripes, was artistically arranged in the center archway, and passing under it one came to a magnificent flower booth, made entirely of ferns, where plants and boutonnieres were disposed of by Miss Della Voehl, Miss Lilly Steiner, Miss Clara Steiner, Miss Libbie Springer and Miss Tingley.

Delicious strawberries were supplied by Mrs. J. H. Carney and Mrs. Emma Cox.

The entire affair reflects great credit on all who took part. This and other similar events prove that there is an army of great workers in this church, whose aim is to make the church home-like and sociable for all who attend. Among the leaders of this enterprising corps are: H. K. Carroll, LL. D., superintendent John Valiant, assistant superintendent A. A. Taft, choir leader Ezra Loomis, and secretary William H. Griffin. Under their guidance there can be nothing but success.

The festival will be continued this evening.

WHY THE GIRLS ADORE HIM.

Another Evidence of the Delights of Living in Dunellen.

Editor Lowrie's bright and newsy little weekly relates the following interesting happening:

Last Sunday, Robt. Giddis, while seated upon the veranda around the residence of Mrs. Louise Palmer, spied a black snake crawling up the path toward where he was seated. A number of young ladies were near at hand [as was to be supposed, with Robbie about], and, fearing the reptile might attack some of them, he ran out and stopped the serpent [with a glance of his eagle eye, and saying "now you stop!"], and called to Arthur Palmer to bring a club. The two proceeded to where the snake had sought refuge and attacked it. Strange to say, it did not offer to fight, but attempted to get away. The young gentlemen, however, were too alert to allow the snake to leave them, and with a well-aimed blow Mr. Giddis killed the vicious reptile outright. He was praised by all present, and fairly idolized by the girls, who realized that he had saved them from being charmed by the snake and devoured by it at its leisure.

Another Injustice Rebuked.

(Dunellen Weekly Call.)

In the Thursday, June 8, edition of the Plainfield Courier is an article headed, "Who is to blame? Some one surely is." The article in question refers to the death of Miss Agnes Burke and is a reflection on the people of this village. So far as we can learn, and our authority is the best, the facts are directly opposite of the statements as given in that article, and while we accept as true the closing words of the writer, that "communities cannot be too careful in guarding their members from distress in such cases as these", we would also use the truth therein taught, and say that editors cannot be to careful as to what goes in the columns of their paper, lest injustice be done, as is surely done in his case.

Saved from the Terrors of Initiation.

Frank Randolph of Dunellen has met with another accident, which may result in his losing an eye. He only recently recovered from a broken leg and had just resumed his work of putting up electric light wires in the city. Thursday he was doing overhead work and was working with a screw driver. In attempting to place a screw in the upper side of a beam above his head the tool slipped and struck him in the eye, making a severe gash. He was immediately taken to a private hospital. The surgeons are in hopes that the sight of the eye may be saved. Mr. Randolph had been elected a member of the Foresters, and would have been initiated in another week.

DUNELLEN'S BOWLING GREEN.

Another Delightful Afternoon at Mr. Schepflin's Home.

Another social and successful meeting of the Dunellen Bowling club was held on Christian Schepflin's green at Dunellen, yesterday. The club members appearing were Messrs. C. Schepflin, Thomas Stone, Wm. Elliott, James Smyth, Geo. Haynes, William Low, Andrew Love, A. C. S. Cockburn, F. P. Haffner and C. K. Moore. The green was in fine condition, and the men after being cordially received by Mr. Schepflin immediately prepared for the contests.

The guests accompanying the gentlemen mentioned were Charles F. Irving of Bergen Point, William McCully of Elizabeth, C. H. Brucker of New York, Dr. Frank Herbert of this city, and commander O. C. Herbert of Marlborough.

Rinks were formed as follows:

Mr. Elliott as skip had as bowlers Smith and Haynes.

Mr. Stone had C. Schepflin and Haffner.

The match resulted thus: Mr. Stone, 21; Mr. Elliott, 9.

The other rink was Mr. Cockburn, skip, assisted by Col. Moore and commander Herbert.

Mr. Love, skip, with Dr. Herbert and Wm. Low.

This game was hotly contested, resulting in Mr. Cockburn winning the 21 points while Mr. Love made 20. The two veterans, Cockburn and Love, made many pretty plays, and until the final bowl it was problematical as to the winner.

The main feature of this game was the remarkable judgment and fine play of Commander Herbert, who, though never having played on a green before, showed extraordinary skill in so throwing out the "Jack" and then placing his bowls, that it seemed impossible for any of his opponents to draw in ahead of him. Any other bowlers than Andrew Love and his team would have found great difficulty in holding Mr. Cockburn's team down as well as they did. A short eleven-point game was afterward played between these same men, in which the Commander again came to the front, Mr. Cockburn winning by 11 to Mr. Love's 6.

The afternoon was, though warm, breezy, and everyone enjoyed the games to the utmost. Mr. Schepflin entertained the gentlemen in his usual hospitable manner, and invited the guests to visit the green again.

Alas for the Strawberry Crop.

The dry weather is seriously affecting the crop of Jersey strawberries. The prospects were that this luscious fruit—more luscious in New Jersey than in any other State—would grow this year to a fullness and a flavor rarely surpassed in former years. The plants were loaded with fruit, and their condition in all respects was most promising. But the dry spell came on just when they were plumping out and beginning to turn red. The result is that while many of the first pickings are large and full and sweet the bulk of the crop will scarcely be up to medium size, with the flavor not so delicious as it would otherwise have been. A good, slow, soaking rain early this week would have made the crop almost ideally perfect. Even as it is, there is no strawberry in the world that can compare with the Jersey berry, and Union is the best county in New Jersey for strawberries.

H. B. Wells Was Auctioneer.

The "Lend-a-hand" society of the Unitarian church held a strawberry and ice-cream festival in the Sunday-school room last evening. The room was very prettily decorated by the young people. The entire affair was a complete success. Mrs. J. O. Osgood and Mrs. Buckle had the festival in charge, assisted by the following:

Flower table—Miss Anna Shaen, Miss Ellen Osgood, Miss Kip, Miss Mary Buckle.

Candy—Miss Emma Buckle, Miss Dorothy Wells, Misses Laura and Grace Osgood.

Lemonade—Miss Buckle and Harold Shaen.

Refreshments—Miss May Shaen, Miss Ada Woolston and others.

At the conclusion, Henry Wells acted as auctioneer, and was very successful in selling the few things left.

Barbara's Birthday.

Miss Barbara Weber, head nurse of the Brookside Sanitarium, gave a birthday party last night, and the pretty grounds of that institution were gay with young people until a late hour. About twenty were present, and the time was spent in playing games on the lawn and in dancing in the parlors. During the evening refreshments were served, and everyone went home in the best of humor.

Two Bewitching Dancers.

The attendance at St. Joseph's fair in Gesang and Turn Verein hall was again large last evening, and all had a most merry time. The dancing of Miss Boyce and Miss Lanning was most captivating, and completely enraptured the audience, winning many compliments for the graceful girls. O'Reilly's music made dancing a delight.

She'd Make a Good One.

The New Market correspondent of the Dunellen Call says: "We are credibly informed that Miss Maud Titsworth has been offered the principalship of our school, and has the matter under consideration."

They Wanted No Tenement.

Strikers Quiet at Biddeford.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 16.—It is quiet and orderly here to-day. The strikers did not throng at the mill gates this forenoon and no demonstration of any kind occurred. There is no change in the number of men at work in the mills. The executive committee will meet Agent McArthur this afternoon, and probably a mass meeting will be held to-night at which the strikers will be advised to resume work, pending settlement by arbitration.

City of Richmond Sunk.

CITY ISLAND, June 16.—Steamer City of Richmond, Captain Darrow, of the City of Richmond Joint Stock Company of New London, Conn., ran ashore on the west side of Sands Point reef yesterday morning during a dense fog. The steamer struck on the rocks and stove a hole in her bottom causing her to sink immediately in about ten feet of water.

Southern Railroad Association Meeting.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The meeting of the representatives of the several railroads which constitute the Southern Railroad and Steamship Association, which was begun at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, was continued yesterday, Commissioner E. B. Stahlman presiding. The topic discussed was the formation of a new agreement for the ensuing year.

The Ohio Democratic Convention.

COLUMBUS, O., June 16.—The Democratic State Central Committee met here and selected Cincinnati as the place for holding the next convention. August 9 and 10 were fixed as dates for the convention. Hon. G. H. Bargar, of Columbus, was selected for temporary chairman.

An Insane Woman's Deed.

PITTSFIELD, MASS., June 16.—The wife of Charles Jones, living on Maplewood avenue, during her husband's absence yesterday, set fire to their dwelling, locked the doors, ran to the river and jumped in. She was saved with difficulty, crying: "I am in trouble, let me die." The woman is insane. The loss to the house is about $1,000.

Woman's Influence.

Delicate women may exert much influence, but little in comparison with what it would be with abundant health.

The wife wants health that she may be the companion of her husband and her family.

Beware of dizziness, sudden faintness, irritability, backache, nervousness, extreme lassitude, depression, exhaustion, excitability, and sick headache.

These are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus or womb; they are danger signals, which warn you to avoid a life of misery. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes to the root of the trouble, and drives disease from your body.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

TRUTH ABOUT THE BICYCLE.

It will give you health and strength, make your food digest easily, enlarge your views of men and things and add to life a zest it has never known. Perhaps you think it is hard to ride. It is not. A few weeks' practice will make you proficient; disabuse your mind also of the notion that it is dangerous. Bicycle accidents are rare, and happen from carelessness. GETTING NEAR THE END

The Borden Case Takes a Recess Till Monday.

EMMA TESTIFIES FOR HER SISTER

She Tells About the Paisty Dress and the Hatchet, and Denies the Story of Matron Reagan—Other Witnesses Confirm Her Story—The Court Decides to Take a Rest.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 17.—The twelfth day of the struggle between the two parties in the Borden trial will begin on Monday next. The case has made such unexpectedly rapid progress that the judges decided that it was well to take a breathing spell, which every one connected with the case sadly needs.

The defence made rapid progress in their case yesterday, and taken altogether they strengthened the hope that a verdict would be found in favor of the defendant.

The decision relative to the admission of the evidence of the Portuguese who saw the man with the bloody hatchet was in order first yesterday and after the jury had been polled counsel enter into a consultation with the justices upon some points which the latter desired made more clear. Following this, the court said it was clear that the evidence offered on the head above referred to could not be admitted. Mr. Jennings desired exceptions noted at the same time stating that he would put in writing just what he had intended to show.

The first witness was Sarah R. Hart, Tiverton, and she said: "I lived in Fall River ten years ago, on or near Second street. I knew Andrew J. Borden by sight and knew where he lived; on the day of the murders I passed by Mr. Borden's house with my sister-in-law, Mrs. Manley; it was about 9:50 a. m.; we passed by the north gate and stopped there to speak to my nephew who was there in a carriage, and went up to the back of his carriage. While I was there I saw a young man standing in the gate-way; it was not Mr. Borden; he was resting his head on his left hand, his elbow being on the gate-post; I was there five minutes and he was there when I went away; I went down to Main street and got there just in time to catch the 10 o'clock car for the north; this car leaves the city hall for the north at just 10 o'clock. The carriage was a little to the north of the gate; I didn't notice the man as I passed by the gate but only when I turned around; I didn't know the man."

John J. Manning, reporter, Fall River, testified to going to the house. Regarding the publication of the Reagan story, he said: "I remember the publication of Mrs. Reagan's story and I had an interview with her, I think it was the same night of the publication. In answer to a question from me she said there was nothing in it; I wanted to know whether it was true or not and I wanted a negative or affirmative statement."

Cross-examined: I saw her at her home; there was another person with me; I had nothing to do with the affidavit; I didn't read the story to her, just told her what had been printed; I don't recall what she said to me about believing what I saw in the newspapers, but I won't say she didn't say it, or that she didn't say she would tell her story in court.

Thomas F. Hickey, reporter of the Fall River Globe: In my capacity as reporter I saw Mrs. Reagan on Friday about the story referred to above. I said: I see you're getting yourself in the paper, Mrs. Reagan. She said yes, but they have got to take that all back. I asked her about the quarrel and she said there had been no quarrel. I asked her if she had repeated any words of the sisters. Asked her if there was any truth in the report and she said absolutely none.

Mrs. Holmes testified that officers were not hindered in entering defendant's room and thoroughly searching the house. Defendant wept when looking at her father's remains on the day of the funeral. Defendant wore a pink wrapper when witness went to the house and wore the dress given to the government Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Reagan told witness that the "You gave me away" story was untrue. The prisoner sat with her face in her handkerchief during much of Mrs. Holmes' testimony.

After five minutes' recess, Charles J. Holmes testified that Matron Reagan told Mr. Buck that the denial of the "you gave me away" story was true, and that she would sign it if the marshal did not object.

John R. Caldwell, reporter, testified that Marshal Hilliard told Mrs. Reagan if she signed the denial of the "you gave me away story," it would be against his express orders. Mary E. Brigham testified that Matron Reagan said about the story: "It is all a lie from beginning to end. I was willing to sign that paper, but the marshal would not let me."

Emma Borden then took the stand. She testified that her father's gift of the house to her stepmother made trouble between Lizzie and her stepmother, and Lizzie ceased to call her mother and called her Mrs. Borden; but for two or three years before the murder the relations between Lizzie and Mrs. Borden were entirely cordial. If she had testified to the contrary at the preliminary hearing that was untrue.

Emma denied absolutely the "You gave me away" story, and swore no quarrel took place between the sisters in Matron Reagan's room. Mr. Knowlton cross-examined with reference to family relations.

Emma Borden resumed on cross-examination: Bridget Sullivan had been with us two years and nine months. We took care of our own rooms and usually I cared for the guest chamber; Lizzie did anything about the house she cared to do. We usually reached our rooms by the front stairs. The front door was always locked at night, and the last one to bed locked it. Lizzie usually unlocked it in the morning. In regard to the note I only looked in the little bag and in the work basket down stairs. I advertised in the Daily News of Fall River for the messenger or the writer. We have made no other search. Mr. Hanscom was a detective employed by my sister and I, and saw him first on Sunday after the murders. He was at our house some. I don't think I can tell how long he was employed by us, but I think two or three weeks. I never have seen the handleless hatchet, and I don't know anything about it. I don't remember ever seeing but one hatchet, and I can't describe it to you; all our family had waterproofs; Mrs. Borden had a dark one, it was kept in the little closet; Lizzie had one of blue cloth; I had one too; a gossamer; no interview whatever took place between Lizzie and me, as was stated by Mrs. Reagan; I only remember Mr. Jennings saying when he came in that he would like to see my sister alone; I don't remember saying anything in particular; there was nothing but ordinary conversation; I have no recollection of sitting silent for an hour at a time. Miss Russell was an intimate friend of Lizzie's. They were on excellent terms and there was no lack of harmony between them; they were not associated in church work; she stayed in the house two or three days but I cannot say whether it was at anybody's request. The first thing I said when Lizzie was standing by the stove with the dress was as I have stated before. I don't remember Miss Russell saying what she says she did; Miss Russell I saw after I turned and saw Lizzie. Witness was here called upon to give once again a detailed account of the dress and its condition. I did not hear Miss Russell say "I wouldn't burn it, Lizzie." I did not see my sister take a step back, because I never saw her after I had turned back to wash the dishes, after seeing what she had on her arm.

Mrs. Mary A. Raymond, dressmaker, 51 Franklin street, Fall River: I have done dressmaking for Lizzie Borden at her home; also worked for Mrs. Borden; I made some dresses for Lizzie last spring (1892); I went to the house the first week in May and was there three weeks; the Bedford cord dress I made first because she needed it; it took about three days and the sisters helped me; it was a light blue dress with a dark figure; it was made with a blouse waist and full skirt.

The skirt was longer by half a finger than she had been in the habit of wearing. It was a cheap cotton dress with little trimming; the painters were painting the house when Lizzie was wearing the dress; she put it on as soon as it was done; I saw the dress after it was "painted." The paint was on the front and back; she had an old wrapper which this was to take the place of; she cut some pieces out of the old wrapper while I was there and took it down stairs. She couldn't get that dress on under any other dress.

Mrs. Bowen testified that there was no blood on defendant or on her garments when she saw her the day of the murder. Mrs. Brigham was re-called and testified that by experiment in the Borden house she found that a person standing in the upper hall could not see a person lying in the guest room where Mrs. Borden was found and that the front door spring lock was not sure to work unless the door was shut hard.

Miss White, Bristol County Court stenographer, read parts of Bridget Sullivan's testimony at the inquest in which she swore that Lizzie was crying when she first saw her after the murder and parts of Fleet's testimony contradicting a statement made by him at this trial.

Adjourned until Monday.

At 3.15 the defense rested its case. The prosecution then recalled Marshal Hillier, Mullaly and Miss White when it too rested. The Government had another witness to come from Fall River, but it was decided not to take his testimony.

The Chief Justice then addressed the jury, saying that all the evidence was in, but that it was necessary, owing to the importance of the case that the counsel have reasonable time to prepare the arguments, and an adjournment was made until Monday at 9 a. m.

HAS BLOUNT RESIGNED?

His Name is Still on the State Department Register.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Whether or not Mr. Blount has resigned his new position as Minister instead of Commissioner to Hawaii cannot be definitely determined here. The probabilities seem strongly to favor the assumption that he has not resigned, though it is thought quite likely he may have expressed a wish to be relieved at an early day of a position which he didn't seek and which is understood to be somewhat irksome to him.

The State Department still carries Mr. Blount's name on the register as Minister, and refuses to admit that he has resigned. In view of these facts the published statement that the place had been offered to Consul General Crittenden, in Mexico, and to Judge Sneed, of Kentucky, becomes a little perplexing, inasmuch as it is positively said that Mr. Blount's place is not regarded as vacant and consequently has not been tendered to anyone.

Vacation for Cabinet Ladies.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Mrs. Gresham and Mrs. Carlisle are planning some diversion for the summer months and have determined to visit Deer Park for a few weeks. This will permit their husbands to join them every Saturday and remain over Sunday. Mrs. Hoke Smith left Washington last week upon a short trip to the bay shore and is expected back on Saturday. Later the family will visit relatives in Virginia.

Twenty Killed By an Explosion.

ATHENS, June 17.—A government powder magazine, a few miles from this city, exploded yesterday. Twenty persons, including officers and soldiers, were killed, and great damage was done to surrounding property. The Crown Prince has gone to the scene to aid the sufferers.

RETURNS COME SLOWLY

The Composition of the Reichstag Still Unknown.

THE GOVERNMENT HAS MADE GAINS

Two Hundred and Twenty Out of 337 Districts Have So Far Reported—Of These 122 Will Require a Re-ballot to Decide the Election.

BERLIN, June 17.—The most conspicuous two features of the electoral returns are the continued reports of Social Democratic gains and Richterist losses. Most of the news still comes from the city constituencies and the list of opposition deputies grows rapidly.

This morning, however, dispatches from the agricultural districts reveals the other side of the page. From all that can now be ascertained it is reasonably safe to conclude that the government certainly has lost nothing by the dissolution and probably has won a little.

In the 220 districts from which reports have been received 98 Deputies have been elected. There are yet 117 districts to be heard from. In 123 new ballots will be necessary. Of the 98 Deputies elected 43 will vote with the government, 55 against it. The parties siding with the government have lost four seats to the opposition; the parties working against the government have evened matters by losing five seats to the friends of the Army bill.

The Conservatives have elected 17 deputies; the Social Democrats 23; the Clericals 20; the Radical Unionists 1; Free Conservatives 4; Poles 8; Democrats 5; Anti-Semites 2; Independents 2, both favorable to the bill; Government Clericals 1; National Liberals 2. Not one immediate supporter of Eugen Richter, the anti-Government Radical, has been elected.

The Conservatives have won two seats formerly held by Free Conservatives. The Social Democrats have gained three seats from Richterists and one from the Free Conservatives. The Lieber Clericals have gained one from the Government Clericals and have lost one to them. The Radical Unionists have elected one deputy who voted against the Army bill, but will vote for it in the next Reichstag. The Free Conservatives have gained two seats and lost three. The Democrats have gained one seat from the National Liberals. The National Liberals have lost three seats and gained two. The most interesting feature in the new ballots reported until now will be probably the gains of the Social Democrats and Radical Unionists.

Several small election riots have been reported from the provinces. In Strassburg shortly after a result was announced, about 2,000 Socialists began parading the streets and shouting for their candidate, August Bebel. They refused to disperse when the police attacked them and many cheered for France. The military eventually broke up the procession and arrested eight men. Nobody was injured. In Reutlingen, Wuertemberg, the police slashed and arrested many Social Democrats who attacked the police station.

In Gruenberg, Silesia, the Socialists rioted through the streets. The police dispersed them with drawn sabres and arrested the leaders. In this city the police arrested Herr Landauer, an Anarchist editor on the charge of inciting to riot.

Jack McAuliffe Off for Europe.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Jack McAuliffe, the lightweight champion pugilist of America, sailed for England at an early hour this morning. The Sparta Athletic Club, of this city, chartered a steamboat, which accompanied the steamship on which McAliffe sailed down the bay. Jack says that he does not know what will be his programme other than a public sparring match with Jem Carney soon after his arrival in England.

Pugilist Mace's New Job.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Jem Mace, ex-champion pugilist of England sent a cable message from London accepting an offer of $500 a week for an engagement of six months to do the statue act in a new comedy that will be put upon the road in August. Mace will sail from Liverpool June 24.

A Two-footer Arrives in America.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Among the passengers on the steamer Adriatic, which arrived yesterday, are 15 performers for T. Henry French's New American Theatre. Prince Mignor, aged 20, a dwarf, 26 inches high, is with the party.

Will Resume Next Week.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Henry Allen & Co., who were carried down by the collapse in National Cordage some time ago will resume business next week. All their creditors have agreed to accept 50 per cent of their claims.

Two homeless men died in Riverside hospital New York yesterday from typhoid fever.

Chas. M. Howard, shoe manufacturer, of Lynn, Mass., has assigned. The amount of his indebtedness is undetermined.

The next annual meeting of the Amalgamated Association will be held in Cleveland, on the third Tuesday of May, 1894.

Gov. Morris has vetoed the bill creating troop A, Connecticut Cavalry, of Bridgeport. Too expensive to maintain and not of much practical value, he says.

Two patrolmen of the New Haven police got into an altercation and beat each other almost insensible with their long night sticks. One of them may not recover.

It was discovered yesterday that there exists among the 1,800 prisoners in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus a secret organization formed for murder. The warden and two deputy wardens were marked for slaughter.

THE COWBOY RACE

Horses and Riders Seem, So Far, to Be Standing the Test Well.

LONG PINE, Neb., June 17.—Jim Stephens, of Kansas; Joe Gillespie, of Dawes county, and Doc Middleton, of Chadron, Neb., the first arrivals in the cow-boy race, arrived at the Dwinell house last night at 4:45 in the order named above.

Jim Stephens, known as "Rattlesnake Pete," only remained a few minutes, Joe

"RATTLESNAKE PETE."

Gillespie pulled out at 5:07 and Doc Middletown at 5:15. Their horses were all in splendid condition. Albright, of Crawford, came in at 5:30, rested for 30 minutes and then went on. He was quite sick at Ainsworth, which put him behind the advance squad. His horses seemed to be in excellent condition, but Paul Fontaine, of the Humane Society, says they need sleep. He says Doc Middleton's horses are in the best condition. These four riders slept in the sand hills 12 miles west of wood lake last night. They reached O'Neill at 10 o'clock this morning and made their second register.

The ladies along the route are pulling hairs from the manes and tails of the horses as mementoes, and if they have a hair left when they reach Chicago, it will be surprising.

AN ENCOURAGING INTERVIEW

Employes of the Reading Confer With Vice-President Voorhees.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—A committee representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and telegraphers employed on the Lehigh Valley division of the Reading railroad system, had a formal interview with First Vice-President Voorhees in the Board room at the Reading office yesterday.

The meeting which was private, was held at 2:30 o'clock and only lasted a few minutes. At its conclusion Mr. Voorhees made the following statement to the newspaper reporters:

"The committee presented a schedule involving changes in the rate of pay. The requests will be digested, and when we are ready to a reply the committee will be called together."

Engineer E. A. Vaughn, who acted as spokesman for the employes said: "The interview was pleasant, satisfactory as far as it went, and encouraging as to the future."

An Echo of the Disaster.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Among the victims of the Ford's Theatre disaster was the son of John A. Daly, an ex-soldier from Pennsylvania employed as a watchman in the Interior Department. Mr. Daly was discharged some days ago, but when Secretary Smith learned that young Daly had been killed in the theatre wreck and that the family might suffer by reason of the father's dismissal, he immediately ordered his reinstatement.

Citizens Are Indignant.

RAHWAY, N. J., June 17.—The village of Woodbridge, four miles south of here, will hold an indignation meeting Monday evening on account of the dismissal of five teachers from the public schools by Principal Gamble. The board of trustees, as well as the discharged teachers, will not talk on the subject, preferring to wait until Monday night.

To be Charged With Murder.

CONCORD, N. H., June 17.—The authorities have decided to charge James and Albert Jameson with murder in the first degree, for causing the death of Police Officer Augustus B. Farmer, of Bow. It is alleged that Farmer was struck on the head with a billet of wood while trying to arrest James Jameson. He died after the men had been charged with assault.

McKenzie Found Guilty.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The jury in the case of George McKenzie, 18 years old, accused of the murder of Henry Quell, 15 years old, by throwing him down an airshaft on Feb. 10, 1892, brought in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. McKenzie was remanded until next Friday for sentence. He will probably be sent to the Elmira Reformatory.

Editor Wallace Retracts.

FREEHOLD, N. J., June 17.—It is announced that editor Wallace of the Asbury Park Journal, has made a complete retraction of that paper's charge of fraud against Dean & Westbrook, the bridge builders, who brought suit for libel against the editor. The case had been set down for trial next Tuesday.

The Blarney Stone at the Fair.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 17.—The famous blarney stone, which for centuries occupied a place in the walls of historic old Blarneystone Castle in Ireland, has arrived at the World's Fair. It was shipped here by Lady Aberdeen, and will form one of the attractions of her Irish villages.

Killed by Burglars.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 17.—J. R. Harris, of the Lubricating Company, was killed by two burglars who had been discovered by him in his parlor on 15th avenue S. E. at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. He attempted to seize them and was shot twice, dying at eight o'clock.

The Windy City Selected.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The National Republican League, in executive committee, in session at the Grand Pacific Hotel, has selected Chicago as national headquarters by a vote of ten States for Chicago, four for St. Louis, three for Washington and one for New York.

TOWN LIFE FOR BABIES.

OF ALL THE DANGERS POOR FOOD IS THE MOST FATAL.

For Dreaded Cholera Infantum Follows Poor Feeding—Necessary to Begin Properly Early in the Month of June.

I have a lover, a little lover,
He rolls on the grass and plays in the clover.
He builds block houses and digs clay wells,
And makes sand pies in his hat.

Town life is not what suits children under five years old.

But we have to deal with things as they are, and this includes many thousands of children dwelling in a city with all its dangers and difficulties.

How babies can be kept healthy in June July and August is the greatest problem their parents have.

To prevent the great infant mortality in these three months has been the aim of all sorts of philanthropy. Infant feeding has claimed the exhaustive research of medical men; they found summer diarrhoea impossible to explain simply by the presence of heat; they found that improper feeding in the summer time was the principal cause of the awful mortality in this climate; a perfect substitute for mother's milk had to be made, an infant food that would be nourishing and strengthening, that would furnish material for blood and bone, that would be easily assimilated and perfectly digestible; finally in lactated food was secured the combination of the necessary elements of pure, healthy mother's milk.

WILLARD E. NEWCOM

The efficacy and nutritive quality of lactated food is to-day acknowledged by every one; as a preventive of cholera Infantum it is worth more than all the medicines in the world.

As a strength-giver to growing infants nothing can compare with it; as a food that is easy to procure and prepare, and is liked by the little ones themselves, too much cannot be said for it.

It has saved the lives of thousands of infants within the last few years; it has been the food of hundreds of babies who have never been sick; above is the picture of the one-year-old child of Mrs. Edward Newcom of Logansport, Ind., which was received the other day, accompanied by the following letter from Mrs. Newcom:

"Our baby had to use artificial food on account of no nurse; we tried several different kinds of infants foods, but none agreed with him until we commenced the use of lactated food; now he is perfectly healthy; we are still using the food and recommend it to all our friends."

This is the experience of hundreds of mothers every month, and the demand for lactated food is to-day more than twice as great as a year ago in consequence.

Caught Just in Time.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 17.—It has just been learned that a Portland girl had a narrow escape from being led into a trap at the World's Fair. She answered a blind advertisement and was ready to leave her home by stealth. Her father discovered something of the matter, found it was a snare laid for young girls and convinced his daughter of the danger that threatened her.

Destructive Storm in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 17.—A disastrous rain and wind storm swept over South Georgia yesterday afternoon. Valdosta and Thomasville report many houses blown down. A Baptist church and fire department bell towers at Valdosta were blown down. The melon and pear crops are badly damaged across the lower section of the State.

The Two French Prisoners Discharged.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 17.—Eugene Leroux and his wife, who were arrested on the charge of having smuggled $32,000 worth of jewelry into this country from France, where it is alleged the valuables were stolen, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Benedict at noon and discharged.

Ives and Roberts to Play Again.

LONDON, June 17.—The billiard match between Frank Ives, the American champion, and John Roberts, the English champion, has been agreed upon. The game will be played early in July upon the same table used in the last match, and the "jammed cannon" (jawed carrom) is to be barred.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

The Genesee Oil Works, limited, of Buffalo, have made a general assignment. The liabilities of the company are about $300,000.

The liabilities of S. Bonham, the Fairville, Ill., banker, are in the neighborhood of $125,000 with assets equal to that amount. It is thought the bank will pay dollar for dollar.

The Rainer Electric Railway and Power Company, and Seattle Consolidated Street Railway Company, of Seattle, Wash., has gone into the hands of a receiver through a flure to dispose of its bonds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Tier's lake is alive with bass, but it's illegal to catch them now.

—The Plainfield Athletic club will give a dance to-night, in their rooms, 204 West Front street, over Allen's.

—Amateur artists frequently sit along the bank of the stream leading to Tier's Lake, and make sketches of the pretty surroundings.

—The Dunellen Call says that arrangements are being made for a tennis tournament to be played between the Dunellen and New Market clubs.

—The Bound Brook Democrat says of James Matthews of Plainfield, who was fined $25 and costs for abusing his horse: "He was served just right."

—Ladies' white canvas oxfords with kid or russet trimmings, are just the proper style for summer wear, and White's is the place to get them.

—Jim Babbitt says Annie Manning hurts his business by continually coming to his place and asking for a young colored man. He threatens her with arrest.

—Justice Nash went home last evening and forgot to lock the door to his store. Policeman Frederickson found the place unlocked and sent a hack for the owner.

—"Woodman, spare that tree", was the remark of a Peace street resident, this morning, but the workmen had no mercy, and down went the tree like "McGinty".

—The tramps who invaded and for weeks were a great annoyance to the Netherwood district have taken their departed, and gone to the seashore and mountains.

—About twenty-five of the members of Court Pride, I. O. O. F., of this city, went to Bound Brook, last evening, to attend the bazar and fair of the Bound Brook council.

—Dunellen is going to have a big time July 4. $150 worth of fireworks was ordered yesterday by one leading citizen, and the big contributions have not yet begun to come in.

—Cutting hair at the North avenue station is not an infrequent occurrance. A day or two ago a young lad sat on the step of a phaeton while one of the hackmen sheared him.

—Two women of different nationality had a set-to in an East Front street house, a day or two ago, over the affections of a colored man. They came to blows, and finally wound up by pulling hair.

—Two well-dressed women who claimed New York as their residence place, were walking the streets of this city, last evening late, asking for a place to sleep. They were directed to a hotel on Somerset street.

—Take notice that the summer arrangement for Sunday services in the First Methodist Episcopal church begins to-morrow as follows: The Sunday-school will meet at 10 a. m., and morning service will begin at 11.

—Elm place in its new condition is a credit to the city. The ordinance compelling property owners to flag and curb in front of their residences has been carried out to the letter, and the street is now one of the best paved in town.

—A large delegation of the Germans of this city will go to Caledonian Park, Newark, to-morrow, to participate in the "Allegemeines Volksfest von New Jersey", given under the auspices of "Sozialistischen Arbeiter-Partei".

—One young man from Elizabeth who came here the other evening to visit his girl on Grant avenue, missed the last train home and had to stay over night here. He had hard work to find a house open, but finally got a room on East Front street.

—Since Belvidere avenue has been spread with crushed stone, bicyclists and drivers give the middle of the thoroughfare a wide berth; and in many places the road on each side of the macadam is being worn into ruts, so that before long additional expense will be necessary to patch up these places.

—The condition of S. C. Baker of West Fifth street, who was so severely injured on South avenue about ten days ago, is to-day reported as improved. Mr. Baker is a member of Winfield Scott Post, 73, G. A. R., and the members of the post have proffered their services if in any capacity they are needed.

—While Mrs. Hennesy of East Second street was driving through Park place, near Somerset street, Thursday night, she decided to turn the wagon around, when the "fifth wheel" got caught and nearly upset the wagon, which was occupied by Mrs. Hennesy and two small children. It was necessary to unhitch and lead the horse home, and leave the wagon in the street over night. Had the horse not been a gentle one, the result might have been serious.

—Two gay young men who drove over to New Brunswick the other afternoon had a thrilling experience. On the way home, late at night, when nearing the Landing Bridge, the horse refused to go farther. The driver took the animal by the head, and tried to lead him on, but the beast was obstinate and finally nearly backed the wagon into the canal. Eventually the horse was coaxed on, and after a two hours' drive they reached home at midnight, more frightened than hurt.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Dr. C. M. Field is bringing George Smock around again, after two weeks of the grip.

Mrs. Sarah Moore, of Stirling, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Clarkson, Orchard place.

The Letter Carriers' association will give a pink tea in July. It will be an elaborate affair.

At the home of the bride's parents, last Monday night, Charles Carr, of Plainfield, was united in holy wedlock to Miss W. Johnson, of Green brook, formerly of Dunellen.

Mrs. John Killbride, of New York city, is home with her parents at South Plainfield for a few weeks, after which she will leave for Southampton, L. I., for the summer months.

Mrs. Mary Shepherd, of Emily street, North Plainfield, is very ill, and her chances of recovery are small. She is 74 years old, and is suffering from a complication of diseases.

On the Eve of His Departure,

Herbert Langford, with Spielman & Co. of New York, residing in this city, and occupying rooms at McVey's restaurant, left for Europe this morning. A party of his friends, comprising Messrs. George O. Haven, M. Naylor, S. L. Kriney, L. L. Apgar, and K. W. DeBelle, gave him a farewell at Mr. McVey's last evening. The genial proprietor and his better half provided a splendid luncheon, and anyone who knows these hospitable people can imagine the entertainment those present received. To add to the joy of the occasion, Mr. McVey and his family presented Mr. Langford with a splendid ring. The presentation speech was made by McVey, and it was the event of the evening. The party then departed wishing Mr. Langford bon voyage.

Festivities in Fanwood.

The ladies of All Saints church, Fanwood, held a strawberry and ice-cream festival Thursday evening in Excelsior Hall. To say there was a crush would be but to feebly express the idea of the multitude that thronged the rooms. People of all denominations besieged the tables, and the powers of the ladies were taxed to the utmost in attending to the guests. Mrs. L. J. Briggs and Mrs. Moore were the executive committee on entertainment, and through their endeavors All Saints will be enriched to an appreciable extent. The Rev. Dr. True was on hand, and added much to the success of the entertainment, as all who meet him admit his magnetic powers in making and keeping friends.

Plainfield Illustrated.

In speaking of the lantern slide exhibition to be given by the Plainfield Camera club next Tuesday evening in Music Hall, THE PRESS would say that it will virtually be Plainfield illustrated, as about 70 of the photographs were made in this vicinity. One cannot appreciate the beauty spots about Plainfield until you see them shown by a powerful lime-light on a twenty-foot screen, correctly reproduced from photographs. Each picture will be described by the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis. All should avail themselves of this opportunity of viewing the work of the home club.

Mr. Matthews Relates His Accomplishments.

James Matthews favored the PRESS office with his presence again to-day, and requested "the gintle editor" to state in his "coomic paper" that he (Mr. Matthews) can spell as good as anyone, and though he says "karackter" he spells it "just like other papie". He also wanted it stated that "yees are low mean min", and that the paper was a "a darty rag". "And yees kin bet"—he added—"that I'm a gintleman, and I kin spell!"

His Leg Severely Hurt.

A. F. Marsh, wheelwright for A. J. Conroy, cut a terrible gash in his right leg, with an adze, this morning. He was trimming a piece of oak, when the tool slipped. He is confined to his home on Leland avenue.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

THE HARNED RECEPTION.

The Harned Academy students last night gave a reception to their many friends in and out of town. It has been customary in years past to have some regular commencement exercises at the breaking up of the school in the spring, but this year the trouble of moving into the new part of the building has made the regular exercises impossible, so the students had to be content with a dance and reception.

Besides the social aspect of the affair, the reception served as a formal opening of the new part of the school building, which is much larger than the original structure. It is finished throughout with hard wood, and combines every advantage for the comfort and convenience of inmates. The dancing took place in the new school hall, which was brilliantly lighted, and the new hard wood floor made dancing a pleasure.

Mrs. Harned received in the left parlor, and supper was served in the large dining room down stairs. The table was decorated with ox-eye daisies. About 250 invitations were issued, and among the guests were many from the professional and social circles of Plainfield.

Among the guests were the following: Mrs. Greene and daughters, Edward Pearson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Waring and family, Mr. and Mrs. Miller and daughters, Mrs. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Ahrens, Siegfried Ahrens, Dr. Lowrie and family, Miss Lowrie, Ed. Hardingham, Miss Mildred Shattuck, New York, Mr. Cramer, Orange, Jose Chaves, New York, Mr. Smith, (Central avenue), Mr. Giberga, Lehigh, Prof. Wieland, Mrs. and Miss Ovington, New York, Mrs. Randall, Brooklyn, Mrs. Finch, Messrs. Harry and Rufus Finch, Mr. Richardson, son and daughter, Dr. Rushmore and family, Dr. Fritts, Andrew S. Fritts, Miss Fritts, Prof. Henderson, Dr. Stelle, Prof. Leal, Mrs. Haines, Mr. Beiser, Mr. Low, Mr. Coard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming and family, the Misses Bass, Mr. and Miss Mulford, Mr. Clark, Mr. Williams, Dr. Long, Miss Nellie Ware, Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell and family, Mr. and Miss Oakley, Mr. Fish and family, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and family, Mr. Kemp, Baltimore, Miss Oegley, Mr. Munyon, Philadelphia, Mr. Martine and sister.

BY THE WAY.

—New to-night—White's hosiery sale.

—There will be a song service in the W. C. T. U. rooms to-night.

—Spring chicken is getting cheaper. It is now only 45 cents a pound.

—Dismantled Peace street affords practice for the camerites.

—Windham & Crowley's new awning was admired by many, yesterday, when it was being put up.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Exempt Firemen's association will be held to-night at 8 sharp.

—The nightly center of attraction in town is the new Japanese store opposite the post-office. The goods are sold at extraordinarily low prices.

—Every pleasant afternoon there is a grand water-works exhibition on Sandford and Westervelt avenues. Nearly every resident on the thoroughfares owns a coil of hose and spray nozzle, and when they are all in operation at once the sight is both novel and interesting.

—Sherwin is right in the midst of his summer rush. He has just such shoes as you want. Russet and tan are all the go. You can find them in all grades. But it pays best to buy the good ones. He has springheel oxfords for such girls as wear ladies' sizes, either tan-colored or black.

Off for Chicago.

Next Friday the first of Mr. Honeyman's tours to the World's fair starts from Plainfield at 9:48 a. m. by the Royal Blue Line and B. & O. Among those going are president DeWitt and vice-president Amerman of the First National bank of Somerville, and Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn of the same place; postmaster and Mrs. Enni, of Raritan; Mr. and Mrs. William W. Smalley, the Misses Cook and Mrs. Tappen and daughter of Bound Brook; the Rev. and Mrs. E. V. Hoelsche, of Glen Gardner; the Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Cadwell, J. W. Pierson, V. O. Burtis, Mrs. H. Waincke and daughter, Miss Dullman and Miss Littell, of Westfield; the Rev. and Mrs. George H. Payson, of Rahway, and others from various points to the number of between forty and fifty. Mr. Honeyman states he has accomodations for about four more. A much greater number has been booked for July 7.

A Professor to Preach for Them.

The South Bound Brook Reformed church has extended a call to the Rev. Mr. Mershon, who so acceptably preached to the congregation last Sunday morning. This rising young minister will begin his duties about August 1. Mr. Mershon is about 27 years of age, was graduated from Princton Theological Seminary last year, and is now the pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Wyalusing, Pa. He has been elected Professor of Languages in Princeton Seminary.

Ernest Gabler & Co.

Began to make Pianos; skill and honesty and good material went into every instrument. It has been so ever since.

Experience and experiments have made the tone resonant, the touch smooth and sympathetic and the action perfect,

The large demand for the GABLER Pianos by the musicians of Newark and vicinity is in itself a guarantee of their quality. They are one of the few Pianos that NEVER WEAR OUT, and sell themselves. They have only to be seen to be appreciated.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves lasts but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America.

FRATERNAL FESTIVITIES.

Jr. Order Brethren Enjoy the Second Anniversary of Somerset Council, 104.

The second anniversary of Somerset council, 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., of North Plainfield, took place in I. O. O. F. Hall, 8 West Second street, this city, last evening. A large number of representatives were present from the several councils in the vicinity as follows: Franklin, 41, of Plainfield, Pioneer, 58, of Bound Brook, Ivanhoe, 72, of Somerville, Friendship, 81, of New Market, William G. Holton, 55, of Dunellen, and Central, 131, of Westfield.

The meeting was called to order by the councilor Frank W. Balley, and after the regular routine business was transacted the chair was filled by the senior past councilor of the council James D. Anderson, who presided and announced the numbers on the programme.

Letters of regret were received from Past State Councilor S. O. H. Mills, of Rahway, and State Councilor Joseph L. Moore, of Camden, as not being able to attend.

Speechmaking was the principal part of the exercises, interspersed with instrumental music and a recitation. Messrs. William C. Force, of Franklin council, 41, and Joseph Newman, of Somerset council, 104, gave a banjo duet, and the latter gentleman also gave a ocarina solo, accompanied by Mr. Force on the organ. A recitation was also given by Harvey Thorn.

Speeches were made by the following: Post State Council outside sentinel William B. LaRue, of Bound Brook, State Council warden David Bodine, of Plainfield, and Messrs. C. S. Day and Nelson, of New Market, Byno, of Somerville, Durn, of Bound Brook, Bailey, Dayton and Anderson, of North Plainfield, Wooley and Stamets, of Westfield, Long, Pope and others of Plainfield. After the meeting was closed a bountiful repast was served in which all took part.

PLAINFIELD MARTINS ELOPE.

A Pair of East Front Street Favorites Mate and Fly Away.

An interesting sight has for the past few days been presented to pedestrians on Broad street, says the Elizabeth Journal. Attention was first called to the flying in and out of the hood of the electric lights, corner of Broad and Jersey streets and opposite East Grand street, of a pair of pretty martins, both of the same color, and apparently male and female. They are believed to have come from Plainfield, where there is a large colony of them.

On examination it was found that in the lamp at corner of East Jersey street they had constructed a snug nest composed of mud and clay. The nests are well made, and as the men hauled down the lamps the birds, which are safely stowed away behind the well and firmly made walls of their homes, stick out their pretty, dark blue heads and chirp "peep", "peep", and evince no alarm. They are as industrious little pair, and above the rays of the brilliant arc light they sit in their nests and are frequently seen in the bright glare to be repairing their domicile.

Yesterday morning they were noticed picking up mouthfuls of mud from Broad street and flying away with it to their retreat. Here they cling to the sides of their nest, and by dint of hard work they poke their bills filled with mud to the sides of the long neet and keep poking at it until the mud is laid as smooth as if done by a plasterer.

When the material is laid to their satisfaction, both birds aiding each other, they fly back and bring another supply of material.

Years ago when the old Sheppard hostelry, which stood about where the west bound station of the Central railroad now is, scores of the ingenious birds were cared for by the proprietor, who caused a place to be built for them to make their nests. This was in the sixties. Since then the birds have not made their appearance until within the past few days.

$5 for Throwing Kisses.

Jacob Goodwin came down town last night, and feeling rather blue he proceeded to indulge in sundry bowls of intoxicants, which so far improved his state of mind that he started out for a walk feeling quite rejuvinated.

When he reached the boulevard he caught sight of some females, and being in a flirtatious mood he began throwing kisses to them. The ladies resented this, but Jacob was not abashed and continued his advances in a very ardent manner, until the police were called on to interfere. Officer Cooney restrained Jacob's passions, and judge Coddington this morning fined him $5.

Howell Division Busts Up.

The once flourishing Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, is no more, and some of the older members are about to organize a lodge of Good Templars here. The trouble originated over the dismissal of one of the members, who appealed the case first to the Supreme Council of the State and then to the National Council. The latter body ordered her reinstallment; hence the difficulty. Most of the furniture owned by the division has been bought in by the members.

A Sad Affliction.

The Bound Brook Democrat says of Miss Belle H. Barcalow, sister of Mrs. Edward White, of this city: "She was an amiable and bright young lady whose loss will be severely felt by her family and many friends".

Set Him Right.

Geo. Augustus Sala, the well-known English writer, on his last Australian trip wrote as follows to The London Daily Telegraph:

"I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medico indeed, who tended me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the Tropics, and, in particular, a couple of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS clapped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

Washingtonville's Commencement.

Dictator Feytel Taught Them the Ritual.

Twenty-two Bound Brook men were initiated by the Plainfield Grand Dictator into the secrets of the Knights of Honor, Thursday night, and then proceeded to organize Bound Brook lodge by the election of the following officers:

Past Dictator—Frank Wolff.
Dictator—W. H. Dunham.
Vice Dictator—John L. Force.
Assistant Dictator—George Kunta.
Reporter—A. H. Heppner.
Financial Reporter—E. B. Matthews.
Treasurer—C. H. Perry.
Guide—Wm. Taylor.
Chaplain—James H. Fisher.
Guardian—J. K. Smith.
Outside Guardian—E. Van Doren.
Trustees—David Davis, M. D., John Parsells, Gilbert Van Doren.
Representative to Grand Lodge—Frank Wolff.

Among the instituting officers present, says the Bound Brook Chronicle, were C. J. Feytel, Grand Dictator, of Plainfield; Dr. W. H. Keller, Grand Chaplain, of Bayonne; and Louis P. Cron, Grand Assistant Dictator, of Elizabeth.

At the close of the meeting a collation was served at the Mansion House.

The Giant of the Enemy.

(From The Hartinsville Democrat.)

There is to Somerville people in particular, and to everyone in general outside of Plainfield, no little humor in the fact that the second-rate sports who make up the Crescent League have been turned out of house and home by the Ulrich estate, because they have not paid their rent in three months. At a meeting the other night judge Ulrich made a formal demand for the rent, which was to be paid or dispossess proceedings would be begun. Three nights afterward the league decided to sell off their property, pay their debts, and begin anew next fall on a more modest basis. Is it possible that there is anyone in the Windy City who can be modest? Where is the Plainfield Amusement company, (Limited)? Are they still alive? If so why not save the Crescent League? Just to think, the Crescent League thrown out from their club-house for non-payment of rent!

Not So, Brother Mason.

The Bound Brook Chronicle says: "Plainfield people are complaining because water stands in some of the streets until it becomes stagnant and foul. These same people would probably object to having the streets in question graded, so that the water would run away."

What the people object to is having the gutters used as a receptacle for waste water. Rainwater alone should be their portion. Gutters are not meant to be brooks, and Plainfield was never intended for a Venice. Oh for a health board that had to courage to act!

Spoiled the Shoe, and Cut His Toe.

Henry Tiedeman, while working under street commissioner Meeker on Peace street this morning, seriously injured his foot. He was fitting the head of a mattook on to the handle when he let it fall on his foot. It cut his little toe nearly off, and badly cut the next one. Tiedeman said he did not mind his foot as much as he did the injury done to his new shoe, which was spoiled.

Is He a Borden Witness?

The Lizzie Borden trial has been watched with eagerness. An acquaintance of the family and perhaps a material witness for the defence is now stopping at Caspar's Hotel on East Front street. He is a middle-aged man, and intends to stay here till the trial is over. He will not talk about the case.

Eddie Daly Going to Pieces.

This week's Sporting Life has the following to say about a former Crescent player: "Eddie Daly has been laid off for a time. He has been playing wretchedly of late, and his batting is n't nearly as good as it was while away from home. He tries hard enough, but somehow or other he can't make connections."

Lane Is Always Interesting.

(Rahway Democrat.)

James E. Martine of Plainfield authorizes the announcement that he is in no sense a candidate for Senator. This would seem to leave a pretty clear field for the Hon. Thomas A. Lane, of Summit, to secure the Democratic nomination. He would make a very lively and interesting canvass.

A Long-Desired Improvement.

Work will be begun Monday macadamizing Park avenue from Holly's to Metuchen, with stone from Wilson's crusher. This will make a continuous macadam roadway from Plainfield to New Brunswick. The Park avenue road to Rahway will be macadamized next.

Where He Spends His Sundays.

(Dunellen Weekly Call.)

Mr. Tomlinson of Plainfield was entertained by the Misses Dunham on Sunday.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday morning to insure publication.

[THIRD SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY.]

Perseverance Nominations.

At a regular convention of Perseverance lodge, 74, K. of P., held in their Castle Hall, last evening, nomination of officers for the ensuing term was the feature of the evening, and the following gentlemen were nominated for the various officers:

For Past-Chancellor—Samuel J. Robinson.
For Chancellor-Comandes—Asa D. Pope.
For Vice-Chancellor—E. Garrison.
For Prelate—Theodore Mason.
For Keeper of Records and Seals—John F. Wakefield.
For Master of Finance—J. B. Higgins.
For Master of Exchequer—William H. B. Drake.
For Master-at-Arms—P. Hansen.

The election of the above will take place on Friday, June 30. Perseverance lodge is one of the leading lodges of the State, and it has always a welcome for strangers.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-15-7

Union County Road Improvements.

The board of freeholders of Union county have designated the Edgar turnpike between Elizabeth and Rahway as a county road, and have ordered it to be paved with macadam for a width of twelve feet. By resolution the board also voted the issue of $50,000 worth of bonds, at a denomination of $1,000, with interest at 4 per cent., the money to be used for road improvement. Plainfield's representatives, freeholders Vanderbeek and Hubbard alone, voted against the scheme.

Sure to Be a Go, with Hand and Runyon in It.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in the office of the Union county clerk by the Mutual Land and Building syndicate of Lorraine, the incorporators of which include J. D. Runyon and Chas. H. Hand of Plainfield.

A BIG FAILURE

Judgments Filed Against the Duquesne Tube Works Company for $350,000.

PITTSBURG, June 17.—Judgments and executions were filed in the Prothonatory's office at 10 o'clock against the Duquesne Tube Works company for $350,000. It is stated that nearly the entire debt of the company is included in the judgment. This is secured by the property of the company.

The failure is caused by general depression in business.

Three judgments aggregating $300,000 were entered by W. A. Dunshee and one for $127,522 by the Tyrone Iron Company.

The works have one of the most complete pipe plants in the country. It has been in operation five years and covers twenty acres of ground at Duquesne, ten miles above Pittsburg, on the Monongahela river.

The property is estimated to be worth one hundred thousand dollars exclusive of the machinery.

The value of the plant is $350,000. W. A. Dunshee, the Pittsburg attorney, is president of the company. He said that with careful management the company will pay all of its debts.

THE TONAWANDA RIOT

The Militia is There and All is Quiet at Present But Trouble is Feared.

BUFFALO, June 17.—What has been threatened and expected all season happened yesterday, and Tonawanda is to-day under a guard of militia. The 25th Separate Company of Tonawanda and the 42d of Niagara Falls are already in the field, with Col. Welch in command, and two companies of the 65th Regiment will be sent there if the situation should become more serious.

Tonawanda saw the beginning of a riot, and only the quick response of the soldiers to a call for help prevented bloodshed. About half of the Poles went on the island at 7 a. m. intending to go to work, but they were threatened by the others and gave up to their comrades. All of them demanded their pay, and threatened to tear down Smith, Fassett & Co.'s building if it was refused them.

Although the riotous Poles, or most of them have returned here, yet it is not felt that the danger of bloodshed is over by any means. Should an outbreak occur it will be promptly met, by the soldiers in command in the field.

South Atlantic Fisheries.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The report on the fisheries of the South Atlantic States shows that in 1890 the number of persons engaged in the fisheries in this section was 16,001, the amount of capital invested was $1,688,286 and the value of the products $1,578,704. The shad is by far the most important single object of capture, after which come oysters, alewives and mullet. The value of these four items is $1,036,285, a sum twice as large as that accruing from the sale of all the other products combined.

Suicide at Hingham, Mass.

HINGHAM, Mass., June 17.—Mr. Frank B. Daniels, of the firm of Smith & Daniels, wholesale clothiers, Bedford street, Boston, was found dead in bed yesterday morning with a bullet through his heart, indications pointing to suicide. Mr. Daniels was a widower, about 47 years of age, and leaves two young sons.

DEATH LIST INCREASES

Another of the Ford Theatre Victims is Dead.

CONTRACTOR DANT'S CONDITION

Worry Over the Catastrophe Threatens to Unbalance His Mind—Progress of the Coroner's Inquest—A Discharged Father of a Victim Reinstated.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A. L. Ames, who was injured in the Ford's Theatre disaster last injured, died at the Emergency hospital last night.

Mr. Ames received severe scalp wounds, a fractured leg and injuries to the back. He had been improving during the week but was taken with diarrhoea and death ensued from exhaustion.

Mr. Ames was born in Illinois about 46 years ago but subsequently moved to Iowa from which State he was appointed to a clerkship in the Record and Pension Division. He leaves a widow and one son. His death is made doubly sad from the fact that his wife is in a delicate condition. The remains will be taken to his home in Iona, Iowa.

Messrs McCormack and Metcalf, two other victims are reported to-day as being in about the same condition as the last few days. They will likely pull through if the cool weather holds out.

DANT GOING CRAZY

The Washington Contractor's Mind Affected By the Ford Disaster.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Contractor Dant, who was doing the work which resulted in the collapse of Ford's Opera House, is in a serious condition, and it is feared that his mind is affected by the disaster. Ever since the accident he has been a sick man, his malady attacking the brain rather than the body.

Once or twice he left his residence with plans of work he had under way, but was compelled to return to his home. Whenever spoken to about the calamity he would break down completely and cry like a child. His condition the past three or four days has been so serious that the doctor has prohibited his leaving the house, and denied the presence of all save the members of his family. The subject of the accident is positively prohibited.

Mrs. Dant said that her husband is very despondent and that the accident preys upon his mind to such an extent that she fears permanent injury will result. The report upon the street yesterday was that Mr. Dant had gone crazy.

THE NEWEST DULCIMER.

A Simple Instrument Sweeter by Far Than the Jew's Harp.

Take a cigar box, and take the box to pieces and remove the nails, and then glue the box together again. If you do this you will get a better tone than if you left the box alone; but for a first attempt you can start at once on the box, as we have supposed you will do in our sketch.

For the last time, then, take a box and nail a row of black furniture tacks along its opposite edges. To these nails fix pieces of very thin brass wire.

Lay a ruler, square or round, as we have done, A B in our cut, and jam underneath the wires a series of blocks, stretching away from the ruler at such distances as to give a scale of notes when plucked with a quill or hammered with a cork at the end of a slip of whalebone.

Tune from your middle note up and down. On our box we have nine notes, but twelve can be managed easily, so that semitones can be provided; but all the same, it is as well to leave the semitones till you get practice, the "newest dulcimer" having a weakess for making its own semitones and, like its robuster namesake, its own overtones, too. However, no matter.

Try the instrument as we show. Tune up your nine strings. Set to work carefully and sharply, and do not hit too hard, and you will find that the music is really good. It is not the sort of music to be played in slow time, as the resonance is not enough to carry long notes, but for ordinary work-a-day popular airs it is quite as good as the jew's harp, and far better than the mouth organs with their dreadfully grating chords. — Golden Days.

What Mr. Frog Had to Tell.

Frogs, as well as "humans," must occasionally have peculiar experiences. One would like to know exactly how they tell a story like the following, on going home to Mrs. Frog and the children: Charlotte M. Yonge says:

One day, as a snake was crossing our lawn, it was seen and pursued by some member of the family. It seemed to be rather portly and incapable of flight, and finally, in order to be free to move, it opened its jaws and emitted a frog, after which it wriggled rapidly away.

The frog lay pulled out at length, a ghastly spectacle. A great deal of sympathy was expended over the inanimate form, and just as it was about to be removed from the spot, behold! it drew in first one leg and then the other, contracted itself into a respectable frog, and hopped off as if nothing had been amiss!

"My dear," it probably said to Mrs. Frog, on reaching the pond, "I shall never smile again. Such a remarkable experience as mine sobers one for life. I went out this morning comparatively young and cheerful; I return an older and a sadder frog!"

What She Said.

A little ejaculation may sometimes express as much annoyance as can be put into words. The following story is told of the wife of one of the best known of American poets: She was in her room when some people came to call. Her husband received the company, and after awhile said to his daughter, who was playing about the room:

"Go upstairs and tell your mamma that Mr. and Mrs. Blank have come to call."

The child went, and after awhile returned and began to play again.

"Did you tell your mamma Mr. and Mrs. Blank are here?" asked the father.

"Oh yes."

"And what did she say?"

The little girl looked up, and after a moment's hesitation exclaimed:

"She said, well, she said: 'Oh, dear!'"

A Dog That Hunts Eels.

In Norwich, Conn., is a dog that hunts eels. Last winter this dog, which is a red Irish setter, appeared before his master two or three times with eels in his mouth. The master feared that the eels had been stolen from some fisherman, and followed the dog to see how he got them. The animal led the way to the shore of a pond, nosed around in a mass of leaves at the edge, snapped at something and brought out an eel. His master poked about among the leaves, and with a pitchfork was able to throw upon the shore two hundred and twenty-eight eels that had gone into winter quarters among the leaves and dead water plants near the shore.

Chinese Gossip-Mongers.

In China there is a profession for women, strange because openly and handsomely remunerated in the current coin of the realm. It is carried on by elderly women who go from house to house of rich people announcing their coming by beating a drum and offering their services to amuse the lady of the house. The offer accepted they sit down and tell her the latest scandal and the newest stories and on dits, and are rewarded at the rate of half a crown an hour, besides a handsome present should some portion of their gossip have proven particularly acceptable.

Model Heating System.

Fortunate Boise City, in Idaho, has discovered that it has a natural heating supply right at its doors. Only a mile from the town are hot-water springs, and a six-inch pipe is to convey the water through the streets and into nearly every business block and residence in the place. The cost of heating with hot water, it is estimated, will be fifty per cent. less than coal, not to speak of the gain in cleanliness.

A False Charge.

Magistrate—What is the charge?

Officer—Carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Prisoner—'Tis false, your honor. I have no deadly weapon. It was only a French dueling pistol.—N. Y. Weekly.

To Be Dismissed.

"Our French cook must go, my dear," said Mr. Jones. "My digestion is thoroughly American, and it can't understand those French dishes we are getting every night."—Harper's Bazar.

Sooner Than Expected.

Tom Bigbee—When does your marriage with Miss Goldbug come off?

Hoffman Howe—It's off now.—Puck.

TRUTH ABOUT THE BICYCLE.

It will give you health and strength, make your food digest easily, enlarge your views of men and things and add to life a zest it has never known. Perhaps you think it is hard to ride. It is not. A few weeks' practice will make you proficient; disabuse your mind also of the notion that it is dangerous. Bicycle accidents are rare, and happen from carelessness. NOW FOR THE SUBURBAN

The Great Race at Sheepshead Bay To-morrow.

TURF EVENT OF THE SEASON

Pierre Lorillard's Colt, Lamplighter, is Most Favored by the Public—The Probable Starters and Their Chances for Carrying Off the Rich Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Suburban day this year, with its restless, jostling crowds, its excitement, its triumphs, and disappointments, comes to us to-morrow, when at Sheepshead Bay the greatest handicap on the turf comes up for decision. Should the day be fair then all the better. The eager crowds will the more enjoy the rich perfume of the fresh trampled grass, and the smiling posy beds which grace the velvety laws. The picturesque scene of the Coney Island Jockey Club is in bright array. It never looked prettier, and with anything like favorable circumstances the great race should prove entertaining, to say the last.

LAMPLIGHTER.

There are more candidates for the rich prize than will face the starter. But those who do respond to the bugle call will include the pick of the entries. For days past Mr. Pierre Lorillard's slashing colt Lamplighter has been the most favored by the public. With the exception of Salvator he is the most pronounced favorite in the history of the Suburban. He is in grand shape, and such reputable trainers as "Mat Byrnes and "Jack" Joyner give it as their opinion that the Rancocas candidate can't lose, barring accidents. Locohatchee is also reported in fine fix and will carry the cherry and black.

Sims will ride for Mr. Lorillard, and it is not likely he will lose any chance of landing his mount first past the winning post.

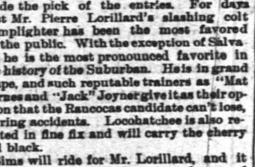
The fact that Banquet will start lends interest to the race, as it is probable his plunger owner will back him. Some time ago Mr. Dwyer thought of sending Banquet to Chicago with Don Alonzo, but after Tammany broke down he concluded to keep him here and send him for the big struggle. With Lamly up he will beat more than beat him. He has not been raced hard of late, and from his last two races he is better than ever he was in his life.

LOCOHATCHEE.

Leonawell, Mr. Philip Dwyer's entry, is said to have rounded to nicely and it is expected that he will do better than he did in the Brooklyn Handicap, when he chased Diablo and Lamplighter through the stretch.

That uncertain performer, Lowlander, will cost the Brighton Beach combers a lot of money if he is not one of the first three to catch the judges' eyes at the finish. He has been touted a great deal down by the sea. Mr. Lowe's horse has a fair turn of speed, but a mile and a furlong is said to suit him much better than the Suburban distance. Then, again, he has a habit of stopping if interfered with the least bit. However, if he should get off well and the pace should be slow for the first three furlongs he might be well up in front at the end, providing, of course, he is not jostled and pocketed.

W. M. Barrick's fine sprinter, Dr. Hasbrouck, will be sent to the post and his admirers can depend on a game fight for the honors. But just now no furfman will tell you that he thinks Hasbrouck has got much of a chance to land full place odds for his backers. Bergen may ride him.



LEONAWELL.

Iddesleigh will be Col. J. T. North's candidate. In his work he has shown remarkably well, but he seems outclassed when opposed to Lamplighter, Locohatchee, Charade, Banquet and Dr. Hasbrouck. Col. North's trainer says the horse will surely face the starter and be ridden by Hamilton.

Marcus "Copper King" Daly's The Pepper will have Overton to pilot and urge him on in the race. The horse has galloped well the past few days and may furnish a surprise. Tammany was Mr. Daly's hope, but the injury to his hoof during a trial last week necessitated his withdrawal. Tammany was considered Lamplighter's worthy opponent, and the accident causing his withdrawal has been deeply deplored by the racing public.

Pessara, Walcott & Campbell's entry, has not been seen in public since the Metropolitan Handicap, in which he figured as an "also ran." Taral will ride him in the Suburban. Walcott & Campbell have a faculty of guarding well their stable secrets, and it may turn out that their candidate can do a turn that will interest them exceedingly.

"Father Bill" Daly has two horses entered, but the "handicappers" have't figured that they will be anywhere except well in the rear of procession. Terrifier and Fidelia are the entries, and neither has done anything recently to warrant a plunge, even in the full place books. Terrifier has an impost of only 95 pounds, being the lightest weight in the race.

Charade, Bookmaker Jones' joy and hope, is in with 117 pounds, but the distance and weight do not suit him, and if a starter it does not seem likely that he will be able to do himself justice.

IT BELONGS TO US

Pope's Folly Island is to Get Down on the English Map.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Prof. T. C. Mendenhall, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, on the part of the United States, and Commissioner King on the part of Great Britain, will shortly leave Washington to determine the vexed question as to which country is the legal owner of Pope's Folly Island, near the waters of the boundary line between the United States and Canada off the coast of Maine.

The possession of this island has been in dispute for the the last century, but is now in a fair way to settlement. The discovery has just been made by Prof. Mendenhall that the first chart issued by Great Britain, showing the boundary lines between the United States and Canaday, gives the former country the island, but a subsequent chart includes it in Canadian territory. The island is not so valuable in time of peace, but in case of war would be a decided advantage to the country possessing it.

In view of his latest discovery, that the island, according to the chart of Great Britain, was conceded to the United States, the professor believes that he will have no trouble in settling the vexed question in favor of the United States. With this questioned settled, the only important one pending between the United States and Great Britain is the determination and marking of the boundary line between Alaska and the British possession.

The party which left here in March last have been unable to accomplish much. When last heard from the mountains were covered with snow. It is not believed that the boundary line between the disputed possessions can be marked for a year because of the unfavorable weather.

AUTO MOBILE TORPEDOES

Naval Officers to Be Thoroughly Instructed in Their Use.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Carrying out the suggestion made by Commodore Sampson, Chief of the Naval Bureau of Ordnance, the Acting Secretary of the Navy, has decided to cause all Naval officers who are likely to occupy executive positions aboard ship, to receive a course of instruction in the assembling and use of the Auto Mobile torpedoes which will soon be supplied to such of the vessels of the new Navy as are equipped for their use.

In view of the limited accommodations of the inspection stations and the needs of the service, the details will be made up of only six officers at one time and each detail will spend ten days in the vicinity of the torpedo station at Newport.

Two or three days of this time will be spent at the station proper in receiving instruction in assembling the mechanism of the torpedoes, two or three days will be spent at Riverton in experiments with the Howell torpedo and two or three days at Peconia in instruction in the use of the Whitehead torpedo:

As soon as the detail of officers have undergone a ten days' course, they will be relieved by another detail and this order will be kept up until the junior officers of the Navy are thoroughly familiar with the manipulation of this weapon.

TORY OBSTRUCTION

The Irish Members Do Not Think the Home Rule Prospects Bright.

LONDON, June 18.—The members of the Irish Parliamentary party have become so incensed at the tactics employed by the opposition to delay the Home Rule bill that the government must now face open revolt by the Irish members or expedite the bill and cease accepting offensive opposition amendments.

It may be pointed out that the obstructive policy followed by the Conservatives and Liberal Unionists is identical with that followed by the Irishmen when they were in opposition, and that the then government found the policy of obstruction equally as aggravating as the Irish members now find it. Murmuring of discontent have been heard during the past week, while debate on several clauses of the bill was going on and since the opposition propose to take up more valuable time in debate during the coming week the Irish members think it time for the government to call a halt in the consideration and to push the bill to its final passage.

To be Charged With Murder.

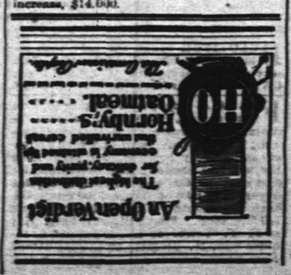
CONCORD, N. H., June 19.—The authorities have decided to charge James and Albert Jameson with murder in the first degree, for causing the death of Police Officer Augustus B. Farmer, of Bow. It is alleged that Farmer was struck on the head with a billet of wood while trying to arrest James Jameson. He died after the men had been charged with assault.

Joe Jefferson Much Improved.

FALL RIVER, June 19.—Joseph Jefferson is still gaining, his condition last night being very satisfactory. Dr. Mackenzie states that his patient has so far recovered that he would allow his removal to Buzzards Bay at once.

Canadian Pacific Earnings.

MONTREAL, Que., June 19.—The earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway for the week ending June 14 were $420,000; for the same period last year $406,000; increase, $14,000.



A LONG LEAP TO DEATH

An Unknown Man Suicides from the Brooklyn Bridge.

STRUCK THE ROOF OF A PIER SHED

Before Getting Over the Water He Laid Aside His Coat and Vaulted Over the Rail—Speculation as to His Name—The Coffin Plate in His Coat.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Nothing has to-day come to light that will serve to clearly identify the man who committed suicide last night by jumping off the Brooklyn bridge.

He evidently was not well acquainted with the bridge, for he jumped off before he got over the water. He jumped from the north roadway and landed upon the roof of the shed that covers Pier 29 East river. He was instantly killed.

The man was first seen by a bridge policeman just as he was vaulting over the side railing of the bridge. He fell a hundred feet, his body striking the roof of the shed with such force that the timbers were broken and the tin covering bent and twisted.

Nothing to positively identify him was found. It is supposed, however, that his name was Mulbrenen.

Before he made the fatal leap he took off his coat and hat and laid them upon the bridge roadway. In the pocket of his coat was found a coffin-plate, which bore this inscription:

MARGARET A. MULBRENEN,
Died June 10, 1893,
Aged 24 years and 8 months.

A large envelope was also found upon which was printed: "John Hancock Insurance Co., of Massachusetts."

The name "Mulbrenen" had been written across the envelope, but it had been crossed out and "Anna S. Waters, Oak Sq., Brighton, Mass.," substituted. On the back of the envelope was written: "Nanatum St." "72 Hampshire," "65 X 3."

In his pocket was a business card upon which the address "23 Fallow St." had been crossed out and beneath it written "270 West Newton St." In his vest pocket was the photograph of a young man and woman. Only six cents was found upon him.

The body was taken to the Oak street station.

THE CONEY ISLAND CARNIVAL.

The Men Under Good Training and Ambitious for Pugilistic Honors.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The coming summer carnival of the Coney Island Athletic Club, is the next pugilistic card in which sportsmen are interested. The affair takes place on Thursday night next. There are three bouts on the programme.

The first is a fight of 10 rounds, for a purse of $500 between Mike Leonard of Brooklyn and George Reynolds of New York.

Bout two is also one of 10 rounds for a purse of $700 between Billy Vernon of Haverstraw, N. Y., and Billy Ernest of Brooklyn, weight 135 pounds.

The final event is a fight to a finish, for a purse of $2,500, $500 to the loser, between Jim Daly of Buffalo and Joe Butler (colored) of Philadelphia, men to weigh at 160 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the contest.

As the six men have trained long and faithfully, for their respective battles, and as all are ambitious to climb the ladder of pugilistic fame, the conflicts, it is anticipated, will be short, sharp and decisive.

Held For Attempted Murder.

ROCHESTER, N. H., June 19.—Edward Berry, the attempted murderer of Willis E. Lea, for whom the police have been searching the past ten days, has been brought here by City Marshal Sleeper and lodged in the lock up. Berry was arrested by Maine officers at York, but refused to go New Hampshire without a requisition from the Governor, however through a well laid trap of the officers he was enticed across the State line when his arrest followed. He will be arraigned on the charge of attempted murder.

Disastrous Failure at Racine.

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—One of the most disastrous failures in the history of Racine was recorded Saturday when the well-known Racine Hardware manufacturing company made an assignment to August C. Frank. The liabilities are estimated at about $400,000.

Classen Case to be Re-opened.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 19.—It is said the case of Peter J. Classen, the New York banker responsible for the failure of the Sixth Avenue Bank of this city and now serving a six-years' sentence, is to be re-opened, with the consent of Attorney General Olney.

Heavy Rains in India.

CALCUTTA, June 19.—The town of Sutchana, on the Gulf of Cutch, and a number of neighboring villages have been completely destroyed by heavy rains. Five persons were killed by lightning during the storm and three persons were drowned.

The Coney Island Fire.

CONEY ISLAND, June 19.—The fire at this place Saturday morning caused damages to the extent of at least $75,000, and the loss of the life of Fireman Madden, who was precipitated through a burning building and burned to a crisp.

The Cruiser New York Accepted.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Acting Secretary of the Navy has accepted the new cruiser New York, as a result of her successful trip. The acceptance is preliminary, and to become permanent certain contract conditions must be fulfilled, but by the acceptance the builders of the vessel will receive about $700,000.

JOHN SHANN'S INSURANCE

The Company Decided That Mrs. Shann Was Entitled to It.

TRENTON, June 19.—Mrs. Mattie C. Shann, who is confined in the county jail upon the charge of poisoning her son, John F. Shann, has been presented by Superintendent Bernard McLaughlin of the Metropolitan Insurance company with a check for $121, being the full amount of the policy held by Mrs. Shann upon her son's life.

Mr. McLaughlin was notified by the company to pay the claim and immediately sent a note to Bacon and Dawes, attorneys for Mrs. Shann, apprising them of the fact and adding that the company never refused payment but simply waited until they satisfied themselves that Mrs. Shann was entitled to the money. Superintendent McLaughlin was accompanied by Mr. Barton when he handed the check to Mrs. Shann. The latter thanked the superintendent and said: "I hope everything will come right in time".

Mr. Barton said afterwards to a reporter that the case had been thoroughly investigated by ex-United States District Attorney Stewart L. Woodford of New York who is the counsel of the insurance company and that Mr. Woodford had decided that Mrs. Shann did not poison her son. Under his advice the company had paid the claim.

The prosecution will give no special weight to the incident. Mrs. Shann's trial is to begin July 10.

MEXICO NOT SATISFIED

They Say Their Fair Exhibits Are Too Much Scattered.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Mexicans are not satisfied with their exhibit at the Chicago Exposition, and several well known men of the neighboring republic who have visited the World's Fair since its opening do not hesitate to say so.

Felipe G. Canton, of this city, who has been appointed commissioner to look after the interests of the State of Mexico at the Exposition, said that Mexico had a very valuable and interesting exhibit at the World's Fair, which has cost the Mexican Government a large amount of money to get together, but the exhibit is so scattered that it does not show to good advantage.

In some part of the Exposition Grounds there are 50 or 60 tons of coffee from Mexico stored away. It was the intention to erect a pavilion from which would be served free to all comers, coffee prepared in the Mexican manner.

This scheme, however, has been abandoned and the large quantity is now lying around somewhere or other, practically useless. Several other plans of similar character had been arranged for, but for some unexplained reason they were not permitted to be carried out.

Mr. Canton further said that he met General Gosio, the Governor of the State of Quarataro, while in Chicago, and that he told him he was greatly chagrined at the poor show Mexico is making at the Fair.

He says that he believes that the establishment of a permanent exposition of Mexican products in New York will be of more practical benefit than many Chicago fairs to the business community of the Mexican republic. Commissioner Canton expects to make a tour of the States of Mexico, Zacatacas, Guerrero, Yucatan, Ridalgo and San Luis Potosi, which are more particularly interested in this undertaking.

WHAT EDWIN BOOTH LEFT

The Estate, It is Said, Will Far Exceed Certain Estimates.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Edwin Booth's will is not likely to be offered for probate for yet another week or ten days. It is in the possession of Mrs. Ignacius Grossman, the tragedian's only daughter, who is at present at her country home at Narragansett Pier, R. I.

When the actor died over a week ago Mr. William Bispham, one of Booth's most intimate friends, acknowledged that he was one of the three executors named in the instrument, but refused to say who his associates were or what was the nature or extent of the estate left under it. Mr. Bispham left for Rhode Island yesterday to confer with Mrs. Grossman on business matters.

It has since been learned that E. C. Benedict, the well-known stock broker and friend of President Cleveland, is an executor, and that the third executor is a friend of Mr. Booth and not a son-in-law, Mr. Grossman, as many supposed. One rumor set afloat had it that the estate would not amount to much over $100,000. Persons who knew Mr. Booth intimately say that the figures will greatly exceed that amount, and that the fortune left by him will be somewhere between a quarter and a half million, with the chances favoring the latter estimate.

The Pennsylvania Retrenching.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Pennsylvania railroad company is dropping men from its pay rolls every week and nearly every day. The pay roll between Jersey City and Philadelphia has been decreased this month about $40,000. During the month over eleven hundred men have been dropped between Jersey City and Philadelphia. The men dropped are principally freight handlers, yardmen and men engaged on freight. The reason given is that traffic is very poor.

A Letter From the Holy Father.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 18.—Cardinal Gibbons has received the long expected letter from the Holy Father on the school question, with the request to send copies of it to all the episcopate of the United States. The Cardinal says that it is a long and luminous document and is eminently worthy of the August head of the Catholic Church.

Killed By a Policeman's Wild Shot.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Joseph Harwick, aged 14, was instantly killed by Policeman Smith. The officer was pursuing a pickpocket, and the thief refusing to stop the officer fired at him. Harwick was running across the street and the bullet struck him in the head.

SUMMING UP TO-DAY

Lizzie Borden's Jury Gets the Case To-morrow.

GOVERNMENT NOT LIKELY TO WIN

Hard Work Done Yesterday By the Lawyers—Gov. Robinson Feels the Gravity of His Position—The Massachusetts Custom—A Story from the West.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 19.—The court room was crowded to suffocation this morning before 9 o'clock. Lizzie Borden came in shortly before that time, apparently cheerful. Ex-Governor Robinson began his address for the defence. District Attorney Knowlton's summing up will probably consume the rest of the day, and to-morrow Justice Dewey will charge the jury.

People outside of Massachusetts will think it strange that the charge to the jury is not given to-night directly after Mr. Knowlton finishes his speech. In this State it is the practice for the jury to remain in the court room after the charge has been given until they arrive at a decision. In this particular case it was thought to be unfair to compel the twelve to remain up probably all night after having listened all day to the long arguments of the attorneys.

Everything was particularly quiet and uneventful here yesterday. The work of preparation among the counsel went on all day, despite the fact that it was Sunday. The work was considered one of the essentials of good work to come. Consultations and deliberations and active efforts in the line of blocking out the arguments on an effective basis, kept all parties in the city, who are interested, exceedingly busy, while the newspaper men were interested lookers-on from afar, simply because a nearer approach and an insight into the actual work of the day and evening was an absolute impossibility.

Gov. Robinson realized to the fullest extent of his ripe, keen, analytical mind, that to-day's effort must be the greatest of his legal life. He fully believes in the justice and truth of the cause he had undertaken, and he devoted his best energies to making such an impression upon the jury that could not be readily overcome and entirely obliterated by the fierce invective and fetching eloquence of Hosea M. Knowlton, his opponent in this legal tilt.

The Government has the best end of the argument because it has the ears of the jury last, and it is barely possible that, provided the jury has not the most retentive minds in the world, the words last spoken and heard, may fall upon most of the fertile ground.

The concensus of opinion here is that Miss Borden will be acquitted in short order or that the jury will disagree. In the former event, it is understood that there will be no jubilation, but she will retire quickly from the scene of so much unpleasantness as quickly as possible. In the latter event, there may come a new trial or a case of nolle prosequi later on—she being allowed to go on her own recognizance provided her counsel stands in the breach.

It may not be fair to assume that the jury has sampled public opinion sufficiently to diagnose its present condition, and yet, there is a strong feeling that this assumption will be entirely correct.

IS THIS THE MURDERER?

An Ohio Real Estate Man Tells About a Sailor's Confession.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 19.—Charles H. Berry, a well-known real estate man and politician, is likely to play an important part in solving the mystery which hangs over the great Borden murder at New Bedford, Mass.

Last October a stranger came to this city and sought Mr. Berry, who then ran an employment agency for work. Mr. Berry's kind treatment gained the fellow's confidence and he confided to him that he was a criminal and had murdered the Bordens for revenge, also that he was a sailor.

This sustains the theory that the murder was committed by a sailor for some wrong inflicted on his father by Mr. Borden many years ago. The fellow wanted to give himself up, but finally disappeared.

Mr. Berry had forgotten the incident until he saw an account of a mysterious individual who related a similar story to a barber in Jersey City, and the description given tallies with the man who called on Mr. Berry.

The Rutgers College commencement began in New Brunswick last night with the baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. Dr. Edward B. Coe, of the Collegiate Reformed church, New York. To-day is class day.

George Dixon and Eddie Pierce have been matched by the Coney Island Athletic Club to battle for the feather-weight championship of the world and a purse of $6,500, the contest to take place on Monday evening, August 7.

Two Women Speak

For the benefit of others.

Miss Helen Smith,

43 22d Place, Chicago, Ill., says:—

"I was troubled with irregularity and leucorrhœa. I followed Mrs. Pinkham's advice, took her Vegetable Compound, and used her Sanative Wash. I now feel like a new woman, and am perfectly healthy."

Mrs. E. Fox,

Woodstown, N. J., writes:—

"I had been sick 10 years with womb trouble and leucorrhœa. I could do no work. Doctors could not help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. Now I can do all my work, and stand nearly all day, and not feel tired. I cannot thank you enough. I recommend it to every woman who has any weakness."

A FEAST OF ROSES.

THE GARDEN PARTY AT EDGEWOOD A FLORAL TRIUMPH.

Bad Weather No Dampener of Enjoyment—Mrs. Hyde's Guests Had a Perfectly Lovely Time.

The advent of a garden party is traditionally accompanied by bad weather, and those who had been looking forward to last Saturday in the fond hope that the exception that proves the rule might allot a fair day to Mr. and Mrs. Hyde, were disappointed when the morning came with showers and cold and disagreeable winds that made everyone turn to the wraps that had been laid aside for the past month. However, people, young and old, who have made up their minds to enjoy themselves are not to be stopped by such a little thing as weather when there is a way to get around it, and at a little after 4 o'clock the street in front of Edgewood, Mrs. Hyde's Front street residence, was well filled with carriages waiting to drop their freight and return for more passengers, as the call for cabs was so great that many were obliged to wait their turn for the use of vehicles. The elaborate preparations that were in progress for dancing on the lawn were abandoned on account of the wet, and the musicians who were to have played al fresco took up one end of the spacious piazza. The grounds were beautifully arranged, and rustic chairs and benches tied with garlands of flowers dotted the lawn. A large platform was built for the musicians, and a huge crash had been prepared of very heavy canvas that was to have been spread upon the grass for dancing. Luckily, after luncheon the rain stopped, and the air grew a trifle warmer and drier as the afternoon advanced, so that the piazzas were not at all uncomfortable for those who preferred staying outside to hovering about in the parlors and dining-room. Mrs. Hyde received the guests on the south end of the piazza, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Louis Kepler Hyde, Miss Weaver, Miss Edith Hyde, Miss Bessie Stokes of New York and Miss Edith Smalley. The floral decorations were exquisite. June had parted with her loveliest roses by the myriad. Roses were everywhere, pink, white, red, and yellow, mermets, laFrances, tea roses and Jacks. Each inhalation seemed sweeter than the last, as one walked in and out among the sisters of the queen of flowers. It was a veritable feast of roses. In the dining-room the guests were refreshing themselves with salads and ices; on the piazza the merry hum of conversation, the plashing of the fountain, and the quick notes of a two-step played as only Lander's men can play it, all combined to make an impression on the little bump of appreciation of the beautiful, left to the average Philistine, that is the secret of enjoyment of all things.

A single sunbeam forced its way through the clouds and threw a golden ring of light on the lawn as if it were anxious to supply the only thing lacking for a perfect scene.

After the majority of the guests had gone, two rooms were cleared for action, and the young people danced to their hearts' content. Some of the dancing set that had gone home early returned later in the evening. A Virginia reel of about twelve couples was formed on the piazza. The fun waxed fast and furious before the end of the reel, and the long line of men and girls danced from side to side while the end couples pirouetted down the middle. One last two-step was danced, and then the dancers made their adieus and left, glowing and happy; and the moon, getting over her sulks, came out from behind the dark clouds and lighted the way of the dancers home.

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hyde, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Hyde, Frank Hyde, Harry Godfrey of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Opdyke, Miss Agnes Opdyke, Harry Opdyke, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Van Boskerck, George Van Boskerck, Miss Maud Van Boskerck, Miss Lizzie Van Boskerck, Mr. and Mrs. J. I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely. It is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my confreres. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

HIS HORSE FELL ON HIM.

Exciting and Perilous Adventure of Alva L. Carey.

Alva L. Carey had an accident Saturday afternoon which came very near costing him his life. He drove his horse to a wagon to Hedden's livery stable, left the wagon there, and started to ride the horse back to his stable, on Front street. While on the way, near Arlington avenue, the animal became frightened at some children, and threw its rider to the ground. It fell on top of him, and the entire weight was thrown on Mr. Carey. In some manner he became tangled between the horse's hind legs, and when he spoke to the animal one of his hoofs was raised and struck Mr. Carey in the face. He had some difficulty in getting control of his horse, and in doing so received another blow on his body. He is able to be around, but is feeling very much battered from his experience.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Nief Apgar is the proud father of twins, born Sunday morning.

Walter Bennett and wife of Rahway, spent Sunday with Mr. Bennett's parents on Craig place, North Plainfield.

Councilman and Mrs. Wm. G. E. See will make their summer home at the Grandview, Asbury Park, till Sept. 15.

Mrs. H. C. Adams, of Grace Court, will give a tea this afternoon to her sister-in-law, Miss Margaret Adams, of New York.

The condition of Mrs. Wm. Schorb, of North avenue, who suffered a relapse from pneumonia, is to-day but little improved.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Beers, of Watchung avenue, returned to Plainfield Saturday from a trip to the World's Fair and Niagara.

Mrs. Worthington and her daughter, Miss Laura Worthington, of Seventh street, will spend the summer at Woodstock, Conn.

Howard Tracy, of Eighth street, is to be married next Saturday at St. Paul, Minn. A number of the family will go to St. Paul to attend the ceremony.

Miss Edith Plummer, daughter of John F. Plummer, formerly of Netherwood, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue.

Mrs. Margaret Martin, of 428 West Fourth street, left to-day for the World's Fair, with a party of six. She will remain at the Rotunda Hotel for about a week.

Francis Frost, son of councilman Frost of Watchung avenue, has returned from Cornell University, where he has been taking his entrance examination for Sibley college.

Miss Henrietta Cuming entertained a few of her friends at her home on Watchung avenue, Saturday evening. The time was very pleasantly spent in a social way, and all thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Buchanan, of Lincoln place, Brooklyn, who have been at the Hotel Netherwood for the past few seasons, have taken a house next to the residence of mayor Saunders in North Plainfield.

The Hillside Tennis club gave another of their charming teas, Saturday. Mrs. G. Harry Squires received. It was poorly attended, owing to the inclement weather and to other entertainments, but it was most pleasant for all attending.

Vladimir Filippovsky, navigating officer of the cruiser Rynda, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Bartlett, jr., 529 West Front street. He was escorted by carriage all about Plainfield, and expressed himself as perfectly delighted.

A very dainty, affectionate and reverent volume has been issued by the Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, entitled "A Brief Sketch of the Life and Character of Agnes Waterbury Rodman", his lamented daughter. The book contains a portrait, an "In Memoriam" from Dr. Rodman's pen, a beautiful and touching poem "From the Other Side of the Gates of Pearl", and letters and minutes of condolence and bereavement. The volume is a tender tribute to the memory of a lovely girl, and friends will appreciate it. Copies are on sale at Estil's for the "Agnes fund" for the purchase of Easter flowers for the altar of Grace P. E. church.

No Oshkosh in Ours.

It was an Oshkosh man who was disappointed when he referred to the book of Numbers and got no information about his house. A Plainfielder would have gone to Collier's and got not only the information but the beautiful nickel numbers to be obtained there at lowest rates.

SCOTCH PLAINS ROWDYISM.

Plainfield Citizens Have to Suffer from the Illegal Sale of Liquor.

If the Scotch Plains authorities would transfer their energies from the picayune policy of arresting every bicycle rider not exhibiting a lantern to the suppression of liquor selling on Sunday, many thousands of people in that borough and Plainfield would be glad to call them useful. There can be no doubt that all kinds of intoxicants are sold in Fanwood every Sunday, and there is more than one prominent offender.

Drunken men make East Front street a most undesirable thoroughfare for residents and passersby every Sabbath, and it is high time that the police of this city took a hand to prevent the broils and disorder caused by the drunken wretches who make this one day of the week one of gross revelry. The liquor may be purchased in Scotch Plains or just over the boundary line in Somerset county, but the debauchery is very evident in the eastern part of this city. An officer patrolling from Richmond street to Terrill road every Sunday would find plenty of disorderly conduct to suppress, and numerous persons to whom arrest and heavy fining would prove beneficial.

Yesterday afternoon two drunken louts ran into two respectable pleasure drivers from Dunellen, on East Front street, and wrecked the carriage of the victims of their wild intoxication, and drove furiously away without asking if they could assist the people they harmed. A serious runaway was narrowly averted. Those who were injured are seeking to identify the revellers.

Distressing Accident to a Woman.

A very peculiar and distressing accident happened to Mrs. Joseph Laing, of Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, which will in all probability result in the loss of the ends of the two middle fingers on the right hand. The particulars are these: On Saturday Mr. Laing hired a horse in New Brunswick, to take the place of a disabled one. And in order to return the horse so it could be used early this morning, he and his wife started for New Brunswick yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Laing leading one animal while her husband drove the other. In some unaccountable manner the rope got fastened around her hand, and within a hundred yards after starting the horse in the rear stopped short, thus tearing the flesh from the two fingers. The injured lady was assisted to her home, and Dr. Gaston dressed the wounds.

Plainfield Pictured by Calcium Light.

The entertainment by the Plainfield Camera club at Music Hall, to-morrow evening, promises to be one of much interest to the residents of this city and vicinity as the pictures to be shown are largely made in Plainfield. There are some, however, made by members on their different trips about the country. The Wild and Woody West, for instance, will be illustrated, showing its various mines, plains and prairies.

Miss Alice Coard will render some piano solos. Mr. Simonds, baritone, of Newark, will sing, and Miss Anna Louise Teale will recite (by special request) "The Decorative Sisters". Miss Nellie Suydam of Brooklyn will also recite some of her best selections.

Three Subscription Concerts.

Albert Venino announces for the season of 1893-94, three subscription concerts at the Casino. The first in November, the second in January and the third in April. Besides the "Beethoven String Quartette", Mr. Venino will select from the following list of eminent artists: Pianists—Franz Rummel, de Pachmann (if obtainable) and Arthur Friedheim the greatest Liszt interpreter. Vocalists—Mr. Plunkett Green, the celebrated English ballad singer, and Otto Behrens, baritone. Of the above artists Messrs Plunkett Green and Arthur Freidheim have consented to assist. Course tickets, three dollars. No single tickets will be issued.

—The four bowling alleys built by Grote will be sold by Crescent League to-morrow and can be moved.

Summer Excursion Tickets

To all northern and eastern seaside, lakeside, and mountain resorts, to Deer Park and Oakland, the Virginia Springs, Niagara Falls, Luray Caverns, Gettysburg, and to all other points where people gather in search of health and pleasure, are now on sale at all Baltimore and Ohio ticket offices at greatly reduced rates. These tickets will be sold from June 1 to Sept. 30, and are valid for return passage until Oct. 31. Before selecting your route or resort consult B. & O. summer excursion book, in which shortest routes and lowest rates, via "Picturesque B. & O.," to all resorts are given from points on that road east of the Ohio river; profusely and artistically illustrated. This book can be procured free of charge upon personal application to ticket agents, B. & O. R. R. Co., or you can have it mailed to you by sending name and address with 10 cents in stamps to Chas. O. Scull, general passenger agent, Baltimore, Md.

CRITICIZING THE BIBLE.

PLAINFIELD PASTORS TALK ON THE BRIGGS QUESTION.

Dr. Richards Defers His Discourse—The Rev. Goodrich Censures the Presbyterians for Branding a Man as a Heretic Simply Because He Spoke the Truth.

The Rev. Dr. William R. Richards did not discuss the Briggs trial from the pulpit of the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday morning, although such was his intention until a few days ago. He prepared an exposition of his views of Dr. Briggs and his gallant fight for liberty, and intended to present this to Plainfield Presbyterians yesterday, as THE PRESS stated some time ago. That he did not do so is due entirely to the fact that during last week the Briggs case was reopened in the original Presbytery, and remains to-day practically unsettled, although the general assembly has branded him a heretic.

Several times Dr. Richards has taken occasion to speak fearlessly in defense of Dr. Briggs, and an interesting and instructive address was expected from him on this subject. When he announced from the pulpit, however, that he did not consider himself justified in taking up the theme of progressive Christianity until the matter at issue was settled, many were disappointed. It is a well-known fact that many in Dr. Richards's congregation do not think as he does upon the Briggs case, and all of these were doubtless satisfied that the discussion was delayed. The talented and progressive clergyman intimated that his congregation should have an opportunity of hearing the discourse just as soon as he felt justified by circumstances to deliver it.

The sermon which he preached was in the minister's best vein, and doubtless pleased his congregation as a whole better than the one anticipated. Dr. Richards is not the man to be continually striving to please his hearers, however, much as he may love them as men and as Christians. He is thoroughly outspoken in his admonitions to them, and when the time comes for him to take up the Briggs case he will do it most fearlessly and righteously.

While their physical comfort of temperature was maintained by pleasant breezes that entered through the open windows and circulated about the sanctuary, the Rev. C. L. Goodrich's Sunday morning congregation heard an outspoken and eloquent sermon in support of Dr. Briggs and in censure of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church that pronounced Dr. Briggs a heretic. The text was as follows:

> These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether these things were so.—Acts xvii; 11.

The Briggs matter—said Mr. Goodrich—had raised questions which had disturbed many, had caused grave fears, had given alarm for the safety of the faith: for the Briggs way was different from the old and universal way, from the way many had been taught in childhood. The old idea of the way the Bible was written was not the way modern scholars taught. They showed that errors may have existed originally, and Dr. Briggs was one to make such claim. He also held that Moses did not write the Pentateuch, and that Isaiah was not the author of the book bearing his name. To admit that there were errors in the Bible, however, had been deemed dangerous by the General Assembly, and they had pronounced it heresy.

Heresy trials—continued the preacher—belonged back in the Middle Ages. They went well enough with the Inquisition, but they were out of joint with this age. It was very possible for sincere Christian men to be mistaken even in matters of religion, and one of the most lamentable scenes in history was that of a body of Christian men like the General Assembly earnestly and persistently opposing the growth of knowledge, staying the progress of advance thought.

Any great new truth had the majority opposed to it at first; but because the majority were against it, did not prove that it was wrong, any more than when one had the courage to stand alone that was proof of his being right. Men were accustomed to certain forms of expression of the truth. When one differs from these, they rallied to fight, believing they were defending the faith. But truth was too large and too live to be cooped up in any one form of expression. Truth was not a thing to be afraid of. Everything that could be shown to be true was to be accepted without alarm. It was doubt of Christ to be afraid of the truth. Christ had said "I am the truth", and we should exhibit a readiness to receive new truths whether they harmonized with our old forms or not. It was hard for some to change their way in religious things, but they ought always to be prepared to look into new expressions of thought. The Christian scholars of to-day were more likely to be right than those of three centuries ago. They had searched the Scriptures and we should give respectful hearing and look into the Bible and see if the old or the new view is right. The views of Dr. Briggs were the result of "higher criticism". There was great hostility among many to criticism of the Bible. They cried "What presumption!" But criticism was not, as some mistakenly supposed, to find fault. It was to give a careful and scholarly study of the Bible in a literary way as other literary and historical authors are studied.

Of Bible critics there were two kinds. The radical or destructive critics were not friends of the Bible, and sought to tear it to pieces. These had made out no case deserving our attention. The more conservative critics were devout men, friends and believers of the Bible. These deserved respectful attention. They, of whom Briggs was one, held that Moses did not write the first four books of the Bible, and it would strike the majority of Congregationalists as absurd to condemn a man as a heretic for believing that. As if it made any difference who the author was, any more than of many other books whose authorship is in dispute. We should not condemn for new views: we should search the Scriptures, and we will find that nowhere do they state that Moses wrote those books. In Christ's time it was the common view that Moses was the author. But Christ nowhere said, nor did any part of the New Testament claim, that Moses wrote the Pentateuch. A study of the books themselves shows that Moses could not have written them. Much of them must have been written later. No one man could have been the author. The Pentateuch was a composition made of various old manuscripts from many hands. It was the product of many centuries, some older than Moses, some of his time, and some later. But the question of authorship was one for scholarship to decide, not for the General Assembly. It was not a question of doctrine or faith, and to condemn a man as a heretic for such belief was ridiculous.

To think that there were errors in the Bible gave some people a panicky feeling; they felt that if any flaw was there they could n't trust the rest of the faith.

But our faith was built on God as revealed in Jesus Christ, and not built on any historian's statements. The Bible was the progress of the revelation of God culminating in Jesus Christ. Christ was the perfect and infallible revelation of God, and He was not disturbed by any Higher Criticism. That there were trifling inaccuracies here and there in the Bible did not trouble Him.

Some felt that it was dangerous to admit errors, fearing that it would shake the faith and compel them to give up the Bible.

But if there seemed danger in admitting errors, there was also danger in evading the truth. It was best to trust the truth, to be loyal to it. In the long run, whatever was true would be safest. If there are inaccuracies, the affirming that there are none would spread insincerity.

Some people had held there was no difference between Congregationalists and Presbyterians. But in these days a difference was noticeable, for the Congregationalists were developing broader and more progressive thought, and a simpler creed.

Mr. Goodrich showed that there were historical inaccuracies in dates in the Bible. The author had taken different manuscripts and records and in putting them together had not noticed the discrepancies. His mind was not fixed on scientific accuracy and dates. He was only after the great ethical and spiritual problems working out in sacred history, and it made no difference whether Jehoiakim reigned 16 years or 20, though different parts of the Bible gave both limits.

In the Bible we were to accept or reject the grand principles of morality and religion; these were what the Book was for. The occasional trifling inaccuracies were not sufficient to stamp the work as unreliable. The Old Testament was substantially accurate and reliable history. As men in these days grew to know more about science, as they dug up fresh testimonies in Minevah and other places, they got more and more confidence that it was as true as anything wrought by human agency.

The New Testament gave different accounts of the healing of blind Bartimeus. One said that it was while he went into Jericho, and the other while he went out of Jericho. How natural it was for accounts to differ. No two people could tell a story exactly alike. This natural discrepancy proved the reliability of the narrative.

But there was the Christ in the story, and the compassion and power, and the light for blind eyes, for all the world, and that's what the Bible was for. The Bible shows us Christ unharmed by criticism, untouched by error. It was absurd to say that we would have to give up the Bible because of its errors. We were to fix our eyes on Jesus Christ; He was infallible; we were to test everything by Him. We should take the Bible as a great moral and spiritual teaching, and be wise unto salvation. We needed a broader and more reasonable view of the inspiration.

Mr. Goodrich gave a parable, it being Washington Gladden's writing at the close of one of his books, on the American flag. He interpreted the parable that we should rationally and reverently refrain from worshiping the letter of the Bible and rejoice in its gifts spiritually. No man could wisely open the book without lifting up his soul in prayer that his heart might be prepared to receive its messages.

Mr. Goodrich said that he would answer privately or by another sermon any questions that might be raised by his preaching.

In the prayer following the sermon he gave thanks for the Bible and its precious truths.

TO THE WORLD'S FAIR VIA B. AND O.

Going via Washington and Returning via Niagara Falls

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has placed on sale at its offices throughout the East excursion tickets to Chicago, good going via Washington and returning via Niagara Falls, with the privilege of stop over at each point. These tickets are valid for return journey until November 15, and are not restricted to certain trains, but are good on all B. and O. trains, and permit holders to travel via Pittsburgh or via Grafton. By either route passengers cross the Allegheny mountains, 3,000 feet above the sea level, amid the most picturesque scenery in America. Sleeping car accommodations may be reserved in advance upon application to nearest B. and O. ticket office.

GERMAN ELECTIONS

Vote of the Army Bill Depends Upon the Re-ballots Next Week.

BERLIN, June 19.—The returns have almost ceased coming in, although reports from thirty districts are still lacking. The government has decided to exert all its influence to induce all the factions favorable to the Army bill to unite against the Richterists, Social Democrats and Clericals in the bye elections, which will be held about one week from to-morrow.

Herr Richter himself says it is doubtful whether a majority against the bill can yet be inferred from the ascertained results. In calculating what succession of strength the Socialists will gain in the Reichstag the fact must be remembered that the whole force of the party has always hitherto been polled on the first ballot, whereas other parties, through anti-Socialist coalitions, show the greatest strength on re-ballot.

It was thus in 1890, when the Freisinnige party won in all thirty-five of the re-ballots between them and the Socialists. About eighty Socialists will stand in the coming re-ballots, and it is a rational estimate to credit them with securing twenty-six more seats. Before the election Herr Vollmer, one of the ablest heads of the party, predicted that fifty of his colleagues would appear in the new Reichstag.

What ought to concern the Government quite as much as the increase of the Socialists in Parliament is the development of Socialism throughout the country.

Regarding the Centrists, the recent schisms do not appear likely to seriously affect their struggle. The party may lose fifteen seats and still remain the most solid party in the House.

Both the Conservatives and National Liberals are coming out better than it was expected they would, both having to fight numerous re-ballots against the Socialists. These two parties must rely upon co-operation in order to defeat their common enemy.

The Socialist leaders purposed issuing directions giving minute instructions as to how the members of the party should vote on the re-ballot, but decided that broad moral principles alone should guide them in their tactics.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

Exports and Imports of Merchandise and Gold for the Past Year.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, in his monthly statement, reports that the total values of the exports of merchandise from the United States during the twelve months ended May 31, 1893, were $848,373,845 and during the corresponding period of the preceding year $1,023,984,545, a decrease of $174,610,700. The values of the imports during the same periods were $936,901,287 and $828,848,119, an increase of $108,053,168.

During the twelve months ended May 31, the exports of gold amounted to $128,095,453, and the imports, $20,638,725; excess of exports $102,436,728. During corresponding twelve months last year the exports of gold amounted to $48,888,294, and the imports $40,488,334; excess of imports $600,110. During the twelve months ending May 31, the exports of silver amounted to $40,136,578, and the imports $23,764,542; excess of exports $16,372,036. During the corresponding period of the preceding year the exports of silver amounted to $30,937,500, and the imports $183,882,45; excess of exports $12,114,155.

MRS. GRANT AND MRS. DAVIS

Wives of the Dead Leaders Will Meet at the Same Hotel.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant and Mrs. Jefferson Davis are to meet. The wives of the two great leaders will exchange their first greetings at Cranston's on the Hudson, which is in sight of the West Point Military Academy, about the end of this month. The place has many associations dear to the hearts of both, as their husbands were graduates of the academy.

Mrs. Grant is now a guest at Cranston's and Mrs. Davis will stop at the same place. The two ladies will thus meet every day. Mrs. Grant, in speaking of Mrs. Davis' intended visit, said that she hoped she would not disappoint her as she did last year. She is very anxious to become acquainted with her. Mrs. Grant denies the story that her granddaughter, Vivien Sartoris, who is only 18, is studying for the stage.

Estimated that $18,000,000 Worth are Owned in Foreign Countries.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—In reply to inquiries as to the amount of United States bonds held abroad, acting Register of the Treasury Smith has prepared a statement showing that when the census of 1880 was taken coupon bonds of the United States to the amount of $537,000,000 were estimated to be owned abroad.

No effort was made to obtain similar estimates as to coupon bonds in the census of 1890, but from the cheques mailed from the Register's office, an approximate estimate is arrived at that the amount of United States registered bonds owned abroad is $18,000,000.

This includes both the bonds of holders who receive their interest direct from the Treasury Department, and bonds of foreign owners, who, for convenience, have their interest sent to their representative in this country.

Nothing New in the Greenport Mystery.

HUDSON, N. Y., June 18.—Nothing new resulted from the inquest held on the body of Fannie A. Wyckoff, who was found in Mud Creek, Town of Greenport, with her skull crushed on May 29th. Considerable time was spent in the examination of William Pectel a former lover of the girl's. The inquest was adjourned until next Saturday.

Appointed By Secretary Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Secretary Carlisle has appointed Joseph F. Kavanagh of Chicago foreman of the United States Government buildings at the World's Fair. He has also appointed S. Isadore Bradley of Connecticut, Chief Clerk in the office of the United States Treasury Department.

Gov. Russell at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 19.—Gov. Russell, of Massachusetts, with his staff, the State counsellors and the legislators, arrived here this morning on their homeward trip on their special train. They were delighted with their Chicago reception, they say. They leave for Boston to-night.

The Liberty Bell Casting.

TROY, N. Y., June 19.—The casting of of the great Liberty Bell, postponed on account of accident, will take place at the Meneely foundry in this city Thursday under the auspices of the Daughters of the Revolution and State officers.

Set Him Right.

Geo. Augustus Sala, the well-known English writer, on his last Australian trip wrote as follows to The London Daily Telegraph:

"I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medico indeed, who tended me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the Tropics, and, in particular, a couple of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS clapped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

A Crazy Woman Sent Home.

Eliza Shafer, a demented woman who had wandered from Newark, was given in charge of the Plainfield police by the conductor of the 1:17 train, Sunday morning. She had got on the train at Fanwood. Captain Grant took her home today.

Three Toughs in the Tolls.

Wm. Vanderweg, Stephen Murphy and John Smith were a great nuisance on South avenue, yesterday, returning from orgies at Fanwood. Special policeman Myers telephoned, and policemen Kiely and Frederickson locked them up. To-day they paid $5 apiece to judge Coddington.

ARAB SWIMMERS.

Their Skill and Endurance Seem Almost Incredible.

The American boy who spends his summers by the sea, or within easy walking distance of a stream or lake, sometimes thinks himself an accomplished swimmer. In comparison with the boys who have twelve months of practice a year instead of three, such a boy is a very clumsy land-lubber indeed. A traveler recently returned from the east told a writer for the Chicago News something about Arab swimmers.

"When ships are lying at anchor off the coast," he said, "the natives swim about them for hours, with scarcely a moment's rest. You may hurl a coin with all your strength as far from the ship as possible, but an Arab is after it like a flash. Darting through the water like an arrow, he has the money before it has sunk many feet into the water. He invariably gets the money, never missing a single attempt.

"Often the swimmers clamber on board the boat, and endeavor to turn an honest penny by entertaining the passengers in one way or another. Some of their sleight-of-hand performances are exceeding clever. I remember one instance in particular in which an Arabian magician got the better of a young passenger. The Arab swam out to the ship and came aboard.

"While he was endeavoring to perform a few tricks for those on deck, the fresh young man had made himself very offensive by attempting to expose all the illusions and explain them to the audience.

"Finally the Arab asked some one to loan him an English sovereign for a few moments. The young man stepped nimbly forward and handed the magician the required gold piece. The Arab stretched out his left hand, and placed the coin in the middle of his upturned palm in plain view of the spectators. He slowly closed his hand without moving its position. In a second he opened it, and in place of the sovereign was a penny. The Englishman wanted to examine it. The Arab tossed it to him. While the young fellow was examining the penny the Arab made a dive for the side of the ship. There was a splash in the sea, and that was the last the young man ever saw of the Arab or the sovereign."

NEW KIND OF DOG.

The Black Pug from China Will Soon Be Popular.

Ten or twelve years ago such an animal as a black pug-dog was unknown both in this country and in Europe, and even now it is very rare, not a single specimen having been exhibited at the last dog show in New York city. Black pugs were first introduced into

THE BLACK DOG.

England by the late Lady Brassey, and though she gave some of them away to friends, the country of their origin was kept secret by all who owned the dogs. It is pretty well established now that they come from China, and as they have been taken up by English dog-fanciers, and are being exhibited at English shows, they will doubtless soon become a "fad" with our own toy-dog lovers.—Harper's Young People.

Corrected His Mistake.

The late Justice Lamar was probably the most absent-minded man that ever occupied a prominent place in public life in this country. The Boston Herald tells this amusing story of his forgetfulness:

As long ago as the time when he was a senator, he got on a bob-tailed car in Washington, took a quarter from his pocket, and with thoughts intent on far-away things, dropped it into the box.

"Why, senator," exclaimed a fellow-passenger who knew Mr. Lamar, and had noticed his mistake, "don't you think it's a little extravagant to pay twenty-five cents for a ride when the fare is only five cents?"

"Why, that's a fact, that's a fact!" responded the senator, waking up from his day dream.

Then he drew out a handful of change, carefully picked out a nickel, dropped it into the box and sat down, satisfied that he had rectified his mistake, and had not paid thirty cents for his ride.

A Delicate Compliment.

To be able to compliment without seeming to flatter is a rare gift, and probably no race of men are endowed with that gift more extensively than the French.

An example of the Frenchman's rare tact in matters of this sort is shown in that sweet little story of a man who had ventured to compliment a white-haired old lady on her beauty.

"Ah," said she, "I fear you flatter me. You call me pretty? Why, I am an old woman, my hair is white, and, see, here is a wrinkle."

"A wrinkle?" he replied. "Never, madame; that is not a wrinkle. It is but a smile that has drifted from its moorings."

Too Bad.

A good many older persons who have been in difficult positions, and have felt that the world was really very hard, can sympathize with little Flo Sanborn, of whom an exchange writes:

She had been censured by her mother for some small mischief in which she had been engaged. She sat thinking it over for some time, and finally said in an utterly discouraged tone:

"Everything I do is laid to me."

A False Charge.

Magistrate—What is the charge?

Officer—Carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Prisoner—'Tis false, your honor. I have no deadly weapon. It was only a French dueling pistol.—N. Y. Weekly.

To Be Dismissed.

"Our French cook must go, my dear," said Mr. Jones. "My digestion is thoroughly American, and it can't understand those French dishes we are getting every night."—Harper's Bazar.

Sooner Than Expected.

Tom Bigbee—When does your marriage with Miss Goldbug come off?

Hoffman Howes—It's off now.—Puck.

AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY

Great Interest Shown in the American Derby.

WHICH WINS THE $20,000 PRIZE?

The Withdrawal of Daly's Tammany Makes Lamplighter, the Defeated Favorite of the Brooklyn Handicap, a Hot Favorite—The Jockeys and Other Noted Horses in the Race.

NEW YORK, June 20.—One week ago the Suburban Handicap, which will be run at Sheepshead Bay to-day, gave promise of being the most brilliant contest of the kind seen in years, but in the short space of ten days Tammany, the great rival of Lamplighter; His Highness, a four-year-old of remarkable speed; Diablo, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap this spring, and, in all probability, Pessara, winner of the Metropolitan Handicap in 1892, have gone amiss, and will not face the starter for the Coney Island Club's big prize.

The racing public must not imagine, however, that the disabling of the horses named will make the Suburban a certainty for Lamplighter, as Mr. Lorillard's champion carries 120 pounds, and meets such handy horses as Banquet, Charade, Dr. Hasbrouck, Raceland, Mars, The Pepper and Lowlander, and were only Banquet and Lamplighter to start, the contest would be close and interesting, as the Dwyer gelding is better at present than at any time in his career. Therefore, while the luck of the Coney Island Jockey Club in having so many good horses unable to take part in the Suburban is to be deplored, there is no doubt that the attendance will be very large.

AT THE JUDGES' STAND.

The fact that Banquet will start lends interest to the race, as it is probable his plunger owner will back him. Some time ago Mr. Dwyer thought of sending Banquet to Chicago with Don Alonzo, but after Tammany broke down he concluded to keep him here and send him for the big struggle. With Lamly up he will beat more than beat him. He has not been raced hard of late, and from his last two races he is better than ever he was in his life.

Everybody admits that Banquet will be Lamplighter's most dangerous opponent, the little gelding's mile and a quarter at Morris Park in 2:05 3-4, with 130 pounds up, being the best performance of the season from a time standpoint. It is a singular fact, however, that Lamplighter has always beaten Banquet. Mr. Dwyer will, unless he changes his mind, start Raceland to help Banquet. Charade's easy victory in the Metropolitan Handicap at Morris Park made some close observers think that the black colt that is owned by Bookmaker Jones had a chance for the Suburban, but those who have carefully followed the career of the son of Charaxus have always maintained that the distance is a furlong too far for him. This argument was borne out in the Brooklyn Handicap this spring, and again at Morris Park a few days ago, where he ran unplaced to Picknicker in the New York Jocky Club's Handicap.

LAMLY.

Dr. Hasbrouck's race at Sheepshead Bay on Saturday was a sore of trial for the Suburban. This great sprinter has not been asked to run over a mile except on one or two occasions, and there has always been the gravest doubt as to his staying powers. Many persons contend that a horse of such dazzling speed as Dr. Hasbrouck undoubtedly possesses can be made to perform very creditably up to a mile and a furlong, and in some instances at a mile and a quarter.

The pace on Saturday in the early part of the race in which Dr. Hasbrouck took part was very fast, and Doggett kept him in check as much as possible. Lowlander, another Suburban candidate, whose weight is 105 pounds, was in the race, and he carried the Doctor along for the first seven furlongs at a very smart clip. Both were tired when challenged by the light weighted Kilkenny, and had to give way to the Raceacas colt in the home-stretch.

A horse that cannot be overlooked is the Morris representative, Mars, who is in very handily at 113 pounds.

DREDGING THE LIVERPOOL BAR

A Monster Machine to Lift 24,000 Tons of Matter in Ten Hours.

LIVERPOOL, Eng., June 20.—The trial took place in the River Mersey yesterday of a new dredger, which is the largest in the world. It is 320 feet in length, and will raise 24,000 tons of matter daily from the bar at the mouth of the river.

The machine in every way fulfilled expectations. The work of deepening the water on the bar within the past two years has given a difference of seven feet in the water on the bar. In the early part of 1891 there was only eleven feet of water on the bar at low tide, whereas vessels drawing close on to eighteen feet can now cross the bar at low water.

FORD THEATRE INQUEST

The Coroner's Jury Finishes Its Labors.

Col. Ainsworth, Contractor Dant, With Messrs. Covert and Sasse are Held Responsible for the Disaster.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—It was decided by Coroner Patterson yesterday that Col. F. C. Ainsworth should not be summoned to appear as a witness before the Coroner's jury investigating the cause of the Ford's Theatre disaster.

Coroner Pattison said he did not believe that the presence of Col. Ainsworth would in any way assist in determining how Frederick K. Loftus (over whose body the inquest is being held) came to his death.

The testimony yesterday was principally in reference to the character of the material used by Contractor Dant doing work beneath the old theatre building. W. B. Walker, a brick-maker, said he sold Dant 30,000 hard arch brick for underpinning the piers. It was of good quality, such as was used for the purpose.

Frank E. Hopkins, a sand contractor, testified that he sold Dant the sand for use in mixing morter at the theatre building. Dant asked for the best quality and it was given him. Shown some of the mortar taken from the ruins, Mr. Hopkins said it did not contain the sand furnished by him.

Nothing sensational developed at the afternoon session. Five witnesses testified, the last being Butler Pitch, an elderly white-haired clerk of the record and pension division.

The jury brought in a verdict holding Col. F. C. Ainsworth, Contractor Dant, Supt. Covert and Engineer Sasse responsible for the deaths of the victims by reason of criminal negligence on their part.

WAS BOUND TO DIE

Elmer James Tied Weights to His Feet and Jumped Overboard.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 20.—Last evening Elmer James, of Philapelphia, appeared at the wharf at the Inlet bearing a heavy package and engaged Captain Somers to take him out for a sail. When some distance out the man opened the package which contained two heavy pieces of iron and began tying them to his feet. In reply to a question by Capt. Somers, he said he was going to commit suicide.

The captain labored with him, whereupon James drew a razor and declared he would kill the captain if he came near him. The man then divested himself of his shoes, hat, cuffs and coat, and leaped from the boat, sinking at once to the bottom. Before making the leap he tossed the captain his watch which he said would compensate him for the use of his boat. He also gave the Captain's boy a quarter.

James had been employed as a watchman in a Philadelphia store, but was discharged last week.

Stole $1,500 Worth of Diamonds.

PATERSON, N. J., June 20.—Wm. Murtagh was arrested at Coney Island and brought here, charged with having stolen $1,500 worth of diamonds some time ago from the jewelry store of E. T. Wheeler. The clerk who was in the store at the time of the robbery positively identified Murtagh as the thief.

HAGGERTY'S GOOD JUMP

Swam Ashore After Leaping Off the Brooklyn Bridge.

AWFUL RISK FOR A PINT OF BEER

Jumped from the Same Place that Sunday's Suicide Did—The Man Was Drunk and Was Not Hurt a Bit—Glad that He is an Irishman—Mulrenin's Body Unclaimed.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A typical Cherry Hill tough, John J. Haggerty by name, who has passed his life in the Fourth ward barrooms and the East river docks, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge to the river on the wager of a pint of beer. He was not injured in the slightest way.

Haggerty was drunk when he accomplished the feat and was in the same condition when he landed in the Oak Street Police Station a few minutes after his great leap.

Haggerty is a short thick-set fellow of 22 years, whose pugnacious ways have won him the soubriquet in Cherry Hill society of "Jack, the Dog." He has a wife and child, and by trade is a plumber.

Haggerty was drunk Sunday afternoon. With a few of his cronies he began to talk about Steve Brodie.

"Brodie's no good;" said Haggerty.

"He done a great deal more than you ever did. He jumped off the Brooklyn Bridge, understand," said Sullivan, one of the gang.

"That's nothing. I'll do that for a drink of beer," said Haggerty.

"Betcher a pint of beer you don't" said Sullivan, and Haggerty took the bet. The two with another friend then adjourned to a neighboring bar-room to discuss the bet and have some beer.

As a result, Haggerty was arraigned in the Tombs police court yesterday morning charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was released, however, and when he came out of the court room he found his two friends, Sullivan and a man named Canty, awaiting him. They reminded him of his bet, and straightaway the party went to the Brooklyn Bridge, stopping on the way occasionally to have beer. When they reached the bridge the party were in a fairly advanced stage of intoxication.

Haggerty told his friends to go down to the dock and watch him jump from the bridge. This they did. It was just 2 o'clock when Haggerty jumped aboard a truck crossing on the south roadway of the bridge. He rode to the first tower, where he jumped off and ran for about 100 feet. He tore of his trousers and coat and threw them in the river. He then climbed upon the railing, clasped his hands over his head, and threw himself into space. He struck the water as straight as a wedge and sank out of sight. In less than a minute he reappeared and struck out vigorously for the New York shore.

Word of the man's act had been telephoned to the New York end of the bridge and a policeman was sent down to the dock to arrest him. The policeman found Haggerty swimming about the dock when he arrived at the pier. He soon had him out of the water, and took him at once to the Oak street Police Station. Haggerty talked rather rationally when taken out of the water, although it could be easily seen he was under the influence of liquor.

Haggerty was not at all disturbed when put under arrest.

"What's this for?" he asked.

"Did you want to commit suicide?" asked the policemen.

"Suicide! Of course not."

"What did you want to jump for then?"

"Oh, don't you think I can jump bridges?" he exclaimed. He was taken to the station, and a large crowd followed him. There he was examined by the police sergeant. He said his name was John Joseph Haggerty, and that he was 23 years old on the 5th of this month.

"Where were you born?" was asked.

"In Kerry, and thank God for it."

"What's your trade?"

"I'm a plumber."

"A bummer?" asked a policeman.

"No, I ain't no bummer. I'm married and the father of a youngster. You can bet he's a boy."

By this time the man's sister, Maria, his brother James, and his old mother had arrived, and they all began to cry. Some of the women in the crowd outside began to cry in sympathy.

Haggerty talked freely. He was asked if he had jumped because the man who had jumped Sunday had been killed. He said he had not even heard that the man had jumped.

"Did you jump for money?" was asked.

"Of course not."

"What did you do it for?"

"Oh, don't you think I can jump bridges. I'm an expert, I am. I've jumped higher bridges than that. Why, seven years ago I jumped from the Batavia bridge up the State. Why, I didn't think they would arrest me. I didn't want to commit suicide. Why, don't you think I'm an expert swimmer? If I had thought they would arrest me I'd have swam over to Brooklyn. I could do it easy."

"How did it feel when you were going down through the air?"

"I went down like a feather. It didn't feel like anything at all."

"Did it hurt when you struck the water?"

"Of course not. I went under and then came up like a feather. It didn't feel like anything at all."

Sunday a suicide was the first one from the bridge in some time. Haggerty jumped at almost the very spot that Mulrenin jumped. Mulrenin struck on the top of the Circle line car.

W. H. Bishop's New Position.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20.—William Henry Bishop, the author, has been appointed instructor in French and Spanish at the Sheffield Scientific School. Mr. Bishop will reside in this city.

PRISONERS BREAK JAIL.

Convicts in West Virginia and Michigan Prisons Take French Leave.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 20.—An extensive jail delivery took place here at an early morning hour. Four men charged with felony and confined in a part of the prison separated from the others, dug through the walls with tools that had been handed into them during the night and with ropes let themselves down to the ground. The authorities are in pursuit of them.

JACKSON, Mich., June 20.—James Morrison and William Henson, short term convicts, escaped from the prison early in the morning by scaling the walls. They were employed about the engine room of the electric light plant. At the time of their escape no guards were on the wall. They were not missed until three hours after their escape.

GONE INTO LIQUIDATION

Receiver Named for Cassel Publishing Company.

President Dunham Charged With Being a Defaulter—He is Thought to Have Absconded—Treasurer Implicated.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Cassell Publishing company, of 104 and 106 Fourth avenue, has gone into liquidation. Before Judge Lawrence yesterday morning, on a motion for the appointment of a receiver, it was charged that the president of the company, Oscar M. Dunham, was a defaulter to the amount of about $165,000, and had absconded.

The motion for a receiver was made by Lawyer Frank H. Platt, on behalf of Hezekiah H. Archer, vice-president of the publishing company, and the owner of 650 shares of the corporation's stock, and a creditor of the company to the amount of $37,296.56.

Judge Lawrence, of the Supreme Court, after hearing Mr. Platt, appointed Henry J. Broker receiver of the publishing company, and directed that he give a bond of $160,000. The Union Trust Company was appointed the place of deposit of the publishing company's funds.

In an affidavit Frank S. Angell says he was informed by Walter H. Wagstaff, treasurer of the corporation, that Mr. Dunham has not been seen at the company's office since last Thursday, and that Mr. Wagstaff learned on Saturday from Mr. Dunham's wife at his home, 140 West Fifty-seventh street, that Mr. Dunham had left the city.

The Cassell Publishing company, organized three years ago, succeeded the Cassell Publishing company (limited) of which Dunham had been the manager. Dunham became president of the new company, and he held $140,000 shares in it, and he had to borrow money to get this interest in the company.

To accomplish this it is charged that he fraudulently issued notes of the company to pay his personal obligations as they fell due. In using the credit of the company he kept the existence of the fraudulent notes a secret from all parties concerned except Walter H. Wagstaff, treasurer of the company.

On the 16th of June Wagstaff informed Mr. Archer of the true state of affairs. The president has issued notes amounting to between $167,500 and $188,500, and the company was insolvent.

Notes for $10,000 became due on June 15, and were defaulted, and notes are about to fall due amounting to $156,000. Since June 15 Mr. Dunham has not been seen by any of his business associates, and anxious inquiries have been made at his residence. He is said to have left the city.

VAST TUNNEL SCHEME

Project to Bore From the East River to the Jersey Meadows.

NEW YORK, June 20.—W. C. Lane, Secretary of the New York & New Jersey Terminal Company, appeared before the Aldermanic Committee on bridges and tunnels and explained the intentions of his company in presenting to the Board of Aldermen a petition to build railroad tracks in a tunnel through 14th street from the North to the East Rivers, down Hudson street to Chambers, thence diagonally to the corner of Wall and Broad streets, then down Wall street to the East river.

He said that his company proposed to tunnel the North river to the Jersey meadows, and by easy grades to bring the trains from the trunk lines to this city by means of this tunnel which is to connect with the proposed tunnel through Fourteenth street.

The tunnel is to be six miles in length, and to cost about $16,500,000. It is to contain four railroad tracks in two separate apartments, separated by air-tight walls, in a depth of from 80 to 100 feet.

It is proposed to build a depot in Union Square, with a capacity for accommodating twice as many people as the Grand Central station now does.

The committee took the matter under consideration.

Chicago Ministers and the Fair.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Methodist preachers of Chicago do not like the decision of Chief Justice Fuller, and at their weekly meeting decided to keep up the fight against Sunday opening. Rev. P. S. Henson, a Baptist who had been invited to make an address at the meeting, said to that the devil said to Justice Fuller: "Well done; I could not have written that better myself."

Germans to Examine Our Railways.

BERLIN, June 20.—A colonel and ten other officers from a railway regiment of the German army have started for the United States where they will study the American system of railways. Each officer will travel through an exclusive district, to which he will be assigned by the colonel.

Victim of Foul Play.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., June 20.—Fred D. Van Horen, agent of the Anglo-American Savings and Loan Association of New York City, was found dying in a barn at Stevens' Point, a village five miles from here. It is suspected that he is the victim of foul play.

MISS BORDEN'S TRIAL

District Attorney Knowlton Resumes His Argument.

THE ADDRESS FOR THE DEFENCE

Ex-Gov. Robinson's Summing Up Was Disappointing to Many Lawyers, Who Had Assembled From All Parts of the Country—Disgraceful Scenes at the Afternoon Session.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 20.—District-Attorney Knowlton this morning took up his argument for the prosecution, where he had closed it last night.

When the court was ready yesterday there were many ladies standing in the aisles but they were quickly ushered to the ante-rooms and corridors and obliged to sniff the battle from afar. The bar enclosure was packed with legal lights from all over the country. In fact, so closely was it packed that the counsel for the prosecution were obliged to pass behind the Justices' bench and thus get to their seats within the bar.

When Sheriff Wright came in the aisles were cleared in a second and everybody was obliged to sit down. The jury took their seats at 8:55, looking quite refreshed after two days rest, and a few minutes later Miss Borden came in a bunch of pinks in her hand and a contented smile on her face. The jury was polled promptly on the opening of the court and almost immediately Governor Robinson began his argument.

He began by a brief statement of the murders and the subsequent investigation, urging the jury to disregard the proceedings in Fall River and claiming that the crimes were morally and physically impossible for the defendant. After complimenting Mr. Knowlton upon his ability, he criticised the investigation by the Fall River police and then addressed the jury on the difficulties of their position, having in charge this young woman's life. He then began a chronological description of the events connected with the crime and its discovery as they appear from the evidence.

The testimony of three men proved that peddler Rubinsky saw the defendant coming to the house from the barn and therefore her statement of her whereabouts at the time of the murder was true. When Lizzie spoke about going upstairs for Mrs. Borden she meant the front stairs as a sheet had been obtained from there. Lizzie's laughter on the stairs was immaterial unless guilt was assumed.

A recess for five minutes was taken at this point. The summing up of ex-Gov. Robinson, so far as it had gone, was discussed freely. Much disappointment was expressed about it. The ex-Governor's efforts had not been so great as had been expected of him. The lawyers said the facts in the case had not been handled as they had been led to believe they would.

Had the defendant committed the crime, she would not have given the alarm so soon. Defendant's emotion at the discovery of the crime wasn't assumed. Family sickness, defendant's conduct before the murders, and her visit to the cellar afterwards, were no evidence of a guilty mind.

The burning of the old things was a custom in many households and the burning of the Bedford cord dress was thus explained. The dress worn on the morning of the murder was not changed till noon. The Bedford cord dress hung till Sunday morning in the closet which the officers searched. Defendant could not have committed both murders without changing her dress between them.

Matron Reagan's story was false. Experts differed as to which hatchet would have been used, and he argued that none of these produced was used. Exclusive opportunity was unproved. He detailed the manner in which an outside assassin might have committed the crime.

The concensus of opinion here is that Miss Borden will be acquitted in short order or that the jury will disagree. In the former event, it is understood that there will be no jubilation, but she will retire quickly from the scene of so much unpleasantness as quickly as possible. In the latter event, there may come a new trial or a case of nolle prosequi later on—she being allowed to go on her own recognizance provided her counsel stands in the breach.

It may not be fair to assume that the jury has sampled public opinion sufficiently to diagnose its present condition, and yet, there is a strong feeling that this assumption will be entirely correct.

The scenes about the court house yesterday afternoon were disgraceful. There was no system about the method of seating people and ladies were tossed about the walks, in the corridors and on the stairs in the most reckless and careless manner. The exhibitions were disgusting, whether of the utter helplessness and lack of ability of the officers to control the mobs or of the pushing, crowding, surging masses of perspiring humanity in their efforts to elbow their neighbors out of their way.

When Miss Borden came in she was pushed and crowded about just as everybody was and there was just a touch of asperity in her manner as she entered the court-room and faced the buzzing crowd. The buzzing ceased as she took her seat, however.

Gov. Robinson resumed his argument by saying that the jury was to use its best judgment in the premises. He called attention to various phases in the case in review in brief, and said: It is very dangerous to take the ground that if she did not do it you cannot see who did it. The extraordinary danger of jumping to conclusions should be well understood by you. The fact that it has been done in the daylight is nothing. Miss Lizzie, there can be no question, was in the house downstairs, and you remember the inner handkerchiefs were put away. So you will see that this is genuine and not fiction, and these little things go to establish the facts of greater things.

Gov. Robinson commented on the absence of blood from the defendant's flesh, hands and clothing. Either the jury might find defendant not guilty, because not proved guilty, or because they were convinced she was innocent. He claimed that her previous character, her open frank, conduct while under suspicion, and her manner since arrest, and particularly during the trial, showed her to be innocent.

It was 3 o'clock when Gov. Robinson closed his plea, and a recess of five minutes was allowed before District Attorney Knowlton took up his work. He made a brilliant argument. The court adjourned before he had concluded.

Boats Again Running.

TROY, N. Y., June 20.—Boats are again running on the Champlain canal after a suspension of a week, when the break occurred in the Stark dam at this city.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Picturesque Plainfield at Music Hall to-night.

—Lantern slides of Plainfield scenes, at Music Hall, this evening.

—No cent-a-word advertisement is taken in THE PRESS for less than ten cents.

—One of Northup & Connolly's horses died Saturday. The animal was a valuable one.

—At the Bethel concert the other night $107.70 was taken in, of which $84.70 was clear profit.

—Two young lads of respectable parentage fought their roosters in an Eighth street barn, Saturday. The West Seventh bird won the main.

—On Thursday, July 6 at 3 p. m., Wm. H. Shotwell, executor of Eliza Stevens, deceased, will sell at public auction the house and lot 29 Linden avenue.

—Unity division, 102, K. of P., will work the third rank on a candidate to-morrow evening, and there will also be nomination of officers. A full attendance is desired.

—Two careless bicyclists collided at Park avenue and Front street last night. They damaged their wheels and themselves, and cussed one another till a crowd gathered.

—Carney has a house and lot for $1,100 on Grove street; one at $1,200; one at $1,500, and a house and lot on the corner of Vine and Emily street for $2,800. Every one will pay 10 per cent.

—George Moore, the veteran of East Front street, talks of starting a money "exchange". He says he furnishes change on the whole street, and that there is nothing in it for him. He now wants a percentage.

—Views of Plainfield and vicinity, by calcium light, with a lecture on them by Dr. Lewis, and other features combined in a pleasing programme, will be presented the public by the Camera club at Music Hall to-night.

—A correspondent asks THE PRESS to call attention to the child that was scalded in one of the "8-Row" houses at Evona, who should have medical aid, and also to the sanitary condition of some of the houses in the Row.

—Wallace Vail, as agent for the owner, Stephen McCormick, has increased the value of two lots on Grove and Duer streets, by laying substantial board walks in front of them. Mr. Vail has the lots for sale, as a plot, or to suit purchasers. They are very desirable.

—The Ryerson brick building on Somerset street, adjoining the Thorn block, was sold yesterday. Hume & Embury held a mortgage on it for $10,600, and they bought it on a bid of $6,000, under mutual agreement to bid no higher, thus keeping down the sheriff's fees.

—Weather prophet Dunn confidently predicted at 10 o'clock this morning that the temperature would tie the record for June 20, and perhaps beat it by several degrees. The hottest June 20 on record was in 1888, when the official thermometer indicated a temperature of 91 deg. It was 91 to-day at noon.

—Superintendent Passmore of the street railway claims that the company had more trouble in building the Somerset street extension in North Plainfield than it did in building the whole Plainfield route. Kickers were numerous, but they eventually gave in, and now they are pleased with the looks of the street.

MULFORD CAN'T HAVE IT BOTH WAYS;

And It is Said If He Wins His Suit He'll Lose the Bigger Commission.

The suit of E. C. Mulford before justice Nash, to collect commission on a house rented by real estate broker Vail to a customer whom Mulford claims was once his, was put off for another week, this afternoon, at the plaintiff's request.

Mulford's plea in the above case has already come back at him. The other day he rented a house to a party who was once a customer of Vail's. So in view of Mulford's suit now before the justice, Vail has notified the owner of the house not to pay Mulford the commission, and await the decision in the now pending suit.

Of course Mulford can't get the commission both ways, and it is said if he wins his suit he'll lose the bigger commission.

DO N'T DANCE, DEAR GRADUATES.

THAT'S THE POLITE REQUEST OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Dr. Probasco Doesn't Like the Actions Indulged in During the Pastime — School Buildings Not Erected to Have Fun in—The Feeling Against Waltzing Is on Moral Grounds.

The board of education held their final meeting of the school year last night in the Stillman building. Dr. Probasco, acting president, Dr. Richards, Mr. Finch, Mr. Lounsbury, clerk Clark, and principal Maxson were present.

The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with, and the regular business of the evening was taken up.

The first matter under consideration was the payment of school teachers for the past year for absence occasioned by bona-fide illness. It was decided to pay them for the same.

Mr. Smith, of New York, presented plans and specifications for the heating of the High school and Franklin school buildings. The subject was discussed at some length, after which it was decided to lay the matter over until the next meeting for final action.

The most important subject under consideration was: "Shall dancing be allowed" at the reception given the new graduates by the alumni.

A resolution was presented and adopted giving permission to use the Franklin building for the reception.

Then the subject of dancing came up. Mr. Finch gave his thoughts on the matter, and was anxious that the young people be given the privilege of dancing. He said that from '77 they had danced almost every year, until '91; in that year the building was declared unsafe, and they did not dance. Continuing, he said "they could dance in a nice, orderly way, and they ought to have a nice time".

Mr. Lounsbury said he was not in favor of giving dancing the official sanction of the board. They were elected to advance the educational interests of the city, and not dancing.

Mr. Finch thought it best not to say anything about the matter to the graduates. Mr. Finch added that a number of the members of the Crescent Avenue church were desirous of giving the permission, and as there was no rule governing the matter, they ought to dance.

Dr. Richards said he was sorry to give sanction to the affair, but understood it was customary and had been permitted, and thought they would better leave it as it was.

Dr. Probasco said they did not erect school buildings for dancing, but for educational purposes. It they danced anywhere else, he would not object. He did not like their actions in dancing.

Mr. Lounsbury thought it was the duty of the board to take action, as people all over the city were talking about it.

Mr. Finch made a motion that the alumni be given permission to use the Franklin building for the reception.

Mr. Lounsbury wanted a clause in it that would prohibit dancing.

Mr. Finch desired to leave the subject alone, and not take action.

Dr. Probasco said he would feel very much grieved if dancing was permitted; he was bitterly opposed to it.

The motion to grant the use of the Franklin school was finally put, all voting yes except Mr. Lounsbury. The latter still held that a large proportion of the community was opposed to dancing.

Mr. Maxson personally said he was not opposed, but was willing to do as the majority said.

Mr. Lounsbury stated that previously the board had been guilty of sins of omission and commission. He was in favor of the graduates dancing anywhere else except in the school building.

Dr. Richards and the rest of the board were not satisfied with the result, and an attempt was made to pass a resolution, prohibiting dancing, but it failed.

It was finally decided to have Mr. Maxson convey to the alumni the wish of the board and place the members on their "honor". The following was the request as Dr. Richards suggested it: "It is evidently not the desire of the board that their should be dancing, though they would not absolutely say no."

The board want it stated that only a portion of Music Hall is reserved for the graduates and friends, for commencement; the rest of the hall is not reserved.

The meeting adjourned at 9:15.

Machinery for the Plainfield and Elizabeth Railroad Burned.

The Suburban electric plant at Elizabeth was burned last night. The fire, it is supposed, was started by an electric wire. The city, so far as it depended on electric light, was in darkness. Several large lumber yards in the neighborhood were in danger from the flames. The loss will exceed $100,000.

Among the machinery destroyed was that intended to operate the Plainfield and Elizabeth street railway.

CRESCENT LEAGUE AUCTION, OFF.

Its Property Has Been Sold for the Social Uses of a Board of Trade.

A number of well-known business men of this city have purchased the property of the Crescent League on East Second street, and leased the building, for the purposes of a Commercial club. The price paid was $1,600.

$800 of this will go back to those who recently chipped in that amount to stand the League on its feet at that time. $500 will go to the ex-trustees who months ago indorsed a note for $1,000 which has since been reduced one-half. $300 is thus left to wipe out the incidental debts of the League.

The club is composed of all the representative business men of this city from E. B. Pope, A. D. Thompson, J. F. MacDonald, G. W. Rockfellow and G. L. VanEmburgh down. The rooms will be used for their business meetings as a board of trade, besides for social pleasure.

Ernest Gabler & Co.

Began to make Pianos; skill and honesty and good material went into every instrument. It has been so ever since

Experience and experiments have made the tone resonant, the touch smooth and sympathetic and the action perfect,

The large demand for the GABLER Pianos by the musicians of Newark and vicinity is in itself a guarantee of their quality. They are one of the few Pianos that NEVER WEAR OUT, and sell themselves. They have only to be seen to be appreciated.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves last but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.
Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America.

A PLAINFIELDER IN THE WILDS.

SEELY EDSALL TELLS OF HIS CANADIAN TRIP.

Shooting Rapids in Birch-Bark Canoes—Sleeping in Wild Animals' Haunts, with the Hoot-Owl's Notes for Lullaby—Great Fishing as in Old Indian Days.

Mr. and Mrs. Seely Edsall are home again from their trip to Canada, looking much benefited. A PRESS reporter was much interested in hearing from Mr. Edsall the story of his vacation:

Reporter—Well, Mr. Edsall, did you have a good time on your wilderness trip?

Mr. Edsall—Yes indeed: one of the most successful fishing trips I ever took. The famous preserve of the Triton Game and Fishing club of Quebec, which I visited, is situated in the dense wilderness of the province of Quebec, and is one of the finest in all Canada.

Reporter—Was it a real wilderness?

Mr. Edsall—Well, I guess it was a genuine wilderness. At the end of our route our party, consisting of myself, Mr. Ailing, and our three guides, found that we were over 100 miles away from all civilization, in a dense wilderness where solitude reigned to the fullest extent. The scenery among the great mountains, lakes and rivers, was grand and magnificent. The beautiful soft pea-green foliage of the white birch, in contrast with the dark myrtle hue of the tall majestic spruce, as they mingled together on the mountain tops and in the valleys, presented a most charming picture to the eye.

Reporter—How did you travel?

Mr. Edsall—While in the wilderness we navigated by means of the primitive birch bark canoe, and the overland portages following the old Indian trails through the dense forests that were formerly used by them in their trapping and fishing expeditions. Sometimes the only trace was the blazing on the trees.

Reporter—Did you find any neighbors there?

Mr. Edsall—At our camp our guides told us that our nearest neighbor in any direction was at least 100 miles distant. Our entire possessions consisted of what could be carried by ourselves and our guides: A sleeping apartment, house furnishings and provisions. "Full dress" was not "in it"; neither was full fare, except in the fish line. Dry goods stores as well as all others were not needed by the resident population, which consisted in part of black bear, caribon and wild ducks. One of the former was seen to cross our trail at a short distance. He did not seem to be over friendly, and as we had only a small revolver in our possession we did not feel inclined to detain him. He went on, and so did we.

Reporter—How did you like the tent life?

Mr. Edsall—It was fine. We slept beneath a roof of canvas, on fragrant balsam boughs for a mattrass, and a few blankets for cover. The doleful boo-hoo-hoo of that most miserable hoot owl as the only midnight lullaby produced a strange sensation that is not easily forgotten.

Reporter—How about the fishing?

Mr. Edsall—Well, the fish were what we were after, and we got them. Here is a sample catch: In a three hours' fish I took twenty-one beautiful speckled brook trout, the smallest of which weighed one pound and the largest 5½ pounds. And this is a true fish story, too. Many of them weighed from 2½ to 3½ pounds. They were the gamiest fighters I ever caught—taking a long time before they would consent to let the guide put the net under them. Our guide said that this was the best "catch" that he had seen during his seven years' experience in the wilderness.

Reporter—What kind of guides did you have?

Mr. Edsall—My two guides were brothers, descendants from the famous Huron tribes, and were expert canoemen, fearless but very careful, and tender of their cargo. In rough seas their peculiar use of the paddles in striking each breaker as it neared the canoe, raised the bow so as to prevent scarcely a drop of water coming in. Altogether the trip was a most satisfactory and enjoyable one. Mrs. Edsall and Mrs. Ailing enjoyed their hotel quarters at Quebec, and were delighted with the quaint scenes in and around this wonderful and interesting old city.

Mr. Perkins Gets the Baron a Divorce.

The report finding that Frederick N. Blanc is entitled to an absolute divorce from Elizabeth L. Blanc, made by Referee Edward C. Perkins of this city, has been confirmed by Justice Beach of the Supreme court after argument on the defendant's exceptions to the findings of the referee. The decree forbids the woman to use the name "Blanc or Frederick N. Blanc" as part of her name. Frederick D. Yuengling was the co-respondent in the case.

The defendant, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Nicholson, is the daughter of a stove manufacturer in Philadelphia. She was 16 years old in 1880, when she married Alfred Lawrence Riegel, whose father was a dry goods merchant there. They separated in 1885. She went under the name of Riegel before her marriage to Blanc at St. George's church, New York, July 5, 1887. She has recently been on the stage under the management of George Wotherspoon, of this city.

Set Him Right.

Geo. Augustus Sala, the well-known English writer, on his last Australian trip wrote as follows to The London Daily Telegraph:

"I especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medico indeed, who tendered me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the Tropics, and, in particular, a couple of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS clapped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

LITTLE LILLIE FANCHER'S STORY.

Fanwood's Fairy Gives an Account of School Exercises.

The closing exercises of Miss Davie's private school at Fanwood took place Friday morning.

The Fairy reports that school was opened by Miss Davie reading "proper selections" from the Bible; then followed Muriel Robinson's talk about "Jack in the Pulpit", after which Lewis Beeken, who told about "Columbus on the Lonesome Deck". Songs by the children came next, and then Willie Davie recited "The Brook". Bertie Kyte did well—says the fairy—but I forget just what it was about. The last was the best—"Alice Through the Looking Glass". Isabel Hamlin was Alice; Bessie Babcock was the White Queen; Alice Davie was the Red Queen, and they looked pretty. Dudley Babcock was the White King; Bertie Kyte was the White Knight; Jimmie Moore was the Angelo Saxon Messenger; Willie Davie was a Messenger; Edmund Robinson was Humpty Dumpty, and I guess that's all. Oh no! Louis Beeken was the Frog Gardner. Muriel Robinson's story of the "White Turkey's Death", pleased us all.

"What did you do Lillie," she was asked? "I didn't do nothing; I only looked and heard"

The school-room was prettily decorated with daisies, roses and ferns. The parents of the little tots were in attendance and all congratulated Miss Davie on the marked progress shown by the children.

THE TALK OF THE CITY.

An Elegant Pair of Custom Made Pantaloons Given Away as a Present to Every Man Who Can Guess the Size, if that is His Size.

Strangers often ask what the crowd is looking at on the south side of Market street, and many think an accident has happened. Residents know it is the "talent" guessing at the size of the pantaloons in the east window of Watson's Market street extension, which they make a present to everyone who guesses the size correctly, if that is his size.

These elegant pantaloons are all their left over custom garments, and as fast as one pair is given away another equally handsome pair but of different size and pattern is put in its place. This may be costly advertising for Watson & Co., but it makes them many new customers, who are always pleased with their perfect fitting garments when they try them on.

Watch these Market street windows of Watson & Co.; you may strike a pair worth $10 or $12 just your size—as others are doing every day; but it will not do to delay, for the left-over custom pantaloons will soon be divided at the rate they are going, as there are plenty of good guessers in the city who know the size of the pantaloons they wear.—Newark Item.

TO THE WORLD'S FAIR VIA B. AND O.

Going via Washington and Returning via Niagara Falls

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has placed on sale at its offices throughout the East excursion tickets to Chicago, good going via Washington and returning via Niagara Falls, with the privilege of stop over at each point. These tickets are valid for return journey until November 15, and are not restricted to certain trains, but are good on all B. and O. trains, and permit holders to travel via Pittsburgh or via Grafton. By either route passengers cross the Allegheny mountains, 3,000 feet above the sea level, amid the most picturesque scenery in America. Sleeping car accommodations may be reserved in advance upon application to nearest B. and O. ticket office.

Howell Division All Right.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Having been a constant reader of your paper from Vol. 1, No. 1, until the present time, I never have had an occasion to ask you to correct an error in your columns, but last Saturday's PRESS had an article headed "Howell Division Busted Up", and stating that the property was bought in by its members, which was incorrect. Having been connected with that division for many years, and having been the State deputy of this district, I can assure your readers that Howell Division has not gone up, nor surrendered its charter, nor can it so long as nine members desire to retain it, and I can assure you there are more than that number willing to sustain it, and if you will correct statement you will oblige me and others of the said division. WM. B. AYERS, late deputy G. W. P.

Plainfield, June 19, 1893.

Summer Excursion Tickets

To all northern and eastern seaside, lakeside, and mountain resorts, to Deer Park and Oakland, the Virginia Springs, Niagara Falls, Luray Caverns, Gettysburg, and to all other points where people gather in search of health and pleasure, are now on sale at all Baltimore and Ohio ticket offices at greatly reduced rates. These tickets will be sold from June 1 to Sept. 30, and are valid for return passage until Oct. 31. Before selecting your route or resort consult B. & O. summer excursion book, in which shortest routes and lowest rates, via "Picturesque B. & O.," to all resorts are given from points on that road east of the Ohio river; profusely and artistically illustrated. This book can be procured free of charge upon personal application to ticket agents, B. & O. R. R. Co., or you can have it mailed to you by sending name and address with 10 cents in stamps to Chas. O. Scull, general passenger agent, Baltimore, Md.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 68 North Ave., opposite railroad station. 5-18-y

YOUNG LADIES AS CHURCHES.

EACH LIGHTED HER CANDLE AT HER MOTHER CHURCH'S LAMP.

Miss Spangenberg Makes a Profound Impression by Her Madagascar Missionary Service.

In her own sweet and winning way, Miss Alice Spangenberg last night gave to a large Christian Endeavor gathering in Trinity church a most fascinating picture of life in Madagascar, and conducted a beautiful Lamp-Lighters' service.

The pastor, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, opened the meeting with prayer. This, and singing led by precentor H. J. Martin, with Miss Emma Gillem accompanying on the piano, preceded Miss Spangenberg's interesting talk, which in concise form, will appear in these columns tomorrow.

The Lamp Lighters' service, following the address, was a picture at once delightful and educating. The characters were:

Mother Church.....Miss Lilian Lang
Lamp-Lighter from North Africa,
Miss Minnie Zeim
Lamp-Lighter from Sierra Leone and Liberia,
Miss Carrie Mehl
Lamp-Lighter from the Congo,
Miss Lizzie Shepherd
Lamp-Lighter from South Africa,
Miss Sadie Addis
Lamp-Lighter from the Lakes,
Miss Mabel VanMiddlesworth
Lamp-Lighter from Abyssinia,
Miss Josie Kissam
Lamp-Lighter from Egypt....Miss Mamie Berg
Martyr Church of Madagascar,
Miss Ella Bolsterli

The young ladies were all dressed in white. The Mother Church bore a large lighted lamp, at which the other maidens, each in her turn, lighted their smaller candles, reciting appropriate parts. It was a very pretty sight, and all went through without a break.

The missionary committee of the society deserve credit for providing such a delightful programme.

Deacon T. E. Hazell had drawn a map of Madagascar on the blackboard behind the speaker's desk, with the different missionary stations indicated by small pieces of gilt paper. It was a very excellent piece of work. Miss Spangenberg complimented the one who did it, before she began her lecture.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

The Patersons will play here the morning of July 4, and the Trentons in the afternoon.

Manager McLaughlin and "Ren" Townley, of the Westfields, are both Plainfielders, and their many friends will turn out Saturday to see them battle with the Crescents.

The Crescent base-ball management had partially arranged to have the Washington league team here, to-morrow, but manager O'Rourke reconsidered the matter, thinking he could play a postponed game with the New Yorks.

These Should Be Stopped.

Another disgraceful fist fight occurred yesterday afternoon on Somerset street, drawing a large crowd. Marshal Pangborn raided the fight and captured Peter Ursin, one of the participants. Wm. Mowray and Wm. Dean got away, but resumed fighting and were captured later. Ursin pleaded guilty and was sent to jail for 30 days. The two others pleaded not guilty and were bailed for a hearing. These scandalous rows are too common of late, and the borough magistrate and counsel should see that summary punishment is meted out. The offenders should not be let off with light fines.

Row in a Hard Cider Shop.

Julius Buerschoski keeps a shoemaker's shop on the bridge on Somerset street. In addition to his shoemaker's trade he is said to sell "cider" in the back of his shop every day, Sundays included. Yesterday afternoon Buerschoski and two other men, William Wrontree and Fred Pangborn, began drinking the "cider", and at about 6:30 the effects were so noticeable that the neighbors were obliged to call in the police. Policeman Kiely arrived on the scene and arrested the three men whom he found fighting among themselves. They were given their choice of a fine of $8 apiece or 30 days in jail. Two of them paid, and the other will probably pony up this afternoon.

Fireworks from the Rock.

There is a project on foot to have a grand display of fire-works from the old historic Washington Rock, on the night of July 4. Contributions of $20 each have been proffered by Dunellen citizens, and if some of the Plainfield moneyed men would do likewise, the display from the Rock could be seen for miles around the country.

The Good Doctor's Preference.

Now the ministers are objecting to the change of the name of Peace street to Watchung avenue. The Rev. Dr. E. M. Bodman, in reading the notice of the Y. M. C. A. corner-stone laying, Sunday morning, said he was sorry to read it Watchung avenue, as Peace street was much nicer.

Romancing Again.

The scheme of the Courier to run the street railway from Somerset street through Pearl street and across the brook to Peace street, is nonsensical. A bridge over the brook there would cost $10,000, and P. M. French can be bought off cheaper than that.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. H. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. H. Crandall, P. M., Quonochontaug, R. I.

Letter From Cyrus W. Field, Jr.

8 EAST 55TH STREET,
NEW YORK, May 8, 1893.

Several times this winter I have suffered from severe colds on my lungs. Each time I have applied ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, and in every instance I have been quickly relieved by applying one across my chest and one on my back. My friends, through my advice, have tried the experiment and also found it most successful. I feel that I can recommend them most highly to any one who may see fit to try them.

CYRUS W. FIELD, JR.

THE SUBSTITUTE

For horse and carriage is not a fancy creature. The bicycle is here because its useful and economical. You must feed the nag; the bicycle eats nothing. The equine gets sick, the wheel never. A shout or sudden uplifting of an object may make the four footer unmanageable. You soon learn to control a bicycle. You can't scare the bicycle. For speed, comfort, health and safety take the Lyndhurst, the two-wheeled friend. It is always in condition.

Just What We Are Doing.

Scotch Ginghams—A break in the gingham market; ginghams that cost 25c to make, this week you buy them for 15c.

All-Wool Storm Serges—Beautiful goods they are; cost the manufacturer 50c a yard to make; all shades we have and you buy them for 38c; just the thing for mountain and seashore.

India Linen and Victoria Lawn—Guess we will do the business on these goods this season; we bought at the Brown, Durrell sale 10,000 yards—enough to supply the town; price 10c yard, worth 25c.

45-Inch Flouncing—We put on sale to-day our entire stock of 45-inch emb. flouncing; must go this season and we think they will at the price, 38c.

French Figured Chambray and Lawn—Have you seen them? Guess not, as they just arrived in town. Just the thing for shirt waists and the price, 13c, is 12c less than they were one week ago.

3,000 Yards Seersucker, and good ones they are. Never made for less than 7c, but we will sell them for 5c.

Housefurnishing Dept.—Porch screens, window screens, jelly glasses and fruit jars, jardineres, toilet sets, etc. 'Twill pay you to visit our housefurnishing department, as we have most everything that is wanted and no doubt will save you money.

Millinery Department—To-day we commence our clearing sale of summer millinery goods at greatly reduced prices.

THE FORGOTTEN WOMAN.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

She drifted like a ghost into the uptown office of a great exposition.

She was old and wrinkled and shabby. Her rusty cloak was patched in many places and the black straw bonnet, which did duty alike in winter and summer, was tied down by a coarse black veil over the ears, fast closing to all sound. From her arm dangled a quaint black bag, in which she carried her spectacles, some bits of paper and her handkerchief. She was a sorry, pathetic figure, as she deprecatingly picked her way among the handsome and richly-gowned women who were engineering the ladies' department of a great fair, discussing ways and means of alluring the dollars from pockets and incidentally those topics dear to woman's heart—gowns, bonnets, the last smartish, suggestive novel, the new serpentine dance, the delicious scandal in high life.

In one corner sat a bevy of yellow and Titian-haired actresses, resplendent in stunning gowns of extreme cut and noticeable hue. There was the tiny soubrette who had made a hit in a new play at a new theater, and whose pretty little head was so awfully swelled that she could scarcely get it through the door of the coupe in which she had driven to her committee meeting. There was a famous and brainy star whose life was always enveloped in a haze of fascinating mystery. There was a radiantly beautiful woman who had left the stage for an ideal domestic life, and there was a quiet, delicate, refined girl who was the most successful delineator of tough characters known to the metropolitan stage. A delightful chatter of silvery voices rippled from this attractive corner.

In another corner was a group of dark-haired and flashing-eyed Cuban beauties. Like gorgeous tropical birds, they moved about, their liquid tones and velvet eyes mingling pleasantly with the shrill sweetness of the stage queens' accents.

There was a third group, made up of still another type—women with bright, cynical faces, quick of speech and movement, tailor-made, well-gloved and bonneted, conspicuous by an air of good-fellowship and a certain amount of snap and dash—newspaper women. There was one well-known writer whose pen brought her an income equal to that of a member of congress; there was a girl scarcely out of her teens some of whose "beats" had made the most hardened reporter turn livid with envy; there was another who knew everything about everybody, and could give you points about your dearest friend which would make your hair curl; there were two or three women supporting their families by their space rates, and at least a half-dozen who were living on their nerve—burning the candle of life at both ends and quite enjoying the conflagration.

Into the midst of this strangely assorted medley of living, breathing remembered women came the woman who was forgotten.

She took a seat in an obscure corner and tried to distinguish some words from the Babel about her, but in vain. She strained and blinked her failing eyes, hoping to discover some face she knew, but all were strange. She attracted considerable attention, curiosity and good-natured comment.

"Look at Aunt Jerusha," whispered the little soubrette, giving her Gainsborough hat a quirk over her left eyebrow.

THE SAD FACE BRIGHTENED A LITTLE.

"Who's the old frump?" queried another.

"See what you're coming to, girls," remarked the pert young journalist who knew it all. "That woman was once on the staff of the Daily Cyclone. She was one of the pioneers in our business. Now she is old, sickly, lives on the top floor of a tenement house, and none so poor to do her reverence. We're all likely to be where she is some day."

"I'm going over to speak to her," said one woman; "I can't stand it to see her sitting there all alone and no one noticing her."

"She'll talk you to death," said the other who had vouchsafed the information; "for Heaven's sake don't tell her I'm here."

The old, sad face brightened a trifle as she was kindly addressed. But the busy woman who spoke to her had not much time to listen to the torrent which had been dammed up in the weary old heart, and excused herself as soon as possible.

So the woman who was forgotten was once more left alone and sat trying to listen and to see. Failing in these, she fell to remembering. Back in the past she drifted; back to her days of work and usefulness. Once she was sought and admired. Once her opinions had weight and her counsels were asked. Once she felt she had a place in the world which she had earned by honest endeavor. She had taken great pride in that place. She recalled her first success, the words of praise and encouragement she had heard, the friendships it those days had long been lying in their low, green beds. Old loves, old affections, old comradeships rushed over her once more—something filled the hungry old heart and something sprang to the fading eyes.

There was a stir, a rustle, a frou-frou of silks. The meetings were over, and the gayly-dressed, merry, busy, living women were departing. The ghost—the woman who was forgotten—flitted through the throng, and slowly, painfully took her way to her miserable home. It was a climb to the top floor of that East side tenement, and when she reached it she was very tired.

There was no one to welcome her, no one to take the bonnet and shawl, and brew a cup of tea. No one to say: "I have missed you," and bid her rest. The woman who was forgotten was quite alone.

"I wish I could have heard them talk this afternoon," she murmured, "and I wish there had been some one who was not too busy to have told me who the different ones were. But they were all so busy—I ought not to expect anyone to bother with me. It was foolish of me to have gone. I am too old for service and then, I am forgotten."

It was early springtime. She had opened the window a trifle that the soft air might penetrate the stuffy room. The sun was just going down. The woman who was forgotten leaned one moment from the garret window and looked out over the roofs of the dingy houses, over the masts and spars and sails to the broad river flowing down to the sea. In all the great city below there was no one she could call "friend," none who remembered her.

Twilight deepened into gloom. One by one the stars swung into the sky. The electric lights flared out in the noisy streets. Still the woman who was forgotten sat there by the open window.

Strange fancies fluttered through her brain. The memories roused that afternoon beckoned others and a train of recollections swept before her. Some kissed their hands to her; others veiled their faces and wept.

SHE WAS QUITE ALONE.

Then sounds, sights and odors of long ago came to her. She heard the soughing of the wind through pines * * * the call of a robin through the twilight * * * the tolling of bells. She smelled again the perfume of violets * * * the strange odor of upturned earth * * * She saw faces * * * smiles * * * tears. She felt kisses on her withered cheeks * * * her lips * * *

In the lonely room, in the stillness of the mysterious night, something swift and terrible and kind touched her.

God had not forgotten her.

THE SUBSTITUTE

For horse and carriage is not a fancy creature. The bicycle is here because its useful and economical. You must feed the nag; the bicycle eats nothing. The equine gets sick, the wheel never. A shout or sudden uplifting of an object may make the four footer unmanageable. You soon learn to control a bicycle. You can't scare the bicycle. For speed, comfort, health and safety take the Lyndhurst, the two-wheeled friend. It is always in condition.

THE BORDEN VERDICT

Her Acquittal Did Not Come as a Surprise.

JUDGE'S CHARGE IN HER FAVOR

He Told the Jury That all the Allegations Made by the Government Must be Fully Proved—Attorney Knowlton's Masterly Argument—How the Accused Received the Verdict.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 21.—The long agony is over, and Lizzie Borden to-day is a free woman. After the charge of Judge Dewey, no one expected any other verdict than that of "not guilty," which was rendered by the jury in an hour and a quarter after the judge had finished his charge.

Lizzie Borden, the outcast of a year, is to-day a heroine. But until the mystery of the murders is solved, the finger of suspicion will always be pointed at her.

Court came in at 9 o'clock yesterday, the jury was polled, and the District Attorney picked up the thread of his argu ment where he dropped it Monday night. He congratulated the jury upon the near approach of the end. The counsel who opened the cause for the defence said motive was a part of the government's case, but the speaker said this was not so, although the consideration of motive had weight in elucidating the facts in the case. Motives, however, are neither adequate nor even tolerable when considered in connection with a crime. The motives of mankind are as inscrutable as are the ways of divine Providence. It does afford satisfaction to our reasoning to have discovered that there were unfortunate conditions in that family from which we can suspect even the malice existing. I have called your attention to the way in which they lived under the same roof. It impresses me deeply as I am sure it will you. The malice was all before the fact, the wickedness, the ingratitude had gone on under that roof for many, many months.

LIZZIE BORDEN.

Mr. Knowlton then proceeded to discuss the murder of Mr. Borden, which he argued might have been induced by the fact that he was the only person who would know Lizzie killed Mrs. Borden. He detailed Mr. Borden's action on the morning of the murder till he was left alone with the prisoner and emphasized the fact that she left her ironing unfinished when the crime was committed. Reading her varying explanations of her conduct at the time of the crime, he argued that they were incredible. Rubinski's story was indefinite, and Medley's story refuted defendant's alibi. The prisoner watched Mr. Knowlton fixedly during his argument.

Mr. Knowlton argued that the silk dress produced by the defendant was not the dress worn at the time of the murder as shown by Mrs. Churchill, Doherty and Dr. Bowen. The first search was insufficient, but put defendant on her guard, and Saturday's thorough search failed to disclose the dress, therefore he claimed that it was concealed. Paper would have protected defendant's person and burnt paper was found in the stove.

The two versions of the burning of defendant's dress were irreconcilable. Defendant's conduct since that time was discussed and Mrs. Reagan's story was declared to be true. The production of a hatchet was no part of the government's case, but it was a part of its duty to produce all it knew bearing on the case.

Mr. Knowlton reviewed at length the evidence as to the handleless hatchet and discussed its bearing on the case, dwelling on the significance of its fitting the wounds and being broken short as if by design.

After discussing again the matter of the note, he briefly but powerfully summarized his entire argument, claimed that the defence amounted to nothing, and closed with an eloquent appeal to the jury to decide as their consciences should direct.

When the court resumed its session in the afternoon, the defendant was given an opportunity to speak. She said: "I am innocent, but I will leave my case in your hands and with my counsel."

Justice Dewey then charged the jury. He told them to disregard previous hearings, and defined the different degrees of murder. He stated the presumption of innocence, which was increased by defendant's character. There must be a real and operative motive.

Judge Dewey charged the jury to weigh the evidence so as to see whether defendant's permanent state of mind showed a a motive for the crimes. Every material allegation in the indictment must be proved beyond reasonable doubt, that is, to a moral certainty.

He compared direct and circumstantial evidence, and said that failure to prove an essential fact would be fatal, but failure to prove a helpful fact might not be.

Lizzie's statements about the note were discussed at length, and he said they must be satisfied they were false. Every fact proved must be reasonably consistent with guilt.

The government did not show that anybody else had the opportunity to commit the crime, but must prove defendant committed it. The jury must reason as to the effects of defendant's conduct and statements. They were not to conclude by expert testimony, but were to apply to it a reasonable judgment. They might convict if satisfied the act was done by another party, but that defendant was present, aiding and abetting. The fact that defendant did not testify should not influence them against her.

The jury was cautioned against noticing in any way the fact that defendant did not take the stand.

The court said the burden of proof is on the government and the defendant is not obliged to shoulder any of it. The jury was not to deal with the evidence in a captious spirit. If not legally guilty you are to say so. The court said it was for the jury to say whether in all the dealings of the defendant with the officers she had sought to oppose them in any way, and that this matter should be carefully examined.

He asked the jury to think over carefully whether a person contemplating crime would be likely to tell a friend of it or predict it in any way the very day beforehand. The court asked the jury to say whether it was evil fear or evil premeditation. In the matter of the dress the court asked the jury to say whether they could extract from all the descriptions of the press enough by which to identify it.

The quarrel story the Court disposed of in short order and, of course left it with the jury to say whether it was reasonable to say that such persons who were interested in getting Mrs. Reagan's story became so without having first ascertained the truth in the matter. The court said the jury will lift the case above the level of passion into the clear lines of truth and reason.

At the conclusion of the charge the attorneys consulted a few moments. The jury was allowed to retire and counsel agreed upon what exhibits were to be put into the case, after which they were brought in again, the oath administered by the clerk of courts and the jury took the case.

Among the exhibits put in were the three hatchets, the bloody handkerchief, photographs of the house exterior and interior, the blue silk dress, the various pieces of wood, pillow shams, the counterpane, etc.

After having been out a little over an hour, the jury returned to the court room.

The jury was polled. Miss Borden was asked to stand up and the foreman was asked to return the verdict, upon which he announced "Not guilty."

After the verdict had been received the district-attorney moved that the other cases against Miss Borden be nolle prossed and the order of the court was to that effect.

Chief-Justice Mason then gracefully thanked the jurors in appreciation of their work and faithful service, and then dismissed them.

When the verdict of "not guilty" was returned, a cheer went up which might have been heard half a mile away through the open windows, and there was no attempt to check it. The stately justices looked straight ahead at the bare walls. Sheriff Wright was powerless to wield the gavel for silence. He did not make the slightest sign of having heard the great noise. He never saw the people rising in their seats and waving their handkerchiefs in unison with their voices, because his eyes were filled with tears.

Miss Borden's head went down upon the rail in front of her, and tears came where they had refused to come for many a long day, as she heard the sweetest words ever poured into her willing ears, the words "not guilty." Mr. Jennings was almost crying, and his voice broke as he put his hand out to Mr. Adams, who sat next to him, and said "thank God," while Mr. Adams returned the pressure of the hand and seemed incapable of speech. Governor Robinson turned to the rapidly dissolving jury, as they filed out of their seats, and gleamed on them with a fatherly interest in his kindly eyes, and stood up as Mr. Knowlton and Mr. Moody came over to shake hands with counsel for the defence.

As soon as possible the room was cleared, although it was a hard task since everybody wanted to shake hands with Miss Borden. When spectators had finally gone she was taken to the room of the justices and allowed to recover her composure with only the eyes of friends upon her and the caresses of devoted admirers. At the expiration of an hour she was placed in a carriage and driven to the station, where she took the train for Fall River, her home no longer, probably, but still the only objective point for the immediate present.

Smuggling Scheme Unearthed.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Special Treasury Inspectors Morton Britton and Captain Swivel, of the Special Agents department, at this port, have unearthed a big smuggling scheme, captured over 100,000 valuable skeins for silk looms, and have arrested Antony Chorel, Superintendent of the West New York Silk Mills company. These mills are at West New York, Hudson county, N. J.

Van Horn's Strange Death.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The relatives of Frederick Van Horn, who was found dead near Susquehanna, Pa., live at 154 South Fourth street, Williamsburg. They said to-day that they did not believe Van Horn had met with foul play. From what they had learned Van Horn was found dead in a barn about five miles from Susquehanna. He was subject to heart disease.

Chemical Wood Pulp Mill Burned.

TROY, N. Y., June 21.—A fire, caused by spontaneous combustion, damaged the chemical pulp mill of Hon. George West at Ballston yesterday, to the extent of between $35,000 and $40,000. The mill is insured for $55,000.

Postmasters Appointed Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 137, of which 55 were to fill vacancies caused by resignation and death.

CROWDS VISIT THE FAIR

A Hot Sun, but a Good Stiff Breeze in Jackson Park.

THE FERRIS WHEEL STARTS TO-DAY

The Lake Breeze Proves to Be Quite a Drawing Card to the Exposition Just at Present—German Wine Exhibit Now Open—Sunday Closing Gets a Set Back.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 21.—The attendance to-day bids fair to rival that of any non-extraordinary day yet. The showers of yesterday did much to freshen things up, and this morning a cool breeze has been blowing in from the lake.

The Exposition officials seem to be puzzled over the large attendance of the last few days, but the reason is very simple. Chicago people know that if there is a breeze anywhere in Illinois it is in Jackson Park, and that is the truth. Therefore the people are only to glad to pay their half dollars for the privilege or being in a breezy place away from the sultry city.

For a time yesterday it looked as if the attendance at the World's Fair would equal that of German day. People poured in at the turnstiles by the thousands, and they kept pouring in until after the noon hour, when it was estimated there were about 75,000 people on the grounds. About this time a big black cloud appeared and the rain came down in a perfect deluge, so that the prospects for a 300,000 crowd were ruined.

All the arrangements have been completed for the dedication this afternoon of the big Ferris Wheel in Midway Plaisance. Over 5,000 invitations have been issued, and in addition to prominent residents of this city and visitors from outside points, there will be delegations from engineering societies east and west. The exercises will open at 3 o'clock with the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Iowa State Band.

At the conclusion of the last speech the band will play "Yankee Doodle" Mr. Ferris will blow a signal on a bold whistle and the big wheel, its cars having been in the meantime filled with invited guests, will start on its first regular trip.

The German Wine exhibit was opened in the Horticulture building this morning by Imperial German Commissioner Wermuth who delivered a festive speech. The ceremony also consisted of songs by the Germania Mannerchor. The exhibition is installed in a pavilion in the southeast court of the Horticulture building and consists of fine products of the Rhine and Moselle, being valued at $150,000.

The Sabbatarian movement to continue the Sunday closing fight on the World's Fair directors has suffered another backset before Judge Jenkins in the United States Circuit Court.

The much talked of motion of Wanamaker and Brown, of Philadelphia, and others, for an injunction again having the gates opened on Sunday was made but as the parties litigant had not been summoned to appear in court and were not present, Judge Jenkins promptly passed the matter.

The paid admissions yesterday were 90,661.

FAILURE AT RAHWAY

The Mershon Printing Company Forced to the Wall.

RAHWAY, N. J., June 21.—The failure of the Cassell Publishing company, of New York, has affected the Mershon Printing and Binding company, of this city, to such an extent that the shops have closed down completely, throwing over 300 employes out of work.

W. L. Mershon, president of the Mershon company, hoped to save himself by attaching about $50,000 worth of goods belonging to the Cassell company in their possession, but this was offset by Chancellor McGill, of Jersey City, appointing a receiver for the Cassell company for goods in New Jersey.

Mershon company can only make a claim for mechanics, lien, by which the employes will receive their pay. Saturday was pay day but the men only received 50 per cent. of their wages, the rest being promised them last night but they were again put off until the receiver makes a statement.

Gleason Too Ill to Plead.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., June 21.—Before Justice Bartlett yesterday Counsellor Van Vechten withdrew his plea of not guilty entered in the indictment against ex-City Clerk Thomas P. Burke and Philip Coffee for conspiracy, and interposed a demurrer. District Attorney John Fleming called for the plea of ex-Mayor Gleason in the indictment for conspiracy in selling the city a worthless steam fire engine for $2,300. Counsellor Van Vechten informed the court that Gleason was confined to his bed, too ill to plead, and further hearing was adjourned until Thursday.

Child Scalded to Death.

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., June 21.—When the three year old child of William Miller attempted to pull a pot of boiling coffee off of the stove, it spilled the contents over itself and was so badly scalded that it died shortly after.

MRS. BALDWINS CASE SETTLED

Alleged That She Had No Grounds for Complaint Against the Central Railroad.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The suit of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth G. Baldwin, the wife of Homer R. Baldwin, against the New York Central & Hudson River railroad company, which was brought to recover $250,000 damages for injuries sustained by her at the Hastings disaster in 1891, has been settled.

The case was on the calendar yesterday before Justice Barrett in the Supreme court and was called for trial. Joseph H. Choate and A. R. Carrington were in court in the interests of Mrs. Baldwin and Austin G. Fox represented the railroad company.

When the case was called Mr. Fox announced that it had been settled, and it was so marked on the calendar by Justice Barrett. It was alleged on the part of the company in this suit that Mrs. Baldwin was riding on the train on a pass issued in the name of another person, and that therefore she was a trespasser, and the company was not liable for damages.

The basis of the settlement could not be ascertained.

LOWLANDER'S VICTORY

It Was a Great Surprise to the Public.

Race Track Owners' Success in Keeping the Telegraph Wires Grounded—Winners in Previous Suburbans.

NEW YORK, June 21.—It was a great surprise to the great crowd at Sheepshead Bay yesterday when Lowlander won the rich suburban stakes. Lamplighter had been the favorite for weeks, and even after the race had been won the report went forth that Lamplighter was the victor.

The crowd at the track was the greatest in the history of the Coney Island Jockey Club. The day was hot, but that only seemed to draw a larger crowd.

All the telegraph wires leading to Sheepshead Bay racetrack were cut yesterday morning. A big force of linemne were sent out, but the wires were grounded as fast as the breaks were repaired.

The race-track owners were determined that the pool-rooms over the country should not receive news from the track.

History of the Suburban.

The Suburban Handicap was first run nine years ago at the spring meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club. There were twenty starters in the field, and the victor was Gen. Monroe. War Eagle secured the place, and Jack of Hearts was third. The time was 2:11 3-4, and the value of the handicap, $4,945.

In 1885 Pontiac took the big prize from Richmond and Bataplan in 2.09 1-2. The prize was $5,855.

In 1886 Troubadour vanquished seventeen other contestants, and a year later Eurus won in 2.12.

Elkwood was the winner in 1888 in 2.07 1-2. The Suburban was then worth $6,912. There were seventeen horses started. Raceland won the year following in 2.09 4-5, securing the $6,900 prize. There were only nine starters.

Salvator broke all previous records in 1890 by winning, with nine starters, in 2.06 4-5. In 1891 Loantaka was the winner, with odds 30 to 1 against him. His time was 2.07.

Last year the event was won by Montana, Major Domo second and Lamplighter third. The time was 2:07 3-5, the winner receiving $18,000; second horse, $5,000, and third horse, $2,000.

Garrison rode Montana and Bergen was astride Lamplighter.

There were about 20,000 people at the race, and in the closing betting Montana was 2 to 1.

Young Wood Held In Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Louis Wood, the little fellow, 12 years old, charged with the murder of Bertie Wagner, the three-year-old son of Louis Wagner, a farmer, living near Freehold, N. J., has been held to await requisition papers by Justice Walsh in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn.

Another Wilmington Firm Fails.

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 21.—Adrian & Voliers, wholesale grocers and liquor dealers, one of the oldest business houses in the city, have assigned with preferences. The failure was precipitated by that of the bank of New Hanover, in whose favor they executed a mortgage for $90,000 some months ago.

Mother of the Ford Boys Dead.

RICHMOND, Mo., June 21.—Mrs. J. T. Ford died at her home, one mile east of this city yesterday from blood poisoning, caused by a rat bite ten days ago. She was the mother of the notorious Bob and Charley Ford, who killed Jesse James at St. Joseph, Mo., under a contract with the then Governor (now Consul General to Mexico) Crittenden.

DEATH ON A RACE TRAIN

A Coney Island Race Track Train Wrecked.

SAD ENDING TO A DAY OF PLEASURE

A Heavily Loaded Train on the Long Island Railroad Wrecked in a Tunnel—Another Accident at Long Island City—List of the Dead and Fatally Injured.

NEW YORK, June 21.—A train on the Long Island railroad, upon which there were about 1,000 persons returning from the Sheepshead Bay races was derailed last evening in a tunnel a short distance from Parkville, L. I. Two persons were killed outright; two died soon after being removed to the hospital, and about 100 were injured, and many so seriously that they will not recover.

DEAD.

Those killed outright at the time of the accident were:

Patrick Daly, a court officer of the Third District Court, New York.

H. S. Pringle, 326 West 17th street, New York.

Henry Spink, Marshal at Jefferson Market Police Court, New York, and living 75 Morton street.

Robert Cutting, a policeman, of 423 West 14th street.

Among the injured who may not live are:

Andrew Bartholomew, Cedar Creek, Sherman county, N. Y., left leg cut off.

James Fitzsimmons, New York; foot cut off.

Patrick Graham, New York; internal injuries.

Richard Flynn, New York; internal injuries.

Charles Herring, New York; serious internal injuries.

Another Accident.

Locomotive No 59, drawing a train of ten open cars loaded with people returning from the Sheephead Bay races, jumped a frog as it was entering the Long Island railroad station at Long Island City at 7:55 last evening. Four cars were derailed and a panic spread among the passengers, who jumped from the cars in all directions. Fortunately no one was seriously injured, but a few received slight bruises and scratches. Many women fainted.

The accident might have been a most disastrous one, had the train been going at a greater speed.

President Austin Corbin is here to-day investigating this accident and the more serious one at Parkville, on the Bay Ridge route.

FOR A LOW FAIR RATE

A Move at Last Made for Cheap, Popular Excursions to Chicago.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The general agents of the trunk lines at their meeting yesterday decided to recommend to the executive committee of the Trunk Line Association a special rate of one fare for the round trip to Chicago and return on special World's Fair excursion trains.

These trains will consist of passenger coaches only, but will run as express trains, making the trip each way in about 30 hours. They will leave New York in the morning, which will bring them to Chicago in the afternoon of the following day. The tickets will be good for ten days.

If the executive committee approves the recommendation, as it undoubtedly will Pa-senger Commissioner Farmer will apportion the trains among the various roads so that they will be run in regular alternation, each road having a regular day for starting its excursions. These trains will not interfere in any way with the regular schedules and will pick up no passengers in the Central Traffic Association's territory.

LAID BY ITS FOUNDER.

SOLID CORNER-STONE FOR THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

Mayor Gilbert Puts It Firmly in Place, and Makes a Masterly Address—His Fellow-Founder, H. O. Newman, Arranged the Contents of the Copper Box.

A substantial block of Massachusetts old red sandstone, whose face bears simply the date 1893, was well and truly laid on the foundation corner of the Y. M. C. A. building, Front street and Watchung avenue, at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

A temporary platform had been erected across the first-floor beams, and here camp chairs were provided. These were filled with clergymen and prominent workers of the association, while a crowd of spectators grouped about on the sidewalk and street.

The ceremonies were opened with the singing of the hymn "Coronation", led by precentor H. O. Newman and cornetist Whitfield Frazee.

The Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman read from the scriptures the eighth chapter of I Kings.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards.

Introducing mayor Alexander Gilbert, president W. D. Murray made a brief but interesting speech, congratulating the association for the culmination of its hopes. He said that in its new home the association was to be more than ever the center of interdenominational work, and while the physical welfare of all young men was to be looked after in every particular the chief aim was to Christianize the youth.

Mayor Gilbert, who with H. O. Newman was founder of the association made the following address:

It certainly is a great pleasure to me to discharge the duty which has been put upon me to-day. Having been a prominent actor in the formation and organization of the Young Men's Christian Association to be permitted after the lapse of twenty-five years to lay the corner-stone of its new building, is, I can assure you, most gratifying. The pleasure which I feel can be likened unto that of the man who assists at the planting of a young tree, and is permitted after a quarter of a century to look upon it in the full grace and beauty of mature treehood. He looks at its majestic branches, rests in the shade of its rich foliage and feels that it was a good thing that he did when he helped to plant that tree.

This is an eventful day in the history of the Young Men's Christian Association, a day which brings clearly and prominently intoview the realization of its long cherished desire; a day which gives to the association promise of an extended field of labor, of a wider radius of influence, and of increased power and usefulness.

It must be a very enjoyable thing to those who, for the past twenty-five years, have remained in the ranks of the association, giving freely of their time and energy to the young men of our city—to see in this day's ceremonial not only the evidence that their labors have been successful, but that they have been appreciated by the people of Plainfield.

The laying of this corner-stone is a recognition by the people of the right of the Young Men's Christian Association to exist. In these days of practical activity, no society or institution dependent upon the support of the people, can long exist, without giving clear and umistakable evidence of its utility. For more than a quarter of a century the men of this association have been working to give the young men of Plainfield a pure, moral environment, to create within them a lofty and unselfish ambition, a desire to reach out for the better and more enduring things of life. They have done a practical work, a useful work, and there can be little doubt that the moral and religious life of our city has been touched and vivified as a result of their labors. They have proven the utility of their organization, and in recognition of it, the people of Plainfield are willing to pay for this building and bid them God speed in their future career of usefulness.

Since the organization of this association, it has stood for Christian unity—its first great victory won very early in its history was the breaking down of the barriers which had long existed between the different churches of our city. By interesting the young men representing the different churches in the work of the association it brought them all together into one common field of labor, which was all that was needed to dissipate denominational prejudices and jealousies.

It has had no creed of its own, it welcomed into its fold men of all evangelical creeds—its only aim being to bring within the radius of its influence, young men, to surround them with a pure and elevated companionship, to lay early in their lives the corner stone of true character,—the cardinal principles of which they held to be Faith, Uprightness, Diligence, Charity. Many of our young men in Plainfield have had their characters formed by the work of this association, and they to-day, are leaving the impress of their character upon other lives with which they come in contact, and thus the influence of the association moves on in ever widening circle.

The laying of this corner-stone has another significance. It marks a new departure in the history of Plainfield. With the exception of our churches and schools, it may be said that Plainfield has no public buildings. Music Hall is a public building, but it, unfortunately, is located where it cannot be seen. This building located in a commanding position, on our principal business thoroughfare, will be practically our first public building, excepting our churches. It is to be hoped that the building committee of the association will consider this of sufficient importance to justify a beautiful exterior, at an increased cost, if necessary. Let the building to be erected here be not only substantial and adapted to its work, but let it be an ornament to the city, let it be sufficiently graceful to awaken an artistic taste that will show itself in the public buildings that sooner or later will follow.

Plainfield has handsome residences, and beautiful churches, now let us have an attractive association building, to be followed in the near future by a City Hall and a Masonic building—a Post-Office building and a first-class hotel—buildings that will ornament the city and indicate the thrift, enterprise and liberality of our people.

This building will, in all probability, stand here for many generations, but the day will surely come four or five hundred years hence, when it will be removed to make way for a successor more in harmony with the demands of a higher and more enlightened civilization. Imagine then with what eagerness the relic hunter of that day will watch its crumbling walls, to possess himself of its corner-stone, which to him will be a precious treasure, full of historical data of a past age. Here he will find reliable evidence of the state of civilization in Plainfield in 1893 which he will hasten to deposit in some archaeological museum.

With this thought in mind, it is our purpose to deposit in our corner-stone to-day, material that will give to Plainfield of 1893, as pre-eminent a position in the world's history in the year 2200 as she occupies to-day. Of course we expect Plainfield to be on hand in 2200 to give to the world her own story—but we cannot tell what may happen—she may be swept away by some great convulsion of nature, or her identity may be lost, and her glories permitted to fade from human memory by the substitution of some wild Indian name for that of Plainfield.

To secure to future generations a glimpse of Plainfield as she is to-day—and to celebrate with honor and solemnity this first important step in the erection of this building, it is my privilege to deposit in the corner-stone the following articles:

A Bible, the corner-stone of our country's religious faith.

The names of the original charter members, the first board of directors, and officers of the association.

A list of the present officers and directors.

Names of contributors to the building fund.

Thus do we hand their names down to posterity.

Copy of each of Plainfield's daily journals.

We cannot tell how long a time will elapse before these will again see the light of day, but should they ever again fall into human hands, they will give to the world the story of this day's life in Plainfield.

Copy of the Young Men's Era, the official organ of the association.

Having performed this duty, it only remains for me to express the wish that the building to be erected here may stand for ages to serve the purposes and perpetuate the work of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The corner-stone which had been suspended by rope and pulley over its future resting place, was lowered. Within the hollow which had been chiseled out, was deposited a copper box, containing, besides the articles mentioned in the mayor's speech, a copy of that speech itself and a list of the building committee, who are: W. D. Murray, H. O. Newman, C. W. McCutchen, D. E. Titsworth, H. A. McGee, J. W. Jackson, C. T. Kissam.

The contents of the box were arranged and packed by H. O. Newman.

The stone having been sealed, it was carefully laid and cemented, and is now a firm part of the outer wall.

The exercises were brought to an end by the singing of the Doxology and the benediction by the Rev. Dr. C. E. Barnes.

During the afternoon the following telegram was received:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 19, 1893.

William D. Murray, President Young Men's Christian association, the Minneapolis association joins me in sending greeting and congratulation.

CHARLES B. BROWN.

In the evening a gathering of representative men was entertained at an informal conference at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray. A line of action was mapped out for the raising of means to push the work to completion, and refreshments were served. There is sufficient money in hand to keep on with the building till the balance is raised, and there is not likely to be any interruption. Architect A. L. C. Marsh promises to have the structure completed by Jan. 1.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

A dance will be given in the Casino Thursday night.

T. J. Gillies, one of Plainfield's most respected old citizens, is seriously ill.

Mrs. M. J. Coyne left town this afternoon for a two weeks' stay in Canada.

Asa Collier, the Park avenue jeweler, will start for the World's Fair July 13.

J. Howard Leggett, proprietor of the Central pharmacy, is confined to the house by illness.

Mrs. D. S. Roberts is severely ill in Scranton, and has sent to Plainfield for her daughter.

The first tennis tea of the Country club's season will be given in the Casino, Saturday afternoon.

J. Augustus Smith has been confined to his home again ever since his return from a fishing trip to Hopatcong.

Mrs. Sarah A. B. Green and daughters will leave the latter part of the week for Chicago and the World's Fair.

S. C. Baker, of West Fifth street, is so much better that he was able to go down stairs yesterday. His recovery is now assured.

D. M. More, of Roseville, State secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was one of those present at the corner-stone laying of the association's new building yesterday.

Hotel Netherwood's first hop of the season will take place Saturday evening. A party of young society people from this city will be chaperoned by Mrs. L. G. Timpson.

Mrs. Eliza B. Eaton died last evening in her 81st year. Funeral services will be held from the home of her son-in-law, H. O. Newman, 112 West Fifth street, Friday afternoon at 4:45.

Mrs. A. Vanderbeek read an interesting paper on missionary work in the South, before the missionary board of the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. At the close, a hearty vote of thanks was given for her entertaining and instructive discourse.

Lincoln Goodrich, formerly principal of the Plainfield public schools, and now pastor of the Bound Brook Congregational church, was married by his brother, the Rev. C. L. Goodrich of Plainfield, to Miss Hattie Burnett, at the home of the bride's sister in Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon.

Will Roselle, who left this city twelve years ago, and who is a son of the late John Roselle, the first Chief of Plainfield's fire department, is visiting his brother-in-law, Peter C. Johnson, for a week. Mr. Roselle is now one of Brooklyn's most prominent real estate dealers. With him are his two children, Jessie May and Milton Stewart.

$5 Damages in the Chicken Case.

The case of policeman Charles Giese against Miss Stoll was tried yesterday afternoon before justice Nodyne and a jury, for damages done by chickens of the defendent to the garden of the plaintiff.

Judge Coddington, for the plaintiff, did not ask for exemplary damages, but simply asked the jury to impose a small amount, to teach the defendant to respect the rights of her neighbor. The verdict was in Mr. Giese for $5. George DeMeza faithfully represented the defendant. The probable costs of trial, which defendant will have to pay, will be about $35.

Commencement at Dunellen.

The First Presbyterian church at Dunellen was crowded last night by an appreciative audience to enjoy the most successful commencement Dunellen has ever had. The exercises were of a high order, and demonstrated great care and thoroughness on the part of the instructors. Principal O. A. Johnson has had charge of the schools only a few months, and the good work he has done in so short a time is an evidence of his ability, which is highly appreciated by the citizens of that place.

—The entertainment given by the Holy Cross church choir in the parish building, last evening, was a complete success and added still further to the fame and reputation of this most excellent choir. The programme prepared was a delightful one, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the good-sized audience present.

EYE SPECIALISTS

—IS IN—

PLAINFIELD EVERY THURSDAY,

Dunham's Real Estate Office, 7 East Front St.,

FROM 8.30 A. M. TO 5.30 P. M.

No charge is made to determine if your eyesight may be improved or headache relieved, by wearing properly adjusted glasses. Bear in mind the address, and do not fail to consult our specialist if your eyes trouble you.

MESSRS. QUEEN & CO. are well known throughout the United States as Opticians of the highest experience and skill. Their glasses are worn by tens of thousands in all parts of the world, and their work is acknowledged to be the standard of excellence everywhere. The staff of oculists and opticians engaged at their main store, 1010 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, is composed of men whose skill and ability to give relief to defective eyes is of the highest order.

Recognizing the fact that in many populous centres there is no person who understands the measurement of the sight and adjustment of glasses in all the details they have arranged that one of their Eye Specialists shall come periodically to your city, at the address given above.

Therefore, in order to obtain anything like reliable care, it has been necessary to obtain a prescription at one office, and then purchase the glasses according to that prescription at some store.

This method not only causes much loss of time, but multiplies the chances of error.

Queen's specialists are men of large experience gained by daily and constant practice, which enables them to correct the most defective vision without the use of drops of any kind in the eye.

Messrs. Queen & Co. make no boasts of wonderful remedies, nor do they claim any special healing power in the glasses they furnish, as is so often done by ignorant persons who merely deal in glasses. Queen & Co. guarantee every pair of glasses ordered to be satisfactory, and expect to win your approval by the skillful and accurate manner in which they give you improved and comfortable vision.

THE TIME SHE MADE A MISTAKE.

The Old Man Didn't Have a Sure Tip, But He Got There Just the Same.

He was standing on the northwest corner of Park avenue and Second street about 10 last night, gazing absently into the star-strewn vault over the City Hotel. No one noticed him at first, but finally a little knot of loungers tied itself up on the opposite corner and speculated upon his sanity. And yet no one disturbed him. A facetious passer did ask him if it was torrid enough for him but the querie went unanswered. There was something pathetic about the man's preoccupation—he seemed so perfectly oblivious to all about him and so reckless of all that might be imagined concerning himself. At length the kind-hearted crowd on the opposite corner, tired of waiting, delegated one of its number to go over and solve the mystery, and, if necessary, give the poor stranger a quarter and ask him to move on. The delegate crossed the street and tackled the stranger.

"My friend," said he, "you will pardon the impertinence, but your apparently disconsolate conduct has attracted my attention and aroused my interest. Is there anything I can do to assist you?"

The stranger lowered his gaze from the astronomy over the City Hotel and focused it on his interrogator.

"Yes", he said, thoughtfully, "I am in a dreadful fix. I do n't mind telling you about it, if you care to listen."

"Go on; I am interested", responded the delegate.

"Well, it 's this way. When I left home this morning my wife said that if I went to the Suburban to-day I might never dare to return. I had never won a cent in my life playing the horses, and she knew it as well as I. But the temptation was too much for me. I went down and on a dumb chance played Lowlander for all I was worth, and I came off $100 ahead of the game. Now I 'm afraid to go home. I know I could n't help giving the snap away. Come over and have a drink on me."

And as they disappeared behind the green door across the way the little knot on the opposite corner untied itself and drifted apart. There may be one young wife in town who will want to kick herself when she reads this.

OLD FOES TO MEET AGAIN.

The Westfield and Plainfield Ball Teams will Come Together, for the First Time This Season, Next Saturday.

"Shorty" Howe, who will play short stop for Westfield against Plainfield, here, on Saturday, played third base on the New York league team yesterday and made three hits.

The batting order of Saturday's game on the Crescent Oval, will be: Westfield—Townley, center field; Howe, short stop; Dowd, catcher; McLaughlin, left field; Towse, first base; Francis, pitcher; Roberts, third base; Sanson, right field; Hibbard, second base. Crescents—Hofford, catcher; Smith, short stop; McIndoe, left field; Turner, center field; Davis, second base; Fritz, right field; Keenan, third base; Jones, first Base; Sneden, pitcher.

A year ago this month, in a game against Elizabeth's team, the Crescents could make but four hits and two runs with Francis in the box against them.

TO THE WORLD'S FAIR VIA B. AND O

Going via Washington and Returning via Niagara Falls

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has placed on sale at its offices throughout the East excursion tickets to Chicago, good going via Washington and returning via Niagara Falls, with the privilege of stop over at each point. These tickets are valid for return journey until November 15, and are not restricted to certain trains, but are good on all B. and O. trains, and permit holders to travel via Pittsburgh or via Grafton. By either route passengers cross the Allegheny mountains, 3,000 feet above the sea level, amid the most picturesque scenery in America. Sleeping car accommodations may be reserved in advance upon application to nearest B. and O. ticket office.

EVERY PICTURE A GEM.

Superior Photographers Thrown on the Screen at the Camera Club Exhibit.

The Camera Club gave a most successful exhibition of their lantern slides last evening in Music Hall, the main part of the hall being well-filled with people.

It was nearly 8:30 when the programme was opened by Miss Alice D. Coard, with a piano solo. Her playing was much enjoyed. Following this, George H. Simonds, of Newark, sang with good effect "Rivers of Years". He was cordially received.

O S. Teale then appeared and introduced the Rev. A. H. Lewis, who described in a very pleasing manner the various pictures as they were thrown on the screen. Messrs. Teale and Doane had charge of the apparatus, and performed their part to perfection.

In speaking of the views, nothing but the highest praise can be said, and the fact that they represented home talent and Plainfield in its beauty, increased the interest greatly. The work done by the members is certainly very superior to anything ever shown before, and was appreciated accordingly.

The second part of the programme consisted of a solo, by Mr. Simonds, and a continuation of Plainfield views. The pictures showed the same careful work as in those previously given.

In part third, "Man-O'-War's-Man" was rendered by Mr. Simonds. This was followed by a recitation by Miss Annie Louise Teale, entitled "The Decorative Sisters". It was exceedingly well given, and received hearty applause.

Miss Nelly Suydam, of Brooklyn, recited "Lady Maud's Oath" with good effect. She was very becomingly dressed, and was a favorite of the evening.

In conclusion a number of miscellaneous views were shown from different parts of this country and Europe.

The work of the club was represented by Messrs. Doane, Teale, Serrell, Gotthiel, Babcock, Smith and Stewart.

It is to be hoped that another such exhibition will be given in the near future.

RECEIVING THEIR NEW PASTOR.

Warren Mission People Welcome the Rev. J. O. McKelvie.

A very pleasant reception was given last night to the Rev. Joseph O Mc-Kelvie, the new pastor of the Warren chapel that has recently gone into the hands of the Crescent Avenue church. The clergymen who were present were the Rev. W. R. Richards of the Crescent Avenue church, the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell of Hope chapel, the Rev. Wm. A. Alexander of Bethel chapel, and the Rev. J O. McKelvie.

The exercises, which were held in Warren chapel, opened with a devotional service. The Rev. Mr. Richards made the welcoming address, and Mr. McKelvie replied. Mr. Alexander led in prayer, and Leander N. Lovell, superintendent of the Sunday-school, made an address. The choir then sang several hymns, among them being "Come where the lilies bloom", which was rendered in a very pleasing manner.

After the services were concluded, refreshments were served, and the rest of the evening was given up to enjoyment.

Summer Excursion Tickets

To all northern and eastern seaside, lakeside, and mountain resorts, to Deer Park and Oakland, the Virginia Springs, Niagara Falls, Luray Caverns, Gettysburg, and to all other points where people gather in search of health and pleasure, are now on sale at all Baltimore and Ohio ticket offices at greatly reduced rates. This book can be procured free of charge upon personal application to ticket agents, B. & O. R. R. Co., or you can have it mailed to you by sending name and address with 10 cents in stamps to Chas. O. Scull, general passenger agent, Baltimore, Md.

Deserted His Plainfield Bride.

Myron Sawyer was arrested by policeman Barry Sunday night as he alighted from a train at the Elizabethport station. The officer had a warrant for Sawyer's arrest on a charge of non-support of his wife. Sawyer was married some years ago, to Miss Fannie Flynn of Plainfield, and after a few weeks deserted his bride. He returned to Elizabeth to see his mother. He was held until he can give bonds.

Victims of the Heat.

A young lad named Stafford, who works for G. Q. Packer, fainted in the crowd at the corner-stone laying last evening.

Yesterday was the hottest 20th of June in 20 years.

Churches Conflict.

A lecture will be given in Reform Hall at 8 this evening, by the Rev. A. Thompson. He has recommendations from Prof. Swing and Dr. Thomas, of Chicago. The subject of the lecture will be "The Conflict In and Out of the Churches: A Revelation of Better Things".

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

MISS SPANGENBERG'S PAPER.

Interesting Summary of Her Remarks on Madagascar. Before the Trinity Christian Endeavor Society.

Although Madagascar is comparatively near the African Continent and about 3,000 miles from South Eastern Asia, the majority of the population are not of African origin, but came at some remote period from the Malayan Peninsula and Archipelago. The people have always possessed a certain degree of civilization—they live in houses and villages, are skilled workers in metal and other handicrafts, and show considerable ability in the weaving and spinning of silk, and cotton, hemp, and other vegetable fibres.

Although the Malagasy had no written characters, and were consequently not a cultured people, they were by no means deficient in mental power and ability. The children of every tribe are bright and intelligent, and learn quickly; education is making rapid advances in the Central provinces; hundreds of natives are now employed in teaching and many in assisting to write books; and some have taken degrees in medicine in English universities.

The religious beliefs and practices of the people occupy an interesting position among heathen nations. In passing through the country there are very few outward signs of idolotry to be seen, for there are no temples or idols set up for worship, nor is there a priesthood, properly so-called, nor a caste system, nor pilgrimages, penances, nor shrines. Malagasy idolotry is rather a charm worship or fetichism; a belief in the virtues of worthless objects to protect from particular evils, and to procure certain benefits. Many of these charms are found upon the person fastened to the arms and chest, but others are large stones and rocks placed upon the banks and beds of streams. Some of these charms have become to a certain extent national gods, and are looked upon as protectors of the kingdom. Ancester-worship is a marked feature in the worship of the Malagasy, and there is also a strong belief in divination and witchcraft, and in the evil and good influences of times and seasons, etc. Underlying this charm worship, and the various superstitious practices, there is also a universal belief in a Supreme being, known by the name of Andrianamahary, i. e., "The Creating Prince" or "The Creator". The knowledge of the people in regard to the character of this Supreme being involves the idea of God as "protector of the helpless", "avenger of evil", "rewarder of good", etc. So that in preaching to some portions of the people the missionaries do not proclaim an utterly unknown God, but one with whose character they are to a slight extent already acquainted. But their knowledge of God seems to have had little effect upon their character and lives.

Such were the people among whom the first missionaries commenced their labors some seventy-five years ago, and the heathen inhabitants of Madagascar are still in a great measure the same.

The history of Christianity in Madagascar may be divided into three periods—its planting from 1818 to 1836, its persecutions from 1836 to 1861, its progress from 1861 to the present time.

At the close of the last century the attention of Protestant Christians was practically drawn to the great island as a field for missionary effort. After some unavoidable delays the London Missionary society sent out several missionaries who began their labors in 1820. The following year these were joined by a number of other missionaries and several good Christian artisans who were sent to instruct the people in some of the arts of civilized life. With little difficulty in their way from any outward opposition, they proceeded steadily with their labors for a number of years. A truly great work was accomplished in a comparatively short time by these few men. They reduced the language to a systematic written form; they compiled dictionaries; they founded a school system by which many thousands received an excellent education; they translated and printed not only several editions of the Gospels, the new Testament and portions of the old, but before their departure in 1836 they completed an edition of the whole Bible in the native tongue. Beside all this, continual effort was made by public preaching, Bible-class instruction, personal intercourse and other means to bring the truths of the Gospel to bear upon the hearts and lives of the people. This work was carried on during the reign of King Radama, who though not a Christian himself, placed no obstacle in the way of his people professing Christianity, and gave all the weight of his personal authority and favor to the efforts of the missionaries. At his death one of his wives, the Princess Ranavalona, a very superstitious and despotic woman, came to the throne. Hopes were entertained that religious liberty would still be allowed during her reign, but before many years the Queen made up her mind to put down Christianity by force. A great national assembly was called and a royal message delivered in which the Queen forbade under the severest punishment, the various practices of Christian worship. Strenuous efforts were made by the missionaries to obtain some relaxation of the new law and gain permission to preach and teach, but without any result. Seeing that for the present at least the work was at an end, having done all they could for the people, they placed the Bible in the hands of the native Christians for their guidance and support and with sorrowful hearts left the country.

In the early part of 1836 active measures of persecution were commenced, notwithstanding the fact that Christian worship was forbidden under severe penalties; meeting weresecretly held in secluded villages, in recesses of the forest, in caves and clifts of the rock, and even in rice holes, at which the believing people encouraged each other to hold fast their faith in God. The experiences of the Christians for many years might be described by the words "Cruel mockings and scourgings, bond and imprisonment, destitute, afflicted, tormented, in deserts and mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth", for all this was literally fulfilled in Madagascar. The entire period of persecution lasted about twenty-five years, but despite all the cruelties which an absolute sovereign and her heathen subjects could inflict for all these years, "The Word of God grew and multiplied". About 200 Christian people laid down their lives during that quarter of a century, and many hundreds more suffered in loss of rank, property and liberty, and yet at the close of the period the believers in Christ had multiplied about 20 fold. Persecution had a remarkable effect in rooting and establishing Christianity in Madagascar. Nothing else could have so thoroughly convinced the people of its supernatural origin, as the way in which it overcame every attempt of their sovereign to destroy it. When the news of the Queen's death reach England, the London Missionary society sent out the Rev. Mr. Ellis to re-organize the mission. Mr. Ellis arrived at Antananarivo in 1862 and was heartily received by all classes of people. He found three large congregations meeting on the Lord's Day in the northwestern suburb of the city. He was soon joined by three ordained missionaries, a medical missionary, a printer and a school teacher, who were soon engaged in acquiring the language and arranging to proceed with their special departments of labor. To these pioneers were added in the course of a few years, nine or ten others, several of whom came specially to carry on church building. In the year following the arrival of Mrs. Ellis, Queen Resoherina came to the throne. During the five years of her reign Christianity made rapid and steady progress. The preaching of the Gospel was earnestly carried on and a system of regular Bible class instruction arranged. The press issued a constantly increasing amount of literature, schools were established in connection with all the larger churches, and teachers for these put in training at the Normal School. A commencement was made in training preachers and pastors for the native churches. Substantial brick buildings were erected for many of the Congregations and the construction of four stone churches were commenced. In the early part of 1868 the Queen died, and her cousin succeeded her, taking for her royal name that of her aunt, Queen Ranavalona. At her coronation no idols were brought out, but on the canopy over the Queen's throne were the words taken from the Christian Scriptures "Glory to God", "Peace on Earth", "Good Will to Men", "God is with us", and a large copy of the Bible lay at the Queen's right hand. The Queen and her husband soon commenced divine worship in one of the royal houses, and sent for some native pastors to give them regular instruction in the truths of Christianity. After a few months they received baptism. This event caused many of the higher classes to come forward and join the ranks of the Christians. A little later in the same year another event took place which gave a still more powerful impetus to the advancing movement in favor of Christianity. This was the burning of the idols in September, 1869. These occurrences had a wonderful effect upon the people in the central provinces of the island and caused a very large immediate increase in the number of those who attended Christian worship. Every chapel was crowded to excess, and the people began to construct rough buildings of mud and grass in which to meet together. Many of these congregations had no one to instruct them, sometimes even no one who could read a passage of Scripture, but they met and prayed. The missionaries felt almost overwhelmed at the responsibility thus thrown upon them, in having so many thousand of heathen people looking to them for guidance and instruction. Before the burning of the idols the adherents of Christianity numbered about 37,000; at the close of 1870 they had increased to a quarter of a million. A large number of the best men who could be found in the stronger churches were sent out as evangelists. The missionary society sent more missionaries.

A college was commenced for the training of pastors and evangelists. The training schools, the press, and the medical missions, also took their share of the increased work. From that time forth there have been many political and social changes for the better. The Gospel has been the means of raising and purifying the people, increasing their home comforts and improving their dwellings, their dress, and their habits.

Education has made great advances and the Queen and Government have done their utmost to urge the people to send their children to the schools which are now found in almost every town and village. The work of church organization has been very encouraging, and there are now numbers of earnest and intelligent preachers who are able to instruct and exhort the congregations, and who by their effective speech bring all the resources of the beautiful native language to enforce Divine truth.

Although a great work has certainly been done for the people of Madagascar, the island as a whole has not yet been Christianized, as many people suppose. Some who heard of the burning of the idols in 1869, and the acceptance of Christianity by the Queen and government, thought that the whole country had come under the power of the Gospel. But Madagascar is not like one of the South Sea islands, but a great country nearly four times as large as England and Wales, with numerous tribes scattered widely over its surface. Until 1870 the sole mission station was at the capitol city, so that a large proportion of the population of the island are still uninfluenced by the Gospel. But the heart of the country has been won and during the past ten or fifteen years the missionary sympathies of the churches have been called out. Earnest Christian natives have been sent to evangelize some of the heathen tribes, and these men have in most instances done excellent work with encouraging success. Shall we not join our prayers with those of the Christian workers of that great Island, that the glorious Gospel of the blessed Christ may be carried more speedly to those who are still in "darkness and in the region and shadow of death".

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Geo. R. Crandall, P. M., Quonochaug, R. I.

THEY DREADED FUSS AND FLOWERS.

So Miss Brown and Mr. Hamilton Ran Away From Their Friends and Were Married Over the Brook This Morning.

A lot of people in and about Newark and Rockland county, New York, will be greatly surprised over something that happened in North Plainfield this morning. They are looking forward, with much expectation of enjoyment, for the wedding of their admired friends, Miss Ada Estell Brown of Newark, and counselor Henry DeWitt Hamilton of Tappan.

But to-day those two were married by the Rev. T. Logan Murpuy, at the Church of the Holy Cross, quietly and in the presence of their parents. Invitations for a big reception for all their friends, however, will be sent out to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will live for the future in the old homestead of the groom's family, where the unfortunate Major Andre was held a captive just before his execution.

A TALE OF TWO CANES.

Fred. Smith Says the Thief Was Thomas Morgan, and Morgan Says 'Twas Someone Else.

Mrs. Maggie Williams, who lives on Front street near Somerset, missed her husband's two canes from the hall this morning, and notified the police. Shortly afterward officer Kiely saw a man at the North avenue station with two canes in his hand, and placed him under arrest. The man said his name was Fred. Smith and that he was on his way to New York. Smith said that a man in Conneely's saloon had tried to sell him a cane but that he would not buy it, so the man gave it to him. Kiely accordingly went to Conneely's, and the bar-keeper showed him the man with the canes. He said his name was Thomas Morgan, and owned up to having given the cane to Smith, but said that someone else gave him the canes. Justice Nash gave Morgan until 3 to describe the man whom he said gave him the canes. The stolen property was returned to its owner.

Had to Use Police Force.

One of the men who was concerned in the row at Buersohoekt's, as told in yesterday's PRESS, left two coats and a pair of rubber boots in the shop when he was arrested. Buerschoski refused to give these up to-day, and policeman Kiely was obliged to accompany the man to the shop and threaten arrest before the articles were given up.

—The property of the late Mrs. Catharine Sauermann, 430 and 432 West Sixth street, was sold at auction Monday, June 19, to Theodore Kurzhals, for $1,950. Mrs. Kurzhals is a daughter of the late Mrs. Sauermann.

IN JUNE, JULY, AUGUST.

HALF THE FUNERALS WILL BE OF LITTLE CHILDREN.

Unless More Attention is Paid to the Proper Kind of Food—How Cholera Infantum May Best Be Avoided.

June, July and August!

The months when babies suffer, and the mortality of children under five years is dreadful.

Half the funerals in these months are of children, and this season promises to be a particularly severe one.

What then of the fathers and mothers? Their single thought should be how to keep the baby well; if they only knew that with all their loving care their babies are in danger in the summer principally from being improperly fed, how quickly would they run to correct this.

ALLAN R. HILLS.

Such is, however, the plain, true statement; hosts of innocent babies, watched with the utmost care, have died because their badly nourished bodies could not resist the summer dangers.

Unless lactated food is used, infant feeding is fraught with difficulties; mother's milk will always be the ideal food before the baby is weaned; but if for any reason the mother's milk is not perfect, if baby is to be weaned or if the little one is inclined to be nervous and fretful in the summer heat, then lactated food is to be desired above all else.

It is as harmless as the mother's milk and as capable of sustaining robust health It is prepared with unrelaxed watchfulness; its purity and an absolute impossibility of contamination is a purpose never forgotten in the wonderfully clean establishment up in the Green mountains of Vermont where it is made.

This exceeding care has borne fruit, hundreds of physicians in every state in the Union use lactated food in their daily practice, confident, from years of experience, that it is a safe diet for the youngest and most delicate children.

WILLIE PENNEY.

It is used in the most famous public nurseries; countless numbers of thankful mothers have testified to its merit.

Lactated food is so made that age, climate or variations of temperature do not affect it; sugar of milk is the basis of mother's milk, and it is the basis of lactated food; with it is combined pure barley malt, the finest wheat gluten and the nutritious elements of the oat; it is thoroughly cooked by high steam heat, and a pre-digested nutritious food that fulfills every requirement of the growing child is the result.

Thousands of happy infants have been brought up on it.

Mrs. L. W. Hills, of Riverside, Ill., says "Lactated food saved my baby's life; at the age of five weeks I put him on artificial food; not being successful with the first brand I discontinued that and tried condensed milk; that did not seem to contain nourishment enough, and at the age of five months he was so poor and sickly that I had no idea I would raise him; reading of lactated food I gave it a trial;

BABY BARTLETT.

he began to improve within a few days and has continued to do so; we have not given him a drop of medicine since using lactated food; I consider that it saved his life, and whenever my boy is praised for his bright, healthy looks, I never fail to tell his admirers that he is a lactated food boy."

Says B. Frank Penney, of the New Bedford, Mass., Standard: "Shortly after our baby Willie was born he had a severe attack of sickness with symptoms of cholera infantum; we tried various foods and remedies, but he grew thinner every day until we began to despair of saving his life; finally a friend recommended lactated food and we began using it; the effect was extremely gratifying; he began to grow better at once, and in a short time he was fat and strong and the very picture of health; we have fed him on lactated food ever since and he has not been sick a single day."

Mrs. L. L. Bartlett, 568 West Sanborn st., Winona, Minn., writes: "I nursed our baby until he was four months old, and my health was in such a terrible state that it threw him into inflammation of the bowels of a severe type; his life was despaired of; I had heard about lactated food, and by the advice of the attending physician we purchased some; the baby liked it from the first and it agreed with him; he got well and began to grow fat at once; at six months of age he weighed 25 pounds; he never had the slightest trouble with teething, his teeth coming without our knowledge until we could see them; on the whole he is one of the happiest, sweetest babies one would care to see."

—George F. Edwards has sold the two-story and attic frame dwelling, 72 Willow avenue, for $6,000, to Mrs. Harriet S. Pond.

MAYOR BOODY IS SORRY

He Will Try to Right the Wrongs of the Vikings.

Brooklyn's City Chief Will Visit the Norwegian Ship After the Present Disgrace Has Been Wiped Out.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Captain Magnus Anderson, of the Viking, accompanied by Lawyer August Reymert, went over to Brooklyn yesterday to get satisfaction for their treatment by the Brooklyn police early Monday.

Captain Anderson and Mr. Reymert were soon closeted with the Mayor and the Police Commissioner. Within a very few minutes Justice Tighe, who had placed the Viking men under bail, came in.

He was at once admitted to the conference, which lasted fully fifteen minutes.

Captain Anderson in telling what occurred before the Mayor and Commissioner, said:

"The Mayor treated us very courteously indeed. He said he wanted to apologize for the inconvenience to which we had been placed by a few stupid officials.

"I told the Mayor that all we wanted was the time shortened for our examination so we could go on to Chicago.

"The Mayor said he would like to have the matter dismissed, and suggested that the whole affair be settled in office, right there and then.

"Mr. Reymert asked that Policeman Tate, who caused his arrest, be summoned from his vacation, so that the case could proceed. Commissioner Hayden said he would attend to that at once.

"The Mayor assured us in unqualified terms that he was sorry that the affair had occurred, but would do his best to right the wrong as far as possible. I then invited Mayor Boody to visit the Viking at the same time Mayor Gilroy, of New York, is to be there.

"The Mayor said he could not accept the invitation until the present trouble had been settled and the stigma on Brooklyn wiped off, then he would gladly come and see us."

A Minneapolis Failure.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 21.—James McMillan, of Minneapolis, has made a voluntary assignment of his property to M. C. Fletcher. Mr. McMillan was in the hide and fur business until a short time ago when his business was transferred to a corporation known as James McMillan & Co. The assignment does not affect this corporation. Mr. Fletcher estimates that the assets will amount to about $700,000 and liabilities to $250,000.

An Englishman's Conscience Money.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Secretary Carlisle has received from an unknown person the sum of $100. The money was deposited in the Treasury on account of conscience. Apparently this contribution to the United States Treasury balance proceeds from some conscience-stricken Englishman visiting the World's Fair, for he requests an acknowledgment in the celebrated second column of the London Times.

Dynamiter Gilbert in New York.

NEW YORK, June 21.—James Gilbert, the Irish dynamiter who was released from Portland prison on May 30, arrived at noon from Southampton on the steamship Chester. He sailed as a second cabin passenger under the name of James Cunningham. A party of Irishmen, in charge of Roderick J. Kennedy went down the bay on the tug Robert Haddeu and took Gilbert off.

Not Holmes' Body.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 21.—The body recovered from the river yesterday and announced to be that of Harry E. Holmes, proves on closer examination not to be that of the missing Pittsburger, and has not yet been identified. In the pockets were some American silver, a tailor's tape measure and pieces of tailor's chalk.

Closing the Breaks in the Levees.

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.—The Bondreu crevasse and the break of the Williams levee have been substantially closed. In the crevasse four miles above this city the opening is more than 150 feet wide. About 600 convicts and other laborers will have it closed in a day or two. Traffic over the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley river railroad has been suspended.

Applying for a Reapportionment.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Lawyer F. R. Barnard yesterday served papers upon Mayor Boody, of Brooklyn, in an application for a writ of mandamus to be applied for July 1, in the Supreme court and which if granted will compel the Board of Supervisors to make another apportionment of the assembly districts in Kings county.

Favorable Crop Outlook.

DETROIT, Mich., June 21.—The weekly crop report issued to-day by the Michigan Weather Service Bureau indicates that the warm weather and absence of any excessive rainfall during the past week have improved the condition of the ground generally, crops are growing rapidly and the outlook at present is very favorable.

Mr. Phelps is Now a Judge.

TRENTON, N. J., June 21.—Chancellor McGill in the court of Errors and Appeals administered the oath to William Walter Phelps as a lay judge of that court and Judge Phelps took his place beside Justice Abbett in the double row of judges.

Only 300 Typhoid Cases.

LANSING, June 21.—The report that there had been 300 deaths from the typhoid fever outbreak in Iron Mountain, Menominee county, in this State, is declared by Secretary Baker, of the State Board of Health here, greatly exaggerated. The total number of cases does not exceed 300, and the deaths have been about thirty.

Sues for $20,000.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 21.—Peter Scherer has brought an action against the Holly Manufacturing Company for $20,000 damages. He was employed by the company about a year ago and while working in the moulding shops a ladle of molten iron tipped over and literally buried him in a sea of fire.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Nathan Hale statue by Sculptor F. S. Woods, presented to the Wadsworth Athenæum, was unveiled in Hartford yesterday without ceremony.

The canal boat Hart and Hill, loaded with grain, enroute for New York, is sunk in the Erie Canal at Amsterdam, N. Y. Navigation is somewhat interfered with.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is a positive cure for all those painful Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That

Bearing-down Feeling

causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or

Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 90 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled.

All druggists sell Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. Correspondence freely answered. You can address in strictest confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., Lynn, Mass.

DEATH OF STANFORD

Arrangements for the Funeral Not Yet Completed.

APOPLEXY CAUSED HIS DEATH

He Had Been Ailing for a Long Time—His Death Not Entirely Unexpected, and Yet a Surprise—Various Estimates of the Senator's Wealth—His Life.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The news of Senator Stanford's death was received in Washington with some degree of surprise, although all his friends knew that his advanced age and feeble health augured his decease within no very great period of time. Senator Stanford was last in Washington in April. He was very feeble and seemingly on the verge of dissolution.

THE LATE LELAND STANFORD.

He called on President Cleveland at that time, and a number of Congressmen who saw him at the White House sorrowfully predicted that the end was not far off. For several years past Senator Stanford has been so feeble that he required the assistance of a servant to enable him to move about. Rheumatism, added to the debility of old age, caused him much suffering.

Two years ago he went abroad to try the medical waters of European health resorts and returned to America apparently in better health. Since then he has travelled a great deal between California and Washington, accompanied always by his devoted wife, but his feebleness increased noticeably.

Notwithstanding his condition, his death at this time was unexpected and caused something of a shock to those who knew him. Senator Dolph, of Oregon, is the only member of Congress from the Pacific coast in town. He said this morning that it would be impossible for a Congressional committee to reach Palo Alto in time for the funeral and he thought Vice-President Stevenson would designate Senator Mitchell and such other Senators who are now on the coast to attend the funeral in behalf of the Senate. It is probable that this action will be followed.

LELAND STANFORD

Funeral Arrangements Not Yet Completed—His Life History.

PALO ALTO, June 22.—Arrangements for the funeral of the late Senator Stanford have not been completed. It has been arranged, however, that the remains will be interred Saturday.

Senator Stanford was in the best of spirits Tuesday. He took a drive around his stock farm and seemed as well as ever. He retired shortly after 10 o'clock and about midnight his valet, going into the Senator's bedroom, discovered that he was dead.

It has been evident for some time that Senator Stanford's demise was a question of but a short time. His symptoms were apoplectic, and his weight was increasing alarmingly. There was a stiffness about his limbs that made locomotion an exceedingly difficult task. His body was fast becoming too heavy for his limbs to support. He could take only the slightest exercise.

Six months ago the Senator sent for Dr. Curtis of San Francisco. The doctor prescribed heroic treatment, but the Senator was not ready to undergo drastic methods for the reduction of flesh and the restoration of his waning strength. His apoplectic symptoms increased and his situation became such as to create serious alarm.

About six weeks ago, it was found necessary to impose a severely plain diet upon the Senator and since that time his sole food had consisted of fried hashed meat with hot water as the only liquid accompaniment. The Senator rigidly adhered to the severe requirements of the physician and it seemed for a time that its results were most beneficial, and might possibly effect a permanent cure.

The Senator expressed himself as much encouraged, and looked forward hopefully to the time when he could devote himself with renewed energy to public affairs and to the completion of certain educational and other benevolent enterprises that were very near to his heart. But his strength was not sufficiently great to respond to the demands upon it. Its fundamental weakness suddenly manifested itself, and he passed quietly away.

Leland Stanford was born on a farm about eight miles from Albany, N. Y., on March 9, 1824. He remained at home until his 21st year, dividing his time between farm work and study.

In 1846 he entered the law office of Wheaton, Doolittle & Hadley, in Albany. Soon after he was admitted to the bar he married and removed to Wisconsin, where he intended to practice law, but the prosperity of California led him to go to that State.

He arrived in California on July 12, 1852, and entered into the mercantile business with three of his brothers, who had preceded him.

In 1860 he was chosen a delegate to the Chicago Republican convention and became acquainted with Abraham Lincoln.

On his return home he was nominated for governor and was elected by a handsome majority.

At the close of his term of office he became interested in the Central Pacific railway project, and was mainly instrumental in its successful completion. He was president of the road for years.

In 1885 he was elected to the United States Senate for a six-year term.

In 1885 he donated property worth $4,000,000 toward the founding of the university which bears his name.

Various estimates have been made from time to time of Senator Stanford's wealth. It has been by many placed as high as $20,000,000, and even $30,000,000, and again there have been those who have leaped all barriers and placed his wealth at $70,000,000. In these times, and considering his interests in the Southern Pacific system, the great Palo Alto and Vina ranches, his city and country residences, it is difficult to arrive at what he actually was worth.

The residence at Palo Alto with its extensive grounds, is undoubtedly the finest of its kind in California and perhaps there are no country residences in America in all respects so fine. It is here that the Senator has spent most of his time since he returned from Washington. In his residences there and on California street, are pictures and statuary that have cost hundreds of thousands of dollars.

He has lived like a king, travelled, as all know, by special car, and with a retinue of attendants that has astonished even the richest men of the old world.

Reported Indian Trouble Discredited.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Neither the War or Interior Departments have received any advices from the Cheyenne Indian Agency relative to the reported trouble there between the Indians and the troops from Fort Keogh. Little confidence is placed in the report, as it is thought if any such serious trouble as reported had taken place these departments would have been notified.

ROBBED THE BODIES.

Parkville Victims Despoiled By Ghouls.

The Body of Judge Quimby, of Utica, Who Had $6,000 in His Possession, Has Disappeared Altogether.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 22.—It would appear from all that can be learned that some of the victims of the Parkville accident were robbed. In fact, one body has entirely disappeared, that of Judge Quimby, of Utica, who had $6,000 in his possession.

Dr. Coughlin, who was riding on an ambulance, passed an express wagon in which Quimby was lying and he offered to take him in the ambulance, as he said he was likely to die.

The man who had charge of Quimby said he was a doctor and would not allow him to be moved. He said he was going to take him to the Norwegian hospital.

Quimby, however, never reached there. The coroner is trying to find the body.

William B. Hutchinson, 300 W. 117 street, New York city, who was killed, had several thousand dollars tied up in a handkerchief. When his body reached Undertaker Stillwell's morgue, only $1.25 and a gold watch was found.

LOUIS DREYFUS' SUICIDE

He Had Been Drinking Heavily, and Brooded Over a Robbery.

LONG BRANCH, June 22.—Louis Dreyfus, one of the wealthiest and best known business men of this place, who committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head at his home on Broadway, is said to have been drinking heavily of late. While in New York recently on a spree, he was robbed of over $600 in cash and of a gold watch and chain. The robbery seemed to have troubled him a great deal.

Yesterday he took his dinner as usual at his place of business on Broadway, where he conducted an extensive dry-goods concern and also had his home. After eating his dinner he went into the store and selected two of the very finest revolvers of thirty-two calibre. He then seated himself in a rocking chair, a revolver in each hand, and placed one over each temple. He pulled the triggers, two shots rang out, and in an instant Dreyfus was dead. The coroner soon arrived and viewed the body.

Mr. Dreyfus owned considerable property in this place, Lakewood and Shark River, and also owned some very valuable cranberry bogs in South Jersey. He was estimated to be worth from $100,000 to $150,000.

Drowned in the Passaic.

PATERSON, N. J., June 22.—Claude Mauzy, a harness manufacturer, and one of his workmen attempted to swim across the Passaic river at High Bridge late yesterday afternoon. When nearly midway in the stream Mauzy disappeared under the water and was drowned, his companion being too much exhausted to save him.

THE QUEEN INTERESTED

She Will Personally Supervise the Coming Royal Wedding.

LONDON, June 22. — Queen Victoria is en route from Balmoral to Windsor for the purpose of personally superintending the preparations for the marriage, two weeks hence, of the Princess Victoria Mary, of Teck, and the Duke of York.

Lord Carrington, who is the official of the Lord Chamberlain's department, is engaged in outlining the arrangements for the event, will have an audience with the Queen on Thursday. The apartments in St. James' Palace, in which the couple will reside, are being entirely refurnished, and no expense is being spared to give them a luxurious appearance.

IT IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

Validity of the Werts Ballot Reform Law Affirmed.

Prohibitionists Gain a Point, the Court of Appeals Deciding that Voters May Erase All Printed Matter From Ballots.

TRENTON, June 22.—The constitutionality of the Werts ballot reform law has been affirmed by the Court of Errors and Appeals, which also decided that voters may erase from the ballot all printed matter.

This latter decision is a victory for the Prohibitionists and permits them to vote without first securing official ballots by petition.

The suit was a friendly one between Stephen B. Ransom, the Prohibition leader of Jersey City and Daniel Black. Last fall Ransom voted an unofficial ballot, for which he was fined $25 under the Werts law.

He appealed to the Supreme Court, and charged that the Werts law is unconstitutional. Justice Reed's opinion affirmed the constitutionality of the law, and held that the voter could erase from his ticket only the names of the candidates.

Justice Dixon dissented and held that the voter could erase all printed matter. Because of these diverse views the case was taken to the Court of Errors and Appeals, argued and decided at once.

PLANS OF THE BORDENS

They Will Go to Europe Soon, Accompanied by Bridget Sullivan.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 22.—It is stated by a relative of the Borden family that as soon as Miss Lizzie Borden, and her sister Emma, can make proper arrangements, they, with Bridget Sullivan, will sail for Europe for an extended trip. This is considered the best way to escape unpleasant recollections of the past year.

The Borden sisters returned yesterday to their home on Second street, after having spent the night at Mr. Charles B. Holmes' residence on Pine street.

They drove up to the gate in a closed carriage and their entrance was most painful to witness. There were very few spectators, for the crowds knew nothing of the hour when the long imprisoned girl would return.

They denied themselves to all newspaper men, in accordance with the suggestions of their counsel. The sofa on which Mr. Borden lay when he was murdered, is at the Central Police station and will not be removed for a day or two.

Miss Lizzie spent a very pleasant night and was very cheerful at breakfast in the Holmes residence. A domestic in the family house on Second street is reported to have said that the two girls broke down completely when they had entered their old home.

A Compromise Effected.

NEW YORK, June 22.—It is officially announced by the Western Union Telegraph company that the struggle between the Coney Island Jockey Club and the telegraph company has been settled. The Western Union declines to state upon what basis the trouble has been settled, but gives the assurance that the telegraph service from the Sheepshead Bay track will not be interrupted in the future.

Washington Association of New Jersey.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., June 22.—The annual meeting of the Washington Association of New Jersey was held here yesterday. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Johnathan W. Roberts; Vice Presidents, William V. V. Lidgerwood, William L. King; Treasurer, Hampton O. Marsh; Secretary, Edmund D. Halsey.

Fitzhum Must Die.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 22.—Governor Flower has returned to Albany. He announced that he had decided not to grant the commutation asked for John Fitzhum, who is in Auburn prison under sentence of death. Fitzhum will therefore be executed on Monday next.

Grange Still Absent.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Jas. Grange, bookbinder, of 68 Duane street, who made an assignment Monday night and then disappeared, has not yet reappeared, nor are his whereabouts known to his assignee, Andrew Gilhooley, of 5 Beekman street.

Deputy Sheriff Foley Held.

HARTFORD, June 22.—Deputy Sheriff William A. Foley, of East Hartford, has been held for the Superior Court, as Manchester. Crashaw, the man whom he nearly killed, for insulting his sister, is in a critical condition.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—For New England: Increasing cloudiness and probable thunder showers, variable winds shifting to southwest.

For Eastern New York: showers and probable thunder showers, slightly cooler, southwest winds.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland: Increasing cloudiness and probable thunder showers in the evening, cooler, south to west winds.

For Western New York: Generally fair, west winds.

For Western Pennsylvania: Showers, followed by fair, west winds.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING

A Circus Tent Struck at River Falls, Wis.

EIGHT DEAD, THIRTY-INJURED

A Terrible Storm Burst Over the Ringling Brothers' Show, and as the Terrified People Tried to Rush from the Tent, the Bolt of Death Descended.

RIVER FALLS, Wis., June 22.—More than 50 people were injured yesterday when the circus tent of Ringling Brothers was struck by lightning. Eight persons were killed outright, as follows:

CLARK MAPES.
EUGENE REYNOLDS.
J. A. GLENDENNING, Town Clerk of Oak Grove, and his son.
O. A. DEAN.
O. P. WIGGINS, 14 years old.
CURT ALDRIDGE, 12 years old.
AN UNKNOWN BOY.

The performance was not quite over, but the terrible storm caused the immense throng to crowd out of the tent. While the people were passing out the tent was struck twice by lightning with the above results. Fire started but was extinguished.

The greatest consternation followed. The rain continued falling in great sheets and the bodies of the dead were soaked through before they could be removed. As soon as possible Ringling Brothers and their employes did everything in their power to alleviate the condition of the wounded. The dead bodies were taken down town and laid out on the floor of the engine house, where they were, with the exception of the unknown boy, identified in a few minutes after their arrival.

The scene as relatives identified their dead was distressing. One elderly gentleman, the father of young Dean, fainted and was carried out of the engine house. The clothing on some of the dead was torn in shreds, while others presented no external evidences of the fatality except the awful stare and fixed rigid features.

Most of the wounded were taken home as soon as possible and are now doing well.

The presence of mind of the Ringlings and their employes prevented a stampede which undoubtedly would have been attended with still greater fatalities. The crowd was held in check and the dead and wounded removed as soon as possible.

THE WAGNER INQUEST

Jury Finds that Young Wood Did the Shooting.

FREEHOLD, N. J., June 22.—In the Wagner inquest, after State Prosecutor Ivins charged the jury they rendered a verdict that "Bertie Wagner came to his death by a gunshot wound at the hands of Lewis Wood."

Prosecutor Ivins at once procured a certified copy of the verdict and will forward it to Gov. Werts, so that a requisition can be obtained upon Gov. Flower for the boy, who is held in Brooklyn.

Indicted for Manslaughter.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 22.—The grand jury has returned two indictments for manslaughter against Dr. F. M. Phillips and Mrs. Ellen Reily in connection with the death of Mrs. M. E. Adair at the Flatbush Insane Asylum, where she had been an inmate, from injuries said to have been caused by beatings. Dr. Phillips and Mrs. Reily were arraigned in the Kings County Court of Sessions and pleaded not guilty to the charge. They were released in $2,500 bail each.

Boy Drowned at Paterson.

PATERSON, N. J., June 22.—Patrick White, 18 years old, was drowned in the Passaic River yesterday. He and a number of companions were swimming under the Susquehanna railroad bridge when White was seized with a cramp. He realized his danger and called loudly for assistance, but before his companions could reach him he sank to the bottom.

Buffalo Lawyer Under Arrest.

BUFFALO, June 22.—Seward A. Simons, a prominent lawyer is under arrest on a warrant charging him with importing from Canada a gardener to work on his premises. He was arraigned before Commissioner Fairchild, pleaded not guilty and was held in $1,500 bonds for the Grand Jury.

Delivered From Jail by His Friends.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., June 22.—Joseph BURNS of Adams, who recently stole a horse at Eagle Bridge, N. Y., and who has been in the same business in Illinois, Michigan, and this State, was released from the lockup, where he was alone, last night, by friends who forced the door open with a crowbar.

An Old Man's Suicide.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 22.—Abram Sheridan, of Ramseys, Bergen county, committed suicide yesterday by taking a large dose of chloral with morphine. For years he had suffered with insomnia and had taken morphine regularly. He was nearly 80 years of age.

Railroad Property Attached.

NEW HAVEN, June 22.—Property belonging to the Shepaug, Litchfield & Northern railroad has been attached in a suit brought by ex-President John L. McCauley, of that road, to recover $4,000 back salary alleged to be due him.

Suicide of Francis Spies.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Francis Spies, merchant and Vice-Consul of Honduras, committed suicide yesterday morning at his residence, No. 64 East Fifty-fifth street by shooting himself through the head. Mr. Spies was 55 years old.

Crushed to Death.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., June 22.—Dennis Kennedy, 73 years old, a farmer living near here, was thrown from his wagon yesterday while driving into Wheatland Ocean County, and the wheel passing over his head, crushed out his life.

LABOR NOTES

Cleveland (Ohio) machinists are preparing to strike for the nine-hour work-day.

Boss horseshoers have organized an association in Philadelphia.

The bricklayers' strike in Utica, N. Y., has resulted in a victory.

President Gompers has recommended to the labor unions in Chicago to arrange a grand international demonstration for Labor Day.

It is to comprise a parade with floats illustrating the achievements of the labor movement; the misery of labor; child and woman labor; accidents and dangers of labor; sweating shops, &c., and in the evening a festival of fraternization is to take place.

BEWARE OF POOR MILK.

Analysis Made by Dr. Morse—Lactated Food Best Diet For Babies.

The result of the analysis of 100 specimens of milk sold in Baltimore, made by Dr. H. N. Morse, professor in John Hopkins University, has had the effect of arousing milk consumers in that city to a sense of their danger.

Probably every other city in the country is as badly off as Baltimore.

It is necessary, therefore, that mothers should not place too much reliance upon an exclusive milk diet for the children.

Early in the summer it is better, even if a baby has been doing well through the winter on cow's milk, to use lactated food in connection with it. Lactated food is much to be preferred to any other diet for infants. It is the best substitute for mother's milk that has ever been discovered.

Lactated food saves babies' lives.

It has freed many mothers from the continually haunting fear of cholera infantum, which is so much to be dreaded in June, July and August.

If cow's milk could be obtained, unwatered, absolutely free from contamination, there would be fewer deaths to record each year, fewer cases of infant fevers and diarrhoeal diseases.

But it is essential that lactated food be used in the summer months when the milk is most often lacking in proper nutrition.

Children fed on lactated food grow healthy and strong.

OVER A HUNDRED DEAD.

Appalling Disaster in a Russian Church.

A False Alarm of Fire Created a Panic, and One Hundred and Thirty-Six Dead Bodies Were Taken Out.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 22.—While the ancient church of Romano at Borisoglebsk, on the Volga, was crowded with pilgrims from all parts of Yaroclav, who had come to take part in the annual church procession, a panic was caused by a false alarm of fire which had been raised by thieves in order to facilitate their operations.

When the firemen arrived in answer to the tolling of an alarm by the sexton of the church, they found the door locked.

Breaking it in they witnessed a fearful sight.

In the mad rush for the exit hundreds had been knocked down and stamped upon, while others had been suffocated by the pressure of the great throng of terror-stricken people.

The dead bodies of 126 women and 10 men were taken from the church.

Nor was this the total number of victims, as several other persons have been killed and twenty fatally injured by leaping from windows 30 feet from the ground.

For Stealing a Sloop-Yacht.

MT. VERNON, N. Y., June 22.—H. S. Allison, of this city, who was arrested on complaint of H. M. Williamson, of Passaic, N. J., who charged him with stealing a small sloop-yacht from him about a year ago, has been committed to the White Plains jail to await the arrival of the extradition papers from Gov. Werts, of New Jersey. Allison admits taking the yacht, but claims that he found it adrift at the time.

The Stokes Case.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The motion of William E. D. Stokes to compel his cousin Edward, who is suing him for $350,000 damages for libel, to state definitely how he was injured in his reputation, credit and character, has been denied by Judge Ingraham, of the Supreme Court. William wanted specific sums set after each of these injuries and the names of persons whose business Edward claims he lost through damage to credit.

Burned to Death.

NYACK, N. Y., June 22.—While James S. Kelly and his wife were driving to court at New City, a spark fell from Mr. Kelly's pipe and set fire to his wife's dress. She was so badly burned that she died last evening.

The Jamesons Held.

CONCORD, N. H., June 21.—James and Albert Jameson, charged with killing Capt. Augustus B. Farmer, of Bow, a police officer, June 12, were to-day held without bail for the grand jury.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Partly Cloudy, Slightly Cooler, West Winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Harry, one of Rogers, the sea food man's, valuable horses, died of colic this morning.

—Do you want to buy a house and lot or rent one? If you do, call on Carney. He can fix you out.

—There is no truth in the rumor that two horses died at the Metropolitan stables this morning.

—$23,000 was offered farmer Burnet for his 62 acres of land over the mountain, yesterday, but he refused.

—The strawberry festival at Union Village, last evening, was well attended. Henry Rogers donated the fruit.

—Many of the bicyclists in town make a trip to Feltville, occasionally, and take a dip in the fresh water stream there.

—W. E. Johnson, of East Front street, has gone to Long Branch to open a pool room. There are inquiries here for his exact address.

—A game cock was stolen from a roost on East Fourth street, Tuesday evening. The return of the bird would be much appreciated by the owner.

—Some of the lanterns caught fire in front of the Japanese store on East Front street, Tuesday night, but the flames were quickly extinguished.

—"Dutchy" Smith did n't have his shooting clothes on yesterday. He was the lowest of the lot at the Climax shoot, getting only 15 out of 25.

—A colored woman, while trying to ride a bicycle on Park avenue, near Fourth street, took a header and fell in the gutter. She was not much hurt.

—Policeman Lynch is looking around for a female called "Mary", who tried to slap a fellow in the face, and whose arrest was sought for the offence.

—The old bridge over the Passaic from Somerset to Morris county, is in a most dangerous condition—heavy teams not being allowed to drive over it.

—On account of the extreme heat, the stone masons and brick-layers had to quit work on the Clifton building at Park avenue and Fourth street, yesterday.

—Letter carrier Bauersachs will give a "pink tea" to the other carriers on his spacious lawn, Manning avenue, July 12. Those who have been invited expect to have a good time.

—Both the Park avenue and Peace street bridges caught from locomotive sparks, yesterday, but the fire in each instance was extinguished before much damage was done.

—The members of the Willow Grove Sunday-school held a strawberry and ice-cream festival, last evening. A hundred persons were there and the receipts, for benefit of the school, were large.

—It has been reported around town that Messrs. MacDonald and Rice had offered $10,000 for the Gus Frazee property at Peace and Second streets. The report, upon investigation, proves to be false.

—Musgrave, the second-hand furniture dealer, is ready for business in his new store on West Front street, No. 315, next to M. E. church, and wants the readers of THE PRESS to remember him when they want to buy or sell second-hand goods.

—The dog pounder is supposed to do his duty, and every day the dogs arrested should be taken to the pound. This morning a valuable hound dog of farmer Burnett was arrested, and the owner says the animal was released upon promise of a drink to the dog catcher.

—Weather suffering Plainfielders will not obtain any comfort out of the prediction of Observer Dunn as far as to-day is concerned, for he says that the temperature is rising and will continue to rise until night, when it will begin to take a slump and become cooler. The heat distressed humanity will be enabled to breath freer and enjoy life. The cool spell expected by the observer will continue for two or three days, he says.

GRIST OF THE COURTS.

The Cane Stealer Sent to Elizabeth.

Thomas Morgan, who stole the canes from Mrs. Maggie Williams, was sent to Elizabeth yesterday to await the action of the county court. His case will come up on Friday.

Julius Buerschoski was brought before Justice Nash last night and was obliged to give up the clothes left in his shop on Monday when he was arrested for disturbing the peace. Buerschoski was obliged to pay the costs of the proceedings, which amounted to $1.70. He was very angry and said he would complain to the mayor.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 10 years and have tried a number of remedies but found no relief until I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. I consider it the most reliable preparation for catarrh and cold in the head.—Hon. R. Crandall, P. M., Quonochawtaug, R. I.

MAYOR GILBERT AND CAPTAIN GRANT, SEE HERE!

Does Officer Saunders Permit the City Clerk's Employes, or Anyone Else, to Violate an Ordinance?

Policeman Saunders is accused of permitting repeated violations of the ordinance against bicycle riding at night without a light. Twice last evening he was seen to stop lanternless riders on Watchung avenue in front of the Crescent rink building, and afterwards let them go. The cases were not reported by him this morning, and if he collected anything he did not turn it in to the city.

It is said that he let one of them go because he worked for the city clerk. The other had a little talk with Saunders, acted as if he was going to "tip" the officer, and then rode away. Saunders said something about "All right! Do n't let it happen again".

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Phebe Mills has returned from a visit to Boston.

George Watson's family have gone to the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hance are home at 49 Grandview avenue.

Miss Phillips, of Brooklyn, is visiting Mrs. Phillips on Fourth street.

Miss Grace Irwin, of Putnam avenue, is visiting friends in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. McCarthy, of Park avenue, have gone to Europe.

R. J. Shaw now walks without a cane. His attack of sciatica is on the wane.

Joseph W. Gavett is a member of the United States grand jury just sworn in at Trenton.

The family of councilman J. H. Howell of North Plainfield, have gone to Bridgehampton, Long Island, for the summer.

Willard Case, a student at Peddie Institute, Hightstown, has a lucrative position for the summer months at the Thousand Islands.

Architect Morse on a bicycle ran into John Thickstun's carriage, the other day, and was thrown down in the dirt. Neither he nor his wheel was injured.

Harry Smith, the electrician, of "Dug Way", returned yesterday from a four months' trip to Europe and took possession of his new farm, the Wilmont place, which he recently purchased.

John King, who has for 18 years been with the Prudential Insurance company, having been their pioneer in Plainfield, has been properly rewarded by having his pay increased and his labor reduced.

Richard J. Stout and family, of New York, will occupy the residence of councilman See and family, of Westervelt avenue, during the latter's sojourn at Asbury Park. Mr. Stout is an uncle of Mrs. See.

Mrs. Jane Hargraves, mother of Mrs. W. W. Coriell of West Front street, died at Trenton on Tuesday. The funeral took place from the house, at 4 this afternoon, and relatives from here were present.

Mr. Elderton, of the Courier staff, took the first degree Tuesday evening, in the new association recently formed by the letter carriers. It is conferred in the alley next to the post office. Those who have seen it worked, need no information.

Found by THE PRESS Alone.

A party who had borrowed Eugene M. Laing's trip ticket, the other day, thought to get it back to him the quicker by putting it under Mr. Laing's store door. The next morning, however, when the store was opened, the clerk did n't see the ticket and it was kicked or swept into the street.

Of course, no one concerned had any expectation of ever recovering it, but as there were nine dollars' worth of rides on it a cent-a-word advertisement was put in THE PRESS exclusively. The ticket was found and returned at once upon the advertisement being read in THE PRESS.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. H. Willard, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

FANWOOD'S COMMENCEMENT.

Hot Weather, But a Rare Treat for Parents of the Township's Scholars.

The children of the public school of Fanwood had their final exercises for the school year Tuesday afternoon. Promptly at 3 principal Goodenough called order, and the children responded with the following charming programme:

Music—Instrumental Solo, Josie Marsh
Old-Fashioned Reading Circle, Pupils of Grammar Department
Song—Summer is Come, By the School
Concert Recitation—Busy Hands and Fingers, Alice Peel, Beulah Coles, Emma Henggeler, Victoria Brown, Sadie Messler.
Recitation—The Bees, Harry Brown
Concert Recitation—The Cobblers, Kendall Collins, Willie Waldron, Willie Nesty, Frank Henggeler, Hervey Marsh.
Music—Columbia, By the School
Sense Game—Louise Brant and Kendall Collins
Recitation—Three Little Toad Stools, Victoria Brown, Annie Miller, Mary Jahn.
Song—Lullaby.
Dialogue—Bessie's Grandmothers, Harriet Collins, Janet Carter, Olive Humes.
Hoop Drill—Children of the Advanced Primary Spring Song.
Debate—Should the World's Fair be kept open on Sunday.
Affirmative—Edna Nicholl, Willie Ilsley.
Negative—Richard Robinson, Albert Hollingsworth
Presentation of Primary and Grammar Grade Certificates by Dr. Westcott of the Board of Trustees.
Song—My Country 'Tis of Thee, By the School

All the recitations and songs were heartily applauded.

Miss Fulton, leading in the singing, was in fine voice. Miss Squires coached the little tots in their recitations before the exhibition, but the children showed such proficiency as not to need her prompting in public. Miss Cotton, who had charge of the "Hoop Drill", could not be outdone by the most experienced drill-master of militia in the State, and right here it is proper to remark that little Lillie Fancher cannot say she had nothing to say or do, as, being in the vanguard of the drill, she went through her part admirably.

The lullaby song was highly appreciated, and in fact the whole affair was so conducted that the parents of the children, as well as other guests, were delighted; and, after viewing the results of the year as executed by the pupils in the several class-rooms, were high in their praise of the work accomplished by the principal and staff.

As for the children, they were enthusiastic as to the treatment they had received, and hoped the same young ladies would continue in their several departments.

A most pleasing part of the entertainment was the appearance of the Hon. David P. Hall, who by unanimous request took the platform and in spite of the intense heat delivered an entertaining address.

To relieve the routine, a little dog traveled upon the stage, and, taking a position immediately behind Mr. Hall, caused some amusement. He was promptly removed by Mr. Goodenough, and the exercises continued.

Dr. Westcott, of the board of school trustees, presented the children with certificates, and in a neat speech complimented both scholars and instructors on the proficiency of the former, and invited all present to visit the class-rooms and inspect the children's work.

Mr. Holmes, of Elizabeth, county superintendent of schools, was present, but not till after the exercises. He inspected the work of the school and expressed himself as very well pleased.

Mr. Holmes was the guest of Mr. Goodenough and of the Rev. Dr. Parks, and did not leave for his home till late in the evening.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,
And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, also window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves las's but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

GOOD-NATURED GOSSIP.

Little Things Picked up in North Plainfield Borough by the Stroller.

The brooks are running low.

Oat straw will be very short this year.

Israel Stout, ex-street commissioner, is busy grading in the park.

A tame crow amuses passers by Voehl's bakery on Somerset street.

Henry Hess, the gardener, who has been dangerously ill, is on the mend.

Ex-councilman C. P. Sebring is drilling a well for Smalley Bros., at their quarry.

The Mobus boys, Frank and Augustus, have five teams continually at work hereabouts.

Borough doctors recommend a hammock for the baby, instead of a crib, during the heated term.

Joseph Gavett and family are now living in their cottage in the beautiful Washington Valley, near the Rock.

Our Masonic friend, Henry Woodland, lives in and owns one of the handsomest dwellings on Grandview avenue.

A good roaring fire is kept up during damp days in the Cracker Barrel club rooms. Some of the members have the rheumatism.

"Vic" is the name of a common Irish dog that has many friends on Somerset street. Everybody knows "Vic", but as he's no good, according to heraldry, no one owns him.

Noah Drake has written a letter from the Trenton asylum to a friend here, asking him to intercede in his behalf and have a certain person sent down in his place and let him come home.

Henry Thomas, late of Manning avenue, an aged and industrious colored citizen, is dead. He leaves a wife, son and daughter. The property at 80 Manning avenue where he died belonged to him.

John Gun and Aaron Reid, two sports from Pond View, which is on the mountain top overlooking Coddington's pond, talk of driving their old gray mare to the World's Fair. They will start the next rainy day.

Charley Vandervoort, "Den" Sutphin's brother-in-law, has a large patch of watermelons on his place, and Charley says when the melons begin to ripen he will stay in the field all night so the boys will not get them as they did his citrons last year.

There is a horse, just a common ordinary one, which is incessantly keeping the neighbors awake at night over in the Park by continually kicking against the side of the stable. In fact, this is all the kicking that is done over in that end of the borough.

The "kids" of the borough are now happy. Mrs. S. Hudson, a kind Christian lady who lives on Somerset street, has given them permission to swim in the pond on her farm, and now an army of unwashed boys can be seen wandering up that way before and after school hours.

This is the time of the year for those who wish to take a trip through and become acquainted with North Plainfield township, and view its natural scenery. You may drive up through the valley and down through upper Scotch Plains by the paper and fur mills and the teeming fields of grain and grass, interspersed with woodlands, and dotted here and there with farmers' residences, and large dairies of cattle grazing on the hill slopes, and the multitudes of song birds chatting their melodious notes, and many other attractions, to please the traveler; down by the old Green brook stream as far as Bound Brook, where our township runs, you will find some of the most pleasant places the eye wishes to rest on. Over eight miles in the stretch, and nearly four across, is our territory, and it embraces some of the best land out of doors.

THE STROLLER.

THE CLIMAX GUN CLUB.

An Enjoyable Shoot Despite the Hot Weather.

The initial shoot of the Climax Gun club, Wednesday, on their shooting grounds, South avenue, near Fanwood, was a grand success in point of numbers present and the good time experienced. This new organization now numbers over thirty good shooting members, and bids fair to become a powerful organization among the shooting fraternity. Yesterday fourteen members faced the traps, under handicap rules, to make their scores for the annual prizes to be given. While the scores were not as large or good as should be warranted according to the record of the contestants, yet they were fair. All expressed themselves highly pleased with the new handicap methods. Each member shot at twenty-five targets. Afterwards there were sweepstake matches at inanimate and live birds. A fine clam-bake was served on the grounds while the shooting was in progress.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to wait the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely. It is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. S. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

A FEW SIMPLE QUESTIONS

Concerning the Criticism of the Action of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the Dr. Briggs Case, As Given by the Rev. Mr. Goodrich in His Sermon Last Sunday and Related by THE PRESS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Not having the honor to belong within the bounds of the Presbyterian church ourselves, neither having the intention to go into a more scrutinizing examination of the discourse of Mr. Goodrich, we nevertheless would like to ask a few simple questions of a general nature:

1. Are the results of the so-called "Higher critics" so firmly established, so unquestionable, and so convincing in their proofs, that as axiomatic or even only a hypothetical truth by any theologian who will not be considered to be entirely behind the standard of our time, or who does not wish to be censured as an ignoramus in the theology of our time? Or are not those results of the "Higher critics", in spite of more than fifty developments, as yet of a merely problematic nature? And if so, is it wise and well done of a Christian minister who considers himself to be orthodox in his conception of the Holy Scriptures to proclaim the said results or principles of the "Higher critics" so loud and to defend them so strongly as if they would be undeniable facts? Who has for example as yet given an unquestionable proof that Moses is not the author of the Pentateuch as a whole?

2. Has the highest representative body of a church with a firm established standard of doctrines and regulations as a strong hold and guide for its actions, not the right, and even the sacred duty to consider any dissenting clergyman or professor, standing under its jurisdiction to be a heretic judged from the standpoint of that church, as soon as he differs in his teaching and confession from vital doctrines of his church? And, if so, is it not then the duty of said judicial body to apply the discipline of the church to the dissenter if brought up before its court, and as more so, as higher the standing and as greater the influence of said dissenter may be?

3. If it is not only the right but the duty of an ecclesiastical body to exclude a dissenting clergyman from the ministry of the church that body represents, has then any Christian a right to condemn such action as an uncharitable or unchristian action deed? We are unable to see the fairness of such condemnation.

If a word shall be said about Dr. Briggs, we think it would have been a good deal more honorable and manly of him to sever his connection with the Presbyterian church quietly as soon as he found himself no longer in harmony with the doctrines and regulations of that church to which he had subscribed his name. And, furthermore, that under all circumstances it would have been more Christian like to leave the church as soon as he found out the disturbance he was making. But he wanted the earth or nothing.

F. K.

THAT JOKE WOULD KILL ANY BOOK.

But Personal Spite Must Have Actuated This Terrible Arraignment.

"An Escape from Philistia", the book which Russell Jacobus of Plainfield wrote and which has been reviewed in these columns, was given a scathing criticism by last Sunday's New York Herald.

Mr. Jacobus was formerly on the Herald staff, but seems to have had a falling out with that paper. Here's the raking over he gets:

"There is some Latin, some German and some Greek in this book and the quotations from Goethe and Plato are very interesting, but further than that the volume has no value whatever. It is the lightest sort of light material, a literary basketful of shavings, not worthy of any one's attention. It indicates a very feeble attempt to do a very big thing, and of course an unsuccessful one. The book is dedicated to Harry Whiteley Patterson, 'with a grateful acknowledgment of his valuable suggestions', but as for ourselves we have a slight grudge against Mr. Patterson, for their is one important suggestion he neglected to make—namely, not to publish the book.

"And yet in spite of the clumsiness of this story and the too apparent effort of its author to display his literary attainments, the book shows that Mr. Jacobus can write another book which will be quite worth reading. He has n't done it yet, but in the sweet by and by, when he finds out that it is serious business to write a successful novel, he will set himself at work to do it, and has the chances in his favor. It is not necessary to read this particular volume, but it might be well to look with kindly anticipation for the next one."

The critic evidently resents most especially Mr. Jacobus's working in that hoary chestnut about finding humming-birds in a sheepy overcoat.

It is Agreed to Come Out of the Fund.

At a recent special meeting of Winfield Scott Post, 73, G. A. R., a resolution was adopted authorizing the post to go to Newark in a body Wednesday evening to attend the reception to the army's commander-in-chief Weissert. The reception is to be held in Caledonian Park. Some of the members were adverse to taking money out of the reserve fund for paying car fare, while others favored it.

The Father of Many Ills.

Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rule of health. Eugene McKay, of Brantford, Ont., writes:

"I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time but only for a time, then my trouble came worse than ever. I was induced by a friend, whom BRANDRETH'S PILLS had benefitted, to try them. Took two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness BRANDRETH'S PILLS are far superior to any other."

MR. BOCK NOTIFIED.

At Last the City Takes Steps to Stop the Gutter Nuisance at Park Avenue and Second Street.

The water which has been running in the gutter at the north corner of Second street and Park avenue for some time, thereby becoming such a nuisance to the City Hotel guests and others, is to be stopped.

The city officials have looked into the matter, and find that not only is there a city ordinance prohibiting the same, but there is a State law which clearly defines the subject.

In accordance with the above street commissioner Meeker this morning at 9, served a notice on Charles Bock, which states that within twenty-four hours the water must be stopped; if not the law must take its course.

This will be welcome news to the merchants along Park avenue.

WM. HANDVILL'S NARROW ESCAPE,

And Other News About North Plainfield's Neighbors in the Watchungs.

The thermometer registered 110 in Washingtonville, Tuesday. It was the hottest day of the year. Several cases of prostration were reported, the most serious being to two old and respectable residents. Floyd Simons who was at work in his garden, was overcome by the heat.

William Handvill, who went to town after a load of lumber to complete an addition to his home, while at the foot of the Watchungs, was suddenly overcome, and losing consciousness fell off his load of lumber under the wheels, one of which passed along his side and face. His body was also severely bruised, and the skin is torn off his face on one side. He was not found until near evening, when his son discovered him where he had laid unconscious from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m. He was taken home and tenderly cared for.

H. J. Smith, general superintendent of the Edison electric lighting plants, arrived home yesterday on the Teutonic. He says while there are many things to be admired in the European systems, yet they are not up to the American standard of lighting. Berlin is the most perfect of them all, while London is the slowest to improve.

The large wooden bridge that spans the Passaic river from Morris county to Union, fell down Monday just as a load of hay passed over it. The driver of the load heard the crash and whipped up his horses just in time to get off as it fell to the river, 20 feet below. This is the second time this bridge has fallen under similar circumstances. The two counties should build an iron bridge next time.

WESTFIELD AGAINST PLAINFIELD.

Saturday's Promised Ball Game the Talk of the Town—Francis to Pitch Against the Crescents.

Some of the "old time rivalry" will be seen on Saturday.

The "kranks" will all be on hand to cheer for the home team.

Don't imagine the Crescents will have a walk-over. They may have to "hustle".

Encourage the boys by your presence at the game, and when you get a chance cheer them.

The Somerville team is anxious to win that $75 offered by the Crescent management. Let them try.

Francis, who pitches for Westfield, struck out 12 of the Somervilles last week. Will he do it here?

The Somerset Messenger says that last Saturday's game between Somerville and Westfield was the best ever seen in that town. The latter won by 8 to 5, in eleven innings. The Westfields play the Crescents on Saturday.

Talent From This City Assisted.

The Plainfielders and everyone else who attended the ice-cream festival at Martinville, last evening, had a delightful time.

A large tent was erected on the lawn adjoining the Presbyterian chapel, which was tastefully decorated with choice flowers and Chinese lanterns. Refreshments were served by charming young ladies, and those in charge deserve great credit for the success of the affair. The committee was: Mrs. L. S. Martin, Mrs. John T. Meyer and Miss C. M. Bartle.

One feature was the contest for a patched quilt, from which $86 was realized. Miss Ida Wirz was awarded it, she having the largest number of votes.

An entertainment was afterwards held in the chapel, and the following well-known talent assisted: the Rev. George Bowers, Miss Mamie Bowers, Miss Mamie O'Conner and Master Eugene Bowers. Albreight H. Neil and John H. Carney, of this city, took part and kept the audience in roars of laughter. The chapel was filled to its utmost capacity. The entertainment was the best ever held.

They Do n't Mind a Little Thing Like Heat.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

To dance or not to dance. That's the question with the graduating class of the Plainfield public school. The class desired permission to use one of the school buildings for a reception to the alumni. The board of education granted the request, and refused to adopt a resolution forbidding dancing. At the same time it is known that while the members of the board did not wish officially to make a public record on this question they individually do not want the graduates to dance. Now what may the graduates do? Dance, or not dance? We can only make one little bit of suggestion. Do n't dance—if it is as warm as it has been for the past few nights.

North Plainfield's Honor Roll.

The following scholars of the North Plainfield public school have not been absent or tardy during the year:

Henry B. Drake and George A. Horne, graduating class; Mamie Steiner, ninth grade; Lydie Loiseaux, seventh grade; Albert Lounsberry, Minnie Marsh and Lena Meier, sixth grade; Charles Bryan, fifth grade.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

Just What We Are Doing.

Scotch Ginghams—A break in the gingham market; ginghams that cost 25c to make, this week you buy them for 15c.

All-Wool Storm Serges—Beautiful goods they are; cost the manufacturer 50c a yard to make; all shades we have and you buy them for 38c; just the thing for mountain and seashore.

India Linen and Victoria Lawn—Guess we will do the business on these goods this season; we bought at the Brown, Durrell sale 10,000 yards—enough to supply the town; price 10c yard, worth 25c.

45-Inch Flouncing—We put on sale to-day our entire stock of 45-inch emb. flouncing; must go this season and we think they will at the price, 38c.

French Figured Chambray and Lawn—Have you seen them? Guess not, as they just arrived in town. Just the thing for shirt waists and the price, 13c, is 12c less than they were one week ago.

3,000 Yards Seersucker, and good ones they are. Never made for less than 7c, but we will sell them for 5c.

House furnishing Dept.—Porch screens, window screens, jelly glasses and fruit jars, jardineres, toilet sets, etc. 'T will pay you to visit our house-furnishing department, as we have most everything that is wanted and no doubt will save you money.

Millinery Department—To-day we commence our clearing sale of summer millinery goods at greatly reduced prices.

A JOCKEY'S WORK.

Tarsi Describes the Ordeal of Keeping "Down to Weight."

What It Costs to Ride the Pigskin—How He Manages to Make Money in and Out of Season and How He Spends It.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

Good jockeys make anywhere from $700 to $60,000 a year. By this I mean they earn the amount in salaries and commissions. What they make or lose in betting I will try to show later on.

THE BURNING DOWN.

Although jockeys of the first class enjoy what are called princely incomes, yet sitting the pigskin is anything but a paying business. This seems strange, but it is true nevertheless. The money is earned speedily enough, but at what a sacrifice! Ah, there's the rub. The public never dream of the trials the successful jockey goes through. No other athlete, be he runner, pedestrian, oarsman or boxer, endures the physical and mental torture a jockey does in preparing for the season's work. Moreover, the fighter, runner, oarsman or pedestrian, after he reaches condition, goes through one supreme trial, and then his task is ended. The jockey on the contrary after he has got down to weight is obliged to keep there for months at a time. He must be down to the limit for every mount, and the mounts last through a season of four, five and sometimes six months.

And what is the training of a jockey? Not one man or woman out of a hundred knows. I will try to tell of what it consists. Jockeys of the present day weigh anywhere from 90 to 120 pounds. Their weight when out of training runs from 20 to 40 pounds above these figures. The jockey has, say, a period of three months' rest, during which he enjoys the good things of life, when he is forced to place himself under a trainer to fit himself for the work of getting into shape which is to follow.

He must not taste cakes, puddings, milk, cream, butter, juicy tid-bits and a thousand and one other good things that produce fat and make life enjoyable. This kind of thing must be faced to make a fellow thin and to harden his flesh. Training cannot at once entered into. If it were the man attempting it would fall away to a shadow and become as weak as water. Such a man would be of no earthly use to his employer.

The training proper of a jockey is a purgatory which no other kind of athlete goes through. A fellow is aroused at daybreak and wrapped up in heavy mufflers and has to take a jaunt of eight or ten miles before breakfast. After a rub down he is given—not a hearty meal like a boxer or oarsman—but a skimped one, a little weak tea and toast, and in the first part of his training a poached egg. He is simply given enough to keep body and soul together. After a rest of two hours or thereabout, another long jaunt is taken. This time the jockey is weighted down with two or sometimes three heavy suits of underclothing. Over this is a heavy waistcoat and on top a big ulster or overcoat. It makes no difference how warm the day may be, the "jock" must take his medicine. After this comes a steam bath and another rub down. A good bit of flesh disappears with each and every one of these sweatings. Generally a sherry flip is then given the jockey to prevent weakness and another slim meal follows. In the afternoon it is the same thing over again—more sweating and more starving.

HE MUST TAKE HIS MEDICINE.

All this time the jockey is kept away from his horses. He is not allowed to mount them in exercise until he gets to the proper weight. Six weeks of this kind of life brings the man down to something like the weight he should ride at. Then comes the tug-of-war to keep at that weight. The jockey is reduced to a mass of bones, sinew and muscle, and has not a particle of fat upon his frame. It is here that the grand tussle comes with the fellow's feelings. When a man is in the enjoyment of perfect health it is a tantalizing thing to have his hunger and thirst always with him and yet never be allowed to eat and drink what he likes. A man becomes as hungry as a wolf and the fight to overcome his appetite is something fearful. Even water cannot be taken as it is fattening and will put on flesh very fast. So the patient (for he is one in reality) becomes feverish, sick, half-witted and does his work with the greatest trouble and pain.

A jockey, like poets and fighters, is born and not made. A man may study all the rules of writing, but if he does not own any divine afflatus, as the fellow says, he can never be a good writing man. I am afraid I never did have much divine afflatus.

A GOOD THING ON CHANGE.

Rules of boxing as laid down might be learned, too, but if the sport has not the gifts of a fighter, a sure eye, lightning-like delivery and a heart which knows no fear, all the lessons which Mike Donovan or Billy Edwards could give him for ten years would not make him a fighter.

A boy who is afraid of a horse and cannot set him so that horse and boy look like a single living thing can never be a jockey any more than a weak-hearted man can be a fighter.

Jockeys, I am sorry to say, although rapid moneymakers, are not as a rule money savers. Some of our greatest jockeys of bygone days, notably Bobby Swim, died without a nickel to their names. In England the jocks are more thrifty and put a good bit of money away. Some of them are indeed land owners. Archer owned one of the finest estates in Surrey, and at his death left real and personal property valued at something like $1,500,000. Fordham at his death left a fortune of some three quarters of a million.

Of the great living jockeys on our side of the Atlantic Jimmy McLoughlin and Edward, better known as Snapper, Garrison, have perhaps made the largest fortunes. Four years ago Jimmy was credited with being worth $200,000.

HIS BREAKFAST.

He "blew it in," however, like a prince at the track, in Wall street and in good living. He went broke, but he makes a little mint once in awhile, and last year he turned his tips into gold. He became a horse owner, instead of jockey, and by shrewd engineering of two or three "good things" made a hit and got on his feet again. He has not the money he once had, but he is in a fair way to get it.

Snapper Garrison! Who does not know of the bold ventures of this dashing, nervy, reckless daredevil of the American turf. Snapper will gamble on anything from the flip of a penny to the Suburban. Young as he is (he can't be more than 27 or 28) Snapper has made and lost three or four fortunes. A year ago he was broke. Now he is again worth $50,000 or $60,000, which he is liable to double twice before the season expires or lose all. May luck be with him.

As I stated before, not one of the leading jockeys of the American turf is really rich like many of the English ones. McLoughlin, Garrison, Daredevil Fitzpatrick, Marty Bergen, Hamilton, the two Lambleys, Isaac Murphy and your humble servant, all combined, could not scrape together one-half of what Fordham died with or one-quarter of what Archer had. This is owing to many causes. First, most of our boys bet their own money; second, they are all freehearted, extravagant, generous fellows, who live high when out of training and yield quite easily to the "touch" of a needy friend, and third, because they drop something in Wall street and other money places. They have many strong friends in the "street" who frequently give them "good things" on the stock exchange in return for favors given at the track.

English jockeys, on the other hand, seldom, or ever, play the races, are very thrifty, never speculate and, instead of giving money away, receive generous presents from hosts of admirers who won on their mounts.

FRED TARAL.

THE SIAMESE.

They Are Lovers of Holidays and of All the Vices That Accompany a Lazy Life.

To a European eye the good looks, if they anywhere exist, of both Siamese men and women are irremediably destroyed by the universal use of the betel, which blackens and corrodes the teeth and causes them to protrude, which renders the spittoon an indispensable article of furniture, and is responsible for the great splashes of red saliva that may be seen everywhere adorning the ground, as they have been ejected from the mouths of the passers-by. Like their fellows in Anam, the Siamese women enjoy great freedom and influence.

Being of a most mercantile and managing temperament, they become the self-constituted stewardesses, treasurers and hucksters of the home, or shop, or store. They may be seen by the hundred going to market, each seated alone in her own canoe with her wares spread out before her. The last king kept a body guard of Amazons, with red coats and trousers and small carbines; but the present sovereign has converted them into a species of interior palace police. The national character is docile, indolent, light-hearted, gay.

The Siamese are devoted to the holiday making and ceremonies and processions which accompany the most important anniversaries or incidents of life, death and religion, and which cause an infinite amount of money to be squandered and time lost. They love games—kite-flying, a sort of shuttlecock football, and fighting with cocks, crickets, beetles and fish; though it is to be surmised that the main attraction of these pursuits consists in the scope they afforded for betting and gambling, which are the cardinal national vices.

A Siamese will stake money on anything; licensed gambling houses exist in the cities and are a large source of income to the government, which farms out the monopoly. A royal lottery is extensively patronized in Bangkok. The gambling houses and the pawnshops, which are their corollary and which are stocked with objects pawned or stolen, are a disgrace to the capital. In some streets every other house is a pawnshop, kept by a Chinaman. If suppression of these places were found difficult, at least a great reduction in their numbers might be made, while a substantial revenue would accrue to the crown by the imposition upon them of a heavy tax.—Fortnightly Review.

THE FOXHOUND'S COURAGE

Its Endurance Depends Much Upon Companionship.

The foxhound's courage is not shown when in isolation. No hound alone will attack a fox with the determination of a terrier, yet the passive courage of the foxhound is immense. To see lagging hounds come up through a field of horsemen, to watch the pace with which they charge the thickest fences, and the endurance they show during a long run will convince most of this. We heard once a curious instance of combination supplying courage. A pack of English foxhounds were taken to France for wolf-hunting. But when a wolf was roused, each hound, as he caught the scent, dropped his tail between his legs and refused to follow. When, however, some French hounds used to the wolf had been added to the pack, the foxhounds hunted eagerly. But now they ran with their bristles up—to kill, not to eat. The fox they regard as a dinner; not so the wolf.

The large, straight fore legs, deep chest and level back of the foxhound show what he really is—the highest development of united speed, strength and endurance. Ten miles to the meet, five hours' hunting at an average of ten miles an hour, during which two foxes are run down, and ten miles more before supper, is but an ordinary day's work. We do not think we are exaggerating when we say that many a hound could cover one hundred miles in a day without being greatly distressed. But for this he would need companionship. Alone, he would probably tire sooner than a slim pointer or long-legged setter, whose steady gallop over grass or heather is another marvel of animal endurance. But the courage of cooperation is less interesting, even if none the less creditable, than the dash of the greyhound.—Spectator.

A Sure Sign.

"You know," he said, by way of explanation, "if my teefs were sharper, then I could chew it."—Harper's Young People.

CHAMBER IN AN UPROAR

M. Millevoye's Accusations Cause a Sensation.

HE PRODUCED A LITTLE LIST

Names of the Persons and Papers Whom He Alleged Had Been Bribed by England—The Documents Declared Spurious—Millevoye Will Resign—Herz too Ill to be Extradited.

PARIS, June 23.—Dr. Charcot and Dr. Brouardel, the eminent French physicians who were sent to Bournemouth, England, to ascertain the exact condition of Cornelius Herz, whose extradition the French government requested of Great Britain because of his connection with the Panama Canal scandal, have made a report which agrees with the statements of the English physicians, to the effect that the condition of M. Herz is such that his extradition is an impossibility.

When the Chamber of Deputies met yesterday M. Dupuy, the Prime Minister, in response to a question put to him by M. Millevoye, Boulangist, announced that the condition of M. Herz was such that it was impossible to secure his extradition.

M. Millevoye thereupon gave notice that he would interpellate the government on the subject.

M. Millevoye asked several questions concerning the extradition of M. Herz and the documents alleged to have been stolen from a strong box at the British Embassy.

With regard to the Herz matter M. Dupuy replied that England had done everything possible for her to do to grant the extradition as requested by France. As for the stolen documents M. Dupuy stated that the Public Prosecutor could take no knowledge from stolen documents.

M. Millevoye then stated that he had the text of several of the documents in respect to negotiations with Austin Lee, Second Secretary of the British Embassy in Paris, all of which bore the date of April 2nd, 1893.

M. Millevoye accused M. Clemenceau of delivering to England private letters that had passed between M. Ribot, lately Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the French Minister to Egypt and between M. Ribot and the French Ambassador at Constantinople. He produced a list of the persons and of the papers whom he alleged England had bribed and the amount of money given as bribes. He read, amid an uproar that almost drowned his voice:

Temps, 50,000 francs; Edouard Le Matin, 30,000 francs; Le Jour, 15,000 francs; Rochefort, 90,000 francs; Clemenceau, 50,000 francs.

At this point the uproar and confusion in the Chamber became tremendous. Many members of the Extreme Left rose from their seats and demands were made that M. Millevoye leave the Chamber. M. Millevoye, however, stood his ground and when a semblance of order and quiet was restored he shouted: "The whole thing is a scandal. Bardoux received 50,000 francs."

M. Bardoux sprang from his seat and exclaimed "I expect the Chamber to vindicate my honor."

The order of the day was then moved to the effect that the Chamber considered the documents as spurious, and regretted the time that had been foolishly wasted listening to their presentation. This was adopted by a practically unanimous vote, only four members voting against it, while 49 voted in favor of it.

M. Millevoye left the Chamber declaring that he would resign his seat in order that he might act independently.

VERAGUA TO VISIT ALBANY

He Will Probably Stop There Next Sunday on His Way to the Adirondacks.

ALBANY, June 23.—The Duke of Veragua's visit to Albany, which was to have been made a notable reception by Albany's representatives of Dutch hospitality, will necessarily be curtailed, because of the fact that he is to be in the city but a few hours.

It is expected that the Governor will be in the city, and in addition to the Mayor, will receive the Duke.

The Duke is expected to arrive here on Sunday night, and will occupy a suite of rooms at the Delavan.

Mrs. Korn Pleaded Not Guilty.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Mrs. Fannie Korn, of 101 West Sixty-eighth street, pleaded not guilty to murder in the first degree before Judge Cowing in the General Sessions. Her counsel entered that plea with the specification that Mrs. Korn was insane at the time of the acts. On May 5 last, she shot and poisoned her children, Edwin and Florence, aged 11 and 6 years, respectively, and then shot herself. Florence died several hours later in the Roosevelt Hospital and the mother and Edwin recovered.

Young Business Man Suicides.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 23.—John A. Mead, nephew of the late Major A. B. Watson, and one of the most prominent young capitalists and business men of this city, committed suicide yesterday by taking chloral. A young widow survives him. No motive for the deed is known among his friends and there is much suprise that Mead, who inherited a large sum of money from his uncle and who had a splendid business and pleasant home, should kill himself.

Sentences to be Carried out.

LONDON, June 23.—Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, gave assurance in the House of Commons yesterday, in response to inquiries, that there was no likelihood that the death sentences passed on the seventeen Americans at Angora would be carried out prior to a decision on the questions involved by the Turkish Court of Appeals.

Death of William D. McCoy.

NEW YORK, June 23.—News has reached New York, by way of England, that William D. McCoy, of Indiana, United States Minister Resident of the Republic of Liberia, West Africa, died at Monrovia, the capital of the country, on May 14, and was buried with military honors.

Pomona Bank Still Closed.

Summary Action Taken Against Ex-Commissioner Peck.

ALBANY, June 23.—In the Court of Sessions District Attorney Eaton moved the trial of ex-Commissioner Charles F. Peck, of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics, and Elbert Rodgers, his stenographer, both charged with destroying public records, in the form of tariff circulars, last fall.

Mr. Eaton in asking that their bail bonds of $1,000 each be declared forfeited, stated that the defendant Peck was in Europe, and although he would like to have bench warrants issued, he did not think it advisable to send across the water for Mr. Peck.

A proclamation was made declaring the bonds forfeited and bench warrants were issued. The bondsmen are Thomas J. Cowell and Richard L. Armesley.

MONEY FOR THE WEST.

Heavy Demands on New York for Currency.

Two and a Half Millions Have Been Sent to San Francisco Since June 7—Another Big Shipment To-Day.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The financial stringency on the Pacific coast has resulted in heavy demands on New York for currency. The Sub-Treasury yesterday made a transfer by telegraph through the Sub-Treasury in San Francisco of $1,115,000 for which gold certificates were received, thereby increasing the surplus gold in the Treasury to a corresponding amount.

Shipments of $500,000 in currency were made by express. Arrangements have been made to forward $500,000 this afternoon.

The total transfers by telegraph to San Francisco since June 7 have been $2,623,000.

The money goes to strengthen the banks on the Pacific coast which have been subjected to heavy drafts in the past two weeks. The call from Los Angeles has been particularly large.

New New York Corporations.

ALBANY, June 23.—These new companies have been incorporated: The Francis Manufacturing company, to manufacture loop-hooks and eyes, at Niagara Falls; capital, $55,000; The David D. Acker company, of New York city, to deal in real estate in Westchester county and in New Jersey, capital, $40,000; the Blersbenk company, to manufacture cabinet work and stairs in Brooklyn, capital, $35,000; the Berkshire Hills Park Association, of New York city, to deal in real estate in New York city and Massachusetts, capital, $1,400; the New Hartford Leather company, to carry on the business of tanning and manufacturing leather, capital, $8,000.

Warning Against Gambling.

MONTREAL, June 23.—At the annual meeting of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, General Manager Hague, in his address, warned business men against gambling and said that the table of Monte Carlo and the Chicago wheat pit are in principle one and the same. John Crawford, one of the directors, in alluding to the same subject, said that no less than $2,000,000 had been lost by Montrealers during the recent financial disaster in New York.

Frick's New Scheme.

FINDLAY, O., June 23.—H. C. Frick, of the famous Carnegie company at Homestead, Pa., and Ben Butterworth, of Cincinnati, are negotiating to build a large iron and steel mill in this city to manufacture Heckerts projectiles. In case they build they will employ 1,000 men.

Bridge Jumper Haggerty Held.

NEW YORK, June 23.—John J. Haggerty, the last successful bridge jumper, came up for examination before Judge Martin in the Tombs Police Court upon a charge of violating one of the bridge ordinances and was held in $300 to await the action of the Court of Special Sessions.

CHEAP FAIR TRAINS SOON

So Says Dr. Depew of the New York Central.

THEY ARE TO BEGIN ABOUT JULY 15

Awaiting the Decision of the Traffic Association Committee—How Some People Will Travel and Save Money—All Roads Getting Ready for the Rush.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The report of the executive committee of the Central Traffic Association on the matter of cheap excursion rates to Chicago has not yet been made. A favorable report is, however, expected soon.

Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad, in speaking of this new move of the Association, spoke very interestingly of World's Fair traffic:

"While undoubtedly a World's Fair rush has set in, it is all from places within a radius of about 300 miles of Chicago. People from that distance or within twelve hours' ride are pouring to Chicago, and it is this rush that makes up the attendance at the Fair at present. What you might call the popular crowd has not started yet, and will not for a month. By the popular crowd, I mean people from all over the country; people from great distances. Now, take the figures for the month of May for New York. The entire number of persons carried to Chicago was only 18,000, and this was by eight lines, so you see that it is not much of an increase.

"The people who are going to Chicago now are those who can afford to pay for accommodations on the fast trains. These twenty and twenty-four hour trains have palatial accommodations and only wealthy people feel that they can afford to pay the price.

"But at the last meeting of the Trunk lines I proposed putting on cheap trains and it met with considerable favor. We shall put these trains on about July 15, and then we may expect to see the rush. During July, August and September, I expect the rush will be so great as to tax the uttermost facilities of the railroads. The great mass of the people do not begin to take their vacation until well into July, so that is another reason for the backwardness of the rush.

"I expect that the cheap trains will do an enormous business, and this is the way I calculate. In the first place, it will be an impossibility to provide enough sleeping cars for half of the people making the trip, and then a great many will argue this way: Here is a fast train going through in twenty to twenty-four hours, on which the fare is $25, and $4 for a sleeper. That makes a total of $29. Now I can take a slower train, which takes perhaps six hours longer, and pay $20. I will take my chances of sleeping in the seat and save a clear $9, which will allow me to stay that much longer, or spend that much more in sightseeing.

"Now I am sure that is how a great many people will talk, and you will see that the cheap trains will do an enormous business.

"Lots of people have never ridden in a sleeper, and to a great many more the recollection of how they used to get along not many years ago before sleepers were known will say, 'Well, I got along all right then, and I guess I can do it again.' Young college fellows and men with thin money and lots of muscle, they are the ones who will sit up and enjoy it.

"There was a party of young Englishmen over here not long ago and they did the Fair on a very economical basis. They slept two in a berth and four in a section. That was the closest carrying a sleeper has done for a long time. Then while they were in Chicago they camped out. I guess they made a cheap and quick trip.

"The facilities for landing passengers in Chicago near the Fair are excellent, and nothing stands in the way of success. All this talk of the unfinished condition of the exhibits has delayed the rush of visitors, and the Munchausen tales of extortion have added their share. I saw neither. Of course if you go to swell places you pay the price. That is the rule here also. The Fair is ahead of all others in daily attendance up to date, and now look out for the next three months."

Mr. Henriques' Condition.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Broker Henriques' condition continues to be seriously critical. While there is no apparent change one way or the other, he is said to be very weak and restless.

He Got Ten Years More.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 23.—James Ryan, who attempted to escape from jail last April, has received an additional sentence of ten years, which gives him eighteen years to serve.

He Stole Seventeen Watches.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 23.—Frederick Stevens, a Swede, is locked up in the Hackensack jail charged with stealing 17 watches and five chains, valued at $400. He is held for the grand jury.

LABOR NOTES

Carpenters are on strike at Rock Island, Ill., because contractors will not discharge non-union men.

A Central labor employment bureau is about to be organized by the Federation of Trades in Elizabeth, N. J.

In Philadelphia the striking plasterers are conferring with their bosses, and a settlement is expected by to-morrow.

Train despatchers are in convention at Salt Lake City. Their organization has at present 1,117 members, represented by 74 delegates.

Twelve thousand iron and steel workers are preparing to strike for higher wages throughout the country on July 1, as the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers' Association has been unable to come to terms with the bosses.

SUNDAY CLOSING AGAIN.

Fair Exhibitors to Bring Suit for an Injunction.

They Made a Contract with the Fair Directors That the Exposition Should be Open Only Six Days in the Week.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Another bombshell has been thrown into the camp of Sunday openers. A large number of exhibitors who installed their exhibits under a contract with the Exposition authorities that the Exposition should be open only for six days in the week unless otherwise provided and authorized by Congress, have determined to ask an injunction from the United States Court to close the Fair on Sundays.

The movement is promoted by the Keystone Driller Company, of Beaver Falls, Pa.; Downie Pump Company, of Valencia, Pa.; Elastic Tip Company, Boston, Mass. Within an hour after the paper was circulated it had received over 100 signatures.

An address to the country has been adopted appealing to the persons interested either on the grounds of patriotism, morality, national commercial honor, or personal interest, for sympathy and financial aid in dispelling the stigma surrounding the matter, and making the Fair a brilliant national success worthy of Americans.

The address says three-fifths of the exhibits have been covered on Sundays; that a great number of exhibitors requiring power have utterly refused to set their machinery in motion at all while the Fair is open on Sunday, and the exhibitors will be seriously injured by the action of religiously inclined people East and West in deciding to stay away from the Fair while open Sundays.

The attendance at the Fair yesterday was over 150,000, and it looks to-day as if a larger crowd will be present.

Gov. McKinley and his wife arrived yesterday morning for a week's visit to the Fair. In the afternoon they were given a reception at the Ohio building by the commissioners of all other States.

The steady increase of strangers at the Fair is becoming more noticeable each day and the daily attendance is growing at a rate that convinces the exposition officials that the enterprise is destined to be a financial success.

The total attendance yesterday was equal to that of the second week of the fair, and it is believed that the total for this week will be as great as the total for the month of May. Excursion trains are beginning to run to the fair from cities at a distance from Chicago, and the big summer hotels built especially for World's Fair visitors in the vicinity of the grounds are fast filling up.

The viticultural section of the Portugal exhibit in the Horticultural Hall was formally opened by Royal Commissioner Riberio. There was no formal programme. A large number of visitors were present. There was a large crowd in the women's building this morning when the Mexican exhibit was thrown open to the public. People swarmed into the enclosure where the display is arranged and admired the peculiar work done by women of Mexico.

The work was collected by the wife of President Diaz of Mexico. Visitors were attracted particularly to the display of the National Dress of Mexicans.

Killed By Lightning.

RED BANK, N. J., June 23.—Mrs. Daniel F. Polhemus was instantly killed by lightning yesterday. Mrs. Polhemus lived on a farm near Clinton Falls. Her hand was on the latch of the chicken house when the lightning struck the building. When found her body was much discolored, and the buttons on her clothing and shoes were torn off. Mrs. Polhemus was 45 years of age.

Six Italians Scalded.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 23.—Captain Lewis, of the American Line steamship City of Chester, lying at the foot of York street, this city, yesterday employed six Italians from New York to clean out one of the boilers. In some way after the men had been at work for half an hour the steam was turned into the boiler and they were all badly scalded.

He Complied With the Request.

HARTFORD, June 23.—Internal Revenue Collector John J. Hutchinson for the District of Connecticut and Rhode Island, received a letter from the Treasury Department yesterday requesting him, by direction of the President, to resign his office. Immediately on receipt of this letter Collector Hutchinson forwarded his resignation.

Big Grain Dealers Fail.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Generally fair, west winds.

BRIDGEPORT'S STREET CAR STRIKE

Thought that the Trouble Will Soon be Settled.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 23.—It is thought that the strike of the conductors and drivers of the Bridgeport Horse Railway company, who went out last evening will soon be adjusted. The road was completely tied up last night and this morning.

Since Col. N. H. Heft and the new syndicate obtained control of the road, there has been dissatisfaction because the men were compelled to work from 15 to 16 hours a day. Their petition for shorter hours, sent to Superintendent Lashar several days ago, was given no attention.

Nearly 100 men are on strike. The officials of the road will not make any statement at present. There is no trouble on the road from Bridgeport to Stratford, which is owned by the same syndicate.

FIVE MINERS KILLED

Terrible Explosion in a Shaft at Nanticoke.

THREE MEN SERIOUSLY INJURED

The Miners Were Employed By the Susquehanna Coal Company—The Victims Mangled and Burned—No Cause Given for the Explosion.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 23.—At a late hour last night while eight men were at work at Nanticoke in No. 6 gangway of No. 9 slope of the Susquehanna Coal Company, about three quarters of a mile from the bottom of the shaft, a terrific explosion of gas took place which hurled the victims off their feet and scattered them in all directions, killing five men instantly and seriously but not fatally injuring three more.

The dead are:

ABRAM WALKER, miner, married, leaves five children.

FRANK BRANICK.

JOHN SMITH, miner, married, leaves three children.

WILLIAM SHORTS, laborer, burned to a crisp.

UNKNOWN POLANDER.

The injured are:

John Gwent, horribly burned about the head and arms, in a serious condition.

Two Polanders, names unknown, both badly burned on hands and face.

The cause of the explosion is unknown.

FOUR WERE HURT

Explosion in the Rahway Gas Company's Works.

RAHWAY, N. J., June 23.—An explosion in the purifying room of the Rahway Gas Company's works yesterday afternoon nearly wrecked the building, slightly injured three of the workmen and seriously burned about the face and body a fourth, Martin Green, of California street.

The explosion was caused by a lighted lamp held too near a pipe by one of the workmen who were making repairs in the room.

The shock was felt for blocks away.

Sacramento to Remain the Capital.

WOODLAND, Cal., June 23.—Superior Judge Grant has decided in favor of Sacramento and against San Jose in the State capital removal case. The constitutionality of the action of the recent legislature submitting an amendment to the constitution allowing a change of the capital was brought to be tested in his court and the act is declared void. The case will doubtless be appealed.

Ex-Secretary McNair Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 23.—William McNair, ex-secretary of district assembly No. 49, K. of L., pleaded guilty before Judge Benedict in the United States Circuit Court to sending a scurrilous postal card to State Senator McClelland through the mails. He was sentenced to four months in the Ludlow Street jail and to pay a fine of $500.

End of the Viking Incident.

BROOKLYN, June 23.—Police Commissioner Hayden has announced that he will neither dismiss nor discipline any of the policemen who participated in the arrest of Capt. Anderson and the other Viking men, and that the incident is ended so far as he is concerned. He regrets, however, that the affair occurred.

In Dr. Graves' Behalf.

DENVER, June 23.—The attorneys for Dr. Graves appeared before Judge Burns yesterday and submitted a motion for the doctor's discharge. Judge Burns promptly denied the motion, and the doctor's lawyers announced that they would immediately apply to the Supreme Court for his relief.

No Constitutional Convention.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 23.—The House yesterday afternoon, after a lengthy debate on a yea and nay vote, defeated the bill providing for a constitutional convention, 71 to 98, on a strictly party division, the Democrats voting for and the Republicans against the bill. The bill passed the Senate a few days ago.

Choked to Death by False Teeth.

RED BANK, N. J., June 23.—Theo. Buckalew, 78 years old, died from strangulation in a restaurant here last evening. It is supposed that he swallowed a portion of his false teeth.

J. A. DEMAREST, - Managing Editor.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Clearing To-Day; Fair and Warmer Saturday.

WELL-DESERVED RECOGNITION.

J. A. DEMAREST, ONE OF PLAINFIELD'S REPRESENTATIVE CITIZENS HONORED BY THE PRESIDENT.

President Cleveland has honored Plainfield very highly by selecting as one of the Government's representatives abroad, a resident of this city. His appointment of J. A. Demarest as consul to Brockville, Ontario, is also gratifying as an acknowledgment of New Jersey's right to reward of the sort, and as an evidence of appreciation that THE PRESS has been constant and conscientious in its Democracy and steadfast in its support of the people's cause that won so grand a victory last fall.

The first information of the appointment that Mr. Demarest received, was its publication in the Evening News. It was, to a great extent, a surprise. The post is one much sought after, and there were many hundreds recommended for it from every State, but the appointment was claimed as belonging to New York and it seemed assured that she would get it again as during President Cleveland's former term. Consequently the honor to New Jersey is the greater as the appointment of Mr. Demarest evidences that it was a personal choice of the President's, and that precedent and the claims of another State, were set aside.

29 GRADUATES.

LARGEST CLASS IN THE HIGH SCHOOL'S HISTORY.

Most Enjoyable Commencement Ever Held in Music Hall—Masterly Address by Dr. Richards—Honor to Miss Bulkley.

For the masculine sex to predominate in a class of High school graduates, as was the case last night, is exceptionable, and as gratifying as unusual. To be sure, the majority was only one, but in High schools everywhere, from time immemorial, the rule has been a large preponderence of the gentler sex among the graduates. It is good news that more young men are appreciating the privilege of the higher education afforded by the public schools, and that they are not now as formerly dropping out by wholesale to begin work before the end of the course is reached.

Never was Plainfield's High School Commencement more enjoyable than this. The heat is usually insufferable on graduates' night, but Jupiter Pluvius was in charitable humor and sent showers that cooled the atmosphere and refreshed earth's weary mortals.

There was the customary jam in Music Hall. Many people stood because no seats were vacant, and all stayed through to the end. The abbreviation of the exercises to a less than two hours limit kept them in good humor, and was gratefully appreciated.

The 29 graduates sat on the stage arranged in the form of a crescent. The maidens were at the front, their fair whiteness of costume and freshness of feature and grace relieved by the dark background of the sturdy young men of the class. At their right was their beloved principal, Henry M. Maxson; W. D. Murray, president of the Alumni; and George H. Babcock, E. L. Finch, W. B. Richards and J. B. Probasco, of the board of education. The bridegroom had returned from his wedding trip purposely to preside at this the twenty-third annual commencement of the Plainfield schools.

The honor man of the class, Stephen Rushmore, gave an effective salutatory and oration on "Athletics". He heartily welcomed the board of education and thanked them for their constant care of the pupils; he greeted the citizens of Plainfield in the name of the largest class ever graduated from the schools, and expressed his gratitude for their presence and for their unstinted support of the public school system. He spoke of the need of good health in a student, and held that a man could not become a railroad king without excellent physical condition. Colleges were building gymnasiums and making them a road to health for students who otherwise might have no recreation from study. Football was given a manly defense by the gifted young orator. Many people, he said, did not understand the game. They thought it too rough. But it was by no means the brutal sport some believed. It required head work and brain combined. Athletics was the means of establishing a close bond of fellowship among students. It widened acquaintanceship. And he was glad that the public was growing more and more to have a higher regard for hearty games and manly sports.

The Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards was as interesting as ever in his address. He said that nothing held a higher place in the esteem of cultured people than education. Schools and churches were the foundation of all good and holy living and doing, and God forbid that they should ever be separated or that either should be dispensed with. The school without the church meant narrowness and bigotry in all the schemes of life, a decadence of morals, a loss of noble hopes and ambitions. The church without the school meant dark tyranny of priesthood or Presbyters, he was n't sure which was worse. This was accepted as a direct

BLOW AT THE BRIGGS CASE.

The public school system, he continued, was the pride of Plainfield. It was a mark of distinction to be educated in a school system so firmly founded and so broad and large in scholarship, giving glorious opportunity for future development. Whatever difference there might be over the matter of school management, there was no cause for fearing injury to the vital interests of the institution. On the contrary, all had a most jealous regard for the use and efficiency of the schools, and the people did not feel it an extravagance to spend money as liberally as need be in the cause of learning.

The good results of a public school education were manifest. If the training the graduates had obtained would enable them to earn $2 instead of $1, it would a triumph in that alone. But there was something higher than merely consideration. The scholars should prize most of all the treasures of intellect for their own value. The price of wisdom is above rubies.

In our country, continued Dr. Richards, education was the only title to autocracy. The learned were the only aristocrats. Wealth might make one conspicuous, but wealth was a vulgarism without education. Public office was a prominence, but sometimes it was an honor and sometimes a disgrace. The blueblood of scholarship included fellowship with Solon and Solomon and Socrates and Bacon and other savants of the past. The school-house had supplanted the baron's castle, and the university was taking the place of the King's palace.

The diplomas which the graduates were to receive were a patent of nobility. The graduates had gained their learning through the beneficence of the taxpayers of city and State; and they would be defaulters, guilty of a flagrant breach of trust, unless they made use of the advantages for the benefit of Plainfield and New Jersey.

The public school privilege was a foretaste of the highest education. It opened the doors of science to fill the bewildering and fascinating mysteries. It spread out the old records and rare literature of the past. It was a temptation for further investigation.

Public corruption and bad government demanded good men and women for leadership, and the graduates should be prepared to fulfill the highest responsibility.

In conclusion, Dr. Richards congratulated the graduates especially on taking so important a step at a time when the call for public service was so clear and inspiring as it is to-day.

A table laden with prizes was borne to the center of the stage, and Dr. J. B. Probasco for the board of education presented rewards as follows:

THE PRIZE-WINNERS.

English composition (offered by George H. Babcock)—First prize, a set of Thackeray's works; 10 vols., Ariadne Gilbert. Second prize, Hudson's Shakespeare, 12 vols., Emma V. Fish. Honorable mention, Katheryn C. Baxter.

GRADUATES OF TRAINING CLASS:

Charlotte M. Beckman,
Margaret R. Cory,
Lucy V. Dunham.

Helen T. French captivated all by her ease and clearness in delivering her essay and valedictory "To the Front". She held up the careers of Epaminondas and Phillips Brooks as ideals worthy of highest emulation. They were at the front in their line, and to the board of education Miss French gave thanks for all their great part in the long training of the graduates' minds. To them they owed the substantial buildings, the careful provisions for health and welfare. The faithful and competent teachers came in for a similar share of praise.

In principal Maxson, the valedictoria continued, they had found a friend as true as the one they had lost. They thanked him for his guidance, his kindness, labor and thought which had continued to keep the schools where they had always been, at the front, and which had made their closing year of school life so pleasant.

To the citizens of Plainfield the fair speaker gave earnest thanks for their hearty support of the school system, education being one of the greatest factors of human life.

Addressing her classmates, she said they had been trained and developed in reasoning and individual thinking, and she trusted that theirs was to be the Commencement of a most successful journey to the front.

A portrait of Miss Julia E. Bulkley, for 20 years principal of the school, was borne to the footlights, veiled with a scarf of white and gold, '93's class colors. President W. D. Murray of the Alumni presented it to the board of education to be hung on the wall of the High school Assembly hall. He gave unstinted praise of her character, and told how those whom he remembered as boys when she first came here were now men anxious to do her honor. She had been not only teacher but friend, and as the future graduates of the school gazed on this representation of her face, filled with the expression of gratification at their successes, they should strive to do her honor by making their lives what they knew she would wish them to be.

President Babcock of the school board responded, thanking the graduates for the very acceptable gift so gracefully bestowed. The gift was born in generous kindness and reflected credit on the hearts which prompted it and on the cultured face it represented. It was an eminently faithful portrait, and was fitted to hang beside those of Dr. Stillman and ex-president Kirkner, which already graced the walls of Assembly hall. It was particularly fitting that these three, who had done more than any others to develop and mould the Plainfield schools, should hang together as ornaments to the chief room. The portrait would be a reminder to all the graduates of her whose kindly, careful and thorough training worked a strong influence over their lives. Mr. Babcock hoped also that the portrait might be an incentive to sturdy effort and higher achievements. He added that Miss Bulkley had set in motion influences in moulding character that would work for generations to come.

When Mr. Murray unveiled the portrait, there was loud and continued applause. The audience testified their appreciation of all parts of the programme by vigorous hand-clapping, and many beautiful bouquets and floral baskets were bestowed on the graduates.

The musical selections interspersed were as follows:

Overture—"Jolly Students".....Suppe
Selection—"Robin Hood".....DeKoven
Waltz—"Symposia".....Bendix
Fantasie—Wang.....Morse
Southern Caprice.....Wilson
Melodie in F.....Rubenstein
High School Cadets.....Sousa

The orchestra was of 10 pieces, and very excellent. The Southern Caprice was particularly entertaining, and was encored.

THE GRADUATES DANCED.

After the graduating exercises, the customary reception was held, in the Franklin building. Light refreshments were rested down stairs, and the assembly room was ablaze with light and gallantry and beauty. The orchestra struck up a promenade and drifted into a waltz Dancing was begun, but principal Maxson and Mr. Finch stopped it. After the two were gone, the young people danced to their hearts' content.

Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. A BAKER'S DOZEN.

THIRTEEN GRADUATES FROM THE BOROUGH SCHOOL.

Another Highly Successful Commencement Under Principal Boss's Able Leadership.

Warren chapel last night was filled with those anxiously awaiting the turn of some particular name on the programme out of those who formed the graduating classe of the North Plainfield public-school. The graduates were thirteen in number, and were arranged on the left of the large platform in four rows. Their names were:

Laura L. Emmons,
Mertie Gaskill,
Martha A. Humble,
Sara S. Loiseaux,
Kate W. Overton,
Bertha S. Thorn,
Frank J. Bistz,
Edward O. Clark,
Henry B. Drake,
George A. Horne,
Thomas MacDonald,
George B. Snedeker,
Dyckman Winckler.

The younger classes of the school were ranged behind the graduates, and furnished the music for the exercises. The proceeding opened with a musical selection, "Hail Gladdening Light", which was given by the school in a pleasing manner.

Next came a recitation by Bertha Thorn, entitled "The Captain's Well", by Whittier. This was followed by a declamation, "Let in Light", well rendered by Frank J. Bistz. Martha A. Humble rendered George William Curtis's "Castle in Spain". A musical selection entitled "On the Blue Wave" followed. Then came one of the two essays of the evening. This was by Dykman Winckler, and was called "The Power of Fashion". It was well written, and delivered in a clear and pleasing manner. The essay attributed the power of fashion to the imitative instincts of the human race, and told how fashions in dress would be adopted no matter how absurd they were as long as they were sanctioned by the tailors' plates. He then went on and traced the influence of fashion in the ordinary habits of life, and proved by many examples how strong was the "Power of Fashion". This essay was followed by a recitation by Mertie Gaskill, called "Columbia's Emblem", and then by another entitled "Alec Yeaton's Son", by Henry B. Drake. More music by the school followed, then a recitation, "The Market Place", given by Laura M. Emmons, a declamation "Monuments of Peace", by Thomas MacDonald, and a recitation by Victor Hugo entitled "An Episode of the Commune", by Edward O. Clark.

A serenade was sung by the school, and was very well done. Geo. B.Snedeker declaimed "Men That Never Die", and Sara Loiseaux recited Bayard Taylor's immortal "Song of the Camp". The boys of the school then sang "The Song of the Tritons", by J. S. Molloy, and the second essay of the evening followed. This was by Kate Overton, and was called "The Babbling Stream". Miss Overton found a similarity in analogy between the combination of streams to form a river and the combination of individuals in a community. George A. Horne next gave a declamation on "Labor Strikes", which was followed by more music, and then Samuel St.John McCutchen, president of the borough board of education, made a characteristically good speech and presented the diplomas. He exhorted the class not to give up study because they were graduated, but to continue in one form or another through life, as there is no form of work which repays the individual as study; and then with words of affection and encouragement he presented the diplomas that represented "years of hard and honest work" to the expectant graduates.

The exercises closed with music, and then all crowded about the platform to shower congratulations on the happy class whose members it is to be hoped will "row, not drift", according to their motto.

Greetings to Noted Plainfielders.

(The Sabbath Recorder.)

Commencement week brings many old and very dear friends together in college towns. Our pleasant village forms no exception to this rule. Among the many familiar faces we gladly greet, are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Babcock on their homeward tour from the Pacific Coast. He consented to stay to the Annual Trustees meeting on Tuesday, the 20th, because important interests demanded the presence of the friends of the University. We hope to be able to announce, very soon, that satisfactory arrangements have been made for filling the places made vacant during the past year.

—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union desires THE PRESS to give thanks to the Plainfield Ice company for the generous offer to furnish ice for the Creche free during the summer.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely. It is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. H. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

DANCE IN THE CASINO.

Summer Night Festivities Gracefully Inaugurated.

Thursday night dances are to be made a feature by the Union County Country club. That given last night in the Casino was a most delightful one. Music and supper were furnished, and Mrs. J. Parker Mason and Mrs. William L. Saunders received in their own faultlessly charming way. Among the guests were: Misses Marion Dumont, Caroline Streull, Jessamy Harte, Annie Corlies, Gertrude Waix, Elizabeth Van Boskerck, Jean Erickson, Elizabeth Stewart, Yates, Finley, Ryle of Paterson, Burge and Badly of Louisville, Ky., Stokes of New York, Wilder of Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Mrs. W. L. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. G. Fiske. Messrs. Frank Cokefair, Rowland Cox, Harry Lovell, Henry Lowe, Laurens Van Buren, Harry Borden, Percy Stewart, Lewis Timpson, Edward Van Buren, John Munn, Irving West, Sherwood West, Harry West, William Runyon, Chas. Fiske, Orville Waring, Clarence Murphy, George Van Boskerck, Roger Erickson, Julius Erickson, Frank Hyde, Alfred Streull; Richard Colborn of New York.

TO BUILD AT ONCE.

Plans of the New Freight House Completed and Bids for the Work Already Received.

Just as soon as all the bids are received, work on the new freight house at Richmond street will be commenced. The plans provide for the most commodious and convenient building that can be imagined. It will be at least three times the size of the present house, and the yard and approaches for tracks will be of unlimited extent.

The office arrangements are also perfect. Superintendent Haynes will have a large apartment to himself and the clerks and book-keepers will have lots of room. All of the Richmond street front is devoted to these offices, and the plans show windows above the first floor that may mean other rooms.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. and the Misses Ellis will give a tea this afternoon at their home in Netherwood.

The Misses Ellis, of Netherwood, have sent out cards for a girls' tea for Friday, June 30.

"Spiritual Lessons from Street Lights" will be the theme of Dr. Lewis's sermon in the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow.

The many friends of A. B. Lord, Son of W. A. Lord of Netherwood, will be glad to learn that he was graduated last evening from Stevens Institute, with high honors, and the degree of M. E.

The committeemen of the Y. M. C. A. will meet in their annual June conference at the summer residence of J. W. Gavett, near Washington Rock, to-morrow afternoon and evening. Stages will leave the association rooms at 2:45.

Albert F. Venino wishes to state that the artists mentioned in his circular will positively appear here at his proposed concerts. On account of their numerous engagements they must be secured very early and it is therefore necessary that subscriptions should be sent in at once.

They'll Sing in the Sailors' Cause.

Every one will be welcome this evening at the Park Avenue Baptist church, where the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will hold a home missionary meeting in the interests of the sailors. Capt. George D. Morrison, of this city, will be the speaker, and all who attend will be entertained and instructed by it tening to his remarks. The meeting will be in charge of pastor Richardson, and special music will be a feature of the evening.

Borough Real Estate Transfers.

The Prettiest Baby in Plainfield.

There is an opportunity for some one of the many pretty babies in this city to have a present of $50, as that sum is offered for the first prize, with smaller yet liberal amounts for other prizes, to the prettiest babies who have used lactated food. Full particulars forwarded free by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., sole proprietors of lactated food, known in hundreds of homes as "the food that saves babies' lives."

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1236 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-18-y

Two Unfortunates.

A man who has only been in town a few weeks, and who says he is a representative of one of the oldest families in America, was arrested last night for being drunk on the street. He said he did not mean to get drunk, and would do so no more. Judge Coddington fined him $3.

A bicycle rider who came through town last night without a light was arrested and his wheel kept in the station-house all night. He said he was from New York and was on his way to New Brunswick for a race. He had no money with him, and was obliged to walk the streets until morning. He swore before judge Coddington that he knew nothing about the ordinance requiring lights, and the judge suspended sentence.

That Closed the Conversation.

"So Mr. Manchester didn't marry Miss Bellevue, after all," said an Allegheny bride of a few months to a girl friend with whom she was discussing people they knew.

"No, he married another."

"Well, I suppose men have the privilege of changing their minds," commented the bride.

Then her husband, who had listened to the conversation, growled and added:

"True, and it's a great pity more of them don't."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Short Lived Gratitude.

"So Tom Jones was hung after all," remarked Col. Maverick Brander.

"Yes, and he was cheerful up to the last moment. What do you think his last words were," replied Judge Peterby.

"I've no idea."

"He told the sheriff when he was fixing the noose around his neck that if he didn't make a bungling job of it he would be grateful to him as long as he lived."—Texas Siftings.

A Mean Fellow.

First Broker—Of all mean, despicable, dishonorable fellows, I think Quotem is the worst.

Second Broker—You don't say! What has he done?

First Broker—He made a big pile in that last flurry, and now he's going to retire from business and live on the money, instead of giving his old true and tried friends on the street a fair chance to get it away from him.—N. Y. Weekly.

His Gospel.

Fanny Scads—Papa looked you up yesterday, and is not at all satisfied with your prospects.

Kirby Stone—But if I could only see him for a few minutes, I'm sure I could convince him.

Fanny Scads—It would be useless. With papa Bradstreet speaks louder than words.—Puck.

Making a Bargain.

Mrs. Wickwire—Henry, dear?

Mr. Wickwire—Well?

Mrs. Wickwire—I want to make a bargain with you. If you will let me have ten dollars this afternoon I will let you do fifteen dollars' worth of grumbling about my extravagance.—Indianapolis Journal.

Only One Way.

Bereaved Widow—I can't bear to see that agonized expression on the face of the deceased. Can't you make him look more natural?

Undertaker (respectfully)—Not unless you let me take off that shirt you made for him, madam.—Cloak Review.

Safe.

"I had three glasses of soda water this morning," said Walter.

"Three glasses?" cried his mother. "Why, surely it will make you ill."

"Oh no," said Walter. "I got it at the drug store, mamma, where they only keep things that make you well."—Harper's Young People.

Heredity.

He—Do you—aw—come of a very old family, Miss Jessie?

She—Yes, Mr. Simperly. Why do you ask?

He (intending to flatter)—Well, I—aw—I thought I traced some resemblance.—Truth.

Good Evidence.

She (after the service)—What makes you think my feet are so small?

He—I noticed, while we were in church, that you seemed to have no trouble in getting them into my silk hat.—Vogue.

A Point for Philologists.

"Papa, what is consonance?"

THE COWBOY RACE

Berry Has Passed "Rattlesnake Pete" and is Now in the Lead.

FORT DODGE, Ia., June 23.—James H. Stephens, "Rattlesnake Pete" and John Berry, the leaders in the cowboy race, registered this place yesterday. "Rattlesnake Pete" was the first to arrive. He was astride of "Gen. Grant" and minus "The Outlaw," having to abandon that horse forty miles this side of Sioux City. "Gen. Grant" is jaded and sleepy, but Pete is confident the "General" will carry him to Chicago a winner. Pete himself looks well, and slept here till the afternoon.

"Doc" Middleton is back in the race, having started from Sioux City Wednesday, registering at Galvin that same evening.

John Berry made the start from here at noon, taking advantage of the tired condition of "Rattlesnake Pete's" horse. Berry is now in the lead.

STANFORD'S SUCCESSOR.

Chances of Editor De Young Considered Good.

Not Believed That a New Senator Will be Appointed Until Gov. Markham Returns—The Funeral To-Morrow.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 23.—Gov. Markham, of California, absolutely refuses to talk concerning his probable action on the late Senator Stanford's successor. He says it is to him a personal loss, and it would not be proper for him to do or say anything until after the funeral.

He refused to discuss the report that Lieut.-Gov. Ruddick will take advantage of the Governor's absence in Chicago and appoint a Democratic successor to Senator Stanford. The constitution of the State gives him authority to exercise all the Governor's power in his absence.

M. H. De Young, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the vacancy, went to Milwaukee with the foreign newspaper men's excursion, and will not return until to-morrow. At the California building his prospects are considered good.

AT STANFORD'S FUNERAL

Statesmen from the West to Represent Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Vice-President Stevenson and Sergeant-at-Arms Valentine of the Senate came to the conclusion that it would be impossible to send a delegation from the East in time to be present at Senator Stanford's funeral, which is to take place at Menlo Park, Cal., to-morrow. Senator Mitchell of Oregon, and Gen. Stephen W. White of California have accordingly been requested by telegraph to represent the Senate on the occasion.

Similar action, it is understood, has been taken by Speaker Crisp on the part of the House.

The Funeral To-Morrow.

MENLO PARK, Cal., June 23.—Arrangements for the funeral of Senator Stanford are all completed. The services will take place in the chapel of the Leland Stanford, Jr., University to-morrow. They will be very simple.

A Bank Cashier Arrested.

FLORENCE, Ala., June 23.—Cashier Carr, of the Tuscumbia Banking Company, is under arrest. Carr returned from New York Wednesday and claimed to have sufficient money to pay depositors of the suspended bank. Instead of this he made a proposition to compromise which was rejected and his arrest followed. It is now thought the bank will only pay fifteen cents on the dollar.

Payment to be Anticipated.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Secretary Carlisle has directed Treasurer Morgan to anticipate the payment of the July interest on the four per cent United States bonds and on the Pacific railroad bonds. Checks in payment of interest will be placed in the mail to-morrow afternoon, and all the sub-treasuries in the United States will be instructed to cash them on presentation.

Irish Leaders Disappointed.

LIVING FLOWER SHOW.

You Can See It Daily Wherever You See Women.

The Summer Panorama Is Shifting and Changeful But Always Beautiful—June Fancies and Especial Novelties—Hats and New Gowns.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

There is the flower show at Union square. That is in the early morning, and all trace of it has disappeared when the other flower show of the day begins, at whose glory a million eyes have wondered. It has no fixed location. It oversteps metes and bounds and spreads its sheen of rainbow tints and flaunts its nodding plumes wherever the soil may tempt. It is radiant, glowing, wonderful. Its like the world hath not known. It is the living flower show of women in raiment like the petals, that gleams, that glows, that pales, that flashes, that coruscates, that answers from gay shop window to gayer street in all the center of the town.

Never before, surely, were women so arrayed. In the shifting panoramic mass the eye recalls every color dear for old sake's sake. The lilac and the heliotrope have here lent their wonderful color. Here steps forth bravely into the sun a pretty maid whose Figaro jacket of dainty pink opens to disclose the spotless white bodice, for all the world like an opening sweet pea. There is the pink of the carnation and the purple of the pansy's leaf and the yellow and black of the tiger lily. There are dainty sprigged muslins, which to our great-grandmother's eyes would have been "cloathes moste faire to see," not now in panniered loops and flounces and short skirts caught high above the ankle, but in full folds trailing the ground. There is even a touch of autumn in the scene. For here is a bodice of green over which falls a shimmer of glistening lace and silver ornament, like the fine spider webs spun from clover stalks, whose dew jewels glisten ere the low sun has dispelled the chill of August mornings. And here again, the most vivid note of all, is the flaming red of the cardinal flower which then will thrust up its pretty head by the brookside.

Ah! Here at last is the discordant note—a garment all in black; black skirts crinolined in the mode of today, wide black shoulders ruffled stiffly standing out as far above as does the skirt hem below, all edged with a narrow rim of white. It is the weed Sorrow in the garden Delight. No flower darkens when its mate lies low.

If the gowns of this year of our Lord 1893 are like the flowers of the field one may liken the absurd little stuck-up bonnets to the birds that hover about and perch on the nodding sprays. You shall see the blue of the jay, the gray and white of the dove, the high crest of the kingfisher; and strange tropic plumage that speaks of the bread fruit islands and the seas where no winter is.

At the first Newport garden party of the advancing season held upon a lawn through whose seaward edge runs the famed "cliff walk," and from whose knolls and verandas one looks far out upon the dimpling summer sea, there were hats to be looked at that were worth beholding.

One that was worn by a woman in mauve, with more shoulder ruffles than she seemed to know what to do with, was of green straw, the brim underneath veiled with black chiffon, and bordered with delicate mauve roses. The crown was of jet and the trimming, which was all placed at the back, was a plaited chiffon bow, edged with lace and surmounted by flying plumes. The hat was cut open at the back so that it fitted round the coil of hair, tying underneath with green strings.

A little golden bonnet that was even more noticeable was studded with brilliants and edged with a fringe of pearls. It was turned right up in front, with a bow of green velvet, at each side of which was placed a full-blown rose and a bud and was trimmed on the crown with an erect bow of green velvet and finished off with green ribbon strings.

The broadest straw hat I ever saw, barring none, was trimmed with black and pink and finished a jaunty brown Holland frock, with lapel, collar and "facings" of black watered silk. The folded waistcoat was of pink silk and the whole outfit mightily smart and cool.

There were some pretty gowns in the park the other morning, though most were ugly enough in all conscience. One that was almost too fine for its use was of tea rose, yellow figured foulard, with two flounces to edge the skirt, and a puffed bodice with white crepe vest and green velvet collar, big and quaint looking. The sleeves were puffed to the elbow and of lace below. Only a woman with beautiful arms deserves such a frock, but preaching isn't my forte, so there shall be an immediate return to our muttons.

A simpler frock but as pretty was of black grenadine, with a blurred pattern of pink roses. The bodice had a black satin collar, and a trimming of black satin ribbon, with green rosettes at intervals, went round the edge of the skirt. Large lapels of the same material as the dress and a cream lace waistcoat fixed out the bodice and disported themselves under a huge lace and rose-trimmed parasol.

A cleverly planned dress shone at the races yesterday on a big, fair woman, who colored herself keenly between the full elbow sleeves were of striped petunia canvas cloth, the skirt encircled by bands of black satin ribbon, terminating in large bows. The little coat bodice, cut short to the waist, was of black satin and had a large turned down collar and revers; it opened over a vest of white satin, finished off by a black satin collar, with applique bands of white lace, and was fastened round the waist by a plaited band of black satin, fastened by a steel buckle. The full sleeves were of the petunia canvas cloth. With this gown, which for originality and smartness would be difficult to excel, was worn a picture hat of black chip, caught down quaintly at the back with a bow of chip. It was trimmed with shaded plumes and bows and rosettes of black, and petunia satin.

Infanta Eulalie wore a dress that may be of some interest on one of her recent carriage outings. It was a delicate yet vivid green satin with black silk guaze to veil the skirt and ending at the bottom in black ribbon edged ruffles. The bodice was of green satin also, with black guaze drapery, and had enormous sleeves and a huge deep pointed guaze cape dotted with leaves in white lace applique.

With the princess rode a lady in pale mauve satin over which was draped a cape that glittered with every movement, covered as it was with a close applique of sequins, cabochons and beads.

One of the finest frocks at the ball to Eulalia was arranged in broad alternate stripes of black corded silk and cream satin, brocaded with a design of roses in soft shades, melting one into another. It opened in front over a pink satin petticoat veiled with plaited chiffon and caught in with bands of lace. The bodice was of pink satin, with cream lace zouaves, while the full elbow sleeves were of heavy brocades.

Pale blue and old gold crepon made another pretty dancing toilet, and a third was pink, accordion-plaited muslin caught with pink and white roses.

A picturesque wedding came off the other day, at which the bride wore the usual white satin, but the bridesmaids were in "Duchess of Devonshire" chiffon trimmed, silver white costumes with enormous hats of the deepest sapphire straw, trimmed with white plumes and pale blue ribbon.

The trousseau included an unusual number of black and white gowns. One was of black and white striped silk flounced up to the waist, with the bodice trimmed with cream-tinted lace tied with ivory satin ribbons, which was quite gorgeous; while another scarcely less effective gown was of black crepon with the skirt trimmed below the hips with a broad band of black satin ribbon covered with ecru lace. On the bodice of this were braces of black satin followed with the lace, and the short epaulettes which fell from the sleeves again showed the black satin and the cream lace, and they were epaulettes graduated with a convincing moderation. Then there was a gown of light gray canvas with a flounced skirt edged with white satin ribbon, and there was a black grenadine with braces of white satin.

To go back to hats a minute: Blue lisse is a favored combination, wreaths of ivy leaves. Pale rose pink chip you see daily, with pale roses or valley lilies for trimmings. Green straw is in the mode as well, with grass loops and white lace quillings for decorations.

"I was so low, people thought I never could get well again.

"The trouble was in my womb, causing bearing-down and severe backache. I was so nervous and irritable my people could hardly live with me. Sometimes I would almost fall down, I was so dizzy, and how I did lie awake nights! I thought I should go crazy!

"But now all that is changed, and I am a well woman. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now, when I do not feel just right, I take a bottle of your medicine and a box of your pills. They never fail."—Mrs. L. Travis, Thurlow, Pa.

LOSS OF THE VICTORIA

Cause of Her Collision With the Camperdown Seems to be a Mystery.

PECULIAR COMPARTMENT SYSTEM OF THE VESSEL

Maritime Authorities Say It is a Wonder That Such an Accident Has Not Happened Before—Misreading of Signals May Have Caused the Accident—Three Hundred and Forty-five Lives Were Lost—Intense Excitement in England. Expressions of Sympathy.

LONDON, June 24.—The accident to the British battleship Victoria, the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron, has never been equalled in fatal results in naval annals of recent times.

Arthur Bower Forwood, a well-known shipowner of Liverpool, who was formerly Secretary to the Admiralty, said it was a wonder that such an accident had not occurred before. The Victoria had a longitudinal bulkhead running through her, besides a number running across-ship. She was thus divided into compartments on each side of the longitudinal bulkhead, without communication between them.

In his opinion what had occurred was this: The Camperdown had struck the Victoria a ripping blow, glancing along the side, and opening out the plates above several of the compartments. The water was then admitted into a number of the compartments on one side of the ship, causing her to capsize by the great weight.

The longitudinal bulkhead was a good thing in its way, Mr. Forwood said, but it did not serve to avert disaster.

The immediate cause of the collision, he added, cannot now be exactly stated. The squadron appears to have been manœuvering, probably within a space of three miles, leaving a small area for each vessel to move in. A misreading of signals may have caused the accident.

The Victoria, which flew the flag of Vice Admiral Sir George Tryon, K. C. B., was run into off Tripoli by the British battleship Camperdown, also belonging to the Mediterranean squadron, and under the command of Capt. Charles Johnstone. The Victoria had an enormous hole made in her side through which the water poured in torrents.

The immense hull of the Victoria at once began to settle and before those on board of her could cast loose their small boats she went to the bottom, carrying down with her nearly all on board. Some of the officers and crew managed to get out of the suction caused by the sinking vessel and were rescued. Among those lost is Vice Admiral Tryon.

The first reports of the disaster stated that about 200 men had been drowned, but later despatches show that the loss of life is far greater, not less than 345 of the officers and crew of the Victoria having gone down with their ship.

The Victoria was a twin screw battleship of the first class. She was an armored vessel of 10,470 tons and 14,000 horse power. She mounted fifteen guns.

The Camperdown is also a first-class twin screw battleship. She is of 10,600 tons and 11,500 horse power, and carries ten guns.

Admiral Sir George Tryon was commander-in-chief on the Mediterranean station. He was made a Vice-Admiral Aug. 20, 1891.

Rear Admiral Albert H. Markham, of the Trafalgar, the flagship of the Rear Admiral in the Mediterranean, has telegraphed to the Admiralty from Tripoli, Syria, as follows:

"I regret to report that while manœuvering off Tripoli the Victoria and Camperdown collided. The Victoria sank in fifteen minutes in eighteen fathoms of water. She lies bottom uppermost. The Camperdown's ram struck the Victoria forward of the turret on the starboard side. Twenty-one officers were drowned. Two hundred and fifty-five men were saved. The injury to the Camperdown has not yet been fully ascertained, but it is serious and will necessitate her going on dock for repairs. I propose to send the survivors to Malta."

According to the navy list the principal officers of the Victoria were: Vice-Admiral, Sir George Tryon; Captain, Maurice A. Bourke; Commander, Charles L. Ottley; Chaplain, Rev. Samuel S. O. Morris; Fleet Surgeon, Thomas Bolster; Fleet Paymaster, Valentine D. J. Rickcord; Fleet Engineer, Felix Foreman.

The complement of officers and crew of the Victoria comprised 609 men.

The list of officers drowned include, besides Vice Admiral Tryon, Chaplain Morris, Lieutenant Munro, Fleet Paymaster Bickcord, Fleet Engineer Thomas Foreman, Engineer Harding, Assistant Engineers Deadman, Hatherly and Seaton, Gunner Howell, Boatswain Barnard, Carpenter Beal, Midshipmen Inglis, Grieve, Fawkes, Danyon, Henley, Gambier and Scarlett, Cadet Stooks, and Clerks Allen and Savage.

As soon as the news of the disaster became known in London, the Duke of Edinburgh, who was lately promoted to the position of Admiral of the Fleet, visited the Admiralty and conferred with the officials there.

A meeting of the Admiralty Board was held, and a telegram of instructions was sent to Rear Admiral Markham.

The news of the calamity has caused the most intense excitement, not only among those who had friends on board the ill-fated ship, but among all classes of the population. The Admiralty office in Whitehall is besieged by relatives and friends of the crew, reporters seeking further details of the disaster, and throngs of people attracted by curiosity. So dense was the throng in the vicinity that the Admiralty officials were compelled to summon the police to restrain the crowd.

The first despatches concerning the accident led to the belief that the disaster had occurred off the coast of Tripoli, in Northern Africa. Later advices show that the scene of the calamity was near Tripoli, a seaport town on the Eastern Mediterranean, fifty miles northeast of Beyroot, Syria, and a comparatively short distance from the Island of Cyprus.

The Duke of Edinburgh has received this despatch from Emperor William II: "Words cannot express our horror. We all sympathize with our British comrades. As token of our sympathy your ensign is flying from the mainmasts of our vessels, with our own ensign at halfmast, according to my orders."

In discussing the disaster this morning Lord Brassey, late Secretary of the Admiralty, said that the sinking of the Victoria supplied a strong argument against building more big men-of-war. It was evident, he said, that the Victoria's armor afforded no protection from the Camperdown's ram. While not convinced that smaller vessels were safer than larger ones, he thought it wiser to distribute the country's naval strength among many less pretentious men-of-war rather than among a few monster battleships. It was poor policy to put so many eggs in one basket.

A court circular issued last evening says that the Queen received the news with the deepest grief and that "her heart bleeds for the many homes plunged in mourning."

The Queen will publish to-day a special letter of condolence with the families afflicted by the disaster.

A despatch received at 2 o'clock this morning from Bayroot says that the collision occurred at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, about seven miles from Tripoli. The vessels were almost at right angles when the Victoria was struck.

Those on the Victoria's deck at the moment of collision scrambled away and were rescued by the boats from the Camperdown and several other vessels. The men below had no time to reach the deck. The sudden heeling of the Victoria caused her to begin to fill immediately and no escape was possible. She went down in 80 fathoms of water.

It is difficult to obtain the names of the men rescued, as they are aboard several vessels, and so far all efforts have been devoted to recovering bodies.

NEW PRISON DIRECTORS

Governor Morris Sends Seven Names to the Senate.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 24.—Governor Morris has sent to the Senate seven names as an entirely new board of State Prison Directors. This is understood to be an outcome of the reports of the State Prison Investigating Committee.

The directors named are Charles I. Bollman, Democrat, ex-Chief of Police of New Haven, Chief of Police Jabez L. Woodbridge, Democrat, of Hartford, Marvin H. Sanford, Republican, of Simsbury, for four years from July 1, 1893; ex-Senator Edward M. Chapin, Independent, of New Hartford; ex-Representative Michael W. Lawton, Democrat, of Middletown, Major Frederick A. Spencer, Democrat, of Waterbury; John N. Crittenden, Republican, of Madison, for the unexpired term of four years from July 1, 1891.

The nominations were referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations. The bill requiring railroads to keep overhead bridges in repair was amended to require written notice by town authorities and passed in concurrence with the House.

FELL IN A SWOON

Murderer Fitzhum Told That the Governor Would Not Interfere.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 24.—When Murderer Fitzhum was told of the refusal of the Governor to interfere in his behalf, he seemed utterly unprepared for the awful intelligence and fell in a swoon. When restored to consciousness he sobbed and moaned piteously and begged that his wife and his spiritual adviser might be sent for at once.

His wife lives in Buffalo, and is without means. Ever since the Governor granted Fitzhum a reprieve he had taken it as a sure indication that the death penalty would not be imposed in his case.

Warden Stout predicts a pathetic scene at the electrocution.

The Law Declared Unconstitutional.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 24.—Judge Hanford of the United States Circuit Court has rendered a decision declaring the anti-cigarette law unconstitutional. The decision says: "The law of the State of Washington prohibiting the sale of cigarettes is in contravention of article 1 of section 8 of the Constitution of the United States, and null and void in so far as it prohibits or attempts to prohibit selling, giving or furnishing to any one by an importer."

Domestic Company to Resume.

NEWARK, N. J., June 24.—Vice-Chancellor Van Fleet granted the order giving Receiver Andrew Kirkpatrick the power to begin operations at once at the Domestic Sewing Machine Company's factory; also authorizing him to borrow $50,000 on receivers' certificate. The receiver will open the factory on Monday, and the first work to be done will be to finish up 10,000 unfinished machines.

Chicago Bankers on the Situation.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24.—A conference of bankers and capitalists, including presidents of all the local banks, is called for to-day, to obtain an expression of opinion concerning the present financial situation. Logan C. Murray, of New York, has consented to make the opening address.

THE AMERICAN DERBY

It Will Be Run at Chicago This Afternoon.

$60,000 GOES TO THE WINNER

Thirteen Horses Will Probably Start. Don Alonzo and St. Leonards the Favorites—The Stake the Richest Ever Run for in This Country, Except One.

CHICAGO, June 24.—The great American Derby, worth to the winner $60,000 with large sums additional to the second and third horses, will be run this afternoon at Washington Park.

This year's Derby was made three times richer than the event usually is out of consideration for the World's Fair period.

Thirteen horses are named as very likely to start. More than a hundred are eligible and can start if their owners are willing to pay $300 each for the privilege. The number will depend considerably upon the weather. If there should be a very heavy track this afternoon, which is entirely unlikely, horses not now counted upon may go to the post, for the one and one half-mile run.

The probable starters with their jockeys and weights will be:

Don Alonzo, 122, Lamley.
St. Leonards, 122, Fitzpatrick.
Chorister, 122, Taral.
Romapo, 122, I. Murphy.
Clifford, 122, Martin.
Strath Rose, 122, Manser.
Lookout, 122, Kunze.
Boundless, 122, Irving.
Plaums, 122, A. Clayton.
Buck McCann, 122, Thorpe.
Tyro, 115, Overton.
G. W. Johnson, 123, Doggett.
Oporto, 122, G. Miller.

In addition to these Miles Standish, St. Croix, Ingomar and Aldebaran figure as possible starters. It is likely to be a great betting race. The southern contingent can see nothing but Clifford, while Lookout, the Kentucky Derby winner, has many warm admirers from the Blue Grass State.

Buck McCann and Chorister are well liked and it is very difficult to place money on any one of these four in the ante-post books. They are expected to open at from 2 to 8 to 1, at the track this afternoon.

Don Alonzo is at 2 to 1 with St. Leonards an equal favorite, the eastern bookies fearing him more than the Dwyer crack.

Don Alonzo on his final trial made the mile in 1:51, and the Derby distance in 2:59. Boundless, the Cushing candidate, covered the distance in 2:48, slowing up after the mile, which he made in 1:50. Clifford did a mile and a quarter in 2:19. Martin then took him the distance in 2:57 1-2.

None of the other contestants has done such work as these, it is believed, though the performances of some of the less notable entries have not been advertised.

This element of uncertainty serves to make the American Derby of 1893 one of most interesting, as it is, with one exception the most valuable stake event ever run in this country.

TO STOP RACE TRACK GAMBLING

"Citizens' League" Organized in Monmouth County, N. J.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 24.—An organization, to be known as the "Citizens' League of Monmouth County," was organized at Educational Hall here last evening. The object of this league is to suppress all race track gambling in this county, particularly at Monmouth Park, and to aid in securing the repeal of all laws that protect and promote the same, and to prevent the passage of such laws hereafter.

These officers were elected: David D. Dennis, of Freehold, president; J. H. Leonard, mayor of Atlantic Highlands, vice-president; S. Edward Young, of Asbury Park, secretary; Alexander Moreau, of Freehold, assistant secretary; Holmes V. M. Dennis, of Holmdel, treasurer.

The Cape Cod Canal.

BOSTON, June 24.—What may be regarded as the first step in the construction of the Cape Cod ship canal was taken yesterday afternoon, when the first business meeting of the Old Colony and Inter-construction Company was held and an organization effected. The new company is capitalized at $7,500,000, divided into shares of $100. The canal will begin at convenient point in Buzzard's Bay and run through the towns of Bourne and Sandwich to a point in Barnstable Bay. It will have a depth of not less than 23 feet at mean low water.

New York Clearing House Certificates.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The Clearing House Committee authorized the taking out yesterday of $45,000 in Clearing House certificates. The total now outstanding is $5,350,000. It is understood that unless conditions should unexpectedly change for the worse, the issue is not expected materially to increase.

Eulalia Remembered Mr. Parke.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Princess Eulalia has presented to R. A. Parke of the Pennsylvania railroad with enthusiastic commendation of the service of the company, a beautiful and costly dagger, highly ornamented and inlaid with jewels, prominent among the decorations being the Spanish coat of arms.

Receiver for a Belt Company.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 24.—Judge Ellison has appointed John H. Brunt receiver of the Anderson Iron and Belt company. Liabilities, $34,000; estimated assets, $95,000.

National Bank Suspends.

GREENVILLE, Mich., June 24.—The City National Bank has suspended payment, and Bank Examiner Caldwell is in possession. Deposits, $210,000; assets, $212,000.

THE PANAMA SCANDALS.

Report of the Commission of Inquiry Presented.

De Freycinet and Floquet Exculpated—Story that Deputies Were Bought With Panama Money Pronounced False.

PARIS, June 24.—Ernest Valle presented in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday the report of the Commission of Inquiry into the Panama scandal. The report covers 300 pages and is divided in seven chapters.

Among the captions under which the most important matter is given are those concerning the relations of the company's lobbyists to the deputies, the Canal company's general history, the loans contracted and the operations of the guarantee syndicate.

Legal opinions as to the company's operations are quoted at length.

The report exculpates from all blame M. de Freycinet, ex-Minister of War, and M. Floquet, ex-President of the Chamber.

It pronounces false in every particular the story that 104 deputies were bought with Panama money.

CUSTOMS INVESTIGATIONS

The Commission to be Called Upon to Work in Several Cities.

NEW YORK, June 24.—At the custom house it is said to-day that the Customs Investigating Commission, now in session at the Barge Office, will be called upon to investigate the customs department at Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Prominent merchants in these three cities are now preparing requisitions to have the commission hold such investigation, the particular object of which will be to ascertain the relations between the collector's and appraiser's department and the work of the special treasury agents.

SOCIALIST VICTORIES

Two Rebellots Result Favorably to the Army Bill's Opponents.

BERLIN, June 24.—The second ballot in Elberfeld resulted in the election of Friedrich Harm, Social Democrat, and the last Deputy for the city, over Ernst Dahm, moderate Anti-Semite, in favor of the Army Bill.

In Frankfort-on-the-Main Wm. Schmidt, Social Democrat, and the last Deputy for the city, was elected on the second ballot.

New Evidence Against McDowell.

BENNINGTON, Vt., June 24.—Henry McDowell, charged with the murder of John Crowley, in whose recent trial the jury disagreed, has been taken to Windsor to be confined in the State prison until December, when he will have his second trial here. It is said that the State has already found new and important evidence to be used against him.

Killed By the Cars.

PATERSON, N. J., June 24.—Miss Frances Van Sanders, 14 years old, while on her way home last evening from McAllister's silk mill, where she was employed, was struck and instantly killed by an Erie west-bound train. The mangled body was carried on the cowcatcher from the Cedar street crossing to the Grand street tunnel, a distance of 1,000 feet.

One Burned to Death.

CHICAGO, June 24.—A disastrous fire in the Murray & Nickels drug and spice manufacturing company plant at Nos. 147-155 West Polk street, occurred yesterday afternoon. One man was burned to death and two others were seriously injured.

The Newark at Norfolk.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The cruiser Newark, which accompanied the caravels from New York to Quebec, has arrived at Norfolk navy yard. She will be thoroughly repaired at the yard preparatory for duty on the south Atlantic station.

Hindoo Princes Coming to the Fair.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Several Hindoo princes are coming to this country soon to visit the World's Fair. Among them will be the Maharajah Gackwar, of Baroda, one of the richest and best known potentates of the East.

NEWS OF THE DAY

It is thought likely that the Reading road will be left in the hands of the receivers.

The jury in the Higgins murder trial at Long Island City, rendered a verdict of not guilty.

The United States Court of Claims has adjourned for the usual summer vacation until Oct. 16 next.

Alderman McKee of Brooklyn, indicted for complicity in the Columbian frauds was declared not guilty yesterday.

President Patton, of Princeton College, and family, have started for the Bermuda Islands, where they will spend the summer.

The 40th annual commencement exercises of Manhattan College, New York city, were held at Carnegie Music Hall, yesterday.

Charles Rosser, jr., of Wisconsin, chief topographer of the Postoffice Department, died last night of apoplexy. He was 49 years of age.

The Prince and Princess of Wales received at Marlborough House yesterday, Thomas F. Bayard, the new United States Ambassador, and Mrs. Bayard.

The preliminary acceptance of the gunboat Machias, being built by the Bath Maine Iron Works, was made yesterday. The reports received at the department show the vessel to be in first class condition.

LABOR'S CAUSE.

MEN AND WOMEN WITHOUT A VACATION.

Tired, Monotonous Expressions on Weary Faces—What One of the Leaders in Boston Says—J. G. Clinkard of Building Trades Council—Was Losing Sleep on Account of Nervous Strain.

Six o'clock—shops and offices pour out their crowds of workers; who would imagine the buildings held so many?

Tired, monotonous expressions on most of the faces.

Heads of firms, clerks, shop girls, all end the day tired; it is evident from their anxious, worn expressions.

When worry and anxiety are added to this excessive activity, digestion becomes impaired, the sight of food distasteful, a wearied feeling creeps over the body, and the mind gets confused and despondent.

Joseph G. Clinkard is a man well known to the working men of New England.

He has occupied nearly every position of honor and trust in the labor organizations of Boston.

He served nearly two years as president of the president of the Boston Central Labor Union when that body numbered in its affiliated bodies 30,000 to 35,000 organized wage workers.

Up to within a few weeks he was the president of the Building Trades Council which is composed of unions in the building trades and estimated to have an affiliated membership of 15,000. He is a carpenter by trade and has been president of Carpenters' Union No. 33, and is now the business agent of all the carpenters' unions in the city of Boston.

Mr. Clinkard has traveled all over the New England States in years gone by, organizing unions of carpenters and has always been ready to visit meetings of workingmen at night and address them on the labor question.

MR. JOSEPH G. CLINKARD.

He is a fluent, easy and practical speaker, who always talks to the point.

Recently the Building Trades Council gave their first annual ball in Music Hall, at which were present Governor Russell, Mayor Matthews and other dignitaries. Mr. Clinkard was chairman of the committee of arrangements and floor marshal leading the grand march.

His extra exertions to make this affair a success combined with the amount of energy put forth by him in his regular calling during the day, brought him to the verge of extreme nervous prostration. His condition and its result can best be described in his own words in the following letter:

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL OF BOSTON AND VICINITY.

BOSTON, April 15, 1893.

DEAR SIRS:—On account of the extra work I was doing, working late nights and losing sleep, the strain on my nerves became so great that I was suffering with nervous prostration, to the extent that I was losing my memory, and had a peculiar dizzy sensation in my head, that at times took away my eyesight and numbed my sense of feeling so that I was unconsciousness of what was going on around me.

I became greatly alarmed, and on recommendation of my wife, who had learned of the peculiar virtue of Paine's celery compound I began to take it; at first it seemed to do me more harm than good, but after the first dozen doses or so, I began to feel better and the rheumatic pain in my right lung, which had also been troubling me, began to subside; I am now beginning on the third bottle and all the nervousness and dizziness is gone; my memory especially is extremely bright, and I now sleep like a baby.

All my friends speak of the change in my looks, and ask me what I have been taking.

In these days of worthless patent medicines, I believe it a duty to my friends and to suffering humanity in general when I find a medicine that is good, to let people know it.

I can highly recommend Paine's celery compound, and for those who are suffering from overwork and nervousness nothing is better to restore them to their former strength and vigor.

Yours truly,

JOS. G. CLINKARD.

Messrs. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.

P. S. As the above has been unsolicited, you have my consent to make such use of the same as you see fit. J. G. C.

—House, lot and barn in the borough that is near Front street and rents for $17.50 per month for sale at $2,500. Good bargains for quick investors. D. J. Carney, North Plainfield, has them.

—A late season has lowered the prices on many lines of summer goods, and late buyers reap the benefit of it. White is offering special inducements in summer goods and throughout every department of his large store.

—Capt. Frank L. C. Martin acted as pacemaker for the fast division of the century run from Newark through Plainfield to Princeton and return, to-day. Lunch and lemonade were served at the Wheelmen's headquarters.

—The "representative of one of the oldest families in the United States" was re-arrested shortly after his release yesterday, in spite of his promises to reform, for drunkenness and indecent exposure. He was fined $8, and released this morning.

—Off with the old and on with the new" is a bad policy in matters of friendship, but in regard to house-numbering in Plainfield it is compulsory. Avoid the fine and have it expeditiously and satisfactorily attended to by leaving your order at Collier's —Two hay rigs, said to belong to William Baldwin, had a race on East Front street, last evening, and the residents in the vicinity of Farragut avenue rushed out fearing a runaway accident. The two teams passed through town at a moderate gait.

—A team of horses attached to a white wood wagon became frightened at the cars at Front and Somerset streets early this morning, and attempted to run away. The team ran along Somerset street nearly to the bride, before they were gotten under control. No serious damage was done.

—The summer extension privilege which proved so popular last year at the Free Public Library will be continued again this year. Those who are going away for the summer and wish to provide themselves with reading matter may find out more about this privilege at the library.

—Railroad employes think that the city council should grant Dr. Edward Rushmore permission to enclose his lumber yard with corrugated iron. The place has been on fire several times during the past few months, and on more than one occasion buckets of water have been taken from the railroad station to extinguish the incipient blazes.

Spilled Her Potatoes.

A man named Boylan, whose home is located in the vicinity of Mt. Pleasant, came to town this morning with a load of hay. He had delivered his hay, and was returning home. Just as he turned from Second street into Park avenue, he accidentally collided with a wagon belonging to Mrs. Brown. Her wagon was upset, distributing a box of potatoes along the road. She had the man arrested, and captain Grant and sergeant Kiely investigated the matter and came to the conclusion that there was no cause for action. The farmer was discharged.

Head and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

THESE FOUR WENT FISHING.

AND THE DEACONS AND DOCTORS HAD A LIVELY TIME.

The Dentist Showed Off How to Tie a Horse, and They Chased Miles Across Country into the Jaws of an Angry Bulldog—The Only Thing They Didn't Catch Was a Pollywog.

Doctor of Medicine Carman, Doctor of Dentistry Thiers, Deacon of Laws Reed, and Deacon of the Church Compton, toiled not, neither did they spin a little bit at their usual vacations on Wednesday. They spun fishing reels, instead, at Bound Brook, and now are spinning yarns about what they caught. THE PRESS knows just what they got, and here is the total result: Five yards of eels, four feet eleven inches of catfish, a one-legged bullfrog, and three cubic inches of mud turtle. The Doctor of Dentistry also caught a horse; and therein lies a tale of absorbing interest.

The Deacon of the Church knows a thing or two about knots, square, round and criss-cross, but inventor of Stomatime declared that his massive brain had evolved a new method of tying a horse which knocked all old styles out of time, and he proceeded to put his latest invention to the test. Instead of using the halter, he left the collar and hames on the horse and hitched the trace to a tree and announced that now the horse could eat and amuse himself but could n't get loose in a year. The party then took to the boats, but the horse got away while the deacon was playing the mud turtle on a five-pound rod, and when the party was ready to go home the prophylactic horse was advertising Onion Liniment to the farmers five miles or more away. The D. D. S. intrusted his share of the catch to his partners in trouble, and set out upon a quiet and entertaining walk after the horse. He had n't gone far when he met a passer-by who told him where the animal was.

The doctor sent a message to his companions to "come along with the wagon until they met him with the horse". While he jauntily sauntered on to the farm-house where the animal was stalled. The deacons of law and church and doctor of medicine entered the shafts in turn and pulled and pushed, and sweltered and swore (legally, of course) as they trundled the heavy road-wagon up hill and down dale after the doctor and the horse. Finally, when the three were nearly exhausted, they passed by a farm-house, where, in the cooling shade of a big tree, they discovered the doctor of dentistry enjoying a fragrant cigar. The three were about to make a combined rush upon the tantalizer when an enormous bull-dog appeared upon the scene, whetting his teeth upon a bone just the size of a man's leg. A panic took possession of the triple-alliance, and the deacon of the church climbed into the wagon out of the wet so quickly that he forgot to pat the dog upon the head, although he swears (illegally) that he did pat him, just once. The party are going again with a minister as a balance wheel for the deacons.

WARREN CHURCH, PRESIDENT.

North Plainfield Graduates Have a Conversational Dance.

The Alumni of the North Plainfield public school gave a reception to this year's graduates in the school building last evening.

The first part of the evening was given up to business. At this time officers were elected for one year, as follows:

President—Warren D. Church.
Vice-president—Miss Loiseaux.
Secretary—C. F. Colthar.
Treasurer—Paul Loiseaux.

Following this, addresses were made by Samuel McCutchen, president of the board of education, and principal C. E. Boss. A recitation by Miss Alice Needham, and a vocal solo by Robert Clark, concluded the programme.

A new feature was the introduction of conversation cards, which were distributed bearing different subjects on which each was allowed to converse two minutes.

Dancing was indulged in, and eventually brought to a close a most delightful evening.

The Escape of the Lanternless Riders Explained.

Officer Saunders called at the PRESS office this morning, in reference to the article which appeared in Thursday evening's issue, and which he considered placed him in rather an odious position before the public. He stated what seemed to be the facts in relation to the riders on Watchung avenue, Wednesday evening, and we unhesitatingly say that we believe that he would not have been justified in making any arrest. THE PRESS intended to cast no aspersion upon him, and considers that officer Saunders is one of the reliable officers of the Plainfield police force.

Country Club Tennis.

The entries for the invitation tournament at the Union County Country club this afternoon are as follows:

J. S. Anthony, Harry Lovell, H. West, H. Rider, S. West, H. J. Wharton, Ed. Rider, Frank Hyde, Fred Walz, George Schoonmaker, F. K. Fish, jr., August Huntington, Carl Huntington, Carl Walz, Ed. Patterson, Archie Cox, West Abbott.

A large attendance is expected, and some exciting games will probably take place.

—Queen City lodge, 226, I. O. O. F., will meet Monday evening for the transaction of important business. Besides the election of officers, the third degree will be worked upon several candidates.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely. It is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. E. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Dr. Yerkes and pastor Richardson will exchange pulpits to-morrow.

Chas. Potter, jr., and daughter, Miss Mabel, have gone to Chicago.

Mrs. C. W. McCollough, of Westervelt avenue, sailed for Europe to-day.

H. A Reade, of Dunellen, has gone to visit his brother in Philadelphia.

John Kane, of Dunellen, is spending two weeks with relatives in Pennsylvania

E. C. Perkins and family, of Central avenue, have gone to Newport for the summer.

Charles Fernald, a graduate of the High School, '93, returned to his home at Port Richmond to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, will spend the season at their cottage in the Thousand Islands.

The young daughter of John Ammon, of East Fourth street, who was so low with scarlet fever, is now convalescent.

Corrodon C. Pyatt, one of Dunellen's oldest citizens, died yesterday in his fifty-first year. The funeral will be Tuesday afternoon at 2.

Edgar Sheppard, formerly of THE PRESS carrier service, will spend Sunday with his employer, M. C E. Hungerford, at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

John Kreuger, jr., son of Gottfried Kreuger, inspector Shaffer, collector Fegie, judge VanSear and a Mr. Kelsner, all of Newark, were in town, yesterday.

Jack Stevens, the East Second street horse shoer, will next week erect an attractive-looking porch in front of his residence at the corner of Watchung avenue.

Dr. Fritts accompanied Dan S. Roberts to Scranton yesterday afternoon to attend Mrs. Roberts, whose serious illness has been noted in these columns.

Agnes Burgmiller, Jennie Burgmiller, Felix Lyat and Theresa Fuchs were graduated from the Berkley Heights public school, at the interesting Commencement exercises this week.

James L. Anthony of Putnam avenue is president, and major R. L. Burnett of Hillside avenue is treasurer, of a Cape Cod Ship Canal company just incorporated with unlimited capital.

Madame Isa Lezem, who has arranged the dances for St. Mary's school Commencement to be held in Music Hall next Thursday, was presented with a very handsome fan by her pupils in recognition of her work.

Lexington, Kentucky, is to be favored with a visit from the Rev. C. R. Barnes, who will deliver a series of lectures on Jewish worship, before the Chautauqua Assembly. He leaves Plainfield Monday and will be back by July 10.

Wm. Warner of this city has in his possession a handsome silver souvenir from Washington Lodge, No. 59, F. and A. M., of Philadelphia, Pa., issued by that organization in honor of its one-hundredth anniversary to-day. Mr. Warner prizes the medal more so because of the fact that history says that Washington himself affiliated with this lodge during his day.

Comfort Bags for Sailor Jack.

The Christian Endeavor home missionary meeting in the interest of the sailor, held in the Park Avenue church last evening, was a very enjoyable affair. The order of exercises was as follows:

Opening Hymn—Throw Out the Life Line.
Scripture Reading and Prayer by Rev. J. W. Richardson.
Quartette—Speed Away.
Introduction of Capt. Morrison by Pastor.
Solo—Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me.
Collection.
Closing Hymn—God Be With You Till We Meet Again.
Benediction—Pastor.

Although this was the first Plainfield Christian Endeavor society to meet in behalf of the sailor, the Park Avenue Baptist young people have reason to feel greatly encouraged with their experiment. Capt. Morrison loves the sailor, consequently it is not strange that his remarks concerning Jack, on both land and sea, were not only highly entertaining, but very instructive as well. The "Comfort Bags", made by the society, will be sent to the members of the Floating Christian Endeavor society—a society composed entirely of sailors.

Pastor Goodrich's Wedding Told in His Own Style.

(Bound Brook Chronicle)

At the close of the services in the Congregational church last Sunday morning Pastor Goodrich said that he wished to give those present a notice, somewhat personal in character and not altogether unembarrassing. It is an axiom that a man is but half a man until he is married and his deacons had kindly given him a leave of absence for a few days, to come home with his manhood rounded out, so to speak, and made whole and complete, by bringing with him his bride. He added that all he had to ask of the church was that Mrs. Goodrich be given the same kind and hearty welcome that he had met with on every hand, since he had been in Bound Brook.

The marriage took place very quietly in Brooklyn, on Monday, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Knox. The bride was Miss Hattie Burnett. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of Plainfield performed the ceremony. Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Goodrich have been spending this week at the Delaware Water Gap. They expect to return to-morrow to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs Shaw, at Finderne, until Tuesday.

The Father of Many Ills.

Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rule of health. Eugene McKay, of Brantford, Ont., writes:

"I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time but only for a time, then my trouble came worse than ever. I was induced by a friend, whom BRANDRETH'S PILLS had benefited, to try them. Took two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness BRANDRETH'S PILLS are far superior to any other."

DEATHS.

PYATT—At Dunellen, June 23, 1893. Corrodon C. Pyatt, aged 50 years 11 months and 13 days. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral service at his late residence, Tuesday afternoon, June 27, at 2 o'clock.

Proposals for Coal.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of this city until Monday, July 3, next, for 275 tons, more or less, best quality of Upper Lehigh coal as follows: 25 tons egg size and 250 tons chestnut size. All the coal is to be well screened and delivered free of expense within the public school buildings of this city, at such time as the Board may direct.

The bids must specify whether the price is for short or long tons.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. All proposals to be sent to the committee on fuel.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves last as but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1 20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

THE MEAN AND THE MAGNANIMOUS.

Specimens of Two Kinds of Minds in the Newspaper Business.

[From The Plainfield Courier.]

James Alfred Demarest, of the Daily Press, was appointed yesterday by President Cleveland to be Consul at Brockville, Ontario. It must be confessed that the news of his appointment was received by Plainfielders with too much satisfaction to be specially complimentary to Mr. Demarest.

[From The Bound Brook Chronicle.]

Canada is to be congratulated, especially that portion in the neighborhood of Brockville. President Cleveland yesterday appointed James A. Demarest, the brilliant editor of the Plainfield Daily Press, to be Consul of the United States at Brockville. Mr. Demarest will be missed from his editorial chair, but when he is succeeded, four years hence, by the appointee of President McKinley, or some other good Republican, he will come home with an added polish to his pen, ready to renew his work of writing poetical headlines and alleged libelous articles. Good luck to you, Brother Demarest!

Says the Crescents Are a Lot of Bums.

[Choice language from the Somerville Democrat.]

In a fit of frenzy one day last week the Plainfield Daily Press made an attack upon Billy Lee, about the only decent base ball player that ever played on the Crescent team. The Press said, "Billy Lee has sunk to the level of umpiring games for the West Ends." It is true that Mr. Lee has officiated at several games in Somerville during the present season, and in each instance has done so in a fair and impartial manner, which we doubt could be said of any other man who ekes out a miserable existence in the windy city. Mr. Lee is a good citizen of Plainfield, and an attack like that made by "the only newspaper" in Plainfield that would stoop to such a thing is decidedly unfair. Perhaps it is a case of revenge because Billy Lee would not play third base for the Plainfield Amusement Company (limited) this year. Mr. Lee can tell why he would rather umpire in Somerville than play ball in Plainfield. It is because he receives the full price agreed upon each week.

The Crescents are now no more. At the public sale on Tuesday a few business men of the city bought all the club's fixtures and will occupy the rooms as a Board of Trade. The League members who have been quaking in their shoes ever since they subscribed money enough to keep the club together will now get them back. The Crescent League is a thing of the past. Lots of gas and lack of sand ruined the club. A man is writing a book which will shortly be sold on the news stands along the C. R. R. of N. J. It is entitled "Burned Out of House and Home; or the Ups and Downs of a Lot of Bum Sports."

Help Plainfield and Materially Benefit Yourself.

Ex councilman Serrell says: "Portions of our city are sadly in want of sewers, and they must be provided or the health and reputation of the city will suffer. Many people in New York are hesitating about coming here until the sewerage question is settled. Send in your consents to the mayor.

"If you are in doubt confer with those that have given the subject full consideration. Opportunity for objection to the proposed plan has been given, and nothing better is known of or has been suggested. Now is the time to forward this matter by the hearty co-operation of property owners."

The Friends to Sell Out in Rahway.

A special monthly meeting of the Plainfield monthly meeting of friends will be held at Plainfield on Fifth day, Sixth month, 29th, at 5 p. m., for the purpose of hearing and approving of the report of the committee on the sale of the Rahway meeting house property, and to authorize the trustees to execute the necessary indenture, to be submitted at that time, and to approve the consummation of the attending settlement.

Harkinsville Mad Again.

(Somerville Democrat.)

Would n't it be nice if the West End amateur team should go to Plainfield and win the $75 offered by the Plainfield Amusement company, (limited), to any team who will beat their nine wooden-legged, spavined, wind-broken ball tossers. That would bring the people out in Plainfield. Nothing else will. Somerville is having larger crowds than Plainfield this year.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 68 North Ave., opposite railroad station. 5-18-y

THE STROLLER'S NOTES.

ODD HAPPENINGS HERE AND THERE IN THE BOROUGH.

The Bamerache Scarlet Tea—Mayor Saunders Abroad—Jerry Rowe Bad Off—The Cracker Barrel Club Going Fishing.

Where is the township committee at?

Ex-borough clerk H. H. Brokaw is home for a few days.

Herman Dike, is building an addition to his store on Grove stree.

Why does n't some one start in and organize that new hose company?

Dave Drake, of Frogtown, opens clams with a razor. Patent applied for.

Warren Squiers is papering the parlors of Warren Engine company, No. 1.

Jepths Wagener is attempting to organize a fertilizing company hereabouts.

The graduates of the borough school are to-day enjoying themselves at Papiac.

Pleasure parties that spend the day in the mountains are quite numerous these times.

A clam-bake will be held on the mountain top alongside Johnston's Drive to-morrow.

Parties are looking about for a lot whereon to erect another church in the borough.

Jerry Rowe, the butcher, is confined to his home in Steiner place by sickness. He is bad off.

Jacob Gaub is janitor of the Gesang and Turn Verein Hall, and a right good one he is too.

Lew Smalley and Levi Bird are busy hauling poles for the different electric light companies.

The tennis court at Rockview Terrace, adjoining S. St. John McCutchen's residence, is scarcely ever idle.

Acting mayor and attorney Neal is being urged to hang his shingle out and commence practice here at once.

George Conover is again back in the borough. He lives in the house he formerly occupied on Jackson avenue.

A party of young people who frequent McLaughlin's Somerset street lawn tennis grounds will visit Papiac on Tuesday.

"Kinsey" Krewson, who lost a few of his fingers at the Pond Tool works a few weeks ago, is coming around all right.

Henry Reid, eldest son of the late and never-to-be-forgotten Kelley Reid, is a prosperous business man of Brooklyn, N. Y.

A letter received from mayor Saunders, from London, reports him as having had a pleasant voyage and as enjoying the trip immensely.

The lock-up has been whitewashed and is now in first-class condition. Marshal Pangborn will be pleased to show you through the same.

Adam Fritz, Wm. J. Winges and W. H. Taylor, the two latter gentlemen from Dunellen, intend taking a trip to Buffalo the first of the week.

Another new street is soon to be opened. It will be through ex-sheriff Coddington's property on Somerset street. That is the old Hillman homestead.

Mrs. D. I. Smalley is successfully conducting the large butchering business carried on by her late husband corner of Somerset and Race streets.

Pete Seader has the contract to excavate about three hundred yards of earth from underneath White's dry goods store on West Front street, Plainfield.

Pedelfous's hotel in Washington Valley, back of Washington Rock, is a favorite resort for New York French families. Mr. Pedelfous is chef of the Brooklyn club.

A few of the Cracker Barrel club members have accepted Mr. Sovereign's invitation to visit Black River Falls. Some of them are stockholders in the Rockaway Valley railroad.

Fred. Hui and "Buck" VanName fished at the dam below Bound Brook a few days ago and caught several black bass. Mr. Hui also caught, but could not land, a striped bass that weighed about seven pounds. He had the bass on his line for over half an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernandes, the happy young couple who occupy the ancient Sebring homestead at Sebring's mills, Greenbrook, are enjoying life and all its comforts and pleasures down there. With boats and good fishing and natural scenery they pass away these hot days and fanned by the breezes that waft over Watchung lake they truly enjoy life and all its pleasures.

The "scarlet tea", which is to be red-hot, with lemon and lime juice on the side, and given under the direction of letter carrier Jules W. A. Bauersachs on his barn roof on July 12, will be an occasion not to be missed by those who are so fortunate as to be invited. Already several persons are making arrangements to sleep in the barn the night previous so as to be on hand and not miss any of the good things that will then be on top. Mr. Brown will be master of ceremonies.

A senator and a member of the general assembly are to be elected in our county this fall. George Cramer, the present member, is entitled by usage to a renomination, and his nomination is already conceded by all the Democratic leaders. For senator to fill the office for three years, to succeed Hon. Wm. J. Keys, there will be a decidedly strong fight put up by the different factions. The names now most prominently mentioned as candidates for senator are Hon. Wm. J. Keys, ex-congressman Alvah A. Clark, judge John D. Bartine, and ex-speaker of the house of assembly Hon. James J. Bergen. Each and everyone has a strong following in the county and long before "fair time" you will hear the friends of the different candidates extolling their virtues and chances.

Must Keep Chickens at Home.

"It may be of interest"—remarks the Bound Brook Chronicle—"to people who keep chickens, and allow them to scratch in neighboring gardens, to learn that in Plainfield, on Tuesday, a jury awarded a plaintiff damages in the sum of five dollars for injury to his garden inflicted by the defendant's fowls. The costs of the trial, which the owner of the chickens will also have to pay, amount to about twenty-five dollars more."

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

AN OLD MAN'S LOVE.

THE TURTLE DOVE IS NEVER TIRED OF COOING.

Coy Maiden May Cannot Say Nay, With Gay November Wooing. Mt. Bethel Chimes Ring Joyous Rimes, the Bride Looks Like a Fairy, and Jaunty Dan Shows Every Man It's Ne'er Too Late to Marry.

The marriage of Daniel Cory, the most prominent public man in North Plainfield and Somerset county, to Miss Jeanette Bird, formerly of this city, took place Saturday of last week at the home of the bride near Mount Bethel. The Rev. Mr. Aster, pastor of the Coontown Congregational church, officiated.

The bride is a sister of Harvey Bird, of North Plainfield, and Mrs. James Farley is a sister. She is 30, while the groom is 84. He has been one of the foremost politicians of the State, a freeholder for a score of years, and one of the best-known and successful men in this vicinity. He is a large owner of real estate, one piece of which is the brick building on the south corner of Park avenue and Front street.

Daniel Cory Adams, M. D., of Grove street, is a grandson, Mrs. Charles Lee a granddaughter, and Miss Emma Cory and John Cory, of West Third street, are daughter and son, of the new groom.

A Famous Artist Decorating Plainfield Houses.

The enterprising firm of Marsh, Ayers & Co., having long realized the fact that there was a field in Plainfield for a first-class and experienced decorator, have brought from New York under contract one of the leading men of that line, one who for years has been identified with such firms as F. Beck & Co., the Warren Fuller Co., the Potter & Stymus Co., and others, and has been on such work as the Plaza, Savoy and Imperial hotels, Navarro, VanCorlear, Dakota apartments, and parts of the Vanderbilt, Colt, King and Goldsmith mansions, and many of the leading hotels and residences throughout the United States, Mexico and Canada. The magnificent work for which the above firms are so justly celebrated has not failed of introduction here, as evidenced by the parlor now being completed for F. H. Andrews, on Central avenue.

The room is in pure Louis XIV style, in semi-relief of Linerusta, decorated in cream-white and gold, with just a touch of venetian pink to break the monotony, and is beautified in the richness and simplicity which characterizes all high art decorations.

Messrs. Marsh, Ayers & Co. will hereafter keep on hand or order direct from the importers the highest grades of fabrics in real silk, damask, satin velours, brocatelle and Japanese leathers, now so generally used on the higher grades of work, and will make a specialty of ceiling and wall upholstery and decorations, also fresco solid relief effects and papering. The wealth, refinement and education of Plainfield will immediately support them in their new venture, and there will no longer be the necessity of going to New York to have high grade and artistic work done.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES ABOUT PEOPLE IN AND OUT OF SOCIETY.

James Richardson was found drunk and acting in a disorderly manner on Easton avenue last night. Officer Kuhn arrested him and recorder Harkins sent him to jail for four days.

Magnesse Calcite Company's Creditors.

BOSTON, Mass., June 24.—At a meeting of the creditors of the Magnese-Calcite company, of which the mis-ing Moody Merrill was president, the assignee stated that the company issued $50,000 in bonds and placed them in the hands of Moody Merrill, who represented that the bonds had never been put in circulation. It now turns out, however, that Mr. Merrill's statements in this regard were untrue. Several persons have come forward with some of these bonds, amounting in the aggregate to $14,700, and the assignee said it was safe to assume that all the $50,000 of bonds had been put into circulation by Mr. Merrill.

The Cataract Bank Failure.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 24.—The Cataract Bank, which closed its doors yesterday, has been placed in possession of Deputy State Superintendent of Banking, William Creed, who is now making a thorough investigation of its condition. The officers state positively that all classes of depositors will be paid in full. The capital stock of the bank is $300,000; nominal surplus, $50,000; deposits on May 31, $809,272.37. It will be several days before it will be possible to give out a detailed statement.

Big Lumber Failure.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 24.—The failure of Cincinnati's large lumber dealers, C. Crane & Co., has affected some Huntington people. Crane & Co. had paper in the Cattlettsburg National Bank. An attorney has started out to levy on timber. H. Gordon, in this city, holds claims amounting to $16,000. The Bank of Huntington had about $3,000 of Crane & Co.'s paper. The claims about Huntington and along the streams emptying into the Ohio will aggregate about $75,000.

New York Builders in Trouble.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Sheridan & Byrne, builders, of No. 39 Cortlandt street, are financially embarrassed, and Charles W. Gibbs has been appointed receiver in a suit brought by Thomas J. Sheridan against James E. Byrne to wind up their affairs. The unsecured liabilities of the firm are about $70,000 and their total liabilities, including mortgages, more than $225,000.

Plankinton Bank Statement.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 24.—An analysis of the Plankinton bank statement filed by Assignee William Plankinton, shows that President Day secured in loans from the bank nearly $400,000 instead of $300,000. Of this sum $278,000 was loaned to himself and $100,000 to the Milwaukee Brass and Copper Works, of which he was president.

Minneapolis Bank Suspends.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 24.—The State bank of this city has suspended payment, the assurance being given to depositors that it would resume in a few days. The bank has a paid up capital of $75,000. Steady withdrawals by depositors were the cause of the action. The bank is one of the smaller ones of the city.

MORE CLIFF DWELLERS.

Discovery of Another Ruined City in New Mexico.

It Shown That the Prehistoric Race That Lived There Was Civilized—Over Fifteen Thousand Rooms in the Face of the Cliffs.

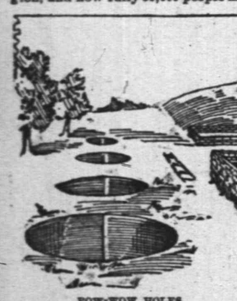
To the lover of archæology no field presents a finer prospect than this portion of northern New Mexico, writes a New York Advertiser correspondent from Abiquiu, N. M. It abounds in antiquities of every description pertaining to the prehistoric races of America. Its ruins and monuments are undoubtedly as ancient as the pyramids and somewhat analogous in many respects. Mr. A. P. F. Coape, the artist, and the writer have been in camp amid the ruins for the last two weeks, excavating and investigating generally.

We estimate that the city must have contained fully 50,000 inhabitants, as we have counted over 15,000 rooms in the face of the cliffs, where they are ten deep and ten feet square on an average. They extend around the face of a circular mountain for a distance of over five miles. The level mesa on top is full of the ruins of their old temples, pow-wow holes and dwellings. Estimating three persons to each room, and 15,000 rooms, we have 45,000, but the probabilities are that each room was the abode of at least five persons, and the buildings on top of the mesa may have contained fully as many more. It is safe and conservative to say that it was a city of at least 50,000 inhabitants.

That they had enemies there can be no question, as they selected a strong natural fortress for their city. Their enemies were undoubtedly savages, perhaps the Apache Indians, whose present reservation is on the hunting grounds of their forefathers, not more than fifty miles distant from this ruined city.

The cliff dwellers were doubtless a civilized people to a great extent, as their architecture, their pottery and other evidence here abundantly testify. It would seem that their enemies finally prevailed over them, destroying them and their city, as they have disappeared from the face of the earth.

The country is as wild as the interior of Africa. It is not an agricultural region, and how fully 50,000 people maintained life in such a place and under such conditions will forever be a puzzle to the most discerning archæologist. There is a large spring of delicious, cool water on the face of the cliff near the only entrance. This at least insured a permanent water supply against any prolonged siege of the enemy.



POW-WOW HOLES.

They buried their dead on the mesa in catacombs hollowed out for a distance along a main avenue of over two miles. The sight is, indeed, a ghastly, grewsome one, never to be forgotten.

Grinning skulls and crumbling bones reflect back the light from torches. The sepulchers are hollowed out in the walls similar to the rooms in the face of the cliffs. It is a dry, soft conglomerate formation, the arches and walls of which are self-supporting, and never was there a more favorable place, nor could there be, for a repository of the dead than this.

We have already excavated to a considerable amount pottery in a good state of preservation; also copper ornaments and vessels. We have four Mexicans at work and will remain here a month yet in hopes of making further important discoveries.

The ruined city was discovered in January last by Mr. A. P. F. Coape, an Englishman, who has spent the last six years in this part of New Mexico hunting and fishing.

The ruins are so well preserved that they look as if they might not have been long abandoned; yet how many thousand years have rolled around since the city throbbed with life and action no one can even conjecture.

The country abounds in many other ruins of the prehistoric race of America. In Canyon Largo, about sixty miles from here in southern Colorado, there is quite a tier of cliff-dwelling villages in which much valuable pottery is said to have been found. But this was evidently the chief city and capital of the cliff dwellers, as the pow-wow holes and foundations of large public buildings and the plaza about them would indicate. This is indeed the Pompeii of America, and well worthy the attention of the scientific world generally.

A New Death Test.

Nervous mortals who imagine that they could stand dying all right enough were it not for the fear of being buried alive may be interested in a recent announcement made by a French scientist. He says that an unfailing test of death may be made by producing a blister on the hand or foot of the corpse, using a candle for that purpose. If the blister, upon being opened with a pin or other instrument, is found to contain fluid of any kind there is still life in the supposed corpse. On the other hand, should it contain steam only, rest assured that the vital spark has flown.

READING HIS FACE.

How Prof. Briggs' Photograph Impressed a Character Reader.

Frank Leslie's weekly employs a man who thinks he can read character from pictures. This individual was recently called upon to interpret a photograph of Prof. Briggs, the famous Presbyterian scholar. Here is the result:

A face deeply expressive of concentration, as evidenced by low-set level eyebrows, intentness of eye and a general air of thought and absorption. A nose of pronounced form argues an equally distinct individuality, and expanded nostrils suggest enterprise and a ready assimilation of outside impressions. Mouth and chin, though partly concealed, yet give an impression of great firmness, decision and tenacity of purpose, even of a touch of obstinacy. The lower lip is full and speaks of an inner warmth and capacity for sympathy, and imparts to a countenance, wherein mentality is greatly in the ascendant, that touch of nature whereby all men are kin. A broad and lofty brow indicates mental powers at once progressive and stable, unimpulsive, but active and self-reliant. The surroundings of the eyes are expressive of logic and intensity of language, also suggest that form, harmony and method are instinctive; but since in his face the mental predominates, it is the harmony and form of thought which is his intuition, and not that of art. Pose and general angle are eloquent of steady courage, not of defiance, but of a self-contained personality. It is the face of a man whose influence will live beyond the span of his days, a dominating intellect, instinctive of courage and firmly confident in opinion.

A Empress' Occupations.

Distinguished examples are given every day of the industry and labor voluntarily undertaken by women high in rank and position. Five years ago the empress of Austria did not know a word of modern Greek; to-day she speaks it fluently, writes it correctly, is familiar with every folk song, poem and novel in the language, and has composed original matter in the Greek and translated three of Shakspeare's plays into the language. These results seem the more remarkable when it is remembered that the empress is past middle age, is weighed down with great sorrow and has no spur for acquisition save her own interest in the language and her strong sympathy with the Greek people. This royal pupil is constantly under a tutor, never misses her daily lessons, reads almost incessantly and during her walks discusses subjects in the Greek. Archduchess Valerie, who was generally her mother's companion, was able to understand the language after a few months, simply by hearing it spoken.

THE GREAT RUSKIN.

Offered the Poet Laureateship of England by Mr. Gladstone.

John Ruskin, the world-famous critic and author to whom Gladstone has offered the poet laureateship of England, was born seventy-four years ago in London, and was the son of a wine merchant. He was educated at Oxford, and two years after leaving college published his first work under the title of "Modern Painters—Their Superiority in the Art of Landscape Painting to All the Ancient Masters." His career since then is too well known to need recapitulation here. It has been rumored of late that his mind was affected, and Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage, who called on Mr. Ruskin last summer, has corroborated the rumor. The above picture of Mr. Ruskin is reproduced from his latest photograph and is a good likeness of him as he looked a year ago.

No Dentists in Scotland.

The statement was made before the Dental association of Michigan that there are no dentists in Scotland—that is those who follow that as a profession. The people of that country have lived on plain food so long, especially on oatmeal, that decayed teeth are almost unknown. The habitual use of good Graham flour and other wholewheat preparations would arrest the decay of the teeth, and be a great benefit to health in every way.

Wonderful Memory.

Hortensius, the Roman orator, had a memory so wonderful that, on a wager, he spent a whole day at an auction, and at night repeated all the sales, the prices and the names of the buyers.

Two Sides to It.

He—Miss Prisephase is an odd creature, a regular crank, in fact. Why, she actually thanked a gentleman for giving her his seat in the street car.

She—Really, but it is incredible.

He—But you don't know Miss Prisephase.

She—I wasn't thinking of her. I was thinking of what you said about a gentleman giving up his seat.—Boston Transcript.

Firm in the Hour of Need.

Miss Oldgirl (coyly)—I had a strange dream the other night, Mr. Jones. I dreamed—only think!—that you and I were married and on our wedding tour. You don't know how real it seemed. Did you dream the same thing?

Mr. Jones (firmly)—No, Miss Oldgirl, I did not. In fact, I haven't had the nightmare for a good many years.—Truth.

Precaution.

Wife—Why, Charles, what do you mean by burning our old love letters?

Husband—I have been reading them, my dear. After I die, some one who wished to break my will might get hold of them and use them to prove I was insane.—Puck.

A Woman's Comparison.

"Did you know Mr. Stoplets was a corset manufacturer?"

"No; but if he makes his stays anything like as long as those when he calls, it must take a freak to wear them."—Brooklyn Life.

It Depended.

Last Guest (at the dairy lunch counter)—What time do you close?

Tired Waiter Girl—If it takes you as long to finish the pie as it did the sandwich we shan't close for fifteen minutes yet.—Chicago Tribune.

And He Stopped It.

"This thing has gone far enough!" exclaimed the hungry guest, snatching a plate of beefsteak from the waiter who was hurrying past him.—Chicago Tribune.

An Insuperable Obstacle

Miss Ricketts—Why don't you marry Mr. Munn? Are your parents opposed to it?

Miss Giddey—No, but Mr. Munn seems to be.—Vogue.

The Height of Dignity.

She—Isn't your father a very dignified man?

He—Very. Why, he wouldn't let me touch him for a hundred dollars.—Judge.

Another Imposition.

Proprietor—How came this new postage stamp in the money drawer?

Clerk—That's my mistake, sir. I took it in for a two-dollar bill.—Puck.

Not Open to Conviction.

"When a fellow is dead gone on a girl you can't tell him anything."

"No. He never wants any light."—Life.

LESSON OF THE VICTORIA

Theories of Experts on the Great Disaster.

ADMIRAL GHERARDI'S OPINION

He Thinks that the Steering Gear of the Camperdown Failed—Limitations of the Compartment System—Fleet Tactics May Be Revised.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—In the continued absence of authentic information as to the exact cause of the Victoria catastrophe our naval experts are theorizing and seeking to read the lesson taught by this great naval disaster. The opinions vary between defective steering gear and misunderstood signals.

Admiral Gherardi is one of the high naval lights who inclines to the belief that the steering gear failed. He recalls the fact that in the course of the voyage of the vessels of the naval review fleet from the Pacific to Hampton Roads his flagship on two occasions was abruptly signalled, once by the San Francisco and once by the Charleston, and informed that the steam-gear apparatus had utterly failed. Had this happened when the vessels of the fleet were in close formation the results might have been disastrous collisions. In modern naval construction every possible precaution is taken to ensure the efficacy of the steering gear, but even then accidents will happen.

All naval vessels are now handled altogether by steam steering gear, as the weight and speed of the great craft make it almost impossible to handle them quickly by hand. Still they are fitted with auxilliary hand steering wheels for use in case of accident to the steam plant.

Surprise has been expressed in some quarters at the fact that the vessel was not saved from sinking by the water tight compartments into which she was divided. But the naval constructors say that too much dependence has been placed on these compartments. They are unquestionably of great service, as was striking y shown in the case of the City of Paris when she succeeded in reaching port with both of the large compartments containing her engines full of water.

Had the Victoria been struck at either end she might still have floated and in fact the Camperdown which crashed into the Victoria undoubtedly owes her own escape from immediate foundering to the fact that her forward compartment bulkhead kept the enormous flood of water which probably poured through her torn bow from flooding the vessel. Also the midship bulkheads may be of irresistable service in case of heavy leaks which can be confined to one compartment. Commodore Farquahar, the hero of the Samoan wreck, speaking on this point said:

"You never hear of a vessel struck amidships surviving the blow. They are bound to fill; the shock is so great that everything substantial that is cut down is wrenched and torn apart."

The naval constructors have been examining the plans of the ill-fated ship and making some rough measurements based on the information respecting the collision that has reached the Department, and they find that the keen ram of the Camperdown must have entered the hull of the Victoria just below the protective deck, crumpling it up, filling the second large compartment at once, and strained the heavy leaks caused by tearing up the protective deck also filling the adjoining compartments.

Chief Constructor Hichborn has made an interesting calculation to show in a graphic manner the enormous force of the blow that the Camperdown dealt upon the hull of the Victoria. He says:

"The Camperdown has a weight of 10,000 tons and was moving at the rate of ten knots an hour, or 16 88 feet per second. This would give an impact of 45,940 foot tons delivered by the sharp ram of the Camperdown. That is equivalent to the blow that would be struck by a railroad train consisting of six large Pullman cars drawn by the heaviest of locomotives, say one of 120 tons, running at a speed of 50 miles per hour."

Naval officers say that compartments sometimes fail of their purpose because the water-tight doors are not closed in time to keep out the water from the damaged portion. Admiral Gherardi says that it is absolutely necessary to keep these doors open most of the time owing to the impossibility of securing air to breathe when they are closed, especially in tropical climates. It is reported that the Victoria's sailors were endeavoring to close these doors when the ship went down. This has led to the suggestion that by electrical or other appliances the doors might be made to close automatically upon a signal of danger. But there are said to be many practical difficulties in the way of such a device, not the least being the danger of decapitating or crushing the sailors who might be caught beneath the doors when they were snapped together.

One result has been to bring to the front numbers of advocates of the ram pure and simple as a weapon of offense. On the other hand there are those who say that the efficiency of the ram may easily be overestimated, for actual experience in warfare has proven that it is exceedingly difficult and in most cases impossible to ram an antagonist that is fully aware of the purpose of the enemy.

If the Victoria could be raised, perhaps a careful inspection of her injuries might teach a valuable lesson to the builders of naval vessels, but that is practically impossible owing to the great depth of the water in which she lies and as it is, the naval designers do not see that the Victoria's loss is likely to lead to any essential change in naval construction and the only result of this terrible lesson will be to cause a change in fleet tactics and to lead commanding officers of vessels to the exercise of a high degree of skill in handling their craft.

Judge Smith to be Married in London.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 26.—The marriage of Judge Walter Lloyd Smith, of the Supreme Court Bench, and Miss Jessie Gonzales, of Elmira, is announced to take place in London about the middle of July. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. Wilton Merle Smith, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, New York, brother of the Judge, who will sail with him to England on July 8.

A Little Girl Shot.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 26.—The five-year-old daughter of J. H. Hines, of Woodstock, Va., was fatally shot last night by the sixteen-year-old daughter of George P. Clark, of this place. The Clark girl says she was trying to take a revolver from the little one when it fell on the floor and exploded. As the child was sitting on a piano stool and the shot lodged in the top of her head the girl's story is not credited.

PROTESTANT SISTERS RETREAT

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., June 26.—The annual retreat of the Associate Sisters of the Order of St. Mary began to-day at the Mother House at this place. At least fifty of the associates will be there, and many women not connected with the order will also be present.

During the retreat, which will last for four days, none of the participants will be allowed to speak except to the Reverend Mother Superior and to the servants connected with this, the most severe order of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America. They will be prohibited, also, from receiving or writing letters, but they will not be required to fast.

The retreat will be held under the direction of Father Sergeant, who is connected with the Society of the Holy Cross. The Reverend Father will deliver a discourse at 10, 12 and 3 o'clock each day, after which the associates will have a meditation upon each subject presented to them.

The visiting associates will enjoy the privileges of the Sisters at St. Mary, such as the saying of the canonical prayers in their daily religious devotions, namely, Terce, sext, nones, vespers, and compline. This they consider a great privilege. They will have an early celebration of communion before the work of the day commences.

TO REPLACE CORRIGAN.

Satolli and the Archbishopric of New York.

It is Alleged that the Papal Ablegate Will Soon Be Made the Practical Head of the Archdiocese.

NEW YORK, June 26.—New York is to have a new Archbishop. That the Most Rev. M. A. Corrigan will before long cease to be Archbishop, except in name, is a fact gradually dawning even upon that prelate's warm adherents. It can be stated upon high ecclesiastical authority that, when Papal Ablegate Satolli finally takes up his residence here, and even before he does so, there will be consummated an arrangement by which the Italian assumes all the authority and the New Yorker retains merely his rank.

It was either this for New York's bishop or a coadjutor. A coadjutor's appointment would mean public notice to the Catholic world that Corrigan had been weighed in the balance and found wanting. His friends once dreaded such a step, but the dissatisfaction sure to result therefrom doubtless caused the project to be given up at Rome. So the form will remain Corrigan's, but the substance will be vested in Satolli

"Any Catholic or Protestant who understands Roman policy," says an authority, "must see that with Mgr. Satolli installed in New York and accredited as he is, Archbishop Corrigan becomes a figurehead. The Archbishop and his supporters see it at any rate and you will observe that they are particularly effusive to the Papal Ablegate and ready with contributions to erect a palace for him. They wish to save appearances. As a matter of fact, however, Archbishop Corrigan's friends are doing all they can to retard the growth of the fund to erect a residence here in New York for the Ablegate and to provide him an income of $6,000 a year."

Released from the Cobble-Stones.

FLORENCE, Ala., June 26.—The negro who for nearly two days has been chained to the cobble-stones on the principal street of this town for refusing to work out his street tax was released last evening. Some friends made up a purse and paid his tax for him. The majority of the people here are opposed to the mode of punishment adopted by the authorities, but many uphold the officers.

Red River Valley Elevator Co.'s Affairs.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 26. — The receiver of the Red River Valley Elevator company, having a line of elevators through Minnesota and North Dakota, has filed schedules showing that the heaviest losers by its failure are two banks of Toronto, and the Minneapolis Loan and Trust company. The assets are $449,422, and the liabilities $494,017.

New Train Service South.

NEW YORK, June 26.—A new train will be inaugurated July 3 to be known as the Atlantic Coast Line Express, to run from New York via Washington, to the South. This new service offers material reduction in time from New York and all eastern cities to leading points South and to Havana, with only one night en route to the Gulf.

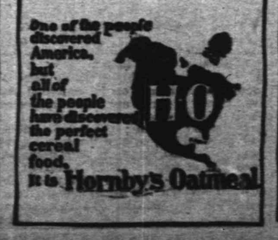
NEWPORT, R. I., June 26.—The Grand Duke Alexander, son of the Czar, and now with the Astors on the Hudson, has accepted an invitation to visit the Willings here in July.



TIME OF THE RACES SETTLED

Final Preparations for the Great Rowing Contests at New London.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 26.—The date and time of the triangular freshman's race between Yale, Harvard and Columbia and of the Yale and Harvard University race, are now positively settled.

The freshman's race will take place on the afternoon of Wednesday and the 'Varsity on Friday morning at 10:30. The former will be up-stream and the latter down. In case a postponement of the 'Varsity race is necessary another meeting of the managers will be held to set the hour, which will probably be 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

There now remains little to be done to complete arrangements for the great events. The plans of the railroads for the transportation of the crowds that will come here are completed, and the citizens committee has attended to its share of the work.

The third regiment signal corps will flash the progress of the crews for the benefit of the crowds at the finish line.

Down at "Redtop," where crimson blazers give a lurid tinge to the landscape, Harry Keyes and ex-Captain Perkins are putting on the finishing touches to one of the finest crews that ever rowed. There have been no changes in the boat for two months, so that the men are well shaken together and have confidence in each other.

The Yale crew has not such a promising outlook, judging by the events of the last two weeks. Frequent changes have been made, and on Thursday last the crew received a general shaking up, several changes of position being made.

It is not probable that Bob Cook would have made any changes unless to improve the crew's chances, and it is expected that Yale's crew at the start will be prepared to give Harvard a hard race.

PUT THE HOSE ON HIM

That's the Way a Negro Wife Murderer Was Caught.

ASHLAND, Wis., June 26.—Albert Saunders, a colored waiter, who cut his wife's throat in Duluth Friday, was captured on the steamer City of Duluth at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, and the fugitive kept firing as the officers as long as his ammunition held out and then offered to cut their throats if they came near.

He was smuggled into the hold of the boat, and it took some time to capture him. He was finally secured by turning on the hose and drowning him out of the dark hold. He was taken out well drenched and made a confession to cutting his wife's throat.

He was jealous, and said: "I had witnesses against her, and naturally carved her."

THE COWBOY RACE

Berry is Now in Illinois With a Winning Lead.

DUBUQUE, Ia., June 26.—Berry still has a good lead in the cowboy race and the man who beats him into Chicago will have to do some hard riding. Berry arrived here at 9:30 yesterday morning and rode across the bridge to Illinois at 12:30. His horses are fresh and in excellent condition. Rattlesnake Pete pulled in at 12:30 and left after a rest of two hours. Gillespie got in at 1:15 and departed at 2:50. Jones arrived at 5:30 and started out at 7.

A Mastodon Discovered.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 26.—Three men prospecting for land in the vicinity of Port Angeles discovered the skeleton of a mastadon or mammoth, which was fifty feet in length over all. The tusks are fourteen feet long, and the diameter of the leg bone is thirty-two inches. The skeleton is being resurrected, and will probably be sent to the Smithsonian Institute.

Amount of Grange's Defalcation.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The latest estimate places the amount of James Grange's forged paper at $50,000. Grange, it is supposed, also got away with $35,000 in cash. His liabilities are put at $200,000, and his assets and machinery, which originally cost $95,000, may have to be sold eventually for old iron.

Modern Weapons to be Used.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The War Department has issued an order discontinuing the firing of the old 10-inch smooth-bore guns at posts equipped with the modern 8-inch rifle. The purpose is to familiarize the use of the modern weapon. Some regulations are also added to secure economy of powder.

Graves to Stay in Prison.

DENVER, June 26.—The writ of habeas corpus, prayed for by Dr. Thatcher Graves through his attorney, has been refused by the Supreme Court.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Dr. McGlynn returned to New York yesterday.

A monument to the Chicago Anarchist was unveiled yesterday in that city.

FROM THE OLD WORLD

Constans and the Clemenceau-Millevoye Affair.

THE LOST BATTLESHIP VICTORIA

Expected that Some of the Survivors Will Reach Malta To-morrow—All England in Mourning—Political Situation in Germany—Probable Majority for the Military Bill.

PARIS, June 26.—Public attention is at present entirely concentrated on the Millevoye-Clemenceau affair, which is now assuming more and more the aspect of fiction rather than of an actual event.

Norton, the negro who is under arrest, has confessed that he forged the documents, all of which are false, but he asserts that M. Ducret, director of the Cocarde, who is also under arrest, was his accomplice in the fraud.

It may, however, be questioned whether Ducret was acting alone or whether he was not acting in obedience to the political instigations coming from the extreme Radicals.

M. Henry Rochefort has lost no time in asserting that it was a preconcerted plot arranged by M. Constans. This accusation is ridiculous, and yet it has been shown that Norton passed the whole of Thursday, while the debate on the affair was going on in the Chamber, at the house of a man named de Carti, who is notoriously an agent in the service of M. Constans.

M. Millevoye and his friends now admit that they were duped, but they declare that they fell into a trap prepared by agents of the British government, which, as they are known to be bitter enemies of England, wished to discredit them by making them ridiculous.

The Justice, M. Clemenceau's organ, expresses the opinion that Norton is nothing more than a very skilful thief who has deceived all those who have had anything to do with him.

The most noisy of the personages now in public life have lost all prestige by reason of it, and if it be proved that the friends of M. Constans have played a role in the affair with his approval he will lose all that he gained by his famous speech at Toulouse.

Another thing is also certain, and that is that the relations of France with England have not been ameliorated by this scandalous affair.

THE VICTORIA DISASTER

Definite News of the Accident Expected To-morrow.

LONDON, June 26.—It will not be until to-morrow at the earliest, in all probability, that ad equate news of the circumstances of the disaster to the Victoria will arrive. When the survivors arrive at Malta the real story will be telegraphed to London.

No single blow could plunge the British empire into grief more profound than that which has overwhelmed the nation during the last forty-eight hours. The awful calamity of the Mediterranean has come as a personal affliction to the England people in a larger sense perhaps than would be true in the case of a similar disaster to any other country. Gloom and sorrow have spread over the land like the sudden darkening of a tornado hiding the sky. The shadow of grief rests visibly upon the faces of the people.

Funds are being started in different parts of the country to aid those who lost their supporters. Gratifying subscriptions are being made to those funds, and it is believed that large sums of money will be raised. Among the prominent subscribers to the fund started by the Lord Mayor of London is Queen Victoria, who has donated £100 to aid the stricken families.

A despatch to the Admiralty from Tripoli says that the damage to the Camperdown is less serious than was expected, and that she will be ready to proceed to Malta for docking in a few days.

According to Admiralty officials who were interviewed on the subject the statement that the Victoria and Camperdown were at right angles with each other at the time of the collision is clearly inaccurate. It is far more likely, say these authorities, that the accident happened in the course of the evolution called changing columns, sometimes termed the "grid-iron."

The Victoria, according to this view, was at the head of the first column and the Camperdown was leading the second. In changing places the vessels would have crossed at a distance of 400 yards, but the Camperdown, through miscalculated deviation, struck the Victoria and probably ripped up the whole of one side. No number of water-tight compartments could have saved the Victoria, seeing that her balance was destroyed by the rush of water. The Camperdown could not have possibly rammed the Victoria at right angles, say the Admiralty officials, otherwise the Victoria would not have gone down so quickly.

It is understood that Rear-Admiral Markham will be court-martialled with the officers of the Camperdown, as that vessel carried his flag as second in command of the squadron when she collided with the Victoria.

A New Electric Gun.

PARIS, June 26.—M. Turpin, inventor of melinite, has submitted to the French War Office an electric gun alleged to be capable of discharging 25,000 projectiles in five minutes, and to have a range of seven miles.

Two deaths from cholera occurred yesterday in Alais and two in Montpellier.

CONFUSION IN GERMANY

Believed That the Army Bill Will be Pushed Through by a Small Majority.

BERLIN, June 26.—Confusion—rank confusion—reigns here in the political world. To prophesy how the whole thing will turn out is taking a great risk. The newspapers here are giving one opinion on one page and another opinion on the next.

The various parties are manœuvring, haggling and huckstering with one another and are trying to get another turn of the electoral wheel. Experienced politicians shrug their shoulders when you ask questions about the situation and reply that they have never known such a condition of affairs before.

The general opinion is, however, that the Military bill will be pushed through by a small majority.

Herr Richter will probably be retired from the leadership of the Freisinnige party. The Tagsblatt, Vossische Zeitung and other organs demand his resignation as they hold him responsible for the extinction of the party. Personally Herr Richter gives no sign of defeat. He is energetic, cheerful, and confident of the early reconstruction of the Freisinnige party.

The speech of Emperor William opening the session of the Reichstag is awaited with much anxiety as a report widens that his language will menace restriction of the suffrage. Talking with a prominent minister he said that the Government neither anticipated a further dissolution of the Reichstag nor any encroachment on the suffrage. On the contrary, he hoped that an entente between the dominant political groups would be effected and the Army bill speedily passed.

Basing the calculation on the most reliable data, the aggregate Socialist vote will fall short of the 2,000,000 predicted by the Vorwaerts and the Cologne Gazette. It was estimated that the vote will show an increase of 372,000 over that polled in 1890. The anti-Semitic vote is about 500,000, being ten times the votes cast by that party in 1890. Both sections of the Freisinnige party cast a total vote of 940,000, a loss of 214,300 votes since 1890. The increase in the anti-Semitic vote accounts for the failure of the Socialists to reach the figure they expected, the anti-Semitics drawing a large proportion of their gains from electors who would have otherwise voted for the Social Democratic candidates.

The papers now recall how Prince Bismarck favored the anti-Semitic agitation at its inception as a safety valve to the movement against capitalism.

Chancellor von Caprivi also, speaking at the last session of the Reichstag, said that both the anti-Semitic and Socialist streams came from a common source. The Vorwaerts therefore justly holds that a large part of the anti-Semitic vote ought to be placed to the credit of Socialism.

It is now stated that the engagement of Princess Alice of Hesse to the Czarewitch is definitely settled.

The Papacy a Democratic Republic.

ROME, June 26.—Cardinal Thomas, on assuming his title yesterday, delivered a discourse on the Papacy as a democratic republic. He said that the present Pope treated with democracy as Sixtus V. treated with Henry IV. and as Pius VII. treated with Napoleon.

THE CHOLERA OUTLOOK

Not Believed That it Can Become Prevalent Here.

Surgeon-General Wyman Thinks There is a Good Chance that the United States Will Escape the Plague this Year.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital Service, referring to the outlook for cholera in the United States during the present summer, said:

"We have an even chance of escaping the cholera altogether this year. Should it arrive it will certainly not become epidemic. Its non-appearance thus far proves that no germs have lived over the winter in this country, as it was feared might happen. However, it should not be forgotten that the disease did not reach the United States last year until August. There is plenty of time for trouble yet."

If cholera should get a foot-hold in this country Dr. Wyman thinks that it would be quickly stamped out. Thirty-seven of the States have Boards of Health. All of them are on the alert and would take active measures to prevent the disease from spreading. At the same time the new law will enable the general government to step in and enforce the proper regulations if the States do not. Isolation and disinfection would be the means resorted to for the suppression of the complaint. If it became epidemic trains and steamers would not be allowed to leave the infected locality. Supposing that the water supply in any instance were deemed responsible for the trouble it would be promptly cut off and arrangements would be made for getting water from some other source.

Should the cholera appear in the United States, trial will be made of certain new methods of treatment, the value of which has not yet been positively determined. One of these is the process of intestinal irrigation. This is the invention of an American physician, who obtained much success with it in Russian hospitals.

Good results are said to have been obtained by inoculation for the purpose of rendering individuals proof against the complaint. A French physician, Dr. Ferran, has thus treated thousands of people, among them many nurses who served in the hospitals.

The Cherokee Strip Bonds.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Treasurer Starr and Delegate Cunningham, of the Indian Nation have gone to Kansas City to meet the directory of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Trust Company relative to the sale of the Cherokee Strip bonds. The New York brokers failed to keep the appointment at the Palmer House, but S. H. West, representing the Kansas City concern, was present and made an offer, which will be discussed at Kansas City.

All of His Estate to Public Schools.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 26.—The will of W. D. McCoy, the colored United States Minister to Liberia, who died in that country a few weeks ago, has been received here for probate. It provides that eventually his entire estate shall revert to the Indianapolis public schools. The net revenue will amount to $1,000 annually.

Not the Work of the Mafia.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 26. — A special from Tampa says that three persons have been arrested for the murder of Camparita. Developments disclose that the murder was not committed at the instigation of the Mafia as had at first been suspected. Robbery was the cause.

EXTENDING ITS GRIP.

The Clutch of the John Kean Monopoly Extending After Plainfield's Gas Works.

"Within a few months"—says the New York Recorder—"Elizabeth will be the supply center of light for the whole of Union county. John Kean, jr., is practically the owner of the Elizabethtown Gas Light company, and he said in an interview that the Elizabethtown company's charter permitted the laying of pipes anywhere in Union county, and that it was the intention of the directors of that organization to begin the laying of pipes from Elizabeth along the county road to Roselle, Cranford and Westfield as soon as the pipe should arrive on the ground.

"Of the National Light and Construction company of New York, the corporation that is seeking an exclusive charter for a gas company at Westfield, Mr. Kean knows nothing, but it is understood that the application made by that company was the means of deciding the Elizabethtown company to begin at once the laying of pipes through the county.

"As soon as the pipes are laid as far as Westfield and the local mains supplied there the line will be extended eventually to Fanwood, Netherwood and Plainfield. John Kean's company is able to supply all of these places, as, besides its own plant, it recently purchased that of the Metropolitan Gas company."

A Plainfield Baptist Graduate's Appreciation.

The Rev. J. Judson Pierson, of Woodbury, editor of the New Jersey Endeavorer, and brother of Mrs. Frank W. Bailey of 86 Duer street, says:

We rejoice that the Young People's League of the First Baptist church, Plainfield, has identified itself with the C. E. movement.

Miss Spenceberg, secretary of the Union County Union, writes: "On the evening of May 26, of the present year, the matter was again presented to the League for the purpose of taking active measures to form a Christian Endeavor Society. A resolution was offered to that effect; and the motion made to adopt it was carried by a unanimous vote.

"The League numbered 140 members, and the Endeavor Society promises to be one of the largest and finest in the county."

The editor was converted in this church. His first training was among its young people. He was licensed to preach and educated by this church for the ministry. Hence he rejoices that their consecrated workers have come to strengthen our movement and enjoy its privileges. Let others follow.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

EX-POSTMASTER FORCE'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM VIOLENT DEATH.

While Pleasure Driving on South Avenue, He Was Badly Injured—An Arm Broken, and His Breast Bone Cracked by a Flying Hoof.

William L. Force, senior member of the firm of Force Bros., publishers and proprietors of THE PRESS and CONSTITUTIONALIST, ex-postmaster and fish and game warden, had a close call, Saturday afternoon, from a violent death.

He and a number of friends were driving along South avenue near the Scott Press works, with a livery horse.

Douglas Darby drove past, his horse going very fast. This startled the other horse, which jumped and got one of its feet caught over the whiffletree. Then it began to kick to free itself. Mr. Force sat on the front seat of the park phaeton, with the driver, and stooped over to jump out. Just then one of the flying hoofs struck him full in the breast. He fell heavily to the ground, and one of the wagon wheels fractured the right arm and wrenched the elbow out of joint, tearing the ligaments. Mr. Force was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, and his injuries properly attended to. He manfully declined to have ether administered, and bore the excruciating pain without flinching. His breast bone is cracked, where the print of the hoof appears as a horseshoe bruise. His face is torn and cut on one side. He suffers much pain, and every breath he draws is like a knife, on account of the terrible bruises. He is being tenderly cared for at his apartments in the City Hotel. The horse that injured him had always been considered a good and reliable one, free from tricks, as are all the horses supplied by the stable where it was procured. Like any other horse, though, when caught in the shafts, it kicked to free itself, and damaged the front of the wagon considerably, besides inflicting the severe injury on Mr. Force.

WESTFIELD'S COSTLY ERRORS.

Had McLaughlin's Colts Been in Perfect Form, Plainfield Would Have Lost.

The game at the Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon was a more or less interesting struggle between old enemies. The attendance was large. Westfield's rocky fielding helped greatly in losing. The score:

HOW'S THAT FOR HIGH!

Plainfield's Water Pressure Carries Five Big Hose Streams Over Spicer & Hubbard's Chimney.

Chief Doane sent forth a "still alarm", Saturday, and called out the fire department to make a test of the Water company's hydrant pressure. There was no notice given at the pumping works, and consequently the test was an unexpected one yet proved the pressure even beyond the requirements.

Among those present were mayor Gilbert and councilmen E. N. Erickson, Elias Bird and Frank E. Marsh, the committee on fire and buildings.

The Water company's contract is that there shall be sufficient pressure to throw five streams at the same time 80 feet high. Saturday, hose was attached to five hydrants in the vicinity of Spicer & Hubbard's mills at Madison avenue and Third street, and five streams lifted themselves into the air fully ten feet over the big chimney that is eighty feet high.

A Summer Series of Four Delightful Tours to the North Via the Pennsylvania Railroad.

July 11 and 25, August 8 and 22 are the dates selected for this series of personally-conducted tours to the North. Watkins Glen, Niagara Falls, Thousand Islands, Montreal, AuSable Chasm, Lakes Champlain and George, and Saratoga are among the many attractive places to be visited.

The rate of $90.00 applies from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Harrisburg, and intermediate stations, and correspondingly low rates from other points. This rate includes every item of necessary expense during the entire time of fourteen days spent on the trips, and is remarkably low considering the large territory covered and the luxurious entertainment afforded at the different places.

For detailed information address George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Philadelphia, or apply to nearest passenger or ticket agent, Pennsylvania railroad company.

—E. B. Clark of West Front street, made complaint before justice Nash, that some boys were stealing cherries from his trees. The justice has issued warrants for their arrest.

CAPT. HAND AMUCK.

THE GALLANT SOLDIER SPOILS A STAGE RIDE.

Young People Bound for the Netherwood Hop Sadly Shocked by His Behavior and Language—Frank Hyde Says Hand Struck Him—Suits for Damages Possible.

The party of young people bound for the Saturday night hop at Hotel Netherwood, chaperoned by Mrs. L. G. Timpeon, were the victims of a grave annoyance.

They had hired a stage of Mr. Ryder of the popular Metropolitan stables on North avenue. His stage did not get back to Plainfield from another trip in time, and he hired Capt. Wm. Hand's.

When all were about ready to start, Capt. Hand appeared, climbed up and took the reins from the driver, and drove to his own yard. He nearly upset the stage, and the girls all screamed. They were horrified at his language, and disgusted with his conduct and condition. He made them get out and procure other vehicles. Afterwards he excused himself by saying the stage was overloaded, but Mr. Ryder says that was none of his business, as any damage would have been paid for.

Frank Hyde, one of the party, sat next to the driver, and says he as well as the driver was roughly mauled and struck by Hand. Mr. Hyde and the incensed parents of the girls threaten to make things hot for Hand in the courts.

SATURDAY'S TENNIS.

GOOD PLAYING AT THE COUNTRY CLUB COURTS.

So Many Entries that the Finals Are Postponed—A Charming Tea Heightened the Social Enjoyment.

Fine weather, a large crowd, and good playing, combined, made the invitation tournament at the Country club Saturday a decided success. Unfortunately, the small number of courts prevented the tournament from being finished in one afternoon, but the play was far enough advanced to reduce the number of possible winners to three.

Invitations were issued only to those who were known to play good games, so that the average play was higher than in the open tournament.

Play began shortly after 2, and the preliminary rounds showed some playing that was not equaled in the later matches.

Particularly close was the contest between Frank Hyde and Ed Ryder, Hyde winning after three closely contested sets.

The guests did not begin to arrive until late in the afternoon, but by 5:30 all the benches at the end of the courts were filled, and the piazzas and parlors of the club-house presented a gay scene.

Indoors, in the reception room, Mrs. H. G. Runkle, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs. Charles E. Brooks and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk received in their most graceful style.

Tea and café frappe were served in the club, and Mrs. Alexander G. Fisk, Miss Bushnell, Miss Gertrude Walz and Miss Elizabeth Stewart presided at the tables.

The tennis prize was a very pretty silver shaving mug and brush, and was placed on the table where the schedule was on view, so it could easily be seen from the courts to stimulate the players to their best efforts.

Play was continued until nearly 7. At the time the play ceased the semi-finals were nearly played through. Henry Ryder having defeated Harry West, and George Schoonmaker and Carl Walz having each won a set.

The play up to the semi-finals was as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

Harry Lovell beat J. S. Anthony by default.
Henry Ryder beat Sherwood West 6-2, 6-3.
Harry West beat Harding Wharton 6-3, 6-4.
Frank Hyde beat Ed Ryder 7-5, 5-6, 6-3.
George Schoonmaker beat Fred Walz by default.
Fred Fisk, jr., beat Aug. Huntington 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.
Carl Walz beat Ed. Patterson 6-1, 6-3.
W. Abbott beat Archie Cox 6-3, 6-4.

SECOND ROUND.

Henry Ryder beat Henry Lovell 6-1, 6-0.
Harry West beat Frank Hyde 6-3, 6-4.
George Schoonmaker beat F. K. Fisk, jr., 6-2, 6-2.
Carl Walz beat W. Abbott 6-4, 6-1.

It has not yet been decided when the remaining games will be played, but they will probably be decided two weeks from last Saturday, as that is the country club's tea day.

As may be seen from the play, the prize lies between Carl Walz, George Schoonmaker and Henry Ryder.

Among the guests of the afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Depew, Mr. and Mrs Irving Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Walz, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Worthington, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Reinhart.

The Misses Walz, Stewart, Bushnell, Dumont, VanBoskerck, Hyde, Vail, Waring Middleditch, Tracy, Ellis, Talmadge, Morgan, Whiton, Gorlies, Hunter, Opdyke, Miller, Cook, Ryle of Paterson, Stokes and Stetson of New York, Berge and Bagby of Louisville, Ky., Wharton of Pittsburgh, Pa., Wilder of Rochester, N. Y.

The Messrs. West, Huntington, VanBoskerck, Wharton, Erickson, Walz, Lowe, Bushnell, Schoonmaker, Andrews, Hyde, Ryder, Emmons, Waring, Anthony and Farley.

Mr. Thompson No Longer In It.

Reports have been received in this city that the property in Georgia of the Quitman Lumber company, of which A. D. Thompson of Plainfield was president, until a few months ago, is in the hands of a receiver. The company manufactured yellow pine lumber at Round Lake, Ga., and had a branch at Somerville. It was incorporated March 29, 1889. The company claimed some months ago assets of $235,000, against liabilities of $97,000. At the office it was said that Mr. Malette, of Boston, had been appointed receiver, but no further particulars would be given. H. M. Randall has entered a judgment for $761 against the company in New York city. J. E. Pidcock is vice-president of the company, Alvah A. Clark treasurer, and J. Frelinghuysen secretary. Wm. S. Potter was acting secretary. Mr. Thompson got rid of all his stock before the crash.

The Crescents Go A-Junketing.

The Ladies' Nine Conducts Festivities for Y. M. C. A. Directors.

On invitation of J. W. Gavett, thirty-one of the committeemen of the Y. M. C. A. held their annual June meeting at his country home near Washington Rock, Saturday. This annual gathering is one of the most pleasant features of the association year, and it affords an opportunity for the newly appointed committeemen to become acquainted with one another. During the afternoon the party visited the rock, enjoying the view, which was especially fine on account of the clearness of the atmosphere. Much of the time was spent in various field games, which were much enjoyed.

A bountiful supper was prepared by the hostess, which was spread in the spacious barn. Mrs. Gavett was assisted in serving the supper by members of the Ladies' Nine.

Among those present were the following officers and directors: W. D. Murray, Nelson Runyon, Stephen Cahoone, G. Q. Packer, A. C. LaBoyteaux, T. E. Hazell, George E. Cornwall, B. H. Radford, A. B. Beers, E. L. Bonny, E. L. Walz, jr.

Appreciates Him, If He Doesn't Know How to Say So.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The congregation of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, for several Sabbaths have been listening to a series of discourses entitled "Religions vs. Religion". In these, Mahometism, Buddhism, and Theosophy, with their mystification, superstitions and idolatries, have been most impressively treated and exposed in their order.

The genius of investigation and exposition of so intricate a metaphysics has created a profound interest in the powers and persistency of the young pastor of this church. The last of the series and matchless comparison of the elements of Christianity—dependence, fellowship, and progress, in their order of divine association—"Father, Son, and Spirit"—was the subject yesterday morning, to a large congregation. The pastor touched on the tendency of the times, in its vanity and religious zeal of intellectual wanderings in Theanthropism and wilderness of a modern pagan cult, rather than follow the law of gospel truth and fellowship with the household of faith to the end of a perfect man in Christ. THEOLOG.

This Game Had a Feature.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—A very interesting game of ball was played on the 4th Street grounds Saturday morning between the 4th Ward Base Ball Club, and the Stars of Plainfield, the game was played fine the score being tie in the 6 innings but by heavy batting done by the 4th wards the Stars were easyily defeated by a score of 10 to 7. One of the features of the game was the way Kane of the 4th Wards covered first base. Mack pitched a fine game for the Stars striking out 11 men. Shannon also caught a fine game behind the bat for the Stars. ONE OF THE PLAYERS.

Plucky Plainfielders Rode More Than the Hundred.

One hundred and twenty-five wheelmen, representing a score of clubs in the Metropolitan Association of Cycling clubs, started from Newark Saturday morning on the annual century run to Princeton, by way of Plainfield, and return. Schedule time was held all the way through, and every man arrived in Newark before 8 in the evening. The Atalanta Wheelmen of Newark won the Metropolitan association banner for having the greatest number of survivers at the finish. They started and finished with 35 men.

S. Clinton Crane, Thomas A. Cuming and Albert Woltman, of the High School Athletic association, entered the run and completed the distance. Crane and Cuming rode from Elizabeth to Newark in the morning, and also from Newark to Plainfield after the run, making their total mileage for the day 125 miles.

Chased Vainly Around for the Engine.

At a little after 11 this morning the call that announces a fire over the brook west of Somerset street sounded feebly, and a crowd soon gathered in front of the residence of J. Simpson, 63 Grove street, where it it was evident that the chimney was on fire, from the dense clouds of smoke that were issuing from it. Warren hose responded to the alarm, but before they had unrolled the hose the inmates of the house had trained a garden hose on the defective flue, and the fire was entirely put out. The damage was very slight. Much excitement was caused by the search after knowledge of Warren fire engine, which was found to be off duty for repairs.

Still Annoyed by the Army.

Yesterday morning the preacher and congregation of Trinity Reformed church were again annoyed by the loud singing of the Salvation Army, and last evening it became necessary to close the windows on the east side of the church to keep out the noise. If the Army must sing nearly an hour before their leader exhorts or their members testify, THE PRESS would suggest that they change their hours of service on Sundays, so that the old-established church adjoining their hall shall not be disturbed, especially during the heated term, when it is necessary that the windows be open.

A Picnic for Her Class.

Miss Annie Angerbauer, a teacher at the Third Street Mission Sunday-school, took her class to the woods on the mountains to give them all a pleasant time and give them more encouragement in their Sunday-school work. Those that went were the Misses Florence Taynor, Fannie Angerbauer, Grace Webster, Eva Webster, Bula Waters, Gracie Smith, Eva Dunavan and Annie Bell Newman.

SIX DAYS OR SEVEN?

HERE'S A SABBATH SERMON FOR EVERYONE.

Pastor Schenck Shows the Duty of Conscience in the Matter of Patronizing the World's Fair.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, delivered an able sermon to a large congregation, on the Sabbath question, yesterday. This was the result of the action of the Reformed Church Synod, which at the recent Ocean Grove session designated June 25 as a day for special prayers and preaching for the preservation of the Sabbath day.

Mr. Schenck's topic was "Six Days or Seven?" and his text:

Verily, my Sabbaths ye shall keep.—Exodus xxxi: 13.

The question of the hour is, shall this command of God be obeyed? It is not a theoretical question, but a practical one. Its decision is being rapidly forced upon us. It is the most momentous question of the hour. There are most vital issues involved in it: the security and welfare of society, the stability of our free institutions, the prosperity of our nation, the advancement and even existence of Christianity on this continent. The Sabbath underlies every other Christian and every civil institution. Destroy this foundation, and the whole fabric of peace, prosperity and virtue crumbles. The welfare of society depends upon morality, and morality rests upon religion, and religion consists in obeying God. "Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

Obey God and keep His Sabbaths, because of the antiquity, authority and individuality of the Sabbath law. The Sabbath is not a modern institution. It is as old as Eden. It confronted Adam when he began his work. God put him into "the Garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it". Adam was not to work in his garden on the Sabbath. His employer would not permit it. Every child of Adam is born under the same law, liable to the same precept, subject to the same privilege. The Sabbath is the inalienable right of every person. It was made for man.

Obey God and keep His Sabbath because the Sabbath is a physical, mental and religious necessity. Existence cannot be maintained without labor. The tax of labor, whether manual or intellectual, must be chiefly paid by the body. To repair the waste caused by labor, food and rest must be employed. Days as well as hours of rest are needed. In the weekly rest-day the want is met. One day in ten, as France once thought, is not sufficient. One day in seven is the right proportion and is necessary to the physical welfare of man.

The Sabbath is necessary to man's intellectual welfare. The mind grows by exercise. The Sabbath provides an opportunity for study and thought and furnishes the needful rest by a change of subject and scene. Gladstone in accounting for his vigor of mind and body recently said "I never do and never have done a stroke of work on Sunday". The Sabbath is a religious necessity. Man is a religious being. He has a sense of dependence upon and accountability to a Supreme Being. These wants cannot be met without the time and opportunity for religious instruction and worship which the weekly Sabbath affords. Voltaire well said "There is no hope of destroying the Christian religion as long as the Christian Sabbath is acknowledged and kept by men as a sacred day". He conceded that it was necessary to the maintenance of religion.

How shall this day be kept? The answer is: Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Keep it a holy day and not a holiday. Keep the whole day and not the half day, holy. Avoid everything of a secularizing tendency. In referring to the action of the World's Fair directors in opening the gates on Sunday the parlor said the dishonest part enacted by the directors merited the unreserved condemnation of every Christian. As to whether Christians should abstain from visiting the Fair, that, the preacher said, must be left to the individual conscience to decide. Mr. Schenck said that the World's Fair was a private enterprise, and that the Government was blameless in the matter of Sunday opening. He held that at the end of the great show, when the directors applied to Uncle Sam to make up their shortage, all National aid should be refused.

Somerville as a Gretna Green.

A couple giving the names of Melville W. Harrison and Bettie M. Wood, claiming to hail from Easton, visited Somerville Saturday night and were married by justice David Kitchen. The young woman wore a light green satin gown, trimmed with velvet. He claimed to be 24. She admitted she was only 18. She said she had no parents, and that she was an actress. He said he had been an actor, but that now he was an insurance man. It is said that this morning she confided to a woman at the brick hotel where they stopped that she had really just graduated from a high school, and had run away from home because her mother wanted her to go to a female college. The couple left at night on a train bound for Easton.

The Father of Many Ills.

Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rule of health. Eugene McKay, of Brantford, Ont., writes:

"I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time but only for a time, then my trouble came worse than ever. I was induced by a friend, whom BRANDRETH'S PILLS had benefitted, to try them. Took two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness BRANDRETH'S PILLS are far superior to any other."

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. Ely's Cream Balm is the only remedy among the many that I have used that affords me relief.—E. E. WHARD, druggist, Joliet, Ills.

AN OLD ZEPHYR FIREMAN.

The Sister of This Boat Vanished in War Times.

The large freight steamer Franklyn, commanded by Captain Eichman, which plied between Trenton and New York, by way of the Delaware and Raritan canal, was burned to the water's edge yesterday morning at 1:30, at her dock alongside the canal freight-house, which also was burned.

This and a sister boat were built and owned by aman named Shurts at the time of the Civil War. The sister to the Franklyn was sent south to run blockades, and on her first trip disappeared. No one ever knew what became of either ship or crew.

The Franklyn was in South Bound Brook, where there are no fire plugs, so nothing could be done to save her. She was loaded with freight, but nothing was gotten off but her bow flagstaff and pennant, which Frank Vreeland, (an old Zephyr hook and ladderman), and other members of Hose Co. No. 1, got off after a hot fight.

SUNDAY OPENERS DISAPPOINTED

The Workingmen and Their Families Did Not Turn Out as Expected—Attendance this Week Expected to Pick Up. Honors to Gladstone.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 26.—The Radical Sunday openers must have been grievously disappointed at the small number of people who visited the World's Fair yesterday. The total admissions, free and paid, were scarcely 40,000 and the winding paths and broad thoroughfares of the "White City" had a quiet, deserted appearance. There was little music to speak of and the whole aspect of the Fair was as calm and peaceful and Sabbath like as a New England country village.

Even the Midway Plaisance which usually thrives in the very worst of times was dull and the camels and donkeys and their swarthy skinned drivers in the Cairo street, and the vicious looking savages from the South Seas and all the other heathen of that homogenous thoroughfare had a good rest from the excitement and rush of the last four or five weeks. The Fine Arts building was about the only place where there was anything like a crowd.

The workingmen and their families did not turn out as they did on the previous open Sundays. The fact that the United States Government Building and all United States exhibits, which form a most interesting part of the Fair, are always closed Sunday, as well as those of Great Britain and a part of the French exhibit, seem to have given the wage-workers the idea that they were not getting their money's worth. Then, too, the machinery is all stopped and many individual exhibitors hang up their curtains on Sunday, so that a great deal of the exhibition is closed, notwithstanding the gates are open.

The attendance at the religious exercises in Festival Hall was not as large as the World's Fair officials hoped it would be. Not over half the seats were occupied. Only a little over 3,000 persons turned out to hear the Rev. Dr. H. W. Thomas preach. He made but a brief reference to the Sunday question, and that was in his introductory remarks.

A statue of Hon. William E. Gladstone was unveiled in Donegal Castle, as Mrs. Ernest Hart's Irish Village. Mayor Harrison made an address, and Judge Moran delivered the oration. Mrs. Geneva Johnstone Bishop sang "Come Back to Erin."

The attendance at the Fair the past week, although good, did not average as large as that of the week before. The attendance for the week ending June 17 was 723,796, an average of about 103,400 daily. For the week ending Saturday the attendance was 70,000, a daily average of something over 100,000. With prospects of reduced rates and fine weather the coming week, the attendance is expected to increase greatly, and the week of July 4, will probably be the banner week, thus far, of the Fair.

THE SARATOGA SUICIDE

Mr. Curtis Denies That He is Unbalanced in His Mind.

TROY, June 26.—The latest as to the supposed suicide of the woman missing from the steamer Saratoga Tuesday night is a statement by Henry P. Curtis, her husband, who is stopping in this city:

"I wish to deny that I am unbalanced in mind in any way, and the reason I left Saratoga is because I have no present business there. As regards the death of Mrs Curtis, I think there is no probability that she committed suicide. Her whereabouts between the time she left home and her appearance at the boat Tuesday night are well-known.

"The use of chloroform can be readily explained by the fact that she was subject to neuralgic pains in the head and face. She was acquainted with the use of chloroform and a cobalt for that purpose, and full aware that there was no possibility of death resulting from chloroform so diluted with alcohol.

"She was in very poor health at the time, and my belief is that she had used the mixture for these neuralgic pains, and, owing to her poor physical state, the drug had a more than usually stupefying effect in the close atmosphere of her stateroom, and she sought relief on the open deck. While there she was either attacked by nausea or a fit of hysteria, the latter of which were violent at times, and either fell or threw herself overboard while unaware of what she was doing. There was absolutely no motive for suicide.

"The statements made as to the quarrels between us are false, as we never had a serious disagreement. I do not know T. F. Cochran, and have made no threats to shoot him. The accounts given by the New York papers have been colored extremely, and are in the main gathered from purely unreliable sources."

Found Wanting.

"Will you give me $10 for that cyclopedia and take it back?"

"Take it back? Why, man, you gave us $78 in cash for it not ten days ago!"

"I know it, but I've looked it all through and there isn't a blamed word in it from A to Z that tells how to cure warts."—Chicago Tribune.

He Owned Up.

She—I could not have found a bigger donkey than you for a husband.

He—That's so, my dear. If it hadn't been for me you would be single yet. I was the biggest donkey in the world to marry you.—Texas Siftings.

FOUND DEAD BY HIS COUCH.

LEVI SUTTON PASSED GENTLY AWAY IN THE NIGHT.

He Was an Old Grand Army Man, and Had Been Good Health and Spirits When He Made His Family Pleasant Dreams.

Levi Sutton, of North Front street and Westervelt avenue, went quietly to sleep on a lounge in one of the lower rooms of his house, Saturday night, and in the morning his family found his lifeless body on the floor beside the couch.

Mr. Sutton was in good spirits, and seemed in the best of health, when he said good-night. He had often slept on the lounge.

The deceased was 59 years of age. He was a faithful workman for Woolston & Buckle, and had a large family. Five sons survive: James A., Calvin, William, Bedford and Outhnile. He leaves a brother, Wm. Sutton, at Bound Brook, and two sisters: Mrs. T. B. Bullock, of Kensington avenue; Carrie Sutton, of Newark.

Mr. Sutton was one of the 30th N. J. Volunteers, [Capt. Hubbard's Co. H], and a charter member of Winfield Scott post, 73, G. A. R. The post will have charge of the funeral, which will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2, from the residence of his son James, 23 Warren street, and at 2:30 from Warren chapel. The post has given up the excursion planned for Newark to-night, on account of the bereavement.

The county physician gives apoplexy as the cause of death. The family had been warned that Mr. Sutton was subject to the malady and that his end would be sudden. He had been unwell Thursday and Friday, but felt first rate Saturday.

Ocean Grove Camp Meeting.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J., June 26.—About 1,500 people attended the opening of the auditorium yesterday. The Rev. Dr. E. H. Stokes, president of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, opened the service with prayer. The Rev. Dr. Cuyler of Brooklyn, preached the morning sermon. His text was "Burden Bearing." The afternoon services were conducted by Mr Hanlon and were largely attended. About 5,000 people attended the surf meeting at six o'clock in the evening.

Minister Taylor Reaches Spain.

LONDON, June 26.—Hannis Taylor, the new United States Minister to Spain, has arrived in Madrid and will be presented to the Queen Regent shortly. Satisfaction is expressed in Spain over the success of the retiring United States Minister in closing the long-standing dispute concerning American missionaries in the Caroline Islands.

Justice Blatchford's Condition.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 26.—Justice Blatchford is resting comfortably this morning, and is about the same as he was last night. Dr. Rankin, the attending physician, made a careful examination, and cannot see that the patient has lost or gained in strength in a week.

"Female Sufferers,—

"Hear me.

"Many times I wished I was dead before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I was discouraged, broken-hearted. I was so ill with female trouble I could not walk or stand, and had to be assisted to my feet when arising from a chair. My head whirled, and back ached, but worst of all was that awful crowding-down feeling in my abdomen.

"A friend told me of the Vegetable Compound; her faith won mine, and now I am well. Oh! how can I return thanks to Mrs. Pinkham!

"Every woman troubled with uterus or womb troubles can be cured, for it cured me, and will them."—Mrs. Kerhaugh, Juniata St., Nicetown, Pa.

A PRINCELY WEDDING.

Marriage of the Duke of York and Princess May.

An Event Without Precedent in English History—It Will Occur in the Near Future—Interesting Historical Facts.

If the duke of York and Princess May of Teck shall be married, as there is full reason to expect, during the lifetime of the queen and the prince of Wales, the event, says the New York Tribune, will be one without precedent in English history. It is seldom, indeed, that a prince of Wales has been married; but never yet has the son of a prince of Wales, as such, been married in his father's lifetime. Nor was there ever even a marriage engagement under such circumstances until that of the late duke of Clarence.

The first prince of Wales became King Edward II. before he took a wife; and his successor followed his example. As for the Black Prince, he was already prince of Wales when he wedded the fair maid of Kent, and his son waited until he became King Richard II. before he was married. So with Henry of Monmouth, Shakespeare's prince of Wales; he had been king for seven years before he wooed the fair Katherine. Edward of Westminster was one of the few princes of Wales who married before succeeding to the throne, but he left no children when he met his death after Tewkesbury. Edward V. was murdered in his boyhood, in the tower, and the only son of Richard III. died at the age of ten. The two elder sons of Henry VII. both bore the title of prince of Wales, the younger becoming Henry VIII., but their father was never prince of Wales. Edward VI. died in his youth, and then there was no prince of Wales for many a year until two more brothers enjoyed the title, Henry Frederick and Charles, the latter becoming Charles I. But, as before, their father never was prince. The "Merry Monarch" had been king for a year when he got married, and he had no son entitled to be known as prince of Wales.

The next prince was he who became King George II., and he reached the throne before his son, the father of George III., was married. That son died before succeeding to the throne, and before either of his three sons was married. Of the three George waited until he became king before taking a wife. The other two, the duke of Gloucester and the duke of Cumberland, were not married until after their father's death and their brother's accession, so that they were properly known as brothers of the king rather than as sons of the late prince of Wales. As for George IV., he was not, of course, born until his father had become king, and he himself left no son. The next prince of Wales was and is he who now bears the title, and whose son is about to be married. And of him it may also be added that he is the only prince of Wales ever born of an English mother.

The Daisy in Virginia.

Before the war there was no such flower as the daisy in Virginia. The hardy flower was a curiosity. Now the fields just around Richmond are white with them. This is especially so of the late battlefields about the Chickahominy river, and wherever the federals had encampments. An investigation shows that the seeds of the prolific daisy were brought there in the bales of hay brought by the union soldiers in Virginia, when they were camped near the city. An old battery west of Richmond is the spot from which the daisy began to spread.

A Clever Canine Thief.

There is a smart dog in St. Louis. His master is a paralytic, and has dinner placed on a table by his side, and a cane to thump for the attendant, if needed. The dog has fallen into the habit of stealing his master's dinner, but every time takes the precaution of stealing the cane first, so that the patient cannot rap for assistance.

HOW THE VICTORIA WAS RAMMED

Full Details of the Disaster to the Great English Battleship.

ADMIRAL TRYON GAVE A SIGNAL FOR DOUBLE FILE.

The Fleet of Five Vessels Was Standing off Tripoli When the Order Was Given—Markham of the Camperdown Hesitated, Then Advanced—A Fatal Delay—The Flagship Struck in Front of the Armored Bulkhead—Men Lost Life by Drowning, Scalding, and From the Screws of the Sinking Ship.

LONDON, June 27.—Advices from Tripoli give the first details of the disaster to the battleship Victoria, in which over 450 lives were lost.

About 3 o'clock last Thursday afternoon the English fleet came in sight of El Mina, the port and town of Tripoli. It was coming from the northeast and making directly for the harbor.

The five big ironclads—Victoria, Camperdown, Edinburgh, Nile and Sans Pareil—were drawn up in full front. The Victoria was in the centre, the Camperdown was on her left and the Edinburgh on her right.

When they were within five miles of shore Vice-Admiral Sir George Tyron signalled to turn and form in double line. This meant that the Victoria and Camperdown were to go ahead a little and describe a turn—the Victoria turning to the left and the Camperdown turning to the right—then they would advance side by side in the direction from which they had come, the others would swing into double-column order and advance two and two behind the leaders.

The Order Difficult.

When the order was given the distance between the ships was less than two cables' length. The execution of the order was easy enough for ships further away from the centre, but extremely difficult for the Victoria and the Camperdown. In turning their bows would pass within a few fathoms of each other, even if the movement was executed with the greatest precision. This movement is rarely made and is chiefly for the purpose of training the ship commanders to move expeditiously away from shoaling waters.

Whether because Admiral Markham, of the Camperdown, could not believe this movement was to be tried when the ships were so close together or because he thought Admiral Tryon had miscalculated the distance he did not set about executing Admiral Tryon's order, but signalled that he did not understand it.

The Victoria and the other vessels had not hesitated. The Victoria began to turn at once, as she still held to the signal.

Delay Fatal.

The Camperdown no longer hesitated, but also began to turn. The brief delay, however, had been fatal.

The Victoria had nearly turned, and the Camperdown, swinging around, bore down upon her.

Both admirals were quick to act. Admiral Tryon swung the Victoria so as to receive at the smallest angle the blow which both officers saw was inevitable, and Admiral Markham did the same for Camperdown, besides reversing her screws.

The twelve-foot ram of the Camperdown struck the hull of the Victoria just in front of the armored bulkhead and plunged into the thin plates of her starboard side. The armor ends at the bulkhead, and the forward part of the Victoria above the water line was mere cardboard to the great iron wedge so mightily propelled.

There was a smashing of wood and iron plates, and the ram and eight feet of the bow of the Camperdown crashed 20 feet into the bowels of the Victoria.

The Camperdown was halted by the heavy armor of the Victoria, and as her screws were reversed, she at once began to back away.

The Victoria's bow was now pointed full towards the shore. It seems that Admiral Tryon did not realize the extent of the damage to the Victoria. As no accident of exactly this kind has happened before he could not know what the effect of the hole in the compartment was to be.

He no doubt thought that as only one compartment was damaged, the others would keep his ship afloat, so when the Camperdown and the other ships signalled offers of boats he replied that he did not need them.

Headed for Shore.

The Victoria began to forge straight for the shore under full steam. When the Camperdown's ram struck the Victoria Admiral Tryon, the navigating officer, two signal officers and the men at the wheel were all upon the bridge, either in full view or in the chart house.

The untangling and the getting under full headway had taken some little time. About ten minutes after the blow, the Victoria, having got something like two miles nearer shore from the scene of the collision, all at once leaned away over to starboard and with a great roll and plunge buried her bow beneath the calm surface of the sea. It was almost instantaneous.

There was only a chance for a few wild cries and the Victoria was almost half submerged, bow foremost, with her swiftly revolving screws whirring clear of the water high in the air.

Those on deck were plunged immediately into the water. The men forward and below had no time to rush to the deck, but found themselves groping for doors of rooms filled with water and compressed air. There was a little more time for those in officers' quarters. They heard the shouts and warning cries and rushed to the almost perpendicular deck.

The huge hull was drawing in the water as it went down and several hundred men hurled suddenly into the water, fully dressed, had to battle against the increasing suction.

A moment more and a new peril more horrible descended upon them. The great engine deep in the heart of the hull and incased in water-tight compartments was still throbbing at full speed and the great steel phlanges of the twin screws were whirling around up in the air.

As the vessel sank these screws came nearer and nearer to the water and descended into the midst of struggling human beings.

The vessel sank slowly and when the screws were low enough to begin to whirl in the water again the suction had increased until there was a deepening vortex like a maelstrom.

At the bottom of this maelstrom the screws were revolving like circular knives.

The poor creatures battled in vain against the suction. They were drawn down and thrown against the swift blades.

Then came a scene which made the officers on the decks of the other warships of the fleet turn away, sick with horror. Screams and shrieks arose, and in the white foam appeared reddened arms and legs and wrenched and torn bodies. Headless trunks were tossed out of the vortex to linger a moment on the surface and sink out of sight.

All within reach of that vortex lost their presence of mind. Men who knew how to swim ceased swimming and fought with the waters. Men clutched each other in frenzy and struck each other off.

The deep cone of whirling waters with the swift knives chopping human bodies at the bottom of it, was a horror to daunt the bravest.

One man who escaped says that he saw in this great vortex at least 50 of his fellows fighting with each other and with inevitable death. In a moment or so the knives disappeared and the vortex began to close up.

The Boilers Exploded.

The ship was beneath the surface just as the whirl was shallowed almost to the surface. Then there was a muffled sound of thunder, the waters were tossed up and a cloud of steam burst from them.

Again the shrieks and screams burst from the swimmers. The boilers had exploded, the sea had rushed into the furnaces, and the swimmers were beating waves of scalding water.

Thus, in less than ten minutes, death in three awful forms attacked the officers and crew of the Victoria—death by drowning, death by the knife-like screws and death by scalding water.

Help Was Speedy.

With the first under plunge of the Victoria all the boats were called away from all the other ships, and came straining over the calm sea to save the strugglers.

These boats were soon picking up those fortunate ones who had got out of reach of the terrible vortex. So long as the vortex was there the boats dared not venture near, but they did lift from the scalding water several wretched sailors, who were horribly burned. It is thought that more than half of those drowned got out of the ship, but were caught in the vortex or scalded to death by the boiling water.

Tryon Stuck to His Ship.

Admiral Tryon stuck on the bridge and refused to leave it. Just before the Victoria made her underplunge he saw what was about to happen and issued an order for each man to save himself, but the order never got beyond the bridge, for ruin descended straightway.

The fleet lies at anchor off Tripoli while the Camperdown is making temporary repairs which will enable her to reach Malta.

The Victoria lies in 76 fathoms of water. It will be impossible to float her. The bodies of 20 victims have been found and interred in Tripoli.

The Queen's Reply to Bayard.

LONDON, June 27. — The telegram of sympathy sent by President Cleveland through Secretary of State Gresham and United States Ambassador Bayard, to Queen Victoria, was forwarded to Her Majesty immediately upon its receipt. The Queen, in reply, has informed Ambassador Bayard that she was deeply touched by the message of the President of the United States.

GOVERNMENT ADVISED OF A PLOT

Sprockels' Suit Against a Newspaper. Strengthening the Palace Defences. Annexation Sentiment Growing Among the Natives—Newman's Power of Attorney Scattered Broadcast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 27.—The steamer China, from Hong Kong May 30, and Yokohoma June 9, has arrived with the following advices from Honolulu:

The libel suit brought by Claus Speckles against Walter O. Smith, editor of the annexation organ, will be tried at the June term of the Supreme Court. The action was brought because of an allegory which appeared in the Star, the moral of which was that no man is rich enough to safely engage in seditious enterprises against a government which has power to seize his person and property.

Paul Neuman, the ex-Queen's legal adviser, returned from the United States a few days after the publication of the power of attorney given him when he went to Washington to fight annexation. He treats the matter of its publication here very lightly, and says there never has been any secret as to the contents of the document. He is still opposed to annexation, and thinks that a protectorate with whatever form of government a majority of the people vote for is best for Hawaii.

The annexationists are making great capital out of what they consider the evidence of the ex-Queen's weakness and selfishness. Thousands of copies of the power of attorney printed in the Hawaiian language have been circulated among natives on all the islands, with the result, it is claimed, that the natives are flocking to the annexationists' standard in greater numbers than ever before.

As a result of the recent dynamite scare the provisional government has passed a law fixing the penalty for the unlawful use of explosives at a fine from $250 to $5,000 and imprisonment not to exceed 20 years. The unlawful possession of explosives will be punished by a maximum fine of $3,000 and imprisonment for six years.

The palace which was occupied by the Government two weeks ago has been still further protected by placing sand bag barricades at exposed points. Arms and ammunition have been served out to a secret organization called the Citizens' Reserve, which numbers about 400 men.

Charles Nordhoff returns home on the 21st. The annexation party regard him with suspicion, and are distrustful of Minister Blount, who seems to encourage him.

The government is well advised of a Royalist plot to fire the town and dynamite the water works, and, in the confusion, to seize the government buildings. Efficient measures have been taken to frustrate any such attempts.

A meeting of American citizens in Honolulu to arrange for the usual celebration of July 4 was held at the Arlington House on June 17, and an extensive programme adopted.

The latest advices from Washington are generally felt in Honolulu to be unfavorable to an early attainment of annexation. Ultra royalists are jubilant, while the more thoughtful ones see that this only means the consolidation of the provisional government into a permanent form, supported by the great body of taxpayers and property owners. A prominent Royalist intimated that there will soon be a general clamor for annexation among the natives, who will discover themselves left with little voice in the remodeled government.

A special Cabinet meeting was held this noon, June 19, continuing an hour and a half, at which Mr. Blount and his secretary were present.

He Sent His Dog Back.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 27.—The schooner Julia Costa, at this port from a fishing trip, reports Saturday last spoke Capt. Gardner, of the dory Flying Dutchman 140 miles east southeast of Cape Sable. Capt. Gardner, who sailed from Shelburne, N. S., some time since for the nearest European port, wished to have his dog, his only companion, landed, as it was ill. The captain of the Costa brought the dog to port.

Henriques' Assailant's Case.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The examination of Frank Ellison, under arrest for assaulting W. H. NEW CHINESE MINISTER.

He Is Expected in Washington by August 1.

Confirmation at the State Department That all Diplomatic Relations With China Will Soon be Suspended.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The announcement made in these despatches some time ago on the authority of the counsel for the Chinese government in the Geary law test case before the Supreme Court, that the Chinese government had informally "noticed" the government of the United State that the Geary act would result in a suspension of all relations diplomatic and commercial between the United States and China, receives strong confirmation in the despatches brought by the last Pacific mail.

At the Chinese Legation it is learned that the new Chinese Minister will start from Hong Kong this week, and in the ordinary course of travel is expected to reach Washington by the last of July. Then the legation will be turned over to him and the present official will return to China.

The new man has quite an experience as a diplomat, having been in charge of some important customs districts where he was put in contact with consuls and government officials from all parts of the world.

QUEEN CITY BANK FAILURE

Due to a Heavy Drain on the Institution's Funds.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 27.—Much surprise is expressed over the fact that the Queen City bank, which was started here a little over a year ago, has closed its doors.

Mr. F. M. Inglehart, one of the directors, said that the suspension was due to a heavy drain of money out of the bank, which has been going on for several weeks. The bank paid out all the money it had, even to dimes, nickels and pennies, and when the last cent was gone the officers went out and closed the doors.

Mr. Ingelhart said that the bank had plenty of collateral, but found that it was impossible to raise money on it in the present financial stringency. The New York banks would not let them have any money. He said the depositors will be paid in full.

The State Superintendent of Banking has been notified of the suspension, and will send an examiner here. The officers are hopeful that the bank will resume. It owes its depositors over $1,400,000.

The general opinion is that the bank cannot realize on its securities on account of the tightness of the money market.

SCORED JUDGE GARY

Altgeld's Statement in Pardoning the Anarchists.

SAYS THE COURT WAS PREJUDICED

The Judge Likened to the Infamous Jeffries—The Jurors, According to the Governor, Were Not Competent, and Were Selected to Convict.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 27.—The action of Gov. Altgeld, in pardoning the Anarchists Neebe, Fielden and Schwab, has created no little excitement, and an immense amount of discussion. The general opinion is, however, that the Governor is justified in his action.

Gov. Altgeld's statement, accompanying his pardon of the Anarchists, makes 17,000 words. The Governor reviews the history of the Haymarket meeting of May 4, 1886, in detail, and says the basis of appeal for pardon was the petition signed by several thousand merchants, bankers, judges, lawyers and other prominent citizens of Chicago, which, assuming the prisoners to be guilty, stated the belief that the prisoners were punished enough, but a number of them who have examined the case more carefully base their appeal on entirely different grounds and assert:

1. That the jury which tried the case was a packed jury selected to convict.

2. That according to the law as laid down by the Supreme Court both prior to and again since the trial of this case, the jurors, according to their own answers were not competent jurors, and the trial was therefore not a legal trial.

3. That the defendants were not proven to be guilty of the crime charged in the indictment.

4. That as to the defendant, Neebe, the State's attorney had declared at the close of the evidence that there was no case against him, and yet he has been kept in prison all these years.

5. That the trial judge was either so prejudiced against the defendants, or else so determined to win the applause of a certain class in the community that he could not and did not grant a fair trial.

The Governor's statement sustains the five specified points in the appeal referred to and says that the facts tend to show that the bomb was thrown as an act of personal revenge and that the prosecution never discovered who threw it.

Speaking of Judge Gary, he says: "It is further charged, with much bitterness by those who speak for the prisoners, that the record of the case shows that the judge conducted the trial with malicious ferocity and forced eight men to be tried together; that in cross-examining the State's witnesses he confined counsel for the defense to the specific points touched on by the State, while in the cross-examination of the defendants' witnesses he permitted the State's attorney to go to all manner of subjects entirely foreign to the matters on which the witness were examined in chief; also that every ruling throughout the long trial on any contested point was in favor of the prosecution.

Regarding Gov. Altgeld's pardon of Fielden, Neebe and Schawb, Capt. W. H. Black, who was the leading counsel for the defense in their trial, said:

"This pardon will not weaken the law, but will strengthen it, and will increase the respect for the law in the minds of the people."

Frank Walker, one of the State's counsel in the case, said:

"The only effect the pardon might have might be to lessen the fear of punishment in the minds of men like them. But then fanatics never know fear."

WILL NOT PAY ALIMONY

Astor Dixey's Wife Wants the Court to Help Her.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Henry E. Dixey did not appear in the Supreme Court chambers in answer to an order requiring him to show cause why he should not be punished for disobeying the order of the court which instructed him to pay his former wife $50 a week alimony. Neither side was represented by counsel.

Dixey was ordered to pay alimony in November, 1890, but has failed to do so since October 1892. Mrs. Dixey says she is now destitute and needs money to pay for her daughter's education and buy furniture. She alleges that she has received only $300 from Dixey's manager and $10.50 from Mr. Dixey himself since October 1892. She says Mr. Dixey lives at the best hotels, and that his profits from "Adonis" in which he is now playing, are $1,000 a week.

IS IT HIS CONSCIENCE?

THAT'S THE QUESTION INVOLVED IN PAOLI'S CASE.

The City Accuses Him of Using the Seventh-Day Law as a Subterfuge, and Says He Should Be Forced to Keep His Shop Closed Sundays.

The case of the city of Plainfield against Lorenzo Paoli, a North avenue fruit dealer, for alleged illegal Sunday selling, came up this morning in the city court. Judge Coddington presided, Craig A. Marsh was counsel for the city, and Walter Hetfield represented the defendant. The trial, which was by jury, was opened at 10:30, and the charge was given to the jury at 1:30, most of the three hours being taken up by discussion between lawyers Hetfield and Marsh as to legal points and the admission of evidence. A large number of witnesses were brought before the court, but the evidence of many of them was of little use, and the trial dragged slowly on, the monotony being broken only by occasional heated argument between the lawyers and the frequent outbursts of indignation on the part of Paoli.

The city claimed that Paoli had closed his shop Saturdays only that he might open Sundays, as business is usually very brisk on that day, and counselor Marsh made a very stirring appeal to the morals of the twelve jurymen, telling them that it was a disgrace to Plainfield that such a subterfuge and evasion of the law should be allowed. Some effort was made on the part of the prosecution to prove that customers frequently got intoxicated in Paoli's shop on the cider that he sold there. The defence took the trouble to produce farmer Smalley who made the cider, but he said he was not responsible for its actions after it had left his hands. The defence proved conclusively that Paoli always closed his shop regularly Saturdays, and the final issue that was embodied in the charge was:

"Did Paoli honestly believe in keeping his Sabbath on Saturday and did he do it for motives of religion; or had he struck the happy plan of closing on Saturday merely that he might make more money on Sunday? The ordinance says that Sunday selling shall be illegal except to those who keep the Sabbath on Saturday as a matter of conscience, and even then it is illegal if the Sunday opening interferes with the religious observances of those sects who still cling to the old-fashioned Sunday keeping. The decision seemed to call for some careful consideration, not to say hair-splitting; and the decision of a jury that is by courtesy always supposed to be intelligent, needed thorough consideration on the part of the individual intelligences."

THE JURY:

B. T. Barnes,	A. V. Lunger,
J. B. Clarkson,	J. W. Davis,
B. R. Force,	Wm. A. Westphal,
C. M. Ulrich,	Sylvester Sharkey,
U. B. Crane,	Fred Walker,
John Rose,	Abraham Rockafellow.

At 3:50 the jury is still out.

Ho for a New Resort!

A meeting of the Pond Beneficial association was held Saturday evening, when a committee of nine was appointed to arrange for an excursion to Rock Beach, Conn., the latter part of July. The committee consists of Richard Gonell, chairman; A. Wyckoff, secretary; R. York, treasurer; R. Skinner, Jas. Anderson, P. Neland, John James, Wm. Gallagher, Wm. Connell.

Street Railway Collision.

M. Weber, the East Third street butcher, was turning from Front street into Madison avenue at 10:30 Monday morning, when car No. 2 of the street railway ran into his wagon. The shafts were badly broken, but the horse and driver were not injured. Mr. Weber claims that the motorman did not sound his signal of approach until he was close upon him.

Mr. Weber Wants $10.

The motorman and conductor on car No. 3 claim to be in no wise responsible for running into M. Weber's wagon at Front street and Madison avenue, Monday, as one of the local papers stated. It was No. 2 car. Mr. Weber has sent in a bill to the company for $10 damages.

They's Funny Coons.

Work for the Police.

The Sunday amusement among the Italians in the Netherwood hut is playing cards for money. Last Sunday fully a dozen of them were seated around an improvised table playing cards, and there were frequent hot disputes.

Emulating Their Daddies.

A new hook and ladder company has been organized by the lads on Arlington avenue. The truck is drawn by two well-trained dogs, and it is equipped with a full complement of ladders, axes and lanterns. Friday night the company had its first practice run.

Hen Roost Robbers at Scotch Plains.

The people of Scotch Plains are greatly troubled with chicken thieves of late. A few nights ago several hen roosts were visited and a number of chickens stolen.

Not Enough to Fill Them All.

The churches of Westfield are considering uniting their Sunday evening services during July and August.

And Such Cream!

One unlicensed ice-cream peddler hawked his goods about town, Sunday, and he had a good sale, too.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. B. G. Vassar, 56 Warren st., New York.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me. S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

A BOARD OF TRADE.

HERE'S THAT IT MAY BE OF USE TO PLAINFIELD!

Ex-Mayor Rockfellow and Judge John Ulrich at the Head, with Prominent Merchants Backing Them Up—Preliminary Organization Effected, and Future Prospects Discussed.

A meeting of about 50 prominent citizens was held last night in the Crescent league parlors for the purpose of forming a Plainfield board of trade. Everyone present was enthusiastic, and hearty sentiments were expressed as to the future of such a board.

A preliminary organization was effected, with ex-mayor George W. Rockfellow as chairman, and Judge John Ulrich as secretary.

A motion was made and passed that the board should be incorporated. Accordingly a committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed, consisting of Judge Ulrich, J. F. MacDonald and F. W. Runyon. This committee will report at the next meeting. Another committee was appointed to act on permanent organization and the nomination of officers. The members of this committee are: T. F. French, J. H. Doane, J. F. Hubbard, T. S. Armstrong, and L. B. Woolston.

After the meeting, some time was spent in discussing the prospects of the board, informally, and many pleasant prognostications were made for the future. The next meeting will take place at the Crescent league parlors.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Bishop Scarborough will visit the Fanwood parish this evening.

Charles S. A. Davis will return Thursday from Bethlehem, Pa.

Mr. VanSize and family, of LaGrande avenue, went to Albany Monday.

W. H. Smith and family, of Bay street, have gone to Allentown, Pa., on a visit.

J. W. Reinhart and family, of Netherwood, have gone to Manchester-by-the-sea.

The Grennells, of Netherwood, started Tuesday for Sunape Lake, New Hampshire.

Mrs. J. Allen, of East Front street, goes to White House Thursday to visit her cousin.

James Heath, who went away from town some time ago, is in Plainfield again to-day.

Andrew McCardell, foreman in the foundry at Pond's, is out again after a siege of illness.

Work is rapidly progressing on Mr. Stanbery's new house on Park avenue, Scotch Plains.

Miss Mabel Sunshine Willet, of Somerville, is visiting Miss Maggie M. Huriburt, of North Plainfield.

Dr. Charles Layton, of Scotch Plains, was out on the street Monday after a serious attack of rheumatism.

Harry Jenkins, of East Sixth street, has gone to Bethlehem, Pa., to superintend the moving of a building.

The family of F. M. Derby go to Northport, L. I., Saturday, when Mr. Derby goes to Chicago on a business trip.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis preached to a large congregation in the Westfield Presbyterian church, Sunday morning.

I. L. Miller, of Broadway, has rented his house and is contemplating a trip to the World's Fair. His family will accompany him.

Miss Mamie Waters, of West Second street, left town this morning to visit friends at Asbury Park for the balance of the summer.

Miss Cathie Yates, of East Seventh street, is at 232 York street, New Haven, Conn., for the heated term. She left home on Friday.

T. E. Hazell, of Westervelt avenue, choirmaster of Trinity church, and family, are about to leave town to spend two months among the summer delights of Connecticut and Maine.

William H. Madison, of Madison & Co., stationers and printers, and H. Sudmar, of Newark, were the guests of M. Leichtenstritt, manager of the Sherman Outfitting company, Sunday.

Principal C. E. Boss of the North Plainfield public school, and Mrs. Boss, will leave to-morrow to spend the summer at Smyrna, Chenango county, N. Y., on the farm where he was born, which is now being run by Mr. Boss's brother-in-law. Mr. Boss has spent several summers in the same place.

KISSAM—PLATT.

Wm. M. Kissam, of Oxford place, left town to-day for Long Island, to marry Miss May K. Platt. After the wedding trip the happy couple will keep house in the pretty little home recently completed by the groom.

TRACY—LAMSON.

Howard Crosby Tracy, of this city, and Miss Minerva Bingham Lamson, of St. Paul, were married Saturday, June 24, in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, St. Paul. The Rev. Y. P. Morgan officiated. The bride is the daughter of Eastburn E. and Martha W. Lamson, and one of the Twin City's reigning belles.

FULTON—BANCROFF.

Miss Lizzie Bancroff was married Saturday night at her residence on Park avenue, Scotch Plains, to Louis Fulton of Dunellen. Many invitations had been sent out and a grand wedding resulted. Mr. and Mrs. Fulton will spend their honeymoon at the seashore, and on their return will take up their residence in North Plainfield.

They're Frightening Horses Now.

The members of the Salvation Army paraded through East Front street Saturday evening, and frightened a team of horses standing tied in front of Totten's store. The bridles on both horses were broken, and a runaway was only averted by some men who were passing at the time.

—The Hickman Mfg. Co. will meet this evening at 8, at the office, 140 West Front street.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,
And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves lasts but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.
Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America.

CAPTAIN HAND'S SIDE OF THE CASE.

He Says the Netherwood Party Were Climbing on Top of His Stage.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Evidently the person who wrote the article for your paper last evening, was not very well acquainted with captain Hand or he would not expect the people of Plainfield to believe all that he said about me.

The facts are that I let my stage to Mr. Ryder, and later when I saw it loaded with about twice as many people as it was intended to hold—with four men on the steps, two or more on top, with more climbing up and two more standing on the walk waiting for a seat—I went over and asked the ones on top to come down, saying that it was not strong enough to hold people on the top. When they paid no attention to me I spoke to the driver and told him that if he did not put them off I would take the stage home. When he said that I could not drive his horses, I got up and drove them. I always thought I had a pretty good reputation for driving and don't remember of ever having upset a stage with ladies in it. I did not hear any of the ladies in the stage scream; on the contrary I think they rather enjoyed the joke of seeing one man run away with about fifteen of their gallant young men, themselves included. I don't think the ladies were at all horrified or disgusted with my "conduct or condition". I wonder what he means by "condition". I was in my usual condition—that is, capable of taking care of myself.

WILLIAM HAND.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

It's a Mighty Strong Team That's Coming to Plainfield Saturday.

The strongest amateur team that ever left New York will be here Saturday, under the name of the New York Athletic club.

This club will give more attention to base-ball in the future, and next season will find the New York Athletic club represented in the Amateur League. A large sum of money has been appropriated to bear out the expenses of the trip about to be begun.

The club has chartered a private car to convey the team from place to place. The team will be under the supervision of catcher Kinsler, who will coach and train the team. The players will be put on regular training regimen, and will have to be satisfied with "club" diet until they leave Chicago for home two weeks later.

The nine that will represent the "wing-footed" on the trip include the following players: Bowers, Yale Law School, pitcher; Hotchkiss, first base; Strebeigh, second base; Murphy, Yale 'Varsity, short stop; Rustin, Yale 'Varsity (if his health improves), third base; Yates, left field; Deppler, center field; Fisher, right field; Burroughs, Bonner and Ford, extras. It can safely be said that Huyler Westervelt and "Doc" Currie, of the New Jersey A. C., will accompany the team. With the latter as star battery the team ought to be almost invincible.

The following appeared in last week's Sporting Life, which will be of interest: "Shortstop Bonner, of the Wilkesbarre team, looks like a rising player."

The Trenton club still continues in the field, and are playing a pretty good game, considering they are working lads and only play about two games per week. They have lost but two games this season, one at home against Tacony and one with Plainfield at Plainfield, a rather good record. They beat the strong Camden club at Cochran Park last week 17 to 8. The club plays here the afternoon of July Fourth.

Trying to Smash Records.

J. W. Hobbs and F. J. Butterworth, of the Atlanta wheelmen, of Newark, and J. Mears, of the Rutherwood Wheelmen, started from Newark at 5:45 Sunday morning for a hundred-mile run, expecting to make the distance in eight hours. They went by way of Rahway and New Brunswick to Princeton, stopping at the latter place 30 minutes for dinner, and returning by way of Somerville and Bound Brook. Mears was 30 minutes late at Somerville, but the other two reached Plainfield in time to give them about an hour to ride to Newark. The 30-minute stop was not included in the eight hours.

Going to Dig Out the Lake.

B. Hand of Scotch Plains has the contract for grading the streets and digging out the lake at Graceland. Several new houses will be erected there soon.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

Lewis Bimble, Bull Frog City's catch-as-catch-can scrapper, is in trouble again. The marshal was called, and Bimble is to have a hearing to-night at 8 before judge Crosley.

A "Yeddish Kin" on Somerset street who deals in second-hand shoes displays the following sign in front of his shop: "New maid and old made's shoes always on hand."

Uncle Peter Wooden's sorrel mare is rather a little too frisky for an old man of over 93 years of age to handle. Won't some of his near neighbors dispose of the animal for him?

Al. Taylor, our only pensionless veteran, who is hale and hearty, intends visiting the World's Fair at Chicago and the Grand Army encampment at Indianapolis early in September.

To-day the "Hit and Kiss" lawn tennis club members, of upper Somerset street, intend to spend at Papiac watching the tide's swift ebb and flow. A jolly, genteel, good-natured set they are.

William D. Mahaffee, formerly of the borough, and who is now conducting a large grocery business on Springfield avenue, Newark, spent yesterday in town visiting old friends and acquaintances.

Marshal Pangborn and Harry Spencer partly clipped "Vic", that well-known Somerset street "dorg", yesterday, and relieved him of some of his superfluous hair. He is now a sight to behold, and very much ashamed of himself.

My agricultural friend and ploughshare poet, Henry Rogers, from up over the hills, is as busy as any citizen in this section. His farm is in fine condition, and his crops are all that can be expected. Success to you, friend Henry, in all your undertakings!

Pete Seader had a little dog,
So thin it could n't bark;
One dismal night, afar from home,
It wandered in the dark.
Poor Petey mourned his little pet,
And into tears he burst;
For when it came to him again
It came as liverwurst.

John A. Goodwin, the fog-horn blower and ex-bass-drum player of the defunct U. S. Grant Campaign club, is now practising with a paper snake preparatory to joining a side-show as a snake charmer. John years ago traveled with Dan Rice, and Cracker Barrel club members can remember when he helped pitch the tent on the Common, as it was then called, opposite the North avenue station.

"Boys", I know you all are a little old, and not so mischievious as you were when you "sneaked" the old brass cannon in the dead hours of the night in the long ago from Perth Amboy, but I do also know that you are all still patriotic. Now, won't you, or some of your sons, accompany me some evening this week and help unearth the old relic and let her roar out our independence on the Fourt! Answers received on the q. t., until Saturday evening next.

A handsome bunch of wild flowers could have been gathered hereabouts last week of big ox-eye daisies, white daisies, evening primroses, blueflag, sheep laurel blossoms, wild roses, buttercups and snap dragons. The beautiful flowers of the sheep laurel are going, and those of the big laurel or rhododendron are replacing them on the hillsides and up over in the Valley. The big yellow and brown daisies are in bloom in the fields, and the iris or blueflag lends color to ditchside and marshy meadows. Golden-rod of the earlier varieties is heading out, and will soon show color, while the beautiful little blue grass-flower is modestly hiding in the pastures amid red and white clover heads.

THE STROLLER.

MORE KIND WORDS.

Even the German Editor is Not Surprised.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Editor Demarest, of the Plainfield Press, has been appointed Consul to Brockville, Ontario. And thus has another able editor been recognized as essential to the successful administration of public affairs. In thus acknowledging the superiority of Union county editors over thousands of other valuable citizens in the United States—for there were thousands of applicants for the office—President Cleveland has but done justice to New Jersey in general, Union county in particular, and Editor Demarest in propia persona.

(Translation Der Somerset Bote.)

Editor J. A. Demarest of the Plainfield Press has been appointed Consul at Brockville, Ont., by President Cleveland. Although the honor was never sought for by Mr. Demarest, he undoubtedly will accept and capably fill the position. As the President could not have chosen a more able man, we cannot say that we are surprised.

(From The Summit Record.)

Every Democrat and a large number of Republicans in Union county will learn with mixed feelings of pleasure and regret of the appointment of James A. Demarest, of Plainfield, to the post of Consul to Brockville. Their pleasure will come from a knowledge of Mr. Demarest's real merit and solid worth, and from the wisdom shown by the President in recognizing the journalistic profession to which few of the honors of public service ever fall, and the regret that is felt, will be on account of the loss, for a time, of a man who has done much to make the Plainfield Press one of the best newspapers in central New Jersey.

(Elizabeth Herald.)

Your hand, Brother Demarest of the Plainfield Press. I congratulate you upon your appointment as consul at Brockville, Canada. You will, I am sure, dignify your office as you have dignified the editorial chair. In your departure from Plainfield the consular service gains an efficient member and the press of New Jersey loses a live and capable journalist.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Editor J. A. Demarest of the Plainfield Daily Press is being congratulated on his appointment as consul at Brockville, Canada. It is a well deserved recognition of one who has been constant and conscientious in his support of Democracy and besides that it is an honor to the United States to be represented by one so capable and genial as friend Demarest. Brockville is the county seat of Leeds county in the Province of Ontario, and includes a portion of the Thousand Islands. It is a most delightful place for a weary scribe to recuperate.

"He Did n't Nor He Never Did."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS—That bicycle rider who says he did not run into that horse or "carriage, the other day", and never ran into one, and was never run into, and was not "thrown down in the dirt" but dismounted quietly, and as he thought properly, would like to know how much damage is due to John Thickstun.

THERE NOW.

Hunting the Boys' Enticer.

Jeremiah Gerry, of 1020 East Front street, was around town Sunday looking for his 13-year-old son. He alleges that Charles Krewson enticed his son and three other boys away from home last week Tuesday by offering them $5 a week to stand up pins in the bowling alleys at the Coleman House, Asbury Park. Mr. Gerry went to the above place yesterday with the determation of having Mr. Krewson arrested.

Smacks Blown About on South Avenue.

A novel and interesting incident happened on South avenue, Sunday afternoon. A Plainfield bicyclist was leading his bicycle while he walked alongside of his best girl. The latter was dressed in pink. At every convenient point the bicyclist flopped his arms around the girl's neck and gathered in some of the "balmy dew" from her lips.

Sportsmen at Fanwood.

Since the Middlesex Gun club has become defunct, a new club has been organized and their grounds are near Benner's road house on South avenue, Mr. Benner is now about to erect a one-story frame building on the grounds 30 feet long so as to shelter the shooters from the elements.

Masons and Bricklayers at Ball.

The Somerville masons have accepted a challenge from the brick-layers of this city to play a match game of ball at Somerville the morning of July 4. The game will be interesting, no doubt, and many of the masons of the city will witness it.

Plainfield Knights to Go.

The annual field day of the New Jersey Brigade, Uniformed Rank, K. of P., will be held at Freehold, Labor Day. There will be a meeting of the regimental board and delegates will go from Perseverance, Unity and Goodwill lodges.

The Father of Many Ills.

Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rule of health. Eugene McKay, of Brantford, Ont., writes:

"I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time but only for a time, then my trouble came worse than ever. I was induced by a friend, whom BRANDRETH'S PILLS had benefitted, to try them. Took two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness BRANDRETH'S PILLS are far superior to any other."

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West front street. Price $1.00.

CHOIR BOYS IN CAMP.

HOLY CROSS SONGSTERS OFF FOR MERWIN'S POINT.

Mr. Miner's 50 Voices to Make Merry Music Along the Sound, in a Vacation of Healthful Frolic—A "Press" Reporter on the Spot.

At 12 noon, Thursday, the Holy Cross church choir will leave town for their annual summer camping. The tents will be pitched at Merwin's Point, Connecticut, and the route is as follows: From New York at 3 p. m., to Bridgeport by boat, thence by rail to Woodmont, from where they will be conveyed in wagons to the Point, which is about two miles from Woodmont.

Everything will be in readiness on the arrival of the boys, and they will immediately go into camp for eight days.

There will be about 22 from this city, and on reaching Bridgeport they will be joined by the choir of St. Michael's church, Naugatuck, who are to camp with the Plainfield boys.

In previous years, the cooking has been done by amateurs, but this year choirmaster Miner thought it best to have a professional cook, which would assure them of well-cooked food.

While in camp there will be an abundance of things to occupy the boys' minds, in the way of sport; and 'tis whispered that perhaps acquaintance with feminine favorites of former years will be renewed.

July 4 will be duly celebrated, and "Rome will probably howl" in a gentle way. Of course, there will be visitors to the camp, and they will be treated royally and enjoy the generous hospitality of choirmaster Miner and his musical band.

Mr. Miner left town Sunday night for Naugatuck, where he will conduct an "old folks' concert" this evening, assisted by Miss Maude Bowers, Will Holmes, George Taggart, and others; and on Thursday he will meet the boys at Bridgeport and take them to their destination.

Several of the boys are rehearsing daily so as to be able to sing acceptably before their distinguished visitors at the camp.

THE PRESS will as ever have a special correspondent at the camp, who will portry faithfully the doings of each day; and PRESS readers may be assured of getting news of much interest to them. The correspondent will have a tent all to himself, thanks to Mr. Miner's kind and thoughtful courtesy.

THE WHITE CITY.

L. J. Briggs Gives Fanwooders His Views of the World's Fair.

L. J. Briggs, of Fanwood, on his return from a business trip South and West, stopped over at Chicago for four days to take in the whist congress, and incidentally availed himself of the opportunity to visit the "White City".

He states that the extra charges for so called "side shows" are merely nominal, and that the shows are well worth the price.

"You never saw anything like the Javanese kite fliers"—said Mr. Briggs.—"The young fellows and the old fellows all fly kites, and then again the trained animals are out of sight; I never in all my travels saw anything to equal the perfection to which they have been brought. Why, they had a lion riding horseback; and no fool of a lion, either, I can tell you. He would jump on and off the horse the same as a circus rider. Besides that they had tigers and bears, both black and white, leopards, and in fact almost every animal known to man.

"The Government exhibit was exceedingly fine, particularly the Army and Navy exhibits.

"To see all the 'side shows' would not cost a person over a two-dollar bill. Of course there are numerous fake shows which one will find following any legitimate show, but no one need take them in any more than if they attend a circus performance and there were invited into another tent to see the fat women.

"The German exhibit was particularly admired, and in fact the whole thing is first-class and well worth the trip. The music is rendered by the best bands in the World, and is immense. The transportation facilities are complete, and I tell you sir, even New York can get points from those fellows."

Don't Like the Selection.

The Westfield Standard says: "J. A. Baker has been appointed postmaster of Scotch Plains, and received his commission one day last week. It is rumored about that N. Dunn, a Republican ex-postmaster, has been appointed as Mr. Baker's assistant, and much dissatisfaction is felt among the people."

Plainfield Gives Light to the Wilderness.

Poles for electric lights have already been put up from Fanwood to Scotch Plains and the wires will be strung in a short time. The light will be furnished from a dynamo in Plainfield. The people in Fanwood and Scotch Plains will be greatly benefited by this improvement.

All Goes Well Under Manager Skiff.

Mr. VanTine, superintendent of stables for the United States Express company, was in Plainfield, Monday, sizing up the outfit here. He found everything in first-class order, and will so report to the company.

They Do n't Go Out After Dark.

Westfield has been without the electric lights the past week on account of the plant burning down at Elizabeth.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have eversold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price, 10c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Avenue, opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

RENTAL COMMISSIONS.

A Rule Established for Plainfield Real Estate Agents.

Justice Nash decided this afternoon that the $15 commission that had been paid J. T. Vail for renting a house on East Fifth street, was due E. C. Mulford as the latter had first shown the house to the tenant a month before. Mr. Vail thereupon returned the money to Mr. Demarest, the lessor, after deducting a small proportion of it for his work in drawing the lease, etc., and the commission will be paid over to Mr. Mulford.

Cleveley and Hance, Noble Grands.

At a regular meeting of Plainfield lodge, 44, I. O. O. F., held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Noble Grand—E. H. Cleveley.
Vice Grand—S. H. Schleif.
Recording Secretary—Rudolph Kersting.
Permanent Secretary—E. H. Bird.
Treasurer—Thomas Young.

Queen City Lodge, 226, I. O. O. F., elected the following officers last night:

N. G.—H. O. Hance.
V. G.—Charles Degraw.
Secretary—L. R. Blackford.

Where's Steve Davis?

There is some anxiety about town concerning the mysterious disappearance of Stephen Davis, of the City Hotel. He left one day last week for Asbury Park, intending to stay over night. He has not been seen since. Mr. Davis is a veteran of the late war who recently received quite a sum of money as arrearage of an increase of pension. It is feared he might have had the money with him and that the fact became known to some evil disposed persons.

First of the Season.

The Asbury Park Daily Journal, that king of shore newspapers, has resumed its bright and shining appearance for the summer, and announces the following hotel registrations from Plainfield:

Plaza—J. Allen Sangston.
Minot—Helen D. Kinsman.
Trenton—Mrs. C. A. Parse, Mrs. D. C. Adams, Miss Helen F. Adams, D. C. Adams, E. B. Honeyman.

Ate 1,500 Clams.

About forty sports from this city and North Plainfield paid two dollars each for the privilege of attending Henry Haurand's clam-bake on the mountain, back of "Penny Orchard", on Sunday. Some 1,500 clams were devoured by the hungry crowd, who otherwise enjoyed themselves in playing base-ball, foot-ball, and other out-door sports.

To Board Out His Interest.

The firm of Leland Bros., plumbers, of Central avenue, are said to have dissolved partnership. One of the members, it is alleged, accepted $25 in money and agreed to board out the balance of his interest.

Shipped the Kicking Horse.

Mr. Ryder, of the Metropolitan stables on North avenue, shipped to New York, Monday night, the horse that kicked ex-postmaster W. L. Force. Mr. Ryder will not have a kicking horse if he knows it.

Allayed the Parents' Anxiety.

Officer Corsa found a five-year-old daughter of John T. Odam playing on the tracks near the North avenue station, Saturday afternoon. The policeman delivered the little one to her parents.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by J. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

GUILT AND JUSTICE.

A. H. Hummel Tells How America's Great Criminal Lawyers Work.

Memories of Men and Things—The Legal Advocate Can Draw Tears and Laughter with Equal Ease—Appearance in the Courtroom.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

Common sense should be the key stone of the legal edifice, and application to work the corner stone of success in law.

The gift of oratory, now so rare, was once an essential compound of a practicing attorney. Time has divided the profession into specialties and a man may now stand at the very head of one of the several branches who has never tried a case in court. A fortune may be accumulated by the corporation or real estate lawyer, for instance, who could never have earned his salt by pleading in the criminal courts.

To be a successful criminal lawyer one must be, first, an effective speaker, and, second, possessed of a keen insight into human nature. The latter is as essential to him as the knowledge of the criminal law, and the latest decisions. Where the life or liberty of the person whom he is called on to plead for hangs by a thread so slender that the slightest jar will pull it asunder, the lawyer must read the thoughts of the members of the jury. The slightest blunder may mean death.

The entire machinery of the state has been working to crush out the poor wretch at the bar. The prosecuting attorneys, backed by the police department, have reputations to earn or to sustain by securing convictions. The lawyer for the defense stands alone. He need look to no one for help. He requires a keen wit and a ready mind to seize any opportunity that offers to discover any flaws and loopholes. His responsibility is all pervading.

The jury, of course, is instructed to give the prisoner the benefit of any reasonable doubt and that he must be deemed innocent until he has been proven guilty. We all know, however, that the mere fact of the arraignment of a man for trial creates in every mind the presumption of his guilt which is only shaken by positive proof of his innocence.

One wonderful advantage that the prosecution has is that of making the final argument. Any mistake made by the counsel for the prisoner can be pulled to pieces and no opportunity to reply is afforded him. The jury leave the courtroom with the words of the prosecuting attorney ringing in their ears. Unless the plea for the prisoner was most effective and stirred the minds of those who heard it it had already been forgotten.

It seems very easy to try a criminal case, especially by those who have never tried to do it. It is always easy to criticise the methods of the attorney. As in a game of cards the onlooker, whose knowledge of the game is equal to that of the player, is generally able to see the mistakes made at the time of the play. The player's mind, being more intently absorbed, may overlook points perfectly apparent from the outside. So it is with the lawyer.

The most effective addresses are those that sound the simplest. The argument that convinces is the one that the average hearer thinks he could have made himself or that he would like to have made himself. Those who have tried addressing a jury for the first time know that is not quite as easy as it looks. A story that has always amused me is told of a young lawyer whose first case in court was one assigned him to appear for a man charged with theft. He remained perfectly calm and collected until the time came for him to deliver his summing up address to the jury. He had arranged a nice little speech in his mind, but when he stood on his feet the brilliant opening sentence had passed from his mind.

"May it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury—ah! ah—may it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury," he began; then turning to a court attendant, he said: "Officer, a glass of water, please."

After taking a sip of water he resumed: "May it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury. This unfortunate prisoner—"

This is not the way he had intended to begin, so he stopped, took another sip of water and then resumed: "May it please your honor and gentlemen of the jury. My unfortunate client—"

This was not at all what he had wished to say, so he again hesitated and sipped some more water while a titter ran around the courtroom. The judge looked down kindly from the bench and remarked: "Go ahead, counselor, thus far the court is with you."

The number of great criminal lawyers that New York has had in the last quarter of a century has been very small. Of these, the more prominent were James T. Brady, John Graham, ex-Judge William Fullerton, William F. Howe and De Lancy Nicoll. There have been many others of some reputation, but no others whose names have been universally known. Of the prosecuting attorneys who have won fame in my time, I know of none more eloquent than Col. John R. Fellows or more impressive than Daniel G. Rollins, who has since then occupied the bench in the surrogate's court.

Mr. Brady was in his day the prince of criminal lawyers. Like his brother, the late judge of the supreme court, he was the soul of affability. His speech was characterized by force and impressiveness, and he had a rare fund of humor, and lightened up his most serious addresses by charming anecdotes.

William Fullerton, who once occupied the supreme court bench, is now a very old gentleman and he seldom tries a case. He, however, has retained the force and keenness that marked him among the lawyers of New York when he first began to make his reputation. His daring originality was demonstrated on the trial of the famous Campbell-Arbuckle suit for breach of promise of marriage in which Judge Fullerton's client, Miss Clara Campbell, secured a verdict for forty-five thousand dollars. To the great surprise of everybody present at the trial, the first witness called by Judge Fullerton was Mr. Arbuckle. This scheme proved most effective, as Judge Fullerton was able to prove his case to the satisfaction of the jury and to prejudice their minds against his adversary at the outset. Judge Fullerton is a heavily built man with strong features and light blue eyes. He has a habit of poking his spectacles over the top of his forehead while he is cross-examining a witness, and then pulling them down to the very tip of his nose and glaring savagely over them. He is an orator of the old school, forceful and flowery.

John R. Fellows is a perfect type of the eloquent southerner. He shines to great advantage in a closely-contested case. He is able to pick up the thread of a case at any period, to enter upon a trial with very little preparation, and to accomplish wonders. His memory is simply phenomenal. I have seen him many times try cases without taking a note, and apparently without paying much attention to the details of the trial. When the examinations have been conducted by one of his assistants, at the close of the case he has risen to his feet and spoken from one to six hours at a time without making a single error in the chronological order of his story, missing no point that he could use to the slightest advantage, and keeping everybody within hearing spellbound by his eloquence.

William F. Howe is one of the most dramatic speakers who has ever appeared in the New York courts. Had he gone upon the stage he would have made as great an actor as he now is a criminal lawyer. He has a vast fund of sentiment to draw on and is never lacking in pathos. He has the power to work himself up to the wildest pitch of enthusiasm, where apparently there was very little occasion for such acting. He has a powerful and melodious voice which he uses to excellent advantage, and he has that sort of magnetism that carries people with him often against their wishes. A feature of Mr. Howe's pleas in the criminal court is his admirable stock of quotations from the classics. He always has some verse or line that is explanatory of what he has to say and that is admirably fitted for the case. He usually begins in a theatrical manner bringing out his strongest point and weaving his tissue of arguments around the one excuse that he has been able to find for his client. Not only is he able to work himself up to the point of tears, but he is able to bring tears from the eyes of jurors who had previously seen nothing in the case but brutality and crime. When one hears him begin, one is inclined to believe that his voice will break down by the time that he is half through. He, however, knows too much about his own power to overtax it, and after a time he alternates between the lowest and the highest tone as the occasion and effect require.

Daniel G. Rollins began his career in the criminal court as an assistant under Benjamin K. Phelps, whom he succeeded as district attorney. He made a considerable reputation by his prosecution and conviction of the incendiaries who had hitherto proceeded almost without restraint in New York, and he saved hundreds of thousands of dollars for the insurance companies by his vigilance. His method was to begin by examining the man suspected of arson; to obtain from him, under oath, a list of the property that he claimed had been burned, and then to secure his conviction by proving the falsity of these claims.

De Lancy Nicoll, the youngest man who has ever been elected to the important office of district attorney of New York, has demonstrated his ability in many important criminal cases. He is a man of great energy and good sense and has cleared the dockets of all the accumulated work of former administrations. It is only necessary to mention his services in the "boodle" cases, in the Buddensieck case and in the recent poisoning cases to establish his right to a place among the great prosecuting attorneys that this city has had.

The matter of a criminal lawyer's appearance which might seem trivial to some people is of the greatest importance in the courtroom. A man need not be good looking. He need have no physical attraction, but he must carry the appearance of earnestness, ability and honesty. A familiar anecdote, illustrating this point, relates to a burglar who had entered a plea of not guilty. He had no money to employ counsel and the court assigned a lawyer who had been standing around the room to defend the case. The prisoner looked at the lawyer for a few minutes without saying a word, sized him up and then waved him aside and turning toward the judge said: "Your honor, I guess I'll plead guilty."

A. H. HUMMEL.

Very Approachable.

Tapperton—I am going to ask Mr. Bullion for his daughter's hand tonight, and I am so nervous I can't think.

Billington (who knows Mr. Bullion)—No use being nervous. Mr. Bullion is very approachable.

"Eh? Won't he kick me out?"

"Not a bit of it."

"Won't he get mad?"

"No, indeed."

"I am overjoyed. What do you think he will do?"

"He'll laugh."—N. Y. Weekly.

At His Old Tricks.

Brown—What became of Sickle, the famous robber, who was recently pardoned?

Smyles—They say he has reformed, but I don't believe it.

Browne—Why not?

Smyles—Because he is to run a hotel in the Catskills this summer.—N. Y. Herald.

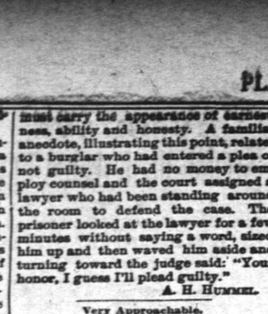
Nor a Football Player.

Herr Pianewski—Here is a thing I can't understand. This narrative says that Sampson's great strength was in his hair.

Frau Pianewski—Well?

Herr Pianewski—And yet he was never a pianist in his life.—Chicago Record.

SAMMIE FORGOT.



Mother—Now, Sammie, come say your prayers.

Sammie—Now I lay me down—down down—down—came a blackbird and picked off his nose.—Judge.

A Good Plan.

Why Ned and Nell get on so well
Since marriage vows they took—
He never mentions politics,
She never tries to cook.

—Judge.

For His Spiritual Good.

Mrs. Figg—Laura, the way you are treating that infatuated young Mr. Timmins is positively shameful. Why don't you give him a definite answer one way or the other? I should hate to think that a daughter of mine should ever be called a coquette.

Laura—Really, mamma, it is for his own good. As long as he is in such a state of uncertainty as to where he is at I can get him to go to church with me every Sunday.—Indianapolis Journal.

Her Way of Looking at It.

A poor old woman who had just seen the ocean for the first time was asked by her son:

"What do you think of the sea?"

"Think?" replied the old dame after a long pause. "I can't think, Jim. I can only thank Providence for having shown me something in my life of which there seems to be enough and to spare."—Buffalo Snips.

A Home Field.

The Pastor—Miss Ethel, you should be engaged in some missionary work.

Miss Ethel—Oh, I am, and have been for some time past!

The Pastor—I'm so gratified to hear you say so! In what field are you engaged?

Miss Ethel (proudly)—I'm teaching my parrot not to swear.—Puck.

A Considerate Debtor.

Collector—When are you going to pay this bill? I can't be coming here every day in the week.

Debtor—Well, what day could you come on, conveniently?

"I could call on Saturday."

"All right; from now on I shall expect you every Saturday."—Texas Siftings.

MUST WAIT ON CONGRESS

The Cabinet Discussion on the Silver Question.

MAY HASTEN THE EXTRA SESSION

It is Understood That the President is, However, Inclined to Wait—Congressmen Opposed to Any Delay—A Noted Financier's Opinions—India Influenced Against Silver by This Country.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Two hours were consumed by the Cabinet yesterday in discussing the new phase of the silver question and other matters demanding attention. The two conferences Monday afternoon and evening between the President and Secretary Carlisle simplified matters to some extent. Although the discussion, it is said, took a wide range, it was necessarily brought back to one important and unmanageable point—that the Executive had no power in the premises, Congress alone being able to deal with the measures for relief.

It was plain to the Cabinet that the monthly purchase of silver must be continued, or else Congress must be convened in special session immediately. As the President had decided to call Congress together in the early part of September, to deal with the financial situation, and manifested no intention of changing his purpose the project of an earlier session of Congress, it is understood, was dropped.

So far as the continuance of the purchase of silver bullion under the Sherman law was concerned, it was pointed out that little more than two months remained before Congress would convene in extra session and that during the intervening time the silver to be purchased would be only nine million ounces, a comparatively small amount in view of the previous purchases. That the best way to deal with the question was to await the course of events for two months longer was generally agreed to and it was with this view dominant that the meeting adjourned.

From the comparatively few Congressmen in the city the following views have been obtained: Representative Anderson of West Virginia said the action of the Indian government greatly embarrassed the situation here. He was a free silver man, but he believed the conditions at this time would have to be considered in any legislation on the subject; that we could not legislate on the conditions of ten or twelve years ago, and that Congress would have to act in accordance with things as they find them, and not upon theories. He thought a great many of the silver men were disposed to agree to some compromise, but the matter of detail could not yet be determined on.

Representative Meredith of Virginia said matters were complicated for the silver men. He thought the Sherman law would be repealed, but he did not care to guess as to the character of the substitute for it.

"This action on the part of the Government of India," said Mr. Boatner of Louisiana, "throws a good many more difficulties in the way of free coinage. I have no doubt that had not this been brought about Mr. Cleveland would, during the next session of Congress, have had a free coinage bill presented to him for his sanction or his veto. I cannot tell and no one can as yet, I think, how much the demonitization of silver in India will affect this situation. I think that Congress should have been called together in April, and now we should get together as soon as possible."

Representative Oates of Alabama says he is hopeful of a speedy settlement of the financial question when Congress meets. He anticipates, of course, that there will be considerable trouble and that members will be inclined to hold firmly to the theories they have been presenting all along, but that the common sense of the situation is to do something to meet the conditions.

BANKER CLEWS' VIEWS

The New York Financier Thinks the Crisis Is Past.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The well-known banker, Henry Clews, who is a celebrated authority in all questions of a financial nature, in giving his views on the silver question spoke as follows:

"The object lesson which has brought about the present deplorable depression extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, it is hoped is now passing into the ocean, and has arrived at the jumping off place, having accomplished its original purpose of devastation and ruin over the entire nation, leaving the dead and crippled strewn in every direction.

"There is now little to be accomplished, for what is left after the struggle refuses to be destroyed. The worst effect, however, growing out of this avalanche of destruction in this country, came to us Monday by cable from India in the announcement that the government of that country had stopped free coinage, thus showing that the object lesson intended for this country alone had reached elsewhere.

"The lesson had really for its object the raising of the cry of stinking fish against our silver product to such an extent as to lead to the belief that our next Congress would stamp out the purchase of silver under the authority of the Sherman law.

"The Indian Government, therefore, foreseeing such action, has naturally taken the initiative, so as to lead in knocking out silver rather than follow after this country had done so. It can be said, therefore, that India has been to that extent influenced by the administrative object lesson to our own detriment, as India was our best customer for our silver producer."

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

Veterans Celebrating Their Twenty-fourth Reunion at Boston.

BOSTON, June 28.—The twenty-fourth annual re-union of the Army of the Potomac commenced here yesterday. The day was devoted to a general reception at Faneuil Hall and to meetings of the corps and different societies. Several hundred of the delegates also took an excursion down the bay.

At the mass meeting last night Gen. Horace Porter presided, and Richard Watson Gilder read the annual poem.

The veterans are invited to meet next year at Fredericksburg, Va., so that the blue and gray may camp together. If the invitation is accepted several hundred tents will be erected, and veterans who wore the blue and gray will repose side by side under the same blankets just as they did immediately after Appomattox.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles was elected president of the Society of the Army of the Potomac.

Taking Hay to France.

NEW YORK, June 28. — The German ship Freiburg, now lying at Pier 47, East river, has been chartered to take a full cargo of hay to Havre. A couple of weeks ago a Baltimore steamer carried 100 tons of hay across the ocean, but the charter of the Freiburg is the only one yet given to a sailing vessel for the transport of hay. The cargo will consist of 1,908 tons, at 10 1-2 cents a ton.

CODY IS ENTHUSIASTIC.

"Buffalo Bill" on the Cowboy Race from Chadron.

He Says It Shows the World What American Horses are Worth—European Nations Will Want Them for Cavalry.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) in speaking of the cowboy race to Chicago from Chadron, Neb., which was won yesterday by John Berry, declared that there was a great deal more to the race than first appeared.

"It will show the world what the native American horse is worth. European nations are watching the result of this race with interest. It is a test of the hardiness of the bronco, and after the wonderful result of 150 miles in 24 hours, 1,040 miles in 13 days and 16 hours, there will be a rush for the American animal.

"European nations will want American bred horses for their cavalry. That the horses are in splendid condition, I am not surprised. The cowboys know that the horse is their best friend and that its best endeavors can be brought out by kindness and care."

OFFICIALS MUST ANSWER

Dr. Sarah Chase Should Not Have Been Taken to Prison So Soon.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Contempt of court proceedings have been brought against Sheriff Gorman, Warden Fallon of the Tombs and District Attorney Nicoll in connection with the removal last Saturday to Auburn Prison of Dr. Sarah B. Chase, convicted of having caused the death of Maggie Manzoni by malpractice. Dr. Chase was sentenced on June 14, but a stay was secured. Despite this, Dr. Chase was last Saturday removed to Auburn.

The warden of the Auburn prison has been notified to send Mrs. Chase back.

The motion of an order against the three county officials in the contempt case came up this morning, but was put over until to-morrow.

Cholera Record in Europe.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Recent reports received by the Marine Hospital Service from the cholera infected ports of Russia indicate that the disease is perceptibly diminishing in the ratio of new cases reported. During the week ending June 23 there were no new cases reported from Hamburg and the health of the city was excellent. It appears that during the week ending April 27 there were 241 cases and 68 deaths from cholera in Podolia, Russia.

Edward F. Church in Canada.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Edward F. Church of No. 20 Thomas street, this city, agent for the Saxony Woolen Mill of Trenton, N. J., and president of the board of trustees of the village of South Orange, who disappeared from home last week under pressure of financial troubles, has been heard from in Canada. In a letter to his wife he tells where he is, but, so far as is known, he gives no explanation for his strange conduct.

Price of Coal Goes Up.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The price of coal has taken a jump. Western coal prices went up 25 cents per ton. Eastern prices advanced also. The future price of stove and chestnut coal will be 20 cents per ton more than at present, and egg coal has gone up 15 cents. These advances will take effect on July 1.

A DESPERATE BATTLE

California Convicts and Guards Have a Fight.

THREE OF THE PRISONERS KILLED

They Had Managed to Secure Arms, and Seizing the Officer of the Guards the Convicts Tried to Escape—A Terrific Fight in Which the Guards Conquered.

FOLSOM CITY, Cal., June 28.—Twelve prisoners in the penitentiary here, headed by George Sontag, brother of the notorious bandit, revolted last evening.

They seized Frank Briare, lieutenant of the guard, put a pistol to his head and started together to run up hill. Before reaching the top of the hill it was developed that they had two Winchesters and a revolver, which had been concealed among rocks.

Up to this time the guards had been unable to shoot, as Briare was in the grasp of the would-be escapers, and as they were closely banded together a shot might mean death to him. Just before reaching the summit of the hill Briares jerked away and the guards opened fire from all directions.

The convicts took to the rocks, concealed themselves as best they could and returned the fire as rapidly as possible.

The guard was soon reinforced and a terrific fight took place which lasted fully half an hour, during all of which time shots were fired indiscriminately from Gatling guns, Winchester rifles and revolvers as rapidly as triggers could be pulled.

At the end of about 40 minutes one of the convicts held his hat on his rifle as a token of surrender and Warden Aul, Capt. Murphy and a few guards advanced to the convicts' stronghold, where they found Williams, Wilson and Dalton stretched dead on the ground, and George Sontag badly wounded, by three or four bullets.

He had one ball shot through the body and two through the thighs.

None of the prisoners escaped, nor were any of the guards injured in the scrimmage.

DRIVING CLUBS UNITE

New York and Charter Oak Races to be Held at Fleetwood Park.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Executive Committee of the Driving Club of New York, and the Executive Committe of the Charter Oak Park Driving Association of Hartford, Conn., met yesterday at the Murray Hill Hotel. They decided to consolidate Charter Oak races with the New York races, and all the races dated for the Charter Oak meeting will be held this year at Fleetwood Park.

The two committees first met at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Murray Hill Hotel and decided upon the consolidation. The committees continued in session all the afternoon.

CROP REPORT

The Weekly Bulletin of the Weather Bureau.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The weekly crop report of the weather bureau shows the following result:

New England—Except in eastern Maine where the drought still continues, hay crop will be an average.

New York—Grains fair; grass slightly injured by drought, hop lice becoming numerous.

New Jersey—General rain greatly improved the prospects of all crops; wheat and rye ready to harvest.

Pennsylvania—Rains greatly benefited crops; wheat ripening rapidly; corn and potatoes improving; hay and oats light.

Canada Not Discriminating.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 28. — Complaint having been made that the Canadian Government is continuing its discriminations against United States vessels in the use of the Dominion canals, the Minister of Railways says the statement is absolutely false, and challenges the production of any evidence of a case where the same rule regarding tolls has not been applied to both American and Canadian vessels alike. No rebates have been given in favor of transhipping at Kingston, thus discriminating against Ogdensburg, as alleged.

No Money Panic in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 28.—The feeling in financial circles here to-day is one of confidence. There is nothing of a panicky nature, and the action of the Clearing House concerning the Queen City Bank failure effectually checked any dangerous feeling of insecurity among depositors. The fact that there is over $6,000,000 in cash in Buffalo which any bank can have for the asking seems to satisfy all.

Wreck on the Union Pacific.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—The Union Pacific fast mail train was wrecked about six miles from this city yesterday. One passenger, C. C. Chase, was killed and two others injured. The train while going at a high rate of speed collided with a cow standing on a curve.

The Caravels at Toronto.

TORONTO, June 28.—The Spanish caravels Santa Maria, Pinta and Nina have arrived here. They were towed to an anchorage off Centre Island Park. The officers of the caravels were taken on a trip about the city. The fleet left for the Welland canal early to-day.

Gen. Sickles' Mother Dead.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 28.—Mrs. Mary S. Sickles, mother of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, died yesterday at her residence in this village. She was 93 years old. Mrs. Sickles had lived here for a number of years. The cause of death was Bright's disease.

THINK THERE WAS FRAUD

Jurors in the Brooklyn Columbian Cases Make a Statement.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 28.—The jury that acquitted Alderman McKee of the charge of having aided in swindling the city out of $11,400, the price charged for putting up the grand stand used at the Columbus celebration, have sent a letter to District Attorney Ridgway saying that, although from the evidence and law as laid down by the court in the case, they found McKee not guilty of "knowingly aiding and abetting," they do believe that a great fraud was practised upon the city, and do not wish that the acquittal of McKee should in any way prejudice the prosecution and punishment, if possible, of the offending parties.

Mr. Ridgway says that the officers who were indicted in connection with the alleged Columbus celebration frauds would be tried.

Principal Atwater Exonerated.

BERGEN POINT, N. J., June 28.—Principal George A. Atwater, of Bayonne School No. 3, has been exonerated by the Board of Education of Bayonne. There were five charges against the principal, and the vote on the last charge was taken at 2 o'clock in the morning. The five charges were: Intoxication, undue familiarity with the girl pupils, expectorating on the class-room floor, promotion of pupils according to whim, and compelling pupils to take part in the usual Friday singing and recitation exercises.

THE PEARY EXPEDITION

Not Known Just When It Will Start From New York.

Twelve Men to Make Up the Exploring Party—One of the Objects of the Expedition is to Find Verhoeff.

NEW YORK, June 28.—It has been decided that the entire Peary exploring party will join the Falcon here. The whaler, which will carry the party, is expected here to-morrow. The date of departure for the North has not been definitely fixed.

Dr. Edward E. Vincent, of Springfield, Ill., who is to accompany Lieut. Peary's expedition as chief surgeon, is a guest at the Hotel Bartholdi, awaiting the arrival in this city of Lieut. Peary and other members of the exploring party.

Dr. Vincent received his medical education at one of the medical schools of Chicago, afterwards spending some time in the hospitals of Berlin and Paris, where he continued his studies. Soon after his return to America and his native city, Springfield, he was appointed surgeon-general of the Illinois National Guard, which position he held until he resigned to accept the appointment of chief surgeon of Peary's Arctic exploring party.

Dr. Vincent said: "There is really very little I can tell you regarding the preparations for the trip and Lieut. Peary's intentions, because I, like the other members of the party, are under orders from Lieut. Peary not to talk regarding the matter.

"I don't think, however, that I will be violating Lieut. Peary's instructions in telling you that I am not myself sure just when we will sail from New York.

"There will be 12 men in the party, but I do not know who they are. I understand that no newspaper correspondents will be taken with us. We expect to be gone about two years and a half, and naturally hope for a successful trip."

Upon further conversation Dr. Vincent gave some information that will prove interesting to people who were interested in Lieut. Peary's former expedition. It was that Lieut. Peary thinks that John Verhoeff, the young Philadelphia scientist who accompanied the former Peary expedition, but did not return with them—having been lost while away from camp and given up for dead by his companions—is still alive. Lieut. Peary will make a search for him upon the present trip.

Chicago Being Swindled.

CHICAGO, June 28.—An investigation of water rates in the packing house district is to be made, and some sensational developments are expected. According to records the big packers in the town of Lake have for several years been taking anywhere from $100,000 to $150,000 worth of water more than they paid for. It was stated that there are any number of big establishments in the stock yards district that for years have been taking water through pipes to which no meters are affixed.

Pinkney Says Barber is Innocent.

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., June 28.—The negroes Dan Barber and William Pinkney, who were convicted of murdering Mr. Bowie a few weeks ago, will be hanged Friday. Yesterday, in the presence of Father Cunnane and Sheriff Middleton, Pinkney made his dying declaration. "I killed Mr. Bowie alone," said he. "Dan Barber was not present at the killing, though he influenced me by his talk."

WORLD-WIDE!

FAME OF A BIG VERMONT INDUSTRY.

Products in Homes Wherever Bright Sun Shines—Two Hundred Happy, Busy Employes—Living Poems Better Than All The Ballads—Burlington Buildings a Model of Convenience.

There is not a village in the United States where the Wells & Richardson Company is not known.

And the demand for their lactated food has been so widespread that it has led them to establish branches in foreign countries. A large and prosperous business is done by their branch house at Montreal.

From their London branch lactated food is sent to all parts of the world, a large trade being done in Southern Africa and in India, and an Australian branch is located at Sidney, N. S. W.

From their central offices in Burlington, Vt., they send their pure food almost everywhere that the sun shines, to gladden the hearts of those who are blessed with children. It was Longfellow who said:

Ye are better than all the ballads
That ever were sung or said,
For ye are living poems,
And all the rest are dead.

And a visit to the big establishment in Burlington where, as the hot weather approaches and infant troubles multiply, every effort is made to supply the increased demand for lactated food, gives one the impression that the employers and employed are in full sympathy with the parents who are their customers. The working force of the company numbers 200 men and girls, saying nothing of nearly 100 others in outside employments whose services are constantly required. And there is a singular air of contentedness about them. The friendliest relations exist between the company and the employes. They have their Saturday half-holidays; the buildings are models of arrangement, neat, light and airy, and as convenient as can be made, and no one seems to feel that he is doing any drudgery. It is a place where willing hands find plenty to do.

It was no longer ago than 1885 that the company first became interested in the manufacture of sugar of milk, which is the basis of the infant's natural food. The company showed its enterprise in locating its co-operating establishment for the making of this sugar in Illinois, where a sufficient supply of pure milk could best be found. Preceding the year 1885 sugar of milk had been made exclusively in Europe, and although many attempts had been made in this country to manufacture it from the whey of our cheese of our factories, every attempt had met with disastrous failure, and much money had been lost. Undeterred by other failures, however, it was determined, with the assistance of Prof. Sabin of the University of Vermont, to enter upon the trial of a new process. This proved very successful, and for several years large quantities of this article have been manufactured.

Under the advice of some of the best medical authorities in the country, the firm embarked in the manufacture of a food for infants and invalids, of which this pure American milk sugar should be the basis; and again a professor in Vermont's famous university became interested, and has from first to last had direct supervision of the food.

This is called lactated food and has become invaluable for the nutrition of infants and invalids.

HE FIFTY, SHE FIFTEEN.

A School Teacher Elopes With One of His Pupils.

Tompkins County, New York, Excited Over the Runaway—Citizens Threaten Vengeance Upon the Teacher.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 28.—Joshua Miller of Mecklenburg, a former supervisor and at present a justice of the peace, and a teacher in the public school at Perry City, Tompkins county, has eloped with fifteen-year-old Estelle Updike, one of his pupils. Miller is 50 years of age and has a sick wife and three children.

Last week he planned an excursion on Cayuga Lake for his pupils. He took Miss Updike and was to have joined the picnickers at Trumansburg. Since then nothing has been heard of the elopers. Estelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Updike of Perry City, who are highly respected people.

The elopement has created great excitement in Tompkins county and a diligent search is being made for the refugees. Should Miller return the citizens threaten to treat him to a coat of tar and feathers.

TO GO OVER UNTIL AUGUST

Delay in the Judicial Fight Over the Rhode Island Election.

PROVIDENCE, June 28.—Counsel in the judicial fight over the State election, now pending in the Supreme Court, have entered into an agreement to have the whole matter of consideration by the court go over until after the 12th of August.

The delay is for the purpose of taking the political contest out of the summer months, and also to prevent a session of the Assembly being called abruptly, which would be an advantage to either side which could, with greater facility, call its members together.

The arguments are to be made before the court, however, at once.

NEWS OF THE DAY

HYMENEAL.

RICHARDS–FISHER.

The marriage will take place this evening, at the home of the bride on Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, of Miss Bertha Fisher and David Richards. Mr. Richards is a brother of Edward Richards the genial head clerk at Shaw's pharmacy. The bride and groom will leave for their home in Omaha after the wedding.

MILLER–BIRD.

Lewis C. Miller, formerly a valued attache of THE PRESS, and now of the printing house of Styles & Cash, New York, joined the noble army of Benedicks yesterday afternoon at 3:30. The beautiful young bride was Miss Florence V. Bird, and the ceremony took place at the home of her aunt, Mrs. A. L. Holloway, Union avenue, Brooklyn. The Rev. Wm. W. Gillies officiated. The bride wore a gown of white brilliantine, trimmed with Bengaline silk and white lace, and looked as charming as the groom was gallant. From Brooklyn the happy young people went to Elizabeth, and this morning continued on to Asbury Park. After spending some days along the shore they will make Plainfield their home. Success to them!

BERT DEMAREST A BENEDICK.

THE PRESS joins with a host of friends in extending sincerest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Demarest. The wedding, which took place yesterday afternoon in accordance with the previous announcement in these columns, was a quiet home affair, being strictly private because of the recent death of the bride's aunt. The bride was Miss Luella Northup, an only child. The ceremony was at the bride's home, 177 North avenue. The Rev. J. W. Richardson officiated. At 4:01 the bride and groom, a most handsome couple, left for their wedding trip. In a few days they will return, and board with the groom's esteemed parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Demarest, Craig place. An invitation reception will be given on their return.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

DROPPED DEAD AT THE WATER CASK.

GEORGE R. POUND STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

He Was Among the Oldest and Best Beloved of Plainfield's Citizens, and a Landmark Among the Good Brethren of Hicksite Friends.

Silently, swiftly, gently and painlessly, the immortal spirit of that good old citizen, George Robinson Pound, was wafted away from its mortal clay, leaving his loved and loving ones sorrowing and forlorn.

The end of this upright and honored earthly career came this morning. Friend Pound was walking about his yard at 305 East Third street. That was the last seen of him alive. A short time later, members of his household found his lifeless body leaning over the edge of a water cask. There was blood on his lip; and it is surmised that nosebleeding, to which he had been subject of late, had attacked him and he had bent over the cask to lave his nostrils with water. Apoplexy had seized him while in that position, and had stricken him dead in an instant. Probably the nosebleeding was itself a part of the apoplectic stroke. When the body was found, the head was submerged, but the result of medical investigation was the decision that he was dead before his head fell into the water.

Tender hands bore the silent clay to a reclining posture, and the form was prepared for its eternal rest.

The shock of the sudden transition of so tranquil and helpful a life was a sad and heavy blow to the bereaved ones, but while their lids were swollen with weeping they could look trustfully through the eyes of faith, past the portals of the Beyond, and find solace in the knowledge of his everlasting beatitude.

Even the morbid crowd who gathered about the front of the house at hearing the distressing news of the good man's sudden end, were grieved at heart, for the departed was respected and beloved throughout all the community. His entire life had been spent in and about Plainfield. Born in Piscataway, only 6 miles from the city, 76 years ago, he removed to Plainfield in 1836, and built the house which stood until torn down several months ago on the site of the new Y. M. C. A. building. He lived in that house till 15 or 20 years ago. Mr. Pound prospered in the meat business till 1865, and since was a hide and tallow merchant. His second wife survives him, and he leaves an only son, Robinson Pound, of East Second street.

The deceased was a pioneer among Plainfield's Friends, being a revered member of the Hicksite society.

At the Peace street meeting-house, Friday afternoon at 2:30, the last tribute of the living will be bestowed over "the unresponsive clay of him who at daybreak rejoiced in the song of earth's awakening birds and who at noontide was serenely indifferent to the world's delights in the fuller and richer joys into which he had entered.

EDSALL'S REMOVAL.

Great Offer in the Dry Goods Trade —Good Goods, Low Prices, Prompt Service—Greater Bargains, and More of Them, Than Ever Before Offered in Any One Special Sale in Plainfield.

No reader of this issue of THE PRESS will fail to notice the flaming announcement of Edsall's mammoth removal sale prior to going into the new and handsome Babcock building. He proposes rather than to go to the expense of moving his large and most desirable stock, to sell off as much as possible at a great sacrifice.

This will afford the citizens a rare opportunity to secure some of the best bargains in really good and seasonable goods that have ever been offered in this city.

The goods that are offered consist of his regular well-selected stock, and can be relied on as of the best quality the market affords.

The sale is made thus early in the season to give the public an opportunity to make their purchases prior to going on their vacation.

The employes, who have been increased in number, will doubtless be a busy set of people in this popular establishment for the coming weeks.

All who want to secure bargains will find them at this great sale.

Vicissitudes of Buggy Driving.

One young fellow who was driving home from over the mountains, the other night, with his girl, had an experience he will not soon forget. On the way from Summit the road was washed out, and a bridge was found unsafe to cross. The girl led the horse, while the beau kept the buggy from upsetting.

Spilled the Driver.

A runaway team drawing a sand wagon caused excitement on West Front street, from Madison avenue to New street, this noon. Trolley car No. 4 scared the horses. The driver was flung out, and hung to the wagon pole. A man who tried to stop the horses was knocked down. The horses ran into a tree and stopped. There was no serious damage.

Aiming for a New Sunday-School.

Miss Jennie Sheppard and Miss Lillie Zelez are holding a fair this afternoon and evening, on the lawn of Mr. Kesselring, 25 Chatham street, North Plainfield, for the benefit of the building fund for a proposed new Sunday-school building for Trinity church.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. E. G. Vassar, 56 Warren st., New York.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me. S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

David M. Stiger, of Mendham, is visiting Mrs. D. T. VanBuren, of Central avenue.

Mrs. William J. Roome and family go to the Adirondacks for the summer, July 6.

Miss Matylee Fehrmann, of First place, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles Heath, of Orange.

Fredrick Andrews and family, of Central avenue, will spend the summer at Northfield, Mass.

Charles F. Powlison, of Springfield, is paying a short visit to his parents on Grandview avenue.

Miss S. G. Dunn, of East Seventh street, is at Pine Bush, Orange county, N. Y., for the summer.

Miss Rosemary Baum, of Boston, has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Hubbard of Fifth street, West.

Mrs. M. E. Simons and Miss May Simons, of Albany, are visiting Herbert W. Stover, of East Ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Dollner, of Madison avenue and Ninth street, will spend the summer at Great Barrington.

Prof. and Mrs. George Collins, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with Mrs. Collins's mother on West Fourth street.

On account of the illness of the Rev. Mr. Meroney, no services were held in the Scotch Plains Methodist church, Sunday.

The Rev. Dr. Parks, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will soon occupy his new home, opposite the church.

Frank C. Froment and family, formerly of this city and always summer residents here, left this morning for a few weeks at Avon Inn.

Miss Ida Spicer, accompanied by her brother, Arthur, leave for the Fair to-day where they will join their many Seventh-day friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Drayton are spending a few days with their former rector, the Rev. Charles C. Tiffany, at Sharon, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E Hinkson, of Somerset street, are expected home to-day from a short visit with Mrs. Hinkson's parents at Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Dunn and family, of East Seventh street, leave town this week to spend the summer in and about Newfoundland, Passaic county.

The engagement is announced of Miss Emma S. Miller, of East Ninth street, to Robert D. Kimball, of East Seventh street, formerly of Providence, R. I.

Miss Minnie French, daughter of L. M. French, of Craig place, is recovering from her illness through the skill of her attending physician Dr. D. C. Adams.

C. W. McCutchen and daughter, and David Lenox of the borough, have returned from Chicagua (after the duke de Veragua) very much enthused over the Fair.

The young people of the "Hit or Miss" tennis club, who are to be found clear days on the McLaughlin court, are enjoying themselves in other ways at Paplac, to-day.

The Misses Maud VanBoskerck, Elizabeth Stewart, Florence Huntington and Jessamy Harte, will shortly visit Mrs. Charles S. Munn, at her charming summer home, Cooperstown.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rogers and their two boys returned from the World's Fair last evening. They had a thoroughly enjoyable time, and recommend everybody to go to the great show.

The entertainment conducted by choirmaster Miner in Naugatuck last night was a great success. The large audience fully appreciated the Plainfield talent, including Messrs. MacClymont and Taggart and Miss Bowers.

Mrs. Harry Edgar, who has been visiting her parents at Mount Pleasant, has returned to her home at Atlanta, Ga., after a few pleasant days spent with her friend and schoolchum Mrs. Siebrecht (nee Titsworth) of New Rochelle.

The wide circle of friends who have been alarmed and anxious at the serious illness of Mrs. Many of West Seventh street, will be pained to learn that her condition is most dangerous and that there is little hope for her recovery.

THE GRINNELLS WILL NOT COME BACK.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Grinnell left their charming home in Netherwood, yesterday, for the mountains of New Hampshire, where they will spend the summer. Their many friends will be sorry to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Grinnell will not return to Netherwood in the fall. Mr. Grinnell has suffered from asthma terribly for the past year, and spent last winter in Mexico and California hoping to hasten his convalescence from his long illness of last fall. He returned this spring to Netherwood, much improved in health, but soon felt the effect of the climate, and his health suffered from the change. His physicians tell him that he cannot live in this part of the country, so after spending the summer in New Hampshire he will go to Colorado and probably settle in either Denver or Colorado Springs.

The American Catarrh Cure

The Parkville Disaster Inquiry.

BROOKLYN, June 28.—The State Railroad Commissioners held a secret session in the Clarendon Hotel for the purpose of determining the scope of their proposed investigation into the disaster of last Tuesday in the Parkville tunnel on the Manhattan Beach division of the Long Island Railroad. It was decided that no witnesses would be summoned, but to depend upon the testimony taken at the coroner's inquest.

Carried the School House Off.

TOPEKA, KAS., June 28.—A terrific storm passed over Logan county last evening. A few miles south of Oakley it assumed the proportions of a tornado, blowing down several farm-houses, stables and outbuildings. It carried a schoolhouse fifty rods and then dashed it to the ground, breaking it into kindling wood, and scattering the debris a long distance.

That Good Smokeless Powder.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The test of the smokeless powder invented by Mason Leonard, of Virginia, proved so satisfactory that the ordnance bureau of the War Department has ordered a large amount of the explosive sent to the Sandy Hook proving ground for a more thorough test.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,

And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves las's but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1.20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.

Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America.

And first I would astound

That might seem more than could be true,
Although it were a fact;

ONE-THIRD MORE WANTED.

Mayor Gilbert's Appeal to the People Only Needs Now a Little Concerted Assistance to be Victorious.

Two-thirds of the assents needful to authorize the construction of a drainage system have been secured, largely through the circular sent out by mayor Gilbert. The people of Plainfield, it is plain, want sewers. But one-third more names are necessary. To get them, the services of about twenty prominent citizens are needed—citizens who hold the confidence of their neighbors, and who are patriotic enough to give two or three evenings to a neighborhood canvass.

It is demonstrated that such a canvass will readily procure the assent of almost every tax-payer. But it is unkind, to say the least, to put this work upon those who have given very considerable time to the subject in other directions, and who stand ready to do still more work when the tax-payers give the word. These men should be relieved of the work of procuring assents. Let there be an apportionment of the labor for the common good.

Drainage is offered us on the best possible terms and under the best of circumstances so far as supervision and financiering and general management are concerned. It is an opportunity that should be improved. To do so twenty good citizens should at once take up the canvass and carry it to quick completion.

The President's Personal Choice, the Townspeople's Delight.

[From The Newark Evening News.]

James Alfred Demarest, managing editor of the Plainfield Daily Press, yesterday received his official commission from President Cleveland appointing him Consul to Brockville, Ontario, Canada. Mr. Demarest is being overwhelmed with congratulations on his appointment to an office for which there were more than 600 applicants. The townspeople take it as a high compliment that one of Plainfield's citizens should thus be chosen. Mr. Demarest will remove to Brockville with his wife and son the latter part of July. He claims to have been the first to renominate President Cleveland for a second term, and is considered a personal favorite of the Chief Executive of the Nation.

An Antiseptic Operating Room for Muhlenberg.

Plans are being prepared for a new operating room at Muhlenberg Hospital. It will be antiseptic—that is, its floor and walls will be built of a material that cannot retain disease germs and bacteria, and the room can be flooded at any time and washed out by hose.

TO MAKE THE FOURTH MOST GLORIOUS.

HERE'S ONE SOCIETY WILL DO IT JUSTICE.

Park Club Members to Have a Big Show of Fireworks, and a Dance Following the Pyrotechnics—T will Be a Swell and Exclusive Gathering.

If Plainfield is dead to the world, in the matter of appropriate celebration of the Fourth, Netherwood and North Plainfield are not, for at Hotel Netherwood there will be a glorious hop, and at the Park club-house there will be a grand display of fireworks, followed by a dance that will set every aflame with joy. That the Park club event will be such as the day deserves, and such as will be emblazoned in history as a most notable and triumphant one, is assured by the personality of the entertainment committee, who are Messrs. B. A. Hegeman, jr., George D. Evans, George P. Dupee, George D. Hallock and Augustus VanDeventer.

And that the social success will be most charming, is certain, since the following are the patronesses:

Mrs. Sam'l Townsend,	Mrs. James T. Scott,
Mrs. Samuel St. J. McCutchen,	Mrs. Aug. VanDeventer
Mrs. Morgan S. Taylor,	Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, jr
Mrs. Geo. P. Dupee,	Mrs. Geo. D. Hallock,
Mrs. Geo. C. Evans,	Mrs. Chas. A. Reed,
Mrs. Wm. L. Saunders,	Mrs. Edward S. Hooley,
Mrs. Wm. J. Roome,	Miss Ida Musgrave,
Mrs. Henry A. McGee.	Mrs. Walter M. McGee,

The affair will be a most cultured and fashionable one. Admission will be restricted to members and their families, and two invited guests for each member. Tickets will be issued solely by B. A. Hegeman, jr., chairman of the entertainment committee.

The Union County Country club also promises its members pyrotechnics the night of the Fourth.

In the Lowest Depths of Disgraceful Blunders.

The stupid and shameful heedlessness of the Courier daily grows worse and worse. It is not necessary to review here its long list of blunders of each issue; they are working the Courier's own destruction among its limited and shrinking circle of readers. Two especially glaring errors are just now a subject of ridicule of the demented sheet. In Monday's issue the idiotic statement was made that the Hillside Tennis club held a tournament and tea at the Country club grounds and house; and last night all sense of decency was outraged by the publication of a wedding notice under the big black heading DIED.

Hatched After a Trip to Nebraska.

J. D. Brown, whose parents live in this city, took a setting of eggs from Manasquan to his home at Alliance, Neb., when he returned from a visit East some weeks ago. He was laughed at for his pains, as he had to carry the eggs so many days and nights before reaching any kind of a hen.

His mother told him to "Be sure and turn them over every day"; and from some way station every 24 hours, she received a postal stating: "I've just turned them over"!

But now Mr. Brown is doing the laughing and has sent on the news that the contents of seven of those eggs are strutting around his yard full of cackle and covered with feathers.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have eversold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price, 0c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Avenue, opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

TO PREACH IN PLAINFIELD.

He's Not Yet 30; But, Goodness Me! Look at His Accomplishments.

Rev. C. E. Barnes, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, has arrived safely in Lexington, Kentucky, where he is under engagement to deliver a course of lectures before the Chautauqua Assembly, on the Tabernacle, Festivals, and other topics relating to Jewish worship. He is expected to return in time to accompany the M. E. excursion to Ocean Grove, July 12.

During the pastor's absence the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. Wm. V. Kelley, D. D., editor of the Methodist Review, July 2; and July 9 by Dr. Robert W. Rogers.

Dr. Rogers is said by the Visitor to be one of the most brilliant scholars of the younger generation in the Methodist Episcopal church. He is a Philadelphian, not yet thirty years of age, who has made a name for himself on both sides of the water for his accuracy and insight in Assyriology and Semitic linguistics. For several years past he has been professor of English Bible in Dickinson College, but with the opening of a new school year he takes the professional chair at Drew Seminary, recently vacated by the distinguished Dr. James Strong. He is a pleasing pulpit orater.

ROBERT GORTON'S GENIUS.

Not Only Can He Sing, But He Delights Housewives With His Inventions.

Although nearly everyone in Plainfield knows Robert Gorton as the singer, but few know that his inventive brain modeled the serviceable wire hooks used by housewives all over the land for hanging clothes and for various other purposes. The hooks are made from one piece of of stiff wire, and are strong, light and easily put up. They need no screws for fastening, because Mr. Gorton's ready brain recognized that women do n't like to do carpentering, and to that end he turned one wire end into a screw, so that even a child can place the hooks in position for service.

The hooks were no sooner put on the market than their popularity became established, and now they are in universal use all over the country. Mr. Gorton is the inventor of several other serviceable novelties in wire. The Gem Novelty company of this city handles the manufactured articles. David E Titsworth is president of this company, and Robert Gorton is secretary and treasurer. Mr. Gorton holds a responsible position with the Standard Oil company, in New York.

Elegant Gray and Blue Mixed Suits.

Among the surplus custom patterns that Watson & Co. are now cutting up are some very handsome gray and blue mixtures that are now in such great demand in the finest New York custom trade.

Watson & Co. overstocked themselves with these high-cost patterns, and are now finishing some of these suits daily, which go in with their other custom patterns at $15 a suit, is only half the order price, and as they are cut by their idle custom cutters, made by their finest tailors, and satin trimmed, no better suit can be made to order at any price. None of these elegant suits are shown in any of their Broad or Market street windows—as they sell as fast as finished.—Newark Item.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

MR. DUNN OF PLAINFIELD.

HERE'S A WEATHER PROPHET AS IS A PROPHET.

How a Tiny Pet Tree-Toad in a Front Street Household Foretells with Unfailing Accuracy the Approach of a Storm or the Advance of Fair Weather.

Mrs. George Lissignolo, of East Front street, has a wonderful curiosity in the form of a living barometer, the only one of its kind that exists in this city or State, so far as learned. This indicator of weather-changes is a diminutive tree-toad, whose apartment is so arranged that the slightest change in the density of the air is foretold by him with wonderful accuracy. The toad was caught at Feltville about a month ago, and Mrs. Lissignolo placed the little reptile in a large glass jar about two-thirds full of water. Standing at an angle in the jar is a small but perfectly formed ladder, and upon this the toad rests continually, never moving a muscle except when a change in the weather is to occur.

When the earth is dry and the skies are clear, the toad squats contentedly upon the top-most rung of the ladder. Just as soon as a storm approaches, and many hours before it can be seen or felt in New Jersey, the tree-toad begins to descend his ladder step by step. The nearer the storm comes, the lower the toad goes, until at the close approach of the stormy weather he sits half-submerged in water.

Thus far his predictions have been infallible, and more cannot be said of farmer Dunn of New York. It is for this reason that the little fellow has been christened "Mr. Dunn of Plainfield".

Sunday, it will be remembered, was beautifully bright and clear, both by day and when the moon arose in gorgeous display at night, but all day long Mr Dunn persisted in submerging himself in the water with but the tip of his nose showing above the surface. He could not be tempted to climb out and enjoy the beautiful day. During Sunday night came the furious rainstorm that lasted Monday and yesterday. Mr Dunn of Plainfield gave earlier notice of the storm than the boss of the Dunns in New York.

The board bill of the local Dunn is inexpensive, inasmuch as he eats nothing, apparently. He is given fresh water regularly and often, and obtains sustenance from that, just as a fish does. He refuses all offers of flies, bugs and leaves.

THEY LIVE HIGH WITH BLORE.

A Plainfield Prisoner Has the Gout in Union County's Jail, and All Say the New Warden's a Perfect Gentleman.

Warden Blore is accused of giving his charges in the county jail, too high living. Benjamin Perkins, sent from this city for cutting billiard tables and stealing pool balls, is laid up in his cell with the gout.

The prisoners interviewed by THE PRESS, are unanimous in the verdict that Mr. Blore is the "Finest Warden" they ever knew. Larry Wallace, the accused incendiary, says, "He's a perfect gentleman, and nobody can find fault with the way he treats 'em".

The "Regulars" from this city who used to keep out for weeks at a time, hurry back since Mr. Blore was appointed.

Rotten Bridges in Somerset County.

Townley's bridge near Summit is down. A load of hay went through it a day or two ago. There are other bridges in the neighborhood which are unsafe, and the Somerset county freeholders should attend to the matter.

PLAINFIELD WANTS ONE, TOO.

Ex-Councilman Seymour Smith's Garbage Crematory is Working to Perfection at Scranton.

Col. Ripple and Dr. Paine, of the Scranton Board of Health, inspected on Saturday afternoon the crematory erected in that city by ex-councilman Seymour Smith of Plainfield, and saw it consume about fifty barrels of garbage.

Nearly 3,500 barrels of garbage have been destroyed within the past two weeks and this has made about two wagon loads of ashes. The ashes when sifted may be sold as fertilizer, worth from $18 to $20 per ton.

The crematory has four single and one double cell. If sufficient garbage is furnished each day it will not be necessary to get coal to keep up the fires.

The crematory is so constructed that horses, dogs and other animals, night soil, decayed fruit and all kinds of garbage can be readily disposed of by the intense heat.

Col. Ripple and Dr. Paine were satisfied with the working of the crematory and when everything is in perfect order about the works and the system of collecting garbage is improved the sanitary condition of Scranton will be first-class.

That's just what Plainfield needs.

South Plainfield Has Them Now.

MRS. POLLOCK WINS

The Jury Awarded Her $37,500 and the Judge Added $2,000.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Ellen Pollock against Alexander Pollock for alienating the affection of her husband, Edward E. Pollock, after being out an hour and a half brought in a verdict of $37,500 for the plaintiff.

Judge Pryor, before whom the case was tried, added an extra allowance of $2,000.

The Tonawanda Strike.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., June 28.—There is no change in the situation here to-day. About 400 Buffalo Poles are at work on the docks, and are not being interfered with. Mr. Feeney, of the State Board of Arbitration, is here to lend his assistance in reaching a settlement.

THEY 'LL ALL BE SEASICK.

PLAINFIELD CAMERITES INDIFFERENT TO THEIR NECKS' SAFETY.

They 're Going to Venture Over the Rock-a-Bye-Baby Railroad, in the Hope of Getting Views of the Jersey Farmer as He Really Is.

A meeting of the Plainfield Camera club took place last night at the home of H. H. Coward, secretary of the club, to consider various questions before the club and settle the business affairs of the recent Music Hall entertainment. It had been requested that all outstanding tickets that had been given to members to dispose of should be brought in, and nearly all were returned. It was found that when the affairs of the exhibition were wound up it had been a financial success.

The plan that has been talked of for some time of making a trip to the Delaware Water Gap has been given up, and another has been substituted; namely, that of a trip on the Rock-a-bye-baby railroad from White House to Morristown, as the train may be induced to stop long enough for the members to take pictures by the roadside. F. B Stevens was appointed to consult with the authorities of the road and report to the committee.

Messrs. J. H. Doane, Otto Arens, G H. Babcock, H. H. Coward, F. B. Stevens and F. S. Smith, the committee to arrange for the next print exhibition, have issued a circular requesting members to do all in their power to make the collection of prints a success. The classes as stated in the circular are as follows: Landscapes, marines, figure study, including portraiture, architecture, interiors, hand camera work, farm life and animals, flash light work, transparencies and composition. It is hoped that the exhibition can be held in the new rooms of the club in the Babcock building.

EDSALL'S! EDSALL'S!

Seldom Pinched That Way.

"Could I ask a great favor?" asked the guest of the hotel clerk as he beckoned at the key-board for the key to room No. 44.

"Yes, sir."

"Will you sell or lend me about a pound of chicory until to-morrow? I've been out, but all the groceries are closed up."

"Couldn't possibly do it, my dear sir," was the bland reply. "The steward just told me that we hadn't over ten pounds of chicory for breakfast, with one hundred and fifty guests in the house, and we may be obliged to use as much as two or three pounds of coffee to get out of the pinch."—Detroit Free Press.

A Sure Sign.

Miss Summit—I invited some of my friends around last night, and we had a delightful card party.

Dashaway—Yes, I passed the house during the evening. You were playing whist, were you not?

Miss Summit—Why, Mr. Dashaway, how did you guess?

Dashaway—You were making so much noise.—Truth.

An Uncomfortable Position.

Mrs. Smith—And how is your neighbor?

Mrs. Brown—She's well enough, I suppose. I haven't seen her to speak to for six weeks.

Mrs. Smith—Why, I thought you were on the most friendly terms.

Mrs. Brown—Well, we used to be; but we've exchanged servants.—Vogue.

A Neighborly Act.

Mrs. Binks—Horrors! Uncle John has sent a gun for little Johnny. He'll be sure to kill himself.

Mr. B.—Indeed he will. Don't let him see it.

"But what shall I do with the thing?"

"Give it to that boy next door."—N. Y. Weekly.

DOMESTIC STRATEGY.

Husband (trying to quiet his chattering teeth)—Now, Mary, walk quietly down the stairs; and when we get near the intruder I'll spring out and grab him.—Puck.

Stone Fences Needed.

The young man's father was paying him a visit, just to see how he was getting along at college.

"So yer learnin' fencin'?"

"Yes."

"That's right, William. Learn ter make yerself useful ter yer father. Don't bother none about rail fences; stone fences is what they need in our section of the country."—Washington Star.

A Model Husband.

"I defy you to find a man who loves his wife as dearly as I love mine. To render her happy, I would undertake to go and live alone at the top of a mountain."

"But you would never come up to Puntolini's uncle, who, when he ascertained that his wife looked best in mourning, went and committed suicide.—Il Corriere della Sera.

Barkis Was Willing.

Miss Elderly—I want a pair of gloves, but I have forgotten the number.

Handsome Clerk—Your hand, if you please.

Miss Elderly—This is a little sudden, considering our short acquaintance, but you can call this evening and see my father. He will not oppose the union of two loving hearts!—Texas Siftings.

On the Train.

Mrs. Honeymoon—Do you love me?

Old Party (confidentially, from seat behind)—She's asked you forty-seven times in four hours. I get off here; but I'll leave the score with this gentleman by the window.—Brooklyn Life.

A Misfit.

Little Miss De Fashion—I am going to send these shoes right back. They are a miserable misfit.

Father—How?

Little Miss De Fashion—They is a mile too big. They don't pinch a bit.—Good News.

Superior in Arithmetic.

Teacher—If your father can do a piece of work in seven days and your Uncle George can do it in nine days, how long would it take both of them?

Johnny—They'd never get it done. They'd sit down and tell fish stories.—Golden Days.

An Open Letter to Women.

Laurel Ave., San Francisco, May 18, 1892.

"Dear friend of women:

"When my baby was born, five years ago, I got up in six days. Far too soon. Result: falling of the womb. Ever since I've been miserable.

"I tried everything: doctors, medicines, apparatus; but grew worse.

"I could hardly stand; and walking without support was impossible.

"At last I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. The effect was astonishing. Since I took the first bottle my womb has not troubled me, and, thanks only to you, I am now well. Every suffering woman should know how reliable your compound is. It is a sure cure."—Mrs. A. Detwiler.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

QUEEN & CO.,

OCULISTS AND OPTICIANS,

OF 1010 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA,

Announce that one of their

DISTANT NEAR DISTANT NEAR Copyright, 1892. EYE SPECIALISTS

— IS IN—

PLAINFIELD EVERY THURSDAY,

Dunham's Real Estate Office, 7 East Front St.,

FROM 8.30 A. M. TO 5.30 P. M.

No charge is made to determine if your eyesight may be improved or headache relieved, by wearing properly adjusted glasses. Bear in mind the address, and do not fail to consult our specialist if your eyes trouble you.

MESSRS. QUEEN & CO, are well known throughout the United States as Opticians of the highest experience and skill. Their glasses are worn by tens of thousands in all parts of the world, and their work is acknowledged to be the standard of excellence everywhere. The staff of oculists and opticians engaged at their main store, 1 10 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, is composed of men whose skill and ability to give relief to defective eyes is of the highest order.

Recognizing the fact that in many populous centres there is no person who understands the measurement of the sight and adjustment of glasses in all the details, they have arranged that one of their Eye Specialists shall come periodically to your city, at the address given above.

Heretofore, in order to obtain anything like reliable care, it has been necessary to obtain a prescription at one office, and then purchase the glasses according to that prescription at some store.

This method not only causes much loss of time, but multiplies the chances of error.

Queen's specialists are men of large experience gained by daily and constant practice, which enables them to correct the most defective vision without the use of drops if any kind in the eye.

Messrs. Queen & Co. make no boasts of wonderful remedies, nor do they claim any special healing power in the glasses they furnish, as is so often done by ignorant persons who merely deal in glasses. Queen & Co. guarantee every pair of glasses ordered to be satisfactory, and expect to win your approval by the skillful and accurate manner in which they give you improved and comfortable vision. 4 5 14-ow

NEWS OF THE CAPITAL

More Appointments Expected to Be Made To-Day.

THE EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

The Silver Question Thought to be Troubling the President — Continuing the Pension Reforms — The President Takes Summary Action at Portland, Ore., Custom House.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Secretary Carlisle spent the night with President Cleveland at the "Country White House." He went prepared to work, the clerks of the Treasury appointment bureau having been kept busy all day preparing a large batch of papers which the secretary carried with him to the summer executive mansion.

These papers consisted of all the applications and recommendations of candidates on file for certain offices. In the bundle there were several New York cases, but not that of the Collector of the Port. It is likely that either late this afternoon or to-morrow morning a list of important appointments will be made.

The report sent out last evening that it had been learned from an authoritative source that the extra session of Congress would be called for the first Monday in September is being much commented upon in political circles to-day. It is the opinion of many that the President will be compelled to change his plan, and call the national legislature sooner than Sept. 4, the present silver difficulty seeming to demand it.

There is no doubt that the subject is causing Mr. Cleveland and his Cabinet much anxiety, and he is being urged from every side to take some action that will alleviate the anxiety.

FRAUDS ALLEGED

Portland's Collector of Customs Summarily Removed.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The President has summarily removed from office Mr. Lotan, Collector of Customs at Portland, Ore. This unusual action of the President was taken on the receipt of a telegram from special agents of the Treasury Department, who have been engaged for some time in investigating the fraudulent practices prevailing in the Puget Sound and Portland districts.

The telegram stated that they had information of the intended landing at Portland of a large number of Chinese coolies. Some weeks ago Mr. Lotan was removed, but his successor has not yet qualified, and Mr. Lotan was still in charge of the office. On his summary removal yesterday his deputy was placed in charge, and will continue to act until Black, the new collector, qualifies. His bond is now on the way to Washington. On June 15, Collector Lotan, in disregard of official instructions from the Treasury Department, landed from the steamer Danube about 250 Chinese, claiming to be merchants, but who were described in an official report to the department as a "scaly and uncouth appearing lot of coolies." The Chinese coolies now expected are on board the steamer Haytien Republic en route to Portland, and it was believed by the Treasury Department that if Collector Lotan had been left in office he would land the Chinese from the Haytien Republic without regard to law, as was done in the case of the Danube.

As far back as March 3d Collector Lotan was instructed by Assistant Secretary Spaulding as follows: "It is ascertained that many Chinese enter the United States upon fraudulent papers, certifying them to be returning merchants. You will hereafter disregard such papers and refuse entry unless it is proven to your satisfaction that the persons presenting them have the right to land."

Since that time many hundreds of Chinese have been landed at Portland upon bogus affidavits and certificates.

PURGING THE ROLLS

Pension Bureau Begins a Search for Impostors.

WASHINGTON, June 29. — The work of purging the pension rolls of impostors has apparently begun in earnest. Following the instructions of Secretary Smith, the pension officials have inaugurated a search of the files of the office for such cases as are clearly fraudulent, and up to this time quite a large number have been found. To-day a long list of names was sent to Secretary Smith by Commissioner Lochren, giving, in addition to the name, number of pension certificate, and such other data as was deemed essential with the recommendation which has been approved that the same be dropped from the pension rolls.

In this list eleven were deserters at large, as appears from the records of the War Department. A number did not serve the required ninety days; others drawing widows' pensions had married; one had never been in the army or naval service; several were drawing pensions on account of disabilities resulting from their own vicious habits, and one was living in "open and notorious adultery." The work of examining the rolls with a view to the detection of fraud will be prosecuted with vigor, and at the same time current issues will be carefully scrutinized with the same object.

Secretary Smith and Commissioner Lochren, while prosecuting this work, renew the assurances previously given that just as much care will be exercised to secure pensions to those who are entitled to them under the law as will be used to prevent fraud.

Ford Theatre Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 29. — The grand jury investigation into the cause of the catastrophe at old Ford's Theatre is nearing conclusion. Meanwhile the building stands unused and empty, with watchmen to guard it and keep out the curious. The War Department does not know what to do with the structure, having no particular use for it, and will let its future be decided by Congress.

Not to Move to Depew.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The report from Buffalo that the Edison General Electric company had purchased a tract of land at Depew, the new suburb of that city, and intended to remove its immense plant from Schenectaday to that place, is denied by S. D. Green, the assistant general manager of the company.

FATAL FIRE AT SAGINAW

Three Children Smothered and Their Mother Fatally Burned.

SAGINAW, Mich., June 29.—Last night fire started in a wooden two-story building in North Jefferson avenue, occupied by Catherina Neumann, a widow with four children, as a millinery store below and residence above.

The fire originated in the lower portion of the building, and was not discovered until the exit of the family was cut off. The alarm was turned in, and the fire department were on hand before the peril of the occupants of the building was understood.

By this time the entire inside of the structure was in flames. The mother was taken out and sent to the hospital. She is terribly burned and will die. Tilda Neumann, aged 20 years, Lena Neumann, aged 15 years, and Frank Neumann, aged 12 years, were smothered to death. Another daughter, Alma, aged 17, escaped with a slight scorching. The fire was under control in thirty minutes, although the building was gutted and two adjacent buildings considerably damaged by fire and water.

Gen. Booth to Go Home.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Gen. Ballington Booth, of the Salvation Army, will be a passenger on the Cunard line steamer Campania when she leaves Saturday morning for Liverpool. The officers of the Campania say she will take the short course this time, and is likely to make a record-breaking trip.

FARMERS IN DISTRESS.

Kansas Agriculturists Calling on the Legislature.

A Special Session Demanded—Appropriation Wanted to Buy Seed for Those Who Have No Surplus Grain.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 29.—There is a demand for a special session of the Legislature. It comes from the West, and the provocation is the crop failure and the necessity of an appropriation to buy seed for farmers who have no surplus grain from last year's crop, or money to buy a supply for seeding this fall and next spring. There are said to be twenty-seven counties in this state which will not produce sufficient wheat this year for bread and seed for the population, and the farmers are so poor that the most of them must have aid from some source.

Gov. Lewalling is opposed to a special session. He thinks the people could better afford to raise a fund by private subscription than to pay extra taxes to defray the expenses of a special session.

Stephen M. Cotta, State lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance, has issued an appeal to members of the organization to contribute aid to the striking coal miners of the Cherokee district. He says anything will be acceptable; clothes, provisions or money. The strikers have been idle so long, he says, that many of them are in destitute circumstances, and as they are making a fight for a principle that is generally indorsed by the industrial classes it ought to be the duty of every farmer to help.

BUFFALO BANKS ALL RIGHT

The Situation Greatly Improved and all Anxiety Passed.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 29.—The financial situation here to-day shows a decided improvement. There is an entire absence of the feeling of nervousness and anxiety that has been abroad for several days among both bankers and depositors, and matters are again in their normal condition. All the banks have made prompt settlement of the Clearing House balances, and the balance sheet of that institution showed a fair average day. Deputy Superintendent Creed looked over all the Clearing House balances, and expressed himself as very much pleased with the condition of things.

Mr. Creed says he sees no good reason why the Queen City bank should not resume at an early date. This can be done by assessing the stockholders up to an unimpaired standard and resuming with a smaller capital stock. The Banking Department would then withdraw from charge of the bank. The directors will hold a meeting to-day to consider what steps shall be taken.

Large quantities of gold have been received from New York since the Queen City failure on Monday. The banks feared a possible run, and telegraphed their New York correspondents to ship gold here immediately. It began to arrive yesterday, and more has been received to-day. The banks are now all well supplied with specie to meet any demands that may be made upon them.

More Cholera in France.

PARIS, June 29.—There were two new cases of cholera at Toulon yesterday, one new case at Hyeres, one new case at Seyne and two deaths from the disease at Cette.

Investigating the Haven Wreck.

NEW YORK, June 29.—S. I. Kimball, general superintendent of the Life Saving Department at Washington, has ordered an investigation to be made of the wrecking of the three-masted schooner Thomas W. Haven at Long Branch on Monday last, when two of the crew lost their lives.

BLUE VERSUS CRIMSON

The Great Yale-Harvard Race to Be Rowed To-morrow.

CROWDS FLOCKING TO NEW LONDON

Generally Conceded that Harvard's Crew is the Better, and Yet Good Judges Think that Yale Will Win—Arrangements for Announcing the News—Yesterday's Triangular Race.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 29.—All boating interest in New England centres on the final college race of the season of 1893, the Yale-Harvard 'Varsity contest on the Thames to-morrow morning. Now that the Freshmen events have been disposed of preparations are being completed for the acme of college boating, the culminating 'Varsity contest.

Yachts and all kinds of small sailing craft are arriving in the harbor and incoming trains bring new arrivals every hour.

That Yale will score another victory is perhaps not the general opinion, but certainly it is the sentiment of the best judges of the merits of the two crews now in the city.

While the time made by Yale on her four-mile pull Tuesday was not as fast as Yale coaches had expected, it was nevertheless fairly good time as compared with that which Harvard has made in practice pulls. Some old Harvard men who have been here for several days are figuring that Yale will win the race by 20 seconds.

The coaches, one and all, say that Yale is improving every hour, and that while the eight is not as good as Hartwell's eight, it is, nevertheless, a fairly good crew and ought to win.

Information of the crews down the river will be given by telegraph and military signal corps. The Western Union Telegraph company will have an operator on the shore opposite the starting point and at each mile flag. The lines of the company are run along the railroad track and the instruments will be cut in to connect with the New London office. From there the wires will be looped in to Boston and New York and thus information of the progress of the race will be flashed over the country.

The work of announcing the progress of the race to the thousands at the finish line was done, up to a few years ago, by telegraph operators in the employ of the New London Northern railroad, but that was previous to the erection of the Thames river bridge, and when an immense observation stand was erected each year at Winthrop Point. Since the abandonment of the grand stand no means have been employed to indicate the positions of the crews.

This year the citizens' committee engaged the Third Regiment Signal Corps to do this work. On the center pier of the bridge at the north end will be placed an apparatus for hoisting blue and red balls. A signal man will be posted at the start and each half mile of the course.

As each crew leaves the boat house for the start a ball of corresponding color will be elevated to half mast, and when the crews take position at the start both balls will be hoisted to the masthead. When the crews start the balls will be dropped.

At each successive half mile the balls will be raised, red or blue first, to indicate the crew first across the line and allowed to remain there for one minute from the time the last ball is hoisted, when both will be dropped together.

The observation train will consist of 40 cars, each car seating 84 passengers. To each of the two colleges 17 cars are sold by the railroad company, and the other six are disposed of to New Londoners and people from elsewhere who engage seats in advance.

For the third consecutive time the Yale freshmen yesterday won the annual triangular boat race on the Thames by defeating Harvard by eight and Columbia by thirteen lengths, in the time 10:23.

The only respect in which the result of this year's race differs from its two immediate predecessors is that Columbia finished a poor third while she has been able to defeat Harvard heretofore.

Warned by Whitecaps.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 29.—John Getty, of 21 Oneida street, called at police headquarters this morning and asked the Superintendent to protect him from a band of White Caps. Getty had received a letter purporting to be written by the president of the White Caps warning him if he did not desist from beating his wife and children they would call upon him and administer fifty lashes. The letter was written in red ink and Mr. Getty was very much worried. The police promised to investigate.

Captain Bourke to be Tried.

LONDON, June 29.—Captain Bourke, the senior officer among the survivors of the warship Victoria, will be tried by a special naval board, sitting at Malta, for having lost the vessel. Further proceedings will depend upon the event of this trial. No steps will be taken in the matter of courtmartialling Rear Admiral Markham and the officers of the Camperdown until after the end of Bourke's case.

Not Yellow Fever.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Dr. Jenkins denies that the sailor who was removed to Swinburne Island from the Gothia when she arrived here last Friday from Santos has yellow fever. Dr. Jenkins said that the man was suffering from intermittent fever, and would be all right in a day or two. He is still detained at Swinburne Island.

The Pope's Choir to be at the Fair.

ROME, June 29.—The Pope has given his consent to the proposal that Maestro Mustafa, director of the choir of the Sistine Chapel, and the members of the choir should visit Chicago and sing there during the progress of the Exposition. This will be the first time that the choir as a choir will have sung outside the Holy City.

NEW POSTMASTERS

Another Batch of the Fourth-Class Ones Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The total number of fourth class postmasters appointed yesterday was 98, of which 39 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

New Jersey—Clemens A. Haas, Palmyra.

New York—Alfred L. Murray, Arkville; B. P. Harper, Chenango Forks; H. W. Hartman, Downsville; James Grove, Jr., Lafayette; William B. Cole, Thomaston.

Pennsylvania—James S. Akers, Akersville; F. L. VanFleet, Dalton; Lewis Donaghue, Glen White; Price Davis, Grant; Homer H. Preston, Lander; W. E. Towson, Laurel; Matthew W. Mellott, Owl Creek; Wm. Shallito, Penn Run, Wm. L. Moody, Rome; Tobias B. Glasser, Deldersville; Daniel Hannah, Taintor Mills; Jesse W. Marlin, Willet; John C. Dryder, Willow Springs; John G. Keeler, Wyalusing.

Farragut's Statue Unveiled.

BOSTON, June 29.—The statue of Admiral Farragut was unveiled in the Marine Park, South Boston, yesterday afternoon, amid the booming of cannon, the screeching of steam whistles, the music of bands and the cheers of the immense crowd which had gathered to witness the ceremony. In the harbor assisting with their guns and colors were the Russian warships Rynda and Dmitri Donskoi and the United States cruiser San Francisco and the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius.

WILL MEXICO QUIT, TOO?

Rumored That She Will Stop Free Coinage of Silver.

It Is Not Clear How Our Southern Neighbor Could Go Upon a Gold Basis—The Report Discredited.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A rumor is current to-day that Mexico contemplates stopping free coinage of silver. It cannot be traced and is not generally credited. Mexico has a circulation of about $50,000,000, of which not more than $5,000,000 is gold. The production last year was less than $1,500,000, of which nearly $900,000 was exported. In the present state of Mexican finances, it is not clear if she abandoned the silver standard, how she could go upon a gold basis.

Minister Romero when advised of the rumor, said that he had no information to that effect and did not believe that Mexico could afford to stop the free coinage of silver. He therefore placed no credence whatever in the report.

He declined to forecast the effect of the action of India in stopping the free coinage of silver, but said that it was a very serious matter.

MORE COUNTRIES TO FOLLOW

Sir David Barbour Says Ceylon and Mauritius Will Imitate India.

SIMLA, June 29.—Sir David Barbour, financial member of the Vice-Regal Council, said in an interview on the silver question to-day that in his opinion Ceylon and Mauritius would be compelled soon to follow the example of India and close their mints to the free coinage of silver.

The effect of the change on the Chinese trade, he said, was causing much justifiable anxiety. It might be possible to ease the situation through the introduction of the gold standard in the Chinese treaty ports, but in any event the bulk of about fourteen crorer of rupees (140,000,000) would be thrown on China. That China's foreign trade relations would thus be disturbed to an enormous extent was self-evident.

Many silver mines must be closed, continued Sir David. Eventually things would right by the decrease of the production of silver, but, meantime, there would be bad times in all countries using silver without having the gold standard.

ADVICES FROM HAWAII

Annexationists Hopeful Over the Tone of Mr. Cleveland's Letter.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The steamer Australia from Honolulu brings the following advices:

President Cleveland's reply to Mr. Thurston was received yesterday, June 20, and is very disappointing to the Royalists. The annexationists regard it as implying a serious doubt as to the general propriety of annexing so remote a country as Hawaii and one of such heterogenous population. President Cleveland's language they consider to imply a doubt also as to whether the wishes of the people of Hawaii are in favor of annexation. They are confident that any scruple of this sort will in good time disappear. On the whole they are much gratified with Mr. Cleveland's expressions.

There is strong evidence for the belief that by the mail of June 14 Minister Blount was advised by Secretary Gresham that he was in error in protecting Nordhoff; that the Cutting precedent was not applicable since Nordhoff's statements were written in Honolulu, whereas Cutting's were written where they were published and that Minister Blount was instructed to turn Nordhoff over to the mercies of the Hawaiian government, and did so, but that President Dole suppressed the matter in order to spare Blount's feelings.

Minister Blount was invited yesterday to deliver the oration on July 4, but declined. The orator will be W. A. Kinney. Blount's action is severely criticized by the American colony. Not only has he refused to attend the preliminary meeting, but he has also refused to address his countrymen as part of the exercises of the Fourth. His excuse is that the political situation here is peculiar.

The desire to make overtures to England before settling on a protectorate seems to grow in favor.

Accidentally Killed.

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., June 29.—Major E. J. Armstrong, of Sandy Hill, a brother of the Rev. E. R. Armstrong, of Lake George, was accidentally killed while hunting in the neighborhood of the Hundred Island House yesterday. His gun was discharged while climbing a ledge of rocks.

Wanamaker Suit Adjourned.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The Wanamaker and Brown petition to close the gates of the World's Fair on Sunday was not heard by Judge Jenkins, as had been arranged. The petitioners said they were not ready for the hearing, so the case was set for to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Concord to Sail Next Week.

New York's Surveyor Defies Secretary Carlisle.

WILL NOT SHOW UP THE RECORDS

In a Communication to the Secretary of the Treasury the Secretary Declares He Will Not Aid the Committee in the Work It Has Been Appointed to Do.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Surveyor Lyon's letter to Secretary Carlisle promises to bring the surveyor into as much prominence with reference to the work of the committee now investigating the customs service at this port, as was held by Appraiser Cooper when the committee began its work.

The letter to the Secretary of the Treasury was in reply to an order from Secretary Carlisle directing Mr. Lyon to submit to the investigating committee all data that the committee might require for an examination of the affairs of the Surveyor's office.

In effect Mr. Lyon refused to obey this order, and bade defiance to the Secretary of the Treasury, after having already informed the committee that he did not recognize its authority.

The Surveyor's letter went into the statutes in great detail. He quoted the civil service law at length to show that the present committee could not have been appointed or authorized under any such law, and he elaborated other statutes to sustain his position that a committee of this kind could not be employed for any department or bureau except by special order of Congress for purpose of securing information to be submitted to the next succeeding session of Congress, or unless it should be necessary through such a committee to carry into effect some object for which a specific appropriation had been made.

He intimated very clearly in the letter that if the committee was to be classed as informers, detectives and spies, he was not ready to submit the records of his department to their inspection, because, as a sworn officer of the Government, as he expressed it, he would be violating his oath as well as the duties of his office if he were to yield to the demands made upon him.

The Surveyor thinks that he has exhausted the subject in this letter to Secretary Carlisle, and he is firmly of the opinion that nothing whatever can now induce him to submit the records of his department to the inspection of the committee, or in any way to aid the committee in the work it has been appointed to do.

Chicago Now Claims to Have a Larger Population Than New York.

CHICAGO, June 29.—According to information given out by the publishers of the Chicago City Directory, Chicago is now the most populous city in America, beating New York by 400,000. The 1893 estimate of Chicago's population is 2,180,000.

The calculation is that the names in the directory represent about one person in four residents. The new directory contains 150 more pages of names than last year.

Harrison off for Cape May.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 29.—Gen. Harrison left for New York last evening. He will remain in New York for a few days and then go to his cottage at Cape May.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Peary expedition will start from New York to-morrow.

The Hartly bank at Jerico, Mo., was robbed yesterday of $10,000.

It is reported that the French are about to attack the Siamese city of Bangkok.

Norway, as well as France, it is now said, will not enter its exhibits for awards at the Fair.

Comedian De Wolf Hopper and Edna Wallace of New York were married yesterday in Newark, N. J.

Cataract, Lorillard's $30,000 colt, met with an accident at Sheepshead Bay, yesterday, and had to be shot.

Three robbers held up an Aransas train near San Antonio, yesterday. The fireman was killed and one robber captured.

George E. Green of Binghamton was elected president of the New York State League of Republican Clubs at Saratoga yesterday.

No action was taken yesterday in the case of E. M. Field, now in the asylum at Buffalo. The hearing has been adjourned until Sept. 16.

An explosion occurred at the Union Coal Company's mine, at Mt. Carmel, Pa., yesterday. One man was killed, and several others hurt.

The Commissioner of Paraguay threatens to withdraw his exhibit from the World's Fair because of his arrest by mistake by an ignorant Columbian guard.

The Nordeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung calculates that at the opening of the Reichstag 205 deputies will favor the Army bill and 191 will be opposed to it.

The new gun-boat, the Machias, built by the Bath Iron Works, has started for the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard, where she will be put into commission next week.

A most extraordinary chess match between those well-known experts G. Marco and Karl Schlecter, in Berlin, ended in a draw after ten games were recorded as drawn.

Gov. Morris yesterday sent to the Connecticut Senate the nomination of Charles M. Joslyn, of Hartford, to be Judge Advocate General with rank of Brigadier-General.

The bodies of the five people who were killed by a train on the Erie railroad at Avondale, N. J., on Saturday, were buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Elizabeth, yesterday.

A stairway in the color department building in the World's Fair grounds collapsed yesterday, while a number of men were upon it. Several were hurt, but none of them fatally.

Colorado reports are that miners of silver are in despair. In Utah the Daly-West, Jordan and Galena silver mines have been shut down and six others will close this week. The Diamond, at Eureka, Nev., has also ceased operations.

A sensational sequel comes to Governor Altgeld's release of the Haymarket Anarchists. The Chicago Journal raises the question whether he is legally Governor of the State of Illinois or a citizen of the United States. His father was an alien, and the citizenship of the Governor has a cloud upon it.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Fair To-Morrow; Slightly Warmer; Variable Winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The "National Shoe Store" of Somerset street is no more. Most of the effects went to New York yesterday by train.

—The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York has transferred to Jesse M. Emerson, sr., property in North Plainfield for $2,000.

—Charles Schantz of West Front street tried to ride a bicycle at the clam bake on Sunday, and losing his bearings tore off a section of his right cheek.

—Charles Weisflog, of Passaic, who has put in water motors and fans very acceptably in Plainfield, is ready to fill all orders on receipt of address.

—Chatham street was ploughed up yesterday afternoon preparatory to macadamizing. The borough is getting a fine system of macadamized roads.

—About forty amateurs and a few professional anglers, spent yesterday along the banks of Tier's lake, but none of them caught a much-sought-for bass.

—Dr. C. R. Thiers has sold out his stock in Stonestine to the other shareholders, and is now paid a royalty by the company on his patent of the mouthwash.

—The Plainfield electric light service was crippled by a slight breakdown last night, and many of the lights were out about an hour before the trouble was repaired.

—George DeMeza says the Courier folks are crazy fools. They published a false story about a mad woman chasing him from his law office. 'Twas all an invention of one of the gents on the staff.

—The Jr. O. U. A. M's of Dunellen will show their patriotism, the Fourth, by a grand parade, races, games, a band concert and fireworks. A special feature will be a race between a man and a bicycle.

—If you haven't had the number changed on your house or store, you would better get it done at once, as the authorities mean to enforce the ordinance. The time for changing is a month past.

—A number of children in town have been poisoned by too much strawberries. The afflicted little ones have faces and hands badly broken out. The physicians in charge say that the fruit also causes rheumatism.

—A runaway occurred on South Second street, last evening, but the owner of the rig could not be ascertained. The driver threw the lines over the dash and jumped safely. The animal was caught on Muhlenberg place.

—The camp ground on which Bound Brook's Fourth of July celebration is to be held is known in history as "Washington's Camp at Middlebrook", occupied by the American forces in the winters of 1777, '78 and '79.

—A gray-haired man ran across the tracks just in time to keep from being hit by an east-bound Blue Line flyer, at the North avenue station, Tuesday afternoon. He was warned of the near approach of the train, and only crossed the track a second or two before the engine went thundering by.

—Edward White is attending the last sale of the Brown-Durrell stock in New York to-day. This has been one of the largest sales of dry goods that has taken place in years, the total amount being over three million dollars. Mr. White has bought and sold over twenty thousand dollars worth of the stock, making it the most successful deal he has ever made.

—Messrs. Edward and Charles Mundy have opened a first-class meat and poultry market at 103 Somerset street, North Plainfield, where there can always be found choice roasts and everything in the meat line. Orders left there will be promptly attended to. Their business is done on a cash basis, which is a sure guarantee of their fair dealing and prompt service.

AN OUT-OF-SIGHT JUSTICE.

Will Ever Another Equal This Record of V. W. Nash?

During his term of office as justice of the peace, Vincent W. Nash of this city has decided between 1,600 and 1,800 cases brought before him, yet on appeal to higher courts only two of his rulings have been changed.

New York and New Jersey papers please copy. THE PRESS is curious to know whether any other justice living can equal that record.

A Gift They Can't Use.

The new piano which the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps, 10, presented to Winfield Scott post, recently, now stands in the post rooms, but none of the members can manipulate the ivories. Some of the ladies of the corps will have to call round and play it.

TURNER TURNED THE TABLES.

He Took Sneden's Place in the Box, and the Crack Poughkeepsies Were Beaten.

The Crescents are home from their Poughkeepsie trip with one victory to their credit. With Turner in the box they defeated their victorious adversaries of the day before, in a game that manager Keller says was great. The scores:

SMITH—BRIGGS.

A Quiet Plainfield-Fanwood Wedding.

A quiet marriage ceremony was performed this afternoon at All Saints' church, Fanwood, the contracting parties being Stanton Smith, of Broadway, this city, and Miss Hattie Briggs, daughter of L. J. Briggs, of Fanwood.

The happy couple will have the hearty congratulations of all, and on their return from their honeymoon will undoubtedly receive an ovation unsurpassed, owing to their unparalleled popularity.

No cards have been issued, so far as learned, unless to immediate relatives.

An Army of Men Besiege 'Ferd Fish for a Job in a Bath House.

Ferdinand Fish, who married a daughter of the late James M. Taylor of this city, and succeeded to the latter's extensive real estate business in New York, advertised yesterday morning as follows:

YOUNG MEN (4), steady, wanted at seashore bathing establishment. Apply before 9:30 a. m., Room D, 149 Broadway.

No. 149 Broadway is a large office building at the corner of Liberty street, and shortly before 8 o'clock squads of sturdy-looking fellows began to congregate on the sidewalk in front of the door. At 9:30 there were a thousand or more waiting, and soon the hallway leading to Room D was packed with a solid mass of humanity.

When Mr. Fish reached his office, he took in the situation at a glance, then rushed around to the Church street police station, and three policemen were sent to clear the street.

This was no easy matter, however, for the men refused to budge an inch, and Broadway was not cleared of the bathhouse men until after 10.

Gives up His Property for the City's Good.

William Kelly, owner of the house on North Front street, is about to remove the Levi Sutton house to Elm place. The property cost him, he says, $1,600, and in order to have Westervelt avenue straightened and perfected he has donated sixteen feet of his property free.

Commander Arimey.

An election of officers took place last night in Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias. The following list were elected for the ensuing year:

C. C.—John Krimey.
V. C.—J. S. Jones.
P.—J. Snyder.
M. of W.—C. W. DeGraw.
M. of A.—B. D. Bigelow.
Trustees—J. S. Shepard and B. Thatcher.

TAKES HIS BRIDE TO OMAHA.

The Borough Loses an Esteemed Young Woman, and the West Gains an Honored Wife.

Miss Bertha M. Fisher was married last night at the home of her mother on Jackson avenue to David H. Richards of Omaha, Nebraska. It was one of the prettiest of the many home weddings that have taken place this June in Plainfield. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and wild flowers in the greatest profusion, which made an effective background for the gowns of the bride and bridesmaids. The bride wore white silk, and carried a bouquet of white pinks and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Fonner, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jessie Haines. The best man was William Crawford, and the ushers were David Krymer and Harry Ulrich. Horace J. Martin, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her away, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cornelius Schenck. The wedding march was played by William Howell, of Somerville. After the ceremony a collation was served, and dancing was indulged in until a late hour. The happy couple left Plainfield on the 1:15 train for Washington, D. C., where they will spend a few days, going from there to Chicago and the World's Fair, whence they will proceed to Omaha, the home of the groom, who is an able and flourishing lawyer. The young couple carry the good wishes of all friends for success and prosperity.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Louis K Hyde has returned to Titusville.

J. T. Closson is enjoying the wonders of the World's Fair.

The rumor is untrue that Mr. and Mrs. John Doull Miller are to take the Patton house.

Miss Blanche Bresant, of New York, is the guest of Miss Allison of Somerset street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of Westervelt avenue and Orange street, are home from their wedding trip.

Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Scofield, at Morristown.

Miss Carrie Tingley, of Orchard place, returned Wednesday from a week's visit with relatives in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crosley Tracy will be at home from their wedding trip, at 134 East Sixth street, after October 1.

Master John Butscher, of West Fourth street, is rapidly recovering from an ulcer on the eye, under the treatment of Dr. Ard.

W. B. Moore, of New street, has gone to see his sister at the old homestead, Warrenville. He will be gone the rest of the week.

Counselor W. K. McClure has gone to the Pennsylvania wilds to entice the speckled trout from the mountain streams.

Peter Colthar, of Chester county, Pa., left for his home yesterday after a ten days' visit with his brother, Isaac, of North Plainfield.

George W. Runk has the sympathy of all in his sad affliction, the loss of his estimable wife, Elizabeth S., who died yesterday aged 60 years.

Mrs. D. R. Weaver, of Manning avenue, was called to White House, Hunterdon county, last night, to the bedside of her mother, who is very ill.

The Misses Carrie and Tenie Uhdal, of 330 South avenue, will give a party to their friends and acquaintances on Friday evening of this week.

Augustus Wadsworth has been spending a few days with his uncle, William B. Wadsworth. He will leave Plainfield for the Maine woods to-morrow.

Prosecutor Charles Winfield of Hudson county, brother-in-law of Charles Schermerhorn of this city, will deliver the 4th of July oration at Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt DeLacy Evans and Miss Evans of Baltimore, were the guests last night of Mr. and Mrs. James DeGraff of East Ninth street.

C. G. Hedge will close his Sandford avenue home for the months of July and August, and will take his family to the Prospect House, Good Ground, L. I.

Mrs. W. L. Patton, who sailed for Europe a few days ago, will stay at the home of her sister in England till the financial clouds of Mr. Patton's failure have blown away.

At a regular meeting of Winfield Scott post, 73, G. A. R., held Tuesday evening, Frank Whiteley, I. McVoy and George W. Moore were appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions on the death of Levi Sutton.

Postmaster James Baker, of Fanwood, has not appointed Norman Dunn his assistant as accused by the Westfield Standard. Miss Eva C. Baker, the postmaster's daughter, is his assistant and is so registered at Washington.

Mrs. Margaret Shepherd of 23 Emily street, North Plainfield, died at 9 this morning from a complication of diseases. She was 74 years old, and left four married sons, John, George, David and Jacob, two of whom reside in Plainfield.

The common belief that the handsome new house on Seventh street opposite the palatial Schipper home is owned by Gustave Schipper, and occupied by him and his bride, is a fallacy; the esteemed couple are living with Charles Schipper on the opposite corner.

There is missed from the PRESS composing rooms the genial presence of Arthur Dean, who has gone to New London, Conn., to work on the Day newspaper. From the many household purchases Mr. Dean made before leaving Plainfield it is believed he is about to shuffle off the coil of single blessedness.

OF THE NETHERWOOD YACHT CLUB.

Albert Wright, of Park avenue, has returned to Plainfield for a few days from City Island, where he has been superintending the overhauling of his new schooner yacht, the Priscilla. The boat is being completely refitted, with new rigging, new plumbing and new color above the water line. Mr. Wright says the Priscilla will probably be in commission by July 4.

NO FOURTH
Can be properly celebrated without a bicycle. For your satisfaction we sell the best bicycles on the market. Let not your Fourth be blank for want of suitable ammunition. The fame of the Lyndhurst bicycle is carried round the world, and makes more impression on the people than the Fourth itself. Of course we have others too, but if you want the best we recommend the Lyndhurst.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG,
And you won't have to pay a fee to the pound keeper. Two well made muzzles for 25c, or one for 15c at the 5 and 10c store. Just a few of those 20 and 25c adjustable screens left; see the handsome dinner set we are offering for $9 and the tea set for $4 and the toilet set with jar for $5, all in window; also the $7 hanging lamp for $4 and the pretty hall lamps for $1.24; no wonder a carload of oil stoves has's but a few days when we sell a single burner for 75c, a double burner for $1.20 and two stoves together double burners for $2.40. Larger stoves in proportion. White Mountain and Arctic ice cream freezers $1.25 and up, closing out watering cans at reduced price. Cheaper than granite or agate iron ware is solid copper nickel plated ware, always bright and lasts longer, costs but a little more than tin—buy of us tea kettles, tea and coffee pots, sauce pans, etc. Our boy's express wagons are not matched at $1, $1.50 and $2. Croquet 95c, $1 20, $1.50, and $2; hammocks to suit all at surprisingly low prices. Preserving kettles almost given away, the store is full of bargains. Come and see.
Our advice is "stick by your friends," but if you want to save money go to the 5 and 10c. store—ALLEN, of America.

TA-RA-RA PRAYERS.

Here's a Pleasant Little Tale About Some of Plainfield's Gain de Steele Kids.

A man who lives up on West Fifth street is the happy proprietor of a cross-eyed dog of uncertain breed, a second-hand baby-carriage, and three up-to-date children. The cross-eyed dog of uncertain breed does not figure in the present case, and is merely mentioned to lend interest and individuality, and the second-hand baby-carriage is only introduced to emphasize the fact that the children have outgrown it.

But the young ones are the whole story.

The eldest is 7, the next 5, and the third 3 years old; and it is but fair to their father to mention that they have been brought up in the way in which they should go, with a vengeance. They were taught prayers before they could speak, they warbled hymns before they could sing, and they have all been outwardly devout members of the Sunday-school since they were infants in arms.

Every evening, when the hour of retiring draws near, a regular devotional exercise is gone through, comprising a little hymn and a little prayer, and then each [illegible] carefully tucked away in a tiny bed to sleep the sleep and dream the dreams that come alone to those who approach their slumber in reverence and awe.

The other night, after the usual hymn and prayer and tucking away, the good man kissed each little one in benediction; and then, as is customary, wandered back to the library to finish his paper and pipe. He had just comfortably composed himself when there fell on his startled senses a strange and unearthly clamor, undeniably proceeding from the nursery. He arose and listened. There was sound of marching and martial melody. Curiosity and indignation combined to hasten an investigation. The conscientious householder stealthily crept upstairs and peered in through the nursery door. To say he was astonished and shocked, does not do the matter justice, for behold! there were the three young ones—two girls, mind you, and only one boy—parading up and down and across the room in Indian file, and singing in their most cultivated Sunday-school voices, to an air not infrequently heard on the street nowadays and rendered popular by a certain Miss Lottie Gilles, these words:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
Pray the Lord my soul to keep;
If I die before I wake—
Pray the Lord my soul to take.
CHO:—Ta-ra-ra, boom-de-ay, etc."

The canes and umbrellas that were displayed in the scene that followed, can be bought cheap now, if you are interested in relics of that sort.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have eversold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Avenue, opposite railroad station. 5-16 y

LUNCHING ON DAISIES.

How a Wall Street Broker Combined Business With Pleasure After Visiting Plainfield's Suburbs.

He had been visiting in Westfield, N. J., —says the New York Recorder—and returned in the morning with a bunch of golden-hearted daisies in his hand, together with a lot of buttercups. The flowers were still wet with the dew as he walked up Cortlandt street, on his way to his office, with the flowers hanging negligently at his side. As he reached Washington street a little barefooted girl ran up to him and said:

"Oh, mister, gi' me a flower?"

He looked down at the dirty face, at the eloquent, pleading eyes, at the eager hands, and, selecting two of the brightest flowers, placed them in the grimy fist. Two shop girls walked behind him, and he heard one of them whisper to her companion:

"Do you like butter?"

"Try and see", he exclaimed, turning and handing to her three of the delicate yellow cups nodding on their slender stems. She took them with a conscious blush, and, as he walked onward, he stole a furtive look over his shoulder and saw one of the girls holding a buttercup under her rounded chin to see if the sun would reflect the yellow upon her white skin.

He had scarcely rounded the corner into Broadway when he was saluted with:

"By George, Harry, give me a few of those daisies. They make me feel homesick. They remind me of the pasture at the back of the house in Greene county. Why, man, they recall the scent of honeysuckle, the hum of bees and the song of the whippoorwill. Here's three twenty-five cent cigars. Give me three daisies."

The exchange was made and Harry strolled down Broadway toward Wall street. It was early when he entered the Stock Exchange. Business for the day had not yet begun. An idea came to Harry. "I'll combine sentiment with business," said he to himself, "and earn enough to pay for my lunch."

Jumping upon a chair he began shouting to the crowd of brokers already assembled:

"Hear ye! hear ye! A consignment of daisies has just arrived from Jersey. They are for sale singly, in lots or in a bunch! How much am I offered?"

"Give me two for a dime," said a young swell who needed a boutonniere.

"Going at a nickel apiece," shouted the auctioneer. "It will cost you 50 cents in car fare to get one of these where it grows! Going at a nickel! Do I hear any more?"

But there was no need of any more bidding. Every man in the room rushed up to secure a flower, and when Harry counted his gains he found he had enough cash to pay for his lunch at the Savarin, with a bottle thrown in.

J. Wesley Johnson's Yacht.

Commuters and others going to New York may have noticed a handsome naptha launch anchored off Bergen Point near the New Jersey Athletic club's house. The launch was built at Mt. Morris for J. W. Johnson, of LaGrande avenue, and cost $3,500. It is 30 feet long and capable of comfortably seating 32 persons. It is equipped in elegant style, the deck being of mahogany. Captain Luke Henry will start with the launch early next week for Mr. Johnson's summer residence near Burlington, Vt., going via Hudson River to Troy, thence by canal to Whitehall and so on to Lake Champlain. While the boat is anchored off Bergen Point, Mr. Johnson's friends are daily inspecting it.

Corn Looking Well, Potatoes Not Thriving.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

Plainfield—The showers of the 22d and 23d have helped. Early potatoes not thriving as well as late planted, on account of drought; oats, although they are heading, will not amount to much without more rain. Rainfall, 0.61 inch. JOHN NEAGLE.

South Plainfield—The hot, dry weather has shortened the berry, grass and oat crops, and has retarded all kind of garden truck. The dry weather has given all a chance to kill weeds and cultivate, and corn is looking well. P. C. JOHNSON.

DISCUSSION OVER REAL ESTATE.

Difference of Opinion Over the Sale by the Rahway Friends.

An out-of-town paper thus speaks of a matter which has already been mentioned in these columns:

The Society of Friends at Rahway and the Society at Plainfield are expected to come together Thursday in an important business matter over which a clash may be looked for. The Society in Rahway has dwindled in membership until the support of a meeting-house has become a burden, and the Friends appointed a committee to sell the property. The Plainfield Society has jurisdiction over that at Rahway, and some of its leaders think that the Rahway Friends are sacrificing their estate at a very low figure. Warm opposition has been aroused, and at 5 p. m. Thursday a special meeting will be held to investigate the matter and decide what shall be done.

A Thrilling Street Duel, and Dainty Maidens in Song and Magic.

At the Eden Musee a new wax group is now being arranged which will represent a street duel in Spain. It will be one of the most thrilling scenes ever produced and exhibited. The participants with long daggers in hand, will be at the point of making the final thrust which will decide the suitor for the fair hand in the window above. The object of this bloody tragedy looks down upon the scene in a state of half amazement and half fright, while her presence seems to enrage the participants to a point bordering on frenzy. The new uniform of Colonel of Hussars for Emperor William II. of Germany has arrived and now adorns the perfect likeness of the foremost sovereign of today. It was made by the court tailor at an expense to the Musee of $1,200. The stage performance is as interesting as ever, and the wonderful illusions of Chevalier Mystere Delprade have astounded thousands of people. Every new one he produces seems to excel the one before, and he seems to have an inexhaustible supply of wonders in store for the patrons of the Musee. No one as yet has discovered the key to the wonderful mind reading of Mons. Guibal and Miss Marie Greville, while the magic hand of the former defies optical detection, in his clever sleight-of-hand tricks. One of the most remarkable attractions of the stage performance is the act of Miss Adele Purvis Ouri in balancing and posing on a slack wire. She seems to defy the laws of gravity and equitation, for she performs some feats that appear impossible to the audience. Miss Lizzie Derious Daly in her captivating rendition of the popular songs of the day is a magnetic attraction and she never fails to win her audience. After many years of labor the Eden Musee has succeeded in engaging the finest Hungarian Band in the world, led by Danko Gabor, a famous and renowned violinist, and under the management of Carl Biringer. The afternoon and evening programmes are brimful of charming airs, and repeated applause greets every selection rendered.

Post 73 Will Want to Keep Its Name

There is a movement on foot looking to the consolidation of Winfield Scott and Major Anderson posts, G. A. R., of this city. At the meeting of Post 73, Tuesday evening, a committee was appointed to consider the matter, with instructions to report at the next meeting. The question of changing the name of the new post, should the two consolidate, was also talked over, but it is not likely that the members of Post 73 will consent to a change of name.

Imitators and Imposters.

The unequalled success of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS as an external remedy has induced unscrupulous parties to offer imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of ALLCOCK'S. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority to or equality with ALLCOCK'S a false pretense.

The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS the best external remedy ever produced.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

JR. COUNCILS IN A TUG OF WAR.

A Pie-Eating Match and a Greased-Pig Chase, Features of the New Market Fourth.

Friendship council, 81, Jr. O. U. A. M., will conduct the Fourth of July celebration at New Market. Besides the athletic sports, there will be a grand display of land and water fireworks. The Rev F. Fletcher will give an address, and the Rev. J. B. Cleaver an oration. Elegant prizes will be given in the following events:

Bicycle Race,	Egg Race,
Boat Race,	Obstacle Race,
Tub Race,	Tug-of-War,
Pole Vaulting,	Greased-Pig Chase,
Running High Jump,	Pie-Eating Match.

The tug-of-war will be pulled by teams from Pioneer council, 58, of Bound Brook, and Friendship council, 81, of New Market.

Entries must be made to any of the committee before July 4. The different events will take place in the order they are printed on the programme, beginning at 1 p. m.

The committee consists of Charles S. Day, Frank O Nelson and James R. Dunham.

A Rich, Rare Treat for Plainfield.

Albert F. Venino to-day received a letter from Gustav Dannreuther, manager of the Beethoven String Quartette, assuring him of their hearty co-operation for his proposed subscription concerts. Vladimir de Pachmann, the greatest Chopin interpreter, will visit America in October, and will be heard in Plainfield in either the November or January concert. Plunkett Green does not arrive until January, and will be reserved for the last concert of the series. Arthur Friedheim, the favorite pupil of Liszt, has also been secured. This will be a great treat for Plainfield music-lovers. Such artists have never appeared here before. The most intimate friendship and esteem exists between these artists, and Mr. Venino alone makes their appearance here possible, as their prices are so very high that none but large cities can ordinarily afford to engage them.

The Bricklayers, and How They Will Play.

The following members of the Bricklayers' and Masons' union of this city are the team selected to play ball against a team of the Bricklayers and Masons of Somerville, July 4:

Michael O'Keeffee, pitcher; Wren Townley, catcher; Wm. Tallamy, short-stop; James O'Keeffee, first base; Peter Galbraith, second base; Theo. Mason, third base; Samuel Tunison, right field; Charles Burnett, center field; Warren Townley, left field.

William Pangborn will umpire the game. It is expected to be a very interesting contest, as some of the players are old-time sports. Mr. Tallamy used to play shortstop with an amateur team called the Buttermilks in Paterson. He will also take part in a bicycle race in the afternoon.

The Only Kind of Humor Somerville Knows.

Under the choice heading "Perhaps It's What the Crescents Lacked", the Somerville Messenger comments because "a Mr. Smith is about to ask permission of the councils of the city and borough to build a public bath. The permission should be granted. When a man has such an eye for the eternal fitness of things as Mr. Smith, and is willing to make an effort to fill such a long-felt want, he should be tendered every possible encouragement. The 'Colorado of the East' would be benefited by a good bath. By all means, let them have it."

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave. opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

$17 FOR THE FUND.

Trinity Sunday-School Workers Conduct a Delightful Fair.

The fair that was held yesterday afternoon and evening on the lawn of Mr. Keeseiring, 25 Chatham street, for the benefit of the building fund for a proposed new Sunday-school building for Trinity Reformed church, cleared $17. The affair was admirably planned by Miss Lillie Zeisz and Miss Jennie Sheppard, who also had charge of the cake and candy tables. Fancy table No. 1 was in charge of Miss VanNorstrand, and fancy table No. 2 in charge of Miss Meyers. The lemonade well and fishing pond were a novelty, gracefully presided over by Miss Pangborn. Miss Morse was queen of the doll tent, and Miss Lang dispensed ice-cream.

Second Edition of Panjandrum.

For the past fortnight unusual preparations have been in progress at the Broadway theater, New York city, by popular DeWolf Hopper and his clever associates, for the second edition of the gorgeous operatic spectacle, "Panjandrum", which was given at the theater for the first time last evening.

Many important changes have been made by J. Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse, and the new edition shows a radical change from the present version, as the book has not only been entirely rewritten, but several new characters have been added, as well as many charming melodies to its really excellent score that have not been heard before.

Effective Advertising.

Shortly after THE PRESS, containing the large advertisement of Edsall's removal sale, was distributed, last night, the effect on his evening trade was plainly visible, as his store was filled with buyers who seemed well pleased with the goods that had been marked down, and bought freely.

This enterprising house never does things by halves, and this present great removal sale is no exception to the rule. Mr. Edsall says he will fully guarantee every article bought at this sale, the same as he has always done, as being regular standard quality of the best makes of goods.

Preferred His Pleasant Home to Jail.

Philip Zimmer was in the city court this morning charged with abusing his wife. He was arrested on her complaint, and she testified that he struck her, called her names and used profane and indecent language. The sentence of the court was $5 or 15 days. Zimmer said doggedly that he would go to jail, but after the commitment had been made out he concluded to pay his fine and was released.

Escaped Again.

While superintending the work of patching up what is known as the "apron" at Tier's dam, yesterday, P. M. French had the misfortune to slip from a plank into the brook. He received a thorough drenching and had to go home and change his clothes.

Always 24 Hours Late.

The moribund News is at its old tricks again. Tuesday it reproduced from these columns of the day before the list of Saturday's tennis play on the Union County courts, and the fire department test of the hydrant service—in both instances a word-for-word steal.

Paoli's Trial Postponed.

The re-trial of the case of the city against Lorenzo Paoli, for alleged violation of the Sunday-selling ordinance, has been postponed until such a time as lawyers Marsh and Hetfield can decide on a date that will be convenient for both sides.

Mr. Thompson's Possessions Still Increasing.

William Kelly, of Oak Tree, has sold his half interest in the 90,000-acres of land in which he was interested in Florida, to A. D. Thompson of this city.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. E. G. Vassar, 56 Warren st., New York.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me. S A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

POISONED THE FAMILY.

Desperate Deed of a Negress Near Hightstown, N. J.

She Put a Large Quantity of Paris Green in the Teakettle and in the Well—The Woman Arrested.

HIGHTSTOWN, N. J., June 29.—A colored woman of the name of Lizzie Stevens, employed by Albert Chamberlain, a wealthy farmer living near here, yesterday attempted, it is alleged, to poison the entire household by putting large quantities of paris green in the tea kettle and in the well.

Mr. Chamberlin's family are under the care of a physician.

The farm hands seized the colored woman and, but for Mr. Chamberlin, would have given her some rough usage.

They finally locked her up in a smokehouse and sent to Hightstown for officers to take her in custody.

THE SOLDIERS' CAMP

They Are Being Visited by Their Friends To-Day.

STATE CAMP, PEEKSKILL, N. Y., June 29.—The separate companies by their extra work Tuesday afternoon made up for time lost through the storm. Yesterday the 47th Regiment made up the time that it lost by keeping constantly at work from 5:30 o'clock in the morning until the afternoon with what should have been the early morning company drill.

To-day they have the regular Thursday drill, and in the afternoon will have an opportunity to escort the visitors who are expected at the camp.

The steamer Mary Powell landed here this morning with the friends of the Poughkeepsie soldiers, and the James T. Brett brought more people down later from Newburgh, Cornwall and other river towns.

Queen Unveils Her Statue.

LONDON, June 29.—The statue of the Queen, the work of Princess Beatrice, her majesty's youngest daughter, was unveiled in Kensington Gardens yesterday. The ceremony was attended by members of the royal family of Great Britain and a number of princes and princesses from other countries. The statue was unveiled by the Queen in person. The work has been highly commended for its artistic merit.

President Cheney Resigns.

LEWISTON, Me., June 29.—At a meeting of the president and trustees of Bates College, President O. B. Cheney presented his annual report, which contained in addition to the business matters of the college the president's resignation, which is to take effect Sept. 22 next, on which day he will have completed thirty-nine years of work, thirty for the college proper.

The Gatling Failure Denied.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 29.—The report of the failure of the Gatling Ordnance Company is denied by George M. Bailey, who is associated with Dr. Gatling in the enterprise. Mr Bailey said the ordnance company is not in financial straits, and that the judgment filed against the Town Site Company probably led to the report.

Immigrants at Boston.

BOSTON, June 29.—The steamer Boston, at this port from Yarmouth, N. S., brought 15 immigrants, and the steamer Olivette, from Halifax, N. S., 10.

Stone Fences Needed.

The young man's father was paying him a visit, just to see how he was getting along at college.

"So yer learnin' fencin'?"

"Yes."

"That's right, William. Learn ter make yerself useful ter yer father. Don't bother none about rail fences; stone fences is what they need in our section of the country."—Washington Star.

A Model Husband.

"I defy you to find a man who loves his wife as dearly as I love mine. To render her happy, I would undertake to go and live alone at the top of a mountain."

"But you would never come up to Puntolini's uncle, who, when he ascertained that his wife looked best in mourning, went and committed suicide.—Il Corriere della Sera.

Barkis Was Willing.

Miss Elderly—I want a pair of gloves, but I have forgotten the number.

Handsome Clerk—Your hand, if you please.

Miss Elderly—This is a little sudden, considering our short acquaintance, but you can call this evening and see my father. He will not oppose the union of two loving hearts!—Texas Siftings.

On the Train.

Mrs. Honeymoon—Do you love me? Old Party (confidentially, from seat behind)—She's asked you forty-seven times in four hours. I get off here, but I'll leave the screw with this gentleman by the window.—Brooklyn Life.

A Misfit.

Little Miss De Fashion—I am going to send these shoes right back. They are a miserable misfit.

Father—How?

Little Miss De Fashion—They is a mile too big. They don't pinch a bit.—Good News.

Superior in Arithmetic.

Teacher—If your father can do a piece of work in seven days and your Uncle George can do it in nine days, how long would it take both of them?

Johnny—They'd never get it done. They'd sit down and tell fish stories.—Golden Days.

QUEEN & CO.,

OCULISTS AND OPTICIANS,

OF 1010 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA,

Announce that one of their

DISTANT NEAR "Copyright, 1892." DISTANT NEAR EYE SPECIALISTS

— IS IN —

PLAINFIELD EVERY THURSDAY,

Dunham's Real Estate Office, 7 East Front St.,

FROM 8.30 A. M. TO 5.30 P. M.

No charge is made to determine if your eyesight may be improved or headache relieved, by wearing properly adjusted glasses. Bear in mind the address, and do not fail to consult our specialist if your eyes trouble you.

MESSRS. QUEEN & CO, are well known throughout the United States as Opticians of the highest experience and skill. Their glasses are worn by tens of thousands in all parts of the world, and their work is acknowledged to be the standard of excellence everywhere. The staff of oculists and opticians engaged at their main store, 1010 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, is composed of men whose skill and ability to give relief to defective eyes is of the highest order.

Recognizing the fact that in many populous centres there is no person who understands the measurement of the sight and adjustment of glasses in all the details, they have arranged that one of their Eye Specialists shall come periodically to your city, at the address given above.

This method not only causes much loss of time, but multiplies the chances of error.

Queen's specialists are men of large experience gained by daily and constant practice, which enables them to correct the most defective vision without the use of drops, I any kind in the eye.

Messrs. Queen & Co. make no boasts of wonderful remedies, nor do they claim any special healing power in the glasses they furnish, as is so often done by ignorant persons who merely deal in glasses. Queen & Co. guarantee every pair of glasses ordered to be satisfactory, and expect to win your approval by the skillful and accurate manner in which they give you improved and comfortable vision.

SILVER MINING TO STOP

Colorado Mine Owners Will Cease Operations.

THEY CANNOT AFFORD TO KEEP ON

Thirty-Thousand Men Will be Thrown Out of Employment by the Decision—The Price of the White Metal Takes Another Drop in Europe.

DENVER, June 30.—Silver mining and smelting in Colorado will cease. This decision was reached at a meeting of all the leading mine owners and managers of the State held at the Brown Palace Hotel, last evening.

The mines cannot be operated at the present price, and to stop further loss all operations will come to a standstill and 25,000 or 30,000 men be thrown out of employment.

There was a large attendance at the meeting. Ex-Gov. J. B. Grant, of the Omaha & Grant Smelter and the largest concern of its kind in the world was chairman.

The following resolution, among others, was adopted:

"Resolved, That it is the unanimous sense of this meeting of mine, mill and smelter-owners that we put a stop to our further losses by an immediate and complete cessation of all our silver mining, milling and smelting operations in the State of Colorado."

DENVER, Col., June 30.—There is no disguising the fact that there is a great discouragement existing throughout Colorado because of the break in silver. In addition to the closing down of the Mollie Gibson mine at Aspen, throwing 900 people out of employment, two mines at Creede have closed, the Amethyst and the New York, and it is given out that others will follow in the latter district.

Col. A. C. Fisk, one of Colorado's most prominent silver advocates, declares that it is a conspiracy headed by the money powers of England and the United States to ruin the debtors and purchasers of the world, and Manager Hutchison of the Mining Exchange, predicts that unless rates of silver are somewhat restored by July 5, at least 10,000 Colorado miners will be thrown out of work.

The outlook is being seriously discussed. At Leadville a gloomy view of the situation is taken and mine investors in that silver stronghold are anything but cheerful.

Others, however, say that the present silver depression is but the means to an end which will bring silver back to its original position remonetized. The Denver smelters are making no purchases.

STILL SILVER DROPS

Another Decline in the White Metal in the London Market.

LONDON, June 30.—An extraordinary decline has taken place in the price of silver in the market here. The fall was 2 3-4 pence, making the present price 31 1-4 pence.

A very unsettled feeling prevailed at the close of the Stock Exchange yesterday. Silver securities were seriously depressed. American railroad securities were very flat. Denver & Rio Grande common stock declined 1 5-8, and do. preferred 4. Louisville & Nashville was down 1-4, and Central Pacific 1 3-4.

REACTION IN FAVOR OF SILVER

The Helena Smelter Will Not Close Down Its Works.

HELENA, Mont., June 30. — Ex-Gov. Hauser, chief owner of the Helena smelter which is turning out about $300,000 in bullion every month, says it will not close as there is enough gold and lead in the ores of Montana to keep it running in spite of low prices of silver.

Hauser says the present situation will cause a reaction in favor of silver.

Every silver mine that closes down reduces the production of gold from 25 to 40 per cent. The result will be contraction of gold product to less than $65,000,000 per annum, an amount which is consumed every year in the arts alone. Money will become scarcer, gold go to a premium, and this scarcity will compel an increased use of silver.

Hauser thinks the next Congress will repeal the Sherman law and pass a law for the coinage of three or four millions of silver per month on an increased ratio. Hauser is one of the largest mine owners in Montana.

Silver Question in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, June 30.—Replying to a question in the Chamber of Deputies, M. Beernaret, the President of the Council and Minister of Finance, stated that the time was ill-chosen to discuss the probable effects of Indian monetary questions on the silver interests of the nations forming the Latin Union. He said that the International Monetary Conference would probably be assembled in Brussels shortly.

Silver Market in Holland.

AMSTERDAM, June 30.—The market here for silver has been, with the other markets of the world, greatly affected by the action of the Government of India in dealing with the currency question in that country. In the open market the price of fine silver has dropped from 63 guilders to 60 guilders per kilo.

The Wood River Mines Stop.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, June 30.—The River silver mine owners with few exceptions have suspended operations owing to the fall in silver.

Almost a Panic in Boston.

BOSTON, June 30.—The strain of the financial and business situation yesterday was severer than ever. Stocks were demoralized at the start, and it looked for a time as if the much dreaded panic was about to break. The liquidation was extremely heavy, and under the pressure prices tumbled badly. The banks were calling loans on all sides, and some of the best houses on the street had to pay abnormally high rates to get carried through. The rate advanced from 10 to 140 per cent.

More Loan Certificates Issued.

NEW YORK, June 30.—There was a very large issue of loan certificates by the Clearing House yesterday. President Tappan, of the Gallatin National Bank, who is chairman of the loan committee said this morning that $8,000,000 of the certificates had been issued. This makes the total issue $15,000,000.

Smuggled Watches Seized.

NEW YORK, June 30—Twelve gold watches were seized yesterday by Custom House Inspector McOrt on the Havel. The smuggler, who was a cabin passenger, and who was bound for Chicago, carried them about his waist in a belt.

PLUNGED INTO THE WATER

A Royal Blue Locomotive Lies at the Bottom of North River.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The passengers of the Royal Blue line and of the many trains of the Central railroad of New Jersey, who filled the depot at the Jersey City terminal yesterday, were startled by a loud escape of steam. They rushed to the north side of the depot and were horrified to see an engine rushing down the track, evidently beyond control.

They had scarcely time to catch a glance at the monster, when it thundered past and plunged into the river.

The engineer had tried his best to stop his engine, but it would not respond. Finding that the plunge was inevitable, he and the fireman jumped, landing at the end of the train shed.

The engine, which is No. 19, is now lying at the bottom of the river. The engineer and the firemen were not injured. The brakeman was badly scratched.

Admiral Tryon's Successor.

LONDON, June 30.—Vice-Admiral Sir Michael Culms-Seymour, Commander-in-Chief of the British Mediterranean Station has been appointed to succeed Vice-Admiral Sir George Tryon, who lost his life by the foundering of the battleship Victoria. Sir Michael entered the navy in 1839, became a captain in 1865, a rear admiral in 1888, and a vice-admiral in 1888. He served in the Burmah war of 1852, in the Baltic and Black Seas during the Crimean war, and in the China war.

AN ALL NIGHT SESSION.

Parliament In Discussion Over the Home Rule Bill.

Mr. Gladstone's Resolution for Expediting the Passage of the Bill Meets Great Opposition—Balfour Finally Yields.

LONDON, June 30.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Gladstone moved the adoption of the resolution, the terms of which were read in the House Wednesday, providing for the quicker passage of the Irish Government Act (the Home Rule Bill).

In speaking of his motion Mr. Gladstone said that the government would not feel justified in sanctioning any intermission in the business of the House by proroguing or adjourning Parliament until the Home Rule Bill was passed and supply voted. The resolution was absolutely necessary.

The Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, the leader of the Opposition in the House, here asked: "How can proposals curtailing the liberty of discussion of the Home Rule bill be a necessity when the Prime Minister in the same breath states that there is plenty of time to settle other questions?"

Continuing, Mr. Balfour said it was party expediency and not Parliamentary necessity that inspired the resolution. Nothing but the whole energies of Parliament during the whole session were adequate to the Home Rule bill. The government wished to evade discussion on a new constitution.

T. W. Russell, champion of the men of Ulster, moved the rejection of the resolution.

Joseph Chamberlain, leader of the Liberal Unionists, spoke at length against the government's plan for curtailing the debate in the committee stage. The object of the resolution was virtually to gag the chief contracting party to the union. Nothing more monstrous had ever been proposed in the House.

On division the motion of Viscount Cranborne to adjourn was lost by a vote of 270 to 242.

At 3:30 a. m. Charles Conybeare, Radical for Northwest Cornwall, moved the closure. The Speaker refused flatly to put the question, and the debate on the original resolution was resumed.

After some further discussion Mr. Balfour agreed to conclude the offering of amendments at 7 o'clock to-night, and Sir William Harcourt consented to adjourn the House. The members rose a few minutes after 4 o'clock.

Chicago's Government Building Very Shaky.

THE WALLS BEGINNING TO BULGE

One of the Regular Entrances Abandoned by the Post Office Department—But Few People Except Employes Will Enter the Structure.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Not half the ordinary number of people that generally enter the Government building on business have been seen there for the past two days, and applicants for stamps or letters and those having business in the Judiciary Department get out without a moment's delay as soon as they have transacted their business.

On the Adams street side the wall has begun to bulge and is leaning toward the street, seven inches out of line. On the Jackson street side it is nine inches out of plumb. These are figures given by Superintendent of Construction Bailey.

Yesterday Assistant Postmaster Hubbard abandoned the regular entrance and made the exit and entrance through an alley, owing to the discovery.

The main support of the first balcony, outside the office door, is beginning to give way and is bound to come down before long.

The "Evening Post" will print editorially day after day a declaration that the building is a death trap, and that a sign warning people of peril should be posted over every entrance, as it holds that the most widespread warning is necessary to avert the immense loss of life that a collapse without warning would involve.

The amount of mail deposited in the street boxes has quadrupled since last Saturday, the employes in large wholesale houses and others having extensive correspondence refusing to deposit mail matter in the building, utilizing street boxes instead.

Yesterday Commissioner Toolen directed Building Inspector Chenung to examine the Government building and report on its condition. The report of the inspectors, which is expected to-day, will probably pronounce the building unsafe and recommend that it be condemned.

The Federal custodians have not recognized the city's representatives during the inspection and are not likely to notice any action of the commissioner that may result from it.

Commissioner Toolen will notify Secretary Carlisle of the condition of the building and in the event of any catastrophe the responsibility will be clearly fixed upon the United States Government.

DIED IN COURT

An Abandoned Baby Expires as Its Parents' Case is Being Argued.

NEW YORK, June 30.—An infant about two weeks old died in Part II. of the General Sessions yesterday. A nurse employed in the Foundling Asylum at Randall's Island was on the stand testifying against Joseph and Mary Faresi, who were charged with abandoning the child on June 15th. They were seen to leave it in the vestibule of a house on Lexington avenue.

The nurse had the child in her arms when it suddenly took a gasp and ceased breathing. She notified the Recorder, who declared a recess for a few moments. The child was removed to the Morgue and the coroner notified.

Electric Railroad to be Extended.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., June 30.—General Manager Snell of the Amsterdam Electric railroad says that in his opinion the road will be extended to Gloversville and Johnstown within a year. The road could be built and equipped for $200,000. The line would be a competitor of the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville and Cayadutta roads. Surveyors are now at work on the proposed lines.

McKenzie Sent to the Reformatory.

NEW YORK, June 30.—George McKenzie, the youth, who was convicted of manslaughter, in having caused the death of 15-year-old Harry Duell on February 10, 1892, was sent to the Elmira Reformatory by Judge Fitzgerald in the General Sessions yesterday. McKenzie and his lawyer seemed pleased with the sentence.

Editors Off for Montreal.

HOTEL AMPERSAND, N. Y., June 30.—The business programme of the New York State Press Association's convention was concluded yesterday. F. P. Hall, of the Jamestown Journal, was elected president. This morning the party left on a special train for Montreal via the steamer Paul Smith through the Lachine Rapids.

Queen City Bank to Resume.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 30.—All indications now point to an early resumption at the Queen City bank. The directors at their last meeting were unanimously in favor of that policy. They will adopt the plan suggested by Examiner Creed, and scale down their capital sufficiently to meet all indebtedness and leave a solid surplus besides.

Harvard Man Sentenced to Jail.

BOSTON, June 30.—In the Cambridge district court, Richard M. Dole, a Harvard law student, was sentenced to the House of Correction for five days for creating a disturbance on a horse car. He appealed from the five day sentence, and unless the case is settled before October, he will have to return to Cambridge from his home in St. Paul, Minn.

Five Hundred More Chinese.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary Carlisle has received a telegram from Portland, Oregon, announcing the arrival there of the Haytien Republic with 500 Chinese aboard. The vessel was seized by the United States Treasury agents.

INDIAN FACTIONS MAY CLASH

One Party Threatens to Prevent an Execution on July 7.

CADDO, I. T., June 30.—Trouble has again arisen between the Jackson and Jones faction of the Cherokee Indians, and will probably come to a focus within a brief time. The cause of the difficulty is the payment of money to the militia that was ordered out in the spring to suppress the feud between the two factions and because of the execution on July 7 of the nine Choctaws belonging to the Jackson faction.

Last night at 11 o'clock Key Durant, captain of the Choctaw militia, received a telegram from Gov. Jones instructing him to proceed at once to Tuskahoma, but for what reason the message did not state. The reasons were, however, learned later. The Jackson party is ready to go to any extremity to prevent the execution of the Indians, and declare that they will never tolerate it; that they had rather see a revolt than to quietly submit.

The Jones party claims it is in the right, and that the law will be carried out. Serious trouble is probable if the law is carried out.

Will Not Leave Detroit.

DETROIT, June 30.—An article appeared in one of the papers yesterday afternoon stating that the Pullman car shops in Detroit would close down within two weeks and never reopen. Manager A. M. Parent says there is no likelihood of the Pullman people leaving Detroit.

ALTGELD MAKES REPLY

To the Charges that He is Not a Citizen.

The Governor Says That His Father Was Fully Naturalized and That There is no Cloud Upon His Citizenship.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Gov. Altgeld has replied to the charge made since his pardon of the Anarchists that he is not a citizen of the United States. In an interview he said:

"The people who are uncertain as to the legality of my acts as Governor of Illinois need give themselves no uneasiness on that score. I have no time to go into details, but can assure you that my father was naturalized when I was a very small boy. Indeed, I was but three months old when the family arrived in this country, and my father at once took the necessary steps to make him a citizen of the United States. He became fully naturalized, and I, being a minor, became a citizen on reaching my majority by virtue of the papers issued to my father. This occurred at Mansfield, O., and the records will show the time of his naturalization, if any one cares to make an investigation.'

HANGED IN EFFIGY

Governor Altgeld's Action Greatly Displeases Some of His Constituency.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Gov. John P. Altgeld's action in pardoning the Anarchists has roused the residents of the town of Naperville, near this city, to such a pitch that they gave expression to their feelings last night by hanging the governor in effigy.

A large stuffed figure surmounted by a counterfeit presentment of the governor's head and face was swung across the principal street of the town. Hanging from the neck across the breast were painted two hands clasped in a grasp of friendship. On one hand was the word "Anarchy" and on the other "Altgeld." The effigy hanging in the moonlight attracted a crowd of people, many of whom gave free expression of their approval. There was considerable excitement and it was not until this morning that the effigy was cut down by the authorities.

Case Against Mr. Deasy.

LONDON, June 30.—Mr. John Deasy, Member of the House of Commons for the West Division of County Mayo, against whom a young girl, employed as a servant in the house in which Mr. Deasy lodged, procured a summons for assault, was brought up in the police court to-day. It was previously stated that the magistrate had issued the summons for common assault, but to-day Mr. Deasy was held for trial for indecent assault. Bail in the sum of $100 was accepted.

Boy Murderer Wood's Case.

BROOKLYN, June 30.—The 11-year-old boy, Lewis Wood, who was arrested on a charge of having killed Bertie Wagner, a 3-year-old son of a Freehold, N. J., farmer, has not, as yet, been taken to that State, although requisition papers have been granted by the Governor for his transfer. An attempt is being made to keep him in this State for trial, as in this State a boy under 12 years of age is not considered capable of committing a crime.

Chicago Lottery Men Indicted.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The grand jury has returned indictments against eight of the most prominent lottery men in the city. The indicted men are George Roberts, James Neal, H. B. Martin, James Doyle, J. Chrysler, and one woman, Miss Mamie Carrick. Immediately after the papers were placed in the hands of officers, who were instructed to lose no time in arresting the persons named.

Bail Asked for Dr. Graves.

DENVER, June 30.—Judge Macon, counsel for Dr. Graves, made a plea before Judge Burns, of the Criminal Court yesterday for bail for his client. Judge Macon stated that he was confident that bail would be allowed and that Dr. Graves would be liberated pending his trial next September.

An English Smuggler Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Henry B. Hendricks, an Englishman, who was indicted some time ago for smuggling clothes made by Poole, the London tailor, to this country, has been sentenced to four months' imprisonment.

LABOR NOTES

The bricklayers of Cleveland had to declare their strike off because they were not supported by the other building trades unions.

Street laborers' wages have been advanced by the city authorities of St. Paul from $1.40 to 1.50 per day, while their hours were reduced to eight.

Most of the local branches of the Iron Moulders' Union of America report that the financial crisis is having a marked effect upon their trade, which has not been so dull for many years.

Textile workers of all countries have been invited by the Passementerie-Workers' Union of Basle, to send delegates to the Textile-Workers' International Congress, to be held in Zurich, Switzerland, from Aug. 7 to Aug. 30.

FROM EDITOR WRIGHT.

THE PUSH AND BRAINS OF THE HAVERHILL GAZETTE.

For Correct Thinking, Healthy Nerves Are Necessary—In Worry, Not Work; In Excitement, Not Labor, is the Peril.

For correct thinking a healthy brain is necessary; it is necessary as well for peace of mind and body.

In worry, not work; in excitement, not calm labor, lies the greatest peril; and that peril is greater as the wear and tear of modern life increases.

A brain that only gets just enough nourishment to keep it alive will not produce much, and will not develop its powers; it is in recognition of this fact that so many eminent workers in the literary field have been publicly recommending that great restorer of vitality, Paine's celery compound.

Few newspaper men are better known than the able and energetic editor of the Haverhill, Mass., Gazette, Mr. John B. Wright, who, by the way, is a near relative of Boston's most famous editor.

Mr. Wright, in a letter to the Wells & Richardson Co., says:

"I have used Paine's celery compound with marked beneficial results; as a nerve tonic and sleep promoter I consider it far ahead of anything in the market to-day; it has certainly been of great assistance to me when tired and over worked."

Mental strain demands nourishment; it is for this that so many eminent lawyers, active politicians, journalists, hard-headed business men, church men, children and their mothers, take Paine's celery compound.

There is no question about its virtue; physicians have long prescribed it; year in and year out testimonials by hundreds have been accumulating, so that an intelligent man knows what he is taking, and what its results have been in cases just like his own.

TO THE ARCTIC REGIONS.

Peary And His Party Will Leave New York To-Night.

Additional Supplies Being Received on Board the Whaleboat Falcon To-day. The Party Numbers Fifteen Persons.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The whale-boat Falcon, which has been engaged to take the second Peary expedition to Greenland, arrived here yesterday, and came to anchor at a downtown dock. After receiving on board additional supplies, she will sail to night. The vessel is being inspected to day for a small admission fee, as was done in Philadelphia.

The party which will start from this port includes fifteen persons. Thirteen of these belong to the expedition, the two others disembarking at St. John's. Beside Lieut. Peary, there will be Mrs. Peary; her maid, Miss Cross; S. J. Entreken, of West Chester, Pa.; Ewind Astrop, of Norway; Dr. Edward Vincent, of Springfield, Ill.; J. W. Davidson, of Austin, Minn.; E. B. Baldwin, of Nashville; George H. Carr, of Chicago; Hugh J. Sea, of Meriden, Conn.; George H. Clark, of Brooklyne, Mass; F. W. Stokes, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Peary's negro servant, Matthe Henson.

LOOKING FOR SPANISH GOLD

$1,500,000 Supposed to be Buried in Missouri Soil.

SEDALIA, Mo., June 30.—There is considerable excitement in Knobnoster, Johnson county, over a search that is being made there for the $1,500,000 in gold supposed to have been buried by Spaniards many years ago.

Tradition says that the Spaniards were conveying the gold from Mexico to Booneville for shipment on the river to New York, when they were attacked by Indians, and while making a defense they buried their treasure. On the spot where debris of the wagons has been found, excavations were commenced last Sunday, and the work has been prosecuted vigorously ever since, but so far no trace of the gold has been found.

LOSS $60,000

The Standard Oil Company's Big Fire in Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., June 30.—The Standard Oil Company's loss from yesterday's big fire at its works on the Passaic river front, near the Erie railroad depot, will not exceed $60,000. The blaze was the biggest which the firemen had to combat since the conflagration at the car stables of the Orange electric line.

The fire originated in an explosion in one of the big tanks. For a time it looked not only as if the whole oil plant would be destroyed, but that the fire would extend to the lumber yards and big thread mills that are located near by, and that the burning, floating oil on the river would carry the fire along the wharves.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—As a result of the conference last night the President to-day made the following appointments:

Elliot M. Bowman, of Indiana, to be Deputy Fourth Auditor of the Treasury.

George B. Anderson, of the District of Columbia, to be Secretary of Legation at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Pietro Bucciari, the murderer of Catholic Sister Hilaberta, was hanged at Reading, Pa., yesterday.

A big convention in which all the Conservative clubs in the Dominion will be represented will be held in Toronto next month.

Dr. Mary Bell, 44 years old, of Boston, is under arrest charged with performing a criminal operation on Rosie Teculski, 17 years of age.

Both Houses of the Connecticut Legislature asdjourned sine die yesterday. In the House, Speaker Brooks was presented with a gold watch and chain.

The 14 year-old daughter of George Earle, formerly chief of the Hackensack, N. J., police force, was drowned in the Hackensack river yesterday afternoon.

Commodore Staunton has been assigned to the command of the United States vessels on the South Atlantic station. He will hoist his flag on the Newark August 1.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—New York against Plainfield on the Crescent Oval to-morrow!

—There is no news yet of Stephen Davis who disappeared from the City Hotel last week.

—A praise and consecration service will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church this evening at 8.

—The Plainfield Friends yesterday ratified with but slight discussion the sale of the Rahway Friends' property.

—Charles Hand caught a runaway horse on Madison avenue this morning and turned it over to policeman Kiely.

—Sportsman Franz of Scotch Plains won the Independent Gun club hammerless gun drawn for at Blatz's hotel last night.

—Fritz caught two fine games for the Crescents at Poughkeepsie, this week, and his throwing to bases was a great improvement.

—Neuman Bros., the Watchung avenue grocers, will make a fine display to-morrow morning of berries and fruits. Give them your Saturday order.

—Fred Walker, of New street, found a wallet with some money in it, yesterday. There were also some papers valuable to the owner, to whom Walker returned it.

—John A. Thickstun has received the contract for curbing the gutters and flagging the sidewalk on the Park avenue side of the Park Avenue church, and as soon as grade stakes are set will begin the work.

—A horse escaped from its stable last night about 9, and galloped down North and Park avenues into Front street. It was caught by officer Frederickson and taken to a nearby livery stable to await its owner.

—To-morrow's ball game here will be the greatest ever played in Plainfield, although the Crescents will probably be defeated. Tuesday Plainfield will meet Paterson who have won once and Trenton who came mighty near it.

—Prohibitionist Bradley, who owns Asbury Park, has been converted to THE PRESS's theory that the only way to shut up the "speak-easies" and restrict the sale of liquor is by high license. So now he advocates it for Asbury Park.

—Harry F. Skiff will to-morrow be succeeded as U. S. express manager in Plainfield by E. W. Mills, who has been an express messenger on the Royal Blue Line. Mr. Skiff is to be transferred to another town. His host of Plainfield friends will be sorry to hear this, for he has given general satisfaction, having handled big business in the face of obstacles.

A Servant Girl Dies of Over-Eating.

"Eda", a 14-year-old servant girl employed in the household of Henry G. Smith, 65 Westervelt avenue, was found dead in her room this forenoon, and the sudden death caused some excitement in the neighborhood and much speculation as to the cause of the demise.

Dr. Hedges, who was summoned, says that the girl had simply died of overeating. Mrs. Smith has been ill, and "Eda" took advantage of the opportunity to stuff herself with everything good she could lay hands on. The result was a violent attack of cholera morbus, which terminated fatally as stated.

Moral: Don't Be Affectionate to Your Mother-in-Law.

John Kretzer, a West Front street barber, went to sit down on his mother-in-law's lap, last evening, and upset the rocker in which she sat. He struck his head against the sharp corner of a bureau drawer that was open. He cut open a blood-vessel, and lost a great deal of life-fluid before a doctor could fix him up.

They Want No Such Gift.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—You will please contradict the statement made by "The Stroller" in your paper of June 27, that we wanted some benevolent person to make us a present of a lot, with which to build a church. There is no truth in the report, for we have never asked for anything of the kind.

She Ran Away from Breakfast.

The little daughter of Mrs. Fred C. Adams, of Madison avenue, wandered away from home this morning while the family were at breakfast. The police were notified, and officer Kisly found the little one on Watchung avenue, about 8:30, with her bib around her neck just as she had left home. He restored the wanderer to the arms of her anxious mother.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. E. G. YOUNG IRELAND'S NIGHT

A WITCHING SIGHT, AND LOTS OF MUSIC GLORIOUS.

The School Year O'er, Reward Galore for Students Meritorious.

Bloom and beauty, such as Ireland is so prodigal of, in her children, made Music Hall a scene of brilliant enjoyment last night, when St. Mary's school gave public exhibition and excellent entertainment, in the closing exercises for the year.

That clever Irishman, Dr. A. Conan Doyle, himself a shining example of what the Irish race may become under education's influence, has displayed his great genius in an extraordinary book entitled "The Doings of Raffles Haw". This noble-minded billionaire of the odd name had a marvelous palace where at will in a twinkling one reveled in the indolent delights of India, the antiquities of Egypt, the sunny skies of Italy, or the well-kept English landscape. The beauty of it all was that everything was real and genuine, yet the lightning change was perfectly natural; there was no hocus-pocus or jugglery about it.

As in this fascinating book, so in the parochial school commencement was there a continual transmigration from bliss to bliss, by simple means yet in bewildering profusion. The rapid shifting of a scene, and the house full of people were enraptured by the sweet strains of Ireland's own music; a flash, and they were in fairyland sniffing the odors of countless of earth's fairest blossoms and reveling in the antics of a myriad of sprites; a blink of the eyelids, and they were transported to Japan to witness the dance of the timid almond-eyed maidens.

All of this magical effect was the product of most perfect management. The good Sisters of the school, aided by competent assistants, had wrought well upon the young people in their charge, and they gave splendid showing of their training.

Silently rose the big curtain before the large and eager audience, and disclosed, in the soft emerald light of the calcium reflector, a stage filled with school girls, whose white gowns took well the tint of green. It was a very pretty picture, and the music of the song of greeting (Wekerlin's chorus "O'er Blooming Meadow") increased the pleasant impression.

Miss Kate Keenan had written an appropriate salutatory, which Fred Willby proceeded to render in most amusing fashion. This little mite of a man, whose knickerbockers and jacket were almost hidden in the big collar and ruffles of his shirtwaist, stepped out close by the footlights, and in clear, shrill tones and with manly and emphatic gestures spoke his speech.

Everyone enjoyed the piano duet of Misses Annie Roth and Mary Lynch, who played very effectively Jackson's "Rays of the Sun".

A well trained class of fifty girls gave, in matchless concert recitation the dramatic story of "The Battle of Fontenoy" as told in verse by Davis.

Two charming dark-haired lassies, Miss Alicia McIntyre and Miss Elizabeth Day, gave Rubenstein's "The Angel" in choice duet. The sweet soprano and rich alto mingled in rarest unison.

The drama of "The Student and His Neighbors" afforded much amusement and gave the instructive moral that book-learning was a more excellent thing than worldly craft or foxy scheming. The characters were admirably portrayed as follows:

Deep Thought.....Master Michael Glennon
Graball.....Master Thomas O'Keeffe
Sobersense.....Master Joseph Burns
O'Mulligan.....Master John Owens
Noisybreath.....Master Edward Flynn
Swagger.....Master Joseph Connors
Steepletop.....Master Joseph Galbraith
VanKoot.....Master Peter Ritter

In gay attire decked with streaming ribbons and tiny jingling bells, a host of school girls gave a hoop drill and dance which set every heart in tune with its rhythm.

In becoming gown of simple white, and with a tiny bow of white ribbon nestling in her fair and wavy hair, Miss Kate Cooley gave sweet and rich rendition of Mattei's "Nearest Thou".

Choir boys sang Gilmore's "Ireland to England" as only male voices can give such a spirited song.

One of the two graduates of the evening, Master John J. Daley, read a thoughtful essay on "Individual Influence", holding every man to be the architect of his own fortune, and showing that by making himself a power about him one's memory and influence would continue to posterity a blessing.

Surely never was an audience more enraptured than with the fantasy of Irish airs, given in faultless style and execution by Misses Ellen Kelly, Anna Roth and Mary Smith, on the piano, and Miss Allie Quinn on the violin. Ireland's matchless songs were mingled and blended, the gay, the sentimental, the rollicking, the grave. And the artists were as graceful and as near perfection as such soulful music deserved.

"The Boy's Complaint", an amusing description of youthful masculine woes, was very aptly given by James Finley. Then came a feast of beauty, the allegory "The Queen of a Night" and the "Dance of the Flowers".

In the center of the stage was a floral throne, to which, after pleasing dialogue of crocus, violet, pansy, snowball, wild rose and other dainty blossoms, the modest buttercup (Miss Nellie Walsh) was elected, and crowned with pretty ceremony. The shamrock was faithfully represented by the Misses Annie Daly, Lydia Hughes and Clara Lanning.

The costuming, dancing, evolutions, and all, made a most bewitching scene, and Miss Kittie Quinn conducted the music so that all was in perfect time.

"The Harp that Once Through Tara's Halls" was given most melodious rendition by Misses A. M'Intyre and K. Cooley, sopranos, and Misses E. Day and M. Smith, altos.

"Fifteen Minutes in Japan" was another delightful dance. Strings of Japanese lanterns swung in the breeze, and a score of bewitching maidens in correct oriental costume evoluted and frisked about to Mikado airs. This and the other dances of the evening gave high credit to Madame Ina Lezem, the talented and experienced instructress, who arrayed the tasteful entertainments and trained the young people into their admirable proficiency. These dances were a favorite feature of the evening, though every number on the programme was unstintedly applauded. No encores, however, were responed to.

"National Influence" was the subject of the essay of Master Fred Hughes, the other of the two graduates. He dwelt particularly on the vast influence of America as a republic on other great nations, and paid glowing tribute to the Grand Old Man Gladstone, whose efforts combined with America's influence would ere long result in Ireland's freedom.

The announcement of the conferring of honors caused a bustle of expectation. To the Rev. Father P. E. Smyth Miss Kittie Quinn handed the prizes as awarded, who in turn gave them to meritorious students as the Rev. Father Murphy announced their names.

The school joined in Creswold's "Parting", a chorus sadly sweet, and Miss Alicia McIntyre sang a touching solo "Angels Guard Our Little Ones". The closing tableau was a lovely grouping of the young people. Some of the tiny tots, cherub-faced and curly-headed, sat in little rocking-chairs fondling their dollies. Bigger boys posed on hobby horses, or playing fife and drum. At the rear were sweet girls with fleecy white wings, breathing benediction over all.

Recalled Tender Memories.

Here is one of the numberless stories told of Ben Butler: The narrator had an important law case on, and believed that Ben Butler was the man to win it. Butler was in Washington, so he went to the capital and after two days succeeded in obtaining an interview with the general, who declared that he was overwhelmed with work. He would not take the case for one thousand dollars a day.

"General," said his visitor, as the general turned abruptly away to his work, "I was born in the same town with you."

He grunted, but wasn't otherwise affected, so far as the visitor could see.

"Do you remember little Miss ——? And the boy who used to send notes to her, and the boy who used to take them? I am the boy who took the notes."

"And I am the boy that sent them," said the general.

He held out his hand.

"I guess I'll take your case after all," he said. And he did, and won it.

Very True.

"You are not very polite to me," said the elephant's wife to the elephant.

"And why not, my dear?" asked the elephant.

"Because you are an elephant, I suppose," said his wife, with a sigh. "No other living creature makes his wife carry her own trunk."—Harper's Young People.

Captain William B. Ostrom is out again in renewed health.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins is home from the World's Fair, most intensely delighted with it

Cashier F. H. Gardner and wife came back from the seashore yesterday and enjoyed a drive about town.

Walter Freeman, son of Mrs. W. B. Ostrom, with his wife and three sons, left this morning for a vacation at Pine Bush, New York.

Mrs. E R. Pope and Mrs. Truell, the latter of Central avenue, are enjoying the sights at the World's Fair. They will remain indefinitely.

Editor Thomas Lane's mother will be made postmistress at Summit, by Congressman Dunn.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Runk will be held from 3:0 Kensington avenue, to-morrow morning at 10:30. The interment will be private.

The Rev. Lincoln B. Goodrich, brother of the Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of this city, was installed as pastor of the Bound Brook Congregational church, last night. Elmer E. Runyon was chief singer.

Mrs. Margaret Shepherd, mother of John and George Shepherd, and mother-in-law of Peter Weaver, died yesterday in her 79th year. Funeral services will be held from 23 Emily street Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

Samuel Prescot Hall, the eldest son of David Prescott Hall and Mrs Florence Howe Hall, of Plainfield, graduated with honors this week from Harvard University. He was assigned a commencement part, graduating cum laude, and also with honorable mention in Greek and Latin. Although one of the youngest men in the class of 1893, entering college with honors, he maintained them throughout his career there. Mr. Hall was fitted for college at John Leal's school in this city.

Major W. D. W. Miller and Captain John E. Stewart, survivors of the battle of Gettysburg, will leave for there to-morrow to attend the annual anniversary and reunion. Captain Frank Wells may also go, and William Boe and Richard Seamon will join their comrades to attend the dedication of the New York monument on the Gettysburg battle-field. Mr. Boe is the only one left out of the 13th N. Y. battery, and he is anxious to see again the fields on which he once fought.

Justus H Hesse, of West Seventh street, who sailed for Germany, May 30, with his two sons and his late wife's sister, died at Goslar, in the province of Hanover, Wednesday night. He was in the 45th year of his age and quite ill when he left this country. He was one of the most popular men in Plainfield and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He has been honored with the nomination for councilman by the Democrats in his ward, but the Republican majority there is invulnerable. Mr. Hesse was a member of the New York firm of D. W. McLeod & Co., dealers in Scotch goods. Notice of funeral will be given later.

DEATHS.

RUNK—In this city June 28, 1893, Elizabeth S. Runk, wife of George W. Runk, in her 60th year.
Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral at 310 Kensington avenue, Saturday, July 1, at 10.30 a. m. Interment private.

HESSE—At Goslar, Germany, Wednesday, June 28, 1893, Justus H. Hesse, in the 45th year of his age.
Notice of funeral hereafter.

SHEPHERD—In North Plainfield, June 29, 1893, Margaret Shepherd, in her 74th year.
Funeral services from her late residence, 23 Emily street, Sunday afternoon, July 2, at 3.30.

PRES'T ROCKFELLOW.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

New Way Plainfield Boom, Under the Leadership of Such a Progressive Body—Who Are In It, and What They Purpose Doing.

The second meeting of the Board of Trade was held last night in the parlors of the Crescent league. This meeting was called to hear the reports of the committees on by-laws and constitution, and on the nomination of officers. Postmaster E. B. Pope was elected to fill the chair temporarily, as chairman G. W. Rockfellow was not present. Judge John Ulrich acted as secretary of the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the committee on by-laws and constitution, consisting of Judge Ulrich, J. F. Mac Donald and F. W. Runyon, made its report and read the constitution that it had framed. The main points of the constitution were as follows: The association shall be known as The Board of Trade of Plainfield N J. The object of the association shall be to promote the business interests of Plainfield and the social interests of its members. It was suggested that the Grocers' Protective association should be merged into the Board of Trade.

The officers shall consist of a president, two vice presidents, a secretary, treasurer and counsel. The board shall be by a board of nine directors. This board shall be made of the officers of the board of trade and three directors elected from the association at large. This board of directors shall be divided by lot into three classes of two members each the first-class to hold office for one year, the second for two years and the third for three years. Last night the officers and the three members of the board were elected by the association at large, but hereafter the officers will be elected annually by the board of directors. A two-thirds vote of the directors shall be a majority. The article providing for the election of officers occasioned no little discussion as the language of the original section was considered by some to be ambiguous, but it was finally inserted with slight changes. The meetings of the board of trade shall take place on the second Thursday of each month, and fifteen members shall constitute a quorum. The annual meeting for the election of officers shall take place on the first Thursday in June of each year.

Partisan politics and sectarian religion shall have no influence in the considerations of the board.

The usual restriction as to proposing, seconding and posting names for membership are embodied in a section provided for that purpose. The initiation fee shall be $10 payable in the outstanding Crescent league coupons and the dues $1 a quarter in advance.

Honorary members shall pay $10 a year and have the privileges of the clubhouse but no voice in the management or any interest in the property. After some deliberation and argument the constitution was adopted, each section being voted on separately.

The next report was that of the committee on nominations for officers.. T. F. French read the nominations of his committee.

The entire list was elected by the secretary casting a ballot for each name. The officers for the ensuing year therefore are:

President—George W. Rockfellow.
First vice-president—William Archibald Codrington.
Second vice-president—Charles A. Reed.
Secretary—George A. Halleck.
Counsel—William R. Codrington.
Members of the board of directors—Chas. H. Ulrich, J. F. MacDonald, George Griffin.

It was moved, seconded and carried that counsel Codrington be instructed to draw up the necessary papers for incorporation under the laws of the State of New Jersey.

The terms under which the Board of Trade use possession of the Crescent league club-house have already been stated in THE PRESS. The meeting adjourned until next week Thursday.

The following list of gentlemen have signed their names to the roll of charter members of the board:

THE MESSRS. FISK SAY SO TOO.

"Every Day's Delay Means Untold Ruin and Heartrending Distress."

The following address to the country was sent out this morning from the office of Harvey Fisk's Sons, three of whom are prominent Plainfielders:

Our country is threatened with one of the greatest disasters since the Civil War. Its institutions are being shaken to their very foundations. The demon Distrust is stalking about the land, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, leaving in his trail the countless wrecks of the work of thousands of its honorable citizens.

The standard of value by which the money of the poor man and the rich man is measured, is being trodden in the dust. Instead of twelve inches to the foot, we are forced to accept six or a little over. The actual value of our present silver dollar is but 53 cents, and growing less each day. Still this great American nation is obliged to calmly face inevitable ruin—the sweeping away of far more wealth than was involved in the great war between the North and the South, simply because its representatives are not called together in accordance with the authority vested in its Chief Executive, and forced to remove from the statute books the law which is eating away the vitals of American honesty, of American credit, and casting into a great abyss a century of financial honor.

Repeal the Silver Act of 1890. Every day's delay means untold ruin and heartrending distress. Our great United States is fast becoming a financial outcast among the nations of the world. The people of the United States are honest, yet our honesty is impugned.

We have made a mistake. We know it. It is the will of the people that this grave mistake shall be immediately corrected. Let the President convene Congress at once and then let the people in all parts of the land rise up and with righteous indignation demand that this law be immediately repealed.

This is "a Government of the people, for the people, and by the people." Let every officer of every financial institution, let every merchant, let all business and professional men, let every workingman, telegraph or write to the President of these, our beloved United States, and demand that without another day's delay he shall exercise the right given him, and immediately convene Congress in extra session.

Let there be no doubt left that at last every thinking man in this great country demands the protection which "the honest dollar" brings.

Very truly,
HARVEY FISK & SONS.

PLAINFIELD'S NEW POSTMASTER.

Messrs. Force and Stover the Only Prominent Candidates at Present.

Although there will be no change of postmaster in this city until February of next year, as President Cleveland will not under any consideration turn a good man out of such office, no matter what his politics, before his term is expired, yet the struggle among the Democrats who would like the appointment began long ago.

Congressman Dunn already finds himself in warm water about it. He is being coaxed every day to appoint this or that one, and pleaded with the next moment to pay no attention to their claims at all but consider wholly another's.

Ex-postmaster Force, and Mr. Martine's candidate, R. M. Stover, are really the only ones with any show in the race today. Mr. Dunn says he intends to appoint the man the people want, and will act accordingly just as soon as it is satisfactorily shown him who Plainfield does want. He is unpledged in this matter as in all others. He never makes promises before election that would tie his hands after, and prevent his serving the people in whatever way they might desire and suggest.

Councilor Wilson.

At the annual and quarterly business meeting of Franklin council, 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Jr. Past Councilor—Chas. I. Young.
Councilor—Augustus Wilson.
Vice Councilor—F. Murr[illegible]
Recording Secretary, one year—David S. Dunavan.
Assistant Recording Secretary—Horace G. Adams.
Financial Secretary, one year—David Bodine.
Treasurer, one year—Firman A. Long.
Warden—[illegible] William C. Force.
Conductor—[illegible]
Inside Sentinel—Charles J. Newman.
Outside Sentinel—Jay V. Snyder.
Trustee, eighteen months—Elias R. Pope, jr.

These officers will be installed next week.

Affords It Pleasure to Announce.

(Dunellen Weekly Call.)

It affords the Call great pleasure to announce through its columns the appointment of J. A. Demarest, of the Plainfield Press, by President Cleveland, as Consul to Brockville, Ontario. The post is an important one, and is one much sought after. There were many recommended for it from several States, but one could be appointed, and Mr. Demarest is to be congratulated that of the many he was the one who should be the choice of our chief magistrate. That Mr. Demarest will give satisfaction to all concerned no one who knows the man can for a moment doubt.

—The closing exercises of the German school will be held in the hall on Somerset street to-morrow afternoon at 2:30.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have eversold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price, 10c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Avenue, opposite railroad station. 5-16-y

THIS BUREAU'S WORK A SUCCESS.

DR. CARROLL'S RELIGIOUS STATISTICS OF THE UNITED STATES, COMPLETE.

The Office of the Sixth Division of the United States Census, in Plainfield, Closed.

The branch of the Census office which has been located in this city since October, 1889, under the supervision of Dr. Henry K. Carroll, special agent, has had in charge the gathering and tabulating of the statistics of all churches in the United States, even including Alaska.

The force employed has averaged ten clerks for three years; although the entire number of persons that have been employed has been twenty-five.

The attempt has been made by each Census during fifty years to gather and publish the statistics of churches; but this is the first time that a success has been reached. In the Tenth Census, 1880, not a word was published relating to religious bodies, although there was a larger outlay made in the attempt.

The Eleventh Census, that of 1890, of which Dr. Carroll's branch is a part, has successfully gathered the statistics of all denominations, even those of only a score of members, and has issued the full report of each in fifteen bulletins, the last of which was published and sent out this week.

Something like sixty thousand of the bulletins have been distributed through the various denominations, and as this very important work was, for the first time, completed for the year 1890, just a century after the signing of the Constitution that made us a nation, it shows the growth for the first hundred years and gives a good basis from which to compare the future growths.

Too much praise cannot be given for the completeness and the accuracy of the work, while the introductions which have been published with the tables of each denomination give briefly the history and polity of each of the more than 140 denominations; so that the sum total is a vast mine of interesting information that is more valuable than most publications, for the reason that before any of the statements have been published, the subject matter with the accompanying tables, has been submitted to representative men of each denomination for their careful perusal, and their endorsement. This makes the work not only exhaustive in its scope, but entirely authentic and reliable.

Charles E. Buell, who has been in charge of the detail of the office, speaks very highly of the careful oversight which Dr. Carroll has given, and states that he has proved himself to be just the right man for the place he has held; being skilled in the most essential part, that of church history, and the various peculiarities that are encountered in the government of so many widely differing religious organizations; things that the average well informed man knows nothing about. Mr. Buell speaks very highly of the clerks that have been furnished for the work. The patient and intelligent labor that has been performed by them, cannot be, he says, defined properly by the few words at his command.

Mr. Buell has been directed to report for duty at the Census office, in Washington, for a few weeks work, when he expects to return to Plainfield.

Following is a complete list of all who were connected with the work in this city:

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1

FOR REPEAL OF THE SILVER ACT

A Close Friend of Mr. Cleveland is Authority for the News—An Earlier Session Impossible—Influence of Petitions—Secretary Herbert's Views.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—It is stated upon authority, the sufficiency of which cannot be questioned, that an extra session of Congress will be called for the middle of August, and that President Cleveland will ask for the immediate repeal of the Sherman Silver Purchase clause.

Our authority, who is a citizen of high character and great prominence in the world of finance, said:

"I have the authority of a gentleman who is a personal friend of President Cleveland for the statement that the extra session of Congress will convene on or about the 15th of August.

"The reasons given by the President for not calling an earlier session are twofold. Strange as it may appear, it is nevertheless a fact that he fears that if he were to call Congress together next month difficulty would be experienced in mustering a quorum. Then, again, he wishes to give the public the full force of the object lesson in finance, of which he spoke through the press several weeks ago. He wants to see public sentiment on the advisability of the repeal of the Sherman law so crystalized in favor of repeal as to leave no doubt of the success of his plans.

"Of course, the President's position in this matter is open to grave criticism. It is claimed that if he honestly believes that the present stringency in the money market is due to the operations of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman law, his duty in the premises calls for immediate action. I have heard it said that if a financial panic results from all this disturbance of monetary condition, the President will be blamed for not convening Congress at once.

"On the other hand, the demonetization of silver by the Indian Council has precipitated a crisis, and given President Cleveland a chance to call the extra session much sooner than he had at first intended. He feels that with silver debased in India, even the most rabid free silver advocates in this country will appreciate the folly of longer insisting that the United States shall stand alone in the long-cherished hope of silver rehabilitation.

"The gentleman to whom I refer also tells me that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who recently returned from abroad, assured him only yesterday that money is loaning readily in London and on the Continent at three-fourths of 1 per cent., and that millions of dollars will be sent to the United States by European bankers for investment the moment the Federal administration can give the assurance that the Sherman Silver Purchase act will be wiped off the statute books, or that national finances will not drift to a silver basis."

No doubt the President has been moved to this by the many importunities and petitions which have been pouring in upon him from all parts of the country.

One of the strongest petitions is that sent by the united commercial bodies of Detroit, Mich., which is as follows:

"It is the sense of this meeting that in view of the universal financial oppression, Congress should be assembled as early as, in the judgment of the President, is proper, that measures of relief may be enacted."

Secretary Hilary A. Herbert, of Alabama, Secretary of the Navy, probably voiced the administration when he said: "I think the stoppage of the coinage of silver in India is the greatest blow that has been given to the Sherman law and to the free coinage of silver. The free coinage of silver in India has been pointed to as an object lesson by the advocates of free coinage in this country."

When asked if the silver question presented a serious danger to the Democratic party at this time he said: "It is a serious question which the conditions demand should be settled. I think we have reached a crisis and that the party in power will be judged by the wisdom they show in giving the nation a sound currency."

Cholera Situation in Europe.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The re-appearance of cholera in Europe does not cause any alarm among Treasury officials. Tips are daily received from United States Consuls and other agents abroad and they concur that the climatic conditions that have so far obtained in Europe are not conducive to the spread of cholera there. There have been sporadic cases of cholera and some deaths from it, but the disease has not spread as it did last year. They express the opinion that it will not reach this country.

Two Killed in an Explosion.

PETERSBURG, Va., June 30. — Intelligence was received here of a terrible boiler explosion at the saw mill of Logan Davis, at Yale, on the Atlantic & Danville railroad. There was a large force of workmen in the mill at the time of the explosion and two of them were killed outright and several others were badly scalded. The mill was completely wrecked, entailing a heavy loss.

Despondent Over Poor Crops.

BALLSTON, N. Y., June 30.—James B. Heeling, a wellknown farmer of Galway Saratoga county, who committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn, was 76 years of age and had become despondent over the prospects of poor crops and feared that his farm would not yield enough to support his family next winter.

From New York to Albany in Shells.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Benson M. Levy, of the Nonpariel Rowing club, and George Young, of the Atalanta Boat club, will leave the Nonpariel's boat house on the Harlem at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning to row to Albany in single shell boats.

Judge Blatchford Convalescent.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 30.—Associate Justice Samuel A. Blatchford is sitting up for a time this morning, and convalescence is said to have begun. If no other shock is received the Judge's recovery is assured

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. D. Mallinson, 65 North Ave., opposite railroad station. 5-16-y —Edsall's great rush is the talk of the town. The women are flocking to his store in crowds. His big removal sale offers the greatest bargains Plainfield ever knew.

Men Don't Understand.

"No man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman.

"Women, therefore, gladly turn to a woman for sympathy, counsel, and help in their peculiar troubles.

"Lydia E. Pinkham deserves the confidences showered upon her by thousands. Her Vegetable Compound has done more for women than any other remedy.

"The great cause of woman's misery is in her womb. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes direct to the source of trouble, drives out disease, and cures backache, fainting, despondency, bloating, ovarian troubles, and leucorrhœa.

"I would have been in my grave if I had not taken Mrs. Pinkham's medicine." — Mrs. Hannah Hyde, Bethel, Ind.
